Holiday weekend unusually quiet

The long holiday weekend was unusually quiet, with only one traffic accident reported. An one-car crash, early Sunday morning put two Albuquerque residents in the local hospital.

Mr. Glenwood W. Phillips, driver of a 1960 Rambler station wagon stated to investigating officer, Coy Brisco, that his left front wheel locked, when he applied the brake, as he was approaching a curve, 17.6 miles west of Carrizozo on U S 380. The vehicle crossed to the local side of the highway, turning over one time, and came to rest on its right side.

Mr. Phillips and his wife, Mary Ella, the only occupants in the car, were admitted to the Carrizozo hospital where they are being treated for various injuries.

Tony Treat — President

Stearns elected vice president

At a directors meeting following the annual stock holders meeting of the Citizens State Bank held on January 5, Johnson Stearns, of the Lincoln County Branch was elected vice president.

Charles Wood was promoted to cashier of the Citizens State Bank at Vaughn, and Jack Maloney of the Estancia branch was promoted to assistant vice president.

Between 175 and 200 people attended a meeting held at the Chaparral Tuesday night in Ruidoso called to discuss legalized gambling. The people were particularly interested in legal gambling for Ruidoso as a means to increase tourist traffic. P. C. MacKesson, acting as chairman of the discussion, said that a bill to legalize gambling in New Mexico would be introduced in the coming session of legislature. He, nor any one present at the meeting, knew little of the content of the bill, whether it would be county option or what.

At the speakers table with MacKesson were Hershel Peters, Wes Rees, Don Stark and Mrs. Pauline Norris acting as secretary. MacKesson said each person would be limited to two minutes speaking time. It was a county-wide open meeting. No vote would be taken, the purpose of the meeting was to get an expression of opinion, that such a meeting would be the cheapest and quickest way to find out how people in the county felt about legalized gambling.

MacKesson said that, as an indication of business conditions in Ruidoso, gasoline taxes collected were down about 75% from August to November, in Ruidoso Downs, and exactly 75% in Ruidoso, which does prove that we depend on tourists.

Practise option not included

First comment was received from John Curtis, who asked about the bill, received the answer that a bill would be ready before January 18, but it would not include practise option. MacKesson commented that we now have legalized gambling on horses.

Steve Etter asked, do you have comparison of taxes in Nevada and New Mexico. Answer, no, but Nevada taxes are much lower (meaning that gambling pays the way in Nevada.)

MacKesson said, we had to float a bond issue for the court house, we need new school facilities in Ruidoso, only 40% of land in New Mexico is taxable. We cannot continue to add taxes on land. We would need a much larger police force, with gambling, would then be able to pay our teachers a living wage.

Race gambling not bad

Wes Rees, Ruidoso depends on tourists, race gambling is not bad, no one is losing their homes at the track. We would have to build casinos with floor shows and dancing. It would raise our year-around rentals from 30% to 45-50% and would be the one big shot in the arm we need. I'm strong in favor of open gambling.

Carl DeBord, I've been in Ruidoso 22 years, we had gambling here then, it was illegal and I would not want it back but it brought a lot of revenue. I've always advocated legal gambling. On September 1, 1951, I took possession of the Navajo Lodge, the first winter was best, it was a paying proposition because we had people. Illegal gambling went out in 1948 but people were still coming to Ruidoso, they would stay a night and go on to where the activity was. You could hardly drive down our narrow main street then. At a Rotary meeting a sales manager for Community Public Service told he was here to help our economy. The one thing we need to improve our economy, or any community, is people. I'm 100% in favor of gambling.

Children are most important

Rev. Wm. R. Brown, I'm not behind it. The benefits are obvious. Don't confuse a shot in the arm with a shot in the heart. If 49 states are envious of Nevada, all had the example, they didn't want gambling. If gambling is such a good thing whose pocket does the money flow into? We should determine if the amount of money or the character and education of our children is most important (applause). If people here have only a monetary stake in their community that's another question.

MacKesson, Not everyone coming to Ruidoso is interested in gambling. Property values

Church attendance is high

Ed Boyer, Why did our advertising campaign fall flat, answer, lack of money. Have reports from FBI, Council of Churches, and others been caught, answer, yes we have. Boyer, any tax income would be offset by tax expenditures. If we're so interested in schools, how many are interested in building churches. Answer, prior to 1944 there was not a Protestant church in Ruidoso. We have beautiful churches here today, church attendance is above the national average. We need more school facilities.

MacKesson continues, a slot machine tax would produce $250 for Federal Government, $175 to state, $125 to county, $150 to community or town. Gambling can be kept out, if the law passes, simply by not issuing a license. No one under 21 would be allowed in.

