The Old Prospector Say:

Times haven't changed much from the days I used to hunt buffalo. In them days we'd lose nigh as many hunters to Indians as we got buffalo and read in the papers where deer hunters are bawling about as many hunters as they are deer.

We sure used to know who was being hunted — us and the buffalo — now a man can't be too sure about who his friends are.

An old pro gets John Miles elected as state Democratic party chairman

MILES ELECTION SHOCKS PRINCES

SANTA FE — The Democratic central committee's election of John Miles as state chairman last week shook Sen. Clint Anderson and Gov. Jack Campbell but they couldn't do anything about it without touching off a party fight.

The plan worked out by Anderson called for no chairman to be selected until after the May primary, or at least until after the February state convention.

Election of a chairman was not on the list of business for the central committee meeting and when Demo Chairman Elio Sedillo of Valencia started maneuvering for Miles he was opposed by John Bingham of Silver City, who customarily speaks for Clint Anderson, and Gene Lusk of Carlsbad, who customarily speaks for Jack Campbell.

They were unable to cope with old pro Elio and Miles was installed.

MORE AUTHORITY FOR CHAIRMAN

NEW MEXICO LAWYERS HONOR LINCOLN COUNTY SHERIFF

Bradley elected president

Sheriff W. G. Bradley, one of the most efficient lawmen to serve Lincoln County, in recent years, was honored at the convention of New Mexico Sheriff's and Police Association held in Roswell the first of the week by election to the highest office in the association, that of president.

Bradley has served this organization in many ways over the years. He has been vice president, held the convention in Farmington in 1955 during the absence of the president, and has served on a great many committees.

The duties of the president include appointing executive board members, arranging district meetings, and setting up the convention which will be in Farmington next year. The vote was close between Ruidoso and Farmington, 48-42, but Farmington won out because many officers felt the next convention should be held in the north part of the state.

Sheriff Bradley takes over the reins from Penn Winston, state police officer, out-going president. The 1st vice president is Chief of Police M. L. Matson of Artesia; 2nd vice president is Chief James Robinson of Lovington; 3rd vice president is Capt. Hoover Wimberly of the state police.

Membership of the association totals over 800 officers in the various law departments of the state. More than 200 of the membership, and their wives, were present at the 29th annual convention which closed Tuesday.

SOCORRO JUDGE PRESIDES OVER HEARING

Another chase, suspects nabbed

Charges of interstate transportation of a stolen car will be filed against William Earl Pison, 18, of Louisville, Ky., and Richard Ingram, 26, escapee of the Miras Edna Penal Farm, Lancaster, Calif., arrested following a four-hour manhunt in the Ruidoso area Oct. 24.

Two men drove away from a service station at Bent without paying. Mrs. Joe Gallegos told Ruidoso police the car was headed east. The Ruidoso Downs marshal took pursuit and found the car abandoned, motor still running, half a mile off U.S. 70 a mile east of Ruidoso Downs.

Pinson surrendered to officers on the scene. Ingram fled into the wooded area near the car. He approached a store-motel unit about a mile from the scene and asked for a soft drink. Already notified by radio, a citizen at the store telephoned Ruidoso police, who radioed other officers. State Patrolman Don Shultz rushed to the store and apprehended the escaped convict.

Judge George Zimmerman disposed of twenty court cases Monday, Tuesday and Friday in Carrizozo which brings the court docket down to the lowest it has been in many years.

In six months Judges Scoggin and Zimmerman have disposed of 806 civil cases in district court, plus 266 criminal cases and 400 juvenile cases, the period time being March 1 thru August 31.

A month ago 17 lawyers were in Carrizozo on the same day. Senior Judge Scoggin has issued a work order which divides the cases, Judge Scoggin handling criminal and Judge Zimmerman civil cases.

Charm of Islands is overpowering

By Alison Lindameed

Flying across the Pacific in a jet, 700 miles an hour, at 3700 feet in the sky is quite an experience.

Arriving at the Honolulu International Airport and being met by beautiful Hawaiian girls who put orchid leis around your neck is the next step in an extreme pleasure.

