Controversy on 54 Highway

Corona Cardinals face Vaughn in Homecoming

The Corona Cardinals will play the Vaughn Eagles on Oct. 12 for their homecoming game.

"Western Week" was held Monday to begin the homecoming festivities. All students were encouraged to come western, and the annual staff presented prizes to the best "western dress." Prize winners were Lois Ann Holleyman, Karen Holleyman and Betty Brooks in the grade school and Linda Strickland and Lea Sultemeier in the high school.

All clubs and classes have been collecting ideas for their floats which they will put into effect this week. The floats will form the parade which will be held at 5 p.m.

The classes held meetings Friday to elect their attendants for the queen's court.

The football boys held a meeting and elected Donna Womack as their homecoming queen. The court attendants were Sherona Taylor and Virginia Tenorio. The juniors elected Ellen Esten, the sophomores named Cherry Tracer, and the freshmen elected Kathleen Taylor.

Football captains are Eddie Lightfoot and John Lennhart, and they will crown the queen at her coronation.

The Pep Club elected as their "bean" Clint Leary Sultemeier.

The "C" Club elected a "C" Club sweetheart.

The cheerleaders will sponsor the homecoming dance which will be held at the El Paso Natural Gas plant. The Pep Club will furnish refreshments. The dance will commence at 10 p.m.

The Cardinals are in tip-top condition even though two boys are injured. Will Locke, a freshman, broke his arm, and Dave Bramlett, a junior, pulled a ligament in his knee.

The Cardinals, under supervision of Coach Jerry Clark, are hoping to even their record at 3-3.

The state of New Mexico lost the national headquarters of the National 54 Association at the convention held the weekend of Sept. 22 in Camden, Mo. The national headquarters, which for the last few years has been Santa Rosa, was changed to Greensburg, Kan.

The decision for the change, which also included a 15-year contract, was made by President August Dick and the board of directors, without knowledge of the majority of the membership. Also a resolution of the governing body at the national level, A. J. Zimmerman of Santa Rosa, national executive secretary, was ousted in favor of a Greensburg man.

The New Mexico delegation made a last-ditch stand to retain the headquarters in New Mexico, but was outstepped in their efforts by Dick and some of the members of the national board of directors.

The New Mexico Highway 54 Association will hold a special meeting in Vaughn on Friday, Oct. 12, to review the program of the National 54 convention. State President Jim Kehler of Tucuman said that the reports he had of the convention led him to the decision that New Mexico's participation in future National 54 affairs was a matter of serious discussion. What to do with New Mexico's $3,000 (Carrizozo has $750 in this) U. S. 54 fund will be decided at this meeting.

Mayor W. F. Ball will attend the meeting and asks other people interested in U. S. 54 to make the trip to Vaughn.

GRIZZLIES DEFEAT CORONA BY 25-6 SCORE FRIDAY

The Carrizozo Grizzlies invaded the Corona Cardinal gridiron Oct. 5.

During the first quarter the ball changed hands four times with neither side gaining any ground. The quarter ended with Carrizozo in possession of the ball.

The second quarter began with Bobby Ortiz fighting his way up the middle on two plays but gaining little ground. Bobby rolled to the right on the third play and threw an 80-yard pass to Ryo, who was immediately tackled by Leroy McCloud. On the next play, Bobby Ortiz, Carrizozo's quarterback, threw a pass into the right flat to Eddie Lovato, who went in from 20 yards out for a touchdown. He then made the extra point.

Corona gave up the ball after four downs. Carrizozo marched toward the goal line, then Leroy McCloud intercepted a pass thrown by Ortiz.

On the fourth down, the Cardinals tried a daring play. McCloud went back into punt formation and instead of kicking, he threw to Eddie Lightfoot who ran to the 20-yard line; however, the Grizzlies held the tough Cardinal line. The half ended with a score of 7-0.

With 18 seconds left in the game Carrizozo again kicked off. Eddie Lightfoot danced his way up the right sideline, side-stepping two would-be tacklers for an 83-yard touchdown run. He was aided by the key blocking of the Cardinal eleven.

The game ended with a score of 25-6 in favor of Carrizozo. Cardinal fans expect a great game Friday night with the Vaughn Eagles on their opponents for their homecoming game.

