"A NEWSPAPER FOR ALL OF LINCOLN COUNTY"

Something new in football contests started in the News this week!

Something new in football contests is being sponsored by the News and a healthy list of business people in Corona, Capitan, and Carrizozo. The first contest game will be played Friday, August 30, at Ruidoso. You can mail or bring your contest entry to the News any time up to game time in Ruidoso.

This jackpot football contest is different. It puts the amateurs and professionals pretty much on the same level. To win, a contestant must guess the exact score of the game between Ruidoso and Capitan. If no person wins the August 30 contest, $15.00 will be added to the pot making a $30.00 pot for the September 6 game.

Costs nothing to enter. You may pickup an entry card at any sponsor business place listed in the contest advertisement, or simply write your guess on a piece of paper and mail to the News, Box 398, Carrizozo, N. M. 88301.

On page five of this issue you will find the complete schedules of all county teams. Posters will be distributed around the county, courtesy of the sponsors on this page.

The Capitan Tigers play the Ruidoso Warriors to open the season in the only game played in the county this week. Ruidoso lost a lot of its team last year, and Capitan is sporting a new head coach — not much help in guessing the score but it should be a good game to see.

Your guess may be the best. Mail your entry to the "Jackpot Football Contest" today.

Hiway 54 Association starting member drive

The time of the year has arrived for the annual drive to collect Carrizozo's quota for 54 Highway Association funds.

A. J. Zumwalt, state secretary for 54 Highway Association will be in Carrizozo on Friday, August 30, to conduct a drive to raise these funds and it is hoped that everyone will contribute freely to this most important cause, for without the economic value of this highway, this community would suffer a terrific setback. Please respond freely.

Some Reserved Seats Left

There are five home games on the Grizzly field this year starting with Ruidoso September 6, Capitan September 20, Corona October 4, Melrose October 23, and Hatch November 1.

Income tax levy rather unpopular

CAMPBELL'S TAX STILL BURNING

SANTA FE — Gov. Jack Campbell's income tax bill did not even get out of committee last winter but there are still a lot of voters fighting mad about it.

They can't forget the governor's proposal calling for $55 state income tax on a taxable income of $1,500; $134 tax on $2,500 income; $235 on $3,500 taxable income; $343 tax on $4,500.

The common $5,500 income would have been subject $453 tax, $6,500 income $563 tax, $7,500 income $673 tax, $8,500 income $783 tax, $9,500 income $893 tax.

On higher income the individual tax rate was $288 on the first $4,000 and 11 per cent on all above $4,000.

SUPREME CONTEMPT FOR INCOME LEVY

Legislators revolted against the Campbell proposal and proceeded to smother the governor's measure in a manner unequalled in the recent history of the legislature.

They not only let the measure die in committee but didn't even have it printed which is about the most extreme contempt that can be expressed for a legislative measure.

It was even more severe in consideration of a Democratic legislature dealing with a Democratic governor.

ONE ESTIMATED $58 MILLION

Perhaps the most reprehensible thing about the Campbell income tax measure was that he nor anybody else knew how much it would produce.

One individual in Los Alamos with some background in state taxes wrote the Santa Fe New Mexican an estimate of $50 million a year.

The measure was drawn by the discredited Revenue Structure Sub-Committee staff.

There was suspicion that such a tax proposal had been prepared by the sub-committee last fall and just in front of the election an income tax bill draft was pried out of the committee but the second page containing the rates was missing.

The election passed without the rates being known and then the block-buster revelation in February.

PLEDGE BROKEN ON SALES TAX

When party leaders deserted him Campbell made no effort for his income tax measure and accepted the sales tax increase after having been elected on a pledge not to raise that levy.

The issue is still a serious problem for Campbell with many voters fearing that he will try it again if re-elected.

FISHING MONEY FOR EXOTIC GAME?

The game department's purchase of 16 oryx and kudu African antelopes for experimentation and the disappearance of some 2,000 to 3,000 experimental Barbary sheep in the Cimarron country comes along at the same time the game commission is trying to raise the cost of fishing licenses.

The reaction is the normal one of many fishermen thinking they are being nicked to pay for experiments with exotic game animals.

The game office people insist that the proposed increase which must be approved by the legislature is to meet a loss of some $220,000 a year in the fish program alone and is not tied to the hunting program.

The game department has proposed new rates of about double the old fishing fees.

School To Purchase New Car

In the legal section there is a notice calling for bids on a nine passenger 1964 Model Station Wagon. This unit will be used for driver training and will replace the present 1956 Model passenger car which has been used for that purpose. In addition to being used as driver training car the cheerleaders and others will be transported to and from games and other school activities.

A weakness in the Carrizozo school system for years has been library facilities and books in stock. This situation is being remedied a great deal this year with a gift of $30,000.00, given in the name of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Spencer, to the school.

