

That was the week that was in Ancho, N. M.

By Barbara Harkey

Last week (beginning Saturday the 9th) was "The Week That Was" as Rev. Ken Kettlewell, pastor of Oakhill United Presbyterian Church, sponsors Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chase and fourteen girls and seven boys stepped off Ralph Forsythe's bus at the Ancho Community U. P. Church. The youth work camp had been earning money for several months to make the trip to New Mexico, thru bake sales, bazaars and also by donations.

First thing on the agenda was to assign the youth to their temporary homes, while in the Ancho Community, which was as follows: Jim Black, Bob Ke-napp, Craig Wellspring, Ed Stherland, and Dave Sloe at the J. A. Hightower's; Jack Gover, Dale Brown, Lynn Bishop and Jane Sloe, at the Walt Wilson's; Janis Finney and Lois King with Elva Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chase, Sandy Schroeder and Kathy St. John with Jackie Silvers and the Jack-sons; Jean Black and Lynda Sarver at the Cope Straley's; Kathy Conner, Michele Den-nam, Jeannie Garver and Cecily Hessin at the Lee Straley's; Jill Kennemuth and Betty Huston at the George Lightfoots' and Dona Richter, Cindy Cardwell and Wendy Sanders at the Ho-ward Harkey home.

Each work day began with fifteen minutes of quiet devo-tion and there was also 30 min-utes of Bible reading and dis-cussions at 12:30. Rev. Ken Ket-tlewell was the Bible Leader and also the Morale Booster.

Bill Chase was given the mo-mentous task of "straw boss" assigning each person to a job and trying to keep one jump ahead of the kids with other jobs needing attention, and have you ever tried to keep 24 teenagers busy all day long? Everyone did the jobs assigned to them without complaint and in good humor, although it seemed like the girls got the worst jobs, like painting the outhouse — and who can for-get that gal who painted the door knobs inside and out the very first thing. The work went along at a fast pace, with a lot of singing, teasing and prac-tical jokes mixed in. The church never had it so good as floors were waxed, walls painted, win-dows scraped, and grounds cleaned up to mention just a few of the tasks accomplished by these industrious teenagers. The work campers were re-laxed at 4 in the afternoon to go to their respective homes. In the words of Lynn Bishop, "Bo-meriza just don't do the West justice." The people and the scenery are the most marvelous I've ever seen. The other youths also agreed that New Mexicans seemed to be the friendliest people that they had seen anywhere.

Jack Gover said he expected a "Wasteland of desert and in-stead found a heaven." Most commented on the beautiful scenery, the like of which they had never seen before, especially the flowering cacti, the mountains, the stunning sunsets.

Jean Black's reaction was, "Lincoln County has the most unusual and interesting scenery I have ever seen." They liked most of the Mexican dishes, but found that their high school Spanish was not always under-stood.

Rattlesnakes were killed at the Hightower and Wilson ranches and rattlers were im-mediately cut off to be taken home as mementos. Guests took time to find as many rattlers as they could to send home with the kids. The youths as a whole, would remember the place they made the trip that they made to White Sand National Monu-ment. That was just too fabu-lous for words.

Tom Taylor as Billy the Kid

As a lad, Tom Taylor often held reins of Billy's horse, while Kid was busy

Plans for the most anticipated local event of the summer, the annual Pageant of the Last Escape of Billy the Kid, are shaping up. The performances will be given in Lincoln on August 6th and 7th. As in the past several years, Dan Storm will again be the director.

Everyone regrets John Thom-son's decision not to play Billy again, but we can understand his reasons as he has given valient service in this role for numerous years. In many of the performances in the past, a local Lincoln Lad often held Billy's horse and as he grew taller had played various roles, but always it was his pride to hold Billy's horse. In thinking ahead to the time when he might want to step down from the role of Billy, Johnny Thomas had often expressed the hope that this lad could take his place. So this, 1966, this lad Tom Taylor, now grown up and almost the identical age of Billy the Kid, will be featured in the title role. There could not be a more fit-ting choice as Tom is the great grandson of none other than George Coe who played such a prominent part in the Lincoln County Wars, which are also part of the theme of the pageant.

Rehearsals for the Pageant will start in a get to - gether meeting on the pageant grounds at Lincoln on Friday evening, July 22nd at 7 p.m. As in the past, this informal meeting is in the nature of a covered dish event and while the Old Lincoln County Memorial Commission will furnish some of the re-freshments, all participants are requested to bring some pre-pared dish.

Everyone interested in tak-ing part in the Pageant is urged to come to Lincoln on the evening of the 22nd. It is an ideal opportunity to participate in our most important community effort and to see and visit with ones neighbors, often for the first occasion of the summer. Actors, dancers, musicians stage and lighting assistants, make-up helpers, and voices for the sound system - and especially horses, are needed. A most cordial in-itation is extended to all to come and participate in this event that gives pleasure to vis-itors from all over the United States.

