Bombers now on grasshopper attack

SPRAY ATTACK — This converted B-17 bomber belonging to Aviation Specialties of Mesa, Ariz., makes an early morning run over the Owens ranch in the north Capitan area. The spray program will cover a half-million acres in Lincoln County and is expected to be completed by next week. A total of six blocks, each with its own spray bomber, are being covered with Malathion for grasshopper control.

LOADING SHIP — This crew prepares pumping equipment for loading liquid Malathion into spray bombers. Approximately 300 barrels of the grasshopper-killing agent is stored here alongside the Transwestern airstrip, between Capitan and Corona.

Blowout blamed for wreck

A blowout of a right rear tire was blamed for Charles W. Musick, 41, of Lovington running off Highway 390, 3.3 miles west of Carrizozo striking a rock outcrop. Also in the vehicle were his wife, Lossil Dell, and son, Darrel Kay, 13.

Occupants were taken to Lincoln County Municipal Hospital, examined and released. Investigating officer was Sgt. H.L. Raney of the State Highway Patrol who said no charges would be filed.

An alert truck driver was credited with averting a possible disaster when he saw the Musick swerve into the wrong lane and whipping his truck over to the edge of the roadway allowing it to pass, noted Sergeant Raney.

Government men laud committeemen

Malathion spraying of 500,000 acres of hopper infested pasture began in earnest Tuesday morning. Spray-laden bombers of World War II vintage started their patterns soon after dawn.

Officials of the USDA and the plant pest control division had high praise for the work of grasshopper committeemen and Ralph

Dunlap, county extension agent. Officials commended the work accomplished and the spirit of the two local committeemen.

North Capitan area committee members are: Walt Wilson, chairman; Bill Edgar, secretary-treasurer; Nat Gnatkowski and Milt Jones. Nogal Mesa area committee members are La-Moyne Peters, chairman; Fletcher Hall, Jr. and Illia Schlidknecht.

Crabera hall

Dedication set

Dedication of Edward A. Crabera Dining Hall at Camp Sierra Blanca, Ft. Stanton, has been set for Saturday, Aug. 26 at 10:30 a.m. State and local dignitaries have been invited said Jack Schuster, director.

Named in honor of a former student who gave his life in Vietnam, funds for the renovation came from a gift made by Dr. and Mrs. A.N. Spencer of Carrizozo.

A branch of the Springer school for boys, most of the construction of camp facilities was done by the camp boys, Schuster said. At present some 52 boys live there.

The camp noted its third year in May.

Pam and Bunky Mullins, members of Corona Mustangs 4-H Club, attended the 4-H rodeo finals in Albuquerque August 18 and 19. There was over 200 contestants participating in all the rodeo events.

Pam won first in barrel racing with a time of 18.16 seconds. Bunk won first in break away roping with a time of 4.6 seconds. They were each awarded a trophy buckle.

Zozo QB club meets tonight

The Grizzlie Quarterback club will meet tonight, August 24, in the cafeteria, instead of the previously announced time, Grizzlie Coach Durrell Pearcy said. New officers will be elected and guidelines will be set during this meeting he told.

Starting this year, films will be shown of Grizzlie games, Coach Pearcy told.

Coach Durrell Pearcy said that mothers were especially invited to the first session. Two team members will wait up before the meeting to show the protective equipment provided for the safety of the boys.

Basil Lawson, Carrizozo High School math teacher, will film the Grizzlie games this year. Films will be shown during the Tuesday QB Club meetings of the games played the previous weekend, Pearcy said.

City council approves revised sales tax bill

During a special meeting Monday Carrizozo's city council approved Municipal Ordinance No. 93 which brings the city's 1 per cent sales tax in line with a new state sales tax ordinance.

After reading the entire ordinance, taking some twenty minutes, City Attorney, H. Elfred Jones recommended that an abbreviated form, similar to one used by Alamogordo be published. Upon his advice and with the stipulation that if this abbreviated form is not legal then the entire text be published, the council approved.

