Associated Press likes ham act

By Al Den Beste
Associated Press Writer
The ham act in New Mexico high school Class C football has nothing to do with the stage -- but apparently it figured greatly in the state championship.
The Hams, for those not in the know, are Jim, a senior; and Don, a junior. They play football for Carrizozo. And woe to the Class C team that came up against them.
The Hams, both interior players who made both the offensive and defensive Associated Press All-State teams, from the votes of sportswriters, broadcasters and coaches across the state.
And Class C champion Carrizozo, led by the Hams, placed a total of 11 players in the 22 spots on offensive and defensive teams.
Back Ben Stuteville of Carrizozo also was named to both offense and defense. End Alvin Ross of Navajo Mission was the only other player named to both teams.
Carrizozo smashed through the playoffs with a handy 28-6 and 53-0 win to take the title.

The only team to place men on the Class C All-State and not play in the semifinals, too, was Mountainair, which had the same district as Carrizozo.
Vaughn, a 26-8 victim of Cloudercroft in the semifinals, placed three; Navajo Mission had four. Cloudercroft and Mountainair had two each.
Mountainair placed two offensive players: Back Danny McNeil and guard Keith Shaw. Navajo Mission had Ross and back Clifford Benally on the offensive team. Except for that, it was all Carrizozo.
Vaughn had all three of its All-Staters on the defensive team: end Joey Cordova; guard Duke Hedges and back Adolph Lucero.
Three of the Carrizozo defensive players -- the Hams and Stuteville -- also were on the offensive team. The other Carrizozo defensive All-Stater was junior back Jody Wrye.
Marvin Manuella of Navajo Mission and Don Chamberlain of Cloudercroft rounded out the defensive backfield.
The other Cloudercroft star was senior Kenny Briscoe at one of the tackles on defense.
The Hams were named as tackles on the offensive squad.

On defense, Don was at guard and Jim at tackle.
Jim Ham, at 215 pounds, was the heaviest player on the All-State squad. Ross, at 6-2, was the tallest.
Here is the 1969 New Mexico Class C high school All-State football team including school, class, weight and height:
Offense:
Ends: Charles Mackey, Carrizozo, senior, 140, 5-9; Alvin Ross, Navajo Mission, senior, 170, 6-2.
Tackles: Don Ham, Carrizozo, junior, 185, 5-8, Jim Ham, Carrizozo, senior, 215, 5-11.
Guards: Russell Leslie, Carrizozo, sophomore, 170, 5-11; Keith Shaw, Mountainair, senior, 172, 6-0.
Center: Weylin Johnson, Carrizozo, senior, 160.
Backs: Ben Stuteville, Carrizozo, senior, 165, 5-9; David Lock, Carrizozo, senior, 165, 5-9; Danny McNeil, Mountainair, junior, 165, 5-11; Clifford Benally, Navajo Mission, senior, 145, 5-7.
Defense:
Ends: Alvin Ross, Navajo Mission, senior, 170, 6-2; Joey Cordova, Vaughn, senior, 158, 5-11.
Tackles: Jim Ham, Carrizozo, senior, 215, 5-11; Kenny Briscoe, Cloudercroft, senior, 170, 5-11.

PLANE CRASH AT FT. STANTON — The News is indebted to John Soderback and Bill Steinke of Captain for 3 pictures showing scenes where plane crashed a mile short of the runway at Ft. Stanton on December 14.

