Saps get to vote on repeal of pre-primary

SANTA FE — Atty. Gen. Earl Hartley's last hour flip flop allowing the saps to vote on repeal of the pre-primary convention law came on the same day that the Republican candidate for attorney general, Larry Prentice, was scheduled to go to court in an attempt to force Secretary of State, Alberta Miller to put the question on the ballot.

Mrs. Miller had rejected the referendum petition on the convention law a month earlier for not having a sufficient number of registered voter signers. She said she acted at the direction of the attorney general.

ATTORNEY GENERAL WAS IN A JAM

The Demo attorney general and party campaign manager was in a political jam when he changed directions.

First, it looked like the Republican lawyer was right in his contention for putting the referendum on the ballot, and that could have amounted to a considerable victory for that party.

Second, if the attorney general were successful in keeping the question off the ballot, it would have thrown him and his party into an unpopular position. The convention law is thoroughly hated in the state.

CONSTITUTION LANGUAGE

Hartley embraced the same position taken by the Republican lawyer, in holding that the question should go on the ballot.

They agreed that the signers of the petitions should be "qualified electors" as stated in the constitution and not necessarily registered voters. There is a difference.

AT FAR END OF BALLOT

The few politicians who favor the convention system of nominating state party candidates were still smug about the convention law surviving the Nov. 3 voting.

The constitution requires that at least 40 per cent of all those participating in the election must vote on the question before the law can be repealed.

The question will be placed at the very tail end of the list, after the amendments, the JPs and the constables, and if 40 per cent of the voters get that far it will be unusual.

REPEAL FAILED IN 1950 VOTE

In 1950 when a pre-primary convention law was up for repeal 54,000 voted for repeal and 14,000 for keeping it, but it wasn't repealed because those voting on the question didn't come to 40 per cent of all who participated in the election.

The law was eventually thrown out by the legislature in 1955.

NORMAN PALMER WAS DIFFERENT

The broad and liberal interpretation of the law on the referendum signatures recalls the reputation that Norman Palmer received at the statehouse and in court when he tried with petitions to get his name on the Demo primary ballot against Joe Montoya for nomination for the U. S. Senate.

He was blown out of the water.

Since that time New York has accepted a resident of Massachusetts as a Demo candidate for the U. S. Senate and California has accepted a resident of Virginia as the Demo candidate for the U. S. Senate who subsequently went on to the Senate by appointment.

PALMER TRIED AT WRONG TIME

The referendum petitions and the California and New York actions do not relate precisely to the Norman Palmer case, but had his case come up at this time rather than last April he might have made it.

The pre-primary convention law was passed in 1963 to give Joe Montoya the Demo Senate nomination without going through a primary test and after the state convention had given him the nomination without opposition it wasn't likely that anyone was going to be allowed to run against him without an awful struggle.

LIQUOR PEOPLE CUT OWN NOSE

Meddling by outside liquor interests was largely responsible for the four-to-one dry victory in the Portales local option election last week.

Ernest Miera, a Malool Wholesale Co. liquor salesman and a state representative for Sandoval county, 250 miles removed from Portales, got a last hour opinion from Atty. Gen. Earl Hartley barring some 300 late registrants from the election.

Haskell Doyal, Portales wet leader, said the antagonism aroused by the opinion was responsible for turning the election against the wets.

Local observers say that the city would have voted dry without the spur from Santa Fe but not so heavily.

U. S. 44 COST AT $7 MILLION

The U. S. 64 east-west route across the northern part of the state has developed $7 million cost so far.

The letting of a contract last week for the first construction on the 44-mile crossing of the mountains from Tres Piedres to Tierra Amarilla showed a $100,000 cost per mile rate that will run the state construction to about 3.5 million. The U. S. Forest Service will pay for some ten miles of the crossing. This goes with the 3.5 million being spent on the Rio Grand Gorge bridge and approaches to bring a total of $7 million spending that is in sight so far.

Retired educators honored

Miss Minnie Neill, Mr. L. Z. Manire, Mrs. Mary Johnson

Miss Minnie Neill, Mr. L. Z. Manire and Mrs. Mary Johnson were introduced and their years of service in the Carrizozo schools recognized at the school dedication program August 23.