Bookys write interesting history about Lincoln County's most famous town

Mr. and Mrs. Al Booky, resi-dents of Old Lincoln Town write the Lincoln History in our July 14 issue and here is another chapter.

A stone's throw west of the Torreon stands the old Tunstall, McSween Store, which was e-rected by two men, J. H. Tun-stall, and Alexander A. Mc-Sween, in 1877. Both of these men gained prominence and were killed during the violence in the Lincoln County War. Their graves are to be found marked with a simple head-stones, behind the store which they built, just within the pa-tion wall. The serenity of the view from this quiet patio be-lies the tumult which was once seen. Gazing down at the Rio Bonito, winding below the patio wall, and looking on across the grassy pastures to the hills be-yond, it is understandable that once a violent conflict broke out here in this little commu-nity and the surrounding country. Rich, arable land along the Bonito and good ranching country ("I around it was bound to be subject to dispute, and this land is all of that and more, with its lovely, mild climate and beautiful scenery.

sheet steel, and freighted all the way to New Mexico from St. Louis. Many of the items of merchandise were ordered from England. There are still on display some of the cartridges which were made in England. Perhaps it was cartridges similar to these which a young lieutenant nam-ed John Pershing bought on September 28, 1885, and had placed on his account along with some cigars he also bought. The two items came to $1.50, and were entered in the ledger of the store. That led-ger is only one of the many things of interest which are displayed in the old building. Lieutenant Pershing, while sta-tioned at Ft. Stanton, frequen-tly rode to Hondo, ten miles east of Lincoln along the Rio Bonito, to play black jack with friends. His fondness for black jack earned him the nickname of "Blackjack" Pershing in later years. Sophie Poe remarked in her book that Lieut. Pershing and two other young lieuten-ants were dubbed the "Three Green Peas" by an old timer because they were such tender-foet. Lieutenant Pershing was engaged in campaigns against the Apaches in Arizona as well as in New Mexico while serv-ing in the Southwest. Later he was sent to South Dakota to serve in the Sioux campaign, so he probably didn't retain his tenderfoot standing long!

Touted surplus still in doubt

By Charles Collin

SANTA FE — If you noted late last week, Gov. Jack Camp-bell huffed and puffed at the Demo Platform Convention and boldly came forth with the statement that New Mexico has $20 million surplus in the gen-eral fund. He even suggested that this magnificent abundance of money would grow larger be-fore the next administration moves in.

For what it's worth, even a few top Demos snickered at this proclamation on money.

Currently, the state's "actu-al" general fund is no more than an educated guess from either side of the fence.

The $20 million situation os-tensibly took into account fu-ture tax refunds. But at the present time, you can't find anyone who will venture an accurate estimate of how much eventual tax refunds will a-mount to.

Then there's the rapidly changing situation in the al-ways costly Welfare Depart-ment. Despite the abundance of experts, you can't nall down the potential costs in this area that could cross the collection line at any time.

Granted, if you're an opti-mist, the money "might" be there through astute paper-work.

But ask the next one-term Governor what happened to it and he'll probably agree it was "theory" and not "cash".

Self Insurance Not New Idea

Several persons have bristled over the past few weeks in re-gard to the state going on a "self insured" basis rather than doling out huge amounts of tax-ey annually for various po-licies.

Despite the nasty words that have been heaped on this col-umn from legislators, the idea is definitely not a new one.

State Sen. Ike Morgan, a De-mo from Roosevelt, headed up the Schools Studies Committee when that group made a survey of New Mexico's educational institutions.

Six colleges were polled and it was noted that $102,000 in (Continued on back page)

LANDMARKS OF LINCOLN COUNTY . . . By Walter Henn

The Provine House at Capitan

With shade trees all around, the Provine House on the hill above Capitan is a symbol of comfortable and gracious living in Lincoln County . . . and for historians this house recalls a roaring coal mining camp that was much too rough for a lady.

The Provine House was origi-nally constructed for mine officials at Coalora, a thriving town just west of where Capitan is now located. When this mining town was shut down some time before 1905 the house was cut in half and skidded down the hill to its present location. The joining is plainly visible today.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Provine bought the house in 1920 from Mrs. Buri Sears, now living in Carlsbad, the daughter of P. G. Peters who bought the house in Coalora and had it moved to Capitan for his home.

Mr. Provine came to New Mexico about 1898 from Tennessee and worked for South-western Mercantile in Coalora before they were married. He also worked at the George A. Titworth Store in Capitan, which burned down and the S. T. Gray Livery Stable was made into store, recently torn down to make way for new stores in Capitan. He later bought a ranch down below Lincoln and also operated the Lincoln Hotel for several years.