The money will be used in construction of a library, carpeting, and addition of books to present stock. Carrizozo school has a fully qualified and experienced librarian, Mrs. V. J. Marr, who will supervise making the library a quiet and desirable place to study.

Supt. J. T. Clegg stated that architect plans and specifications on the complete new building program for Carrizozo schools will be ready in ten days.

These plans include new shop, home economics, band, and cafeteria facilities which will be on a par with the new library.

Territorial design is being carried out on the new construction, same as present high school and the hospital building. The high school will be repainted to match the new building.

First courthouse meeting at Corona

To give people of Lincoln County a better idea of the need and the cost of building an addition to existing courthouse facilities a series of meetings have been set up by the County Commissioners. The first to be held in Corona on August 28. A report on this meeting will appear in the News next week.

Peter Hurd pictures on display at Fair

Through a special arrangement between the Lincoln County Fair Draw Contest and Peter Hurd, internationally known artist and resident of San Patricio, two paintings by Hurd will be displayed at the Lincoln County Fair in Capitan September 6 and 7.

The largest of the two shows New Mexico as we're seeing it now, clouds with the sun shining through and rain falling on a section or two. Beautiful scenery for people who know and love the Land of Enchantment. The smaller picture is a typical rodeo scene as happens at Capitan on many occasions.

The public is invited to see these pictures in exhibit building at Capitan.

English Visits RCA Plant

Fred English, owner of Carrizozo Hardware and local RCA Victor dealer, boarded a plane in El Paso Sunday morning for a trip to Indianapolis, Ind., and a visit to the RCA Victor plant Monday and Tuesday. Forty dealers from this district made the trip, returning home Wednesday.

The Old Prospector says:

Me and my partner was peacefully butchering a nice, tender young lamb for our evening meal up near the Mal Pais crater when all of a sudden here come a screaming, yelling, sheep-herder over the rocks. Run right up to our fire jabbering so fast we couldn't make out what was going on at first.

After he simmered down some and we caught up with the lingo, seems we were fixin' to eat one of his pets. We offered to reapportion that juicy meat which, after he cooled off, made things a lot better.

Figure that's the way the state legislature will be looking at reapportioning the state — each one of the legislature will be looking to see how much meat he will have for his county. The lamb is already in a cut-up state and don't matter no-how.

Rain holds up paving work

"OF HEAVEN, OR OF MEN?"

"The baptism of John, whence was it? from heaven, or of men? And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say from heaven; he will say unto us, Why did ye not then believe him? But if we shall say of men; we fear the people; for all hold John as a prophet." — Matt. 21:25-26.

There are two sources from which come the things that are done as religious activities. Such things are either from God, or else they are from men. The source is easily determined. If it is from God, then it will be found in the New Testament. If it is not from God, but from men, it will not be found in the New Testament.

Immersion for the remission of sins, observance of the Lord's supper on the first day of the week, singing praises to God, speaking to God in prayer, preaching the gospel, and contributing of our means, are of God because all are taught in the New Testament. Things not of God are instruments of man other than the human heart, burning of incense, worship of Mary, observing special days such as Lent, Easter, Christmas, Holy Days, division into denominations, and making of church laws.

Naldas enjoy birthday party

Louis and Stella Nalda were hosts to over one hundred friends and relatives from the surrounding areas on Sunday, August 23, at their Red Canyon Sheep Company Headquarters Ranch. The occasion was to celebrate Louis's seventieth birthday and was held in a large barn close to their home. A barbeque dinner, (quoting Louis) "Shepherd Style" was served between 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. This consisted of lambs barbecued over live coals buried under-ground for twenty-four hours and frijoles (beans) cooked in covered lard cans the same way as the lamb, baked ham, potato salad, potato chips, pickles, olives, posole, (prepared with corn, beef tripe and pig's feet and shanks, red chili and oregano) and green chili, Jello, and birthday cake, punch for the children, and a slightly stronger punch for the adults, beer, dinner wine, and coffee.

Good old-fashioned country dancing followed the dinner to lively music furnished by George Cooper, Elmer Hust, and George Hust.

"A page for independent thought"

For Present - And Future

Any person who can foresee future developments, even as short a time as 10 years ahead, could make a nice profit by investing in this future — just a little part of his earnings.

There were the homesteaders in several sections of New Mexico who made a few crops and then dried out. Wheat farmers broke out a lot of plains country without knowing how to farm such soil and the "dusty twenties" whipped a lot of them. Important point here . . . the people who stayed, by hook or crook, and acquired these lands for ranching and/or farming are doing rather well these days.

