As a member of the Church of Christ, God expects us to live and worship in His way in order to bring glory to His name. We accept the Bible as our only guide and creed. We believe that the Bible is the inspired word of God, and that we must accept it as our only authority and standard for what we do. The organization of the Church, the worship we give, and the lives that we live, must be fashioned according to this standard. All of our efforts to serve God must be a result of our love for Him. I John 4:19, "We love Him because He first loved us."

God's love could be compared to a supposedly true story of a man in England who was in charge of a draw bridge. Every day it was his duty to raise the bridge so that ships could pass up and down the river, and to lower it at the right time so that the train could safely pass over the river. This man had a young son who would occasionally come to work with him. On this particular day the young boy was with his father and as all young boys he was curious. He was in and out of the little house that housed the controls to the bridge. He would lean out the windows and look at the ships below. As he was doing this he leaned out a little too far and fell into the water. His father rushed to the window and saw the boy struggling in the water. The lad couldn't swim. The father rushed to the door and started down the steps, but as (Continued on back page)

Pan of hot grease causes house fire

Monday evening, August 17, while the Ralph Dunlap family was busy at the barn, a pan of grease on the kitchen stove caught on fire.

When discovered it had filled the house with smoke and the cabinets in the kitchen were burning.

The fire was put out by the Nogal Volunteer Fire Department. The Dunlaps were fortunate in that the fire equipment was directly across the street from their house and no time was lost in getting help.

The kitchen is a total loss and the rest of the house was badly damaged by smoke and water. The loss is covered by insurance.

Gospel singing time

Gospel singing will be held at the Assembly of God Church August 30 at 2:00 p.m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Inside The Capitol

By Will Harrison

SANTA FE — Boston Witt, the Demo nominee for attorney general, is having an awful lot of trouble for one seeking a secondary state office such as are generally conceded to the Democrats before the voting.

Witt incurred much adverse criticism and publicity when he chose to stay on the state payroll at $650 a month during the eight months of campaigning for the primary and general elections.

Then he fouled up with the AFL-CIO state labor organization and was singled out as the only state Democratic candidate the organization would fight.

REPRESENTED DEFUNCT FIRM

The collapse of the National Holding Corp. of Albuquerque which is estimated to have cost the shareholders a million dollars, revealed that he had been engaged in private law practice for that firm while serving as assistant attorney general.

Troubles mount for attorney general nominee

His activity in behalf of the corporation, it was disclosed, had resulted in a complaint being filed against him with the grievance committee of the state bar association which is apparently still pending.

Witt was one of three Democratic nominees who had primary opposition. He defeated State Sen. Emmett Hart of Tucumcari by a substantial margin but after a divisive and sometimes bitter contest.

WELL INFORMED IN STATE LAW

The Democrats aren't in imminent danger of losing the AG's office but the candidate has about as much trouble as it is safe to carry.

Witt has never practiced law on his own, having joined the attorney general's staff upon graduation from law school, but is exceptionally well informed on law relating to the state government.

He seems to have been damaged the most by staying on the state payroll while campaigning for election.

His boss, Atty. Gen. Earl Hartley, has drawn additional attention to Witt, by continuing to pick up his state check for a $1,000 a month while working as state Democratic campaign manager.

REPUBLICAN HELPING JOE

Joe Montoya received important encouragement in his run against Republican Sen. Ed Mechem last week when Jack Wheeler, recent Otero county Republican chairman, signed up as vice chairman of a Montoya campaign group.

Wheeler said he liked Montoya personally, believed that he could do more for Otero county than Mechem, and was going to try to get him elected. Wheeler said he was still registered as a Republican and would support the other Republican candidates.

MECHEM HOOTED ON STAMP CHARGE

Meanwhile, Montoya Democrats were hooting Mechem for Concrete irrigation on Booky farm complete under conservation program

The installation of 1823 linear feet of 10 inch concrete irrigation pipeline was recently completed on the Ernest J. Booky farm at Honda. The pipeline is a part of the overall reorganization of the irrigation system on the Booky farm. Land leveling is another conservation practice which will soon be completed.

The pipeline will assure the conveyance of all the water produced at the irrigation well to the point of delivery in the field without loss. Prior to the installation of the pipeline, the water was conveyed through open dirt ditches with from 25 to 50% of the water produced at the well being lost before reaching the point of delivery in the field due to seepage through the banks and bottom of the open ditch. Total irrigation application time is thus reduced by at least 30%. The problem of weed control in open ditches is also eliminated with the pipeline.