Miss Neill started teaching in Carrizozo in the fall of 1943 and retired in 1960. She was a third grade teacher. She taught in Texas before coming to New Mexico, teaching there eleven years in Bosque and Haskell Counties. Miss Neill has a B. S. degree from North Texas Teachers College, Denton, Texas.

Mr. Manire taught forty years, twenty-five in New Mexico, fifteen in Texas. He was superintendent for five years in Tatum, nine years at Vaughn and eleven years in Carrizozo. Mr. Manire has a B. S. degree from North Texas State Teachers College at Denton and an M. A. degree from the University of New Mexico.

Mrs. Mary Johnson, taught in the Lincoln County schools for six years, started teaching at Lincoln, N. M. in 1918. Taught in Capitan five years, was County Superintendent for four years. She taught seven and one-half years in the Carrizozo Elementary schools and was a substitute teacher and office clerk from 1942 to 1961 when she retired from school work. Mrs. Johnson attended Highland University and Silver City Teachers College.

Mr. James Olivas was also introduced. He was head school (Continued on back page)

Miss Wool will visit Lincoln Fair Saturday

N. M. Miss Wool will be at the Lincoln County Fair Saturday, September 12. Plans are to have her participate in the parade. Other events on Saturday are the junior breeding sheep show, range beef cattle and range sheep show.

Friday will be the junior livestock show except sheep. All home economics, horticulture and other exhibits will be judged Friday starting at 10:00 a.m. Entries are due by 9:00 a.m. on Friday.

Fair workday will be next Tuesday, September 8, starting at 9:00 a.m. At this time final preparations for the Lincoln Co. Fair will be made. Work will be progressing all day, so bring your tools, the fair grounds are easy to find in Capitan, one and all are welcome.

Lincoln County, along with 13 other counties, has been approved to be on the emergency feed program. Eligible livestock owners can receive grain sorghums at 75 cent support prices which is approximately $1.50 a cwt. For particulars see Herman McKibben, ASCS office in the court house.

Calves were selling in the Capitan area at $21 and $23 for heifer and steer calves for October delivery. Some earlier contracts were for $20 and $22.

When grandma boiled her clothes to get them clean, she did a kingsize job of sanitizing also. Today's modern automatic washers have reduced the elbow work on laundry day but neither the water temperature nor the detergents generally used will kill all disease-causing bacteria.

It takes 20 minutes at 140 degrees Fahrenheit to kill staphylococci organism that cause kidney, skin and other infections.

When there is illness or skin infection in the family, troublesome bacteria can stay alive in the washer. They are then passed from one load of wash to the next.

This fact is especially important when applied to communal washing facilities — coin operated laundromats and apartment houses.

And it is here that laundry disinfectants come into the picture. Under ordinary conditions of home laundering, hot water and detergent will give adequate sanitation. But if there is illness or infection in the family and if the laundry is done at communal facilities, then there is need for a disinfectant.

There are four types of products available for use as sanitizers in home laundering. 1) Liquid chlorine bleaches do a good job on certain fabrics but they will damage wool, silk and certain dyed finished fabrics. 2) Phenolic disinfectants can be added to either the wash or the rinse water. 3) Pine oil disinfectants should be at least 80% pine oil to be effective. They are added at the beginning of the wash cycle. 4) Quaternary disinfectants are sometimes called "quats." Check janitor, dairy and poultry supply sources.

Information for start of school

The capacity of the new cafeteria is 140 pupils at a time. This makes it possible to serve the students who wish to participate in the lunch program in a very short time.

The dismissal time for the student body is as follows:

Primary grades (1-2-3) 11:30 a.m.; Elementary grades (4-5-6) 11:45 a.m. and at 3:30 p.m.

Junior High School and High School students 11:50 a.m. and at 3:30 p.m.

Each of the above units go to lunch immediately after they are dismissed for noon. This schedule provides ample time for the younger children to be out of the lunch room prior to the arrival of the older students.

Washing facilities are provided in the cafeteria, and all primary and elementary students are required to wash before they are served.

I wish to take this opportunity in behalf of the Board of Education to invite you to visit the cafeteria and eat with us occasionally. We hope to be able to maintain the same student prices as we had last year if at all possible.

Grades 1-6, 25 cents or 5 meals for $1.

Grades 7-12, 30 cents or 5 meals for $1.25.

Visitors, regular meals 75 cents, visitors holiday meals $1.25.

May I assure you that the meals are properly planned and your child will get one-third or more of his or her daily food requirements.

