Christ was crowned with thorns here. Chapel altar on site where Jesus was condemned. Archway denotes location of flagellation.

Setting above described in Book of Matthew

THE LONG AND SHORT
By Kit Carson

From the cold dreary Jerusalem street, the guide stepped up and triggered the ancient type hatch of a "Jesus" book placed beneath a street awning, defined as Ecce Homo (Behold the Man), which is the Second Station Via Dolorosa. This arch is readily distinguishable from one of like construction a short distance away, Station One, as the surface is covered, and has two windows.

The Ecce Homo was erected by Hadrian in 132 A. D. when he rebuilt the city of Jerusalem as a pagan center, and named it Aelia Capitolina. It was an eastern gate to the palace grounds.

We stepped inside to a space 455 feet by 325 feet, which was once the great Antonia Fortress, where Pontius Pilot passed condemnation upon Christ. Part of the ancient perimeter is included in today's Chapel of the Convent de Dame de Sion, which is over 100 years old.

We stood on the surface where Jesus was condemned and commenced to carry the cross.

A pious Sister of the Franciscans had met us at the door, and conducted us through the solemn bounds, with clear kind words of explanation that sounded with an apologetic tone for the sins of the world.

The morning air was quiet inside, and inviting to meditation and prayer. We stood on a sacred site.

The Franciscan Sister escorted us through the Chapel of the Flagellation and the Basilica of the Ecce Homo. She led us over the ancient street stones, laying just as they had at the time of Christ's trial. During that period, the Roman soldiers were quartered near this spot; and the area was the hub of the forces of the Fortress.

Here Pilate washed his hands, released Barabbas, and turned Jesus over to be crucified with the words "Behold the Man (Ecce Homo)!"

The accompanying photo graphs which I shot that cold February day, mark the setting as described in the 27th chapter of the Book of Matthew:

When Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person; see ye to it.

Then answered all the people, and said, His blood be on us, and on our children.

Then released he Barabbas unto them; and when he had scourged Jesus, he delivered Him to be crucified.

Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the common hall, and gathered unto Him the whole band of soldiers.

And they stripped Him, and put on Him a scarlet robe.

And when they had plaited a crown of thorns, they put it upon His head, and a reed in His right hand; and they bowed the knee before Him, and mocked Him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews!

And they spit upon Him, and took the reed, and smote Him on the head.

And after they had mocked Him, they took the robe off Him, and put his own raiment on Him, and led Him away to crucify Him.

The parade starts at 10:00 a.m. in T or C. This will be the first outing for the Zozo band in their new uniforms. Band members will wear them to T or C and change to street clothes after the parade. Miss Patty Flynn is the drum major, the band is directed by Mr. Arnold Boyce.

Band members will be on their own, each supplied with $1.00 for spending money checked by the band booster club, for transportation and will spend the night sleeping at the school. The band is headed by Coach Boyce.

Rodeo Association solicits members

The Lincoln County Rodeo Association is getting ready for Spring and Summer activity and one of the first things necessary is to get the membership list up to full quota.

The membership fee is $10, many cards and letters have been mailed out, and any wanting to help this association with its work will sure be welcome, especially the ten bucks which you can leave at the bank and get your membership card.

There is a lot of work to be done at the arena and grounds which will start right away. A dance has been scheduled at the Nike Hall Saturday, April three which will feature the Rainbow Ramblers and help the Rodeo Association with its finances.

INSIDE THE CAPITOL — By Will Harrison

Small ripple stirred over Washington trip

SANTA FE — Rep. Bobby Mayfield's trip to Washington to inquire about his prospects for Demo nomination for governor in 1966 didn't stir much of a ripple in the political pool.

The Dona Ana legislator is not politically popular and he's only a short time removed from the debacle of the Revenue Structure Study Committee which he headed.

That was the $50,000 committee that operated in secret and set off an uproar in the 1962 campaign when it refused to open its records. The legislature a few months later rejected all the committee proposals and killed the committee.

CAMPBELL LIKES DONA ANA MEMBER

Mayfield has become a good legislator and he enjoys the confidence and admiration of Gov. Jack Campbell.

If Campbell should back him for governor it would make him a serious candidate but one still far short of the political pull of some of the other aspirants.

Mayfield is also looked upon as a candidate for speaker of the house.

PENSION BENEFITS FOR 26 SENATORS

The legislators' and lieutenant governors' pension bill passed in the last hours of the legislature provides benefits for 53 of the present members of the body ranging from $750 a year to $2,200.