Through land leveling, an even distribution of water can be obtained from one end of the field to the other, thus eliminating over irrigation through excessive penetration at one point in the field and under irrigation at another. Water which penetrates greatly in excess of the plant root zone is wasted water.

This conservation program is being carried out in accordance with a basic conservation plan prepared by Mr. Booky with the assistance of Soil Conservation Service technicians. Mr. Booky entered into a Great Plains Conservation Program Contract which sets forth a systematic schedule and provides continuing cost share assistance for carrying out the conservation plan.

The conservation work being done on this farm and on many other farms, ranches, and urban areas should mean much to the urban dweller as well as to the man who makes his living in agriculture. Through conservation our future generation, both urban and rural, will have sufficient water and land upon which to dwell because this generation was conservation minded.

Fear Lincoln escapee long gone on freight

Sheriff Glen Bradley said Saturday evening he feared burglary suspect Alph D. Teague, 27, had hopped a freight train, to elude roadblocks surrounding the area after the report of his escape from the Lincoln County jail Friday night.

Teague was being held in lieu of $2,500 bond following his arraignment on a charge of burglarizing a house on the Hammett Ranch northeast of Capitán on August 7.

The escape came about, when Teague convinced jailer Nat Chavez that he should be allowed to telephone his sister, who allegedly would not be home from work until 7:30 p.m. Friday. The jailer accompanied Teague from the cells to the sheriff's office to make the call, then the prisoner bolted through the office door, toward the construction site of the new courthouse, and disappeared.

Roadblocks were set up in all the surrounding communities following the receipt by State Police of the Alamogordo district of the 7:48 p.m. escape report. Sheriff Bradley requested stops at Tularosa, Socorro, Corona, Capitán and Roswell. The roadblocks were lifted shortly after 10:30 p.m. Friday as no reports of stolen vehicles came in, and lawmen concentrated their efforts in the immediate Carrizozo area.

The escapee has a long criminal record accrued since the early 1950s. His arrests included more than one for car theft and a previous escape from a federal officer. A warrant for escaping jail was issued and the search for Teague continues.

First Carrizozo school built in 1909, before that school was held in tent

The razing of the old junior high school building will get underway later in the fall, and many of the old timers, who attended school there, will hate to see the old building go.

The main part of this school house was erected about 1909 and was the first school building Carrizozo ever had. Before that time the elementary grade students went to school in a tent and the higher grades attended classes in a makeshift building.

Several years later, a wing was added on to the main section of the building, which at that time had only a few class rooms, and as the population increased, and more room was needed, another wing was added. The four downstairs class rooms were used for the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th grades, with one teacher for as many as four different grades, and the upstairs rooms were for high school students.

By the time the first class graduated in this building in 1914, the auditorium had been added.

School days were different then, there were no carpets on the floors, when this building was new, no air conditioning, or sound proof band room, no cafeteria (students brought their lunch), no buses, (everyone walked, some of them for several miles each day).

Extra curricular activities included regular parties and basketball.

Football and track were included in the school program in the 1920s and some years later the Junior and Senior prizes and stels were added.

Now, with 50 graduating classes behind it this building must make room for progress.

statement in a press release which said Montoya would be a rubber-stamp for the administration.

They figured that Mechem was admitting that the Demo Lyndon Johnson would be the administration.

BRIDGE COST CLIMBS HIGHER

New figures from the state highway department place the cost of the Rio Grande gorge bridge near Taos and approach roads on each side at $3,470,587.

That does not include the 10 per cent cost for the engineering and other expenses outside the contractors' bids, nor the interest on the money that was borrowed to pay for the work.

The floor of the bridge is being changed from open steel grid to solid concrete at a cost of $223,000 which is included in the total cited above.

CAMPAIGN ISSUE FOR REPUBLICANS

Republicans are attacking the spending on the northern road as one of their principal campaign topics.

Each will have 15 minutes to tell how good he is.

AN EXERCISE IN SIMPLE ARITHMETIC

Do you prefer pencils, matchbooks, hand-made posters, and other gimmicks to an advertisement in your home-town newspaper?

Would you rather see your company money spent in the big towns than at home where it spreads around?

Have you tried everything and decided that no advertising does you any good?

Do you feel that your town does not need a newspaper anyway — so why advertise?

Do you think "flanking" old customers, as well as "inviting" new customers is a waste of time?

Have you been in business so long you're sure everyone knows about you?

