Fourth of July was safe around ZoZo

Not a traffic accident occurred during the July 4 weekend in the area west of Bingham, north to Ancho, east to Capitán, and south to the county line.

Traffic was heavy and State Police would like to thank all motorists traveling over this area for their careful driving.

New bleachers filled solid at Smokey rodeo

The Lincoln County Fair Association, sponsors of the Smokey Bear Stampede in Capitán, constructed a lot of new bleachers for the events this year, work all done by local people, and this construction surely paid off on their big day, the Fourth of July.

The weather was clear in Capitán for the parade at 11:00 a. m. and the biggest crowd ever was on hand. Right after the parade the serving lines in the chow hall at the rodeo grounds got in gear and people started pouring through the gates and going for the tasty barbecue.

Before the eating was all done and the rodeo under way, a dandy rain came across the mountains and poured moisture on the crowd, luckily most of them were in the hall or in the covered bleachers. The rain lasted butted than 45 minutes, but no one left — actual fact is that after the rain quit and the sun came out, the bleachers were filled solid, all available standing room taken around the arena and the gate keepers quit charging figuring that the people could not find a seat or place to see the rodeo. It was estimated that several hundred people came in after the gate keepers quit their post.

Taking it all around, this was the finest series of events ever held in Capitán. The dances were good, crowds so thick you couldn't stir them with a stick, parade was lively, more queens than ever in the contest, weather fine (including the rain) and the rodeo exciting. Dixie Sparks has written a complete account of the parade entries and winners for the News.

Jim Brock won all-around cowboy honors and the saddle that went with this award. Lellani Greenwood won a silver dish as all-around cowgirl. Miss Willa Edgar carried off queen honors (see picture).

The parade a dandy

Once again the Smokey Bear Stampede rodeo and Fiesta Days parade was a huge July 3-4th success.

The parade participants assembled at 10:30 at the Capitán high school and were lined up by Fletcher Hall, parade director. Leading the parade was State patrolman Darrell Austin; in the car of dignitaries were Mayors Gerald Dean and Vernon Petty of Capitán and Carrizozo respectively, Lucille Smith, City Clerk and Bill Randle, councilman; fire trucks from Capitán and Fort Stanton followed the dignitaries; the Fort Stanton X-Ray Mobile Unit was next; the Lincoln County and Alamogordo Mounted Patrols were the color guards; flag bearers were Pam West and Zana Hall; Smokey Bear Stampede banner bearers were the Jenkins brothers, Bob and Sam, next came the Lincoln County Queen Willa Edgar who was chosen from the list of candidates at the Saturday afternoon rodeo performance for her horseman-

EVERY BIT A QUEEN — Miss Willa Edgar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edgar of Capitán, looks every bit a queen in this photo. Willa was named "Miss Lincoln County" at the Smokey Bear Stampede and will reign over the Lincoln County Fair and represent the county at the state fair. (Lincoln Co. News Photo)

A PRACTICING ASTRONAUT — This is the way things looked at the Smokey Bear Stampede in Capitán over the weekend. Joe Codle of Hobbs got on a wild one, and he floated through air just like an astronaut. The arena was soft and Joe's re-entry was no problem. There were fully as many "off" as "on" at this rodeo. FLOOD DAMAGE MEETING 9:00 FRIDAY AT RUIDOSO

An important meeting on the Hondo Valley flood damage will be held July 9 in the band room at the Ruidoso high school starting at 9:00 a.m. Repairs to the community dams and main ditches will be among the items discussed.

It is recommended that the ditch bosses and one representative from each of the diversion dams in the Hondo Valley be at this meeting.

Mr. George Hastings from the Office of Emergency Planning will explain the program and how it can help.

State is paving streets near football field

The Carrizozo Town Board at a meeting with Gov. Jack Campbell some time back had requested that some paving be done in this area and Gov. Campbell recommended to John Sudderth, chairman of the highway commission, that the work be done. It is being done now.

One and one-tenth miles of paving across the tracks and around five blocks approaching the football field, and later Highway 54 through town will be black-topped.