Your participation in the lunch program helps immensely to make this phase of the school self-supporting.

The Board of Education was well pleased with the expressions of acceptance of the new building which were made to them personally by many of the local citizens.

All current bills were presented and ordered paid.

Corona Cardinals were first out in the 1964 football season against Cloudcroft last Friday and took a loss (see Corona school news). This Friday they play another Hill-top team, Mountair, on the Corona field. The Cardinals are sporting a light weight team but one that has scoring punch. The News sports editor figures the Cardinals for an uphill climb this week and an outside chance to win.

The Capitan Tigers will be bumping pads with one of the heaviest teams in this area when Cloudcroft comes to Capitan. Big with two or three fast boys. Coach Melvin Romero says his squad will be ready for them. Cloudcroft has a win over Corona under their tee shirts but September 4 is another week, another field, another team. We predict a ding of a game and Capitan the winner, name your own score.

It was open house at the Grizzly football field Tuesday night when the Bears scrimmaged with Alamogordo while coaches Melvin Romero of Capitan, football coach Ken Newton, basketball coach J. C. "Truck" Lusk, assistant basketball coach Wayne Mains, and school board member Dave Parks of Ruidoso were out on the field cheering the home team and making mental notes on how they would take the Grizzlies later.

First Jackpot Contest starts

The Lincoln County News jackpot football contest gets underway today and a chance for some person to win $15 cash by guessing the correct score of the contest game (see advertisement).

In case of no winner this week there will be $30 cash in the pot next week. Contest is open to anybody, sponsors and all. Must get your entries in to the Lincoln County News before game time Friday.

Coach Bernie Laabs said the Grizzly offense worked better than in the first scrimmage at Tularosa last Thursday, defense just as good. Laabs had 24 men in action in Tulle and worked out 25 boys Tuesday night against the Alamo B team. Team is in good shape, usual number of bumps but nothing serious.

Starting at Ruidoso this Friday at 8:00 p.m. will be Mike Ortiz QB, Tommy Ortiz at Full, Jimmy Lovato RB, Eddie Lovato LH, Vigil and Posey at ends, D. Armstrong and M. Torres at tackle, B. Herrera and G. Armstrong B. MacVeigh at guard positions, and Herman Sanchez at center.

Thirty boys will make the trip to Ruidoso, depending some on whether or not the big bus will run. We expect the Grizzlies to have their hands

Nip and tuck first half in first football game

Corona traveled to Cloudcroft for their first football game last Friday. The Cardinals were defeated by a score of 32 to 19.

The game was nip and tuck the first half. Cloudcroft took the opening kickoff and marched for a TD. The extra point was good to make the score 7-0.

Leroy McCloud ran a punt back to Cloudcroft's 8-yard line and Dale Brown went over to make the score 7-6.

Cloudcroft returned a punt right before half-time to make the score 14-6.

In the second half Corona fumbled the ball four times to Cloudcroft. These fumbles were cashed in for TD's by Cloudcroft. However, Corona roared back with two more TD's by Dale Brown and Leroy McCloud.

Final score was 32-19.

Lincoln Station

By Roger L. Gordon

I would like to welcome the new teachers at Corona schools this year. It is a pleasure to see so many of the teachers from last year back also. We are all happy to have Mr. Buchanan assume the duties of Superintendent and wish him well in his new endeavor.

Making a quick visit to Lincoln Station last week were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mann and son Scott of Lubbock, Texas. Larry had formerly worked at No. 2 Compressor Station with Mr. Ivan Benham and this reporter. Mr. Mann at present is farming in the Lubbock area. They were on their way to Farmington to visit Mrs. Mann's sister.

Mr. Denzil Garcia says the fishing at Ruidoso, Bonito, and Nogal is fair. He says he would not brag about it, blames it all on his fishing pole.

Mr. I. D. Gilbert is improving very slowly. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hervol stopped by the hospital to see him while in El Paso last week. He is able to nod his head and move his arms and legs. He is recovering very slowly. It has been reported that he has not regained consciousness as yet. Mrs. Gilbert is doing well and we send her our best wishes.

Our airport at Lincoln Station has been closed for some time now to Multi-Engine aircraft. Mr. Ruebush is having the existing runway, which runs east and west lengthened to three-fourth of a mile. Upon completion of this rejuvenation work, Mr. Ruebush plans to establish another runway, running northwest and southeast, to accommodate planes landing when we have a north or south wind. Persons using the El Paso Natural Gas entry road are cautioned that the runways intersect the entry road. Extreme caution should be observed.