Is your business based largely on credit, so that price and quality are not important?

Are you satisfied with the business you have and don't want any more?

Would you rather let your neighbor spend his money on newspaper advertising, thinking that you'll get part of his business?

Do you believe that no one in your line of business should advertise?

Take this "10-Q" test, Mr. Merchant, then see if you have to "take the Fifth Amendment" to protect yourself. If so, then it is time to get out of the rut, get with the boosters and join the chorus proclaiming the virtues and benefits of trading at home, with home folks — all the time, all the way!

New fire sub-station is scheduled

Tuesday night, August 18, a special meeting of the Bonito Volunteer Fire Department, Inc. was held in the Angus Community building, to make plans for a new sub-station in the south part of this rural fire district. Included in the plans, will be a second 500 gallon pumper fire truck, especially designed for fighting fires in rural areas. The fire department has one such truck now housed in the Bonito Valley near Corder's store, but this location is too remote from the south boundary of the fire district for efficient handling of possible fires.

New sub-divisions including Alpine Village, Eagle Estates, Lakeside Estates, Sun Valley with LaJuna Ranch and High Country Lodge have sprung up since the Bonito Fire Department was first organized. Considerable new construction of private homes in this area also add to the need for having a fire station and fire truck located in this immediate area. Several suitable sites for the sub-station have been located near Lindy's Country Store at Alto.

A resolution was passed by members of the Bonito Volunteer Fire Department, to proceed with the plans for the sub-station. The estimated cost of the fire house and pumper truck will be about $30,000. It was agreed that since the volunteer firemen had already contributed time, money and labor getting the original station and truck in operation, that property owners of the affected area would be asked to contribute approximately one half of the estimated cost or about $3,000.

The balance to be paid from state fire protection funds now being allotted to the Bonito Volunteer Fire Department.

Sam Allen, sec-treas. of the Bonito Fire Department, was named chairman of the campaign to raise the funds. It was agreed that if the property owners of the affected area were sufficiently interested in obtaining this added fire fighting equipment, the volunteer firemen would provide the labor to build the building and man the equipment in fighting any fires in the area. The drive to raise funds will get under way in the very near future.

Any funds contributed toward purchase of this equipment will be placed in escrow in the Ruidoso State Bank until sufficient monies have been collected to make the venture feasible.

In the event sufficient funds cannot be raised, then the amount contributed by any individual would be refunded from this escrow account.

Since the area where this building boom has sprung up is all heavily forested and the danger of fire is extreme in the fire season, and each house built adds just one more hazard for fire at all seasons, it is hoped the property owners of this area will be constrained to support this effort to have more fire protection.

In addition to the members of the Bonito Volunteer Fire Department present at the meeting were Ernest Blood and Robert Scribner.

Bonito Water

By Louise Coe Rummels

Bonito Lake looks pitiful, so low, and smells and tastes worse. Fisherman are still catching fish and the last two weekends before school days, the canyon has been full of campers. The Forest Service is making ready a wonderful picnic area, or at least bids are going out soon for part of the job.

Floyd Haako Construction Co. is already making a big change up South Fork, which is Forest. The road around the north side of Bonito Dam will be quite a project and is beginning with another construction company.

Saturday, Lula Rummels, a native of Bonito Canyon, Louise Coe Rummels, and Mary Lou Rummels rode to the top of Monjou horseback. Lula hadn't ridden horseback in 20 years or more, but when she was a girl of 16, she and Lola Cane used to knock the flint out of rocks, jump loop and make yells and laughter as they rode their favorite horses to pass the time away.

Lula wasn't too sore and tired after the almost 4 hour ride. The country looks beautiful from Monjou, we missed Margie Hightower, the girl who is there in the driest season.

Hugh and Nina Truitt who spent most of the summer at the Bryan Cazier Farm are back in T or C for the winter.

Bub Cumbee, a summer resident on the Bonito had the misfortune of breaking his leg while riding a horse on Friday in the mountains. He was flown to Amarillo, Texas to a bone specialist after Mr. Jay and Loren Counts rescued him near Nogal Peak in an ambulance.

There are lots of apples on the Bonito this year, in the old orchards if the bear don't get them, tho, the bear like campers' vitals best.

Tom Bragg from Nogal has been visiting in Tan Bark Canyon the past week.