Mrs. Provine was Helen Cor-rine Hulbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hulbert of White Oaks. Mr. Hulbert came to White Oaks to work as a miner, and did work in the Old Abe Mine for about four years before his family came to the county. Helen Corrine went to school in White Oaks with Robert Leslie, North Lemon, and Bill Gallagher, who still reside in Lincoln County.

Mr. R. E. Lesson of Carrizozo, a former resident of White Oaks when it was a going town, tells us that the railroad was built to Coalora in 1890 ending a mile and a half west of Capitan. The following year it was built on into Capitan. The rail building continued on to Santa Rosa in 1901. It was found that coal was shot at Coalora and by the time Phelps - Dodge bought out C. E. Eddy, who built railroad from El Paso, the Coalora mine was shut down.

Mrs. Provine said it took them a full day driving by team and wagon from Lincoln to White Oaks for groceries and supplies. There were a few houses at Capitan then but not much of a town.

The Provine House was a lively place for many years following its purchase by a young married couple in 1920. Quite a family grew up there. Jane, Mrs. Howard Coleman, now lives in Las Vegas. Ray continues to live in Capitan. Robert is a resident of Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Charles is with NASA at White Sands. Eddie is an Army engineer at White Sands. Helen, Mrs. Chas. Farmer, now lives in Laurens, South Carolina.

Turn north at the main in-tersecton in Capitan, drive to the top of the hill and you will see the Provine House on the right, one of the few remain-ing landmarks of a once-roar-ing town named Coalora, New Mexico.

Capitan school starts Aug. 29

At the regular meeting of the Capitan Municipal School Board July 15th, 1966 the starting date of school was set for Mon-day, August 29th. The closing date May 26th. With holidays Monday Sept. 5th, Labor Day, Friday Sept. 9th, Lincoln County Fair, Oct. 27-28 State Teachers Convention, Nov. 11th Veter-ans Day, and Nov. 24-25th Thanksgiving. School will be out Friday Dec. 23rd for Christmas and resume Monday January 2. An Easter vacation Friday March 24th and Monday 27th.

The board voted to pay the county commissioners $801.00 as their share of the $5000.00 which the schools offered to help with in carrying out the county re-evaluation program. Mrs. Hap Allen was employed to take Carmen Burche's position in the cafeteria. Mrs. Joan Pumphrey was employed school secretary to take Mrs. Lydia Hall's position. Mrs. Hall re-signed at the end of the school year. Mrs. Emma Gess Hall will be employed part of the month of August to get the new libra-ry arranged. It is about 1/2 com-plete now, and should be finish-ed about the 26th of August. The Board also approved the aide by Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Spencer in helping equip and furnish the library.

We wish to also express our appreciation to Dr. and Mrs. Spencer as they are making so many things possible that would have otherwise been eliminated.

The board directed Supt. Dar-ling to include two teachers aide positions for the coming school year, one for secondary and one for elementary, when he writes up the 1968-67 Title I project. Applications are now being received in the office of the Supt. for these positions. An aide must be a high school gra-duate, and be able to handle basic office equipment.

More recreation than ever before

SANTA FE — State game and fish programs are providing more outdoor recreations opportunities in New Mexico than ever before and more sportsmen are taking advantage of them.

Increased trout plantings coupled with favorable water and weather conditions have resulted in excellent fishing conditions this spring. Department Director Ladd Gordon said in a mid-year report to Governor Jack M. Campbell.

Trapping and transplantation programs have increased the state's stock of javelinas, elk, antelope, pheasants and francollins.

The game and fish program is making progress financially also, said Gordon, noting the balance in the Game Protection Fund is $188,000 greater than it was a year ago and license vendors' sales up almost $190,000.

The recently-completed Santa Rosa trout rearing station has gone into full operation, and production at other hatchery installations has exceeded that of last year.

Work is continuing on the Sacramento Dam and Lake south of Clouderoff in Otero county. It is hoped this structure will be completed and water impounded by late summer.

Engineering studies and feasibility reports have been completed toward the construction of a 100-acre trout fishing lake on Snow Creek in Catron County. Bids will be let this month.

The Department recently acquired a perpetual fishing easement along two miles of the San Juan River below Navajo Dam. This easement will increase significantly the trout fishing potential in San Juan County.

The white-winged pheasants brought here from Afghanistan are adapting themselves to the arid valleys of southern New Mexico.

Imported exotic animals — oryx, kudu and two species of otter have been transferred to the fenced enclosure of Red Rock on the Gila.

Thirty-six javelinas were trapped in Big Ben National Park.

Texas, and released in the Guadalupe Mountains. A total of 238 elk was obtained from Yellowstone National Park and released in the San Mateos, the Rio Chama wildlife area, Cimarron Canyon and on AEC lands in Los Alamos County. The Department trapped 119 antelope on the Cowan and TO ranches in northeastern New Mexico, with release made at five sites at various points within the state.

