Skeen's Sketches For Lincoln County

This past week was slow insofar as the movement of legislation. Committees have been slow in reporting bills out for final consideration. However, some of the committee hearings were interesting due to the heat generated during debate. Those that were particularly noteworthy concerned a proposal in the House (HB 5) to remove the Capitol Custodian from the responsibility of the Secretary of State. This would do away with a major responsibility of the Secretary's office and put it under the Dept. of Finance and Administration. This proposal failed on the floor of the House, mainly because the proponents of the bill did not produce promised evidence of mismanagement by the Secretary's office in connection with Custodian funds. Another major hearing concerned the liquor bills from the Senate. The debate was long and technical. The large crowd that attended seemed to enjoy the theatrics and oratory of the debate. Budget hearings are continuing and I sat in on Ft. Stanton's, Mr. Bryan, the new super intendent, did an excellent job on his presentation. Especially when you consider the fact that he has been on the job only 5 weeks. Hearings were also held on the budget for the Old Lincoln County Memorial. John Boylan came up well prepared as usual.

DOES GROUND HOG KNOW WINTER IS ON WAY OUT

February 2nd alias Ground Hog Day.
By February 2nd most of us will have had our "fill" of the cold wintry days and will be seeking any sort of encouragement which will predict an end to it.
Some of us will even fall back upon the legendary assumption that the Ground Hog knows when winter will end and wait with anxiety to see what he does on that day. His movement on that date is believed to let us know whether we can look forward to wonderful spring days, when we can once again bask in the warm sunshine.
For it is said, and most often believed, if the little marmot fellow sees his shadow when he emerges from his burrow on February 2nd, he will return for six more weeks of hibernation and we will be besieged — otherwise spring has approached. Let us hope he comes out all draped in a raincoat!
With February just around the corner snow flakes might still be falling outside as we sit by the cheery fireside, reading. The subject could be Ralph Waldo Emerson's "The Snow-storm." A glance at the calendar and a note of the approaching activity of the Ground Hog might even cause that poem to be hurled aside, and another one picked up in its place, that of James Whitcomb Riley's "Knee Deep in June!" And bubbling over with anticipation, a soft note hummed, with a suggestion of nostalgia, from Mary Hale Woolsey's famous song which we all love, "When It's Springtime in the Rockies."

As the little Ground Hog ceases his winter snores, turns about drowsily and makes preparations for an investigating debut, people all over the country will probably be making preparations to abide by his decisions upon that day.

The version will probably effect the work of the anxious angler as he makes close inspection of the tackle box while the housewife lends attention to the favored picnic basket and seeks it out with all the conveniences that go to make up a wonderful excursion to the outdoors which the American people so greatly enjoy, whether it be in the mountains, on the seashore, on the plains, in the limits of the wonderful state, national, and city recreation parks, or maybe just the spacious backyard where the barbecue pit is most conveniently located and the comfortable lawn chairs are most inviting and the sinking sun lingers over the horizon as though reluctant to depart the spring-time atmosphere and the people who enjoy it.

The nimrods will probably be storing their firearms and commencing to think of some spring and summer sport.
And, too, the American youth lends thoughts of springtime and is probably observing the Ground Hog's forecast, when he will take a decided interest in romance and side, sometimes bashfully, up to Cupid.

The stockman will be ready for the weather that will take the "hump" from the back of his cattle and put grass on the range. The shepherds will allow their herds to graze farther from the folds. And the gardener commences to look forward to enjoyable work and make plans for digging in the soil. The row-cropper will begin to lay careful plans for bountiful harvest in the fall. And things in general, all over the countryside, will acquire a decided interest in life and reproductive measures and begin to hum. The insects will be life for their seasonal life-span.

As my father many times said, "The honey-bees will begin to make honey; the butterflies will make butter!"
Even the fish in the streams will acquire cagey movements and take on a cautious outlook during their search for food as they cast an eagle eye to the banks for they know the angler must not be far away. If the Ground Hog predicts correctly and decides to stay out!

Probably Ground Hog Day of February has attracted more people as a deciding factor for the advent of spring, as a legend, than any other thing. Many are definitely prone to "take stock" in the little hog's forecast, whether or not it amounts to a "hill of beans!"