Mr. Claude Casey of Corona has purchased a single engine Fournery Aircoop and is using the Lincoln strip. Another single engine plane landing at Lincoln this past week damaged his prop and tore off a fender. Saturday morning the new prop and front wheel were installed and the damaged plane was flown back to Las Cruces.

Lealon Raley is breaking horses again. Says he got kicked twice yesterday, says he knows how to ride a horse but can anyone tell him how to make them quit kicking.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Benham this past week were Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin. They were enroute from No. 2 Compressor to Chaco plant where Mr. Hamlin is an older.

Heart felt condolences are expressed by the families at Lincoln Station for the family of Mrs. DuBois of Corona.

A bingo game was held by the Lincoln Station Women's Club this past Friday. A good time was had by those attending.

The highest recorded temperature during the past week was 86, on August 24. Low 48 on the 27, highest wind velocity, 27 knots on August 27. There was no recorded precipitation.

"We've got so much to do, Mother," the worried bride-to-be remarked, "and we mustn't overlook the most insignificant detail."
"Oh, don't worry about that," the mother replied soothingly, "he'll be there."

will exhibit approximately 63 head of livestock at the county fair plus projects of nature, woodwork and leather.

Those interested in joining 4-H club work should see Mr. Ralph Dunlap and plan to join a group soon after the fair are over. The Ancho Junior Ranchers is primarily a livestock club and we would welcome any new members interested in livestock projects.

Help support 4-H work by coming to your County Fair. It promises to be one of the biggest yet. Don't forget that lambs and calves are on sale. Buy one if you possibly can.

Saudi Arabia's harem practice may eventually peter out completely

My Saudi Arabia assignment included an Arabian transportation vehicle driver who could speak English fairly well. In the few weeks that I have been over here we have spent much time together in the rugged desert stretches; and he has been with me constantly while on duty.

It seems that as soon as he came into my employ he commenced to look upon me as one in whom he could confide a few of his worries. Such they seemed, since an Arab apparently has very few. He had been employed 9 years by the Arabian American Oil Company, and from such associations and contacts with Americans his ambitions to better himself and his family according to the western practices sprang far above those of the average Bedouin.

He was not a strange individual in a sense of the word. The Saudi Arabians are not that type. A look upon them and their environment leaves an impression that you perhaps have just finished reading a text in the Bible. In this manner the people might all be classified as strange.

One day during a severe shamal (windstorm), I noticed that he kept coming into my office, strolling about for a few moments, and then departing. His countenance clearly defined worries of some sort. I expected him momentarily to shell out the gist of the bother. But for some time he kept his troubles all bottled up.

Then along in the shank of the day, it seemed that he could hold his problem no longer, and it all came out.

His father had been a sheep and camel trader for many years, trailing his herds from Qatif, where they were purchased, to Hofuf, where he ran them through the auction rings. From accounts the trader had done fairly well financially, and had retired when he became too old to carry on the rigorous trade any longer. He retired, and came to live with the driver and his family in Hofuf.

My driver, through a home-owner policy offered Arabians by the American oil company, owned a swell modern home, designed after the American homes. It was located on the outskirts of the ancient city, and even looked completely out of place with its modernistic shadows cast upon the ancient fortress of Hofuf, where many an Arab battle has taken place. The driver had set up modern western practices, and was attempting to live by the pattern as much as possible. He had at odd times expressed his views on many of the Saudi customs.

With this driver lived his father, his wife (or harem member as he would have expressed it), his brother and his wife, and the couple's small child who was plagued, as best as I could discern from his description, with polio, resulting in a crippled lad. He was seeking out every hospital benefit in attempt to adjust the malady.

The large group, as traditionally customary in Arabia, lived all together in this one home. The driver's father, it seemed, just could not depart the long-lived custom, of more than one wife. He decided to "take on" another woman. He announced his aims to his son. This son, the driver, had lost his mother years before, leaving his father with one harem member.

During the discussion between us in the little field office, I learned that his father had entered into a negotiation, and had completed the trade, whereby he had agreed to pay 9,000 Saudi riyals for this 14-year-old harem member addition. A Saudi riyal is worth $0.222.

