Legislative merchants getting pie

SOME LEGISLATORS SELL TO STATE

SANTA FE — Rep. Sabu Gallegos of Albuquerque has been given the huge state group insurance policy on a commission that ranges somewhere above $3,000 in a transaction that spells out the difference between a salary type legislator and a business man legislator. The law prohibits a legislator from working for the state during the period for which he was elected. Even if he resigns he can't take a job until after his original term expires. But there is no ban against legislators doing business with the state.

LAWYERS, MERCHANTS ARE NOT RESTRAINED

The legislature is loaded with insurance agents who have a long record of lively business with the state in a non-competitive field in which the state assumes one insurance policy is as good as another. Sen. Bill Wheatley of Clayton has a long record of selling automobiles to the state while serving as a legislator. A while back Sen. Jim Patton of Las Cruces sold office furniture to the legislature, without competitive bidding incidentally. Lawyer legislators often collect fees from the state without violating the no-work law.

POLICY IN FORCE FOURTEEN YEARS

Switch of the 14-year-old group policy on March 1 from Occidental which is represented by Bob Tinnit of Albuquerque to American General of Houston which is represented by Gallegos is still reverberating in insurance and political circles. Occidental first wrote the policy in 1944 and handled it until March 1 with the exception of 1948 and '49. The present policy is 14 years old.

DESERVES MORE THAN $2,000 FEE

The policy costs $650,000 a year with the state paying 20 per cent and the employees the balance.

Gallegos has indicated that his commission will be about $9,000, a figure that drew boos from others in the insurance business. They think he should have two or three times as much.

NEW GROUP POLICY AT SAME RATES

Gallegos is real close to the governor and was with him during the 1937 campaign. The Occidental people have been yipping about the governor "accepting" the cancellation of their policy when they never Alfonso Soto, living east of Glencoe, said the location was satisfactory with him.

H. F. Ellis of Glencoe said the line was in front of his store, wanted to know location of the road.

B. L. Smith told the group that this had been an enjoyable meeting, where some are at the opposite, and that the technicians would stay and answer questions as long as anybody wanted to stay.

Glen King, Sr. is seriously injured

Glen King, Sr. who was seriously injured in a dynamite explosion near Bingham Sunday was transferred from a Socorro hospital to the Presbyterian Hospital in Albuquerque Tuesday.

His condition is still serious with facial injuries and the possible loss of both eyes.

'Twas a fine St. Patrick's Day

Sure and begorra 'twas a fine day for the Irish.

Patrick Fitzpatrick of San Jose, Calif., mailed a letter with money for a two-year subscription to the Lincoln County News. It arrived on "The Day", March 17, when the Irish have reason to celebrate their patron saint, St. Patrick.

Many thanks to Patrick Fitzpatrick from all the O'Donnell clan and their kin, the Paytons.

Alumni meeting well attended

A nice crowd attended the Alumni Association meeting held at the 54 Cafe Monday night. A dance committee was appointed consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Stephenson and T. B. Smoot. This committee is to select a band for the annual alumni dance on June 27.

Next meeting April 6 more plans will be made for the picnic to be held June 28.

Ancho Tracks

By Vernelle Hightower

Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Jackson and children were up from Tularosa for the weekend. On Saturday the Jacksons and Jackie Silvers gave George Straley a birthday supper, with all the Straley families helping him celebrate the occasion. How many does this make, George!

Rookie Straley was home for the weekend from Paris, Texas, visiting his mother, Mrs. June Straley.

The Ancho UPW met at the home of Dorothy Straley Tuesday. Nine members and three guests, Mrs. Anne Ferguson, Mrs. William Gallacher, Sr., and Mrs. Gwen Caldwell partook of a sumptuous covered dish luncheon. Dorothy Straley gave the devotional and Vernelle Hightower led the Bible discussion on Colossians and Chapter 5 in the study book. Everyone was sorry that Marlene Westberg would be leaving us for Tucumcari before another meeting. Secret pal gifts were exchanged after the business meeting.

Church family night was well attended Friday with a pot luck supper and progressive games. The Rev. Paul Westberg was presented with two tokens of Ancho's love, a money tree and clever scrapbook entitled "And this was Ancho". We wish Paul and Marlene much success and happiness in their new pastorate in Tucumcari.