A release of 2,450 Afghan white-winged pheasants was made in the Bernardo, Las Cruces and Red Rock areas. Also 773 gray and 189 black francollis were released in the Deming, Cotton City and Red Rock areas.

Excellent cooperation has been received from the State Penitentiary Forestry Camp at Tierra Amarilla in doing work on the Rio Chama Wildlife area, Gordon said. Prisoners have ripped the spillways on 10 wildlife waterings, developed a spring for wildlife, planted trees along the south roadway, and cut fence posts to be used in maintenance work.

The New Mexico Boys' School Forestry Camp at Eagle Nest

supplies the Department with a work crew five days a week to do clean-up, development and maintenance work within the Cimarron Canyon area.

Department personnel have assisted several outdoor writers on hunting and fishing trips and in obtaining information and photographs.

That's Logical

An old mountaineer and his son were sitting in front of the fire smoking their pipes, crossing and uncrossing their legs. After a long silence, the father said: "Son, step outside and see if it's still raining."

On looking up the son said "why don't we just call in the dog and see if he's wet?"

Cristina Pacheco was the sweepstakes winner in the jumper dress division of the Dress - Revue. Gloria Zamora won a blue ribbon on her blouse and skirt. Cecelia Pacheco and Judy Provine won red ribbons on their aprons and Sportswear respectively.

Small cuts on trees and shrubs usually will heal over quickly and no treatment normally is necessary. However, if the cut is over one inch in diameter, some protection should be given to prevent decay organisms or disease from entering it.

Paint the wounds with a water emulsion or a commercial tree wound dressing that contains an antiseptic. The antiseptic helps prevent the spread of organisms that may contaminate the tree paint. Most garden supply stores have commercial preparations suitable for treating tree wounds.

If you have a choice shrub in your yard and would like to have a few more specimens just like it, there is an easy and reliable propagation method available. It's called layering. No special equipment is needed.

Simply take a pliable shoot of one-year-old growth and gently bend it to the ground. Don't break or cut it off from the original plant. About eight to twelve inches from the tip, make a U-shaped bend. The bottom of this U is going to be the eventual spot for new root growth. If the branch hasn't already cracked or broken at this point as the result of making the U, make a cut partly through the shoot at the bend.

This break or cut is actually a wound and at this wound area the plant develops callus tissue. From this tissue new roots develop, and the portion of the shoot or branch beyond the U bend eventually becomes the new plant.

Make a hole or slit in the ground and insert at U. Three to four inches of the shoot tip should be above the ground. Hold the shoot in the ground and cover it with several inches of soil. Keep moist. Place a stone or brick to hold the soil and shoot in place. The stone or brick also tends to absorb heat and hastens rooting.

The layered shoot will continue to grow as though nothing has happened, but the callus tissue will develop at the wound and roots will begin to grow. Most plants will develop enough roots to be cut from the parent plant and moved to a new location in two to four months.

Forsythias, viburnums, cotoneasters and many others are ready to cut off the following spring.

The County Agent says that layering has one big advantage over the other propagating methods, in the fact that roots on the parent plant feed the new plant until it has developed its own root system. The eventual cut-off is made close to the ground, between the new roots and the mother plant.

July '66 noted as Land Bank month

For people who make their living from agriculture in De Baca, Lincoln, Chaves, Eddy and Lea Counties, July will be a month - long testimony to the fact that they - and most other farmers and ranchers - are modern businessmen.

It will be "Land Bank Month," the 50th Anniversary of the Farm Loan Act which put farming on a business basis in the U. S. for the first time in history. Farmers and ranchers at last were able to borrow money on reasonable terms and put it to work as a production tool. Mr. Vonnie Jasper, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Roswell, said that farmers at the turn of the century were regarded as about the poorest business risks imaginable. "No one would lend them money to operate the way a businessman must if he is going to grow and contribute to his community," he said. "Interest rates for farmers were twice as high as for city businessmen, and the loans were for very short terms."

"Three presidents - Theodore Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson - studied the problem, and finally the Farm Loan Act was signed by Woodrow Wilson on July 17, 1916. This act created the Federal Land Bank System, through which farmers could obtain long - term, low - cost real estate loans from their own organizations."

The Federal Land Bank Association of Roswell is one of 66 Associations in the Federal Land Bank District of Wichita, which in turn is one of 12 Federal Land Banks that serve the 50 states.

"Altogether, "Mr. Jasper said, "the Federal Land Bank System nationally has loaned its farmer - members more than $12 billion. During the past year, The Land Bank of Wichita has loaned farmers in the four states it serves - Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico some $100 million.

"There are half as many farmers today as there were 50 years ago, and they're feeding a population that has doubled in this century," he said. "They rank among the greatest users of technology the world has ever known. A visit to a modern farm or ranch today would prove these accomplishments without a doubt.