Zozo sets for Ruidoso game

Conditioning and reaction drills are the present concern of Durrell Pearcy, Carrizozo Grizzlies coach. He told that most of the practice sessions devoted time to 'one on one' blocking drills.

"We feel a good defense will lead to a good offense," he said explaining "when the team hustles and puts up a good defense, they'll also hustle and move the ball on offense."

With 85 boys reporting for practice this year, Coach Pearcy looks forward to the game Sept. 1 against Ruidoso here.

He picked out a few Grizzlies that have looked especially good in practice: Frank Hine, a 180-pounder, showing to be an adept pass receiver.

Dancy Manriel, showing a sharp eye and strong arm as a passing quarterback.

Tim Mackey, a small back who gets through the line fast.

Gordon Barham, strong and fast, "a real two-way threat," said Pearcy.

Scott Shafer, good on offense.

Raymond Aragon, strong on defense.

Mike Leach, an aggressive 186-pound guard.

Also mentioned were David Lock and Stephen Harper who are battling for the other and slot to offset Frank Hine.

"With a strong arm quarterback, we plan on a strong passing game this year," Coach Pearcy told.

Also commended was Line Coach, Joe Berneathy who Pearcy described as "one fine defense teacher."

Other matters covered during the meeting included listing specifications for bids to be taken for a 2-ton 4' or 5-yard dump truck for the City of Carrizozo.

Also discussed was closing the Municipal swimming pool after Sunday, Aug. 27. A decision was withheld until the matter is discussed with school officials.

Another letter is being sent by City Clerk, Nellie Baker, to the State Comptroller to see if it is permissible for the City of Carrizozo to pay members of the volunteer fire department for attending training sessions. The proposal was presented by Councilman Vernon Petty.

The council also approved constructing a water carrying device near the Frontier Motel to prevent runoff water from entering the property. Work will begin as soon as possible, councilmen noted.

Two men will be sent to a school conducted in Alamogordo by the Southwest section of the New Mexico Water Supply and Pollution Control Association on Sept. 8, following a request by Mayor Leandro Vega.

Also present was Councilman Fred Chavez.

P.O. POSITIONS OPEN

The Postmaster at Carrizozo, N. Mex., announced today that applications for examination for Substitute Clerk and Carrier positions in the Carrizozo, N. Mex. Post Office will be accepted until further notice.

Hundred-year-well yields many artifacts

"This old well is near the Murphy-Dolan store house and corrals and may be the first well they dug," Ward said. He added that the hole was hand rock drilled all the way up, most likely, after water had been discovered.

Two other old wells are known to be in the vicinity of the courthouse an old well with a windmill behind the structure and another on the west side of the building.

An apparent animal burrow got bigger after a rain, so Bill R. Ward, Old Lincoln County Memorial Commission curator, poked a light into the hole and discovered a rock-lined well. Scratching around in the well uncovered several artifacts:

An intact square shoe polish bottle that has been dated between 1880 and 1890, a pair of whiskey bottles of the same vintage, an unused mule shoe, a used horse shoe, a beer bottle containing unused square nails, parts of an old china doll and a "new" (it says so on the brass) Winchester shotgun shell.

Now at 17 feet or so, Ward told that digging will continue with the aid of a trowel and a paint brush. He is especially interested in finding the remainder of the china doll.

Ward speculated that the well had dried up many years ago and cedar posts and lime had been placed over the opening, then covered with a layer of dirt. He has not figured out how charred material got into the well, dug out during the first part of the excavation.

"I believe that this well may be over 100 years old," he said.

MARGARET RENCH - Reporter

Lightning hits Anderson home

Recently lightning struck at the big room of the Elvin Anderson home. It struck the well, night light and phone. This room built on to their lovely big trailer. They had three guests from Mo, and were entertaining them by showing films. Mr. Anderson was knocked out for a few seconds. They did not have water for three days. But, it was a fortunate trail to live through. Their guest were with them eight days. They like it here and went home to try to sell their property and move here. Which is certainly good news to us. We do love our country here and welcome new comers.