Grizzlies may jell

After a long and rough season of football, with two extra games at the end of the way to state championship, Carrizozo basketball players began to shape up in their game with Hagerman Friday, together with Eunice the top rated Class B teams in the state.
The final score was Hagerman 83, Carrizozo 61 but on the way to that score there was some good basketball on the part of Ben Stuteville who threw in 27 points when he'd been getting 5 and 6, David Lock got 6 rebounds Jody Wrye 9 reb, Weylin Johnson 8 reb.
Accuracy at the free throw line has been a hazard for the Grizzlies, their percentage down around 50 when they need 85 percent or better to be in the ball game.
Playing together as a team has also been real ragged but Coach Lee Fleming says his team is coming around.
Marc Ellison has been going in as 6th and 7th man and really helping the team. Danny Harkey is playing well, Ray Roper came up with 16 points against Hagerman while working on their best man, Leland Jackson has ankle trouble but is expected to make his height count later in the season.
ZoZo JVs won the Hagerman game 38-30.
At Hondo Saturday night starters were Johnson, Lock, Stuteville, Harkey and Wrye. Lock had 16 reb and 12 pts, Stuteville 16, Roper 16, Wrye 9 reb and came back with 17 points in the second half, Johnson got 9 reb and played an improved game.
Hondo varsity won 78-50, ZoZo JV won 64-53.
The Grizzlies play their only journey up to the district in February this weekend at Cloudercroft, taking the floor at 1:00 p. m. Thursday against Reserve Little known about ability of the Reserve basketball team, Tularosa plays Floyd in the afternoon, Captain vs. Hatch at 8:00 and Cloudercroft vs. Elda at 7:30 p. m. Thursday completes the play.
The ZoZo JV squad will go to Lake Arthur for two-day tournament this weekend. They play Lake Arthur at 6:30 Friday followed by game between Hagerman and Dexter. Finals on Saturday.

Four survive crash

Two Ruidoso men walked almost two miles and started a grass fire Sunday in an effort to attract rescuers after their small plane crashed.
The plane fell in through some trees about 1.5 miles from Fort Stanton airport Sunday morning.
Jim Cooper put a splint on Bob Gaston's broken arm, and the two started walking, leaving the more seriously injured passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bryant, also of Ruidoso, in the plane.
When they reached the single building at the airport, it was empty. They then started a small grass fire, hoping to attract notice. The Forest Service noticed the fire, search planes from the Ruidoso airport located the crash site, but it was mid-afternoon before rescuers reached the scene.
All four passengers were listed in satisfactory condition later at Ruidoso Hospital. Cooper and Gaston both were in check and had broken bones.
A spokesman for the Ruidoso airport said the plane was enroute from Dallas, Texas, to Ruidoso when it sent a radio message to the airport about 9:50. Airport officials couldn't understand the message -- probably a distress call -- and heard no more from the plane.
The plane owned by Sierra Blanca Aviation Corp. of Ruidoso apparently was headed for the air strip at Fort Stanton when it crashed. The wings were sheered off as it went through the trees, but the fuselage was left intact.
The four passengers later told officials that both engines cut out at the same time moments before the crash.
A Federal Aviation Administration official was to arrive in Ruidoso Monday to begin an investigation.

"Leave it to Charley" comes home to N.M.

"Leave it to Charley", an industrial film made for the Cushman Motor Company of Lincoln, Nebraska has come home. The production company of Lenden & Lenden made the film several years ago, shooting the production in Santa Fe, near Los Alamos, and near Carrizozo.

Grazing fees hold

Interior Secretary Hickel has advised me that in response to my earlier request, he has ordered that grazing fees on western public lands will remain at their present rate thru the 1970 grazing season.
He has delayed implementation of further scheduled increases for one year to allow the Interior Department time to evaluate a study and report by the Public Land Law Review Commission on the subject.
Secretary Hickel made it clear that he will take into account the Commission's recommendations prior to any future increases, but that his Department will not necessarily be bound by such recommendations.
In another meeting with Secretary Hickel earlier this year, I was advised of his scrapping of another Udall edict of last year which caused the Carlsbad Caverns to be closed two days per week. The Caverns are now open on a seven-day per week schedule, and will continue to be, as long as Hickel or Foreman have any thing to say about it.

NOTE FROM ED FOREMAN

Color prints of the film were shown all over the world as an advertisement for Trailblazers. These prints were shown so often they were completely worn and retired from service. All that was left was a black and white print of the picture.
A solicitation by St. George Cooke, Governor Cargo's recent appointee as New Mexico's Film Historian, to the Cushman Company brought the last print back to New Mexico on "permanent loan" to be included in the State of New Mexico Film Collection, at the New Mexico State Records Center and Archives in Santa Fe. This was the first made in New Mexico industrial film to be presented to the collection.

