Political capital moves to Cruces temporarily

Central Electric to meet at Moriarty

SANTA FE — The state political capital will shift to Las Cruces Oct. 23 when Sen. Clint Anderson makes a speech down there in the dedication program of a building named for him on the New Mexico State University campus.

October 23 is Clint's 70th birthday, the date that he has set for telling whether he will or will not go for another term in Senate in the 1966 elections. The New Mexico State building may be an important one but it is likely to be overshadowed by what Clint says of his political plans.

MANY CONVINCED CLINT WILL QUIT

There is wide spread belief in Washington that New Mexico's veteran senator, since 1949, will resign before the end of his term Dec. 31, 1966.

If he has that in mind the Las Cruces speech appears to be the obvious time to make the announcement.

Clint could announce in October, 1965, that he would not run in November, 1966, and be talked out of it before the deadline for getting out, and that might very well come about.

Anderson is too important to the national administration and the national Democratic party, and also to New Mexico, to be allowed to retire as long as he is strong enough to walk to his desk.

UNTIL CONVENTION ONLY FOUR MONTHS

The Oct. 23 date for revealing his plans allows only four months for Anderson to make his statement a reality.

The state Democratic convention meets next February and must nominate a candidate, or candidates, for the Senate. Anderson could not withdraw and change his mind after the convention, except in an extreme stretch of the law, and imagination.

TOM MORRIS IS NEXT UP

If Anderson sure enough should retire he would probably date it sometime before the February convention so that his successor would have an advantage in getting uncontested nomination and also the advantage of running as an incumbent senator.

Such an arrangement would also permit Anderson to name his successor.

Opinion in Santa Fe and Washington holds for U. S. Rep. Tom Morris as Anderson's successor. He would have to be appointed by Gov. Jack Campbell.

SET OFF FIGHT FOR TOM'S PLACE

Such a shift would almost certainly bring out Governor Campbell as a candidate for the Morris place in the House, also Lt. Gov. MacL Easley and perhaps others.

Meanwhile it appears that no matter what Anderson says at Las Cruces on Oct. 23 that he will be a candidate for nomination in the February convention, and avoid all that unpleasant business of Democrats running against Democrats for public offices.

DADDY, THREE BOYS ON STATE JOBS

The state highway department is breaking up a family operation in the Las Vegas district office in which a daddy and his three boys were pulling down $1,852 a month.

Involved were Assistant District Engineer Creamer Wells, $940 a month, in charge of construction, and his three boys Allen Wells, 19, $360 a month, and 17-year-old twins, Jerry and Earl Wells, $276 each.

The twins were ordered laid off this month but the older boy is staying on.

MUST BE KIN TO HIGH BRASS

The state has a law against public officials hiring kinsfolk but it has been interpreted in the highway department to mean only those who are related to the chief highway engineer or one of the five highway commissioners.

The Wells boys have been working under their father, who is their boss but not the chief highway engineer or a member of the highway commission.

P. S. — We finally got twin granddaughters, big boys, 7 pounds 4 ounces each, born a few hours after Evelyn and I left Niagara Falls in despair of the babies ever coming along.

Now Evelyn is launching to get back to the young family.

Carrizozo schools to have expanded program

By Eleanor Payton
With the opening of the fall term the Carrizozo Schools are going into a comprehensive change in curriculum. Extra teachers, materials and programs will be added.

The first phase of this expanded program is made possible by a grant of $20,000 from Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Spencer. This phase will include (1) a full time librarian and (2) a special teacher in language arts. It will also provide books and additional shelves for the library and special books and equipment for the special teacher and the counselor.

Miss Florence Empson will be the full time librarian and Mrs.

Cora Hawkins has been employed as the special teacher in language arts. She will give special attention and help to students through grade school and junior high who are having difficulty in keeping up with their class due to language difficulties.

The second phase includes a full time counselor. The hiring of a full time counselor was made possible by the reorganization of the administrative staff which formerly consisted of three persons, the superintendent, high school principal, and grade school principal. This year Mr. Glenn Ellison as superintendent, and Mr. John MacCollaun as school principal will handle all administrative duties, thus releasing funds which make it possible to hire a full time counselor.

Mr. Jake Hawkins has been hired for this position. His work will include testing in grades 1 through 12, counseling students in grades 7 through 12, and advising teachers in grades 1 through 6 as to individual students and their special problems.