Mr. Noah Webster says the Ground Hog is the "woodchuck." He guides us further through his flood of word understanding and tells us the woodchuck is "a North American marmot; the ground hog. Woodchucks gnaw fat in the summer and sleep in their holes in the ground all winter!"

Encyclopedias say the woodchuck, or ground hog, is "a North American rodent of marmot family, chiefly herbivorous. It is 14 inches long and has thick, brownish fur. Old superstition holds that it leaves burrow on Candlemas Day, February 2, returning to it for six weeks if it sees its shadow."

That same row of knowledge lists Ground-hog Day (or Candlemas) so called in the United States because of the fanciful supposition that the ground hog or woodchuck then emerges from winter sleep to observe the approach of spring. If the ground hog sees his shadow, he retires to his burrow for six weeks more of winter, but, if the day is cloudy, he remains above the ground, confident of continuing mild weather. This association of the tradition, long widespread in the Christian World, that a sunny Candlemas presages a cold spring."

A little deeper, the wisdom pages brand "Candlemas Day as February 2, the feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin. There is a procession of candles to celebrate the day, and in the Roman Catholic Church candles are blessed. In America this is "Ground Hog Day."

And we commence to wonder if any of those critters, which might fall in the Ground Hog category, exist in our region, or whether we shall be forced to look to another forecaster. But again to the encyclopedias that list a MARMOT (or ground hog) "a rodent, allied to squirrel. It has a stout body, rounded ears, strong digging claws, and coarse fur, chiefly brown (often white-tipped). Lives in burrows and hibernates. Chiefly old world marmot skins used in fur trade."

Back to Mr. Webster: "Marmot, a gnawing animal with a thick body and a bushy tail. Woodchucks and prairie dogs are" marmots.

So we probably have a ground hog very near AND THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT IS — We can watch and see what he tells us on the 2nd of February. But it might not be the best judgement to rely too strongly upon his prediction; because he will more than likely see his shadow in the Land of Enchantment!

Wash pods of green chili, break stems off, place in kettle until nearly full. Cover and bring back to boiling point for 20 minutes.

Remove chili from kettle placing straight on a dish towel to drain and cool for one hour. Put in plastic bags, laying them straight and flat and place in deep freeze.

When ready to use chili, remove from bag, put one chili at a time under warm water for a minute and start peeling, the skin will slip off easily. No burning to your hands.

Bellied Salad Dressing

Excellent on slaw, potato salad or any tart salad (fruit or vegetable). Beat thoroughly: 2 whole eggs, 1 tsp. dry mustard, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. flour and dash of pepper. Heat over low heat: 1 cup vinegar, 2 tsp. butter and 2 tsp. sugar. When liquid mixture boils, slowly add egg mixture and cook until thick, stirring constantly. This dressing will keep several days.

Sabson Says
NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING AIDS BUSINESS, EMPLOYEES

Advertising does not need to be defended against its critics; it can defend itself. I am quite aware that tremendous sums of money have been wasted on advertising, but think how much money has gone down the drain in drilling for oil or mining for gold. When the right media and techniques are used in advertising, they can bring tremendous rewards, just as can drilling in oil-rich terrain or mining in promising lodes. Advertising is, of course, a risk, and it should be sold as such.

Nevertheless, it is a risk well worth taking. I can think of few gambles more likely to pay off. It is obvious from the record that officials of American companies agree with me on this, so their outlays must have been profitable indeed. When the final total is figured for 1942, I expect that both national and local advertisers will have shelled out about $3 billion for ads in newspapers and magazines. This represents a most spectacular channeling of cash into newspapers and advertising.

Proof of the success of advertising is found in its steady growth of popularity. Ten years ago, for example, expenditures for newspapers and magazine advertising totaled only $3.5 billion, while they amounted to only $1.5 billion just 20 years ago. For some years a steadily greater part of corporation costs have been going into advertising, and I am certain that this trend will continue over the years ahead. It is interesting to note that, along the way, those concerns doing the greatest amount of advertising have nearly always been at or near the top in their fields.