"What goes on there - is new breeding, feeding, and other production techniques - equals the advances made by other areas of business in the United States. Farming or ranching is a business - a high risk, modern business."

Mr. Jasper said that 220 farmers and ranchers currently hold Land Bank loans in the 5 counties his Association serves. Most of the loans have been used to expand, improve, and modernize farm land and equipment. The average size of the loan made by the Association in 1965 was $28,567, compared with an average loan of $22,672 in 1964.

How It's Done
A tourist was being shown around a zoo in Russia by a guide. They came to a cage in which were a tiger and a lamb. "That's an amazing example of co-existence," said the tourist with a laugh. "How on earth is it managed?"
"We put in a new lamb every day."

Why Should I?
"Do you say your prayers before eating?" the minister asked the little boy. "No sir, I don't need to," replied the child. "My mother's a good cook."

Possible cure for hospital dilemma

Being a small isolated town has both advantages and disadvantages. Carrizozo is far from racial troubles, no smog problems here, murders generally clean and performed by normal people, everybody knows everybody and life in a small town is rather relaxed and pleasant.

On the disadvantage side we occasionally miss having local dentist, jeweler, shoe man, and looks like Ford drivers will have to join the herd going elsewhere to spend their money.

Being a small isolated town means our hospital has average occupancy of seven patients per day year around. This is not enough to pay for three registered nurses, one on each shift as required by the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare for participation in health insurance program for the aged, known as Medicare.

By the time you count more than $50,000 owed to the hospital by patients for past services, the local hospital needs at least an average of 14 patients per day to cover delinquent accounts and pay normal upkeep and overhead.

Setting in a session with the State Special Hospitals' Board of Directors last weekend we learned of the shortage of nursing homes in the state, also that a nursing home tied onto a hospital become one unit — the same nurses could serve both parts.

It would require an expenditure of some $100,000 maybe $220,000 but this may be the only solution for a bad situation that of qualifying the local hospital for Medicare.

With 25-30 beds in nursing home, in addition to the 20 hospital beds, the economics of Carrizozo Hospital would change immediately — the institution should be able to afford three registered nurses, as required by Medicare.

We know of other reasons for such a move. If the smaller towns do not take a lead in providing facilities for the health insurance program for the aged, the whole business will wind up in a few large institutions — generally a much worse situation for the state and for the patients.

Carrizozo Municipal Hospital is owned and financed by the county. It has an obligation, like it or not, to qualify for the health insurance program. We believe it should qualify to serve the people of the Carrizozo area — those who are sick, those who are in the health insurance program, and those who are elderly and need a home.

The heat of summer

Porter says it was hot last summer, but we can't even remember working up a steam that year to compare with the heat of '66.

Youngsters were swarming out last Saturday night just like bugs only more of them and probably worried heck out of Choncho. It's been much too warm to stay in the house in early evening — nothing like Phoenix or Wichita where it's 98 at midnight — but warm for the high plains of Zozo.

We'd feel a little bad about the clatter of beer cans, the rumble in the street, the rev of the motors, screech of tires, maybe even feel that law now-a-days was lax — if it were not for some memories of hot summer nights when we could call every youngster by his nick name.

There was a night when it seemed like the only thing to do was to get the cream cans from the station and have a can throwing contest. The night when a guy we called Brecky thought he could climb a tree with his Model T and the son-of-a-gun got half way up. Like the time when watermelons were ripe and so plentiful farmers didn't mind raiding so the raiders came back to town and bombed a crowd of their buddies.

Somehow or other youngsters of any age need to turn off the pall of civilization, get away from the regimentation, layoff the mother-father influence and just be boys in the summer time.

Some good hot interests help during the period, very few available in the country town. Leaves beer drinking (terrible stuff on the liver) ganging up for no reason at all, hit the road doing sixty in second, and whatever else comes to mind in the heat of a Saturday night.

The heat won't last forever — but right now summer is sure on and hell-raising is the thing to do. Another and more refined type of play, like football, will come along with the first bite of fall.

Up at Nogal Lake Sunday late fishing with Jess Garrison, Marlon Pherigo and Billy Means our luck was about like theirs, few bites no fish. The Game Dept. says 14-17 inchers are being caught out of this lake. Biggest hazard is the shore-line mess of beer cans and refuse. Lacks a lot of being a beauty spot.

Heading home from Nogal we turned the dogs out to let them run a jackrabbit. The oldest, Schnappes, likes to finish his run before returning, mosquitoes were fierce so we let Schnappes run and went on to town. About 10:00 p.m. Boyce and Payton drove back to the Lake area, sure enough, there was Schnappes waiting for us in the spot where he got out.

