Much to do in Lincoln Town Saturday

Miss Bonnie Spear and Mr. Louis Hanna

The Fiesta de Lincoln will be an unusual event on the Lincoln County Centennial calendar, Saturday, August 30, in many ways. The official centennial wedding will take place that day at 10:00 a.m. when wedding vows are read for Miss Bonnie Spear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney L. Spear of Albuquerque, and Louis Hanna of Los Lunas. The ceremony will be performed in the Community Church at Lincoln. Breakfast and serenade for the wedding party will be at 11:00 at the Worley, La Voda at 2:00 p.m. in Meas Hall.

There will be pinatas every hour for children under 12 on the pageant grounds and this is sure to be a lot of fun. The youngsters get the contents of each pinata.

A teja tournament will operate all day long, for small entry fee the winner takes all and all it takes is good aim with a washer. Tortilla races get under way at 1 p.m. for girls 16 years and up. These girls will be making tortillas from masa as they cover the race course.

Lots of events known as Corridas or horse games, such as gallo, pluma de gallo, ring lancing, and carrera de bove. These events start at 2:00 o'clock and will run most of the afternoon.

It's a day for everybody to get in the fun, everyone is welcome and invited to participate in the games. There will be a greased pig catch, three legged race, egg toss, sack race, foot race for all ages and best of all there will be mariache music all day.

In addition to the activities there will be a special art show of centennial posters in the school building, plus other art work. Carnival booths will be set up on the school grounds, or moved indoors in case of rain.

The day of fun and activities will culminate with a dance in Meas Hall starting at 8:30, music by the mariache band. Art Salas is chairman in charge of arrangement for Fiesta de Lincoln.

Corona Centennial Day was highly successful day of fun

Starting early Saturday morning the Corona community staged a dandy Lincoln County Centennial celebration and good crowds were present for all the events.

The crafts, arts, and antique exhibit in the school was real interesting, as well as tastefully displayed. People were taking time to read about the various objects on display and getting some surprises.

Earlier a group of men with Clint Sultemeier as head chef had started barbeque meat cooking and it came out of the coals about noon, smelling real good and was as good a barbeque to eat as any we've tasted this year.

Dorothy Bagley was the ramrod for much of this centennial day. She was helping serve together with Mrs. Johnny Erramouspe, Mrs. Joe Ann Yancey and Mrs. Joy Lynch, all wearing centennial dress.

Other helpers with the noon barbeque were Mrs. Marquer, Mrs. Holleyman, Miss Tracy, Miss Mullins and Mrs. Van Osdol, also Mrs. Williams and her aunt from Odessa.

Extension club members assisting with the arts and crafts show were: Jo Hiner, Polly Dishman, Neva Stratton, Johnnie Bond, Loreta Proctor, Mota Vick, Nettie James, Mary Holmgren, Arabelle Molder, Jean Sultemeier and Gladys Keelie.

The jackpot call roping in Bagley Arena drew lots of entries. Results follow:

First go-round: Fred McKee, John Powell and Cam Washburn, making times in that order. Second go, Steve Jacobson, Allen Brunson and Jack Weston. Average: 1st Ted Wilson, 2nd John Powell, 3rd Cam Washburn.

Team roping: first go-round, John D. Holleyman and Bunke

Mullins; Julian Lucero and Slim Bishop; Ben Powell and John Weldy. Second go, Bunky Mullins and John D. Holleyman, Paul Montoya and Emmet Munday, Moon Mullins and Bunky Mullins.

Average winners in team roping were: John D. Holleyman and Bunky Mullins 1st, Julian Lucero and Slim Bishop 2nd, Moon Mullins and John D. Holleyman 3rd.

ROOM FOR ONE MORE — The old antique bathtub, property of A. W. Gnatkowski, brought on a lot of fun at Corona arts and craft exhibit. Rosalyn Reynolds was helped into the tub by couple of gentlemen and figured she was a tub full, 'ere, maybe that's not the way to say it.

HOW ABOUT THAT — Earl Molder, left, John Naida holding old railroad lantern the property of Dimmit Bond, and Byron Yancey were enjoying the day of fun at Corona centennial doings.