The Postmasters and families were taken to their hotels by bus with the luggage following within an hour. On the way to the hotel on Waikiki Beach we saw a gorgeous rainbow over the island. It looked as if we had found the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow and after pricing a few things we decided we might need a "pot of gold" to enable us to return home. However it didn't take long to find places where we could eat and sleep reasonably. To dry land New Mexicans the ocean was an inspiring sight, but nicer still was eating in the patio of our hotel under the Banyan tree right on Waikiki Beach. This Banyan tree is where Robert Louis Stevenson did his writing when he lived in a shack on the beach. While eating the doves come in and join you. You can feed them on the cement floor and as you leave they fly in and eat at scraps on your plate.

Spot lights beamed over the beach all through the night and needless to say this postmaster was up many times during the night watching the breakers. The first night we were there a lot of singing awakened me. Going to the window and looking out on Kalakaua Avenue there I saw the street cleaners gayly dressed in bright clothes sweeping and washing the streets as they sang. About the time the sun came up over the palm trees the sidewalks were given a daily hosing. It made the walk and streets very inviting with their cleanliness. There were many interesting

Lincoln County has natural gifts

By Walter A. Hubbard

New Mexico has well been named the Land of Enchantment. It's many unusual and rare natural wonders truly make it an enchanting land — a wonder state. The whole state is richly endowed with a wonderful climate, many scenic wonders, and a prodigious wealth in natural and mineral resources.

How many people realize the unusual natural gifts with which this wonder-state is blessed? New Mexico has ice caves, helium wells, oil wells, potash deposits as rarities aside from having one of the greatest uranium deposits in the world, and the second largest molybdenum deposit in the United States. The great open-pit copper mines, turquoise mines, gold, silver and what not. You name it and we will find it — in New Mexico. And Lincoln County is a vast, virgin treasure vault, now coming into her own.

It has been said that the

PECOS DIAMOND KING — G. Clave Brown, long-time resident and former mayor of Corona, is sitting in an easy chair in front of several art pieces he has fashioned from his large collection of Pecos diamonds. Mr. and Mrs. Brown collect the brilliant rocks in the foothills along the Pecos River between Ft. Sumner and Roswell. Clave figures there were 2500 to 3000 diamonds used in the construction of the ranch house. Lots of people stop to see this collection at the Brown Hotel in Corona and they have received a number of offers to sell their "diamonds", none accepted. (News Photo)

Harman, Chavez and Littleton get "superior accomplishment" awards

Roy Harman, postmaster, Fred Chavez and Lillian Littleton received "superior accomplishment awards" from the regional incentive awards committee for exceptional application to duty in carrying out the change in service.

The citation says, in part: "On August 18, 1963, Carrizozo, N. M., post office, 2nd-class, was designated as a Sectional Center with 37 satellite offices. The work force consisting of three above named employees

The awards were based on a recommendation from regional officials in connection with the exceptional application to duty displayed in carrying out the establishment of Carrizozo as a Sectional Center.

The postmaster and the two employees showed much interest in the new assignment and did a very thorough job in preparing for the change by rearranging letter cases, setting up and labeling pouch and paper racks, etc. This was accomplished by some work off the clock."

Last football contest this week!

Only four college teams remain undefeated and very few high school teams as upsets wrecked the hopes of teams on every field. The New Jackpot contest had plenty of entries last week, some close but no winner of the Ruidoso-Lordsburg contest which ended 7-7.

The contest game this week (see advertisement) will be the last of the season and $90.00 will be paid the contestant guessing the exact score or the one coming the closest to the score. The game will be played in Carrizozo and you have until 5:00 p.m. Friday to get your entries in. Just so they are postmarked Friday at 5:00 p.m. the entries will be accepted as valid.

Nancy Kimbrell of Picacho had it 0-7, Jane Ortiz of Carrizozo had it 7-0 (they should have gotten together), Kenneth Huey at Capitan had the score 7-19 and Eugenia Vega of Carrizozo came the closest with a 6-7 guess.

Tatum Coyotes drop

Corona Cards, 35-7

The Corona football team visited Tatum for their last game. Tatum beat Corona very handily 35-7. Tatum's big team punched out five touchdowns against the Cardinals.