Other guests of the Andersons were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Schulte of St. Louis, Mo., who stayed two weeks. They purchased a tract of land. Several other tracts were sold near them this last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Otho Lowe accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Anderson made a business trip to El Paso last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gardnhire and two children of Eau Gallie, Florida, left Monday after visiting his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw for several days. Montie and Jackie Gardnhire of Tularosa spent Sunday here with them.

Guests for one week of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Parker were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fullerton of Albuquerque. Also friends, Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Robertson and Scott of Seymour, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. David Morris moved to Capitan three weeks ago. They have two children in school. He is employed at Ruidoso.

The Roundtable Club met at the home of Anglo Province as Lorene Ferguson was ill in the hospital. There were eight members and three guests present. The members were Corrine Province, Ethel Merrett, Geneva Walker, Frances Shaw, Amolia McKnight, Bessie Jones, Mario RANCH HOSTS — The Messing Harford Ranch and Dean Boyd Harford, neighboring ranches near Capitan, recently hosted the Annual N. M. Jr. Harford Association field day attended by some 400 people. Members of the host family (L to r) are: Dean Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mabry, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Massey.

Project Grows

The Capitan Woman's Club is very proud to acknowledge the six new picnic tables in their park. Four of the new tables were donated by the Capitan Lions Club, one table donated by the Methodist Church U.S.C.S., and one table by the Cholla Cowbells. The tables were built by Mr. Dennis Cooper of Capitan.

Edgar and the hostess Anglo Province. The three special guests were Mrs. Claudio Walker, Sr. of Roswell, Mrs. Mary Gastineau of Poru, Kansas and Mrs. Grace Murphy of LaCorte, California.

Miniature jars of hand lotion was made and given each member and guest by Lorene Ferguson.

A delicious smothered steak dinner was served with many other delicious dishes.

Etha Merrell won the raffle. A flower gussing game was presented by Amolia McKnight. Grace Murphy won high prize.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. D.O. Jones this last weekend were her sister Mrs. Buck Williamson and son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Crawford and Keith of Gatesville, Texas. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith and all of the Jones families as well.

Mrs. Jim (Jeanette) Prince and daughter Dea of Columbus Air Force Base, Miss. is spending two months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy LaMay. She will leave in September. It was good to see you Jeanette.

The Capitan 1947 class consisting of 10, held a reunion ten years ago and this last weekend they held their second one with 12 and their families present. One from San Francisco, another from Flagstaff. Others were from Albuquerque, Roswell, Ruidoso and Capitan. Hollis Cummings was a student of this class and he certainly did enjoy this reunion. He and his lovely wife Gloria, entertained them at their home Friday. Miss Lillian Tuttle of Alamogordo, a teacher attended Friday and Friday night. They voted to hold their next reunion in five years.

Capitan Lions donate tables

The Capitan Lion's Club has again demonstrated their willingness to support improvement of our community. Their financial assistance to the Smokey Bear Museum is well known, and when they heard of the need for picnic tables for the Woman's Club Park, they enthusiastically volunteered to purchase four picnic tables for the park. The park tables were built by Mr. Dennis Cooper, who has a reputation for being an excellent carpenter. The Capitan Woman's Club is very pleased with the new tables and we know the tables will be used for many years, and by many members of our community. The Village of Capitan is indeed fortunate to have such a fine men's organization in their community.

The Capitan Woman's Club is having a rummage sale September 2 and 3 at the club house.

Anyone having clothing or household items, please bring to the club house August 28 and 29 from 1 to 5. There will be a member there to receive the items.

The Back to School picnic held at the Woman's Club park last Sunday was a big success with approximately 100 in attendance. There was more food there than one can imagine. Everyone had a grand time.

School started Monday 21 with 255 in Attendance. Pine Lodge will soon be a Foster Home for several more children. There are two there at present and all will attend our school.

