

To each among us a share ❖ Soil Stewardship Week May 3-10

Never is there a moment in our lives when we are not sharing in some way in the benefit from our land and water resources.

Our Nation, from its beginning, has drawn its strength from these gifts which God put at our disposal. Their bountiful supply has enabled our people to thrive. And there is no reason why this should not continue to be so.

God gave us authority over His gifts. We are His stewards. In the Divine plan, we have much to do with what happens to His gifts. We can destroy their usefulness, or we can bring about for ourselves manifold blessings from their use.

Tillers of the soil many years ago recognized the need for soil and water conservation on their land. They recognized also that some soil and water problems did not end at the fence line, that they and their neighbors shared a problem. And so they worked together to find a solution. They were quick to realize the interdependence of adjoining tracts of land.

The adoption of soil and water conservation systems has become a community event, the responsibility for which is shared by all. As population increases and cities fan out into the country, we become less of individuals and more a part of a community. We build our community to provide opportunities to be shared by all. We recognize the interdependence between rural and urban and between farm and nonfarm, just as between one farm and another.

To accept stewardship brings great fulfillment. It brings a sense of well being when our land and waters are protected and productive, and sharing the job brings the brotherhood of man closer to reality.

Despite their common interest and purpose, the people in a community may see the land and streams with different eyes.

The farmer looks to the land for his livelihood. Industry looks to the land for a factory site and for raw products to keep its machinery in motion. Those who live within the limits of the city look to the open land for relaxation and for a chance to commune with nature. The builder looks to the land for sites on which to develop new houses. The town fathers look to the land for a reservoir site which is so sorely needed to supply water for their rapidly growing city's needs.

Yes, we share our interests in the land, though our interests may vary. Yet, in the nature of the land, God has provided for all these uses, but only under certain conditions. Each use can be fitted into an orderly pattern when planned ahead according to the capability of the land and the needs of the people. Most of the land can serve more than one purpose.

When we plan and carry out this multiple land use pattern we all share in the benefits, the rewards of good stewardship. But to share in the rewards, all of us must share, also, in the responsibility for the care and development of these resources.

VERY SMALL VOTE INDICATED TUESDAY

SANTA FE — If participation in Tuesday's primary election skids like it did in 1954 when there was a pre-primary convention system in operation and no major primary contests, the turnout could be as low as 77,000.

In 1954 there were 63,608 votes for governor in the Demo primary which was 38 per cent less than the 102,963 primary votes cast for the Democratic candidates for governor in 1950, the last preceding open primary race.

TAKES PEOPLE OUT OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS

If the same 39 per cent decline is experienced this year from 1962 when there were 123,674 voters in the race for governor, it would knock this year's figure down to the 77,000 level.

It would be surprising if the count is that low but any number less than a hundred thousand would show a great many people had been taken out of participation in public affairs.

POLITICOS FAVOR LIGHT ELECTIONS

A low election turnout is advantageous for the organized groups that are usually made of public employees and their families and others enjoying public patronage.

They vote for the bread and butter and work to get others to vote the same way. They are often in charge of the election books and voting machines and are generally able to produce a vote far greater than their own numbers.

40,000 VOTES PROBABLY ENOUGH

The strong indications of a very low total vote suggest that any one of the three races in the Demo primary could be won with something like 40,000.

The organized groups could come pretty close to that themselves.

This is the situation that has caused most all observers to stay with their very first forecasts which were that the winners of the convention majority, Johnny Walker for Congress, Boston Witt for attorney general and G. Y. Falls for corporation commissioner, would be the primary winners.

That was because the same leaders that supported them in the convention are supporting them in the election.

district attorney's home town. Zimmerman best qualified. You can't beat success. Judge Zimmerman has a real race on his hands but Lincoln County would do well to help him in this race with every possible vote.

E. H. Williams, Jr. and Glenn B. Neumeier are contesting for the office of District Attorney. Both qualified to the best of our knowledge. Take your choice. We give the edge to Neumeier.

In the county Roman Nunez and Nick DiPaolo are contesting for county commissioner in the first district. Abe Sanchez and S. M. Ortiz are both in the race for county sheriff. In Pct. 19

H. G. Savage and Harold M. Graham are contesting for J. P. The constable race in Pct. 19 is between H. G. Daniel and Clyde F. Atwood.

About the only reason Republicans have for going to the polls is to get in the practice of voting — an important enough chore.

One contest exists on the state level, between B. Lyman and Stella Valdez Montoya. Very little known about these two gals in Lincoln County.

On a hunch We pick Montoya to win the office of Secretary of State.

There are no contests on the Republican ticket in Lincoln County.

FARM NEWS

By County Agent Ralph Denlap

Mr. H. L. Jacobson met with the fruit growers last week. Arrangements were made with the Lincoln County Branch to have the fruit frost forecast until May 15. The forecast will be for Hondo and each grower will have to adjust the estimate for his own orchard. Walter Lima-cher is taking the local reading for the Weather Bureau and the Albuquerque Weather Station is making the forecast.

I am trying something different. I have a Roswell rancher's radio unit in my pickup. By this means I can be more readily in contact with everyone in the county. My call number is 208 and I plan to be available from 7:45 - 8:00 a.m. and from 5:00 - 5:20 p.m. week days.