GOOD THING CHARLEY KEEPS A FULL TANK OR — Pena might have lost his auto

Some car stealing and swapping took place in Carrizozo late Tuesday or early Wednesday when Paul Pena's car was reported missing by Marshal Choncho Morales who had no trouble locating this vehicle -- it was parked near the Charles Wilson home in Carrizozo.
It was later in day Wednesday that Mr. Wilson discovered that his car had been stolen and reported the matter to the sheriff's department. Sheriff Ernest Sanchez and Marshal Morales searched the area around Carrizozo but could not find the Wilson car.
Pena did not have much gas in his car, Wilson keeps his tank full and both men left car keys in their vehicles. Apparently the thief abandoned the Pena car for lack of gas and took the Wilson car to points unknown at this time.

SMOKEY BEAR COUNTRY — By Margaret Rench

Capitan Christmas lights are beautiful

I made the drive to view the Christmas lights last night, Sunday. I will at this time thank my neighbors and friends for their cooperation to give good cheer for this delightful season.

I started with the Baptist Church on West First. As you come in on highway 380 those lights gave the greeting in form of a tree. Then the El Paisano was decorated inside nicely and the Annarotone home displayed their lovely lighted tree with light around the picture window and a lighted candle on the porch with a wreath on the door.

At Ray Province's the tree blinked its message in colors inside. Smokey Bear Motel has a large tree outside decorated in colored lights with large candles on each side of the door of the office with pretty decoration above. A large tree is lighted in their living room and gives its welcome in the east picture window. At the Smokey Bear Coffee shop the large tree on the east outside is decorated in colored lights and inside of the business are beautiful decorations that give their message.

Jenkins Store too has its pretty decorations for our cheer on the inside of the store.

That is the extent of First Street at this time. I then turned north on the hill and there as I could see from afar was the Outpost Hill residence of Rev. and Mrs. Kline and family. The flag pole was decorated from bottom to the top in colored lights and truly shone proudly over this little town. It is seen for miles. A great display. The Joe Shaffer home has a tree with colored lights in the west window. At the bottom of the hill east to Mr. and Mrs. Miles Williams Sr. The picture window on the south has twinkling lights on the inside which are like running water. Real nice.

I must not forget the Sherman Willis home which displayed a beautiful little tree in blue lights on the inside of their home.

Now I start from east second street. Until I reach the Mrs. Vanarmon home on mid second. The summer tree which was bare was covered with colored lights. It was a pretty vision. Next was the Richard Flores home on West Second. In the north picture window Santa and his sleigh and reindeer, as well as a snow man with lots of snow with red lights shining on the scene. Truly was out standing and inviting.

Then I started on West Third and nothing until I arrived at the Fidel Sanchez which displayed mistletoe on the front door glass. Next was the Zamora home with their beautifully decorated and lighted in colors tree in their north window. Aldrich had lighted Santa's face in the south window. Then the D. Chavez home blue light predominate around the window inside and then red, with small blinking green lights on the tree inside. Truly was pretty. Then to start from East Fourth street. Nothing until I arrive at the Warren Harris home on West Fourth. In the north picture window was a tree inside with blinking yellow lights. Then to corner of West Fifth and there invites the Hollis Cummins home a big tree outside that is glowing so brightly lighted in all colors with colored lights over the garage door and the north porch lattice work. The picture window on the south is the pretty lighted tree inside. Then the Baptist Parsonage where Rev. and Mrs. Doyle Robertson reside. The north picture window in its colored lights outside and a most beautiful tree inside lighted. Albert Guevara home a nice lighted tree inside and Jack Shaw home too has a pretty lighted tree inside.

Carrizozo deserves lots of praise too, for there is so much interest and their town is lighted so beautifully for Christmas season. As well as the businesses, I enjoyed it so much and I do feel others do.