The Ft. Stanton area has increased in children which attend here. It at this time looks good for a much larger attendance, which indeed is good news for our community.

There was a special school board meeting held Friday 18. Louise Russell, who was the school board secretary, resigned for business reasons.

The Board appointed Herman Otero to fill the vacancy on the Board of Education until the regular election February 1969. Herman was then elected secretary.

Other business was that Korten was the low bidder and will service the school with L.P. Gas for this school year. Clardy Campbell was the low bidder for the entry products.

Haphazard land use from population, urban growth

LAS CRUCES -- The population growth in New Mexico and the rapid expansion of urban areas have caused some concern about haphazard land use. One way to prevent this problem is through land-use planning and zoning, says Jennings Jarvis, resource development specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at New Mexico State University.

"In any town or county, some areas are better suited for homes, while others are better for commercial, industrial, recreational, school, park, or agricultural uses," the NMSU specialist points out. "Land-use planning is selecting appropriate uses for each area; zoning is reserving the areas for the selected uses."

Jarvis advises that those interested in land-use planning should enlist the help and cooperation of local citizens, local groups, and the local offices of agricultural agencies. "Involving local people is important in developing a sound land-use plan," he says. "People who have spent a lifetime in a county and who have witnessed success and failure on the land are in a position to be of great help in determining the future pattern of their county's development."

The goals of land-use planning are these, Jarvis says:

- Prevent waste in land use.
- Reserve the best agricultural land for agricultural use.
- Develop and use land to create new wealth and encourage balanced industrial development that adds value to products of the farm and forest.

- Direct new residential subdivisions, where possible, to land unfit or unneeded for farm use.

- Preserve some land for wildlife development.

- Delineate carefully the boundaries of the flood plains.

- Preserve the basic recreational uses of land.

- Designate space for parks, churches, industrial parks, commercial areas, residential areas, and open spaces.

Copies of Jarvis' new circular, No. 402, "Land-Use Planning and Zoning," are available at county extension offices.

Samuel J. Bramblett loses both hands

Both hands of a Denver construction worker were amputated late Thursday (Aug. 10) after he was burned when he touched a 13,000-volt power line.

The victim, Samuel J. Bramblett, 20, of 1374 Franklin Street, Denver, Colorado, was reported in good condition Friday at Colorado General Hospital.

Bramblett is an employee of the Ryberg House Moving and Construction Company, 5635 Willington Parkway, Arvada, which was moving a house from Northglenn to an area southeast of Brickley Air National Guard Base.

Carl Ryberg, 35, owner of the firm, said it was Bramblett's job to ride atop the house and raise telephone lines to allow the house to pass under them.

On E 97th Ave. near Chambers Road in Adams County, Bramblett apparently stood up, Ryberg said. He backed into the power line, touched it with his hands and fell back onto the roof.

Ryberg said Tommy Collins, 22, of 565 Galena St., Aurora, who also was on the house roof, suffered minor burns on the left hand and arm when he was crushed by the wire.

Joe Bramblett was the son of the late Pat Ryberg and step son of Harry Ryberg.

Youth conference held in Portales

Five students from Lincoln County attended the Governor's Youth Conference held on the campus of Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, from Aug. 16th to 19th. Attending from Lincoln Co. were Beverly Schofield, Corona; Patsy McDonald, Captain; Linda Simpson, Terri Olascoaga and Donda Jo May, all of Carrizozo. Miss McDonald was sponsored by the "Teen Club" of Captain and all three of the Carrizozo girls were sponsored by the local Women's Club.

The conference was headed by Col. Thomas M. Noonan, Executive Secretary on children and youth in N. Mex. Some of the important speakers in the conference were Gov. David Cargo, Brother Godfrey C. Beggio, Director of young citizens of Action Inc. of Santa Fe; the D. A. Alfonso Sanchez of Santa Fe, Mayor Gail Harris of Roswell; Leonard J. Delays, State Supt. of Public Instruction, John G. Jasper, director of Public Welfare; Ricardo M. Monkeys, State Labor Commissioner; Edwin O. Wicks, Dept of Public Health; Harold Harriger, State Child Labor Inspector; Jerry Miller, State Recreation Planning Officer, and Dr. Robert Swanson, Director of Guidance Counseling.