There was a smoke cloud in some areas of the Hondo-Ruidoso-Bobito Valley last week. This smoke was not from a forest fire but from smudge pots being used to protect orchards in the area from frost. There are almost 2000 smudge pots in the area. Bill Shrecengost lit his last week when the temperature got down to 27 F. Next time he plans to light just a portion of smudge pots to start.

Although light frost hurt in a few isolated spots, generally there are prospects for an excellent fruit crop. The last few nights the wind has kept the air moving and no frost pockets have dropped. At the same time the wind has caused some blasting of the fruit.

Mystery of 41 breakins solved

LOTS OF LOOT — Four teenage boys were having a ball in Ruidoso until a woman got suspicious and investigation led to solving 41 breakins in recent weeks. Meet were in vacant cabins, such items as guns, coins taken.
— A woman overheard a business man say he had sold shells to boys who paid with 3 silver dollars, 118 pennies and the balance in nickels and dimes. She called T. J. Sanders, chief of police at Ruidoso, to come to her home and told him of the incident. She didn't know any of the youngsters or anything about the breakins.

Chief Sanders went to the store and got a description of one of the boys, picked him up after school, the other three were absent and were picked up later.
The boys admitted 41 breakins, no vandalism involved. They went in through windows usually, and would close the windows coming out.

The four juveniles have been turned over to Probation Officer Edgewood in Ruidoso. They will stand trial before Judge George Zimmerman Monday.

(The draft has been extended for four years, until July 1, 1967.)

This means that the young men of the country must continue to expect to serve in the military forces. This series of articles outlines the basic responsibilities and rights of young men under the draft law.

There are five general classes with numerous subdivisions which local boards use to indicate whether a man is available, deferred, or exempt, and why.

Every man is considered as available for induction, in class I-A, until his eligibility for some other classification is established to the satisfaction of the local board.

If a registrant does not establish his eligibility for deferment or exemption because of hardship, occupation, study, Reserve or National Guard membership, or other reasons, he is placed in Class I-A. In the normal case, a registrant in Class I-A will be ordered for an Armed Forces examination shortly before his time to enter service, to determine whether he is qualified physically, mentally, and morally. If he is not qualified, he is deferred in Class IV-F or Class I-Y. If qualified, he is kept in Class I-A until he is reached for induction. Class I-Y means that the registrant is not qualified under current

PROPOSED NEW PIPELINES

WOULD MEAN LOWER PRICES FOR CUSTOMERS IN SOUTHWEST

El Paso Natural Gas Company's Annual Report for 1963 tells of the company's new plans for bringing needed natural gas supplies to Southern California.

This is good news, not only for residents of Southern California—but also for El Paso Natural's customers throughout the Southwest.

The reason? El Paso Natural's proposal, if approved by the Federal Power Commission, will mean another reduction in the price of natural gas furnished by El Paso Natural in the Southwest, as well as California.

The broad-scale rate reduction will be made possible through economies resulting from greater use of existing facilities to move gas from major Southwest fields located nearest to California.

Thus, gas consumers in the Southwest have a direct interest in the proceedings now under way before the Federal Power Commission to determine how Southern California's long term needs should be supplied.

We believe El Paso Natural's proposals offer unequalled benefits for consumers in the Southwest and in California. They assure dependable gas supplies in ample quantity—and another cut in the price of gas.

Two winners of recent contests participate in regional competition

Two winners of recent contests will be in El Paso this weekend to participate in regional competition. They are Carolyn Nunez, daughter of Commissioner and Mrs. R. C. Nunez, who won the spelling bee at Hondo by spelling the word "homoligous"; and Jud Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper, Arabela, who was selected over speakers from Roswell and Carlsbad in the Optimist Club Oratorical Contest.

The Hondo High School students enjoyed a school party on Friday from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at the school gym. Music was provided for dancing by school students, Gilbert, David and Orlando Montes, during the first hour, and by Preston and Harold Radcliff, Douglas McKnight and Tommy Rogers for the last part of the evening. Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Radcliff, and Alma Torres, Mrs. Marie Pacheco and Mr. Al Booky, teachers, chaperoned the group. Other teachers attending were Supt. and Mrs. F. S. Mottet, Principal and Mrs. Ernest Booky, Mrs. Ruby Douglas, Mrs. Hazel Arthurs and Mrs. Ethel Maez, and several parents.

Mrs. R. C. Nunez newly elected P. T. A. president attended the New Mexico P. T. A. Congress convention in Alamogordo the past weekend, as one of the delegates appointed to represent the Hondo Valley Schools. Will have more details after we contact Mrs. Nunez and we bet there will be a good report at the next meeting.

Mrs. Max Sanchez of San Patricio has returned home from Los Angeles, Cal., after visiting her two daughters and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barber of San Patricio visited Mr. Barber's mother, Mrs. D. W. Barber who is confined at the Gerald Chapman hospital in Alamogordo, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. George Butts of Tinnie were pleasantly surprised last Friday when Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McIntuff parents of Mr. Butts from Monahan, Texas drove up to pay them a visit. Mrs. Butts especially was highly elated at the sight of a beautiful kitchen cabinet build by her father-in-law as a special gift for her.

Franklin Butts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Butts and a student at Yuca Junior High in Roswell participated in the recent City Track Meet and placed 3rd in the 220-yard dash, and also in the discus throw.