Bunk Fruit and Robert Rummels have gone to school in Ft. Lewis, Colorado. They were fortunate in having jobs all summer with the U. S. Forest Service, to help with schooling. Jeanette LaMay and Ann Robinson are in Albuquerque to go to business school or work. The "Desperado Kid", Herman Phillips, has been doing assessment work on his claim and in Lima, Peru, for 4 months. Mr. Bowser has been collecting facts, gathered from Spanish and Peruvian archives, which he will use in writing his dissertation to obtain his PhD Degree in history.

Mr. Bowser has been working under a Ford Foundation Grant while in Spain and Peru. He has presently earned another library scholarship which will entitle him to make further use of the information collected in Spain.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowser were both graduated from Hondo High School in 1955 with honors. Mrs. Bowser received her BA Degree in English from the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque and is presently teaching English in Valejo, Calif. Mr. Bowser received his BA Degree from the University of New Mexico and his Masters Degree from the University of California in Berkeley. He hopes to obtain his PhD Degree next year from the University of California.

Lincoln Station

By Roger L. Gordon

This past week has seen many events. Foremost I guess is the increase in wind activity here in our high country, indicating fall is coming and winter is not far off.

Mr. I. D. Gilbert and family were flown from Saint Mary's Hospital in Roswell to Providence Hospital in El Paso. Two planes were furnished by El Paso Natural Gas Co. to accommodate the Gilbert family. Mr. Gilbert, till this writing remained in a coma. Although his condition has not improved too greatly during the eleven days of coma, his condition has not been recorded as having worsened either. There have been several indications that have brightened all of our hopes that Mr. Gilbert might recover from this serious ordeal.

We welcome another new family to Lincoln Station. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rickard and family. The Rickards moved here from El Paso, where Mr. Rickard served as a communications technician. He replaces Mr. Martin Mahan at Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Mahan and family have moved to El Paso. Mr. Mahan will assume communications duties there.

This week brings joy and sorrow to many mothers. School has started here and those of school age have left their mothers for teachers. It's nice to have the older children out of your hair for awhile but it sure is hard to see your last little one get on the school bus with his older brother and sister, leaving you home alone, you who have it to look forward to someday may ask my wife, Louise, how much anxiety this situation causes one.

First graders from Lincoln Station this year are: David Gordon, Connie Pierce, Rusty Hervol, Tanya Alford, Kenneth Bingham and Grady Raley. We will have one graduating senior this year, Roy Ray.

A fine Bar-B-Que and dance was held again this year. Chefs for this year's event were: C. O. Eford and Mr. Ronnal Ray. Helping tend fire during the night were Mr. Ira Anders and this reporter. The beef was cooked to perfection. There were several guests, those being: Mr. and Mrs. Newt Lawrence from El Paso, guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Ruebush. Mr. Lawrence is a supervisor in the El Paso District.

Mr. and Mrs. Vandevere from Oil City, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Benham, Mr. Vandevere is an oiler at Oil City. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hervol, son and daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. John Hervol. Joe is laborer at Cornudas Station. Mrs. Jessie Alford and Miss Betty Jim Alford, mother and sister of Rogene Alford, other guests of the Alford's were Mr. and Mrs. Davidson and family. Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McCommas was the elder Mr. McCommas from Saint David, Arizona, he had accompanied Mr. and Mrs. McCommas' daughter home.

Soothing to the eyeballs

Carrizozo people, guests and friends completely filled the cafeteria for the dedication of the new school building Sunday. They saw a fine looking building, beautifully landscaped, with colorful furnishings and equipment throughout. It was quite an experience all the way during "open house" at Carrizozo's new school.

No doubt a lot of "old grads" were comparing, it's a normal thing to do. Probably they weren't comparing so much the difference in education as they were in facilities that house education. Lot of people yet alive who went to a one-room school, plenty more that took their lunch in a pail, lined up, after recess to march in while the phonograph played "High School Cadets" — Sousa.

One of the bad features of new school construction is that the superintendent's office is no longer on the third floor where boys had too much fun getting on halloween, a cow up the flights of stairs

Living is expensive and not due to get any cheaper — our one thought about spending money, has long been . . . that the more of it we can spend locally, the better off our community will be, Carrizozo people will surely reap benefits from money spent on the new school for years to come.

With the gracious help of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Spencer Carrizozo truly has a show place in the new facilities, one to be proud of, a place where learning should be easier.

Supt. T. Clegg, has spent much time, beyond school duty, on this project. He deserves a vote of thanks from the community for the job well done. Equal thanks goes to a school board planning for the present and future good of our community.