A HAWAIIAN FESTIVAL — The exotic and alluring float entry of the Fort Stanton Service Wives' Club provoked a lot of admiration as it came down the street in the parade at the Smokey Bear Stampede, as beautiful a float as parade watchers have seen in Capitán. It was the first place winner. (Photo by Vic Lamb)

Formation of watershed district said to be best solution for valley flood control

People present at the meeting were: Bob Scott, Area 3 SCS Conservationist, Roswell; Jim Tully, chairman Ruidoso Water Users Assoc., William Campbell and Bill Lefferts from Bureau of Land Management, Roswell; Larry Current, Farmers Home Administration, Roswell. Bill Edwards, Forest Service, Ruidoso; F. E. McDermaid, assistant supervisor, Forest Service, Alamogordo; F. J. Brown, Regional Hydrologist, SCS, Albuquerque; Jerry Gordon, work unit conservationist, SCS, Capitán; Tom Meeks, watershed planning staff, SCS, Albuquerque. Jack Robinson, Capitán; Ralph Bonnell, Upper Hondo Conservation district supervisor; Bert

Pfingston, chairman Upper Hondo Conservation District; Charles Jones, supervisor Upper Hondo District (Peter Hurd other member, not present); E. O. Moore, Ranger-in-Chief Conservation District. John Gallerito, Mescalero Apache tribe; Rond Scurlock and George Worsham, Bureau of Indian Affairs, John Thomas, Carl Radcliff, Preston Radcliff form Hondo Valley; Tom Jones, chairman Eagle Creek Intercommunity Water Supply Association; Ernest McDaniel, secretary, Upper Hondo District; James L. Hine and C. M. Whitlock, Village of Ruidoso; Dan Swearingen, Dick Bennett, Lillian Sumner, Bob Walker, Jim Brown, Ruidoso; Bill

Shrecengost, Lincoln. Eleanor Jones, Fletcher Hall, Capitán; County Commissioners Max Oliver, Joe McKnight, Bob Shafer. Tom Meeks was selected as moderator for the meeting. Meeks gave a short resume of the flood. The storm centered over Hollywood, was in excess of 1 per cent-chance storm, meaning one in a hundred years. Exceeded the 1941 flood, was an entirely different pattern than the 1941 storm. This storm moved down the Ruidoso along with the flood, peak, the 1941 storm was fairly brief. A preliminary study has been made of Eagle Creek, which contributed 26 per cent of the flood at Glencoe, contribution from the Ruidoso river was slightly larger. If there had been a dam on Eagle Creek the damage might have been cut down 15 per cent, said Mr. Meeks. Our preliminary estimate of total damage in the flood area is $2 1/2 million, roads houses, land, ditches and all — everything damaged by over-bank flooding. Scott, the group might want to know possible programs. Meeks, we had an application on Eagle Creek, but couldn't justify it. Have made preliminary studies on Alamo and Carrizozo but couldn't justify them. By taking small segments of the flood area, the cost might be justified. A dam to control the main Ruidoso would reduce the damages 40 per cent, two other dams would up the control 60 per cent. We should look at the whole picture above Riverside, determine how much interest on part of people. There are too many tributaries to get complete control. A piecemeal approach won't work. Gordon, what is involved, should city, county, or who become sponsor. Much discussion here, short of the matter is that to sponsor a watershed district, one legally constituted authority, such as county commissioners is needed to work in cooperation with the SCS as co-sponsor, and as many other co-sponsors (in this instance, the Mescalero Apache Tribe, Village of Ruidoso, Hollywood, highway Department, Forest Service, possibly others could co-sponsor) are interested in flood control. Once a watershed district is outlined and officially organized then an assessment can be made to acquire easements and right-of-way which would be the task of the legal authority, such as the county. The SCS does all the planning. The Federal Government would pay the cost of any structures erected, maintenance would be the job of the watershed district, not the SCS. A levy can be made up to five miles out from the stream. Otero County would not need be involved. Much of the drainage in the Ruidoso and Hondo area comes from Lincoln National Forest and the Forest Service would be involved. Their representatives expressed willingness to cooperate as did the representatives of the Mescalero Tribe. The final result of the meeting was that the Soil Conservation Service will make a short preliminary study, with the aim of outlining the area and who should be involved in a watershed district. When this study is complete, then the job of forming a watershed district can proceed, if enough people are interested. One requirement is that there be more than 50 per cent SCS participants in the watershed area. According to Jerry Gordon, there are more than 50 per cent now.