Mrs. Keil Bonnell of Hondo is at the present in Vaughn attending to business in that city. Mrs. Tom Knight was host to the Ancho UPW ladies last Friday. A delicious covered dish luncheon preceded the program and business meeting. 9 members were present. Dixie Bond led the discussion on the book of Colossians. Rose Harkey gave the opening meditation. President Nancy Knight called the business meeting to order. Get well wishes were sent to Mrs. L. S. Everybody benefits.

When Rural Electrics

Generate New Industry

There's something special about a boy's first pay check... when it's earned at home.

And whether it's a new silica sand plant in Elizabeth, Indiana... a lumber mill in Trout Creek, Montana... or a carpet manufacturer in Anadarko, Oklahoma... the whole nation benefits when new industry brings payrolls to rural America.

Thanks to America's rural electric cooperatives and other consumer-owned electric systems — new industry is developing in the countryside. This business growth checks the economic erosion that threatens our rural communities. It provides home-town jobs for home-town people.

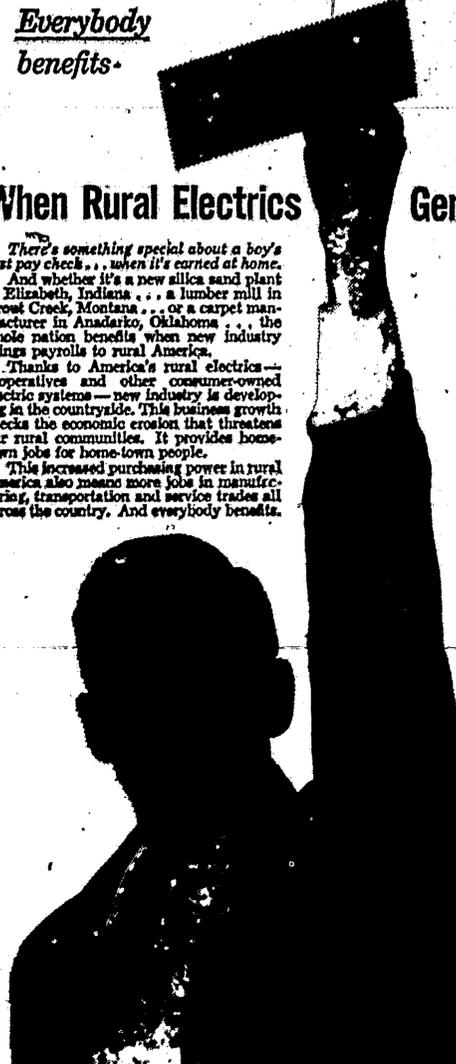

This increased purchasing power in rural America also means more jobs in manufacturing, transportation and service trades all across the country. And everybody benefits.

All over America today, officials and members of rural electric systems are working hard to help develop new industry in our rural communities. They are providing the leadership and management know-how that has come from nearly 30 years of successfully working together to help themselves and their neighbors... of getting the job done because it needs to be done.

When the rural electric started, few of the nation's farms and rural communities had electricity. Existing utilities could see no profit in stringing a mile of power line to serve two or three customers. So the people created their own organizations, and with the help of Rural Electrification Administration loans, served themselves. Today, with rural power needs doubling every seven years, REA loans continue to help these rural electric serve the growing needs of their communities. And everybody benefits.

America's consumer-owned rural electric are made up of nearly 20,000,000 citizens, participating actively in their churches, schools, fraternal organizations and their local, state and national government. They know the whole nation benefits when rural America prospers.

Third graders study conservation

"I sure hope we can stop that erosion" was a comment made by one of Mrs. LaMoyno Peters' Capitan 3rd graders at a recent lesson and demonstration on soil conservation given by Jerry Gordon of the Soil Conservation Service. The children had just completed that portion of their science course which dealt with soil and water conservation.

Baca, Viola Aldaz, Margie Padilla, Cecelia Padilla, Diane McInnis, Darnell Bryan, Jean Austin, Richard Vigil, Bill Shreengost, Fernando Garcia, Stephen Talley, Elizabeth Lacy and Ben McDonald. Mrs. Peters is standing behind Bill Shreengost.

The lecture portion of the lesson dealt with soil and water "robbers" or "thieves", who they are, and what we can do about them. Two boxes, a sprinkling jar, and receiving pans were used in the demonstration. One of the boxes held a slice of native rangeland with a good cover of sod; the other held a section of soil with no cover. The sprinkling jar was used to simulate a hard rainstorm at the upper end of each box. The runoff was then collected in pans and two comparisons were made: (1) the amount of water running off each box. The children could very clearly see how important it is to keep a good cover on your soil.

A good time was had by all and this writer sincerely believes that these 3rd graders have learned a lot about a very important subject under the fine instruction given them by Mrs. Peters. It makes an older conservationist feel good to know that these boys and girls are being trained to recognize the value of our natural resources and will be our conservationists of tomorrow.

No. 4 sticker expires April 30. The No. 4 brake and light stickers expire April 30, and anyone driving a vehicle with an expired sticker is violating the law and is subject to a fine. The Sheriff's Office announced this week.

Enforcement is more State responsibility

New Mexico's traffic safety director this week reminded motorists that more stringent provisions of the State's financial responsibility law (requiring drivers and owners to be able to pay for damages to others in traffic accidents) are now in effect.