The Coyotes outmanned the Cardinals through the first half. However, the Cardinals contained the Coyotes during the second half but the Cardinals were too far behind to catch-up. Eddie Lightfoot scored the only touchdown for Corona after a sustained drive. The Cardinals drove again toward a touchdown but fumbled on the 1 yard line and Tatum recovered. The game ended 35-7.

The following Cardinals played their last game this year. They are: David Bramblett, Eddie Lightfoot, George Lightfoot, Jim McCommas, Raymond McKibben, Norman Moore, Dennis Tracey, Len Sultemeier.

The team and the fans next year will miss these senior players.

The Scoreboard

Championship game Nov. 8 at McCurdy

Carrizozo, champion of the C Conference Southern League which includes Capitan, Zozo, Corona, Dexter, Melrose, Tatum and Vaughn, will play McCurdy Mission at Santa Cruz on Nov. 8, at 2:00 p.m.

McCurdy Mission won the western sub-district in C Conference which includes McCurdy, Tierra Amarillo, Chama and Dulce. Then beat Boys Academy, winner in the eastern sub-district, includes The Academy, Roy, and St. Gertrude's, for the right to play the southern champion.

Local football fans watching the McCurdy-Academy game last Saturday saw a real aggressive team win. McCurdy is not too big but they play all the time and is a good all-around team. The Boys Academy played their first half like the Grizzlies have played a time or two and were in the hole at the half.

Ruidoso gains tie in district

Ruidoso — Ruidoso and Lordsburg battled to a 7-7 District 3B tie here Saturday night.

The Warriors scored early in the opening quarter on quarterback Bill Stirman's pass to end Prentiss Creel. Fullback John Underwood ran the conversion.

Lordsburg rallied in the second quarter to tie it up. Quarterback James Murray sneaked over from the one and fullback James Sandoval added the conversion.

Ruidoso made two penetrations to Lordsburg's one.

Halfback Faustino Gallegos scored two touchdowns and two extra points while freshman fullback Tom Ortiz bulled over on runs of 10' and six yards.

Carrizozo ends its regular season against Class B Hatch next week, and then meets McCurdy Mission, Dist. 1C winner, for the state title on Nov. 8.

McCurdy wins 1C over BA, 13-6

Santa Cruz — Defending Class C champion McCurdy Mission captured the Dist. 1C championship by whipping previously unbeaten Boys Academy, 13-6, here Saturday.

McCurdy now advances to the finals in Class C against Carrizozo.

The winning Bobcats jumped into a 13-0 lead at halftime then settled back to choke off several Academy threats. J. E. Hall Sr. passed away in Albuquerque

John Edgar Hall Sr. passed away in Albuquerque on Oct. 4, after an illness of only three weeks. Had he lived until Dec. he would have been 96 years old. He was born in Oxford, Miss. on Dec. 21, 1867 and spent his early youth in that state. While still a young man his family moved to Texas where he grew to manhood and was married. His first wife died when his oldest son, Rev. Bryan Hall, of El Paso was only six months old. In Coleman County, Texas, he met and was married to Miss Annie Lee Collier, his second wife. Mr. Hall moved from Corpus Christie, Texas, to New Mexico in 1917 and homesteaded a section of land Northeast of Ancho, near the Luna Pumping Station. The family lived on the homestead for many years, then when the family was grown and gone away he sold out and moved to Socorro. After several years in Socorro, Mr. and Mrs. Hall again sold their property and moved to Albuquerque where they resided for 17 years. Mr. Hall was a carpenter and rock mason and also an inventor. A number of buildings and rock works stand as a memorial to his abilities. While living on his farm and ranch near Ancho he perfected and put together a perpetual motion machine, cutting and fitting most of the parts by hand, which in his own words, "Probably was the closest that anyone ever came to the real thing". Later he invented and perfected several types of beds that could be closed into a closet in the wall at the mere touch of a finger. His latest bed invention was a double decker bunk bed, for trailer homes, which folds into a very small space when not in use.