LOVATO, ORTIZ LEAD GRIZZLIES TO VICTORY

Halfback Eddie Lovato and end Michael Ortiz each scored two tallies for Carrizozo to lead the Grizzlies to a 25-6 victory Friday night over Corona on the Cardinal field to stay on the winning side in District 2C play.

The win kept Carrizozo in a tie for first place in District 2C with a 3-1 mark. Melrose had the same record and dumped Corona (1-3) also.

In the first quarter neither team could sustain a drive long enough to score. Just before the first quarter was over Corona was forced to kick. Carrizozo took over the ball on their own 40-yard line. In five plays the Grizzlies moved the pylon to the Cardinal 42-yard line and then quarterback Bobby Ortiz connected with end Mike Vozz, going to the Corona 12-yard line.

On the next down Carrizozo penalized five yards for backfield in motion. The next play saw the Ortiz to Ortiz combination elicit from 17 yards out for the first Grizzly tally. Halfback George Lightfoot ran the ball over for the conversion. On this play Gallegos was out for a shoulder injury.

In six plays Carrizozo moved the ball 47 yards, going to the Cardinal nine-yard line. From this point it was first and goal to go and quarterback Ortiz fumbled and Corona recovered the ball on their own 20. Shortly the first half was over with Carrizozo leading 7-0.

FARM NEWS

DATE FOR LAMB CARCASS DEMONSTRATION CHANGED

Due to a conflict in shipping dates, the lamb carcass demonstration at the Fuller Ranch near El Cacho has been changed to Oct. 27. The original date was Oct. 19. Starting at 2:30 p.m., Prof. F. E. Neale and Dr. Earl Ray will give a demonstration on lamb carcasses straight off the grass.

This demonstration will help answer the question, "Is grass fed lamb acceptable to the home wife?" The lamb held over the meat counter today is fat in the feedlot from 60 to 120 days. One of the big problems is the heavy fat covering on the lamb chop.

I saw two different labor saving devices advertised recently. Both would reduce labor needed. One was a sprayer for hay and the other was a "space picker" for apple pruning and picking. Either of these can be used on your tractor.

A meeting on the new worm eradication program will be held in Roswell at the Nixon Hotel on Oct. 19. A Dutch treat dinner will precede the meeting.

A pencil is the best piece of farm equipment. With it you can figure if any change of operation, improvement or new piece of equipment will pay for itself.

The county lamb and calf carcass contest will be discussed at Capitan on Oct. 17 starting at 7:30 p.m. At this time Bud Rhea of the First National Bank of Roswell will present the awards for the top five places in each contest. Picture of the lion eye drawings and the score sheets will be explained and discussed at the meeting.

The Coyotes were able to move to the Tiger 45 before the quarter ended. Then, on the first TD, right halfback Deal eluded left tackle for the second TD for Tatum.

The try for point was no good. Capitan took the Tatum kickoff on their own 20 and in eight plays matched the Tatum touchdown when Silva pitched a pass to Cozzens in the end zone.

Capitan recovered after the half. Cozzens returning the ball to the Tiger 25. On the second play from scrimmage Capitan fumbled and the Coyotes recovered on the 23. The fourth period was a see-saw battle with neither team being able to move the ball very much until late in the quarter when Capitan recovered a fumble on the Coyote 40 with a minute and a half left in the ball game. Capitan was able to move the ball to the Coyote 7 where time ran out, ending the game.

JOE SARGENT MEMORIAL ARENA

DEDICATION

On the eve of the first big steer roping program to be held in Carrizozo as a public event, and this in the new Joe Sargent Memorial Arena, it is entirely fitting that this program be dedicated to the most intimate thing ever known to history—the rita—the cowboy's lariat—the catch rope with its lasso or loop on the end.

In the days before the range was staked, in what was then an almost womanless world on the cattle trails and ranges, before the range was marked off in states and counties, farms and feedlots, before it was platted and fenced, dotted with towns and crossed with highways, the rita was next to his horse, a cowboy's best friend. With it he roped the wild steers, cut out and caught up the calves; used it in roundup and rodeo and in contests of skill and art with his fellows and friends, and used it to hogtie and hang his enemies.