Miss Robert King of Santa Fe, Presbyterian Field Director of Christian Education in New Mexico, visited in the Ancho Church March 8 to observe the Church school classes. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Straley hosted Miss King, the John Allen Hightowers and the Tarleton Bonds to a pot luck dinner. Miss King conferred with the teachers in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cope Straley are the proud parents of another son born Sunday morning, March 15. He has been named John Clinton. Congratulations.

OLD MR. BOSTON
INTELLIGENT BUYER'S GUIDE TO FINEST LIQUORS AT FAIREST PRICES

THE AMAZING HISTORY OF ROCKING CHAIR WHISKEY

It all started in the days of iron men and wooden ships when sea captains found that the whiskey they carried on a voyage tasted better than the same whiskey ashore. The "cradle of the deep" made the difference. The steady motion of the ship continuously turned the whiskey in the cask so that every drop was mellowed by the seasoned wood. So good was this whiskey, that retired sea captains often lashed full kegs to rocking chairs, and patiently rocked them to get the same result.

Ever since, men have looked for easier ways to duplicate this discovery. Farmers in Kentucky used to put kegs of whiskey in their Model T's and drive 20,000 bumpy miles before they judged it fit to drink. Further North, inventive whiskey fanciers roped kegs to tops of trees, so winds blowing up from Cape Hatteras could do the work for them.

Finally, 25 years ago, Old Mr. Boston found the way to capture the legendary flavor. With a bow to the old sea captains, we named this whiskey Rocking Chair. We must keep the secret of making it. But now, you can enjoy the pleasure of its full flavor, its unique character, and its extraordinary smoothness.

Commercially, efforts have ranged from mechanically rocking

Nolan Vickrey reports fine meeting

Nolan Vickrey of Corona attended the 22nd annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association at Dallas, Texas, March 8-12. The first two days were preliminary meetings which consisted of institute and workshop, previous to the five general sessions held Monday through Thursday.

Mr. Vickrey reported that he derived much information and many facts as to how much good the electric cooperatives are doing for their members all over the United States, as well as Latin America, and many other places.

Also, the Co-ops are serving many people the power companies had a chance to serve, but would not because the companies said they could not make money, or as much money as they wished to make.

Mr. Vickrey says, "Our REA rates are lower than the power companies, and we should be thankful and grateful for the cooperative, and should all work together to support it." We are glad that Mr. Vickrey was able to represent all of us at this important annual meeting.

Accompanying Mr. Vickrey to Dallas was his wife, Peggy, and daughter, Pam. They visited her sister, Mrs. Floyd Owens and family in Dallas and drove over to Denton to visit Gail Stone who is attending Texas Christian College. The Roads are Rough Out This Way

Editor Lincoln County News Carrizozo, New Mexico

Dear Ed, Well the Shepherders Convention finally was brought to a close, the Governor held them until he got an o.k. on his budget. One of the highest that the state has ever known. Those old boys were completely worn out when they got home, after a thirty day diet of Old Pancho's Bug Juice they were glad to get out of Santa Fe. But are now ready for another special session, if the Gov. calls one. That forty dollars a day is so hard for them to take, not counting the pay offs, since the Fishing and Hunting license was raised guess the Big Shots in the dept. of Game and Fish will be driving Cadillacs now instead of a high priced Buick. The Socialist Democrat go-around that was held in the School Gym at Santa Fe must have been a dilly from all reports. Pancho's Bug Juice flowed freely. Recently read an article where President Johnson says that one fifth of the people in the United States are poverty stricken. Guess that must be the tax payers, as all the politicians are rolling in "Dough". All the bureaucratic bureau workers, are getting plenty, Johnson just set up another bureaucratic bureau. The workers on a high salary, to combat poverty here in the United States. He says that the money that was given back to the tax payer from the federal income tax has already cut unemployment here in the United States. Wait until the people here in New Mexico get the rebound off Campbell's high budget in 1965 what they get back from the federal income tax will have to go to pay high state taxes. Campbell will have your state income tax raised as he wanted in the first place. One of the hottest things that they have started in Washington is "Subsidy On Beef" here in the United States. When they now have the import on beef here in the United States wide open.

They say that this subsidy Beef will be used for school lunch programs, pretty hot, that is to try and get the ranchers to vote Socialist Democrat since Campbell's budget was passed, they have already raised the pay of a bunch of politicians in Santa Fe. In the Bureau of Revenue office. Of course they would be the first to get it. In the last thirty years what has the old tax payer got? "That is not hard" just a raise in taxes every year.