The dedication program went off smoothly, the many new rooms looked ready for school — all real soothing to the eyeballs.

It is not stretching the imagination to say that such work is entirely possible, financing available, and that the resulting benefits would serve many coming generations.

The stretch comes in thinking about who will do the job or how it might be done. Stretch, stretch and we don't have the answer.

Nice to think about, only a 15-minute drive, from town, and you could be fishing, picnicing, or just loafing in one of the beauty spots of Lincoln County.

Please send my paper to 518 West Hollis Street, Hollis, Okla.

We have finally gotten settled. It has been hot, but the past week we had 1 1/2 inches of rain and things are cooling off.

We rather miss seeing the mountains and all the friends that we left behind.

The people here are extremely friendly and eager to have a good football team.

Give all our best regards and wishes for a successful year.

KIT CARSON WRITES —

Interesting trip to al-Khobar

Thursday of last week was a bad day. We broke an old 3-inch leather belt for the last time, wasted hours trying to fix it, finally installed a smaller motor on this press but it was under powered. Three-inch belts are hard to buy short of Denver or El Paso. Walter Hubbard, through his wife, cured this dilemma. We had asked Mrs. Hubbard about a belt, Saturday morning Walter informed us there was a belt in his place. It came off the old Lee press we junked. In 10 minutes we had this find going on the press — Saturday was a good day and many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hubbard.

Our nature does not well a-bide machinery that does not run well, nor a town poorly kept. Don't know exactly where that streak about neatness and keeping things up in shape came from, but we've had to live with it for years. Naturally we've got the shop machinery in good shape, even installed steel storage cabinets for neatness . . . and when in the right editorial mood we work on the town to do some of the same. There are worse habits than neatness. . . . We don't talk about them.

This exercise recommended by the News is most valuable between courses of a big meal. You lie spread-eagled on back. Roll onto hip and with leg and arm straight touch toe to opposite hand, and opposite. If six times of this does not let you finish your meal, do it six more times on the dining room floor.

bian banking business, its scope of operation and the amount of services it affords. Such was in many instances the same as the American operation. The Saudi Government underwrites the security of the depositors, as insurance companies do for the American banks. The Arab customers are offered a checking account and a deposit system similar to ours, and loans are made upon proper collateral. I learned the bank was built entirely due to the expansion of the Arabian American Oil Company development in the Kingdom. Mr. Moh. A. Alghall Al-amoubi seemed pleased to tell something of the financial security and the thriftiness the bank enjoyed due to the American activity. He was a courteous Arab, and very hospitable.

The display of an old tattered New Mexico Press Association membership card, which I happen to have in my papers, gained a rarely privileged tour of the bank's elaborate security vaults, and customer deposit boxes. I strongly suspect that this was the first time a New Mexico press card was ever presented in Saudi Arabia. It also gained me the privilege of making a couple of snapshots in the manager's office, of the manager and the directors, which I prize very highly. The camera bug is not thought too highly off in Saudi Arabia.

After an interesting thirty minutes spent in the office, steeped in a decided Arabian and Middle East atmosphere, I was served with another course. This time the traditional Arab drink, hot coffee, spiked with a kardeman bean, from a very, very small handleless china cup. This bean planted into the hot coffee is an outstanding Arab custom and expresses his friendliness for his guest more than any words could ever express. Such a course also denotes the time for departure. If the meeting is hospitable, no departure should be taken until this course is completed with. It hurts an Arab's ego.

My friend of the office supply institution and I departed, after the enjoyable hospitable acquaintance of the banking Arabs. I thought it very wonderful that they invited me for a tour of Jidda, on the Red Sea, the port and beginning of the colorful Moslem pilgrimage each year. I knew I would accept soon.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT IS . . . In this interesting tour, I learned that Arabs are natural-born bankers. The operators of the institutions, in al-Khobar and Jidda, are not schooled in a banking institution of learning. They come by their profession by a natural training, I am told, from a long lineage of Arabian money handlers, dating from Biblical times when camel caravans plied the dangerous courses of the desert with loads of incense and myrrh, and other Middle East trade wares.

There Goes Chama Santa Fe New Mexican

We are continually being amazed by the sudden awakening of the village of Chama in northern Rio Arriba County. It is a town on the go and if the traditional "sleepy little village" elsewhere in Northern New Mexico can't see what is happening it is because of the dust

Chama is creating as it goes forward.

Within the past year Chama approved and constructed its first water system. The other day it gave near unanimous approval to a bond issue to finance construction of a sewage disposal plant and system within the community. And now the community is to get natural gas.