Mr. Hall was a life-long member of the Methodist Church and lived a life above reproach, being a good neighbor, friend to all. Survivors other than his wife, Annie Lee, of the family home and Brian, of El Paso, include sons John E. Hall, Jr., who is an Attorney and lived in Carrizozo for a number of years before moving to Albuquerque; Halley Hall of Superior, Arizona; Ralph Hall of Los Angeles, Calif. and a daughter Mrs. Anne Bert Poage of Albuquerque. Also surviving are three brothers: F. H. Hall, Albuquerque; W. A. Hall, Fort Worth, Tex.; Rev. Bert Hall, Bonham, Tex. and a sister Mrs. Lillie Boone, San Antonio, Tex., the youngest of these is 83 years old. John E. Hall, Sr. was laid to rest in Memory Lawn Cemetery in Albuquerque, Oct. 7.

GALA HALLOWEEN ACTIVITIES CAN LEND SERIOUS REFLECTIONS

You'll soon be taking notice of Halloween activities, for the year of 1963; and the occasion will give you some thoughts, as well as some probable thrills!

The Goblins that prowl around on that night performing queer and exotic capers, moving about in ghostly shrouds as eerie phantoms mysterious in movements and spiced with a decided air of devilry, depart a trail of comprehensive participant background and forecast a general pattern of the future—that is unless the ghostly apparitions rob you of your meditations.

These boisterous merrymakings of fun and frolic, weird undertakings of pranks and tricks, are a decided factor for certain summarizations.

Last Halloween we Carsons occupied an apartment in Farmington. Within was lots of room for Halloween activities; and we like to watch the fun and frolics of the pranksters that night.

All during the day's eve, Mrs. Carson had made preparations to cope with the gala, prankish occasion. She enthusiastically and wholeheartedly took steps so that we would not suffer from the dreaded ordeal of TRICK OR TREAT!

As a part of the planning, she had placed the favored Lazy Susan, a dish large and sturdy and constructed of great durability and capable of supporting a great load, conveniently near the door. On it she heaped loads of GOODIES—such as candy, cookies, gum, mints, etc.—and everything mostly that was tasty to kiddies.

This move was considered somewhat essential; because, otherwise, if the pranksters who more or less controlled the activities of Halloween were not treated, we could expect the old devil to take control and some sort of trick will be the results of the failure to treat.

And the car was parked just in front of the apartment — and it's hell to air up four tires early in the morning before work time.

When everything was in readiness, and darkness had enveloped the town, she took her position near the front door, near the big Susan, and prepared to bargain with the onslaught of serenaders. I lingered comfortably in a reclining chair in the corner of the room, where every move could be seen.

I was brimming full of curiosity—worse than an old goat—and anxious to see just what would happen.

The white flag was run up outside, and the High Order of Submission to the demands of the Hour was put on display. A card board was hung on the front door, announcing willingness to comply with the TRICK OR TREAT organization's demands.

Pretty soon the quietness of the room was broken. The stampede had commenced. It seemed that every ghost of Halloween Night had decided to descend at the same time. Raps reverberated on the door, one rapidly following another—timid, fierce, demanding, strong, and of every description capable of human hands from a childish devilry group. The American Youth in a serenading cloak was on the rampage!

Strangely the front door bell this night made eerie noises, and a string of chills that hadn't moved for days and weeks as they suspended near the front door, swirled in the cool night atmosphere, as the weird and fantastically dressed youthful phantoms swarmed in and out the front door.

The spookish-looking individuals came in singles, doubles, triples, bunches, and swarms, if not even droves—joyous and gale, full of pranks and of fun and of gaiety.

I thought of the witchy old woman with the broom and what a part she could play in this room!

Some of the youths came dressed in costumes of the Dames of the Gay '90s; one lad in an outfit that would have done justice to any thrifty gambler of the Old West—even Bat Masterson; a Billy the Kid sort of rigging that ushered in thoughts of Lincoln County and the famous range war; the dress of a witch that must have been worn by one who had dreadful influence upon the early-day settlers of the thirteen colonies along the Atlantic Seaboard—probably patterned after one of the 19 sentenced to death in 1692 by Judge Samuel Sewell for practicing witchcraft in Salem, Massachusetts; clownish-looking regalia of every sort and description, some of which could have cloaked the clowns of Shakespeare's comedies. They were of every sort and description, and of an adequate nature to tickle the fancy with fear and fun for the Halloween night.

Yet each by his dress and by his manners told a story, despite the styling of his mystified garb!