Ortiz y Pino says stop moonlighting

SANTA FE — Legislators who have voted themselves pensions and are asking for $2400 a year on top of their $20 a day for time at work are still indulging in doing personal business with the state under conditions suggestive of a conflict of interest.

Sen. Jose Ortiz y Pino of Santa Fe said that he would propose legislation in the 1967 session, "or earlier if possible," to ban legislators from business transactions with the state. He noted that law prohibits members from state employment but leaves them free to sell to the state.

A bill that would have banned legislators from entering contracts with the state was introduced this year by Sen. Ike Smalley of Deming but died in committee without being brought up for consideration.

MANY PRACTICE STATE BUSINESS

Rep. Severino Martinez of Rio Arriba county was recently the low bidder on a $100,000 remodeling job on the governor's residence.

Sen. William Wheatley of Clayton was announced as the "best" bidder the other day on ten pickup trucks for the game department although his price was some $300 above another bid.

Sen. James Patton of Las Cruces is a leading prospect for the half-million contract for furnishing the new legislature building.

Half a dozen legislators sell insurance to the state, notably Rep. Larry Goodell of Roswell.

Martinez, incidentally, did not get the governor's residence remodeling job. There will be new bids asked on revised specifications.

Leo Pacheco became the 24th Plains conservation program cooperater

Leo Pacheco, whose ranch is located east of Arabela, New Mexico, became the 24th Great Plains Conservation Program holder in the upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District recently. The ranch is primarily a sheep operation.

Planned conservation work consists of Cholla cactus control and range proper use. Considerable land occupied by Cholla cactus on the ranch is lost to livestock grazing due to this undesirable plant. Considerable moisture is lost to grass production through being utilized by the cactus plant which is approximately 57% water.

The objective of the Great Plains Conservation Program is to assist ranchers and farmers in developing and carrying out, on a voluntary basis, a plan of operations that will bring greater stability through grazing and cropping systems and the application of enduring soil and water conservation practices. To carry out this program, Public Law 1021, 84th Congress, provides for assurance of cost-share assistance to ranchers and farmers who present a satisfactory plan for their entire unit including a time schedule for establishing conservation practices.

Any landowner in Lincoln County desiring further information regarding the Great Plains Program or assistance in preparing a conservation plan for his ranch or farm is invited to visit the Soil Conservation Office in Capitan.

September and October are not far away, and many livestock breeders have already selected their beef cattle, sheep, and swine to be fitted for showing at the county and State fairs.

Livestock shows are an educational program in themselves. The breeder likes to compare his cattle, sheep, and swine with the stock of other breeders, and everyone interested in the industry learns something from the show.

Fairs — whether community, county, or State — are made successful by those who will take the time and effort to prepare and show stock.

Here are a few pointers for choosing livestock for showing: Select cattle that are thick-bodied of medium type, with good depth in the body, and get them good flesh. They need not be overly fat.

Select sheep for the breeding classes that have good size for age, that are open faced, and that have a uniform fleece in length, grade, and covering. Breeding sheep should not be excessively fat. They should have enough flesh for good appearance.

Select breeding swine that conform in type to present idea of the meat-type hog. The short, dumpy, lard-type hog cannot place very high, if there is any competition at all. Breeding swine should have a thrifty and healthy appearance, but should never be overly fat.

Research studies at Fort Stanton

The Bureau of Land Management has awarded a contract to Bishop Tree Service of Denver, Colorado for the construction of six enclosure fences and the installation of four information signs at Fort Stanton, New Mexico.

Technicians from New Mexico State University Agricultural Experimental Station are conducting research studies on the area in cooperation with the Bureau of Land Management and the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish.