The school is issuing an invitation to parents to contact Mr. Hawkins and arrange a meeting to discuss their child and his records.

The third phase of the expanded program is vocational reorganization which consists of three areas.

(1) A 2 hour block called Office Practice which will be taught by Miss Lola Dooley. This is a course in intensive office education and includes such subjects as orientation to the "World of Work", how to locate and hold a job, communications services, handling office callers, handling mail, filing, automation, business math, etc.

(2) Mrs. Lawson will teach a course in domestic service and food handling. The school will seek cooperation of motel and cafe owners and interested families for this project.

(3) Mr. Sadler will be out of coaching in spring and fall to give him time to keep the shop open the full day and after school to offer a maintenance training program for students interested in this work. They will do maintenance work on school property. Besides giving them training in this type of work they will be paid for their time from funds saved from usual maintenance expense.

These three areas of vocational training are aimed at equipping a student to be capable of securing employment on graduation from high school.

Mr. Ellison says that for small school this is complicated program but he believes the school is on the right path and this program is an opportunity for both students and parents.

Rotarians to host noon weather talk

Carrizozo Rotarians will be host to a meeting today (29th) at noon with five people from the Missile Development Center at Holloman AFB to discuss the effect of aircraft on local weather, more specifically the effects of jet flying on precipitation.

Music for five half-time football shows will be rehearsed and one show will be prepared for presentation at the first football game on September 3, when Carrizozo plays Ruidoso on the home field.

The band will consist of 45 bandsmen, five majorettes, one head majorette, one drum major, five color guards, total 57 members.

Camp Meetings were wonderful

Mrs. Mayme Greeding and I attended the Ranchers Camp Meeting Saturday. A nice crowd there and we enjoyed the noon day lunch which was delicious. We attended the business meeting and the services. The sermon on "Reverence, honesty and respect" was just grand and so true. After 3:30 p.m. pictures were taken of Joe Evans, Ralph Hall and Everett King holding an anniversary cake in honor of the 25th anniversary. Mrs. Claude Branum and Mrs. Billy Stephenson were responsible for that. Then old timers were invited to join them with some coffee to go with the cake in the dining room. To make this a lasting memory for these good men who are responsible for this happy occasion each year.

I want to talk to all of you who so delightfully enjoy the ranchers camp meeting each year. Please, think this over and stress with me to your friends and others, the importance of this camp meeting each year. It cannot operate if we do not support it financially each year. Each of us must donate and do our part as so many others have, to make it a success. Those beautiful sermons and good food certainly are worth something to every one, therefore each of us must remember that, and contribute for the costs are high and continually growing.

This year the meat cost them $1.10. Then there are the vegetables, etc. They have to pay the cook and the dish washers. Now, figure and you will understand. The expenditures were greater Saturday than the income. So, there was worry, which we do need to know about.

When this camp started 25 years ago the ranchers were able to donate the beef and everyone worked free but times have changed in all things and this should be easily understood. There are many loyal ones donating their time to make it successful but still money is needed to pay the way. Their surplus money has been used.

I enjoyed a lovely visit with Mrs. Georgia Branum of Carrizozo last Saturday. She enjoys coming to Capitlan to meet old friends. It was a pleasure to meet you again.

Mr. Charles Pepper entered Carrizozo hospital last Thursday night very ill, but is slowly improving at this time. I wish you a speedy recovery. Their niece, Marion Sims, is here with them.

Popular Prescription

A doctor asked his new patient if she had been to any other doctor about her complaint before coming to see him.

"No," she replied, and then added "but I did go to see my druggist."

Well, that shows just how much sense some people have!" he exclaimed. "And what sort of idiotic advice did your druggist give you?"

"Oh," she answered sweetly, "he told me to see you."

Roger Miller

"King of the Road" composer at state fair

ALBUQUERQUE—Country and western music's Roger Miller—the singer, comedian, composer who parlayed "King of the Road" and "Dang Me" into hit parade favorites—is included in the list of show business names booked for the 1945 New Mexico State Fair.

Miller will headline Tingley Coliseum all-star rodeo shows on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 23 and 24.

Miller, an unorthodox comedian—and an unorthodox hill-billy, as well—was raised in Oklahoma on a fiddle and a farm. Now, he's the hottest new attraction in show business. As he phrases it, "I was an overnight success—after seven years of hard work."

This spring, Miller's talents were recognized in a big way, when he won not one—but five—Grammy awards in the recording industry's annual honors. The awards are equivalent to the movie's Oscar awards.