Gone now are the picturesque days of the open range and the longhorn cattle—no longer resounds the cowboy's woe nor the plaintive song of the night herder—but the rita still holds its indispensable place wherever cattle are found on ranch and range, and is still the tool of the artisan in contests and games of skill which have come down through the years to find climax in such an event as will be held in Carrizozo on Oct. 14.

That this Sunday, Oct. 14, program, where the rita can win or lose $2,000 on a single toss, is no small event is proved by the fact that the calf roping event which follows is open to the world and some of the world's best ropers will be on hand to prove that traditions of the range are still alive in Lincoln County and the arts and crafts of the west are still practiced with a fine degree of skill.

A great deal of commendation goes to the late Joe Sargent for his vision in starting the construction of the fine arena brought to completion through the efforts of many people guided by the Lincoln County Rodeo Association.

So we dedicate this "first of firsts" to the cowboy's rita — and to all the cowboys of the past — conquerors and trail blazers of a mighty empire; to the cowboys, young and old, of the present—worthy keepers of the most noble traditions of the range and the west; and to the cowboys of the future — whether they be movie cowboys, TV cowboys, Madison Square Garden or Cow Palace cowboys, cowboys from ranch and range, or those from outer space, who will preserve the rich heritage and lore of a great past in their sports and contests throughout a still greater future!

Two injured in cycle accident

Two young men from Walker were injured, one seriously, in a motorcycle accident Tuesday afternoon on Indian Divis, 13 miles east of Carrizozo on highway 330.

The accident occurred when the driver failed to negotiate a curve and lost control of the cycle after hitting gravel on the side of the road.

The driver, James R. Draper, 21, sustained minor injuries.

Brian Smollett, 22, riding on the back of the cycle, was thrown over a 10 foot embankment and rolled another 50 feet after impact. He suffered a possible fractured skull and has remained unconscious since the time of the accident.

Smollett was one of the choicest who entered the Fast Draw Contest held in Lincoln September 22-23. He and Draper were returning to the base from Nevada, where he had participated in another shoot, when the accident happened.

The boys were taken to the Walker A F B hospital Wednesday morning from the Lincoln County hospital.

Investigation of the accident was made by Sheriff Bradley and Deputy Sheriff Vega. They were on their way to Capitan when they came upon the accident.

Kenneth Fuller asks for clean election

Editor, Lincoln Co. News:

I would like to issue a challenge and an appeal to the Republican party and a small part of my own Democratic party in Lincoln County.

I would like to challenge them and appeal to them to, in this election of 1962, give to the people of Lincoln County a clean political campaign and a clean election.

Let's, by every honorable means possible, get before the voters of our county our candidates. Let's give the voters maximum exposure to our candidates' qualifications, their capabilities, their sincerity, their shortcomings and their failures.

I challenge these people and appeal to them to let us all try to win this election of 1962. Not with dollars, not with excessive drinks, not with hired cars and impossible promises, but by the honest means of our candidates and their things for which they stand.

Let's appeal to the patriotic and civic-minded folks of Lincoln County, of which I know there are plenty, to take over free transportation of those voters of our county who need help on Nov. 6. See that these people get to their respective voting places, regardless of party affiliations and with no political pressure applied or involved.

I appeal to all voters of Lincoln County to meet our candidates, Republican and Democrat, half way by helping these candidates contact you. Then I challenge you voters—weigh these candidates in the balance, consider all things, vote for the candidate who can and will do more for our county, our state and our nation.

During the month of October, under the sponsorship of Lincoln County Farm and Livestock Bureau and in co-operation with civic organizations, there will be five "Measure the Candidates" meetings held in the five high schools of our county. At Capitan Oct. 9, Carrizozo Oct. 11, Corona Oct. 16, Ruidoso Oct. 23 and Hondo Oct. 28. Again, I appeal to all voters, meet your candidates at these places. Submit any and all questions on your mind to them, insist on positive, comprehensive answers. The worthwhile candidates will welcome your questions.

I would like to challenge representatives of the press in our county, adjacent counties, Will Harrison of Santa Fe, anyone interested in clean politics to cover our campaign and election in Lincoln County and to make public any and all unethical or questionable deals or practices used.

I appeal to all citizens of our county to be observant, to keep informed, to help in every way possible to have the cleanest, most thought-over, honest election held in New Mexico in 1962. Let's be first in our state in clean politics.