They would increase at the rate of $125 a year for time served after 1965.

Twenty six of the 22 senators qualify for pensions under the bill and 27 of the 77 representatives.

THREE QUALIFY AT $2200 RATE

Here's how the legislators will fare under the law.

$2,250 a year — Sens. Gordon Melody, Pecos Carr, Bill Wheatley.

$2,000 a year — Sens. Tibo Chavez, Henry Nager, Ike Smalley and Lt. Gov. Mack Easley.

$1,750 a year — Sens. Louis Page, Earl Parlier, Ike Morgan, and Rep. Bob Martin.

$1,500 a year — Sen. Mat Chacon and Reps. Fred Foster, Albert Amador.

$1,200 a year — Sens. Bill Gallagher, Buddy Wamsel, Jim Patton, and Reps. George Blocker, Larry Goodell.

$1,000 a year — Sens. Ed Mead, Ed Dwyer, Al Meador and Reps. I. W. Walker, Mike White, Greeney, Bruce King, John Morrison, Alva Pappas, John Scott, Charles Harris, Bruce Allen, Chief Gonzales.

22 HAVE EARNED $750 A YEAR

There are 22 who will have six years service at the end of 1965 and earned pension of $750 a year.

They are Sens. Don Hathaway, Floyd Santhreman, Joe Skeen, Fernnd Toles, Fincher Neal, Cirillo Maestas, Albert Greer, Sterling Black, George Amaya, Harold Runnels.

PAY $100 A YEAR TAKE OUT $125

The annual pension benefits for legislators and lieutenant governors who served at any time since the first of 1961 are $125 times the years of service.

The contribution required of them is $100 a year for service after the first of 1961 and five per cent of what they were paid for service prior to 1961.

A legislator with 12 years or more service may retire and claim his pension at age 65. It takes five years to qualify for any pension.

Legislators who's service was all prior to 1961 may retire at an annual rate of $40 times the years in service.

FORMER MEMBERS ALSO IN LIST

Among former legislators with earned pension benefits are Dr. M. S. Smith of Clovis $2,000, Bill Culbertson of San Miguel $1,750, Morgan Nelson of Roswell $1,500, Fabian Chavez of Santa Fe $1,250.

Gov. Jack Campbell, Simon Bustamante of Las Vegas, and Mayo Boucher of Belen $1,000.

With earned benefits of $750 a year are Helen Wells of Torrance, Travis Brem of Deming, Harry Allen of Farmington, Ed Marchant of Albuquerque, Lon Shurbet of Harding, J. B. McCoy of Albuquerque, Morris Dickinson of Tucuman, David Montoya of Las Vegas.

VOTERS MUST ACT ON PAY INCREASE

Under the new plan a member could come to the legislature, serve six years, pay in $900 and draw $750 a year for life after 65.

He could serve 12 years, pay in $1,200 and draw $1,500 a year for life after age 65.

Legislators also voted themselves $2,200 a year in addition to the $20 a day they presently receive, but this one will have to be approved by the people at a special election in September.

Hondo baseball team not at home in new uniforms - lose to Lake R

The Hondo baseball team got to try out their new uniforms Tuesday afternoon when they met Lake Arthur at Hondo. The Lake Arthur team defeated our boys but they will be looking for revenge this Thursday in a return bout in Lake Arthur. Injuries to the Hondo team are going to take away several players. Eddie Montes and Gilbert Montes are both "hobbling" around on crutches suffering from broken ankles and Sonny Sanchez has a sprained wrist.

The game was sponsored by the "H" Club. Referees were Mr. McTeigue and Harold Radcliff. Thursday night the faculty of Hondo enjoyed a covered dish supper at the school. The men hadn't gotten enough exercise so they challenged the women to a volleyball game. I guess they weren't as winded as everyone expected because they had little trouble in defeating the women. Everyone enjoyed the social and the exercise.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pfingsten made flying trips to El Paso and Albuquerque the past week. Mrs. Frank Titworth went to Alamogordo Saturday for a short visit. She returned home Sunday afternoon.

Dr. H. R. Stucky

New Mexico best for water study

UNIVERSITY PARK, N. M. — New Mexico is among the best water research laboratories in the world.

Dr. H. R. Stucky, head of the new statewide Water Resources Research Institute headquarters at New Mexico State University, offers this view with little fear of contradiction. He explains:

"We have almost every problem water engineers and scientists are working on anywhere. If New Mexico leads when it comes to counting problems, it's also among the first to do something about them.