Three enclosures will be built of woven wire 8 feet high, to provide ecological study plots of 2 acres each to determine the relationship between grazed versus ungrazed forage by deer and antelope. Three additional enclosures are to be only cattle proof. Deer and antelope will be able to jump the four foot fences and enjoy the brush in the enclosure. This will give studies of wildlife use only. One plot is predominantly scrub oak, one is mountain mahogany and one is chamisa.

Three large, rustic, information signs will be installed along Highway 380 at the turn off between Lincoln and Capitan, another will be installed on the Devils Canyon Road at the south entrance.

William F. Leifeste, Range manager, of the Bureau of Land Management Office will supervised the construction. Mr. J. C. Germany, Research Technician, from New Mexico State University will note the grazing habits of the deer and antelope and compile information on the forage growth. This information will be valuable for both wildlife specialists and ranchers who must figure proper forage for their livestock.

Half million to be awarded at fair

ALBUQUERQUE — About a half million dollars in awards is being offered to winners in the various departments of the New Mexico State Fair this year, according to an announcement today from Manager Finlay MacGillivray.

He said this was the highest amount of money prizes ever offered in the 28-year history of the exposition.

The total includes $330,000 in purses which will go to the owners of winning horses at the fair's one-mile track during the 11-day meet. This is an increase of $60,000 over the purses paid to horse owners last year.

Almost $150,000 in cash premiums is being offered to winners in the various exhibit departments of the annual exposition. This total—$149,069—is about $10,000 higher than the amount offered last season.

Increases this year are noted in eight open (or adult) departments and five junior division.

There are slight decreases in one open and three junior departments, due primarily to changing and altering classes.

Rodeo purses this year stand at $19,055.50, up about $1800 over last year.

Highest figure in the exhibit departments on the list is the premium total for the beef cattle open department, at $26,360, up more than $5000 over last year.

NEWLY-ELECTED OFFICERS OF THE WESTERN APPLE GROWERS — At Sun Valley, Idaho, (l. to r.), Sec'y Ralph Dunlap, Carrizozo; President W. G. Shrecengost, Lincoln; Outgoing

President Ernest Falen, Caldwell, Idaho; and Vice President Glenn Lowell, Cedaredge, Colorado, Shrecengost is an apple grower below Lincoln.

Bill Shrecengost elected president of Western Apple Growers Assoc.

Lincoln — Western Apple Growers of America, at annual meeting last week in Sun Valley, Idaho, elected W. G. (Bill) Shrecengost president of the association and Ralph Dunlap, another Lincoln County man, secretary-treasurer.

Shrecengost is an apple grower and a New Mexico State Representative. Dunlap is county agent for Lincoln County. The newly elected vice president of the WAGA is from Colorado.

WAGA membership is comprised of New Mexico, Idaho, Utah and Colorado growers and its purpose is to improve the quality of fruit grown in the western states as well as to foster an orderly marketing of the product. The organization is four years old, and according to the new president has made great strides in coordinating efforts of growers interested in updating the industry.

Directly following the WAGA meeting in Sun Valley, the National Apple Institute held its three-day annual meeting at the same place. The New Mexico Apple Council and WAGA are affiliates of the national organization, attending from New Mexico were Mr. and Mrs. Shrecengost, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. (Beft) Pflingston and Ralph Dunlap, all from Lincoln County; Mr. and Mrs. Bob White of Farmington; and a former Lincoln County agent, Austin Albert, now of Aztec.

Those attending meetings were given the opportunity of going out in the field and seeing what is being done in the way of packaging fruit, and to observe orchard principles in use at the famous Idaho growing site.

Senator Chavez offered the bonding bill after several Belen firms and property owners were jolted by a contractor who collected some $80,000 and didn't finish his work.

David McNeil, director of the contractors board, estimated that 600 to 800 contractors would not be able to provide the bond.

When he was a candidate for Congress in the 1964 state convention he ran behind Fabian Chavez of Santa Fe in the Albuquerque delegation.