Each costume represented planning—planning of both the child and the child's parents—plans which came as a reflection of the inner family circle.

In this parade of efforts and prankish mannerisms and between fits of laughter, a glimpse of the American Youth could be seen!

As each trickster approached the loaded till of goodies, he departed an impression of some sort. He portrayed a family background—or raisin', so to speak.

Two or three little ladies entered, possessed with an etiquette that would do credit to the First Lady. Upon invitation they helped themselves, timidly, and took small portions from the bountiful pile. They humbly refused a second offering of the tasties, and expressed thanks that gleamed of sincerity.

A couple of other little girls, completely hidden from any sort of physical identity by their spookish regalia, replied to an insistence that they fill their small paper grocery bags with the good things to eat. "No, Mommy told us to take just one piece!"

Other little boys and little girls approached the larder, embarrassedly taking small portions, very politely, without utterance. They extended thanks and departed.

A few belled up to the pile with a belligerent attitude, on a first come first take all sort of movement and to hell with the others. They crammed more into the already bulging treat bag, and departed without so much as a word, leaving an undisputed atmosphere that the world owed them something, and by the good gods above and the old devil below, they were out to collect it.

One little tot, gently and sweet, approached Mrs. Carson. Lifting her mysterious garb, for a bit of recognition, and spoke mildly, "I was afraid you would not recognize me!"

And you might not care to believe it—just as I did—some of the fellows made their way back into the room for a second run of the goodies. A few times they spoke not a word—just shoveled the goodies into the bag, and departed.

Finally the Halloween treats exhausted, and the ghosts of the occasion dwindled away into the night, and to their respective quarters and fiersides. And quietness once again prevailed. My sides hurt, from laughter—and at times my heart had hurt, too. We had watched and observed the parade with much amusement and interest. We offered no moral; yet a common thought prevailed, I'm sure; for

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT IS . . .

Through the passage of the youngsters in the parade of TRICK OR TREAT, we had become indirectly acquainted with the family backgrounds.

Dear Sir,

I am enclosing a clipping from the current issue of "LABOR" printed in Washington, D. C., showing the death of Donald A. MacKenzie. Mr. MacKenzie was a conductor on the old EP&SW RR and ran out of Carrizozo while I was employed there.

There are a lot of folks in that vicinity who knew Mr. MacKenzie and might be interested in the item, especially the old railroad people who worked with and came in contact with him. Mr. MacKenzie was a member of Carrizozo Lodge No. 41 AF&AM and, of course, also had many friends in the lodge.

Perhaps you have received this information from some other source, but if not I thought that you might be interested in it.

Very sincerely yours,
Fred L. Boughner,

D. A. MacKenzie, veteran of BRT dies

(This particular issue of "LABOR" was published on Oct. 16, so would be some date prior to that.)

CLEVELAND — The Railroad Trainmen announced here last week that D. A. MacKenzie, retired secretary-treasurer, died suddenly at 81 while attending a Tri-State Meeting of the Brotherhood in Tucson, Ariz.

Mac Kenzie, a BRT member for 58 years, was named a member of the grand lodge board of directors in 1927. A year later he was elected a vice president and re-elected to that post at subsequent Brotherhood conventions until 1948, when he became secretary-treasurer.

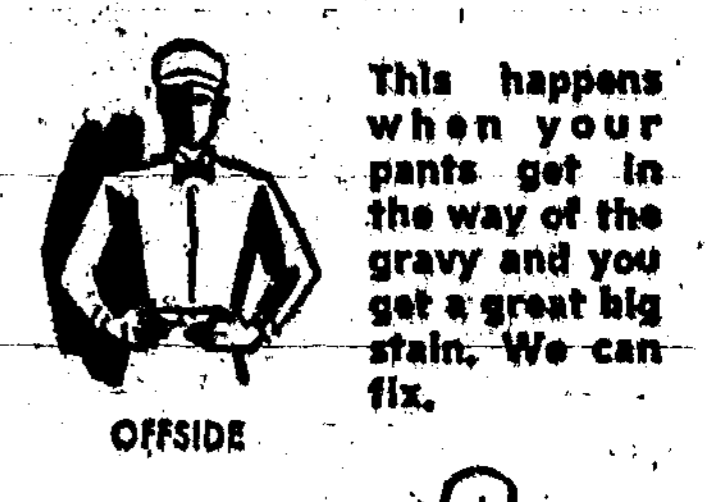

A native of Lake Forest, Ill., he began his rail career as a messenger boy on the Milwaukee Road, became a yard clerk, later a switchman and then a road-brakeman and conductor. He served as general chairman on the El Paso & Southwestern from 1911 until his election as a vice-president in 1928. After his retirement in 1954, he settled in Long Beach, Calif.