BEST OF SERVICE — Folks eating tasty and tender barbeque meat at Corona enjoyed the best of service from ladies you see in this picture. The school lunch room was full most of noon lunch period.

New twist in government

SANTA FE -- A new twist in government was noted last week when two news writers appeared before the Convention's Committee on Legislature to give their views orally, rather than in print.

And, following their testimony, the members of the committee seemed convinced that the witnesses were well informed in matters of government and politics they discussed.

The first newsman to testify was Fred Buckles, writer of the statewide syndicated column, "Inside the Capital".

Perhaps the most controversial matter he touched upon dealt with salaries for our state senators and representatives. The present rate of payment of $20 per day while in session, Buckles said candidly, "is far too little." I think they should receive something in the neighborhood of $5,000 per year, or at least $50 per day while in session."

Buckles also detailed run-downs on a number of other legislative issues including: the following:

--That the general session should have durations of 90 days, and not be held to the present limit of 60 days; short sessions remain the same.

--That the sessions should begin in mid February, rather than in mid January as is presently the case, in order to give the governor a chance to map out his administrative bill package;

--That a daily journal be kept and made public;

--That all legislative committee meetings be given advance publicity in order that the general public would know when and where they would be held, who would testify and what issues would be discussed;

--That the legislature should be allowed to govern itself for the most part, and that the constitution should not specify any employee titles as is done in Article IV, Section 9 of the state's current basic document, and;

--That the legislature should be given the opportunity to reapportion itself following each census, and that the reapportionment should be conducted by a committee appointed by the governor in the event the solons themselves did not take the opportunity accorded them.

Also testifying was Mark Acuff, a Santa Fe businessman and a former newspaperman.

Although he is an advocate of a unicameral legislature, Acuff said he would have to admit that the only one-house law-making body in the United States -- Nebraska's -- has fallen far short of being a success.

"Actually, it's lousy," he said, "but the reason it's lousy is because it is non-partisan."

He also said the Maryland and New York Constitutional Conventions sent delegations to Nebraska to observe the unicameral legislature in session and that "they came back disenchanted."

"Although it's doubtful that New Mexico will ever have a single body of lawmakers, the Constitutional Convention itself has certainly dispelled the idea that a single body of individuals who aren't held to a party line can't get anything done.

However, a constitutional convention and a legislative session are two completely opposite breeds of cats, and should neither be confused or compared.

The one-house, non-partisan idea is healthy for a once in a lifetime convention, but the two-house, two party idea is equally healthy for the lawmakers who must return to their jobs each year.

State Fair parade on Sept. 15

ALBUQUERQUE -- Everybody loves a parade, and there's going to be a big one this year for the 1969 New Mexico State Fair.

The parade office opened at the fairgrounds in Albuquerque this week, manned by Mrs. Joan Neeley.

She noted that the parade will be held this year on Saturday morning, Sept. 13, starting at 9 a.m. and that it will follow the traditional route. That course starts at Louisiana and Central, goes west on Central to San Mateo, then north to Lomas, then east to the ending point at Louisiana and Lomas.

The parade again this year will be about two miles long and lasts about two hours.

Mrs. Neeley, while reminding potential parade participants of the Sept. 5th entry deadline, commented that 59 trophies and seven plaques will be awarded to the winners in 14 different divisions.

Classes in the parade include: mounted groups, marching groups, mechanized units, miscellaneous units (including offbeat and original entries), best parade car and "broom and shovel brigade."

Mrs. Neeley noted that the most fun is being on hand in person to see the parade, but that it will be televised again this year in its entirety by KOAT-TV, Channel 7 in Albuquerque.

LIGHTNING BOLT READY TO STRIKE — This squad of former Carrizozo Grizzly football players will provide competition for the 1959 Grizzly varsity team Saturday night on Laaba field. Gallegos, Coach Ziggy Loeau, Willie Archuleta, Tommy J. Straley and Bobby Ortiz. Standing, Charlie Castillo, Eloy Vaquez, Cheche Morales, Marcos Villosca, Danny Narvaez, Peter Aguilar, Mike Ortiz and Fred Vega. Other team members include Danny Knight, Scott Shafer, Tommy Ortiz, Mike Petty and Jim Lavate.