HENRY KIKER PLANNED TO RUN

All the Democratic searching for a candidate for governor recalls that Henry Kiker, Albuquerque Democratic chairman, had a well worked out plan to make the race when he was killed in an automobile accident last year.

As things stand now he would have been a prominent prospect for the nomination with Fabian Chavez, perhaps, his lieutenant governor running mate.

Kiker's death was a serious blow to Chavez' political future. He was Fab's campaign manager in the 1964 run against Johnny Walker and was largely responsible for the huge Chavez vote in Albuquerque.

CONTRACTOR BONDS HURT LITTLE ONES

A 1965 law sponsored by Sen. Tibbo Chavez of Belen requiring performance bonds for all licensed contractors is threatening to drive some 600 small operators out of business.

Although the bonds cost only $50 to $250 according to the volume of business handled by the contractor it is too much for a great many of them.

The state Contractors Licensing Board has agreed to wait until the last day possible, Aug. 1, to enforce the bonding requirement, and Gov. Jack Campbell has agreed to ask the 1966 legislature to repeal the law if the licensing board so recommends.

Senator Chavez offered the bonding bill after several Belen firms and property owners were jolted by a contractor who collected some $80,000 and didn't finish his work.

Nogal camp meet will be the 24th

Since the summer of 1941 there has been an interdenominational camp meeting program on the Nogal Mesa and this summer marks the 24th year. The first services will be conducted Wednesday evening, July 21 and run through Sunday evening, July 25.

Nogal Camp meeting grounds are reached by Forest Service Road, turning south from U. S.

380 approximately eight miles west of Capitan, approximately 15 mi. east of Carrizozo. The road is marked with highway signs and although unpaved is a good graded road across the mesa to the grounds.

Campers should come prepared to provide their own sleeping accommodations but all meals are served by the Camp Meeting staff at the chuck hall without charge except voluntary contributions.

The preachers this year are Paul Gaston of California and Everett King of Albuquerque. Both have preached at previous camp meetings. King preached the first sermon in the beginning of camp meetings.

Paul Biggs of Phillips, Texas, will lead the singing and provide some of the entertainment around the campfire after the last service of the day.

EDITORIAL . .

"A page for independent thought"

Of teachers, preachers and common people

Once upon a time a young man went out on his first teaching job. He knew it all, and thought that all he had to do was impart portions of his glorious knowledge and his part of the school program would be the best in the west. Things did go rather well for him because he worked hard but later he could look back and see that others had done much better. His fault was the lack of salesmanship. The youngsters responded but the oldsters (where the money comes from) had not been well sold on the program and failed to back up this young teacher with the money.

We've known more than one preacher who followed the same route. They knew the Bible, and felt that their sole obligation was to preach a good sermon each Sunday and do good works the rest of the week — such actions would make for a wonderful program. All this time the devil's representatives were busy selling their program, which nullified much of the good work the preacher performed. Preachers do not learn salesmanship as a part of seminary any more than teachers do at college.

Us common people around town who perform the various chores of keeping the town moving, think of salesmen as had medicine, the kind who come with magazines, or make a long pitch on television that breaks up your favorite program. Salesmanship is the last thing they want to know, and they pass this opinion on to their children.

Actually it's bad that more people do not learn to sell — sell strangers and visitors on the merits of their town, county, state, and nation, develop a positive mental attitude on life and living in this community.

Many times we have the feeling that old-timers around Carrizozo has lived here so many years, seen nothing happen in the way of making a live, progressive town, that they are sure in their mind that nothing ever will happen that might keep their town from withering up and dying.

Successful salesmen are the mainspring of our economy. By their selling actions they create jobs. Jobs put money into action. A good salesman is alert to all opportunities. He knows that if he makes enough calls during the day, it will be a good day.

We live in the best part of this United States, fine climate, beautiful mountains, lots of wide open spaces — let's sell it.

The news editor heartily recommends that more people practice salesmanship, preach a little selling to your youngsters, practice selling the merits of your town on friend and stranger alike. Enough of this sort of action will improve your positive mental attitude — if you think Carrizozo will never make a progressive town . . . like an act it will not. If you think that opportunities exist on every hand in this expanding economy, you will know that Carrizozo will reap its full share.