President Charles Luna and other Brotherhood officials participated in funeral services held in Glendale, Calif.

The pages in the book which I have are dated November 22, 1898. If anyone knowing S. G. Leinweber or knowing of him would please drop me a card, I would appreciate it so very much. "A page for independent thought"

MORE POWER TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

By John C. Satterfield, past president (1931-32) of the American Bar Association.

NOTE — The News editor is giving up editorial space, most weeks devoted to local problems and situations, to a piece of writing which touches on lives of all people. New Mexico will be fighting out the civil rights problem when our legislature meets to work on reapportionment in November. We advise you wade through this article by John Satterfield. It touches on your personal rights too.

The civil rights of all Americans are guaranteed by the Constitution. But recent studies show that President Kennedy's civil rights bill may give the Attorney General powers apparently prohibited by the Constitution. This strong shift in the thrust of federal power is especially notable in the matter of voting rights. It destroys more civil rights of more citizens than it protects.

Everyone agrees that only the individual states can set the qualifications of voters. It is the duty of each state to protect its citizens against those who are incapable of casting a democratic vote.

As recently as 1959, the U. S. Supreme Court held that the plain words of the Constitution require voters in federal elections to meet the standards set in each state. And in the question of the poll tax, many state legislatures have agreed that only a Constitutional amendment can set it aside as a qualification in federal elections.

But the President's civil rights bill attempts to set aside the poll tax at a time when no Constitutional amendment has been passed. The Attorney General could file suit to ignore one of the qualifications which the citizens of a state have set up under the guarantees of the U. S. Constitution.

In a second provision, the President also seeks to give the Attorney General power to ignore a state's literacy test in a case where a voter applicant has completed six years of school. It is important to note that this infringement of the rights of the citizens in each state is not based on race.

A few weeks ago, the President indicated that the problem of illiteracy was widespread. He said that one-fourth of all the young men who took selective service examinations failed the mental test. Even though nearly every state has eight to ten years of compulsory education, one man out of four could not fulfill his civic duties because he could not read or do simple arithmetic.

Nevertheless, the President would allow the Attorney General to bring suit to force many of these same men onto the voting rolls. The President would do this even though the Constitution and the Supreme Court have explicitly left this power to the states — which are in a better position to guard their citizens against an illiterate electorate.

In still a third provision, the President directs his brother to intervene in any state or federal election he chooses. The Attorney General is empowered to set aside the local voting officials. He need only allege to a federal court that less than 15 per cent of the prospective qualified voters of any race have not been registered in that district.

Without taking evidence or making and finding, the court must immediately appoint temporary federal voting referees. The federal referees will then interpret the qualifications of applicants as they see fit. And then the election will be held.

After the election has been decided, the court will proceed to take evidence on the Attorney General's allegation. If it is found to be weak or in error, it will be dismissed, and the unqualified voters removed from the rolls.

But whatever the final outcome of the complaint, the election is valid.

Civil rights experts have concluded that this procedure violates the due process of law which is guaranteed to all citizens by the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution. Due process requires that no matter be decided until after hearings and a fair trial. But the method chosen by the President allows the Attorney General to attain his desired end before the case is decided.

For these reasons, more and more observers feel that this extension of the Attorney General's power into the everyday lives of citizens is a disturbing prospect. They feel that the President's civil rights bill consists of 80 per cent federal power and 10 per cent civil rights.

band and falling leaves make up a perfect fall.