Carl DeBord, the comments are interesting. I wonder who is behind all this, can they combat the Nevada interests and get the bill through the legislature.

MacKesson, that's a tough question. We need additional revenue. Had 15 policy holders who could not pay their premiums this month, the Community Public Service has 350 less accounts.

MacKesson, Not everyone coming to Ruidoso is interested in gambling. Property values

MacKesson, I've heard it said that stores and market would have rough sledding if such a law were passed. I inquired of two chain operations, they said definitely not, they would welcome legal gambling. It might not be the proper step if we had manufacturing plants. We are a resort area, dealing in health, recreation and amusement.

Mrs. Ben Donathan, I've been here 22 years, we had gambling when I first arrived. Should it come to a vote I believe it would cost our town more in taxes than we would gain. I'm against legal gambling.

Bob Scribner, it would hurt our children, Las Vegas and Reno have the highest crime rates in the nation. (Applause from audience, as there was several times for people speaking both ways).

No trouble in Hot Springs

Lou Baker, I've lived in Hot Springs, Ark. youngsters in that town didn't get in trouble. What per cent of vote will be needed to carry, answer, 51%. Question from Baker, can out-of-state operators come in? Answer from MacKesson, I'm not qualified to answer because I don't know about the bill.

Bill Atwood, Ruidoso is unique. How much interest is there on the street level about the bill. MacKesson commented Rep. Bill Shreengost and Sen. Joe Skeen are Republicans but the legislature is Democratic, no one knows how it will vote. A bill on dog track racing will be presented, don't think a dog track in Clovis won't stop a lot of people on their way to Ruidoso.

Betty White, I'm the mother of four I've been to the track, gambling won't hurt our children. We'll have movies, skating, other things for them.

Billy Graham, We'd have better schools with gambling. Yes, I'm for it.

W. M. Getty, (this name could be wrong) my children have been around and never took to drinking or gambling. People are going to gamble regardless.

W. M. McKinney, I've got five children, lived in Las Vegas, I know about the "B" girls there to take care of your boys. Let's get a junior college.

would increase, we would have to double the number of rooms available, it would create jobs. There are two sides to the question, I think it would certainly help our community.

Lou Baker, People around the casinos are very religious, I heard one say, "Oh, Lawd, please let me make that eight." (This remark brought down the house.)

Joe Truitt, I've been here 12 years, we've had more growth the last five years. We're kidding ourselves when we don't recognize that we have gambling now. Why such a bugaboo about people who follow gambling, where would you be without the race track.

Don Start, I'm not for or against, I've lived in Nevada. There are 26 churches in Fallon, a small town which has gambling. Red River and other resort areas will go after it, if we don't it will kill Ruidoso. I've yet to see a child in a casino, but they go to the race track here all the time, it that worse?

Ed Hlnean, I've been coming here for 12 years, spent 20 years in advertising and public relations. We don't have enough money to finance promotion, even to compete with Cloudercroft. I like Ruidoso like it is. We've got to have something for them (tourists) to do when they get here or they ain't coming back. We're being out-promoted on all sides.

Morales is working on vacant house breakins

Mayor Vernon Petty presided over the regular city council meeting held at the city hall last Tuesday night.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Minutes of a special meeting on December 29 with engineer Thomas Mann were read. At this meeting revised plans for the new airport were discussed and sent to the FAA for approval. Several council members met at a later day with the County Commissioners and an agreement was made, to let the town use county equipment in the construction of the airport, with the town paying for oil and gas and small repairs on the equipment.

Bills were read, motion made and carried to pay all bills with the exception of two.

Occupation license applications for Marion Pherigo's Auto Repair for 1964 and Sam's Welding Shop (by Sammy Stone-man), were approved by the council.

Some discussion on purchasing a trip trailer for the city leader, City Manager, Wayne Withers was appointed to get in contact with the State Survey office in Santa Fe first, and if no help is received there to get estimates from different business places to present at the next meeting.

Numerous break-ins of vacant and some occupied houses, were brought up by the council. City Marshal Morales stated that he is working on this increasing problem with the help of the Sheriff's Office and the State Police.

City Manager Withers reported that the painting of the fire plugs have been completed, the Christmas decorations have been removed and the water truck was brought up to date, with the exception of installing a new tank, which is being constructed by Al Seay.

A lengthy discussion on the gas franchise followed. The local Gas Company is now six months behind on the 2% tax the town is to receive from all gas sold within its limits. The Town Clerk was asked to write a letter to the company asking them to bring the delinquent account up to date. No further action was taken on the gas matter.