EDITOR'S CORNER

The Fiddler Has To Be Paid

Talking with constitutional convention delegate Robert Cox (Lincoln - Otero) Tuesday and reading remarks by State Rep. John Mershon of Otero County the same day brought me back to focus the view of local government and schools.

Delegate Cox favors strong local government, so do we. Cox probably is not so strongly in favor of New Mexico counties trying to support their own functions -- with ad valorem (property) tax money as the main source of revenue. He would be inclined to lean on state funds, and at the same time stand up for counties handling their own government.

It does not work that way as Mershon makes very clear in his remarks. State Rep. Mershon recommended Monday that local school boards are required to follow an educational plan drafted by the state. More pointedly, he said, "Those schools don't belong to the community."

School boards have been aware for many years that their importance in the scheme of operating New Mexico schools has been growing weaker and weaker. Rep. Mershon only drives the nail home by putting the matter in plain language.

Delegate Cox will find out in due time, if he does not already have the message that for local government to thrive and remain free of state interference -- counties will have to pay most, if not all, of their own way.

In this case . . . freedom has a price tag attached. If you want to dance you've got to pay the fiddler.

Coaches Delima

Football Coach Bear Bryant of Alabama was recently quoted as saying: "You see it day to day, the pride a boy takes in himself and the things he does. The changes in him. Football doesn't mean as much to a kid today. Sacrificing doesn't mean as much."

What Bryant and other coaches are saying is that times are changing. What used to mean a lot to the youngsters is no longer such a big deal. The kids have ideas about how things ought to be and they want their way. They have money, cars, boats, horses, skills, and lots of things to do while growing long hair.

At the same time both college and high school administrations are wondering who is the boss -- the student body or the administration. Being successful in athletics -- or in life -- is the result of one thing, the word is discipline. A team has to work together, the winners usually are the athletes willing to put out the most of their own personal energies, and there is only one route to that end, strict discipline.

You may be thinking that only big name colleges are confronted by the problems of kids wanting to dictate policy, but you are wrong. All levels of education face protests of various kinds, it happens right in your own back yard.

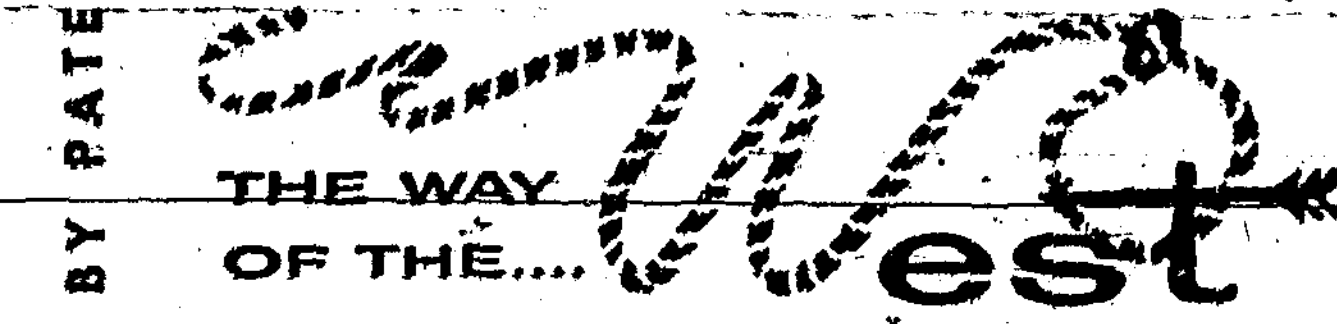

First of all, any school ought to have its goals well defined, know where it is going in both education and athletics, then stick to those goals through thick and thin. The wavering and lack of decision on part of education officials is weakening the entire setup.

Athletics in most cases give the boy or girl fully as much as it taken in time and sacrifice. Certainly football, basketball, track, swimming or any other sport including rodeo demands a large amount of desire and willingness to train until it hurts but the payoff is worth every pain and strain.