HELPS EVERYBODY

Sometimes labor publications tend to complain that companies are putting too much money into this type of publicity. Union officials want higher wages for their members, and more and more expensive fringe benefits — and often think of advertising as mere diversion of money that should go to the employees in one form or another. Hence, company officials should make plain to their personnel the value of advertising in holding up production and keeping employment high. A well-run firm is careful not to waste funds in profitless advertising. Results are always carefully studied, and directions are pursued that bring about greater sales, which in turn lead to larger payrolls.

Newspaper advertising is to a great extent responsible for our having the highest wage rate and the best standard of living in the world. There could be no mass selling without newspaper advertising. Mass production would be an impossibility without mass selling. Without mass production, our standard of living could not conceivably have reached its present historic height.

SMALL CITIES IMPORTANT

Many corporations located in or immediately outside of big cities place most of their outlays in national media, but more and more are recognizing the value of local placement. For instance, even some of the biggest concerns are giving more attention to small dailies and weeklies. I expect this tendency to increase over the coming years. Surveys have indicated that people of small communities read advertisements with great care.

In fact, I should say that I still consider newspapers, both large and small, as a safe investment. This is particularly true where there is only one newspaper which controls a given area, with the focus in a smaller city. True, production costs are moving upward, but it is still relatively easy to raise the price of a newspaper by a cent or two. People still want written news, and the more they pay for a paper the more carefully they read both the news and the ads. This means that the advertising space becomes more valuable.

EDITORIAL

"A page for independent thought"

Strange Bedfellows

Who are the queer people in this world . . . Certainly not me or thee, it's that other guy. An interesting note was turned up by a researcher in Lincoln County and passed on to the editor. In one of the early volumes on file in the county clerk's office is the entry of incorporation of Independent Order of Knights Templar of Temperance. Presumably to keep soldier boys of the year 1875 from getting up to the bar where such things as intoxication are liable to happen. (See Book E, Misc., Contents under "A").

Things have changed but little from the year 1875 to 1963. New Mexico legislators have the liquor problem in their laps. Sen. Fabian Chavez of Santa Fe has written three bills aimed primarily at eliminating the guaranteed markup for wholesalers (Senate Bill 25), establishment of a liquor control board (Senate Bill 26), and easing permit rules to provide licenses for new motels and hotels (Senate Bill 27).

Who do you suppose is helping the bootleggers (we've still got some) and powerful liquor lobby in fighting passage of these bills — which actually have little to do with who drinks or how much . . . temperance organizations of the state, of course. Strange bedfellows these. We'll buy a fifth for every member of every temperance organization in the state if they can prove to us that their "means" is worthy of the "end result".

To School Board Members

Few jobs around the country have the advantage (or disadvantage) of so much free advice as being a member of the local school board. Still, it's a job that has to be done and in many ways the life of a community springs from the school and surrounds the local school. Any person who will take the time to serve, and does with a mind on what is best for the community, deserves a lot of credit.

Here comes the free advice. In the long run you get and keep teachers based on the amount of salary paid. You can hire a teacher for a low wage scale (based on state averages) but the good ones will gravitate to the better salaries just like sunflowers turning to face the sun.

But (and long pause) — money is not all. If you stand by and let the community snipe at your teachers over petty things, you won't have them long. A teacher likes to live a normal life just the same as you or I. At the same time you open the gate to a normal way of life in the small town you can remind your teachers that such a life includes taking part in community activities outside the school.

You should want strong accent on the three R's. Let it be said that there is a strong national shift to basic teaching of plenty of reading, writing and arithmetic, and away from courses the students can walk through and soon forget.

In addition to the three R's, we think, you could allow time for hard work, learning skills that a great many of your students can put to use on ranch, in shops of all kinds, and as workers in large cities where most of them go on graduation.

Last, but not least, time out of school. For instance, few young people in Carrizozo sing in churches and there's hardly a church in the country but would like to see younger folks in church, singing. In this particular instance the local board will not get the price of a full-time music teacher and such specialists will not take on math, history, or such work. Other arts and crafts help fill in recreation time for the young folks and should be part of the teaching program.

Here's a good one to ponder. Let's say you've hired a set of expensive teaching hands . . . you should want a full day's work out of them, solely for the benefit of your children, each school day. What good do your teachers do when your youngsters are liming football fields, out over the country selling this and that, taking a day off for initiation, and you can name more. Such activities may be part of a school program but to this old dog who is still learning new tricks these practices are strictly for after school hours.