If you are the driver or owner of a vehicle involved in a traffic accident, that results in a death, personal injury, or damages amounting to $100 or more, then you must file a written report with the department of Motor Vehicle within five days, and you must show financial responsibility.

If for any reason the vehicle owner does not have liability insurance coverage the department is required to suspend drivers licenses of each operator, and all motor vehicle registration plates for one year, unless the requirements of the financial responsibility act are met.

Benny E. Sanchez, motor vehicle Commissioner, called special attention to the usual increase in traffic during the spring and summer season, and urged all New Mexico residents to familiarize themselves with the new provisions of the financial responsibility law.

a man today who visited Canyon, saying that he had tried six different men to get them to work for him, but they all had good excuses. All six was drawing unemployment compensation. Many people do not realize just how far our country has drifted down into Socialism and a Welfare state. Freedom of the people has gone with the wind. Any time a people are taxed as the people in the United States are taxed today, and to have a bunch of politicians, to come into our county and schools and tell us how we are to spend our tax money, and just how much we are allowed to spend. Today under this Socialistic Democratic government that we have it is, give the government the authority to think and plan for you, give it the earnings of your toil, let it say when to plant and when to reap, let it regulate your life and educate your children, and it will give you security, by what ever name, Socialism, Statism or Paternalism, centralized government authority above the natural rights and the God given liberties of the people.

Never in the history of the United States are the people in graver danger than they are today, not by armed invasion but by the soft soothing words of the socialistic politicians. Today the lack of a sense of individual responsibility on the part of many of our citizens, the inherent selfishness of others and the deliberately taught and constantly fomented ideologies of Statism, in all its many forms, threatens the very life of our great America. The individual liberties of our people and the Free heritage of our children. After the recent decision of some of our court, Freedom of speech is on the road out.

In a growing county the taxes should be equalized. It's been years since they have. We don't mind paying taxes if we know that our neighbors are paying the same on the same kind of property.

Ability . . . Integrity

E. S. JOHNNY WALKER

Democratic Candidate FOR CONGRESS

THE RECORD!

THE PUBLIC SERVANT

E. S. JOHNNY WALKER has earned the reputation of being a successful public servant. Contributing to his success at the polls has been his ability as an administrator, his personal integrity, and his demonstrated belief that a public office is a public trust.

He was twice elected to the State House of Representatives from Grant County. He is now completing his fourth two-year term as Commissioner of Public Lands, the first man in the history of the state to be elected to that office for more than two terms. He is serving as a member of the Oil Conservation Commission, the State Forestry Commission, the Oil and Gas Accounting Commission, and the Investment Council.

THE ADMINISTRATOR

E. S. JOHNNY WALKER has earned an enviable reputation in state government as an administrator. During the past 12 years he has demonstrated his administrative ability as Commissioner of the Bureau of Revenue, as organizer and first Director of the Oil and Gas Accounting Commission, and as Commissioner of Public Lands.

Today there are eight fewer employees in the State Land Office than there were 11 years ago when Mr. Walker first took office. Coupled with this reduction in force has been a four-fold increase in the work load and a two-fold increase in the annual revenues. Today the Land Office is a model of smoothly operating efficiency. All paper work is current, all transactions are posted each day, and all records are open to the public.

During Walker's seven years in office, revenues have amounted to half of the total revenues taken in since 1960.

JUDGE A MAN BY HIS RECORD — THE WALKER RECORD IS GOOD

EDITORIAL

"A page for independent thought"

Full knowledge could change opinion

A recent opinion survey reports that people favor civil rights legislation, now being fought out in the Senate. The possibility is strong that were Americans fully acquainted with the long-range affect of such legislation they might change their opinions.

We have H. R. 7152 at hand and can quote from its pages. This Act attempts to say how citizens are to be qualified by the state to vote — when Article I of the Constitution explicitly gives each state the power to fix "qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the legislature."

Title II of the Act deals with the effect of commerce among the states and the local hot dog stand in Carrizozo. Good chance the dog stand operator wonders how he got into the act. In any case the Act says that if its operations (the hot dog stand) affect commerce they must serve all comers.

Title III — Desegregation of public facilities . . . will boom the attorney schools and law business if nothing else. It says, "If the Attorney General certifies that signers of complaints are unable to initiate and maintain appropriate legal proceedings for relief, the Attorney General is authorized to institute for or in the name of the United States a civil action in any appropriate district court of the United States. This makes the Attorney General the personal lawyer for everybody he chooses to represent, with power to file suits promiscuously."

Title IV, Sec. 404, states "The Commissioner is authorized to arrange, through grants or contracts, with institutions of higher education for the operation of short-term or regular session institutes for special training designed to improve the ability of teachers etc." Is this what you want as a part of civil rights?

Title V sets up a commission vested in its field with all the familiar powers of federal bureaucracy, inspectors, investigators, etc., to bring rights violators before federal judges. From reading this section one realizes that a new building the size of the Pentagon will be needed just to house the results of the commission investigations. Do you want this addition to an overloaded bureaucracy?

Title VI gives the President power to invoke sanctions, such as cutting out any of the multitude of federal spending programs, school lunch, defense contracts, farm subsidies, etc. This is not to say that we favor such programs but their inception or demise should not be dependent on any measure of discrimination. Do you think New Mexico should be subject to financial sanctions because any one of its communities might not come up to government standards in nondiscrimination?