The conference was held to give instructions to the youth of N. Mex. in the organization Youth Councils in their own communities, to provide recreation, work with their adult leaders, and to make their own community a better place in which to live and cut down on youth crimes.

Annual events to which the local chapter looks forward are the Christmas Bazaar, Christmas party, Blossom and Bean Festival and Variety Show. We manage to make money-making projects fun and also make each member realize the importance of her own unique talents to the organization as a whole by giving each one a specific responsibility.

About Future Homemakers

Future Homemakers of America is an organization which originated as local high school home economics clubs about the time the vocational home economics programs came into existence under the Smith-Hughes Act of 1918. In the 1930's the need for a national organization to unite these clubs and thus promote their objectives became apparent. War intervened, but in 1945 state supervisors, local teachers of vocational home economics, and some selected students from all over the country met to form the national organization, establish a constitution and prepare a blueprint for state and district organizations. All fifty states, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands have chapters now with a total of over a half million members. The central purpose of the organization is to help each individual member develop her strong points, help her to become a better contributing member to the family and to the school and community. National, state, and local goals are always selected to further one or more facets of this main purpose.

New Mexico District VI is composed of Alamogordo, Capitan, Carrizozo, Cloudcroft, Corona, Ruidoso and Tularosa chapters. Cloudcroft and Corona affiliated in the 1966-'67 school year.

Tuesday, August 8, Advisers and District Officers of District VI met at Carrizozo to plan the district meeting to be held in Ruidoso on Saturday, October 7. The theme of the meeting will be "Jobs, Careers, and You," which is one of the goals selected by the State Executive Council for this year. The program as planned promises to be a very interesting one with every local chapter having at least one assigned responsibility both before the meeting and as a part of the actual program.

Monday, August 7, the Carrizozo Executive Council met to select goals for the 1967-'68 school year and to make plans for the first two chapter meetings, Tuesday, August 29 at 7 p.m. and Tuesday, September 12, at 7 p.m. All high school girls who have had one year of home economics or are presently enrolled are eligible for membership and all eligible girls are to be invited to the first meeting. Donda Jo May will tell of her many experiences at the National Convention in Los Angeles last July. Also on this program will be a bit of fun led by Peggy Hoff who is the District Recreational Leader. Refreshments will be served. Goals selected for the year are (1) Beautification of Carrizozo and New Mexico (2) Individually Counts, and (3) Citizenship Challenges You. Last year the Carrizozo chapter had 41 members out of 80 girls enrolled in high school (not all of whom had taken home economics so were not eligible). This chapter seeks to help every member accept responsibilities which will help her develop self-respect and leadership. We usually have to earn approximately $300 every year to defray expenses. We support a South Vietnamese war orphan for $130 a year. State biennial convention expenses entail earning about $50 to $70 yearly. Every affiliated chapter must contribute $30 to the state travel fund which is used to help defray expenses of state delegates to National Conventions. On years when a local chapter has the honor of sending a delegate that chapter must contribute an additional $30 to the fund. Other miscellaneous funds are needed for occasional chapter refreshments, parties, and for the Blossom and Bean Festival.

It's your business

Municipal Ordinance No. 93 is a simple reading affair found in the legal advertising on Page 7 of today's Lincoln County News. It explains that it pertains to the enactment and enforcement of the Municipal 1 per cent sales tax. Simple? Your foot!

It took City Attorney, H. Elfred Jones at least thirty minutes to read the entire proposal. It was approved and voted into being as read by the Carrizozo city council. Another bit was read. This was approved for publication. Sure! We indeed miss the more than $100 that would have been earned by printing the entire ordinance. Sure! As one councilman pointed out, probably not more than a dozen persons getting this paper would have read the ordinance. But, that's where the agreement ends.