The whole thing started back in Oklahoma when Roger was raised by an uncle, after his own family was broken up by illness and death. He composed his first song at the age of six, then sang it for classmates in the one-room country school.

Scoggin, Board feud to resume

SANTA FE, N. M. — The feud between the State Finance Board and Dist. Court Judge W. T. Scoggin of Las Cruces has reached a mid-summer lull, but a renewal is possible by next month.

Some legal and financial problems now have entered the picture.

Judge Scoggin issued an order in June to court clerks in Lincoln and Otero Counties to block expenditure of state court funds under terms set forth by the Finance board.

The finance board granted $27,500 from the state court fund to be used in filling out the Lincoln and Otero County district court budgets for the 1944-45 fiscal year. The board stipulated this money was to be spent under the supervision of Dist. Court Judge George Zimmerman of Alamogordo, the junior judge in the circuit composed of Dona Ana, Lincoln and Otero Counties.

Scoggin called the stipulation illegal. He filed an order which prevents the court clerks from issuing payment warrants approved by Judge Zimmerman.

At least one member of the State Finance Board feels Scoggin probably is standing on solid legal grounds. State Auditor Alex Armijo said this week statutes appear to be specific in granting supervisory authority over expenditures of court funds exclusively to the senior judge, Scoggin.

The Finance board ordered money be spent only under certain prescribed conditions, Scoggin ordered that the money cannot be spent as directed by the finance board.

"I feel that if the courts are not going to follow through with the board of finance directive, they have no right to use this money until the matter has been settled," Armijo said.

The feud between the board and Scoggin has been going on for several years, but it consisted merely of sporadic sniping before this year.

New pastor to preach first sermon

Our new minister, the Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Buchtel will preach his first sermon on this field at Ancho next Sunday, August 1. Let's all turn out in church and give them a typical Ancho welcome. Rev. Buchtel was recently ordained at his home church in Ohio.

We of Ancho would like to acknowledge with sincere thanks and appreciation the many hours of devotion and ministry of Christian love that was offered to us by Mr. Larry Null and his family of Albuquerque. Larry has been so faithful to preach from our pulpit for these many months that we have been without a minister and we wish the family all our best and hurry back to visit us soon.

The regular meeting of the Ancho UPW was held July 20 in the home of Mrs. Ruth Wilson, preceded by a covered dish lunch with Mrs. Elva Wilson as co-hostess. Rose Harkey gave the devotional. Blanche Straley presented the first mission study "The Nation and the Kingdom". Vernelle Hightower gave a brief talk on the workings of the UN, and also a report on medical missions, to which the offering this month was to be sent.

Mrs. Margaret Means, David and Cheryl of Alamogordo were overnight guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Harkey last Tuesday. Galt stayed with the Marvin Rowins. They attended camp meeting Wednesday and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson at their Patos Mountain Ranch.

Those seen at the Ranchmans Camp Meeting were the Walt Wilsons and boys who camped but the whole time, the Howard Harkey family, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Harkey, Bryan Hightower, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Wilson and grandchildren, Woody and Mark Wilson, and Mrs. Lavona Miller, Jim and Enid Miller and three little girls.

Woody and Mark Wilson are staying with their grandparents, the Barney Wilsons, while their mother is undergoing treatment in Tucson. Little Lola is staying with her maternal grandparents at Hobbs.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Munsterman, their son, his wife and son of Ft. Worth were recent visitors of Jackie Silvers. The Munstermans are old-time friends of Jackie's, who were here during the homesteading days and lived on what is now the Dimmitt Bond ranch northwest of Ancho.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Richard of Hobbs were weekend guests in the home of his parents Roy and Lillian Richard.

Mrs. W. L. (Red) Hobbs of Los Lunas and Mrs. Betty Hobbs and children were in Ancho one day last week on their way to camp meeting. Red is reported to be in better health and recovering from the stroke that he suffered several months ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Roolde Straley of Las Cruces spent several days with the Cope Straleys and visited with other relatives. Cope had been kept busy lately hauling hay.

Mrs. L. Y. Jackson and Debbie took Barbara Forbus to her home in Socorro last Wednesday after a three-week visit at Ancho.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Verdin of Socorro and granddaughter Deader of Alamogordo were weekend visitors of the L. Y. Jacksons.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Driscoll and children of El Paso and friends were supper guests of the Lee Straleys last Saturday. They were on a vacation and were enroute home from Colorado.