As Democratic chairman of Lincoln County, I would welcome and plead for such an election. For the past few months, I have often been with our candidates, from Jack Campbell to the bottom of the ticket all over Lincoln County, at Santa Fe and Roswell. I think I know our candidates reasonably well. I fear comparison with no one.

Two years ago, we Democrats in Lincoln County took a beating in the election. This year things will be different. We have combed the woods, we have beaten the bushes, we have assembled the best ticket ever offered in Lincoln County. We are confident in the unbiased judgment of Lincoln County voters.

Home ec class hears experts talk

The advanced home economics class (juniors and seniors) of Carrizozo High School is currently working on a unit called "Managing Family Resources." The unit has involved a study of time management, work simplification, management of family finances, insurance, investment and credit.

Johnson Stearns responded to a call for help and came to the class on Thursday, Sept. 20, to explain banking terms and procedures which teen-age workers and homemakers need to know. He explained how to handle checking accounts and savings accounts. He brought a safe-deposit box for the class to see and explained how it is impossible for anyone to get into the box without his own key plus the one which the bank keeps, and that the yearly rental fee is quite low for the protection afforded.

Mildred Moore came to help the class with the insurance portion of its work on Thursday, Sept. 27. She brought Mr. Don Litchfield, special state agent of her company, who gave the class much information on life insurance. He explained the temporary form (term) and how it can be converted to any one of the permanent forms of inurance. He also answered a number of questions which class members asked concerning some legal aspects of insurance — collecting claims, beneficiaries, lapse of policy, etc.

Also, as a part of the unit of study, the class has viewed a film, "Life Insurance—What It Is; How It Works," and film strips, "Protecting Your Dollars," "Dollars for Security," "A New Look at Budgeting," "Your Shopping Dollars" and "Ironing Shortcuts."

October designated as PTA Membership Month

October is PTA membership month. The National Congress of Parents and Teachers invites civic-minded adults to join in this important program. Parents and teachers work together. They seek to determine what a community wants its schools to accomplish, to act upon the unsolved or most critical problems. You are invited to attend the second PTA meeting of the new school year Monday evening, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Don't be a "school-knocker," be a "door-knocker." Join with all those who are interested in building a better future for our children and youth as PTA members. Study with others to be well informed about PTA and our schools. We should not take our good schools for granted. Through PTA we can become more aware of the problems we face and what we, as parents, can do to solve them.

how's this for exploding the myth that cars have to be expensive to look it! Tempest '63

Maybe you can tell the difference between Pontiac's Tempest (especially the Le Mans) and the high-priced jobs. Besides having a 4 that sets like a V-8, Tempest sports a new 200-hp V-8 that sets like nothing you ever got your hands on before. And besides its beautiful balance, Tempest has Wide-Track this year. And self-adjusting brakes and a tachometer and fetching style and all kinds of niceties that'll make your Tempest smoother and tougher. About all it doesn't have is a big fat price tag. THE LONG and SHORT OF IT IS . . .

By Kit Carson

THE BIG SURPRISE

The big surprise grew out of one of those carefully-planned hunts of the wary little bird, the bob-white. It happened in the rich farm lands of central northeast Texas, not too long ago. What caused it, we hunters never knew.

As all minders are aware, the bob-white is one of the craftiest little fowls that ever fanned a wing. It is by far on the uppermost list of favoritism for the sportsman who hunt upland fowl, and has been the favorite of the southern hunter for years.

A party of five of us had gathered at my father's small farm in that region for the long-planned hunt. I was from the eastern portion of New Mexico and accustomed to hunting the Mexican, or blue, quail—a fowl entirely different in its evasive habits from that of the bob-white. My younger brother and his hunting companion along with my brother-in-law comprised the four of us in the party.

A farmer neighbor to my father was the fifth member of the group. He provided the two able pointers for the hunt. I shall refer to him in the relation of this true episode as Mr. Jack—a slow, easy-going sort of aged man, with a coarse drawl, but firm—especially in his direct commands to the seasoned pointers. He was the type of man, one would think, that could never miss a shot.

He carried with him only a few shells and a Long-Tom, single-barrel, 12-gauge shotgun. The rest of us packed automatics and an unlimited supply of ammunition to satisfy the thirst of their rapid fire. Everything was in readiness according to plans, and nothing was spared to make the day one of a perfect hunt.