So long Old Mac Over in the Canyon

EDITORIAL
"A page for independent thought"

Revolution of north

The way in which people respond to environment, which is pretty much the sum of all external conditions and influences that may affect them—is an interesting study.

What makes a commission do this, a council or school board do that, could fill lots of history books.

There's nothing quite like being a side-line quarterback to life in the small town... only thing that could possibly be better is to play on the team.

Up in the north country of New Mexico a team is taking hold of the reins to bring about community development for some areas that really need help of some kind.

These young men, all under 40, are Gilbert Ranjel, former teacher, former member of the staff of Peace Corps training program; Thomas Atencio, graduate University of Southern California, now mental health consultant for State Health Department serving 3 northern N. M. counties; Ed Deveraux, who emigrated to New Mexico from Illinois; and Rev. John Ribble, pastor of the El Rito Catholic Church, St. John Nepomucene.

They operate in different towns, Dixon and El Rito, but with common problems... mainly a high percentage of population being on public assistance. Their common belief is that effective cooperation among the townspeople could result in solving mutual problems.

A Community Development Association has been established, and Father Ribble organized a Parish Council. So far their ideas have worked and a new spirit of friendship and cooperation has developed between the communities.

El Rito has a new library. Explorer Scouts are building and will maintain a village health clinic.

A bigger project is on the boards, that of a forest products industry to improve the economy of the area. Prospects appear favorable.

A beautification committee conducted a cleanup drive with the support of the churches, local business men and the school. A 12 men committee has been organized and a Spring cleanup planned.

A community basketball court was completed in 100 days with community help.

An industry committee is going after an apple processing plant.

The four communities are still depressed, but they are awakening and the four young men of Dixon and El Rito are optimistic that the cooperative spirit will result in — social betterment and ultimate industrial development.

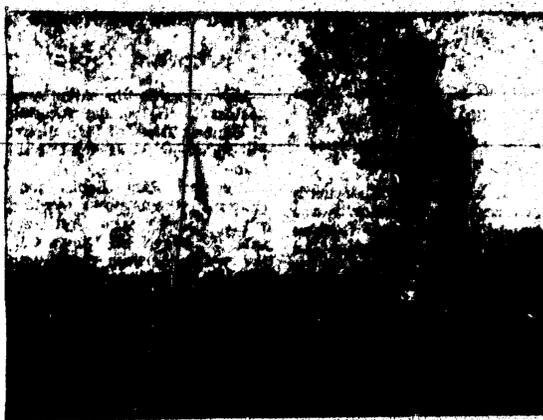

Thus is the response of four people to their environment.

Fascinating world of sports

Local sports fans believe that if Hobbs Eagles were to play the Roswell Coyotes four games, now or next year, the Eagles would win three. Somehow the Coyotes have the stuff to win the big one, a 80-79 victory over the Eagles for the AA state title.

The Los Alamos Hilltoppers did the same thing to St. Michael's Horsemen. Four times during the season the Horsemen beat the Hilltoppers, then came the big one and the Toppers took the state Class A title 76-65 from the Horsemen.

FLAG ON BANKOK MOUNTAIN — Bobby Scott sent this picture home to his father, Robert Scott, in Carrizozo showing the flag Bobby made out of a white towel and some water colors. He put it at half-mast-up-on-the-mountain-at-Bankek.

District was hardly favored as state champion material, yet they are wearing the title today. Hagerman beat Hatch in the district but came the "moment of truth" the Hatch Bears had what it takes and took Hagerman 65-58 and the Class B championship.

People around Carrizozo know what it takes to "go all the way", and we send our top congratulations to these teams, both the winners and the losers.

START LOOKIN NOW FOR MITE EGGS ON APPLE TREES

Start looking now for mite eggs on your apple trees. These eggs are generally found under patches of bark or on the under side of the limbs. If you find mites plan on applying a delayed dormant spray to your apple trees. If you had powder-mildew last year, use lime-sulfur or polysulfide compound. For a complete spray schedule get the 1964 Apple Spray Schedule at the County Agent's office in the Courthouse in Carrizozo.

HOPE TO MAKE 3rd YEAR. ONE WITHOUT SCREW WORM

This is the third year for the screw worm program and lets try to make it a year without the screw worm menace. This winter sterile screw worm flies have been dropped in Mexico and Arizona.

"Hay Suit" far from dead

LAS CRUCES — March 13. The state's "hay suit" is far from dead, despite a recent State Supreme Court ruling reversing a Santa Fe District Court's dismissal decision, John Augustine, executive secretary of the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, said today. And attorneys for the ranchers involved in the suit said that the high court's ruling that money paid out by the state under a mistake in the law was recoverable is only a ruling on a legal question raised in the motion to discuss the case.