The dozen who would have read it would be the same persons who keep a sharp eye on government; city, state and federal. The dozen would have seen what was exempt from the tax and what was not. The dozen would have told others and more would have eventually referred to the ordinance as it pertains to them.

One local businessman remarked that he would have to buy a Las Cruces paper because it was printed in its entirety there and he would be able to refer to it as it applied to his business.

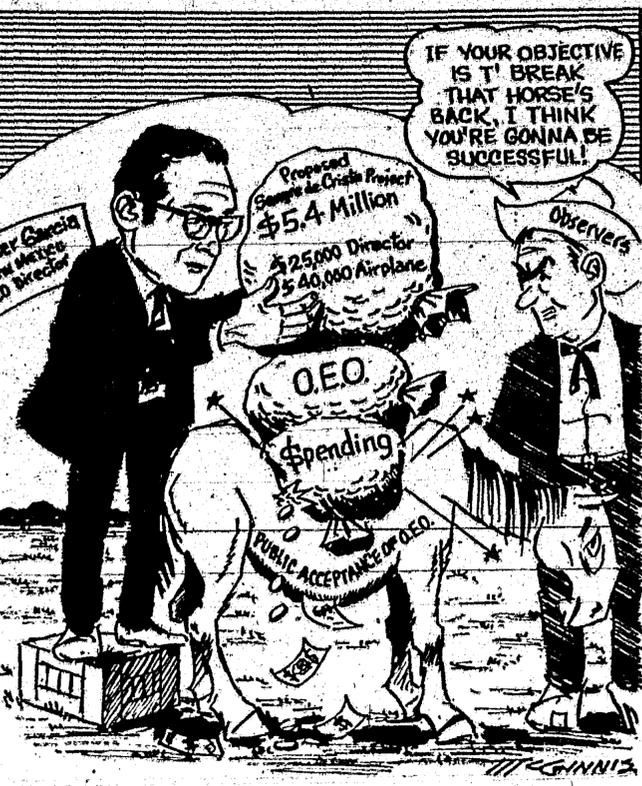

Carrizozos, it also refers to your business. You, of Carrizozo, ought to be able to read, if you wish, what you have to pay this 1 per cent tax on and what you do not. Attorney Jones said the short-cut publication was approved and printed in Alamogordo. He felt that it was legal. There can be a wide latitude between what is legal and what is moral: here, in Municipal Ordinance No. 93, for example. D.C.

SEZ HERE A SANTA FE SCULPTRESS IS MAKING A BUST OF GOVERNOR CARGO

LET'S HOPE GOV. CARGO DOESN'T MAKE A BUST OF HIS ADMINISTRATION!

Note to Bill Hall of Corona, be sure you remember the Grand Old Party in your prayers each night... George, Dick, Ronald, Rocky and the guys have personally been sending you all that nice rain.

Got to save strength for Saturday, dedication service at Camp Sierra Blanca at 10:30 in the morning, wedding in the afternoon... In between those two soup-and-fish type of deals one has to jump into weed pulling clothes and try to keep up with nature. Please note that the News Office lawn on the eastside got a mow job and alley weeds have been pulled.

The start of school brings on the feeling that maybe summer is over and we plan to ward off that state of mind as long as possible. Got to make two-three more freezers of ice cream, catch at least one more string of fish, and we haven't even opened up the barbecue season because of the rains.

Says John McMillon, Albuquerque Journal editor, "Everything dreamed up by the administration is to the detriment of the average American, it means a bigger bite of a paycheck already nibbled considerably by the federal government. The Democratic party is so far out of tune with the thinking of the average American it is almost beyond comprehension. The public is not going to stand by and watch a bigger tax bite taken without some effort on the part of the administration to cut government spending -- and drastically. The Democrats have poured money down rat holes with an abandon which would scare any sane businessman."

MESSAGE FROM THE PUBLISHER

Must operate as a business first!