The sun popped up over the horizon, clear and bright, and we were all in readiness, standing around in the front yard with the eager pointers ready to hit the fields. A heavy, frost blanketed the entire countryside. Quietness prevailed throughout the upland fields and, with the crack of dawn, spirals of smoke had reached the sky from the chimneys of the neighboring farmers as they rose and commenced the day's activities.

The only sound to break the stillness of the beautiful autumn morning was the incessant calling of the bob-white which could be heard from one side of the country to the other. The entire countryside of rich farm lands seemed to be teeming with the wary little creatures.

We had enjoyed a hearty breakfast of fried chicken, cream gravy, hot biscuits, butter, ribbon-cane molasses and steaming hot coffee. There seemed to be nothing lacking in readiness for this hunt. The dogs were in tip-top condition and raring to go—so were we! We hit the fields.

My father directed us to his several coveys, which we found just as he had directed us—three or four dozen birds in each covey. Toll was taken in each case. The dogs worked perfectly; and there is no prettier picture in the sportsman's field than that of a good pointer freeze on his quarry in the cool, crisp, early morning in the southern fields.

Every farm seemed to have just enough coveys left in the fields to make the partridge plentiful and game—fat and easy. Every fence row, every thicket, hillside, lowland seemed to be loaded with the little fowls and gave up its portion of game for the bountiful hunt. Each of the party had been fairly successful in landing his shots and bringing down his quarry; however, many shots from the automatics found marks in the overhanging brush or bamboo branches.

Mr. Jack, slow and easy, and a man of very few words, never missed a shot from his single-barrel Long-Tom 12-gauge, hammered about which he carried aloft in the crook of his right arm.

At his time to fire, he would slowly bring the old relic to bear on the crafty, speedy little fowl. And each time, without fail, the dogs retrieved one bird for him as he took his position in the line of shots. It was taken for granted that when his shot came up, one more bird would be added to the bag.

The hunt lasted successfully all through the morning. And at lunch time we trudged our way back to the farm home for another one of those delicious farm meals of fresh-killed pork, chicken, vegetables, pie, cake, coffee and everything that goes for making up a farm home meal. Of course, our appetites were whetted beyond control.

A nap would have been in order after such a delicious meal, but we picked our teeth and took to the field again. It started out as successful as the morning had been.

All afternoon we had plenty of shooting—missing some of the time and having an abundance of shooting fun. But Mr. Jack, with his dependable old Long-Tom, still never missed a shot.

As the day waned and we were approaching our bag limits, the dogs begrudgingly commenced to show their tiredness. The sun began to find its way toward the western horizon. Our game bags were full, ammunition almost depleted and we were ready to call it a day.

It all happened in a small, almost level draw that had grown up in broom sage and tickle grass, typical of that country. Open terrain extended from the front to rear. We were all wearily approaching the mouth of the draw, feet dragging at every step.

Suddenly the tired dogs froze—a perfect picture as the setting sun cast its final, golden rays across the yellow vegetation.

Mr. Jack was in line for the kill. He clucked the faithful dogs late action. A "single" got up and roamed its way straight ahead—down the line in a beeline. Mr. Jack slowly brought up his reliable old gun and drew back the hammer with a slow motion of the thumb—a usual, not in the least bit of a hurry. He took careful aim in simple time, and cut down on the speedy bob-white.

The fowl deposited one small dropping and just kept up his speedy flight—on over the horizon in a crawling sort of way!

Mr. Jack turned calmly to me, standing nearby, and about to burst with laughter and yet bewildered at the noise, and remarked in a mild manner, not the least bit frustrated, "You know, I missed that bird!"

That was all that was said. I wanted to roll with laughter, but didn't! We went wearily but successfully home.

The long and short of it is—The most efficient will sometimes err!

Fort Stanton

By J. S. C.

Medical social consultant Patricia Romero attended the San Miguel Fiesta at Socorro Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 29-30. She also visited with her sister, who is ill. Patricia is a native of Socorro County, being born in Magdalena.

Nurse Cleo Lester has been discharged from the Carrizosa hospital and has returned to duty at Fort Stanton, we are glad to report.