Mrs. Pat Straley and children are visiting her sister, Mrs. Peggy Stiller and family in Beelen.

Mr. and Mrs. Milt Jones of Capitlan and two grandchildren accompanied by their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bo Worsham of Pecos, Texas, toured Jackie Silvers House of Old Things recently. Mr. Worsham operated a store and post office in Jicarilla during the gold mining activity in the '30's.

Other guests of Jackie Silvers and the L. Y. Jacksons were Mr. and Mrs. Waymon Lightfoot and grandchild and Mrs. Shorty Stoneman, Mildred and Lyn Stoneman of Ruidoso. The Stonemans had been in Fort Sumner visiting Lyn's mother Mrs. Irene Stoneman.

Our trapper Mr. Barker dropped by for a visit at the post office one morning last week. Leo Mulz, who trapped here last year and was so popular with the ranchers, is now working around Santa Rosa.

FARM NEWS

By County Agent Ralph Dunlap

I spent a day last week, accompanied by Dr. Nour, Horticulturist, from the New Mexico State University, visiting orchards in the Hondo Valley taking leaf samples to check the effectiveness of some Iron, Manganese and Zinc fertilizers. The trees where Iron and Zinc were applied show deep green color compared to the surrounding area. The leaf sample tells what nutrients are taken up, whereas soil samples tells if the fertilizer element is present.

At the same time, we checked hail and worm damage to orchards in the area. In some orchards the hail injured the bark as well as knocked off half the apple. In other orchards, the hail damage was not as heavy.

I helped a Rancher from Tinkle area mail two worm samples. Let's hope they are maggots not screw-worms. Some worms were reported in the Corona area.

Ten 4-H Members will be attending State 4-H Conference next week at New Mexico State University to compete in the State Contest. Those attending are Jane Dean, Kathy Truller, Zana Hall, Lois Dunlap, Pete Gnatkowski, Gary Hightower, Jud Cooper, Joe Cooper, Wayne Dunlap and Billy MacVeigh.

Fire is a potential hazard in all houses. It may be started by one of many causes, and it needs different methods of control, depending on the cause.

Frayed or broken covers on appliance cords can lead to fires. Most cords are easily repaired, so check appliance and extension cords often.

Some houses are not wired to carry the amount of electricity demanded by today's electrical servants. Confined overloading of inadequately-sized wires can cause their insulation to wear off. If live wires come in contact with each other, a short circuit, and possible fire, results.

If a fire does start at an iron, a lamp, or other electrical source, do not use water. Use a non-conductor of electricity, such as a carbon dioxide extinguisher or a heavy rug or blanket, to cut off oxygen and smother the fire.

An accumulation of old magazines, newspapers, or rags may ignite and burn readily. Form the habit of not letting piles of paper, fabric, and wood pile up. Fire that starts among these easily-burned materials can be fought with water or a soda-acid type extinguisher.

Another source of danger in the kitchen is burning grease. Fire started in grease must be smothered; water will spread it. Use a carbon dioxide extinguisher or heavy rug or blanket to cut off oxygen and smother the fire.

Pre-testing upholstery spot removal and cleaning agents can help you avoid costly mistakes.

Pre-test on a hidden area of the piece to see if the colors bleed or the fabric shrinks. If you have doubts, get help from a professional furniture cleaner. Because of the variety of fabrics on the market, you'll be safer if you assume the fabric is not guaranteed against wear, shrinkage and fading. You should have such a guarantee clearly written by both manufacturer and local dealer to be sure.

Zippers on cushions don't always mean that the fabric can be removed and washed or dry-cleaned. You can guard against shrinkage by not removing the covers when you clean them. Instead have the cushions cleaned in the same way as the upholstery.

Regular care keeps any upholstery looking nice longer. Keep a ready guide to spot removal and use the appropriate remedy immediately if you can.

If the spot is a greasy type, use a solvent cleaner. Carbon tetrachloride is such a solvent. Many other types of stains can be removed by using a mild detergent in warm water. Use one teaspoon of detergent in one cup of water. Be careful not to get the upholstery too wet.

Now is the time for farmers to use their records to save 4 cents per gallon on gasoline used in their business last year.

The Internal Revenue Service is mailing claim form 2240 to all farmers who filed claims last year. This mailing reminds farmers that they have 90 days or until September 30 to file for a federal tax refund on gasoline used between July 1, 1964, and June 30, 1965.