We have some shopping advice for W-W readers. If you want a real snazzy straw hat at a real good price, try Ben Roberts' place in Corona. The one we bought caused Sid Goodloe to hunt all over the Stampede arena for descriptive adjectives.

Rather an unusual situation at Zozo Merc where Edna Jones does her own modeling. She makes dresses like mad, people come in see them — buy material and patterns so they can make a dress like Edna's, no small compliment to this store owner.

People may wonder about the "Stockholders vote" news story in the News last week. How did it end, what happened. Well, it was all there but printers have two hands and in this instance some printer got a hold of this news story, one piece in each hand, and put the bottom on the top when they set it in the paper.

W • W
The news story about Means and Ortiz buying Lincoln Motors did not tell the full story because all details were not available last week. What the two men bought was equipment and a name, they did not buy a franchise to sell new Ford cars. Ford Motor Co. controls this and we get the information this week that Means and Ortiz do not intend to apply for the franchise. Result of this goings on is that Zozo has lost a new car dealership and may never get it back — more business going out of town.

Must be good crop of apples at Nogal and more to come. Alton Waltaker brought sack into News and our printers took to them like bees to honey.

Some of the big and-out-of-medical-care programs are just now coming out. Under Title 19 is a new program to help together a hodge-podge of Federal-state programs that have been providing medical assistance to needy persons, such as dependent children, blind and disabled, elderly persons who are indigent or near-indigent.

For good measure Title 19 also adds to these groups anyone else, regardless of age, who is medically indigent. A family of four with net income of $8,000 annually is medically indigent in New York.

A man took his daughter on a trip to New York. They went to one of those plays that made father blush a bit.

ARCHEOLOGISTS FIND STRANGE NECKLACE

Two crescent-shaped abalone shell pendants and a number of flint "tinklers," shaped like long narrow spear points, were located recently along with a Zuni type pot at the Gran Quivira excavation project. Archeologists believe that the flint objects were attached to a necklace in such a fashion that they would "tinkle" like small bells when the wearer moved. The two abalone crescents probably were attached to the same necklace.

These artifacts will be in display at the Gran Quivira Museum.

Stockholders vote against selling

The called meeting of the Carrizozo Country Club, held July 9 at the clubhouse, was just a little stormy and stockholders not even close to agreeing on the future of clubhouse and grounds.

One group wanted to sell the property, approximately 60 acres worth around $150 per acre which constitutes the golf course. The country club owns another 80 acres which are the rodeo grounds.

The other group was opposed to selling any of the ground, but wants to give the golf course property, not including the clubhouse and ground under it, to the Town of Carrizozo. This move would open up an avenue of improving the property and also provide for maintenance of the grounds.

The voting was 15 to sell and some 20 votes against selling. What brought the matter to a head was the continual fight to keep the club going with only 50 dues paying members. The country club was built in 1932 and paid for by private donations.

A motion was passed giving the board of directors authority to discuss the matter of the Town of Carrizozo taking a deed to the golf course land.

KIT CARSON WRITES

Wickedest place this side of hell

SAIGON — To some, Saigon may mean the capital of South Viet Nam, and nothing else in particular; others "the war capital of the world"; even others the main concentration point for the Americans, military and civilian, to struggle with the Vietnamese in riding the land of the Viet Cong, and making the troubled Southeast Asia country a part of the Free World.

But really Saigon is an overrun city, the wickedest place this side of hell.

Here in these cruel limits loyalty has become to be spelled with the letters M-O-O-N-E-Y, the American long gone.

Geographically located on the Mekong River Delta, 10° and 47' minutes north of the equator this city boasts a two million population, on an area of the earth's crust that is fully two feet deep in human filth and waste, so congested with humanity that there is scarcely room to make improvement, much less a repair or disturbance of the surface. It is the hottest spot on the face of the globe, and this reference is not applied to temperature alone.

Besides the Vietnamese, most every race of the world is seen on the narrow, teeming, congested streets. The American, in large numbers, of course dressed distinctively in Western garb, sticks out like a sore thumb, with a background of Oriental and every other dress of the Far East.

American military and the Vietnamese army people haunt every nook and turn of the city, with as furious a dominance as the Old Roman soldier over dared portray.

Once a fantastic city, colonized and protectorate of the French for more than a century, called by these fantastic dreamers the "Pearl of the East." It is today a seething mass of all sorts of individuals who have learned all the evils connected with MONEY.

Laid out to be a paradise and one of exalted beauty, it is today packed — marked with numerous fox holes and entrenchments, both old and new, barbed wire entanglements, manned by furious soldiers of all types, all mixed in a hustle and bustle of the masses searching for the American dollar. All carried on in a pile of filth of unremoved materialistic garbage and human feces left by depositors who cared less about the multitudes that passed their way during the depository.

Merchants operate fantastic bazaars in these realms. Thieves and the religious are also busy. The thieves are more active. The operation is a Saigon of Hell.