The new research institute is among the first 14 in the U. S. to be financed under recent federal legislation sponsored by U. S. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico.

When funds are available, all 50 states eventually will have similar institutes for a nationwide assault on staggering water problems.

"This state is a pioneer in such varied fields as water law, reclamation, and saline water conversion studies," Dr. Stucky notes. "Our people also place a high value on research—they believe in it and support it."

New Mexico State organized a campus-wide institute two years ago to coordinate existing water research. It was then carrying on 32 research projects in 10 departments among three of NMSU's six academic colleges.

FARM NEWS

By County Agent Ralph Dunlap

Order your fertilizer supplies now. Although the supply is ample, there may be a shortage of certain favored materials at times. Store your fertilizer in a dry place, off concrete or dirt floors and keep away from livestock.

Wool was offered in the Roswell area last week. The prices offered ranged from 34 to 50 cents with most prices between 40 and 45 cents. E. J. Whitaker received 46 1/2 cents for his wool and R. C. Nunez received 46 1/2.

The Horsemen's Clinic on the NMSU campus will be held April 3 starting at 8:15 a.m.

At the morning session in the auditorium of the Agriculture Building, Warren Shoemaker will tell how to select a mount, giving consideration to matching the abilities of rider and horse to age, temperament and soundness.

In the afternoon session he will give an illustrated discussion at the Aggie Rodeo Arena on Quarter Horse conformation, using several horses to show the desirable and undesirable characteristics.

Registration will begin at 7:30 a.m. at the registration desk at the entrance of the Agriculture Building auditorium. The speaking program will start at 8:15. The afternoon session will start at 1:00 p.m. A barbecue beef lunch will be served by NMSU's Block and Bridle Club in the Judging Pavilion at noon. Other topics for the clinic include development of breeds, founder and colic, nutrition, basic horsemanship and showing in performance and halter classes.

The clinic is sponsored by the New Mexico Quarter Horse Association, and NMSU's Cooperative Extension Service.

One of the secrets of a successful garden is a well-prepared soil and sufficient organic matter is one of the essential requirements.

This will improve the structure and make it possible for the soil to hold more moisture and allow for better aeration and root development.

There are several forms of organic matter that can be used in the spring at soil penetration time. Probably the most popular are manure, compost and peat. Apply about 4 bushels of one of these to 100 square feet of area. This material should be spaded or plowed into the soil and mixed thoroughly with it early in the spring.

In addition to the application of organic matter, it is generally advisable to apply some commercial fertilizer each spring. About 3 to 4 pounds of complete fertilizer per 100 square feet of area is usually sufficient. This should be worked into the soil to a depth of 1 or 2 inches after plowing or spading.

Don't work the garden soil when wet. Wait until it is dry enough so it will not stick to shoes or implements. A good test is to compress a small amount of soil in the hand. If it is not sticky, it will crumble when you release the pressure. If it is too wet to work it will stick together in a ball. Packed soil is undesirable for good root development. Don't rake the seedbed too much.

Herman McKibben, County ASCS Manager, told me that the wool incentive would be 15.5 percent on wool and 35 cents per 100 pounds of lamb. This is an incentive to bring the average wool industry price to 62 cents per grease pound of wool.

Irrigation water interests farmers

As another irrigation season rapidly approaches, farmers cooperating with the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District are interested in the answers to several questions concerning application of irrigation water.

Many of the older irrigation systems in Lincoln County are poorly adapted to soils and topography. Intake rates and water holding capacities of the soils often were not known before these fields were laid out for irrigation.

The Soil Conservation Service of the United States Department of Agriculture is equipped to perform irrigation evaluations in the field during the irrigation. The results of these field evaluations will help farmers attain greater efficiency in irrigation.

The evaluation will determine if an irrigation is needed and, if so, the soil moisture deficiency at the time of irrigation. The technician will determine the amount of water being applied, the rate of its application and how uniformly the applied water is spread over the field. The amount of water infiltrated into the soil will also be determined, as will the field application efficiency.

A high efficiency does not always mean a good irrigation. The water applied may not have been distributed evenly over the field. On the other hand a low field efficiency usually means a poor utilization of water resources and indicates a need for a careful appraisal of water management practices being employed. Sometimes simple adjustments, such as size of stream or time of application can increase efficiency substantially. Following a field evaluation the technician will be able to offer recommendations of needed adjustments.