In short — getting the most education for your money is not the simplest job you've taken on in your life.

State business activity shows gain

ALBUQUERQUE — The University of New Mexico-Bureau of Business Research said today that New Mexico business activity bounded out of a two-year slump last year and at the same time showed a 4.5 per cent gain to hit a record high.

The Research Bureau said economic conditions indicate business activity may establish another record this year.

"The rate of (business activity) increase seems to indicate that New Mexico's growth is no longer experiencing the leveling-off process which occurred during 1960 and 1961, but that it has resumed its climb upward, although at a more moderate rate than experienced during the boom years of the 1950s," the Research Bureau said.

A preliminary report said fiscal experts generally agree that the leveling-off in the 1960-61 period and resulting decrease in tax revenues contributed to the state's fiscal problems.

Research economist A. David Sandoval said figures used were tentative because data from the last two months of 1962 was not complete.

Sandoval said, however, preliminary information indicates fourth quarter economic level in New Mexico was better than the previous six months which set a record-breaking pace.

The UNM report showed a gain of 2.3 per cent in average employment during 1962. The average number of idle workers declined 25.1 per cent.

The report shows growth in six of the eight economic divisions, with only mining and agriculture failing to contribute to the gain. Cutbacks in uranium production, a lag in petroleum industry exploration and the potash strike combined to more than offset gains in other minerals.

INFORMATION EMERGES FROM LIQUOR DEBATE

SANTA FE — The liquor lobby slapped down the little effort to break the high-price-of-liquor law before there was a chance to say much about the hooch situation in New Mexico, but a few points did come out in the brief debate.

1-New Mexico has the highest liquor prices in the United States and they are maintained by law.

2-New Mexico has the eighth lowest state liquor tax in the nation.

3-The chief reason for maintaining by law the high liquor prices is that they discourage consumption.

It was known prior to the liquor debate that New Mexico is in desperate need of a great deal more money to keep the schools going and other state operations at what they ought to be.

HIGHER LIQUOR TAX IS OBVIOUS STEP

The situation suggests an obvious step.

Continue the high price of liquor which discourages consumption, triple the $1.30 a gallon state tax which still would not be as much as collected elsewhere and provide an extra $4 million towards keeping the schools open.

The tax could be tripled without raising the price of liquor by merely lowering the mandatory mark-up at the wholesale and retail levels.

The liquor lobby would never let the legislature do this but it would be reasonable if the law-makers were free to take such a course.

THE ROLL CALL FOR THE RECORD

The eighteen senators who voted to kill the means that would have removed the mandatory minimum liquor mark-up at the wholesale level were Albert Amador of Rio Arriba, Pim Carr of DeBaca, Tibo Chavez of Belen, Bill Gallagher of Colfax, Rober M. Holcomb of (ugh) Truth or Consequences, Vince Lee of Otero, Cirilo Maestas of Mora, Ed Mead of Albuquerque, Gordon Melody of San Miguel, Alfonso Montoya of Sandoval, Ike Morgan of Roosevelt, Fincher Neal of Carlsbad, Louis Page of Santa Rosa, Floyd Santistevan of Taos, Lon Shurbet of Harding, Joe Skeen of Lincoln, Vince Vesely of Silver City.

Supporting the measure were Sens. George Amaya of Gallup, Sterling Black of Los Alamos, Fabian Chavez of Santa Fe, Bill Duckworth of Clovis, Albert Greer of Farmington, Emmett Hart of Tucuman, Don Hathaway of Socorro, Earl Parker of Torrance, Jim Patton of Las Cruces, Harold Runnels of Lovington, Howard Shaw of Catron, Ike Smalley of Deming, Penrod Tolle of Roswell, Buddy Waniel of Lordsburg.

NOTE WIPES OUT CHAVEZ AMBITION

Sen. Fabian Chavez' loss of the measure in the chamber where he is majority floor leader probably wiped him out of a political career that might have led to Congress had he been successful in getting the liquor reform program through the legislature.

His opponents in the liquor lobby boasted immediately after the vote that he would never win another election, not even for the legislature.