Up around Sierra Blanca in Lincoln County is a large body of water, plus large recreation area. Carrizozo or the county could have acquired this valuable section of land and more valuable water right for as little as $25,000 at one time in history. Not enough people could see into the future of the county.

In this issue of the News is good indication that county ranchers are taking steps to acquire title to parts of their ranch holdings. The land sale laws we have been publishing for months are good proof. They waited long enough but there's no better time than now to start.

The growth all through the mountains from Capitan to the south county line, along with continued increase of land prices in most of the county, is another indication, that a lot of people place a high value on Lincoln County for ranching, recreation, mining, orchards, or retirement.

This publisher was teaching school in a small, dusty western town at a time when the newspaper could have been bought for a sack of peanuts as down payment, worth a quarter of a million now.

As metropolitan areas became more crowded, it should have been rather obvious that these millions of people would want to escape for periods of the year to the wide open spaces — Lincoln County still has a lot of this commodity.

Today there is no doubt about people coming to this area from all over the nation to spend a few days or weeks. Some even come back to stay and help develop the county.

Of importance for those people who have staked out a claim anywhere in the county . . . in business, ranching, farming, tourist service, or any kind of job . . . is to plan for future development. With the thought that any kind of planning should be better than haphazard growth.

Corona has been updating itself as a town with water and gas. Capitan is improving its school facilities right along, as is Hondo.

Looking out the editor's front door one can see a city street with an eight-inch washout all up the block. The new paving district will not eliminate all such drawbacks but is sure a start in the right direction — that of fitting in with county-wide growth.

Other sections of the county have mountains and miles of recreation areas. Carrizozo happens to be located on the railroad, which makes it the natural site for such industrial development as may come along, mining or other.

Action by the Lincoln County commissioners in laying out a new road from the top of Nogal Canyon down the south side to Bonito will serve to open up this section of the county for future development. The emphasis that brought immediate action on this road was the reported silver strike up Tanbarik Canyon. This could turn into real solid economic development and make work for a lot of people, or the miners and geologists could fold up their diggings and leave — but they will be leaving a new road that is needed as a part of the gradual growth of the county, serving many purposes besides mining.

Another part of growth is the proposed courthouse addition. Needed for reasons of record security and working space for all county officers. How people might vote on this bond issue is a good question today — but the need will only be greater . . . and the cost higher . . . next year with both need and cost increasing each suc-

We believe it behooves people of Lincoln County to plan an orderly development of its resources. Growth is sure to come — with or without the planning.

Letters to Editor

Tularosa, N. M.
August 24, 1963
The Lincoln County News
Post Office Box 398
Carrizozo, New Mexico

How a new road down a mountain side comes into being has its unusual aspects, all doubled by virtue of three agencies being party to the road. The News published an account last week of a meeting attended by county commissioners, forest service, mining interests and Parsons Hotel owners. That many people usually multiply problems, but not in this instance.

W O W

Normal course of road building is to supply a traverse (survey or study) before starting construction. In this case surveying through thick growths of scrub oak on a steep mountain side would have taken a month at the bare minimum, so the agreement was made that the Forest Service people would stake out the road, about three miles, the county would supply the bulldozer to open up the road, Penfield and Jones are giving generously of their patented land for right-of-way — then the traverse will be made, a responsibility of the county commissioners.

W O W

Just to be sure of what was going on the entire party met at the head of Nogal Canyon, up where you can see the Great Western mine, the Parsons barn, and a great sweep of country in all directions. Roy Calloway, construction supt. for the Forest Service, followed by Elfred Jones, Charley Jones, and Paul Payton, took off down the mountain side following the staked road. The descent followed an 8% grade which means it would around the mountains plenty before coming out just above the old Parsons mill. A person should be short-legged on one side for such a trip.

W O W

Quite a little time was spent at the top of the canyon, just talking. Leonard Sharpe, owner of the Helen Ray mine near Nogal, was in the party and told about mining methods used by the Spanish in several locations in the county. A large stone, called arrastra (dictionary lists verb arrastro meaning to drag) was rolled over the ore, propelled by slave labor, later burros, breaking it down so the gold could be recovered. One of these stones is out front of Carrizozo school.

W O W

Tom LaMay will have the job of skinning the cat down the mountain side on the new road. Glad he's got the job because that mountain is steep. Tom hooked cables on the old Parsons mill and tried to pull it down, didn't have strong enough cable for this rugged structure and wound up by dynamiting the place, two shots and it was down. Lots of good large timbers laying on the ground now which Jones and Penfield will use on their property.

W O W

The road viewing party had some official engineering talk at noon. Tom Mann wearing the old straw hat he saves for dog nights, and his son, Tom Jr., and wife, Farmer Sadie La Fleur of Carrizozo. Good possibility that Mann Engineering will get in on making the traverse courtesy of the Town of Carrizozo.