One of the most amazing things about Chama is the ideas it comes up with to get things done. The gas system-sewer system development is an example.

To pay off the $300,000 to bonds voted to finance the sewage disposal system, the community agreed to a surcharge to be added to the gas bills when natural gas is brought into the community. As gas will be cheaper than fuel now being used, the community has found a painless method of getting its sewage system without over-burdening the tax rates, which naturally have jumped a bit as the town prepared for its growth.

Why is Chama so active when many other villages remain near lethargic state? There are prizes and the forward-looking village leaders feel those prizes well worth fighting for.

Of dogs, dogs, dogs

By Trudy Baker

Pets are nice to have and 90 per cent of the homes in America today have a pet of some sort. Dogs are beloved to be the most favored among the pets. Besides being man's best friend a dog is also a good hunting companion, a property protector, a guide and many other things.

Most dogs are loved and cared for by their owners, but there are some that are not.

Several neglected and homeless dogs can become a vicious pack of wild animals that destroy property and kill rabbits, chickens, sheep and even attack young calves.

At a recent council meeting such a pack of dogs was brought to the attention of the City Fathers, by Marvin Rowin, who has lost more than 40 laying hens, in the past several months, to such a pack of dogs.

This problem is not a new one to the city officials, they have been fighting loose dogs in Carrizozo for many years, and it seems like a losing battle.

Since Carrizozo has no dog catcher and the disposal of unwanted dogs is left up to the already overworked city marshal, not much progress is being made in that direction.

However, Mr. Rowin received permission from the council to shoot any dog on his property and he has been doing just that.

Here are a few facts any dog owner should know:

A dog must be kept in the owners yard, day and night; if a dog has a tag, the owner will be notified as to where the animal is and if after two days it is not bailed out it will be destroyed also.

In order to keep your dog safe, "Keep It at Home."

Stretching the imagination

We can see it in our mind's eye without even trying hard. Small ponds all the way up Nogal Canyon, water trickling down most of the year, the big runoffs contained by sizeable structures to be let out slowly and not cause ruinous damage to the country below. Literally a hundred picnic spots, beside a fresh water stream to go with the hundreds one can now find up the pleasant canyon. Maybe even a large dam that could supply water for thirty towns.

Popular and western music featured at fair

A delightful brand of both popular and western music will be employed to back up top-name stars during the nine-day rodeo planned at Tingley Coliseum during the 1964 New Mexico State Fair, which opens September 17 in Albuquerque.

The music will be provided by a very popular foursome known professionally as the Country Gentlemen, who play and sing some of the country's best music.

The Country Gentlemen are headed by Hugh Farr, a singer who appeared for years with the Sons of the Pioneers and other musical aggregations. As a member of that group, Mr. Farr appeared in many motion pictures and television and radio shows.

Other members of the group are: Pat Patterson, Kenny Baker and Jimmie Widener. All have good solid backgrounds in the musical entertainment field.

The Country Gentlemen will provide musical backing for all of the stars booked for the rodeo at the 1964 New Mexico State Fair.

Ted Abbott

He did he heard the whistle of the train. This was the signal to lower the draw bridge. The father was faced with a very difficult decision. Should he save his only son, the boy who was the greatest delight in his life, or should he lower the bridge and save the lives of the many people on that train. He hesitated a moment, then turned and walked back up the steps to the control room to lower the bridge, all of this time having to hear the cries and pleadings for help from his son who was drowning. If you had been saved at the expense of the father's son, would you have in some way tried to show the father your gratitude? God loves our souls much more than the father loved the lives of the people on the train, and God loves Christ much more than the father could have loved his son. Yet He let His son die on a cross to save us. This was a death much more agonizing than a death by drowning. Christ knew long before hand that he was going to die and He knew why.

He was giving His life for you and me. He is that interested in us. How much more willing we should be to show our gratitude and love to God.

We show God and Christ we love them by our efforts to keep the commands that they have given. John 14:23-24.

"If a man love me he will keep my word. . . . He that loveth me not keepeth not my sayings."

One way we can show Him we love Him is to take advantage of every opportunity we have to hear what he has to say to us.

In this meeting we shall attempt to bring only the truth of God's word to your ears and hearts. If you are grateful for the great love He has shown to you and me and if you love Him in return, come listen to His word being taught.

Our meeting here in Carrizozo has gotten off to a good start. We would like to get acquainted with you. Come and worship with us.