William J. Carson writes of "Billy the Kid"

Mr. Paul Payton Editor
Lincoln County News
Carrizozo, New Mexico

Dear Mr. Payton,

I noticed the article in the column "Ways of the West" in your paper suggesting a copy of the authentic "Life of Billy the Kid" for one's gift list. I also noticed that your article said, "One needs to read more than one 'Billy the Kid' book and then you will wonder about a lot of details." I have read the book you mentioned and it was quite good, however, it does leave one wondering about a lot of details. One of those details is, just what was "Billy the Kid's" real name? This prompted me to write you a little story concerning this question. I think those of your readers who are interested in "Billy the Kid" will find it enlightening.

One would think that after 83 years of books being put on the market, and extensive research done on this subject, Billy's real name would be common knowledge to those interested. This does not seem to be the case because the "Kid" is still referred to as William H. Bonney. The real fact is, no one has ever proven it! No one has ever offered any substantial evidence that would justify the name Bonney as being called authentic. There have been genealogy reports offered from time to time by those who wish to establish a relationship to this psychopathic outlaw, but the sad part of it is, if the name "Bonney" has not been proven to be the "Kid's" name, then what good are these reports?

There is some documented evidence available to the public which should help the reader form an opinion about just what Billy's name really was. Most of the documents are on deposit at the Lincoln museum. I will try and explain what bearing they have on this story.

First there is the marriage record. This shows us that Catherine McCarty married Mr. William Henry Harrison Antrim on March 1, 1873. With her were two sons, Henry McCarty and Josie McCarty, who appeared as witnesses. This name McCarty was recorded in the marriage log book by Rev. McFarland of the First Presbyterian Church Santa Fe, New Mexico. This marriage made Mr. Antrim stepfather to Henry McCarty, better known to the public as "Billy the Kid." It also gave him first hand knowledge of Catherine and her family.

Secondly, we have an application for an army pension by Mr. Antrim. In this pension application he is asked to give information concerning his wife's previous marriages. To this question he answers in his own handwriting, "My wife was married to McCarty who died in New York City. There was no other marriage or military service I know of."

I am sure that Mr. Antrim was in greater need of his pension than he was to make a false statement and not list a Bonney husband. This might have held up his pension.—no, I think he wrote what he knew. She was married to McCarty, no other marriage. He died in New York City, date unknown.

Now to leave Mr. Antrim for a moment, let me point out to the reader that Mr. Ash Upson wrote the book, "The Authentic Life of Billy the Kid" for Pat Garret. In this book he started the whole legend of "Billy the Kid" and the information we generally accept on his parentage. That is, that father Bonney came out west and died in the town of Coffeyville, Kansas in 1862. Surely Mr. Upson must have been mistaken! The town of Coffeyville did not exist until 1871. Until that time the only town in the area was an Osage Indian village called Possumtown!

My point here is, if Mr. Upson said a man who has never been proven to exist died in a town that wasn't even there — I'd say this story does need looking into! Neither point is, if Mr. William Antrim, who was "Billy the Kid's" own stepfather, did not know of "Billy's" mother being married to any William Bonney Sr., how could a man as far removed from the family as Ash Upson possibly know anything about it?

Now, if anyone seems to wonder about a lot of things pertaining to this legend, some of the evidence I have mentioned might help in clearing it up. I will leave it up to the reader to form his own opinion on how authentic the name "William H. Bonney", as pertaining to "Billy the Kid" really is! We can refer to documented evidence, or settle for a genealogy report in the form of a family tree. If the family tree goes back to a "William H. Bonney" then we must be able to relate him to Catherine and Henry McCarty, because if we can't, we have no "Billy the Kid," do we?

The documents I have referred to are finds of Mr. Phillip J. Rasch, author and researcher.

THAT'S A FACT

I have some of my own evidence deposited at the Lincoln Museum that shows a marriage to McCarty by Catherine, and a birth record for Henry. These are substantiated by documents. I make no claims concerning them. They stand on their own as a product of my research.

My goodness, if a Bonney can be proven in this story I will be the first to hail it. I think this nonsense has gone far enough. What the hell, I don't want to be related to "Billy the Kid." Sincerely, the Sid Goodloes sent to friends for Xmas. I feel honored to have received one. We enjoyed it, also the letter to Boby Hooker from Mrs. Louis Joke was a fine one. I hope others treasured it enough to clip it and keep for future reference, should they be feeling sorry for themselves one time or another. Charles and Eula Corley spent New Years in Lovington with Eula's relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Sparky Sparkman. I still like to think of the pretty Xmas decorated homes Margaret Rensch told us about in Capitan.
William J. Carson.

EDITORIAL

"A page for independent thought"

Before the shooting starts!