Title VII sets up another commission known as the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. It has power enough to require each employer to make and keep such records relevant to the determination of whether unlawful employment practices have been or are being committed, also a $2,500,000 budget the first fiscal year and not to exceed $10,000,000 during the second year. Do you feel the need of keeping more records to comply with government edicts?

An interesting quote, "Let not him who is homeless pull down the house of others but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built." by Abraham Lincoln, March 21, 1864, bears the meat of what Title VIII is attempting. It includes a compilation of registration and voting statistics aimed at bringing about a change of election practices in the south. Section 2 of the amendment provides that when the right to vote for federal and some state officers is denied or abridged, the number of seats in Congress held by the offending state shall be reduced in proportion to the number of citizens disfranchised. The question here, brought close to home, in view of past experience can the federal government any more eliminate fraudulent elections than can the states?

Title IX gets into fine points of law, in short a situation can be brought about whereby a state court cannot enforce any order against a civil rights defendant. One authority states this section leaves the state and local law-enforcement without any police power. You should realize where the power has gone . . . but of the state, to say the least.

Title X establishes in the Department of Commerce a Community Relations Service. Rep. Watson of South Carolina commented during the House debate, "It will not give one bona fide job to a single member of the minority group; the only jobs it will create will be those on the commissions established therein and the additional federal marshals and judges necessary to enforce it." Title X sets up a director at $20,000 per year who can appoint other personnel.

An open-end appropriation goes to the attorney general channeled through Title XI —

Miscellaneous. The cost of putting civil rights legislation into effect has been specified at 15.5 million dollars, now with Sec. 1103 in action as follows, "There are hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act", the gate is open.

The Civil Rights Bill has all the earmarks of hasty legislation, the author of the bill is not public knowledge. We believe in human rights, and would like to see better days for the Negro race, but legislation such as H. R. 7152 is tearing down the house, adding to top-heavy government, and banishing more freedom than it allows.

You would do well to inform yourself further of the details of this Act, and then communicate your opinions to New Mexico's representatives in Washington.

The Lincoln County News could turn well be the only weekly newspaper in the state with a foreign correspondent. We've got a good one, Kit Carson's work took him to Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, from which point he reported to the News this week. The letter accompanying his "Long and Short" column has some interesting notes. Climate about like New Mexico, sand storms a nuisance this time of year. They are having their New Year's celebration now, food as good as any of the top cafeterias on the state-side, no booze at all, possession of liquor is a measure for expulsion from the Kingdom. We are looking forward to Kit's writing of this strange land.

George B. Griswold and Fazollah Misaghli (must be a Swede or something) have written "Geology and Geochemical Survey of a molybdenum deposit near Nogal Peak, Lincoln County, New Mexico. It's known as Circular 67 and you can get a copy by sending 50 cents to the Bureau of Mines at Socorro. The conclusion of this circular says both the tenor and tonnage of known molybdenum-bearing zones in the Nogal Peak area are below that required to be economic under present or foreseeable market conditions. The Rialto and Parsons areas will bear more exploration, says the conclusion.

Aunt Ann O'Donnell (deceased) used to say that catbirds were not seen until all danger of frost was over. Such a sign might work in the mountain country as well as in the flat lands.

Many signs of spring around Carrizozo, one of them being Ray Gabehart watering his yucca, pine tree and Mal Fals lawn. State highway crew was wetting down the US54 Island, probably with weed killer.

Melvin L. Becker who spent 5 1/2 months at Fort Stanton TB Hospital, was in the office Tuesday with a lot of good words about the hospital. He is re-entering the hospital now because he wants to. During the first time he was there the food was the best, nurse care the best, never a cross word from any doctor or nurse, beds were clean, man could take a bath or shower any time he wanted to. Becker said that when a man is cooped up away from his family it's a wonderful thing to be able to walk the hospital grounds without guard and some hospitals are run like a prison. According to Becker, one way liquor gets in the hospital is the Indians sneaking out the back door, running to the liquor store and coming back without the nurses or doctors knowing they were gone.

Good crowd out for the concert Monday night and they were well entertained. Director Arnold Boyce says he is having trouble with his clarinets playing in tune, and one drummer behind another where he played with rhythm and much to loud. Takes time to build a band, especially where there is little background of music in the lower grades, which is the main trouble now.

Bill Murfin, student director, is a good drummer as will be found in any band in the state, and does fine as director. A couple dozen seniors as capable as Bill and Zozo would have a real band. Time will bring that about.

We got a lesson in grass from reading the last issue of Forbea. Whether or not you can patent a grass depends on its sex life. If the grass reproduces itself asexually, that is, it pollen (male) and pistil (female) touch but don't unite, you can patent it. If they join, you've got a seed and can't patent that. The trouble is finding an asexual plant. Research director Victor Renner spotted a bright green patch in the midst of some grown grass which turned out to be an asexual mutant of Kentucky bluegrass (originally from Germany). It has taken 15 years to grow enough for marketing of the patented grass, now called Windsor. It's supposed to be more dense, sturdier and a darker green color, also higher in cost.