Any gasoline used on the farm for "cultivating the soil, or raising or harvesting any agricultural commodity, including the raising, shearing, feeding, caring for, training, and management of livestock," can be claimed for refund. Gasoline used either by the farm operator or by custom operators who do work on the farm will qualify for the refund.

Do not include gasoline that is used on the highway; in processing, packaging, freezing or canning operations; on the farm of another person; or for personal or other nonfarming purposes.

If a vehicle, such as an automobile, is used both on the farm and for nonfarming purposes, only the gasoline consumed in non-road use with the farming operation can be claimed.

Those beginning farming or those who are eligible and have not received a form may obtain one from county Extension offices and gasoline delivery truck drivers.

COMMODITY CONFERENCE STARTS THURSDAY, 29th

A summer commodity conference will start July 29, at 1:00 to 5:00 at the Chaparral in Ruidoso. Dr. Kenneth Hood will discuss national farm legislation. Ken McFarland will discuss bringing water down from such points as Canada to the west. C. A. Gillet will discuss federal land ownership.

Annual Meeting

Many poles and miles of line were washed down the river.

Under this flood mess Jay Lasater sees Co-op equipment

Valley flood took lots of work from crewmen

No one enjoys a disaster, neither does anyone like cleaning up after a flood. But the people of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley area had to do this. Certainly they have shown great courage and durability during this past flood period.

The Otero County Electric Cooperative, Inc., would like to express its appreciation for the patience and cooperation received while repairing the damages to power lines. While the linemen worked hard to keep the power on during the repairing, there were times that the power had to be turned off for short periods for safety reasons.

For two days and nights the men worked around the clock, replacing washed out poles and rebuilding line from one end of the Valley to the other. During the complete rebuilding period every one of the Valley people was very cooperative and considerate of the job to be done.

The Member Services Department of the Cooperative offers its services to all of the area who might have need for assistance in electrical planning, in repairing or replacing your personal facilities.

The Cooperative has received several nice letters complimenting our service crews on their work and we think that these should be a matter of public record. We are sure that the writers will have no objections to having them included in our monthly letter. It's always nice to receive a compliment and we know that our crews are very appreciative of this.

Several pictures appear which shows what can happen and there is no prevention.

Again we thank each and every one involved for your patience, cooperation and understanding.

A People Program

The rural electric cooperative program has been called a great humanitarian effort, and this has never been more apparent than in today's fast changing world.

Having personally experienced the revolution electricity can bring to rural life, America's co-op members are leaders in helping others around the world.

With a couple of years' experience of helping foreign lands via the Agency for International Development, it is not surprising that now six rural electric specialists are en route to a real trouble spot.

The six-man team in Viet Nam faces a great challenge and a great opportunity. Their example and their work could well bring forth a new life to people of that land. It speaks well for rural electrification that the program has produced men of caliber willing to face such a difficult task.

Rural electric cooperatives are also continuing their fight against poverty here at home. Rural people are no strangers to this problem, for half the poverty in America is in rural areas.

Characteristically, cooperative members are moving ahead in this field. After all, rural electric co-ops began their fight against poverty 30 years ago. They have come a long way. With the new emphasis on the war against poverty and the new weapons available, rural people will move ahead faster.

This interest in rural people, troubled people at home and abroad, is nothing new to rural electric cooperatives. Rural electrification the co-op way is a people program, service oriented. In the vastness of the program, its leaders have never lost sight of the needs of the people and every move has been toward helping people to help themselves.

There can be no question that the strength of the rural electric cooperative program lies in its membership. This is as it should be. Maintaining that strength depends on top-notch service and an informed membership. This means remembering that rural electrification is a "People Program."

Keeping in with the ins

A short quotation in the Way West Column says, "Keep in with the outs", which is good advice, almost as good as keeping in with the ins. We have in mind the new paving put down in Carrizozo by the state highway department.

In this instance we can thank our town council and mayor for their efforts in keeping in with the ins... and we do, right now. Thanks fellows.

What's good for the town ought to be good one way or another for everyone.

How to learn... and earn

There are many ways to learn but only a few young people who are smart enough to combine their learning with earning. The future is distant when a boy enrolls as a high school freshman. He has no idea whatsoever the kind of work he performs in the next nine months could be worth a flat $1,000... if he does well.