Right there is where we're missing out on this decade. That pain and strain message simply isn't getting across, too many youngsters won't buy it and our teams as well as education in general is sagging.

CHUCK WAGON CHEFS — Bill Payne, Dale LaMay and Joe Light did much of the serving at the chuck wagon supper for rodeo fans at the Joe Sargent Arena Saturday.

The message from Pete is that the Lightning Rods are out to redeem themselves this Saturday night when they play the Grizzly football team. Last year was a disaster after the first ten minutes but one thing is certain, those Lightning Rods sure sweat out a lot of Schlitz. Coors takes another route.

When complaining about cost of putting meat and beans on your family table you really should not include ranchers and farmers in your complaints. Their cost of doing business (interest, taxes, wages, service, commodities) was up 28 per cent over the average for 1957-59, and up 7 per cent over June 1968. The prices received by ranchers and farmers for their products has not kept pace with cost of operation any year.

News people missed the best part of the centennial polo matches at San Patricio. Fellow named Louie had mugnum of champagne for festivities after matches were played, fellow named Bill drank it and when Louie got on him about the missing champagne Bill started fight which he lost. Later the same Bill was mouty about the situation in front of ladies and children and another Bill told him to quiet down. The first Bill started another fight which he lost after two quick punches to the jaw (his second Bill would have put him in the hospital). And, that isn't all. The first Bill challenged another guy, name forgotten, and got flattened again.

Aztec, New Mexico Chamber of Commerce made recent survey of town needs by sending questionnaires to people, got lots of interesting answers, to wit: Two needs which were stated repeatedly were for bakery and snack shop. Soda fountain, people miss the early day emporiums. Major difficulty here is excessive number of inspections by state agencies and federal snoopers. Grocery stores earned highest praise. Many lines of merchandise not carried locally let heavy percentage of shopping money go out of town. One citizen diagnosed Aztec's trouble as just sheer apathy, unless Aztec wakes up it will become merely another suburb of Farmington. Another note, if I didn't like Aztec I would leave, let us strive to make Aztec the neatest little city in the state and keep it that way. One woman said, that sign reading 4200 friendly people and 6 old soreheads needs to be reversed. Over 50% of demand for appliances, TV sets, automobiles, clothing is currently being met by firms outside Aztec.

BUSY, BUSY HANDS — Mary Ellen Payne sure did her share of work for the rodeo concession stand, fixing food as well as serving. You see her at work at the Billy the Kid Rodeo.

Round-up

Apple picking was delayed about a week by the lack of color on the red delicious apples. Picking started August 29th. It takes cool nights to develop color. I tested the sugar content in apples last week and it was high enough for the apples to be picked. Half on some of the apples will affect the price received.

We visited with several of the apple growers to make plans for the apple Open House on Sept. 20 and 21st in the Hondo Valley. Ideas suggested were a pamphlet listing major varieties and their uses, history of apple growing in the area and some favorite apple recipes.

Heat-sties stopped laying eggs on the legs and bellies of cattle about two months ago. The grubs from their eggs are now migrating through connective tissue in the body and will reach the back in October and November. Once in the back, they make the familiar lumps that often become infected and ooze pus. Cattle going into feedlots or onto grass pastures should all be treated before October first to reduce grub infestation which reduce carcass value and weight gains.

Cattle grubs can be controlled with several different systematic insecticides applied in several different ways. Methods of application available are pour-on, spray, dip or feed additive. The insecticides available are Ruelene, Co-Ral (coumaphos), Neguvon (trichlorfon), and ronnel (Trolene FM and Steer-Kleer). Sprays are effective only if great care is taken to see that all animals are thoroughly wet to the skin with enough spray.

Feed or mineral blocks or granules containing the systemic insecticide ronnel (Trolene FM and Steer-Kleer) are also effective for grub control. Care should be taken to make sure the animals are feeding on the medicated feed or mineral. Some animals often find the treated feed or salt unpalatable and will not consume enough for effective grub control.

Insecticides available in pour-on formulation are Ruelene 8R, ready to use, Ruelene 25E, which has to be mixed with water, Co-Ral pour-on, ready to use, and Neguvon pour-on, ready to use. Pour-on materials are applied according to the weight of the animal. Always use the recommended amount but don't overdose.