The people, natives, are of small stature, men weighing perhaps a hundred pounds. The women look like miniatures, about 60 or 70 pounds, maybe the more sturdy topping out at 80 or such.

Saigon was laid out with once inviting parks, and daunted with many benches, planted with the idea of a worldly paradise of peace and rest. Shrubbery and flowers were once a plan. But this today is strewn with human droppings who carried not to conceal himself during the passage of a steady flow of humanity. And the whole city is a horrible stenching mess, and the voyager wonders if it is worth saving.

Traffic is like a race in hell must be, however, few people are injured. The streets are a seething cauldron of pedicars, small vehicles, taxis, trucks, bicycles, motorbikes, motorscooters, small contraptions of all types, all zooming around at a breakneck speed, as the hustling, daring pedestrians bravely weaves a passage through the teeming mass. No one seems to get hurt!

There are no stop-and-go signs. One travels with his life at stake, in a weaving sort of manner. In this teeming mass operates the connoisseur pick-pocket, watchsnatcher, and every crook known to the world, taking advantage of the seething masses to apply his iniquity without interference or interruption.

An American militaryman proudly promenade the once beautiful streets, with a fancy strapped across shoulder. A long whisked two Vietnamese on motorbikes, mischievous individuals, as it turned out to be, thieves. One grasped the camera strap across the militaryman's shoulder, as he sped by. Luckily for the equipment, the shoulder strap did not break. But the serviceman took a terrific beating, as he was dragged down the rough, nasty street.

On the river front, a viewing American looked down upon the filthy waters of the nasty Mekong River, and looked at the boats whose sides were becoming contaminated by the filth of the water. Suddenly he felt a firm yank at the valuable watch. He whirled. A small Vietnamese boy, perhaps 12, was racing for the water, the valuable watch held firmly within his hand. The American pursued; but the crafty youth plunged into the water, and was never seen again. Neither was the watch. The police looked on, grinning. Such is an everyday occurrence in Saigon.

A wised-up American guarded his wallet in Saigon throughout the better part of a day. Late in the afternoon he felt the need for money. He reached to his hip pocket where his fat purse seemed to be. He pulled it out, instead of his own, he removed a worn-out dummy, with nothing in it! He had no idea where his billfold had gone, or the roll in it!

In Saigon, "in less than a year prostitution has become a major industry." Contraceptives are boldly displayed in huge piles on the overflowing street bazaars. Whores openly hawk their trade.

Short change artists, posing as international currency exchangers, haunt every street corner, and have lots of success in fleeing the newcomer who is usually the American. His deft fingers are faster than the eye, and the bargain hunter comes out at the little end of the horn.

Huge trading centers and merchandise stores are frequent throughout Saigon, and would be fantastic if they were cleaned up inside and out.

Saigon offers a wonderful place with lots of material for the free peoples of the world to work, and I suspect the Vietnamese people are proud to have this sort of help on their side.

After a short study of Saigon, it is difficult to say what the outcome will be. Even people who have made a lengthy study of the situation seem at times to be at a loss as to the future. The French people, it is said, once fought a fierce struggle to pull the people from the brink of hell and ruin, and out of a 25-century rut. But for some reason gave up, and pulled out. They gave the land and the whole deal, as the American would say, "back to the Indians!"

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT IS . . . As this copy is being ground through the mill, a move is on in Saigon to move both Vietnamese and American military, with flooding American civilians, from the congested wicked city, to relieve the depressing flooded situation.

If the Americans are ever successful — and they certainly will be — in helping this troubled land, they will certainly be recognized in the history pages as having made a great accomplishment.

Lincoln History

(Continued from page one) Sween museum is a notation telling of the first newspaper in Lincoln. It was called the "Independent," and was published in the 1880's by James Kibbee, father of Guy Kibbee, the actor. No copies have been located by these authors of this paper, but a copy of the "White Oaks Eagle," dated Thursday, March 12, 1896, was found. The editor was John Y. Hewitt, and a year's subscription could be had for $2.50. There were several items of interest in this particular edition of the "Eagle." A Lincoln attorney, J. M. Jewett, had inserted an ad in the "Eagle" in which he stated that he would practice in all the courts of the territory, as well as the court of private land claims and department of the interior.

Also found in this issue of the Eagle was an announcement made by the White Oaks Lodge No. 20 A.F. & Am M., a brother lodge to the Aztec-Lodge No. 3 A.F. & A. M. of Las Cruces; to which Albert J. Fountain had belonged. Albert Fountain and his nine year old son had disappeared on the way back to Las Cruces from Lincoln. Fountain had been quite active in bringing livestock rustlers to justice, and it was supposed that some of them or their friends had been responsible for his disappearance on Feb. 1, 1896. This had inspired the announcement found in the March 12, 1896 "Eagle," which read: The White Oaks Lodge No. 20 A.F. & A.M. deeply lament the disappearance of Albert Fountain on February 1, 1896, and pledge themselves to bring to justice the perpetrators of such a cowardly act.