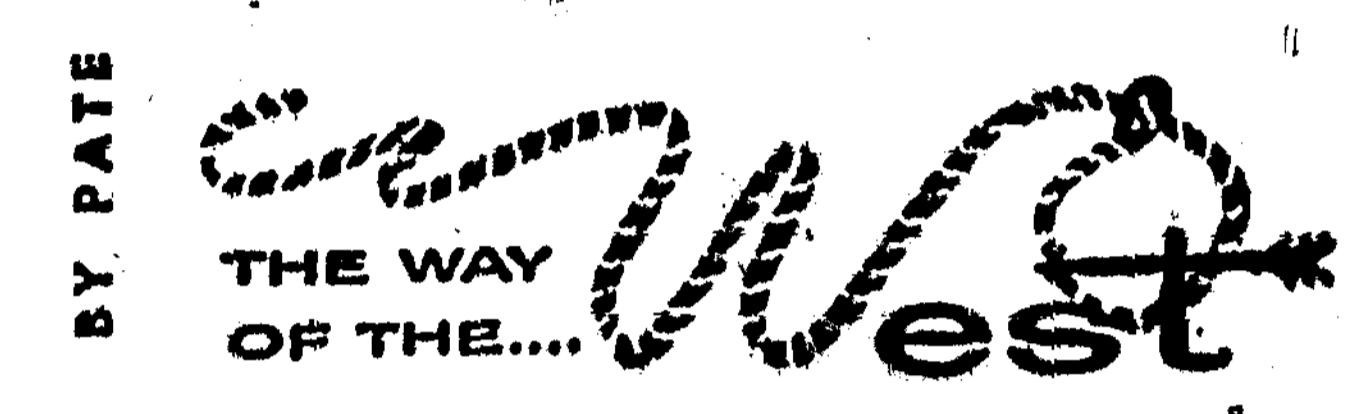

Under the education department we'd like to submit the following: Wife: "You don't love me anymore. When you see me crying now you don't ask why." Husband: "I'm awfully sorry, my dear, but these questions have cost me an awful lot of money."

In an editorial last week we criticized education. There is more fuel for the fire in the great editorial on this page — quoting the President as indicating that one-fourth of all the young men who took selective service examinations failed the mental test. Even though nearly every state has eight to ten years of compulsory education, one man out of four could not fulfill his civic duties because he could not read or do simple arithmetic.

Thought for the future (clipped): In most cases the secret of happy retirement lies in achieving a definite change in scenery and interests. For many it may even be best to sell the old homestead and move to an entirely different area. Retirement can indeed be an exciting and rewarding adventure... in Lincoln County... said a man who knows.

CONGRATULATIONS MARGARET — Paul Payton, publisher of the Lincoln County News, is congratulating Margaret Rench and fixing to hand her the $480 first prize in the News subscription contest. A total of 357 new subscriptions were added in this contest — and new subscriptions are still coming in.

The News editor and Eleanor joined Mr. and Mrs. Al Stubbs and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Higginbotham of the Roswell Record in Ruidoso Saturday night to view the new Cree Manor apartment motel built by a corporation with Carl DeBord as general manager and Carmon Phillips one of the four corporation members. What was started a number of years back with a $14,000 investment has grown to quite a sizeable deal. Mr. DeBord said they were forced into buying 240 acres of land they didn't want, later sold a part of this acreage for over $200,000, have built the new 32-unit motel on part of the original acreage and have land left for development.

It's safe to say that DeBord and Phillips are men who have a lot of faith in Lincoln County. They started out to spend around $325,000 on this motel, getting rock out of the location cost an extra $37,000, and other things ran the price up to over $500,000. Their rentals are by the day, week, month. Each unit includes kitchen facilities, all tastefully decorated by Francis can, same as the Crossroads Motel in Carrizozo.

In a column last week Will Harrison was talking about a feud between Senator Judge William Scoggin of Las Cruces and Judge George Zimmerman of Alamogordo. Local opinion is that this minor feud is not nearly so serious as goes on between numerous justices of the state. More in the nature of a Demo family quarrel. Judge Scoggin has been ill, still is, which probably hampers what might be his usually good nature.