Try selling. It will help your church, school, your family, your town, but mainly — you!

You may be a monkey on a string

Do you know that while reading the columns of this newspaper, your favorite daily newspaper, or while watching television, listening to radio, or even watching the Billboards as you drive down a road — you are forming opinions in the back of your mind (or up front) that may add up to guiding your life, influencing your vote, coloring your talk with your neighbor, even making you sweat, cry, or possibly laugh.

We were talking with Elfred Jones, local attorney, about life in early-day Lincoln County and about how people attempted to influence the actions of others, even to the point of starting newspapers so that their opinions could get in print. That business of starting newspapers for political reasons was very common during the life of your grandfather. Main difference now between the news read by your grandfather and news read by you is the time element. A battle tonight in Salgan is news tomorrow morning, a golf match on the 4th of July was news around the world on July 3. Much of the news read by your grandfather was six months old.

Other than the time element the business of influencing people has not changed.

Chaplain Alfred Kline, a Methodist, reads the Christian Science Monitor, not so much to help him prepare Methodist sermons, as in hopes of reading an unbiased report of national and world events. There are publications other than the Monitor which can be counted on for a reliable reporting of the news — these publications are in the minority, and practically all of television and radio reporting should be put in the unreliable bracket. If for no other reason than that they give only the briefest account, leaving the details to some other media, i.e. newspapers or magazines.

Mass media is the term applied to communications today. Mass means you and you and you. Media is the plural of medium which (3) means that through or by which anything is accomplished, as, an advertising medium.

One of the continuous endeavors of the Lincoln County News is to encourage its readers to take a broad look at the narrow path of their life, try to apply basic truths to actions of people and government, and keep your mind out of a rut by reading widely.

If the sign says "gas 10 miles" and your gauge says "empty", beat be influenced. If your newspaper columnist says that a "closed shop" is to be preferred over an "open shop" the answer is not near so easy as looking at your gas gauge, and you need to know — because the business of manipulating the actions of people . . . through mass media . . . is probably the biggest industry in our world today, bar none.

You may be a monkey on a string and not know the name of your organ grinder.

Two areas are making use of natural resources — north-central New Mexico will be examined for a possible paper manufacturing industry, which could employ 800 persons in the plant and in the woods. A sawmill operation is scheduled to start this fall using trees from the Mesalero reservation, expecting to employ 40 persons.

Sorry we couldn't join a lot of you people in vacationing on the 5th of July. Only action in Carrizozo was along highway and in taverns and the Lincoln County News, We find it real hard to put out much of a newspaper in two days, fact is we have to stretch three days (Monday Tuesday Wednesday) to their limit to get the job done — so Eleanor, Paul and Frank kept the wheels turning on the 5th.

A brand new doctor thought the patient looked normal and asked him what he was doing in a mental institution. "It's because I prefer cotton socks to woolen ones," said the patient.

"Ridiculous! That's no reason for sending you here," said the doctor. "I prefer cotton socks too."

The patient beamed. "I'm glad to hear that; does Tell me, how do you like them? With oil and vinegar or just a squeeze of lemon?"

Rabies problems in Las Cruces, three cases in one month — stray dog was known to have exposed two other dogs. Total animal rabies cases in New Mexico this year now stands at 11. The most nagging problem of any town is stray dog owners.

The Automobile Manufacturers Association has a new booklet out, "Parking in the City Center". It points out that parking has become a major factor in the success of many downtown areas. Have you tried the bank corner, Food Mart or postoffice corner on a busy day?

Zozolans went out to dine Saturday night and they were not disappointed. How about this for a menu: Salade a la Grecque (anchovies, mushrooms, olives, Romains), Kidney beans vinaigrette, guachmole (in red cabbage cups, celery sticks, green onions, sliced red onions and tomatoes, oil and vinegar, stuffed olives, assorted pickles, G o u r m a n d i s e, Befe, Kasserli cheeses, cold lobster, Remoulade sauce, roast prime rib eye, Bear-naise sauce, baked ham, Steamed new potatoes, sour cream and chives, crumbled bacon, grated cheese. Stuffed mushrooms, steamed celery hearts, green beans and mushrooms.