Can you picture in your mind several school board members of Lincoln County strapping on their shootin' irons, mounting old Red and heading off to war in the 1965 Lincoln County War? If one believed all the newspaper reports, and didn't mind practical politics, it would not be hard to believe that another shooting war was about ready to start.

Moving Capitan high school to Zozo and the Hondo high school to Ruidoso is enough to set people's blood boiling beyond the shooting point. Seriously, some of the worst area and district fights we've known were over school affairs. Brother fought brother, neighbor hated neighbor, even father and son fell out over affairs that were handled poorly from the beginning.

About education, we believe: That the time is fast approaching when available money will not stretch to cover the need and some unification will be necessary. Further, that an immediate necessity is testing to prove that education tax dollars are paying off in full. Further that existing facilities can be put to more thorough use by full-time, round-the-year program of teaching.

A move to take either Hondo or Capitan high school students out of their own home schools would be wrong, largely because of the distance involved. On the other hand some justification of the school tax districts in Lincoln County is overdue.

An orderly move toward unification should result in two things: Better education and saving of tax dollars. Schools are all tied up in politics in a way that is not good for education—we admire the Governor of New Mexico for exposing this political fire cracker to public criticism—and the best Lincoln County people can do is to become acquainted with educational needs... state wide... so as to help, instead of hurt, education in New Mexico.

Are you for, or against sin?

In this free-wheeling world it's hard to know what to be for and what to be against. Americans are being shot dead in the name of statesmanship or something. The right to run your own business your own way is being seriously challenged. Some people work, others live pretty well without working. Quite a few instances come to light of people being prominent in church, while robbing their neighbors blind.

In many other ways the world around us is changing. We now stay at home and watch TV instead of visiting our neighbors and having so many get-togethers. Responsibility, in the minds of many parents, for the upbringing of their children has been shifted from the home to school, necessary because both parents are working. Every modern convenience being manufactured (they are all wonderful) relieves us of doing something for ourselves. The trip that used to take a month, now is made in a half day.

Now there are committees and experts to tell you what to feed your dog, how to keep from getting bald, how much cropland to plant and the price you will receive, how to keep regular, the work (if you must) that best suits your personality, and if you happen to be a tradesman you know exactly the number of hours required to fill a work week.

That the fast pace of life in the 20th century is bringing about changes in the outlook people have on life in general seems beyond question. How much we have changed since grandfather's boyhood is subject to debate. In the first place there are more of us, more people all over the world, more mouths to feed, bodies to clothe, minds to educate, and the problem of keeping up with the expanding population could be making us lax in attention to some basic Christian ethics.

Wherever there's open gambling crime generally follows. We saw it in Kansas City, the State of Arkansas got it's belly full and shut down, the fight continues in other parts of the land.

In Lincoln County ready for open gambling, with prostitution, dope, and crime that usually follows? Our personal opinion is that the majority of Lincoln County citizens still think as individuals in spite of world progress—they won't want open gambling in Lincoln County.

Mrs. Papi Payton got a surprise Monday. The auditor's report for Fort Stanton TB Hospital lists her as one of the Board of Directors.

We enjoyed a visit with Sam Romero, back in Lincoln County to visit after a vacation in Europe and has now returned to his work in Ecuador. Sam's brother, Melvin, was thoughtful enough to phone and ask if it was OK for him to get married. Sam agreed, since he (Melvin) had not objected when Sam got married. Life in Ecuador is both good and interesting for the Romero family. The Peace Corps has made a fine reputation for the United States in this South American country. Living in Ecuador, in many ways, is like it was in this country 50 years ago but they are making marvelous progress in education of their people. Sam said, "I speak their language (not Lincoln Co. Spanish which has a lot of English mixed in) and go to their church. I don't have any problem getting along with them." Being Sam Romero probably helps, too.

Courtesy of Kathleen O'Donnell we have read "Upon This Rock" a novel of Simon Peter by Frank Slaughter. This is an especially good book for people who are not serious Bible students, maybe even better for those who know the Bible front to rear. The most striking message we got from the book is that all of the problems of Jesus' time are still with us. The Nazarenes tried a community property and food plan, it didn't work well at all. Some of Jesus' most staunch supporters were still hoping, at the time of his crucifixion that he would be a God of war—we still have many such people. The early church was no more together in its interpretation of God's will than are churches of this day and age. The children in your family might find this book good reading and we recommend it.

On the subject of books—recently we read an article by a book publisher who said that only about one of every thousand books published... should be. That good books are frequently crowded off book store shelves by inferior books which happen to be new. A book club is not too good a course of reading material either, unless you are wanting to fill your shelves instead of read.