Systemic insecticides that can be applied as sprays for grub control are Ruelene 25E, Co-Ral 25% wettable powder and Neguvon 80% soluble powder.

Before treating any animal with insecticide, read the label on the package for rates of application, method of application and waiting period that should elapse between treatment and slaughter. Ruelene spray or pour-on should not be applied within 28 days of slaughter, ronnel feed additives should not be administered within 21 to 60 days of slaughter depending on the formulation used. Neguvon should not be applied as a pour-on within 21 days of slaughter or as a spray within 14 days of slaughter. Co-Ral can be applied up to the day of slaughter. Also check for cut-off dates; Ruelene should not be applied after October 1st in Lincoln County, Co-Ral and Neguvon can be applied anytime.

Peanut butter is customarily thought of in connection with a sandwich, but it has many other uses that you may want to try.

This delicious spread can be used in almost anything from salad dressings to breads to dessert toppings. Now is a particularly good time to get acquainted with the varied uses of peanut butter. The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service reports plentiful supplies of peanut butter and other peanut products available now.

With apples so available here in Lincoln County, what could be better than apples and peanut butter combined in APPLE PEANUT BUTTER CRISP to give you a mouth-watering dessert.

4 cups of sliced apples
1/3 cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon allspice
3 tablespoons flour
3/4 cup rolled oats
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1/3 cup peanut butter
2 tablespoons melted butter
Arrange sliced apples in a buttered baking dish. Add water and lemon juice; sprinkle with spices. Blend together the flour, rolled oats, brown sugar; peanut butter and melted butter. Spread over the apples. Bake at 375 degrees F., moderate oven, about 40 minutes or until the apples are tender. Serve hot with plain cream.

Peanut butter is one of the most flexible, economical and nutritious foods available to any homemaker. Peanut butter contains a high amount of vegetable protein -- in fact, it is one of the best sources. For efficient use, though, it is recommended that a high-quality "meat" protein be eaten at the same meal. Meat, eggs, cheese or milk will do the trick.

Peanut butter also contains niacin and is a good supplier of other B vitamins. The fat content makes it a good source of food energy. Peanut butter sandwiches anyone?

31 Reasons Why

There are 31 paired spinal nerves coming from the spinal cord and passing between the vertebrae of the back. These nerves branch off and go to every organ of the body. These nerves carry and transmit the energy that causes function and motion of these body organs. The spinal column, composed of 24 different segments of bone, is daily subjected to all kinds of various stress, such as twisting, falling, walking etc. A slight displacement of just one of these bones can compress a nerve, thereby diminishing its carrying capacity of nerve energy. Then the organ supplied by the compressed nerve begins to malfunction. A condition of this nature can bring about adverse effects within the body. It may be that there is only one nerve or one cause as to why you became sick. Then again there may be 31 REASONS WHY. You can find out for certain with a Chiropractic examination.

Verlin Prince takes Tularosa pastorate

Pastor and Mrs. Verlin Prince and three children, Peggy, David and Russell have recently moved to Tularosa and Mr. Prince has taken up his duties as pastor of the First Baptist Church. He conducted his first service as pastor on Sunday.

Pastor Prince is a graduate of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth, Texas. He has been a resident of New Mexico since 1950.

He was formerly pastor of the Baptist church at Capitan.

Capitan

By Margaret Rench

We had an inch of rain and five showers this past week. That dampness was a help for the irrigation part of it to help hold our moisture. There was hail and good heavy showers around us.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Provino gave a dinner for Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Germany and Jenny last Saturday. The Germans are moving to Las Cruces this week end where J. C. will enter the University to work for his doctorate.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engelking and one son have moved to the Romero home. He is employed with the N. M. Wild Life taking Mr. Germany's place. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Romero and family are moving to Las Cruces Labor Day weekend to make their home where Melvin will coach and teach in the Las Cruces high school. He is there now.

Mrs. Darrell (Wiley Jean) Austin is the Alto bus driver for school. Mrs. Louise Runnels has the Bonita Route.