"But" is a word that cools many a warm impulse, stifles many a kindly thought, puts a dead stop to many a brotherly deed. No one would ever love his neighbor as himself if he listened to all the "buts" that could be said.

THE LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS, THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1944

Al Stubbs, editor of the Roswell Record, had a minor run-in with an irate reader which means to a lot of newspaper people that Al is doing his job with fairness to all — which means that some people will naturally add news of themselves, right out of the type-writer used by Stubbs.

The worst dressing down the News editor ever got came from a woman, over a trifle — but not to her at the time. She had a much better command of hayfield language than we had given her credit for, and could put special accent in such words as damn and hell which amounted to a talent. Month later we were friends, and still are. If you can't get your blood pressure up over your newspaper once in a while . . . it isn't much of a paper.

Who has the answer — where can little league baseball be played in Carrizozo this summer?

The mysterious flying object reported near Socorro could have been a hot-rodder who finally achieved enough speed to leave the terra firma. Carrizozo people are not natural gas users — they will be eventually. In the meantime all Lincoln County people are profiting from the taxes paid by El Paso Natural Gas Company. This company has recently issued its 1963 annual report and is advertising the fact in this issue, be sure to read the message.

George and Edward Lightfoot traveled to Socorro last Saturday to take their test for college.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Lealon Raley and family was Mrs. Bell E. White of Portales. Mr. White formerly worked for El Paso Natural Gas Co., he tells us he now runs a service station at Portales.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Benham traveled to El Paso over the past weekend to attend the wedding of their nephew Mr. Jack Naniel Benham to Miss Mary Elizabeth Wood.

Our neighbor, Pete Gaskowski tells us he still has some Angora rabbits left. This reporter was looking them over this past Saturday and they are in fine shape. The ones going cheap. He has some hutchies too. In bowling last week the Station lost four to Standard Oil and the Pipeline team won 4 from the Fire Dept.

RE-ELECT

Roman Nunez

LINCOLN COUNTY COMMISSIONER

It is again our pleasure to endorse our friend Roman Nunez as a candidate for County Commissioner, District No. 1, for any number of good reasons — among which we note an enviable record of years of valuable and honorable service to the citizens of this area as a public office holder, rancher, business man, loyal Democratic party member and worker, lifelong resident of Lincoln County, community leader, father of 11 children, all of whom were raised on a Lincoln County ranch.

He has always shown a loyalty to his County and its citizens and an honest desire to do something worthwhile with fairness to all, while keeping the quality of progressive ideals always before him.

It is our sincere desire that he will be re-elected to the office he now holds and to which he indeed deserves to be returned.

1964 is great year for Montana, writes Garth Hyde, former resident Garth Hyde writes from his parsonage home in Great Falls, Montana, two weeks after they had located there. He describes the city as beautiful and it is 100 miles from the Canadian border.

He states that 1964 is a great year for Montana, 100 years ago it was admitted to the OSHAS as a territory and 75 years ago it became a state. This calls for celebrating the 100th anniversary plus the glamon jubilee.

Consequently the Hydes found the men wearing beards and handle-bar mustaches which they will do until sometime this autumn. Garth is wondering just how new friends will look, though he is very pleased with them as they are.

He says silver dollars are many there.

He was very much impressed with the size of the Missouri River. The first Sunday 95 attended Sunday school and other services.

Though they are truly happy there, Garth's thoughts stray to Lincoln County and his friends here. I am certain they will appreciate his remark to his aunt, all the prospects for the future look very bright here.

I will take this opportunity to express our pride in Garth and his nice family. Garth was reared at Capitán. Born here and finished high school. Then to Pasadena, Calif., to college. There he studied hard and became a Nazarene minister. We wish him many years of success and happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stone and family spent two days with his sister and family. Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Payne at Farmington. They left Monday and returned the night of the 21st. They enjoyed their new nephew born April 18 weighing eight pounds. His name is Ethan Carroll.

Mrs. D. O. Jones underwent surgery on her left eye Thursday at St. Mary hospital in Roswell. Mrs. Paul Jones brought her home Friday. She is doing OK.

In the Carnegie course at Carrizozo last week Gloria Cummins was a pencil winner on human relationship. Other winners were Oleta Stubbs of Carrizozo and Alma McGowan of Alamogordo.

Mary Zamora underwent surgery at the Ruidoso hospital on April 20. She is doing nicely.

Mr. Heady who has the contract for hauling trash for this city has quit and is working at Weed logging. He moved his family the past weekend. We wish him success. He was a hard worker and did his job well.

Mrs. Louise Ferguson returned from one week in the Carrizozo hospital. During her absence her sister, Mrs. Leroy McKnight substituted teaching in her place. We are glad to have you back. We wish you a speedy recovery.

His mother, if you remember Eva May Woods who lived here with him is now convalescing at her daughter's home at Moequero from a stroke. We do wish her a speedy recovery.

The taco supper put on by the juniors at school last Friday was well attended. Just before the senior play, the play was successful. I truly congratulate the youngsters on this their last year and wish them much success in all of their undertakings.

Richard Flores home has had a concrete floor poured in their car port. The Ray Provine home has the windows in and is getting redwood siding at this time. Dirt and gravel are being hauled to fill in from the highway at the turnin at the new trailer court. Each week shows much improvement.

The severe winds are still with us. They have been at night too. But the tree blossoms are very pretty and the grass shows green too.