Molybdenum Corp. spending millions at Questa mine and more to come

From Santa Fe New Mexican
QUESTA — The Molybdenum Corp. of America has spent about $12.5 million at its Questa mine in the last few years, most of it in the past two years, and expects to spend another $23.5 million in the next two years.

That was the report of Joseph C. Bennett, vice president and secretary of the corporation, during one of his periodic inspection trips to the mine from New York City.

"Up until now," said Bennett, "money spent at the Questa mine has been used to carry on an exploration and development program, underground tunneling, erection of a bulk sampling plant, a pilot mill and in pre-production stripping to prepare the mine for open-pit operation."

He said the pilot mill, having served its purpose, is now being torn down but that pre-production stripping (preparing ore benches for mining — and removing the over — burden) is still continuing. This work is being done by Western Engineering.

Bennett said that the design for the new mill has been completed by the Western Knapp and that initial construction has begun.

He said the mill should be completed early in the fourth quarter of 1965 and that full production should be reached by the end of the year. The mill will then be geared to process 8,000 tons of ore per day.

In addition to the mill, the engineering firm will also construct on the mine property a shop for maintenance and repair of mining equipment, a heavy duty machine shop, an electrical shop, warehouse facilities and office buildings.

A plant for electric power generation will be constructed near the mill building and will supply the entire power requirements of the operation.

Natural gas, to be supplied by Southern Union Gas Company, will be the primary fuel. Bennett, too has been vice president of MCA since last October 9 and secretary of the Company since November 1964. He is also vice president of the International Mining Corporation, chief engineer for Bol-Inca Mining Corporation in 1961 and an engineer for Meriden Iron Company in 1960.

He has a mine engineering degree from Stanford University.

President William R. Kuntz, who also visited the mine property during the past week, has served in that capacity since November 1963, had been executive vice president from September 1962 and was formerly an executive employee of the company.

Bennett said that the plans for the Questa mine represent the company's largest single investment since the firm was organized.

It is being financed through a $20 million loan from two banks — Bankers Trust of New York and Mellon National Bank and Trust of Pittsburgh, Pa., and through the issuance of approximately $12½ million of subordinated debentures and common stock underwritten by White, Weld and Company of New York.

"We are very enthusiastic about this new venture," said Bennett, on behalf of the Company and its president, William R. Kuntz of New York City, another recent visitor to the Questa property.

"We think it will contribute substantially to the growth of our company. We estimate that we will operate the open pit alone for the next eight to 10 years, minimum, in addition to the mine's underground potential."

When operating at capacity the open pit will require a work force of 300 men, including mine and mill workers and administration personnel.

The mine's holdings lie on the western slope of the Taos Range of the Sangre de Cristo mountains at elevations ranging from about 7,000 feet to over 10,000 feet above sea level.

They include 27 patented and

845 unpatented mining and mill site claims consisting of approximately 14,300 acres in the general area of the mine, the mill site of 74 acres and an area of 439 acres under contract with the State of New Mexico for the impounding of mill tailings.

All of the claims overlying the area of the Company's proposed open pit mine are patented. The company has also purchased approximately 1,250 acres in the Questa area for the purpose of obtaining water rights and has purchased or holds under option approximately 480 acres to provide space for housing the Company's employees and their families.

The pit, itself, roughly circular in shape, will have an average diameter of about 1,600 feet and an average depth of about 500 feet.

Once the Questa mine is put into production, it will provide the company with a completely integrated operation from raw material to finished product. The company now purchases the ore from the Kennecott Copper Corp., averaging 11 million pounds annually.

Manufacturing operations are conducted by MCA at plants located at Washington and York Pa., and at Cleveland, Ohio.

The Washington plant is the largest and has been operated by the Company since 1920. Molybdenum, tungsten and columbium ore concentrates and boron materials are refined at this plant into molybdenum oxide, ferro-molybdenum, ferro-tungsten and other alloys.

Tungsten powder is produced from tungsten oxide manufactured at the York plant.

Rare earth salts and compounds are produced from rare earth concentrates and oxides from the Company's mine at Mountain Pass, Calif.

The Cleveland plant is operated by Cleveland Tungsten, Inc., and is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the company.

There has been a considerable exodus of people from Carrizozo during the past year and since the discovery of Xinguano (pronounced Shin-goo-anus) the loss is expected to continue through the New Year at hand. Day begins for the Xinguano villagers with a leisurely stroll to the lake for a community bath.

Then everyone dresses — beaded necklaces for the women, hawk waistbands, fishbone necklaces, and a smearing of red berry juice for the men, and nothing else — then they have breakfast. The rest of the day is not so tough either. Xingu is a national park deep in the jungle of Brazil.