The Wright family reunion was held from Monday thru all of last week at Navajo Lake. Mr. Howard Wright and Jimmy of Capitan stayed all week. His wife Maxine and their daughter, Kay and husband Terry Strickland attended Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tiftworth of Tinnie were hostess to a lovely dinner party last Sunday, August 24. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson, Mrs. Louise Ferguson, and Mrs. Travis Werner of Capitan. Mrs. Marjorie Slaton and daughter, Sherrill of Dallas were also at the dinner party. Mr. and Mrs. Wally Ferguson and family of Carrizozo, Mr. and Mrs. Joo Evans, Alamogordo; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Evans, El Paso, Janice and her baby of Alamogordo, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnny Werner and family of Roswell, Rev. and Mrs. Hutchins and other friends. It was a delightful evening.

Guests last weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright were Mr. and Mrs. Lamolo Watley and son of San Angelo, Texas. Mrs. Gerald (Mary) Dean Sr. spent several days with her brother, Virgil Wallace helping him take care of their court in T or C last week while Millie was in the hospital in Temple, Texas. I wish you a quick and good recovery, Millie.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean Jr. and family spent last week in Abilene, Texas where her sister graduated from Abilene Christian College.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean spent last Sunday with their son, Harold Dean and Sally Ann at Bingham. On their return they came through a good rain across the Mal Pais.

Our school started Monday August 25. It is good to see the children passing and hear their laughter and chattering. Life is moving again after three months vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Rogers and son of Albuquerque attended the funeral services of his cousin Mrs. Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Hobby of Carrizozo, who passed away suddenly of a heart attack. They visited Mr. Leo Powell

They will return upon his recovery. He has been in the hospital three weeks.

Mrs. Louise Ferguson has remodeled her home. White with a rock design on the front porch. It is very pretty. Several weeks ago in a rain storm on Saturday night some one ran into the adobe yard fence on the northeast corner and tore it completely down. Her son, Billy has rebuilt it and has it ready for the stucco. Mr. Kenneth Lee Kendrick son of Cupie and Kenneth Kendrick of Oklahoma City, was married August 23 in Houston. His parents are natives of Capitan. We wish them a happy life together.

A study group of 80 teachers sponsored by Dr. Vance Holland of ENMU of Portales left on a foreign tour Aug. 2 and returned Aug. 23. They left from Albuquerque by jet and returned the same way. They became a well learned and informed group. Most learned and informed group. Most certainly have earned many credits.

The three from Lincoln County among them were Leota Pfingsten accompanied by her husband, Fred, Mrs. Myrtle Williams, of Nogal, both teachers in the Capitan schools and Mrs. Lorene Samelson who is a teacher in the Ruidoso school.

Mr. Miles Williams met his wife and the others Sunday. They did see the sun for 26 hours coming over the Arctic. They were up for 31 hours. They did not miss one thing. They said the lakes had iced over and snow was coming in Nova Scotia. It is the time for that. What a sight to see and will be long remembered.

They left Paris at 7 a.m. on Saturday and arrived in Capitan 11:05 a.m. Sunday. Peg and Leota Pfingsten stopped and visited some, they were so happy and excited. Told of many things of which I desire to pass on to you.

They said Russia received them well and tried to put their best forward. One item Leota was wondering about was if I received her letter. She had it sealed. They learned later, after leaving Russia, that Russia did not let sealed letters through. But luck was with her that time for it arrived too late for the news. Then last Friday Myrtle Williams' letter arrived.

Another installment was mailed by Lorene Samelson from Switzerland. I will send that in on its arrival.

Peg was telling of Lenning-grade the city where 3500 starved to death during the second World War, while the monarch palace was a building in splendor with hundreds of fountains pouring back into the river. A most beautiful sight. The people under the communist rule now have plenty of cabbage, potatoes and black bread.

 A Nylon shirt is equivalent to $47 of our money. All people seem to take care of their clothes whether good or ragged. If they sit on the street, they place a paper under them.
 Leota said the women are doing the work for the men and seem so proud to be working. Scraping cement from window panes and other construction work. They visited so many art museums and other places of interest everywhere it will take time to remember it all.
 Here is Leota's letter for your enjoyment to read and study to truly get the feel of their travels.