We have lots of measles here. Growups have had them. Some are quite ill.

Appear 'as from the grave'

Billy the Kid claimants occasionally appear, "as if from the grave" to haunt historians with stories of their escape and livelihood during the intervening years since the notorious 1881 was reported killed in 1881. Few more are likely to appear, however, as Billy would now be 103, if he had lived. Little credence has been given the claimants through the years, despite the fact that rumors have persisted that Billy the Kid was not killed by Pat Garrett the night of July 14, 1881 in Lincoln.

A story of one such claimant, probably the most seriously considered of all, was revived recently, with the receipt by Gov. Jack M. Campbell of a letter from a Burbank, Calif., man, William J. Carson. The letter requested information about a man identified as William Roberts, who appeared before Gov. Thomas Mabry, claiming to be Billy the Kid and requesting a pardon. Carson stated he believes the Roberts man, now dead, may have been his father, and also stated that he thinks the claim was true and the appeal justified.

There was such an appearance before Gov. Mabry in 1950 by a man using the name Ollie L. Roberts, that he was called "Brushy Bill" and that he was born at Buffalo Gap in East Texas on Dec. 31, 1859. The governor's office was unable to locate information on the appeal probably due to the difference in name, and informed Carson that they were unable to locate any such record. A story to this effect appearing in the Feb. 4 edition of the New Mexican, brought to the light the fact that such an appearance had made under the initials, Ollie L. on Nov. 29, 1950.

Roberts is described as the most seriously considered of the claimants, as his story was carefully recorded, was checked through every possible source, and he was identified by several persons who had seen and known Billy the Kid during his Lincoln County days.

Traced down in Hamilton, Tex., by a graduate lawyer and historian, William V. Morrison, of St. Louis, Roberts admitted in private to Morrison that he was Billy the Kid. He began telling Morrison his story during his residence in Hamilton, and later after moving to Hico, Tex., including the many different names he had used, that he had worked as a Pinkerton detective with the Anti-Horse Thief Association, as a U.S. deputy marshal, ridden in Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, and with Roosevelt's Rough Riders, and ranced in Mexico during the intervening years.

The old man expressed the wish that he could die a free man and also straighten things out before he died. He asked Morrison to help him, which Morrison agreed to if Roberts could prove he was Billy the Kid. During this episode, the old man did not seek any publicity and repeatedly expressed the fear he might be jailed and his still existing sentence to be hung for the shooting of Sheriff Bill Brady might be carried out.

These facts concerning Roberts were recorded in a book published by the University of New Mexico Press in 1955, some five years after his death. Co-authors of the book, "Alias Billy the Kid," are C. L. Sonnichsen, chairman of the English department of Texas Western College, highly regarded as a contributor to Southwestern lore and letters, and Morrison, a lawyer and member of the Missouri and El Paso Historical societies.

Morrison, according to the book worked for over a year prior to the appearance before the governor, collecting information for the appeal.

Morrison was able to enlist Southwestern author Sonnichsen's aid in compiling his notes, and notes left by Roberts, into a book. The only publicity given to Roberts occurred at the appeal for the pardon, which turned into a "fiasco," Roberts claimed that he was entitled to the pardon due to the fact that he had been promised a pardon by Territorial Gov. Lewis Wallace in return for testimony. Roberts claimed he had fulfilled his part of the agreement with Gov. Wallace, and although Gov. Wallace never issued the pardon, whatever governor was now in office should honor the promise. Letters written by Billy the Kid to Gov. Wallace, reminding him of his promise, are preserved in the files of the Indiana Historical Society Library. Roberts was represented by the law firm of Andages, Lipscomb, and Petticoles of El Paso for the pardon appeal. Morrison, not a member of the New Mexico bar Association, helped with the preparation of the brief. Roberts had agreed to see the governor only if the conference could be private. The press was, however, informed of the pending interview at the Governor's mansion, and a story was run in the Albuquerque Tribune prior to the meeting.

Morrison decided to continue with the interview despite the publicity. After Gov. Mabry's private interview with Roberts, the old man was taken into the dining room, where about 20 men were allowed to question him. Two state policemen took up stations on either side of the entrance.

Quoting from the book: "Pat Garrett's sons Osear and Jakyis were there, indignant about the whole proceeding. Near them stood Cliff McKinney, son of Kip McKinney who came to Fort Sumner with Garrett and Poe the night Billy supposedly was shot. There, too, was Arcadio Burdy, grandson of Sheriff Brady, for whose murder Billy was condemned to hang. Others included Will Robinson, the Albuquerque historian, and General Patrick Hurley. One at a time they turned their batteries on Ollie L. Roberts, of Hico, Tex., alias Brushy Bill Roberts, alias Rattlesnake Bill, alias the Texas Kid, alias the Hugo Kid, alias William Antrim, alias William Bonney, alias "Billy the Kid."

Roberts made a poor showing, according to the book, which said, "He watched the policemen at the door and was upset when the governor pointed out one of the guests as the sheriff from Carlsbad." Roberts asked to lie down following the interview.

Gov. Mabry first announced he would defer his decision, then a few minutes later announced, "I am taking no action, now or ever, on this application for a pardon for Billy the Kid because I do not believe this man is Billy the Kid."