The venture had not gone too well with this son who had turned industrial worker since the entry of the Americans into the Kingdom. It didn't suit the environment he had planned in which to rear his family. And he lived with only one wife, and had no other desires, and went so far as to express that he believed in "five years many changes from the customs would be made."

He told me that he had almost decided that should his father continue to effect the trade for this 14-year-old wife, he would probably kick him out in the dusty streets! Or else he could get back on the fierce camel trails of the Rub al-Khali.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT IS . . . Were the true facts known in many cases, there are lots of such circumstances in the Saudi Arabian Kingdom, due to the firm and lasting pattern that is being impressed upon these people by the American oil field workers, so vividly demonstrated to the Arabs. Many, many are taking advantage of the customs laid before them in an impressive manner.

First Fisherman: "It's getting late and we haven't caught a single fish."

Second Fisherman: "Let's let two more big' one get away and then go home."

The future artist put a final splash on his picture and stood back to consider the effect. "I'm rather bothered about a title," he said to a friend who had been watching him. "Why not call it 'Home?'" said the friend. "Home? Why?" asked the artist. "Because," was the reply, "there's no place like it."

"Old Mac" Says"

Give a Dam Canyon Not Fur From Capitan Editor Lincoln County News Carrizozo, N. M.

Dear Paul: The dream that you had in this week's News was sure nice reading under the heading "Stretch The Imagination", only you did not go quite far enough you should have added, no beer cans, liquor bottles, or lunch containers allowed. Recently a friend came and got me to go up to Bonito Lake fishing. We found out that there were more beer cans, whiskey bottles and wine bottles in Bonito Lake than there were trout. I always thought that the dollar a day charge that they make for fishing up there was to keep the lake clean.

We watched four boys up there throwing beer bottles in the lake and then throw rocks and break the bottles. Sure, wish that those Texans would quit washing their feet in the lake, as the water in Capitan has a horrible taste and smell even coffee tastes horrible after using this water. You know after the convention in Atlantic City I feel kinda sorry for all the Democrats, are all going to have to take a loyalty oath that they will support LBJ and all his poverty stricken ideas. One of the platform planks in this great poverty stricken convention was labeled "Peace" Yet LBJ, has allowed these demonstrations to continue here in these United States of ours, which will in time if not stopped cause serious trouble here.

So long Old Mac over in the canyon

Duke gets lost in the wilderness but finds happy home with Aileen

Thursday when Oscar Chauvin went up to Villa Madonna on Timber Lodge on business he had his dog and Dwight Clark's dog with him. When he called the dogs to head back for Ruidoso only his dog came.

Oscar stopped at the store and asked our help in finding Duke. But dark came and Duke was still among the missing. It happens that Duke is 12 years old and that is a ripe old age for a dog and furthermore he had never been out in the mountains alone.

Next morning Duke showed up about 7:15 at the Alto post office — at least he was heading for home. It was an easy job to get him to come to me as he knew I would feed and water him and also love him. (Would that human beings could be such good judges of people.)

Called right away to let the Clarks and Chauvins know he was safe at Alto until Dwight Clark came for him, which was not very long. He patiently watched and waited as he knew he had come to the right place for help.

When Duke saw his master it was a happy reunion indeed. If anyone should need proof of a dog's love and loyalty it was all there at a glance when the lost dog saw his master.

If we are not careful, then it will be regrets later after some of them have been hurt, fatally or injured. It is serious — do watch your driving speed.

"A page for independent thought"

To even up the score

The New York Times has announced its support of Lyndon B. Johnson for president of the United States. Considering all angles of the influence of this newspaper... the editor of the Lincoln County News considers it necessary to throw its support to Sen. Barry Goldwater for president. By such action we are following our convictions and at the same time evening up the race.

The Times has no influence whatsoever in our area, the News only a smattering of influence in the New York area, so Johnson and Goldwater are starting off even as far as we're concerned.

In its announcement the Times stated, "In our opinion the points of difference between President Johnson and Republican nominee Sen. Barry Goldwater are clear enough already. They point to an inescapably logical conclusion. The necessity of electing Lyndon Johnson as president of the United States and of administering a decisive and definitive defeat to the voices of the past."