London, England, Aug. 6, 1969
 Dearest Margaret:
 The thought occurred to us that perhaps you and your readers would enjoy sharing our trip as much as we enjoyed Joy's trip through your column.

Myrtle, Lorené Samuelson from Ruidoso, Peg and I are just leaving Heathrow Airport London for Leningrad, USSR. We have had the most wonderful time in England. Some of the highlights have been watching the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace. A tour of Westminster Abbey (unbelievably beautiful), Hyde Park, where anyone may mount a soap box and air their view to the joy of the "hecklers", the House of Parliament, Big Ben and the Boadicea Statue that is a chariot with knives on the wheels (if anyone was walking on the street it sliced their legs about the knees), Trafalgar Square and of course Piccadilly Circus where they have erected a fence along the curb to keep the "hippies" from falling out into the street in the path of passing cars. It's too hard to believe but they are here too.

Yesterday we spent the day at Stratford-on-Avon, we saw (and went through) William Shakespear's home and shop, saw and toured Ann Hathaway's birthplace. The old brass pitchers are lovely, some of them were 24 inches high. The old wood is polished with age until it has a gorgeous patina.

 Such a lovely countryside, rolling hills for miles on end. We visited Winston Churchill's grave which reminds me, we went to see Madam Toussards Wax Museum in London where we saw unbelievable likenesses of many of our prominent men and women but out in the middle of the floor, rather alone, was a likeness of Winston Churchill painting a picture.

The people of England are charming. They have been so courteous and they never seem to mind answering our questions. They have a tremendous respect for their law officers and it is seldom you see a smashed fender even though there is no speed limit and the cars and buses go just as fast as they can.

Everyone moves very fast. We missed two buses simply because we did not jump fast enough. When we realized how fast we had to move we could move as fast as the best.

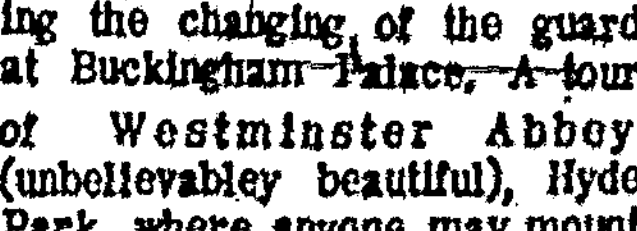

We are having a most pleasant flight over the ocean now. We are high above the clouds and can see huge ships. We are over Copenhagen, Denmark now and at 33,000 feet it is still impressive.

We are to change planes in Helsinki, Finland, then to Leningrad, USSR. We should put down in three minutes. This has certainly been an experience. We will have memories to last a long time.

I think Myrtle will write the next installment after we leave Russia and Lindy will send you one after we leave Italy. Perhaps we can get Switzerland and Austria in before we go home but I'm sure France will have to wait until we can tell you about it.

Sorry there are no typewriters up here and sorry too that I have to write on both sides of the paper but it costs 20 Kopeks an ounce (1/2 ounce couldn't tell much). Kopeks are like our pennies.

It is such a beautiful pattern, quite large and very clean. As we fly on, the country is a very beautiful patch work of woods and water. Farms are beginning to appear. Rows are straight as a ruler and each field framed with green trees. You can tell they have cut timber to make each field.
 Now over Stockholm. What a beautiful city it is. Our time is top short for a visit but it looks lovely. We are flying so fast it doesn't take but seconds for us to leave things far behind, but there is something ahead usually to make us forget it. We aren't far from the Arctic Circle now. Our nights are light until 11:00 p.m. and it gets daylight at 2:00 a.m. So you see we are just about on top. It pleasant enough looking but I imagine it can really get rough in the winter time. We are all snapping pictures like mad and Lyndy has her tape recorder.
 She was interviewed by a London "Bobby", an Irish maid, a couple of street masons and has recorded most of the guides on our tour, such as the tour of Westminster Abbey. She has some great material.
 We are also buying slides in case ours are not as good as we hoped.
 We are to change planes in Helsinki, Finland, then to Leningrad, USSR.