Folks at the football game were impressed two ways on Wednesday of last week — one with a sharp football team that has created a lot of pride under the direction of Bernie Lanbs. Two, a band under the direction of Arnold Boyce, from a start of one piccolo, one baritone and one field drum player at the beginning of school Arnold has over 100 youngsters playing various kinds of instruments. His marching band came on the field and performed the Star Spangled Banner in a manner that certainly surprised folks, then did a half-time performance that was a real credit to the Boyce teaching. Football,

As of Monday the Chamber of Commerce has a new member on the board of directors. Following the president's thinking of getting all the young and pretty ones possible the Chamber has enrolled Erma Strohmeyer and this week Margaret Stearns as directors of this active group working for a better Carrizozo and Lincoln County.

A plaque will be presented to the Scout Master Wayland Hill, Jr., at the November Roundtable discussion in Ruidoso, and he in turn will present the plaque to the troop. In order to keep the plaque in Carrizozo the Boy Scouts will have to win first place again next year.

The boys participating were: Chris Bancroft, Jeff Keith and Claude Currie, Quill Bradley, David and Raymond LaFave, Gilbert Lucero, Leroy Warner, Stanley Powers and Johnny Wells.

All the boys extend their appreciation to Ralph Currie who was kind enough to use his car for transportation and assisted the Scout Master and the Scouts in every way possible.

$29,000 contract for church expansion

Ruidoso — A contract was to be signed early this week by Bishop C. J. Kinsolving, bishop of the New Mexico and West Texas Diocese, for the building by Hall Construction Co. of Ruidoso of a $29,195.12 expansion of the Church of the Holy Mount. Bishop Kinsolving was in Ruidoso Sunday conferring on the building project with local church officials, and was to study the contract with the local building firm, then was expected to sign it so that work can begin in the next few days.

Hall's bid was the lowest of four submitted. The highest bid was $41,945.

The Lincoln County Episcopal minister, the Rev. Wm. R. Brown, III, said the expansion will include construction of a 3-bedroom residence with one and three-quarter bath, an office and a parish hall. The home will be built on lots northwest of the church, near the First Christian Church, and the office and parish house will adjoin the church on the northwest.

PREJUDICE

"When Galileo was summoned before the inquisition to be tried for the 'heresy' of affirming the revolution of the earth, he said to the judges, 'I can convince you. Here is my telescope; look through it and you shall see the moons of Jupiter.' They refused to look. They were convinced that the earth did not revolve around the sun and no evidence could convince them otherwise."

Such blind prejudice has waged a constant warfare against Christ and his church through the centuries. When Jesus walked the earth, it caused people to "close their eyes" and refuse to seriously consider his claims and teachings.

While the prejudiced man is an enemy to truth, he is also his own worst enemy. He deprives himself of the truth which can "make him free" and bars in his own face the door of the Lord's church, the only institution in which there is salvation.

Prejudice has given rise to the dangerous attitude, "Don't disturb me with facts; my mind is made up." This is the disposition in religion that bolts the heart's door to Christ and salvation.

But what is the antidote for prejudice? The answer is an open mind and a willingness to "come and see." The same willingness that led Nathaniel to know that truly something "good" could "come out of Nazareth," for there he found the "Son of God, the King of Israel" (John 1:45-49).

The church of Christ claims to be the blood-bought church of the New Testament. We talk only that people, with open hearts and open bibles, "Come and see." Is this not fair?

How the judge fight in the coming election will work out is of interest to Lincoln County. Right now District Attorney Dan Sosa of Las Cruces is in the race (recently fined $250 for contempt by Judge Zimmerman), along with Dick Standley, Judge Zimmerman of Alamo. The two Alamogordo lawyers are just cutting each other's throats by both getting in the race — which, at the moment, gives Sosa a sure "in" for district judge.

We can give our readers a few tips on cider pressing, except for Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sliton, who already know. Generally speaking one needs a refrigerator after pressing out three bushels of apples, because it turns into work. The Paytons use two different styles of preparing the apples. Paul quarters them and cuts out any bad spots, leaving core, stem with the apple. Eleanor washes, cuts, cores in real neat fashion. Food grinder works best to get apples ready for cider press. We got four gallons from three bushels of apples, real tasty stuff, which seemed like a good average.

The area around Carrizozo is sprouting new, good looking signs mostly thanks to George Clark. His work is reasonably priced and real fine quality. For a sample of his work you can view the large sign on the courthouse grounds.