In announcing support of the Lincoln County News for Sen. Barry Goldwater we want our reading public to pay some mind to those "voices" that have been before and will be again — past experience tells us that. The last fiscal year ended on June 30 with a national deficit of about $8 billion and Johnson's administration, if we read correctly, does not feel the need of ever balancing the budget. Can you get dry all over?

Further the President feels we need more laws, partly to revise previous laws (correct old mistakes), and to change the rules that we live by. More laws mean the expansion of government in domestic (our) lives at the rate of some 800 new laws a year — how can business operate in such a climate?

Our foreign aid program has, in the big part, gone to subsidize unstable governments, establish artificial values, support socialism, and in general pouring taxpayers' dollars into a hole where they do the least good.

Let it be known that our cure for poverty is not based on a "share-the-wealth" scheme. Instead of so much government spending of tax-payer dollars, let the free enterprise system do its work in the same manner that first made the United States a strong country. Those basic principles of economy have not changed... based on private property, and free enterprise. A part of our free enterprise system "has been" that the most profit to the individual was in working, not in welfare. Now a good many people can live in a manner to their liking without turning a tap, through Federal participation in their welfare.

It has been said, truthfully, that the welfare state "is the great fiction by which everybody tries to live at the expense of everybody else." We want to be free to make our own personal plans for our welfare and our future. We do not favor government plans which are mostly dreams that never come true.

Our full support is with Sen. Barry Goldwater, as being the only possible hope in steering our course away from the welfare state. To hell with the New York Times.

Don't shoot off your mouth!

By Trudy Baker

Never "mouth off" to the officer when you are issued a citation or given a warning or even when you are ordered to come along under arrest.

All that is accomplished then is that the one being cited and perhaps the officer or both lose their tempers and both do things they would not do under normal conditions.

If the officer, who is only human, is wrong he can be reprimanded by his superior or even by the judge. It isn't the defendant's privilege to do the reprimanding even if he needs it.

No one, of course, is guilty under our judicial system until proven guilty. Even if the individual is guilty this has to be proven under our laws.

There is always a place and a time for the defendant to have his or her say. The officer always has the advantage when making an arrest.

If your offense, after being arrested, is bondable you certainly have the right to demand the privilege. You likewise are entitled to call or phone.

The fact is, there is little cause or reason for locking up defendants when they are released on bond. They should be held in custody until the bond is made. We know of no particular reason why they should be locked up in jail.

Those intoxicated and in no condition to phone or exert much consideration until they are sober.

Those entitled to bond have a perfect right to demand an opportunity to make or post bond.

But it is always wise to remain silent; to control ourselves; and not to "mouth off".

After all you can and will have your day in court and if your rights have been denied you; or if you feel you have been arrested or placed in jail without justification, you always have a recourse.

It might be well, with the federal government doing so much talking about observance and the enforcement of the so-called civil rights bill to issue a reminder, there can be and are other rights ignored and denied-rights provided for Americans for many many years.

Mr. Payton, Editor, Lincoln County News, Carrizozo, N. M.

Dear Sir: I am enclosing a dollar for about five copies of your paper dated August 6th and postage to cover their mailing to the address below. Thank you for sending them.

The picture on the front page will be of interest and pride to the members of our family scattered across this land to whom I plan to send that edition, a reminder of one of the most charming stories of the early days at the Mescalero Reservation. You have pictured Mr. Fred Fellman — whose grandfather was the original namesake of my own beloved grandfather, Fred Fellman of Otero County and the Mescalero Agency.

Their patriotism, civic-mindedness, and fine integrity of character has always made all of us very proud that they, too, bear our family name.

Thank you for this favor. Kittlebell (Garven) Majestic, 923 North Pine, San Antonio, Texas.

Mr. Editor: Enclosed is the check for one year for the Lincoln County News. Ethel Howard subscribed for the past year for my husband and he looks forward to the paper each week. This being his old home town, we also make a trip to Carrizozo each year for a few days. That we also look forward to and enjoy every minute of our time.

Thank you sincerely, Mrs. Harry C. Jacobs, 1824 W. 64th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Editor Carrizozo, N. M. News Sir,

I am sending you a picture of my dear Dad. He was born and raised in your County. I believe he said he was born on the Bonito near Angus. He was a soldier in World War I. He said he had two half brothers and a couple or three, half sisters. He passed on to his rewards recently. He was in combat service when he died. What terrible agony he must have suffered, he was yelling at the top of his voice, "the Germans are coming!" He helped Sargent York of Tennessee escape. His estate consisted of $10,000 insurance. I am his nearest relative, Donald Parker. He served in the 91 Division. I am in hopes you will publish his picture in your paper.