The case has not yet been tried on its merits, it was pointed out by one of the attorneys representing the Farm Bureau, which is assisting the defense. There are other defenses to be made against the state's attempts to recover funds paid out for emergency hay supplies for New Mexico ranchers during the drought of the 1950's, the attorney said.

He said the defense is considering possible alternatives in the wake of the Supreme Court's decision. There are at least two routes which might be taken. One is a rehearing before the Supreme Court.

If this course were not followed, or if a rehearing request were not granted, the high tribunal would issue a mandate to the trial court, permitting the defense to file a formal answer on the merits. Then a trial would follow.

The attorney said the ranchers believe they have a strong case and that the Supreme Court's reversal of a previously won dismissal of the state's suit for recovery of funds does not necessarily indicate the final outcome of the action.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST

Capitan, Claunch and Carrizozo

Bible School 10:00 a.m. — Worship 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. — Come study and worship with us.

Is Mary the Mother of God — and the Human Race?

"For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." (Heb. 4:15). "Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered." (Heb. 5:8).

Christ, not Mary, was tempted, suffered and died so he might be perfected and qualified to know our sufferings and temptations, hence know how to sympathize and succor us in every condition of life. To say that Mary, simply because she was a woman and a mother should be more tender and more capable of entering more sympathetically with us into our sufferings is to discredit Christ and his work. To think that one who was only human could show greater quality in any virtue is the height of absurdity. All goodness flows from deity, Christ is the very essence of love and tenderness.

Teaching Mary to be an intercessor, praying to her, and thus worshiping her is the "doctrine of demons," or, doctrine concerning demons, of which the Bible speaks. "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils." (1 Tim. 4:1). Demons are presumed middle powers between God and mortal man, or agents between God and man. Some of these spirits are supposed to be good, and some bad. To some who teach such doctrines, these demons are souls of men defiled or canonized after death. To others they are spirits such as have never been souls of mortal men, but such as parallel angels. In either case they are prayed to and worshiped. The teaching springs from heathenistic ideas, and is condemned by the Lord as idolatry.

Albert Brown, who served in the 89th Division, 356 Infantry, Co. 1, along with Cpl. Joe McDaniels who now lives in California, brought us a poem written by McDaniels that could have been written by a New Mexican just as well as a corporal who was heading back to South Dakota when WW I was over. Here is one verse of "The Coyote Boys" written by Cpl. J. C. McDaniels at Camp Funston, Kansas.

Now, among us there are punchers
And when a strido of a must-ang,
You'd think they're mighty cute,
And say, while talking riding
They never have been beat,
For they rake 'em in the shoulders,
Never known to lose their seat,
Why they aren't afraid of nothing,
And this is no false tune
For I saw those boys riding

Wally is married, into a fine family, and to a wonderful girl. We were there and heard Mr. Olds say, after returning from a church rehearsal Friday "That was a very sobering experience". Frankly, we thought he was some shook by the whole business, which was all to the good. Fine dinner Friday night for the family and friends, elegant reception enlightened by punch containing six secret ingredients. Spring hats were outstanding, but not so much as the bride's gown. Good possibility that Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Olds will stop in Carrizozo on their return from a trip to California and into Old Mexico.

The State Highway Department was getting bouquets on every hand at the Highway 70 public hearing in Ruidoso last Thursday. A pleasant experience said one official, because trucks are frequently used. People up and down the Hondo Valley have pretty much submerged their differences over location of the road and now their own interest is betterment of the Valley.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS NOT BRACK OR MARK

Some talk around Carrizozo Wednesday that Brack Sloan; Claudine rancher, and his son, Mark, a resident of Ft. Sumner, were injured in a wreck in Albuquerque.

According to Sheriff Glen Bradley the accident victims were Manuel Sloan, about 80, and son, Drack, about 42.

In the early days of the telephone, a local attorney was one of the first persons to have the new communication instrument installed in his office. Soon after it was installed it started ringing during the presence of a client. The attorney ignored the persistent ringing. Finally the client could restrain himself no longer and asked the attorney, "Aren't you going to answer the telephone?"

"Heck, no!" retorted the attorney. "I had that thing put in for my convenience, not someone else's!"

Then there was the man who carried his wife to the psychiatrist and said, "What's-her-name here says I haven't been paying enough attention to her."