Morrison took his client away, as the press told the world of the decision. Plans, made for later appeal before another governor, disclosed with the old man's death less than a month later.

Morrison did not let the story die with the old man's death, however. He continued his search for the truth. He feels sure that whoever the old man was, he must have been present when many of the events happened — his recollections were too detailed and too precise. Morrison could not forget the facts he had gathered, the physical characteristics of the old man including scars; large wrists and small hands that would slip through handcuffs; affidavits by persons who had known Billy the Kid personally, saying that Roberts was Billy the Kid; affidavits from persons who said they had seen and talked to Billy the Kid after he was supposed to have been dead — all these things presented in the book.

The confusion added up, in Morrison's view, to a series of doubts concerning traditional Billy the Kid stories. He decided, according to the book, that Roberts should have his pardon, even if it was awarded posthumously. So far no further action on the plan for a posthumous pardon has been taken.

It would be interesting, however, to hear what information the Burbank, Calif., man has to back his belief that Roberts claim was true. Roberts mentioned four marriages in his interviews with Morrison, although no children were mentioned in the book. Perhaps we shall hear more about William Henry Roberts, alias Billy the Kid.

LONG & SHORT - By Kit Carson

THIS ROUTE LEADS TO THE MIDDLE EAST

Houston, Texas — This is a town for you, I must say! Texas all the way, baggart and everything. If you want to "hire out" to anywhere on this planet, go to Houston. And as you look around, if you are not careful you'll be snatched up for a job on the Moon, or Mars, or some other faraway spaceport. It's been done, you know; and is being done most every day, NOW! The astronaut settlement is in Houston.

The first time I ever heard of Houston was from the pages of my grandfather's old civil war diary, by an entry which he made in it, summer of 1863: "Left Louisiana and went to Houston after a wagon-load of supplies. Got drunk, and just decided to stay four days."

Then I heard of it again in the early 30s, when I was a depression bum, and got snared in the burg with only ten cents to my name. However, that much money, in those days, bought me a cup of coffee, a doughnut or two, which gave me a little strength to commence walking out of town. Herbert Hoover was busy at that time, making an ass out of himself; and that's one thing he did a pretty good job at. The old duck cut a mighty swath from my literary career.

Everybody calls Houston a "town". Even though, in size, it is the Nation's seventh — I believe sixth now — metropolis. It was carved out of the old stomping grounds of General Lopez, Santa Ana, the Mexican general who was responsible for laying the Alamo in rubble. How Houston ever attained the place as the Nation's second shipping port is a mystery — being on the waterway that was in the days of the Old West nothing more than a mosquito-infested stream of most stagnant water which gave every settler, for miles around, a jam-up good case of malaria, or typhoid fever, which was hell to cure.

The town has a seething airport, too, I found out, after the San Francisco office through which I had "hired out" rounded me up an international one. I had committed myself to an assignment on the globe, in Houston. And that's where I wound up — looking one of those monstrous jets full in the face, hoping it was stable enough to deliver me, without foundering.

In the Middle East, on the Persian Gulf, a full 135 degrees back to the east, I was worn to a frazzle, after struggling to pack everything I wanted to carry along into a bag that, contents and all, would not perk up the scales to more than 66 pounds! And weight above that I understand would cost me four and one quarter bucks a pound! And I couldn't stand that. The old malstay type-writer right away gobbled up a full 20 pounds of that precious amount, and the camera came in for a pound or two and some ounces. Who would have ever thought that I'd ever consider such a thing as ounces when I commenced to pack my fuds. But that's the way it goes nowadays. I even swapped bags, and gained two pounds for boot. $8.50! And it helped. It made space for another pair of breeches and an old threadbare shirt.

But anyway everything, is all set for the Middle East, and the dromedary country, land of the deserts, blowing sands, home of the world's most precious pearls, the daring shark hunters, and the camel caravans. A land dominated by people who believe in cutting off the hand that steals, and having as many wives as can be supported — and you never see a woman, just the garb she's in!

With such laws in that strange land, I've thought I had better keep my hands out of the machinery, or I'd be showing up in New Mexico in a few months with a stub of an arm hanging from the coat sleeve, and have hell explaining to the people that I was not interested in the Arabs' pearls.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT IS . . . I'd suspect there'll be more coming from this old type-writer, when I get to the Biblical land and commence to plod around on the trails of the Apostles. But right now we are about to fly from the Houston International Airport, and they tell me that in 24 hours I'll be able to drop a fish hook in the blue waters of the Persian Gulf — even after stopping a while in New York, and taking a look in Rome!

I know there's a yarn somewhere along the way!

LEGISLATOR SEEKS PADILLA PROBE The legislative council director, Clay Buchanan, has re-QUESTED PERSONNEL DIRECTOR Harold Bibo to investigate the political activities of Ray Padilla who works as an investigator for the attorney general.

The way the personnel law is drawn it is doubtful if anything significant would come out of an investigation of Padilla politicking for the AG post.

A better investigation might look into the propriety of Padilla working as a salaried investigator for the attorney general while serving as chairman of the state police board.

BETTER INVESTIGATE HIS TWO POSITIONS Buchanan said the request for an investigation was made in behalf of a member of the house of representatives but declined to reveal his name.

The personnel law prohibits state workers from holding posts in political organizations but says very little about political activities.