After school jobs are not uncommon, a boy can understand that routine which includes a check at the end of each week. But the idea of applying his full talents to learning is for the bookworm, the boy who doesn't go out for sports, that other guy who isn't one of the gang that defends the honor of the school on any handy battle ground.

Making money while attending high school can be done and your parents ought to get help to the routine and encourage their youngsters to learn while they earn.

The case of Danny Armstrong is a handy sample. Danny was as fine a football player as wore a Grizzly uniform during his years in high school. He also worked many hours in the family restaurant and carried on a fairly full social program. Danny also studied and retained what he learned. Come time to go to college Danny received a scholarship that should be worth $4,000 by the time he graduates. And, if he successfully completes his college work there will be jobs waiting that will be much better than average.

How's that for learning and earning in high school.

If your high school-age son or daughter will, gets encouragement at home and does good work in school there are many scholarships available — all of which make the learning worth while. The parent is ahead in money, the student way ahead on the road to a full and useful life.

Proof of something

When the new service station owners said that business was at least as good as they had expected it might be, prior to opening... it could well be proof of several things.

First, but maybe most important, a nation-wide advertising program continues to pay off. The petroleum products these people dispense must be good... but no better than a number of other brands.

Second, here is proof that Carrizozo has room for more business places. Could be a few people in the oil business figure this new station will hurt their business, we're more inclined to think that larger total business will be done in this town. The right location, the right products, backed up by service will draw trade, no matter where.

Third, and last, if lots of lights and lots of parking space is what it takes to stop the thousands of travelers on Highways 380 and 54... the older parts of town with a minimum of parking and average illumination could well take heed.

The Nogal Mesa Camp Meeting just concluded was one of the driest on record — stories about weather were dropping all around. One fellow from up north of Carrizozo a piece said it was so dry around his place that he had to cook his hogs a couple of hours before they would hold aloft.

"Doctor," the owner of a great Dane dog told the vet, "you've got to do something. My dog does nothing but chase these small foreign cars."

"Well, that's only natural. Meat dogs chase cars."

"Yes," the man agreed, "but my dog catches them and buries them in the back yard."

Out trailing our dogs around we could see that the country is dry. Jack rabbits make prints the size of a deer and leave little smell. The dogs do not trail by sight so they were not doing much good.

C. L. Sulzberger in his recent book, Unfinished Revolutions, gave four cardinal rules of diplomacy: Keep the initiative. Exploit the inevitable. Keep in with the outs. And if anything goes wrong, never stand between the dog and the lamppost.

Vernon Searcy, back in Zozo working with Dale LaMay on a new butane setup, has invited all of his Lincoln County friends to North New Mexico where they will get a personal guided tour with the added promise of fresh trout for lunch.

A primary duty of any newspaper is to serve its area, be it local or state, with local news of the area. Since the editorial boss of the Roswell Record is on vacation we can say it out loud that we think the Record does a real fine job of keeping up with Chaves county people and the area around.

A teacher gave her class this problem: "If there are seven flies on your desk and you kill one, how many will remain?"

"One," answered the most down-to-earth pupil, "the dead one."

We extend our sincere congratulations to Dorothy Guck of Nogal. Dorothy has done a lot of writing about people, happenings and the vast forest area that surrounded her home for most of her adult life. New Mex. Press Women recognized Dorothy for her outstanding writing at their summer convention.

Johnson Stearns told the News editor that Ed Heringa and Gene McCook of Clayton were visitors at Nogal Mesa Camp Meeting and asked about Clayton. In this same conversation Johnson said they fed 800 people Sunday noon. Knowing Heringa and McCook like we do, the answer is clear. These two guys made several trips back through the chow line which inflated the total count.

New Mexico Electric News copped one of the states best editors, Jim Colegrove, who has some Kansas background which really put him on his feet. We've no doubt but that Jim will do a fine job for the 42nd circulation Electric News.

Add to the list of Lincoln County characters, is the film "Lincoln County War" that is... Jay Johnston, operator of the Parsons Hotel, Jay comes equipped with beard and size to play Buckshot Roberts in the film.

Excavation begins at Gran Quivira

A work crew entered on duty today to initiate the excavation of the Indian Mound at Gran Quivira National Monument. Planned for several years, the project is finally being realized through appropriations granted by Congress for the 1966 Fiscal Year which began July 1.