Excessive irrigation wastes not only water, it also leaches water-soluble nutrients beyond the plants reach. Better crops and a more plentiful irrigation water supply can be accretained by proper management of irrigation water in Lincoln County.

Farmers within the Upper Hondo Soil Conservation District may request irrigation evaluations on their farms by contacting the Soil Conservation Service in Captain.

Otto Lasiter is in the Carrizozo hospital and Roger Lasiter is at home with a bad cold. However, fewer people seem to be having colds, so perhaps the worst of the flu and cold season is over.

Leaves are coming out on trees — grass, perennial shrubs and plants are beginning to grow. Now, if we could have some moisture, things would really come to life.

J. G. (Red) Ramey is in an El Paso hospital. He has been having serious eye trouble. We haven't heard anything more in the last few days so we're hoping his condition has improved.

Mrs. Wright is feeling much better. She was in Roswell for two or three days last week.

We were pleased to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lawrence of St. Charles, Miss., have a son, born March 14. His name is David Patrick, and he weighed six pounds eight ounces. His mother says his hair is reddish and they think his eyes will be brown. I'm sure his parents are very proud of him. Mrs. Lawrence rence will be remembered as Ruth Joiner of Hondo. Mrs. Joiner has gone to see her new grandson.

I was pleased to see Mrs. Maggie Bell up and about again after having undergone extensive surgery. I'm sure her will power has been a great factor in her rapid convalescence.

Tommy and Sadie Mann were through Lincoln last Friday evening on their way to Virginia where they will be for three months (in the service) and then will be sent to Ft. Ord, Calif. They visited us and we thoroughly enjoyed it. Tommy received his masters degree in civil engineering at NMSU recently.

Mrs. E. T. Aldaz, who is in the Ruidoso Hospital, is getting along wonderfully. She was operated on last week. She should be able to come home soon.

The Dan Gomez and Tommy Aldaz families are working hard putting in lawns around their houses. There has been a lot of work done, and more is being done on the Rosalie Marquez place below town. Now belonging to the Perrys. One thing I like is the way they have fixed the well curbing. It's quite attractive. Mr. and Mrs. Flores are renting the place and are improving it.

The Nethaways were up on top of the Capitans Sunday and said there was a foot (and some places more) of snow up there. The beautiful pine, spruce and fir trees were showing the need for moisture last year. This will help.

Mrs. Freeman has been enjoying her stay at her ranch home, and has been putting in a lawn around their new home. It is gratifying to see how much they enjoy their home up in the mountain country.

Mrs. Bob Gode who has been with her parents during her mother's illness is at home now. Just heard that Red Ramey is expected home right away. He is better, but a complete diagnosis of his eye trouble has not been made.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gomez and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sanchez went to Questa this weekend to visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Gomez. John has been ill in a Questa hospital. They say he is doing much better now.

Mrs. Cruxita Chavez, a long time San Patricio resident passed away March 19 on St. Joseph's day at Ruidoso hospital.

Funeral services were Saturday, March 20 at 10:00 a.m. at San Patricio Catholic Church with Father La Brache officiating. She is survived by her husband Manford Chavez and a son, Gabriel Chavez, both of San Patricio. She had a nephew and several nieces in Las Cruces who were present at her funeral.

Casket bearers were Benjamin Herrera, Edward Candelaria, Sofio Sanchez, Max Sanchez, Frank Gomez, Hilario Gomez,

FHA presents fashion show

A WONDERLAND OF FASHION ushers in the spring showing of garments made by Carrizozo home economics students during the present school year. Many of the garments will have been made in classes, others will have been made at home as home experiences for which semester credit is given. Garments will be modeled by eighth graders, all of the high school classes, and some of the adults who were enrolled in the fall clothing construction class. It is expected that some sixty garments of several different types will be modeled. Among these are cotton school dresses, sports outfits, woolen jumpers, dresses, suits, brocade party dresses, some dresses and suits of the new cotton suede, and some garments with accessories also made by the model. This annual fashion show is sponsored by the Carrizozo Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America.

This year several skits as "between scene" entertainment will be presented by FHA members. The showing of "A Wonderland of Fashion" will be held in the cafeteria in the new school building at 7:30, April 6. This is a project to help the community become acquainted with some of the work done by home economics classes and everyone is invited to attend. There will be a small admission charge to help defray expenses.