Rabian Chavez, who might have to muck ego for his own good, made a basic mistake in trying to go it alone on the liquor reform program, taking all the credit to himself when the public was applauding the brave attack on the liquor giant.

Chavez created jealousy among some of his colleagues in taking that course and might have turned two or three votes against him which he might have had otherwise.

Had he brought in a couple of other senators as co-sponsors and also two or three members of the house the program would have been much stronger.

POLITICS, CHURCH ON LIQUOR SIDE

The roll-out on the high-price-of-liquor bill revealed the extent of the liquor lobby's influence in the legislature.

Voting with the lobby were 54 per cent of the Democrats in the senate including such political wheels as Sen Alfonso Montoya of Sandoval county who is a brother of U. S. Rep. Joe Montoya, often listed as the No. 1 influence in the New Mexico Demo organization.

The four-Republicans in the senate gave 75 percent to killing the bill including the vote of state Chairman Joe Skeen of Lincoln.

Only Republican voting in support of the measure was Sen. Bill Duckworth of Clovis.

CATHOLICS ALSO OPPOSE MEASURE

The liquor interests again had strong church support. Sen. Fincher Neal of Carlsbad, main spokesman against the price breaking measure, said Christian principles demanded defeat of the bill, and challenged the New Mexico Council of Churches, a protestant organization which had voted support of the Fabian Chavez reform measure.

Neal is a prominent Methodist layman. Voting with him was Ed Mead of Albuquerque, prominent Baptist layman.

On the Catholic side Sens. Cirilo Maestas, Floyd Santistevan, Tibo Chavez, Alfonso Montoya, Alberto Amador, all voted against the measure.

Mrs. H. B. Hamilton was elected president, Miss Mildred Peters, secretary and Louis Adams, treasurer. The Junior League is a group of young people to work for cleanliness, beauty, law patriotism and civic righteousness. The first request is that the children write essays on "What can I do to improve Carrizozo?" The children between the ages of 9 and 12 receive $2.50 for the best essay and the children between 12 and 16 receive $2.50 for the essay on the same subject.

It was also decided that the members of the League give an entertainment to raise funds to plant trees, flowers, etc. and to help beautify our town.

Executives tootle away tautness

If the rat race draws hubby's nerves taut as a violin string, maybe he should hop on the band-wagon once or twice a month.

Music-making executives nationwide are tootling flutes, tooting trumpets and fiddling fiddles after hours. The musical activity is an escape hatch for creativity they can't use on the job.

In one gray-flannel-suited commuter town near Manhattan, such a group calls itself "No friends of Music."

Never mind how it sounds, you see. The important thing: make music.

Even doctors are doing it. In Los Angeles, there's a doctors' symphony. St. Louis, Boston, Brooklyn and New York City also have musical medics.

Control coyotes to eliminate danger

A program of coyote control should be aimed at eliminating damage and not at attempts to exterminate all coyotes.

Complete elimination is usually not practical because (1) the task of complete eradication is too great and costly, (2) efficient methods of killing large numbers of coyotes are not selective enough and so are dangerous to other forms of life, and (3) the regular diet of coyotes is more beneficial than harmful in the scheme of nature.

However, individual coyotes can inflict considerable damage because they will kill poultry, sheep and hogs. At times, losses of livestock to disease, faulty husbandry, or other animals, particularly dogs, may be incorrectly attributed to the coyote.

For effective control of coyote damage, farmers must be ready to eliminate "killer" coyotes any time of the year. The two most effective weapons for control are the steel trap and the cyanide gun. Traps are designed to catch the animal by a foot or leg, while the cyanide gun will discharge a poison cartridge into the animal's mouth as it pulls on the bait.

In some communities the coyote population may be held in check by destroying the young pups located in den hunts in April and May. The cost of destroying coyotes through the use of hunting dogs is very high unless the farmer also measures returns in terms of sport. Community coyote drives are usually inadequately organized to maintain good hunting "lines", so are not productive in terms of the expense and effort except as a sport. Also, other wildlife is often damaged because of indiscriminate shooting.

sic making satisfies the urge to be creative and is especially helpful for those having little chance for self-expression in work.

The musical activity might signal an advance of civilization.