Important cable crosses Lincoln Co.

By Robert Helton

NEW YORK — A wrist-thick cable now worming its way underground across the nation may prove the only direct transcontinental telephone communication in the event of a nuclear blast.

The 3,218-mile cable is much like six others already in-transcontinental operation except that it is buried five feet underground instead of the normal 3 1/2 feet.

It also differs from the other lines because all its relay and other stations are sunk deep underground in concrete cocoons.

"Let's say that this cable will be blast-proof," said a spokesman for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. "A direct nuclear blast certainly would cut it, but I doubt that anything short of that would do it."

He said the cable is being so located that it will be out of any of the nation's prime target areas.

The cable now is in use between a point in upstate New York and Fairfield, Kan., and is scheduled for completion to the West Coast sometime late this year. (Work is under way now near Carrizozo and Socorro, N. M.)

The Pacific Telephone Co. already has laid the cable and installed relay and other equipment along much of the 612 miles it will cover in Southern California.

Over-all cost was set at $200 million — the costliest project of its kind in the United States.

"This is not a government project, rather it is another step taken by the Bell System to insure survivability," the company said.

Began in 1960

The project was begun in upstate New York in 1960.

"We have not given out the exact route of the cable because we are steering it clear of prime target areas, many of which are not commonly known," he explained.

The cable when completed will be capable of handling 9,000 simultaneous calls — at least 2,000 more than can now be handled by any of the other six cables.

Added to its value in the event of an enemy attack, the company spokesman noted its possible use in case of a natural disaster.

"A serious natural disaster might break another cable where it will have to go 18 inches deeper to get at this one," the spokesman said. "Eighteen inches in this particular case is quite a lot."

Future Cables

The spokesman said all future transcontinental cables probably would be of the same blast-proof design.

The installation includes 900 ground repeater stations and 11 huge switching centers, each the equivalent of a two-story building deposited underground in three-foot thick cement cases. Repeater stations boost the power of signals.

Personnel manning the centers would be able to survive for two weeks in the event of a disaster on food and water to be stored there.

Twenty-four underground power facilities, each with giant diesel generators capable of producing enough power to sustain the system, are nearing completion. These too are underground and encased in heavy concrete.

Chances of Cut Slim

"With this cable, plus the 6 we already have," the spokesman said. "We feel the chances of any enemy attack or a massive natural disaster cutting off all of them are pretty slim."

The defense communications system of the U. S. defense department said it had nothing to do with the system except to say that the telephone company alone was authorized to undertake such a project.

In making its way across the nation, workmen have understood the searing heat of California deserts and the bitter cold of midwestern plains.

In Hinterlands
 "Many times we had to steer far out into the hinterlands with the cable in order to avoid a large city or an important military or other installation," the spokesman said.

"But now we think we have what certainly could be called a blast-proof and disaster-proof line to link the two coasts and all in between," he added.

FABIAN TROUBLES COUNTY CHAIRMEN

State Sen. Fabian Chavez of Santa Fe doesn't have much chance to beat Johnny Walker for Congress but he is making a serious problem for Spanish-American Democratic county chairmen.

Several of the chairmen are inclined to support Walker and did support him in the Feb. 22 convention and have been hearing about it from their nearly all-Spanish constituency.

There is a particularly hot conflict in Rio Arriba where Chairman Emilio Naranjo's slate is opposed by a complete team led by State Rep. Mat Chacon. Naranjo has been inclined toward Walker.

NORMAN PALMER ACTS SUSPICIOUS

Norman Palmer who filed petitions for a place on the Democratic ballot with Joe Montoya for U. S. senator took every precaution possible against his precious lists of names being misplaced, a candidate being changed or maybe burned up by a careless cigaret smoker in the secretary of state's office.

Palmer wrote State Secretary Alberta Miller:

"Duplicate copies of the petitions will be supplied the attorney general's office for reference purposes and to supply a record should any petitions become inadvertently lost or misplaced (in the secretary's office). In addition we will supply these duplicates to the public news media so that the signatures in the various counties may be verified independently.

Palmer, while not considered a serious threat to Montoya, stands to make a considerable splash in the period before the May election.

A wealthy rancher came to the big city and was shopping for a gown for his wife. The girl brought out a series of very revealing dresses. He looked them over, shook his head and said: "No, miss, I don't want anything like those. To me, my wife Molly is like money in the bank; as long as I know what is there, I don't have to see it all the time."