A newspaper must first operate in the manner of a successful business... then do its best to perform like a public service institution.

The reason is simple -- if a newspaper cannot make enough money to stay in business, it cannot perform any public service. If a newspaper has a desire to be of service to its reading public, the amount of service and the extent will be determined largely by money in the cash drawer. We heard a distinguished and highly respected newspaper man say once, that any time he looks in the cash drawer and the supply is running low -- he would raise prices to make things balance.

After many years of talking with a near relative we may have won a small battle that went like this: the relative operated a small newspaper that could not possibly have made sufficient money to feed a growing family so the hard-working relative would put meat and potatoes on the table by work after the newspaper was printed. The fellow finally decided that a newspaper should pay its way.

The production and printing of a newspaper takes from two to five days each week -- you and your staff spend their time and materials are used whether the newspaper has any advertising or not. An eight-page or 16 or 32-page newspaper with only 20 percent advertising actually costs more to produce than does one with 80 percent advertising. Quite a lot of people contribute news about public events each week. Only two people (Mr. and Mrs. Publisher) are vitally concerned that we be able to meet the payroll which makes possible the publishing of all that news. The Lincoln County News is a business, with strong desire to be of service to its community.

costs will be sharply reduced and voters' ears will be belabored by much less campaign oratory.

A seven-member ethics committee of ranchers and oilmen will hear testimony Sept. 18-19 in Santa Fe on grazing and mineral lease rules on public lands. Representatives of the State Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, Oil Conservation Commission and U.S. Geological Survey and others will testify. The present ethics code is being updated and clarified.

Willard Lewis, Santa Fe, director of the New Mexico Taxpayers Association, is non-voting committee chairman. Voting members are Rupert Madera, Jal; Tom Linsberry, Kermit, Texas; and Jerry Clayton, Lovington, representing surface leases (ranchers, farmers etc.), and Lewis Cox, Roswell, and Jason Kellahia and Dick Morris of Santa Fe, all attorneys representing sub-surface users (oilmen and others). Alternates are Mark Smith, Lovington; R.C. Jones, Tatum; and Fred Moxey, Santa Fe, executive secretary of the New Mexico Oil and Gas Association.

Among rules and policies to be considered are these: The OCC regulation on fencing of pits; pipeline rules; the State Land Office policy allowing grazing and mineral leases on the same land. Under present practice a driller is liable to a rancher if he damages improvements or cattle during oil well operation.

A Page 1 Lincoln County News editorial Aug. 17 holding editors and publishers should serve on state boards to the best of their ability was well-taken. The editorial challenged an editorial in an Albuquerque newspaper questioning whether it is conflict of interest for an editor or publisher to serve on a state board. The Albuquerque editorial named several editors and publishers now serving on state boards or committees. The Lincoln County News editorial said in part: "We think editors need to get hounded, to live a full life and to learn what the wheels of a chamber, church, school, council go around." Paul W. and Eleanor Payton are publishers of the Lincoln County News.

Two burglars were in the midst of robbing a bank in the wee hours of the morning. The first fellow examined the safe, sat down on the floor, took off his shoes and socks, and started to twirl the dial with his toes. "What on earth are you doing, Lou?" demanded his partner. "Let's get on the ball, and open that safe. We don't have all night!" "Don't worry, Pete," replied the first burglar. "This won't take more than a minute longer. Just for the fun of it, let's drive these fingerprint experts crazy!"

No Way West Column last week because the writer got involved modifying our folder. This machine is one of our oldest, vital tool in our operation. We moved it here from the old building last December, Saturday afternoon it got the treatment it's been needing all the time... about the last bit of remodeling in our new plant. We've continued to move things around right along.

The Richard Reynolds family of White Hall, Illinois drove from Socorro to Carrizozo Sunday morning, on their way home, and stopped for church here. They've enjoyed their tour of the west clear to California. Mr. Reynolds farms, says their summer has been real wet back home. They admired the church, which still looks new.