The world's leading acoustical experts made the test.
The U. S. Auto Club certified the results:
at 20 mph... at 40 mph... at 60 mph...

The 1965 Ford rides quieter than a Rolls-Royce!

...and now let's talk about some other Ford surprises...

Test-drive a Ford—and you're in for some surprises. Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which 1965 Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, XL and LTD Hardtop) with 289-cu. in. V-8 engines rode quieter than a Rolls-Royce. Those tests were certified by the U. S. Auto Club.

When you feel a 1965 Ford in action—with the strongest Ford body ever... a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" vibration... new ultratuff coil spring suspension—you're bound to be impressed. But the ride is only one of Ford's surprises...

Handy new "reversible" ignition key—works either side up.

Hot, but hushed, 289-cu. in. V-8 is standard equipment in XL and LTD models. Smooth, thrifty all-new Bix Six in other models—the most powerful standard Six offered by any car in Ford's class. V-8 options to 425 hp.

All Ford automatic transmissions have three speeds, not two as in some competing cars. Result: you pass faster, shift smoother, save on gas. "A page for independent thought"

Before the shooting starts!

Can you picture in your mind several school board members of Lincoln County strapping on their shootin' irons, mounting old Red and heading off to war in the 1965 Lincoln County War. If one believed all the newspaper reports, and didn't mind practical politics, it would not be hard to believe that another shooting war was about ready to start.

Moving Capitan high school to Zozo and the Honda high school to Ruidoso is enough to set people's blood boiling beyond the shooting point. Seriously, some of the worst areas and district fights we've known were over school affairs. Brother fought brother, neighbor hated neighbor, even father and son fell out over affairs that were handled poorly from the beginning.

About education, we believe: That the time is fast approaching when available money will not stretch to cover the need and some unification will be necessary. Further, that an immediate necessity is testing to prove that education tax dollars are paying off in full. Further that existing facilities can be put to more thorough use by full-time, round-the-year program of teaching.

A move to take either Hondo or Capitan high school students out of their own home schools would be wrong, largely because of the distance involved. On the other hand some justification of the school tax districts in Lincoln County is overdue.

An orderly move toward unification should result in two things: Better education and saving of tax dollars. Schools are all tied up in politics in a way that is not good for education—we admire the Governor of New Mexico for exposing this political fire cracker to public criticism — and the best Lincoln County people can do is to become acquainted with educational needs . . . state wide . . . so as to help, instead of hurt, education in New Mexico.

Are you for, or against sin?

In this free-wheeling world it's hard to know what to be for . . . and what to be against. Americans are being shot dead in the name of statesmanship or something. The right to run your own business your own way is being seriously challenged. Some people work, others live pretty well without working. Quite a few instances come to light of people being prominent in church, while robbing their neighbors blind.

In many other ways the world around us is changing. We now stay at home and watch TV instead of visiting our neighbors and having so many get-togethers. Responsibility, in the minds of many parents, for the upbringing of their children has been shifted from the home to school, necessary because both parents are working. Every modern convenience being manufactured (they are all wonderful) relieve us of doing something for ourselves. The trip that used to take a month, now is made in a half day.

Now there are committees and experts to tell you what to feed your dog, how to keep from getting bald, how much cropland to plant and the price you will receive, how to keep regular, the work (if you must) that best suits your personality, and if you happen to be a tradesman you know exactly the number of hours required to fill a work week.

That the fast pace of life in the 20th century is bringing about changes in the outlook people have on life in general seems beyond question. How much we have changed since grandfather's boyhood is subject to debate. In the first place there are more of us, more people all over the world, more mouths to feed, bodies to clothe, minds to educate, and the problem of keeping up with the expanding population could be making us lax in attention to some basic Christian ethics.

Wherever there's open gambling crime generally follows. We saw it in Kansas City, the State of Arkansas got it's belly full and shut down, the fight continues in other parts of the land.

Is Lincoln County ready for open gambling, with prostitution, dope, and crime that usually follows? Our personal opinion is that the majority of Lincoln County citizens still think as individuals in spite of world progress — they won't want open gambling in Lincoln County.

Mrs. Paul Payton got a surprise Monday. The auditor's report for Fort Stanton TB Hospital lists her as one of the Board of Directors.

We enjoyed a visit with Sam Romero, back in Lincoln County to visit after a vacation in Europe and has now returned to his work in Ecuador. Sam's brother, Melvin, was thoughtful enough to phone and ask if it was OK for him to get married. Sam agreed, since he (Melvin) had not objected when Sam got married. Life in Ecuador is both good and interesting for the Romero family. The Peace Corps has made a fine reputation for the United States in this South American country. Living in Ecuador, in many ways, is like it was in this country 50 years ago but they are making marvelous progress in education of their people. Sam said, "I speak their language (not Lincoln Co. Spanish which has a lot of English mixed in) and go to their church. I don't have any problem getting along with them." Being Sam Romero probably helps, too.