As Jascha Heifetz once said: "When people come together to play bridge, civilization will have taken its longest stride forward since the beginning of time."

Help needed in screwworm kill

The encouraging progress of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication program merits special attention and cooperation from New Mexico stockmen.

Here is what you, as a rancher, can do to further the program at no cost to you.

1. Examine livestock regularly.
2. Treat wounds.
3. Collect specimens of larvae and eggs.
4. Give these specimens to your county agent or veterinarian.
5. Contribute 10 cents per head to the program (this is purely voluntary).

Shipping of infested animals is now prohibited by law, thus the importance of the program is magnified.

Collection boxes are available from the county agent, and there is no charge for evaluating samples.

For the next few cold months, authorities need to know where the overwintering areas are to increase the effectiveness of the Eradication Program.

In some counties, 90 per cent of the cases are not being reported.

See your county agent or write the Cooperative Extension Service, University Park, New Mexico, for further information.

Saturday night at Jal the Grizzlies were defeated by a hot shooting Jal team 73-69. This was a very good Jal team, pressing the whole game, causing a number of bad passes by Carrizozo that spelled the difference between victory and defeat.

Cloudcroft gives Grizzlies tough time

Tuesday night Carrizozo defeated Cloudcroft in a game earlier snowed out.

Final score Zozo, 69, Cloudcroft 62. Cloudcroft, playing very good basketball, kept nipping at a sluggish Grizzly defense until the final whistle. Time after time the Grizzlies would go 10 or 12 points up on to have Cloudcroft cut it back to 8 or 6.

The Grizzly Cubs completely dominated a taller Cloudcroft "B" team to win going away 28-10.

St. Peter's trips Capitan for loop lead

Coming back from three straight losses, two of them by one-point, St. Peter's Crusaders defeated Capitan 73-50 at the Crusaders' gym Friday night to take the sub-district lead.

Capitan led only one time in the game and that came on the first basket made by center Ken Cozzens with 30 seconds gone in the first quarter. Steve Bailey, a doubtful starter after twisting his ankle in the Colts game last week, hit for two just a few seconds later and then teammates John Rodrigue and Joe Murray started to connect on long outside shots to put St. Peter's out in front to stay.

St. Peter's took a 9-point halftime lead and went on to build it up to 24 later in the third period. Capitan, even though getting more rebounds than St. Peter's, could not connect. Cozzens hit three short inside shots and one free throw in the third quarter for his team's total of seven points that period. While the Crusaders hit for 21, 18 of them field goals.

Again in the last period the Crusaders defense held Capitan to two field goals, but perhaps still anxious, they committed fouls allowing Capitan eight points on 11 attempts while the Crusaders hit four field goals and two free shots. Larry Fields hit three of the four shots to lead St. Peter's in the final quarter and Rodrigue added one to his total.

Second quarter play saw Rodrigue connect on four of four attempts on long shots to add eight points to the score with Bailey and Fields hitting two each and Murray adding another to boost the high scoring Crusaders.

Taking a 13 point first period lead St. Peter's went on to widen their lead to 21 points at the half. Coming back at the half St. Peter's scored 10 points in the third quarter while Hondo scored nine. Hondo's highest scoring period was the first quarter when they scored 12.

G. Sanchez scored 15 points for the losers while his next closest teammate was Elise Torres with 11. Rodrigue scored 23 to pace the winners and Larry Fields hit for 15 followed by Joe Murray and Mickey Wyatt with 11 and 10 respectively.

SCHNITZEL BEANS — Dice two strips of bacon in good-sized saucepan and fry slowly until lightly browned. Add the following: 1½ lbs. green beans - cut in small pieces, 3 medium sized onions - sliced thin, 4 fresh tomatoes - peeled and chopped or use No. 2 can of tomatoes, 1 tsp. salt, dash or two of red pepper, 1tbsp. of cooking oil or butter. Now: Cover and cook very slowly (just simmer) for one hour; watch closely at beginning to see if any liquid will be needed - enough should cook out of vegetables - to prevent burning. At the end of the hour, add one cup of boiling water, then cover and simmer two hours longer. You can shorten the cooking time and save vitamins too but the Southerners and the Dutch know that the long way will produce the best flavor. Makes 6 servings.