On July 6, Supervisory Archeologist Alden C. Hayes was transferred to Gran Quivira to take charge of the work. He and Mrs. Hayes have lived at Mesa Verde National Park for the past seven years where Al was engaged in the excavation and stabilization of the cliff ruins on Wetherill Mesa.

Mr. Archer W. Steward, better known as "Rusty," has transferred to Gran Quivira from Canyon de Chelly Nat'l Monument, Arizona, to be Mr. Hayes' assistant. He recently completed three-months training at the Albright Training Center at Grand Canyon National Park, and was park archeologist at his former assignment. "Rusty" is single and due to lack of housing at the monument is residing in Mountainair.

July 15 and 16, Mr. Carl DeGen, Chief of the Branch Motion Pictures and Audiovisual Services, in the National Park Service's headquarters in Washington D. C., and Photographer Tom Gray, also with the Washington Office, took motion and still pictures depicting the mound before excavation work had started. A flight over the monument was made to secure aerial photographs for better detail of the entire ruins area.

The five men currently engaged in the excavation work under the direction of Mr. Hayes are C. N. Fuller, Jerry Greene, Guy Mathews and Gary Fuller, all of Mountainair; and Bill Wells from Gran Quivira. Preliminary work consisted mainly of clearing away brush and cactus from the mound, following which the uncovering of the buried village will begin. Erection of a small building will be ready to receive the specimens in a week.

Visitors are welcome to view the excavation work while it is going on but must be accompanied by a ranger. Actual work is taking place Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Loans are also available to rural cooperatives serving low-income families and providing services and facilities not otherwise available.

Borrowers are provided continuing management aid to help them make a success of their farming or new business.

Farm families may obtain loans to finance agricultural enterprises. Funds may be used to purchase livestock, machinery and equipment, construct or repair farm buildings, pay annual operating expenses for seed, feed and fertilizer, refinance real estate debts and purchase land. The loans also may be used to buy shares in small cooperatives that serve rural people.

Farm and nonfarm families living in the country or in small towns of not more than 2500 population may obtain loans to finance non-agriculture enterprises.

Economic opportunity loans may be made in amounts up to $2500, bear 4 1/2 percent interest, and may be repaid over periods up to 15 years.

Eligible applicants must have an income that does not cover basic family living needs, be unable to obtain credit from other sources, including the regular loan program of Farmers Home Administration, and show a reasonable promise of succeeding in the enterprise to be financed by the loan.

Loans are made through the Farmers Home Administration office located at 110 E. 4th, Fisk Building Roswell, New Mexico. Hours are 8 to 5, Monday through Friday. A sub-office for convenience of Lincoln County residents is located at the Hondo Highschool from 10 A.M. till 12 noon on the first Wed. of each month.

Wool growers help in proposed legislation

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in statement released to the press on pending farm legislation, House bill H. R. 9811, states that the major provisions of the house bills are:

1. The cotton law would continue the one-price approach that has increased the use of cotton in the U. S. this year and give cotton farmers greater freedom of choice.

2. The feed grain program which has added 8 billion dollars to farm income the past 4 years would be extended, and improved.

3. An improved wheat program would boost wheat farmers incomes by $150 billion a year.

4. A new cropland adjustment program would help the farmers shift a part of their allotted acreage out of crops into conservation and recreation uses — if they wanted to — and be paid for it.

5. In addition, the wool program would be continued.

This last is most important to this area.

In order for farmers and ranchers to have the benefit of any one of these programs, congressional approval of H. R. 9811 will be required. It is already late in season, and there is much opposition from non-farm, anti-farm, and some farm groups.

If the farm bill fails to pass, we would go back to the 1938 law, with price support at 65 to 90 percent of parity and continued overproduction. There would be no effective feed grains, wheat or wool programs.

Nogal Camp Meeting has high attendance

Over 800 people from West Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona registered at the Nogal Mesa Camp Meeting last week. Since this was the observance of the camp meeting's 25th anniversary representatives from Clayton Camp Meeting, the South Dakota camp meeting, and the Wilcox Arizona camp meeting were in attendance.

One of the features of the program was the showing of the film, "Cowboy Hitching Post" in which Ralph Hall and Roger Sherman acted. Ralph Hall was present to show the film and be the commentator. It was he with Roger Sherman, Joe Evans and Everett King who first conceived the idea of a Nogal Camp Meeting. Nine hundred people were served dinner Sunday noon.

During the five day meeting 20 quarters of beef, 170 lb. bacon and countless amounts of friole beans and onions were consumed.