Home Economic class has play school for pre-school children in new building

The Home Economics I class of Carrizozo High School recently held a play school in their rooms in the new school building. Pre-school children attending were Chris and Priscilla Zamora, Art Helms, Mitch Caldwell, Joye Dee Simpson, Sheryl Rickerson and Ricky White. The children came to school three days during the regular class period. Home Economics students divided into groups, with some leading the children in games, songs, finger painting, playing with clay, and story telling, while others kept written observation records. Refreshments were served each day of the play school. The purpose of holding such a play school is to give home economics students a first-hand opportunity to work and play with children after they have been studying the developmental characteristics of each pre-school age group. This is the culminating experience of eight weeks of study in child development. The children seemed to enjoy the play school very much. The spacious new rooms gave them ample room to run and play, some of them with complete abandon. The students proved in their evaluative discussions following the play school that they had observed in actual operation principles which have been studied previously, and that they now understand them much better. Left to right: Linda Simpson, Sheryl Rickerson, Joye Dee Simpson, Priscilla Zamora (back to camera), and Mary Ann Lucero.

Noted New Mexico husband and wife team have exhibition at NM museum

One of America's best-known husband and wife artist teams will have a joint exhibition of their paintings in the Museum of New Mexico's Fine Arts Building in Santa Fe soon, Museum director Dr. Delmar M. Kolb has announced. They are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hurd of the Sentinel Ranch, San Patricio. Mrs. Hurd paints under her maiden name, Henriette Wyeth. Born in Roswell in 1904, Hurd has gained fame for his masterful portrayals of his native state. He is a superb craftsman who does not merely record the physical quality of the places he paints, but, more important, is able to capture the elusive mood and emotional content of his subjects. Henriette Wyeth Hurd is a well-recognized painter of portraits and still-life. A portrait of her brother, Andrew Wyeth, of Chadd's Ford, Pa., recently graced the cover of Time Magazine. Their father, N. C. Wyeth, was well-known for his book illustrations and also as a teacher of many now-famous artists, including his son and daughter, and son-in-law, Peter Hurd. The Hurd-Wyeth exhibition will open on June 6, and remain until August 1. It will consist of at least 40 paintings from collections such as that of Robert O. Anderson, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Simms II, Robert McKinney, and the First National Bank of Santa Fe.

The adult classes in Capitan are continuing. The Home Furnishing lessons will be given the next few weeks on Tuesday nights starting at 7:00 o'clock at Mrs. Ray Provine's home. These classes will help you plan your spring painting and redecorating. Plan to attend all or as many as possible. The Thursday night classes are held at 7 o'clock at Mrs. Ray Provine's home and are now in the family clothing unit. There will be classes in nutrition and child development. The Tuesday afternoon classes will continue if there is enough attendance. The bad weather and sickness has kept the attendance low, but we feel with spring coming that the attendance will be better. Let's see you at these classes.

We should insist on education!