If you will send me what your subscription is for six months or a year I would like to be a subscriber to your paper.

Dad had taken up some land three hundred and twenty acres, lived on it for five years, got a patent to the land, and then sold the land and house for fifty dollars. Is land that cheap yet? If so I believe I can get some buyers. Hoping this will find all in your country prosperous and healthy. Do you have any hospitals in your county? Dad said they never thought of such a thing, when he lived there.

Hoping to receive one of your newspapers I remain respectfully,

Donald Parker, 1419 S. W. Taylor, Portland, Oregon

I like to read your paper as I have owned property in Capitán for thirty years.

Yours truly, Amos Garlitz

The Real Reason

Former governor John Burroughs may have revealed one of the true reasons behind the pre-primary convention system when he spoke to Democrats in Portales recently.

Burroughs declared that repeal of the system would "play right in the hands of the Republican party," which he said "spends no money in the primary and drains the Democratic coffers dry."

One can only interpret this to mean the politicians want it for their own protection, no matter what the desires of the people are.

We are confident if repeal gets on the ballot, it would be approved overwhelmingly by the voters. It's only the politicians who enjoy the system.

Labor Day will be just that, plus some chow and visiting at the fair grounds in Capitán, September 7. That's the day when the grounds get ready for the fair and persons wanting to see this happen should be at the scene early with rake, shovel, broom, hammer, auger, or any other hand tool.

Part of the Roving Gunslingers were roving New Mexico this week. Mr. and Mrs. George Virgines and Linda of Northlake, Ill., are spending their vacation in this state seeing the sights, and Lorraine (Mrs. Virgines) says George is gradually crowding her out of the car with stuff he is collecting such as horse collars, rocks and the like.

Tom Huey at Corona has come up with an idea that will make his pickup racks fit the stake holes of any make pickup. An adjustable stake is what it amounts to — a real neat device. Tom is about ready to move into new quarters where he will have a lot more room for his manufacturing business.

From reading the daily news hurriedly we collect the idea that the Capitán band is going to school in Ruidoso, and marching back and forth between towns each day.

The Corona Cardinals are going to have to make up with speed and guts for a lot of weight difference in most of the games they will play. Coach Peary will have these boys hustling and 19 points against Cloudcroft proves they can score but lack of weight in the line is going to force the back to score plenty if the Cardinals are going to win any games.

There's a water line project going on just west of White's Store between Zozo and San Antonio on the Bursum ranch that spells out how valuable water in the right place is in this country. The line will stretch better than 15 miles and put water on top of a mesa of some 10 sections. Good grazing up there most years, but not much good without water.

What Nogal Lake needs is a herd of water cows. They could sure fatten up on crawdads. Throw out a line in that water and give crawdads time to get shold they'll pull you in.

This twister exercise is just what you need after lunch. Sit with legs and arms extended straight. Touch fingers to opposite toe, return and exercise opposite. Best way there is to get yourself in shape for an afternoon stack.

Manny Ortiz must lead a good clean life. He was out to the Ortiz Bros. storage plant Monday tending to business when a small (2 1/2 footer) rattler struck at him. The snake grazed his shoe is all the damage done. One snake is as poisonous as another, and Manny was lucky.

Planning, zoning, police, community relations institutes held Sept. 10

Two institutes, one on planning and Zoning and the other on police and community relations, will be conducted at the Southwestern Legal Center in Dallas during September, according to District Judge Geo. L. Zimmerman.

Judge Zimmerman, Foundation resident representative, revealed that the Institute on Planning and Zoning will be held September 10-12 and the conference on Police and Community Relations on September 21-22.

Topics for review at the planning and zoning program will be: metropolitan area planning; extraterritorial jurisdiction; sub-divisions-new concepts and their treatment; criteria for rezoning; valid reasons; and can the board of adjustment solve your problem?

Also, planning for control of air pollution problems; regulating signs and billboards; and open space in urban growth.

Subjects to be discussed at the conference on police and community relations will be: public requests for police services and officer-violator relationships; handling complaints against police personnel and problems in interpersonal communication.

Also, the voice of the police officer; public image of the police; human relations factors in police supervision.