Dr. H. C. Jernigan, medical director at Fort Stanton, attended a chest clinic at Roswell last week. Dr. Jernigan attends different chest clinics over the state where he meets ex-patients of Fort Stanton.

Maxine Turrentine has been discharged and has gone to her home in Hobbs. Maxine will be released, but her friends are glad she has been able to go home.

Members of Vasquez Thompson's maintenance crew have held a beautiful gray Howard rubber tire flooring in the clubhouse, but re-elder Derrick to the ground when the door of the pickup flew open. He was taken to the hospital where he was treated for bruises. Mr. Derrick is a game warden.

TB cases reported in New Mexico through the week ending Sept. 15 totaled 232, through the same date last year, 230, quite a decline from last year. Get your checkup and let's keep it that way.

With the close of the baseball season, we'll be missing the good weekend games over TV and the fine and witty announcing by Dizzy Dean and Pee Wee Reese. More especially, that southern drawl and hearty laugh by Ole Doc!

Toby Valdez has returned from furlough. His father and his twin brother came over with him. Only they know if Toby or the twin brother remained here. The mistake could be made easily.

The State Health Department held the first of a series of food sanitation courses for food service employees in Fort Stanton Oct. 2-4. Carl Henderson is instructor. These courses are at the request of the hospital administration.

Walter Schneider is the new supply man in Fort Stanton, welcome!

When Postmistress Frances Shaw was out on her vacation, Chief Engineer Jack Shaw also had his annual vacation and both made a pleasure trip to different states. Sorry we left you out, Jack.

George Johnson has joined the administration staff as hospital accountant.

Nice to see the picture of Tom Bragg in the paper after so many years. Tom and Marshall St. John were great friends and when Tom came to town from Parsons, they greeted each other with "Hello, Mexican" and "Hello, Gringo," and started laughing and telling their latest jokes. Those who didn't know them well thought they were about ready to grab at each other's throat. Such was their sense of humor and they made everyone around them merry.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baca, who lived for so many years in Lincoln, have purchased a home in Capitan. Fred is an orderly at Fort Stanton and Mrs. Baca is a nurse's aide. Fred's father, Lino, and brother, Ramon, work in the kitchen.

Richard Vega was over Monday to deliver several cases of eggs from Carrizosa. He told us the following story about his father, Leandro Vega Sr., and we misquote to add flavor:

"As you know, father was quite an expert with firearms, until he lost his trigger finger in a power saw a year ago. He took a notion to enter the Fast Draw Contest at Lincoln and he practiced every morning for a month, using his thumb for a trigger finger. He practiced behind the feed store and had the "gun twirl" and "fast draw" almost to perfection.

The morning before the fast draw event, he went to polish off and after a few twirls of the six-gun, his first shot hit the broadside of a boxcar in the yard; the second went wild into outer space and the third and last shot grazed his forehead and drilled a hole through the brim of his brand new Stetson.

When he made the motions for the fast draw, his whole body conformed into the shape of a pistol and his elbow and knee joints locked. He drew, but the shot flattened the toe of his long, pointed boot.

Henry had to cart him into the feed store in a hand truck and after rubbing his joints with horse liniment and wrapping them in warm flannels (gunny sacks) he was able to hobble to the hospital for his Gabin oral vaccine.

What he got out of it, besides near bodily harm, was to lose some precious sleep and ruin a Stetson hat and a pair of Tony Lama boots, said Tortuga Dick.

Leandro was a good shot and he never failed to get his deer. We accompanied him to the Jicarillas one Sunday and before sundown we were back with some sick, fat venison and about 25 pounds of pinon nuts.

The old gray mare ain't what she used to be, eh, Leandro?

Supt. Wm. Palm of Fort Stanton served as one of the judges for the Ascencade Parade in Ruidoso Saturday, Sept. 29. The other judges were editor Paul Payton of Carrizosa and Gerald Dean of Capitan.

We asked Assistant Chief Engineer John Kelly what he thought of the Patterson-Lieton fight and he answered, "It was quick and devastating. When those Lieton left hooks landed on Patterson's jaw, it was just like a jackass kicking the side out of a tin barn." We agreed with Kelly.

On Saturday, Sept. 29, President Kennedy nominated Frances Shaw to be postmistress in Fort Stanton. The nomination is subject to Senate confirmation. The people of Fort Stanton are well-wishers of Mrs. Shaw and offer congratulations.