Rev. Conrad Nugent thinks some engineering ought to be done on the trash dump along Highway 37 between Alto and Capitan. It marks the sunset and any other view one takes in this area, sermonized Nugent Sunday morning.

W O W

Voice from passing car: "Engine trouble?"

SCREWWORM COUNT DOWN, BUT HARD BATTLE REMAINS

Officials of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication program report that the campaign against the costly pest is now entering a critical stage.

The worm was completely eliminated in the Southeast by a similar program in 1959. However, the experts say that the Southwest presents more complex problems. In spite of the dramatic reduction in screwworm damage this year, program officials stress that the toughest stage in this battle is yet to come — final extermination of all screwworms from areas where they may overwinter, and prevention of reinfestation.

Because of the all-out campaign, screwworm infestations in Southwestern livestock are only four percent as heavy as they were during the peak season last year, ARS officials say. During the second week of July 1962, more than 3,000 screwworm infestations were reported by farmers and ranchers in the states participating in the effort. Only 128 cases were reported during the corresponding period this year.

About 2,000 cases have been reported in 1963, compared with more than 23,000 cases for the same period in 1962. Animal disease specialists estimate that the annual incidence of screwworm has been reduced 99 percent since the Southwestern eradication program began in February, 1962.

Despite the dramatic results achieved so far in the Southwest, campaign officials caution that it is extremely important to find and report all cases of infestation immediately. They emphasize that experience with eradication programs indicated the need for continual vigilance, particularly at this stage when screwworm infestations, while small, are widely scattered. This situation makes pocket outbreaks hard to spot and to treat promptly.

If screwworms are to be reduced to the zero point, without the campaign losing its momentum and forcing an extension of time to get rid of this pest, it is more vital than farmers and ranchers continue to report all suspected infestations, collect samples of larvae and eggs, spray animals regularly, and treat all wounded animals.

Screwworms had, before the campaign, been costing the Southwestern livestock industry as much as $100,000 a year.

BEETLES ATTACK ELMS IN ALBUQUERQUE AREA

Elm leaf beetles are causing serious injury to many elm trees in the Albuquerque area. Damage both to native and Chinese elms is likely to show up in other areas soon.

The insects may be controlled with several different materials, including Malathion, Sevin, Toxaphene and DDT. Malathion and Sevin are especially recommended for home users because of their relative safety, but caution should be taken to follow directions on the container exactly in using any pest killer.

Elm beetles lay groups of 10 to 20 small yellow eggs on the elm leaves. The eggs hatch little yellow slugs or worms that destroy the leaves.

QUICK REMOVAL SAID BEST FOR SPOTS, STAINS

It's best to remove spots and stains as soon as they happen. The longer a stain is left in a fabric, the more difficult it is to remove.

The treatment you use depends on the fabric and the type of spot. Oily stains include butter and food fats, sauces, gravies, and salad dressings. When the stain involves a solid such as chewing gum or adhesive backing on tape, harden it first by rubbing with ice. Scrape it off with the back of a knife.

It was announced Saturday. The $3 million plant, which will begin operation in the spring of 1964, will have an annual capacity of 100 million square feet of construction grade plywood for sheathing, roof decking, subflooring and industrial uses. CAMPBELL, NARANJO ARE FRIENDS AGAIN

Governor Campbell and Rio Arriba Demo Chairman Emilio Naranjo have reconciled their differences for a major improvement in Campbell's political situation. Naranjo who is also sheriff of Rio Arriba and head of what has been demonstrated to be probably the most effective county political organization in the state had been encouraging Ed Mead or John Burroughs to go against Campbell in next year's primary until he and Campbell got together this month. The make-up has been generally attributed to U. S. Rep. Joe Montoya who apparently doesn't want any party feuding while he is running for the Senate.

TRIES TO FIRE EL RITO REGENTS

Campbell acceded to Naranjo's demand to break up the Republican board of regents in charge of the El Rito state school in Rio Arriba but the governor may not be able to do it.

Republican Regents Louis Salazar of Espanola and Reynaldo Abeyta of Rio Arriba have rejected the governor's request for their resignations and he can't force them out short of going to court and establishing cause for their removal.

Naranjo recently arranged for the appointment of Jerry Trujillo of Espanola to a $360 field job in the bureau of revenue. Mrs. Trujillo works for the welfare department.

JOHNNY WALKER YIELDS TO MACK

Land Commissioner Johnny Walker has stepped aside to let Lt. Gov. Mack Easley of Hobbs see what he can develop towards nomination for the House seat that Joe Montoya is leaving, a nomination that Walker, in all likelihood could win if he tried. Walker seems more concerned about getting his friend Sheepherder Hays in for the Demo nomination for land commissioner than having the congressional place for himself.