Courtesy of Kathleen O'Donnell we have read "Upon This Rock" a novel of Simon Peter by Frank Slaughter. This is an especially good book for people who are not serious Bible students, maybe even better for those who know the Bible front to rear. The most striking message we got from the book is that all of the problems of Jesus' time are still with us. The Nazarenes tried a community property and food plan, it didn't work well at all. Some of Jesus' most staunch supporters were still hoping, at the time of his crucifixion that he would be a God of war — we still have many such people. The early church was no more together in its interpretation of God's will than are churches of this day and age. The children in your family might find this book good reading and we recommend it.

On the subject of books — recently we read an article by a book publisher who said that only about one of every thousand books published . . . should be. That good books are frequently crowded off book store shelves by inferior books which happen to be new. A book club is not too good a source of reading material either, unless you are wanting to fill your shelves instead of read.

This message from a poster on our wall should be published at least once a year: "The world is coming to an end. If you owe me, please pay me now so I won't have to hunt all over hell for you. Then I can pay my bills" — Shorty.

Molybdenum Corp. spending millions at Questa mine and more to come

From Santa Fe New Mexican QUESTA — The Molybdenum Corp. of America has spent about $12.5 million at its Questa mine in the last few years, most of it in the past two years, and expects to spend another $23.5 million in the next two years.

That was the report of Joseph C. Bennett, vice president and secretary of the corporation, during one of his periodic inspection trips to the mine from New York City.

"Up until now," said Bennett, "money spent at the Questa mine has been used to carry on an exploration and development program, underground tunneling, erection of a bulk sampling plant, a pilot mill and in pre-production stripping to prepare the mine for open-pit operation."

He said the pilot mill, having served its purpose, is now being torn down but that pre-production stripping (preparing ore benches for mining — and removing the overburden) is still continuing. This work is being done by Western Engineering.

Bennett said that the design for the new mill has been completed by the Western Knapp and that initial construction has begun.

He said the mill should be completed early in the fourth quarter of 1965 and that full production should be reached by the end of the year. The mill will then be geared to process 8,000 tons of ore per day.

In addition to the mill, the engineering firm will also construct on the mine property a shop for maintenance and repair of mining equipment, a heavy duty machine shop, an electrical shop, warehouse facilities and office building.

A plant for electric power generation will be constructed near the mill building and will supply the entire power requirements of the operation.

Natural gas to be supplied by Southern Union Gas Company, will be the primary fuel.

Bennett, too has been vice president of MCA since last October 9 and secretary of the Company since November 1964. He is also vice president of the International Mining Corporation, chief engineer for Bol-Inca Mining Corporation in 1961 and an engineer for Meriden Iron Company in 1960.

He has a mine engineering degree from Stanford University.

President William R. Kuntz, who also visited the mine property during the past week, has served in that capacity since November 1963, had been executive vice president from September 1962 and was formerly an executive employee of the company.

Bennett said that the plans for the Questa mine represent the company's largest single investment since the firm was organized.

It is being financed through a $20 million loan from two banks — Bankers Trust of New York and Mellon National Bank and Trust of Pittsburgh, Pa., and through the issuance of approximately $12½ million of subordinated debentures and common stock underwritten by White, Wald and Company of New York.

"We are very enthusiastic about this new venture," said Bennett, on behalf of the Company and its president, William R. Kuntz of New York City, another recent visitor to the Questa property.

"We think it will contribute substantially to the growth of our company. We estimate that we will operate the open pit alone for the next eight to 10 years, minimum, in addition to the mine's underground potential."

When operating at capacity the open pit will require a work force of 300 men, including mine and mill workers and administration personnel.

The mine's holdings lie on the western slope of the Taos Range at elevations ranging from about 7,000 feet to over 10,000 feet above sea level.

They include 27 patented and

845 unpatented mining and mill site claims consisting of approximately 14,300 acres in the general area of the mine, the mill site of 74 acres and an area of 439 acres under contract with the State of New Mexico for the impounding of mill tailings.

All of the claims overlying the area of the Company's proposed open pit mine are patented. The company has also purchased approximately 1,250 acres in the Questa area for the purpose of obtaining water rights and has purchased or holds under option approximately 480 acres to provide space for housing the Company's employees and their families.

The pit, itself, roughly circular in shape, will have an average diameter of about 1,600 feet and an average depth of about 500 feet.