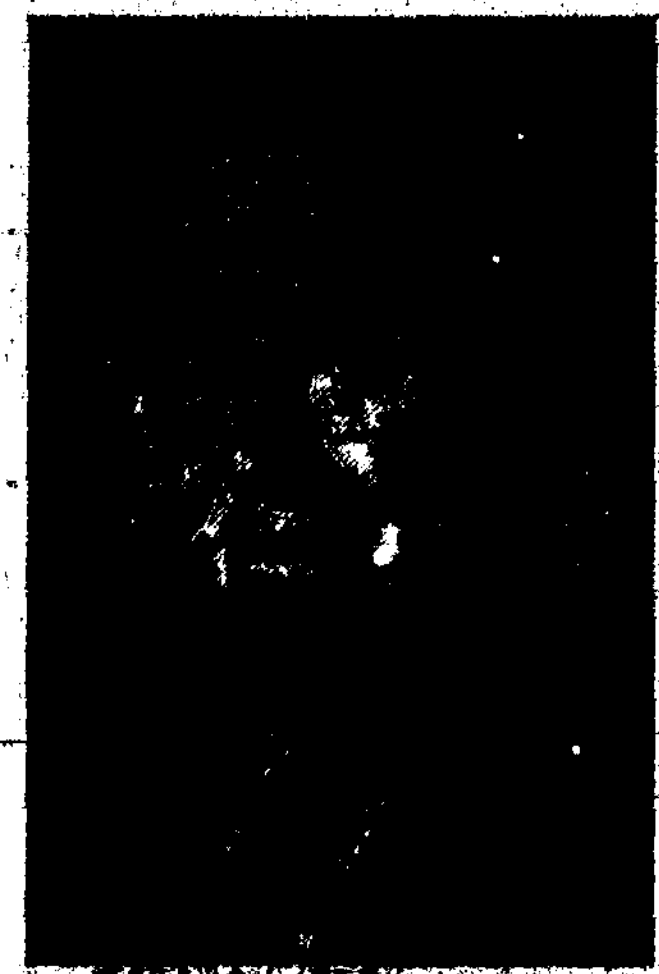

Local men will remember a talk at Rotary where only one side of the national economic picture was presented. This speaker, a smart young man without doubt, had been to college only long enough to get part of an education and we're not sure he ever would get the full message about the facts of life in college.

Regardless of subject matter our youngsters may be studying in college, but more especially in the controversial fields of economics and social studies, we should insist that both sides of the question are taught . . . right here in New Mexico.

A youngster studying economics in a Kansas college told us of going to the head of the department with his problem, which was: this youngster knew that deficit financing was not the only way to run a government, or a business. What he was being taught, the texts he was studying, imparted only the knowledge that paper money is secure, the more the government prints, the more money people will have. He questioned that theory and wanted to learn the full facts, meaning both sides of the question. He was told that only one side would be taught in that college department, if he didn't agree maybe he'd best change his course of study. He did.

When your son or daughter comes home from college, question him or her. If your youngster does not have an open mind on matters of making a dollar and saving or spending same — he is not getting an education . . . but an indoctrination.

Floyd W. Lee

Cattle Growers Honor Floyd Lee

One of the state's most prominent ranchers, Floyd W. Lee, San Mateo, has been named Cattleman of the Year by the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association at its 51st convention in Albuquerque.

Operator of one of the state's largest ranches, Lee received the coveted award at the Cattle Growers' Annual banquet at the Cole Hotel from A. D. Brownfield, Deming, past president of the association and former winner of the award.

Lee, 74, turned to ranching after seeing action in World War I and rose from cowboy to owner of the vast Fernandez Company Ranch in western New Mexico. The ranch is as historic as Lee is prominent and has been in continuous operation since it was established in 1756 on land granted by the king of Spain.

A matter of business . . . but mostly pride

You people who savor the joy of living in a rural community (all of Lincoln County is classified as rural by some agencies) and would like for your children to have this same privilege, need a full awareness of the hazards surrounding and within a rural community. Like we keep telling our conservative brother, "One needs to know the other side, what other people are thinking, in order to cope with the situation."

Our thinking is easily stimulated along these lines, and today the prod was an article by Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, who wrote, "The nation's largest banks grow steadily bigger. In the 1950s and early 1960s the trend was pushed along by absorption of smaller banks." Tie this to the memory of Dad Payton's town where both banks went out of business and the town died . . . plus an honest liking for living in a rural community, you should understand that this writer can easily get aggravated over a "do nothing" attitude when it comes to preserving our way of life.

Coming back from Ellsworth, Kansas last weekend we traveled the Santa Fe Trail, Highway 56 and the road that will help feed the Rio Grande Gorge bridge completion at Taos. Highway 56 joins with 64 part of the way and one of these two numbers will be given to the road that will cross northern New Mexico, over the new bridge, Highway 56 parallels 54 coming southwest through Kansas, we travel 56 because the traffic is lighter.

The southwestern tip of Kansas and much of the Oklahoma Panhandle are in bad shape, for moisture. The area is not blowing away like it did in the dust bowl days but a lot of fields are sure moving and the area looked real bad. Something we don't entirely understand, heading south out of Boise City, Okla., to Dalhart but no dust. Looking back you'd see a black cloud of dust — we were glad to be out of. Made Lincoln County look better than ever.

Few weeks back in a letter to son Nick Payton who lives at Clayton, N. M., we gave the usual fatherly advice that he ought to put something in the sock for the future instead of buying a second new $300 guitar and other stuff. Back came a letter which answered father without helping much—Nick er without helping much. In an old sock.

Enjoyed a visit with the O'Donnell folks in Ellsworth Thursday night then took off for Topeka, Kansas, Friday (to visit brother Dwight and his family. Lots of people in that house, six youngins', father, mother and dog) and the Kansas Paytons were fixing to buy a new home next week. With Mrs. Dwight Payton for company we drove to Kansas City, Mo., Friday to buy new (about 40-year old) music for the Mal Fals band. Got some goodies we've known for years but never played.