Signed T. W. Heman Jones Tallaferra Frank R. Lloyd As persons acquainted with New Mexico history are aware, neither Fountain nor his son was ever found, though there have been many theories advanced concerning their fate.

The third feature of interest which was found in the "Eagle" and which was connected with Lincoln, was an advertisement which might be of interest in its entirety. Particularly so since the little stage station to which the stage ran is still standing in Lincoln. The ad which was the Ozannes' Stage Line ran was as follows:

OZZANNES' TRI - WEEKLY PASSENGER & EXPRESS LINE FROM SAN ANTONIO TO LINCOLN VIA WHITE OAKS, NOGAL, AND FORT STANTON.

Elegant new stages have been put on this line, which will leave San Antonio every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, immediately after the arrival of the train, for which it will wait, however late the train may be; and will reach San Antonio from White Oaks every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and connect with the east-bound train. No more night travel. Passengers will stop overnight at the Mountain Station Ranch, and reach White Oaks in time for dinner next day. None but careful, sober men are employed to drive, and no expense will be spared to make passengers safe and comfortable. Coaches will leave White Oaks every Monday, Wednesday and Friday for the railroad. In all my eight years experience in carrying the United States mail, I have never had a single accident resulting in injury to anyone. Passengers who regard their comfort and safety will do well to patronize the Ozannes Stage Line, and when they reach White Oaks to STOP AT THE HOTEL OZANNES where they will be taken care of as well as if at their own homes. We strive to serve the public.

J. O. Ozannes, Prop. White Oaks "Eagle"

The Tunstall-McSween store which is now a museum, houses quite a collection of antique objects such as a huge coffee grinder, balanced scales, foot-warmers, buggy whips, dispensers for buckshot, spices, and thread; catalogues from which to order buggies, wagons, and other conveniences. There is a vinegar barrel and bins for staples, grain, and nails. There are ox yokes, horse collars, and hand made horse shoes. At the eastern end of the old store is Lincoln's post office, and visitors often wander in to mail post cards and then stay to chat with Mrs. Edgar Phillips, the postmistress, who is always ready to answer questions concerning the old town or refer them to someone else when she can't. Former residents often write to Mrs. Phillips, who in turn keeps their old neighbors informed as to their location and activities.

In the western end of the museum, which was previously used as a store and a store-room, is housed the public library in Lincoln today.

Rumblings Louder On Real 'Horse Race' For what it's worth, there are growing rumblings that the state's gubernatorial scamper may become a real "horse race."

Several Demo moguls voiced some concern during the platform meeting. It seems too many Democrats figured Demo candidate Gene Lusk would have a shooin-over GOP candidate Dave Cargo.

But even former Gov. John Simms made a rather stinging point in noting that the Demos aren't over the hill yet.

Week that was (Continued from page one) Fellow Ohioans, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith and 2 children, on a vacation in the western states stopped by, parked their trailer at Ancho, and pitched right in with the work for two days. News items from home were related and messages sent back by the Smiths.

For Bill Chase, or Hop-a-long Chase as he is now known, his memorable experience of this trip was a six second ride on a bronc, at the Arena in town, two seconds on the horse and 4 seconds flat on his back looking up at the sky. The canebought for Bill by the kids while in Old Lincoln Town in Albuquerque, as a joke, isn't just for looks, says Bill.

It was an experience that the community of Ancho and the work team of Akron, Ohio, Oak Hill Church will never forget. The teen-agers will remember the West, in somewhat a different light than they envisioned it when they first stepped on the train at Akron. But for the horse back rides taken, jeeping through the mountains, the animals they encountered, new to them, but part of our everyday life, such as a buck jumping a fence in the evening, the horny toads, etc., also the first tries at milking, with the exclamation, "I got some!"

So from the Ancho community to the 1966 Akron Youth Work Camp, thank you. We enjoyed every minute of your stay in our homes and the good times that we had while you were here. "Hasta la vista, amigo."

When you kick in some $95,000 per year in one small area, it would stagger the imagination to assume the entire amount kicked in by the state for insurance policies. It remains an area where most insurance - legislators are big fat recipients of the state's current policy.

Morgan, incidently, is in the insurance business but has refrained from chasing the state business and has pushed the "self - insurance" idea. The state of New Mexico is larger than most insurance firms that it deals with. There's been an abundance of lip service paid to any possible "conflict of interest" law. So far, however, both parties have dealt in generalities and have carefully avoided stepping on any toes. The touchy part about dddling around with legislators who sell a massive amount of insurance to the state is that you have to start with U. S. Sen.