Once the Questa mine is put into production, it will provide the company with a completely integrated operation from raw material to finished product. The company now purchases the ore from the Kennecott Copper Corp., averaging 11 million pounds annually.

Manufacturing operations are conducted by MCA at plants located at Washington and York Pa., and at Cleveland, Ohio. The Washington plant is the largest and has been operated by the Company since 1920. Molybdenum, tungsten and columbium ore concentrates and boron materials are refined at this plant into molybdenum oxide, ferro molybdenum, ferro tungsten and other alloys.

Tungsten powder is produced from tungsten oxide manufactured at the York plant.

Rare earth salts and compounds are produced from rare earth concentrates and oxides from the Company's mine at Mountain Pass, Calif.

The Cleveland plant is operated by Cleveland Tungsten, Inc., and is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the company.

Dear Mr. Payton:
Enclosed please find check for $4.25 to renew our subscription to the Lincoln County News for another year. We really can not afford the paper but we are so anxious to have contact with our friends in that area and the paper is one way to keep in touch.

If you will please publish this note, I would like to thank everyone for remembering us at Christmas with cards. They meant so much.

Brownie is still in a nursing home and I am sorry to report that he is not doing at all well.

I have part time work and that along with frequent trips to see Brownie keep me busy.

With best wishes to everyone for good health and happiness for 1965.

The 1965 Ford rides quieter than a Rolls-Royce!

Test-drive a Ford—and you're in for some surprises. Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which 1965 Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, XL and LTD Hardtop) with 289-cu. in. V-8 engines rode quieter than a Rolls-Royce. These tests were certified by the U. S. Auto Club.

When you feel a 1965 Ford in action—with the strongest Ford body ever . . . a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" vibration . . . new ultrastiff coil spring suspension—you're bound to be impressed. But the ride is only one of Ford's surprises . . .

- New swept-back instrument panel adds five inches extra knee room. ■ Transmission tunnel is lower for extra foot room. ■ Trunk has more space than ever—holds four 2-suiters standing upright.
- Heavy new "terrific" ignition key—works either side up.

Hot, but hushed, 289-cu. in. V-8 is standard equipment in XL and LTD models. ■ Smooth, thrifty all-new Bix Six in other models—the most powerful standard Six offered by any car in Ford's class. ■ V-8 options to 425 hp.

Apple marketing will be discussed at the Fruit Growers meeting to be held at the Hon-do school agriculture building on January 12 starting at 7:30 p.m. All fruitgrowers are urged to attend and bring their ideas on what needs to be done to improve the apple market.

It's pruning time and I guess the growers are thinking the same thing as several have stopped by the office to get pruning bulletins.

Look for an article on 4-H member of the month in your paper. This is something new being tried by the 4-H members.

If you are planning on getting peach trees this spring, consider Red Haven or Baritan Rose. These two varieties were proved the most frost resistant of 56 varieties in 20 years of tests at N. M. State University Ag Experiment Station near Las Cruces.

For your own protection have your pets vaccinated at the rabies clinics to be held in Lincoln County within the next 45 days. Watch your local paper for more particulars.

Corona 4-H Jewels are baking muffins

Corona 4-H Jewels had their annual meeting December 16. The first-year group is starting baking and will make muffins and cookies. The second-year group is starting sewing and they will make pillow cases.

Our president is Carol Lynn Davidson, vice president is Connie Sultemeier, secretary is Jacquie Sue Davidson, treasurer is Gloria Luterus and reporter is Mona Cape. Our leaders are Mrs. Ernest Sultemeier and Mrs. John D. Holleyman. The 4-H members and their leaders of Corona would like to wish each and everyone a very happy new year.

"Just for Fun"

A jazz band from New York was playing in a Louisiana night club. One day, two members of the group went fishing in the swamps. They were in water up to their hips when one suddenly yelled, "Hey, man, an alligator just bit off my leg!" The other asked, "Which one?" "How would I know? All these alligators look alike to me!"

Two drunks were staggering home. "Say," mumbled the first, "do you know what time it is?" "Yeah," answered the second. "Thanksh," replied the first.

Virgil's Garage caught fire about 1:00 p.m. as they were changing oil in a Jeep. The phone wires burned and his chemical fire extinguisher would not work so he took his car to get the fire truck and turn in the fire alarm.

The back room was damaged through the roof, a fire burned, and flames were leaping in the front part, but his skill gave him knowledge to do the right thing, beginning in front to extinguish the flames.

Soon help arrived and the fire was brought under control. The building was open, plenty damage was done, but luckily no one was burned.

The damage can be repaired. There was no insurance. But much to be thankful for. How grateful we are for our fire truck and efficient department and firemen.