It was the finest meal the McKnights, Boyces, Jones, La-Mays, and a whole passle more ever ate in New Mexico . . . or any other place we can think of. The occasion was the "open-house" of the famous old Parsons Hotel, now operated by Mr. and Mrs. Jay Johnston.

The unusual eating part will be continued pretty much, but on this occasion Jay had help. Pierre and Fil Fromage, who operated one of the most exclusive dining places in Dallas, Texas, and Dr. and Mrs. Keith Evans, the doctor a bon vivant and an outstanding amateur chef also of Dallas were on hand to prepare the meal. The trip up was mighty muddy but more than worth the effort. Elfred Jones came down Nogal Canyon so the roads couldn't have been very bad. New road around Bonito Lake has improved that trip a lot. Makes a nice loop drive — up Nogal, down by the hotel, and out to the highway via Bonito Lake. Stop at the Parsons when you make this trip . . . you'll enjoy it.

On the subject of eating, the best pie we've eaten, was made up good as the parade ended and continued playing all the way back to the school — you might say they played the full route.

New Mexico Boys Ranch at Belen is a home for boys who don't have much of a home. For the past 20 years it has been a haven for hundreds of boys and given them a start in life that is all important. Lincoln County dropped off some in support of this home in 1964, $2,941 in 1963 to $1,587 in 1964 and maybe you good people would like to tall up our account for the year 1965. It's real easy, just address your donation to Box 758, Belen, N. M., you'll feel good about it and next month you won't even miss the few beers you passed up. Mora County sure missed the boat, with a $17 donation in 1964.

The Sunday School teacher suddenly stopped reading a passage in the Bible and asked the youngsters: "Why do you believe in God?"

She got a variety of answers, some full of simple faith, others obviously insincere. One of her pupils happened to be the son of a minister.

"Tell me, Master Jones," she said, "Why do you believe in God?"

"I guess," he answered apologetically, "it just runs in our family."

This paragraph from Sen. Clinton P. Anderson should be of interest to all of Lincoln Co. OUTSIDE OF ALASKA there are about 354 million acres of

The $10,000 personal liability coverage is wise to have in case of injuring someone in sports or on trips. Is the broad coverage of a Homeowner Policy also available to tenants who have at least $4,000 of insurable personal belongings?"

The Mal Pals Harmonice Association boys missed seeing the parade because we were in it. Buster Smoot had other commitments and Pancho McKnight filled in, doing a fine job on running the oozle ((job on the drums. This association was just getting warmed public lands being administered by various government agencies of which approximately 175 million acres are uncommitted by Congress for any specific use. That vast acreage, plus approximately 365 million acres in Alaska, comes within the scope of the Public Land Law Review Commission. I am a member of the Commission which will get under way after an organization meeting here on July 14-15. The 19-member Commission will make a comprehensive study of the public land laws and regulations to determine to what extent those laws need revision. We look for the support and cooperation of all persons and groups interested in the future use of the public lands.

Some people know the Parsons Hotel much better than others — two who know it best are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fulmer Jr. They spent their honeymoon at the Parsons 49 years ago last June and lived in the area for several years following.

In New Mexico, after a day's fishing beer's the one... for good taste, good fun

Wherever you fish for sport — on the ocean, by the booming surf, or on some quiet country pond, it's great at the end of the day to head for a rewarding glass of beer. While you're talking over the ones that got away, or pan-frying the ones that didn't, you enjoy the hearty taste and cool refreshment only a glass of beer can give you so well. Yes, whatever your sport — bowling or strolling, golfing or gardening — a frosty glass of beer makes a naturally great accompaniment.

Advertising Advice

From a Banker

"Reprinted from the 'AMERICAN BANKERS' Magazine"

"No businessman in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and address being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, even if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and his town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his town, is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising man."