Ceslerly Frank Trujillo received a message from Denver Monday afternoon that his sister, Manuelita Montano, had passed away. The Trujillos could not make the trip because their daughter is in the Carrizosa hospital.

Clara Lujan worked for a few days in the administration building. She is back at her duties in the Fort Stanton kitchen. Clara resides in Capitan.

Epifanio (Panama) Carabahal did some repair work on the balcony of No. 4 one day last week, assisted by Trujillo.

Marie Walker and Gertrude Dimes of the administration building attended the Eastern New Mexico Fair at Roswell last week.

The Capitan High School band took part in the parade and Queen Linda Escobedo substituted as pianist for Mrs. Zamora.

Louis Derrick received a phone call from Portales Monday evening that his father had been slightly injured when another driver let his pickup truck behind, throwing the fair that day, including Marie Walker and Johnnie and two other boys, the Fletcher Halls and children and Lynn Williams, the Grady Elderidges and family and the Claude Walkers. There were many others, though at this time I have not been informed. All reported the fair was good and there were large crowds.

Rainbow Girls hold officer installation

Miss Ann Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson of Captain, was installed as worthy advisor of Carrizozo Assembly No. 7, Rainbow for Girls, on Sunday evening, Sept. 30, at the Masonic Hall, with out-going worthy advisor, Era Del Hempill, acting as installing officer. Other installing officers were Marahel, Margaret Withers, chaplain, Janet Greer, organist, Mrs. Karen Hatler, and recorder, Mrs. Frances Shaw.

As Miss Robinson was escorted to the east by her brother, Jackie, having taken her vows at the altar, her song, "How Great Thou Art," was sung by Mrs. Leota Flingsten. The officers formed an aisle through which Ann passed, and she was presented with a bouquet of yellow-gold miniature chrysanthemums.

Officers who will serve with the new worthy advisor are: worthy

Charity, Jeanette LaMay; Hope, Elizabeth LaMay; and Faith, Minnie Smoot. Mrs. Annie Withers will act as mother advisor and Jess C. Garrison is her father advisor.

Ann chose for her colors yellow-gold, symbolizing a love of nature, and white, symbolizing purity and truth. Her flower is the yellow-gold miniature chrysanthemum.

Her scripture is the 23rd Psalm and her song is "How Great Thou Art." Her term is dedicated to the assembly and her goal is to have a bigger, better assembly and to further the high ideals of Rainbow.

The flag was presented back of the altar, the pledge given and on verse of "The Star-Spangled Banner" sung.

Ann had her family presented in the east where she introduced them, presented them with flowers, and had a hearty welcome given to them.

Janet Greer, a member of the grand cross of color team, and Margaret Withers, grand page, were introduced and given grand honors. Jess Garrison, father advisor, was introduced, presented with a chrysanthemum and white carnation boutonniere, and seated at the right of the worthy associate advisor.

A reception was held in the banquet hall for about 40 Rainbow Girls and guests following the ceremony. Over the reception table was suspended a honeycomb rainbow with attached ribbon streamers of the Rainbow colors leading to a silver pot of gold on a white-clothed table. Down the center of a long, white-covered table where guests were seated was a row of white flowers in Rainbow colors. Centered on the table was a styrofoam cross of color emblem, and at the end was a styrofoam Rainbow emblem.

The fruit punch with floating sherbet was in Miss Robinson's color, yellow-gold. The chocolate cheke was iced in white and decorated with a large rainbow, roses and her name, Rainbow mints and salted nuts were served from crystal dishes. Her napkins were white with embossed gold lettering, "Tribal Ann, W.A." and a gold Rainbow emblem.

It happened 100 YEARS ago
 The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, The United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862—the same year that

IN NEW MEXICO, cattle herders were building huge ranch properties running thousands of cattle. Charles Goodnight was responsible for the first great cattle drive, in 1866, up the Pecos Valley, through Colorado and into Wyoming. More than 250,000 cattle were driven to market over the famous Goodnight Trail.

Then, so now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation. But beer means more than enjoyment to our state. The Brewing Industry contributes more than $4 million to New Mexico each year in state and federal sales taxes — money that helps support our hospitals, schools, highways and military installations.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works tenaciously to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety in beer and ale we serve.