You can't always tell an honest fisherman by the size of his tale -- Payton and Jess Garrison brought a picture back with them to avoid a bunch of argument. Sheila Bernathy (taking Irene's place at the News) calls the whitebass 'saudier' because they are like the sandy bottoms of a lake. They make a little better taste than crapple, fully as good eating. Arrell Posey and Wayne Withers and wives did their fishing in southern Colorado west of Pagosa Springs. They got back in the wilderness far enough to have a lot of peace and quiet, out every morning trying for the big ones, lots of fun and just common luck.

Phil Halste sends timely solution to Spanish land grant dispute -- a scion of old Dutch family claimed title to the family farm which at the time was valued at about two million dollars. The judge decided that his claim was valid and that title would be granted as soon as the back taxes were paid, estimated at seven million.

Swiped from Duffy -- Doctor: "Your husband must have rest and quiet. Here's a sleeping pill prescription." Wife: "When do I give it to him?" Doctor: "Don't give it to him, take it yourself!" Misery loves company, especially if it's carrying a bottle. We know a plumber who stamps his over-due bills with "Pay the Piper." Then there's the drug store in Owawa, Illinois, that identifies its "pill wagon" delivery car as the Medicine Dropper.

The Billy the Kid Rodeo held in mid-August at Three Rivers for a number of years was canceled out this year because donor of free beef had only lean cattle on his range. It had not been as money-making a situation as it could be for the past several go-rounds. Too much free feed and not enough cash in the till.

493 accidents involved animals on highway

SANTA FE -- While we were busy dodging burros, other livestock and people on highways on a recent two-week auto trip in Old Mexico, we decided to check New Mexico's traffic experience with vehicle-livestock accidents on roads in the Land of Enchantment.

Asst. Planning Supervisor Melvin Mecker of the Highway Department says 493 accidents occurred in 1965 involving animals on the state's highways. The collisions resulted in four human deaths and 94 injuries. Sixty-seven deer were among animals reported last year in accidents.

This year in the January-May period 178 traffic accidents involving animals on highways occurred, accounting for one human traffic death and 25 injuries. May, August, September and November showed the highest incidence of auto-animal accidents. Last year more populous Colorado reported 1,312 such accidents with one death and 187 injuries while Idaho listed 991 similar accidents, no deaths and 177 injuries.

With almost 600 vehicle-animal accidents on New Mexico highways last year it would seem the state needs stronger highway fencing laws. Stiffer statutes would likely be difficult to enact. Ranchers and farmers occupy key positions in the legislature.

The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads requires all interstate highways in New Mexico to be fenced to control access. But very little of the rest of the state is fenced along highways. Joe Droege, Highway Department attorney, estimates cost of fencing to the road agency at about $1,000 a mile.

Droege said the Highway Department has many problems with fencing and livestock. He said the open range, closed range problem is difficult. New Mexico also has a little used herd district law.

Mecker said: "A lot of cattle are hit that are never reported." He said US-66 just west of Albuquerque is surprisingly one of the worst areas in the state for auto-animal collisions. Mecker said the area is fenced but the fencing is apparently ineffective in keeping animals off highways. A 1955 State Supreme Court decision by Justice Irwin Moise held it is the cattle owner's duty to keep his cattle on his property. This converted New Mexico from a "fence-out" to a "fence-in" state in a suit by a cattle owner against a driver for killing a calf.

House Minority Whip Eugene Peirco, Albuquerque Republican, says the now shortened campaign period will favor incumbents in the 1968 elections. The legislature revamped filing and primary election dates early this year in the return to the direct primary.

In 1968 candidates will file for the primary on July 2 and the primary election will be held Aug. 27, eight weeks later. The former filing date was the first Tuesday in March and the primary was on the first Tuesday in May, usually nine weeks later. The big change is in the abbreviated general election campaign period. The campaign was out from six months -- May to November -- to only 10 weeks, from Aug. 27 to Nov. 5.

Voters and candidates alike will probably welcome the shorter period. Candidates'