Also bought a new offset press in Kansas City which was no small deal. Been wanting to update some of our methods of printing letterheads, brochures, envelopes, forms and the like for over a year. This press will broaden the scope of printing materials the News can handle. Lots of newspapers being printed offset now days. We've at least taken a step in that direction.

One can't leave town for long without things happening—mighty sorry to find Carrizozo had lost two good citizens on our return. Frank Wagner was counted an exceptionally good teacher by the graduates who went off to college and found that they got along fine in subjects that Frank had prepared them for. In many ways that is the final test. Many grads who do not go to college get along fine never knowing whether or not their high school education was adequate—those who enter college soon become aware of the weak spots in their education . . . and there are some weaknesses. Veltis Ladd was a person liked by everyone who knew him, a man who raised a fine family and did his work well. Some folks did not see him so often in re-

Commission OK's spring turkey hunt

A spring turkey season was approved last week by the State Game Commission at its meeting in Santa Fe. Season dates are April 24 through May 2.
Season will be open for gobblers only, and on the Sacramento Division of the Lincoln National Forest. It is an experimental season, and Game Department personnel will be particularly alert to its possible effect on the breeding season.
Would-be hunters will have to make application but there will be no charge for the special license. A maximum of 1,000 special licenses will be issued. The hunter will be required to have in possession a big game, general hunting, or general hunting and fishing license. But in the event of a kill, the turkey tag need not be removed from the license. This means that in regular fall season the hunter has an opportunity to take a second turkey.
Legal weapons are: a) shotgun not larger than 10 gauge and not smaller than 20 gauge, and incapable of holding more than three shells in magazine and chamber combined; b) bow and arrow. Reasoning behind this requirement is that the hunter with shotgun or bow and arrow must be close to make positive identification as to sex of the bird, before shooting. Crippling losses will also be reduced.
There will be two check stations, and checking in and out will be compulsory.
According to field observations, turkeys are now "reasonably plentiful" in the hunt area.
April 14 at 10:00 a.m. is deadline for receipt for applications for the special license. These applications must be made to the Santa Fe office of the Department of Game and Fish. If there are more applications than available licenses, a public drawing will be held at a date to be announced.

"Just for Fun"

Think it over
When the worker for the United Fund called on a prospect known to be unusually tough, she took the bull by the horns and bluntly informed the man that she understood that he had an income of more than $30,000.00 a year and that she expected him to make a contribution.
The prospect stared stonily at the lady. "Does your organization know that my father has an incurable illness that will cost thousands of dollars in medical care?"
"No."
"Does it know that my brother needs $45,000.00 to take care of his past due hospital bill?"
"No," stammered the caller, uneasily.
"Does it know that my son faces ruin unless he can raise $7,000.00 immediately to pay for the flood damage done to his store?"
"No," apologized the embarrassed worker, standing up to leave, "we certainly did not know that your family was having so much trouble, and now I personally understand the situation too."
"I am glad you do," replied the tough prospect. "After all, if I am not giving any money to them, how can I justly contribute to the United Fund?"

CLASS WILL TELL

When the black sheep of a wealthy family fell afoul of the law in the early days of the wild west, a friend had to write to his family breaking the news as gently as possible.
He wrote: "It is with deep regret that I have to inform you that your son died here recently while taking part in a public execution. The placard on which he was standing gave way."

Commissioners study county redistricting

Redistricting Lincoln County's three commissioners' districts is being studied by the county's board of trustees, Board Chairman Max Oliver of Ruidoso Downs has announced.
Where district lines in years past put four of the county's five organized villages and towns in one district - Ruidoso Carrizozo, Capitan and Ruidoso Downs are all located within District 3 - the reapportionment is set up with at least one major town or village in each district.
Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs are included in one district under the proposed change, and will have 13 townships. Registered voters total 2,141, and this area, because of its larger population, will be known as the "metropolitan" district. Oliver said.
Carrizozo and Corona will be placed in District Two, will have 72 townships and has registered voters totaling 1,397. This will be the largest in land size in the county. District One will include Capitan, and will have 40 townships and a total voter registration of 1,395.
Oliver said Carrizozo attorney Elfred Jones is studying legal aspects of the reapportionment, and if there are no serious objections, or any laws preventing the drawing of new district boundaries that the county board will act on the change early this year.