Mrs. Maude Kingston accompanied me to Carrizozo on business last Wednesday. It had snowed on the Tucons as we went over and as we started home such picturesque scene will be long remembered on the Mountain facing Carrizozo. What beauty. Snow was over all the country as well as the mountains up to the sides of the highway. All of the way home. Then Friday we went to Ruidoso. On our side lots of snow even to the Capitan mts, but over Angus Hill and over the summit snow but farther on it was if never any snow. Though Sierra Blanca was a glistening white.

Mrs. Nell Chapman who carries the mail on Alto Rt. had a car accident where the trunk of goes to Peobles last Tuesday morning as she was coming in. The car was totally demolished but she was luckily unhurt. I see the cause. We are happy that you were not injured.

Trust The President

More than 60 signatures in support of trusting the President of the United States to deal with the Communists in our defense of Viet Nam, and in making peace the World can trust, and which will sustain the strength of our security, were obtained by Chaplain Alfred Kline and sent last week to American Legion Headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Harriet Kline was in Phoenix early this month to attend a briefing on the new edition of Childcraft and the historical 1970 World Book Encyclopedia.

Jeanann Kline and her father were at Holloman Air Force Base last week. She had the cast on her left leg removed and replaced a tooth!

The Capitan Lions' Christmas Program was presented by Chaplain Kline on Monday of this week, at the Smokey Bear Coffee Shop. He pointed out that our Christmas lights began burning in the hearts of men more than 2000 years ago, when men were in darkness, but believed light was coming. He said the Bible records this in Isaiah 9:2a, "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light..."

Kline said the light that came was in the life of Jesus, and that this light was the light of truth and love. He said that truth spoken in love brings brotherhood. He displayed a 1969 Hopi-Indian Christmas Card called "Star Of Light" showing a rainbow of 4 colored corn representing 4 races of mankind: Red, White, Black and Yellow, joining all mankind in brotherhood.

Some sixty persons were present at the Annual El Paso District Ministers and Wives Christmas Dinner of the United Methodist Church in St. Paul's Church in Las Cruces on Wednesday of this week. Chaplain and Mrs. Alfred Kline were present from Capitan. District Superintendent, Dr. M. Buren Stewart, and his wife Gladys hosted the gala gathering this year.

Coming Of Christ Re-enacted

Sixty eight adults saw and heard 47 children and youth re-enact scenes of the coming of Christ at Capitan United Methodist Church last Sunday night at 7 p.m.

The 20 voice Youth Choir, with bright red crosses on white poncho style gowns, sang appropriate Christmas Carols, as groups of wisemen, shepherds, kings and angels arrived to bring gifts and to worship the baby Jesus.

The Choir sang "I Can Light A Candle, God Can Light A Star" as five pre-school children lighted and placed five advent candles near the manger.

A trio of older girls used flute, piano and voice to blend in "Silent Night."

The soft sweet voices of small children sang the first verse of "Away In A Manger", with the choir singing the last verses. Sentences, describing the wonder and joy coming from baby Jesus, were repeated by several of the smallest children.

A Clarinet trio by three older girls, lifted the spirit of all present just before the congregation sang "O Come, All Ye Faithful." Refreshments in the church dining room rapidly disappeared, after which bags of candy and nuts were distributed among the children.

Chaplain and Harriet Kline, (Youth Coordinators of the church) thanked the many mothers and children who prepared costumes, attended rehearsals and provided refreshments. They remarked on the true teamwork and mutual support of the program committee; Mrs. Alma Ingalls, Mrs. Carolyn Harris, Mrs. Diane Baxter, Mrs. Hattie Phillips, Jenne Smith, Clay Baxter and Warren Harris.

Those faithfully attending the several rehearsals were: Ernest Hammett, Sandra Lacy,

EDITOR'S CORNER

More than Indians in Utah

New Mexicans, least those over in the center and east parts, are liable to think of Utah as a land of Mormons, rocks, snakes, cactus, uranium and Indians in about that order. Make your own if you don't like that order.

It was pleasant to find that Utah does other things than raise cattle and large families.

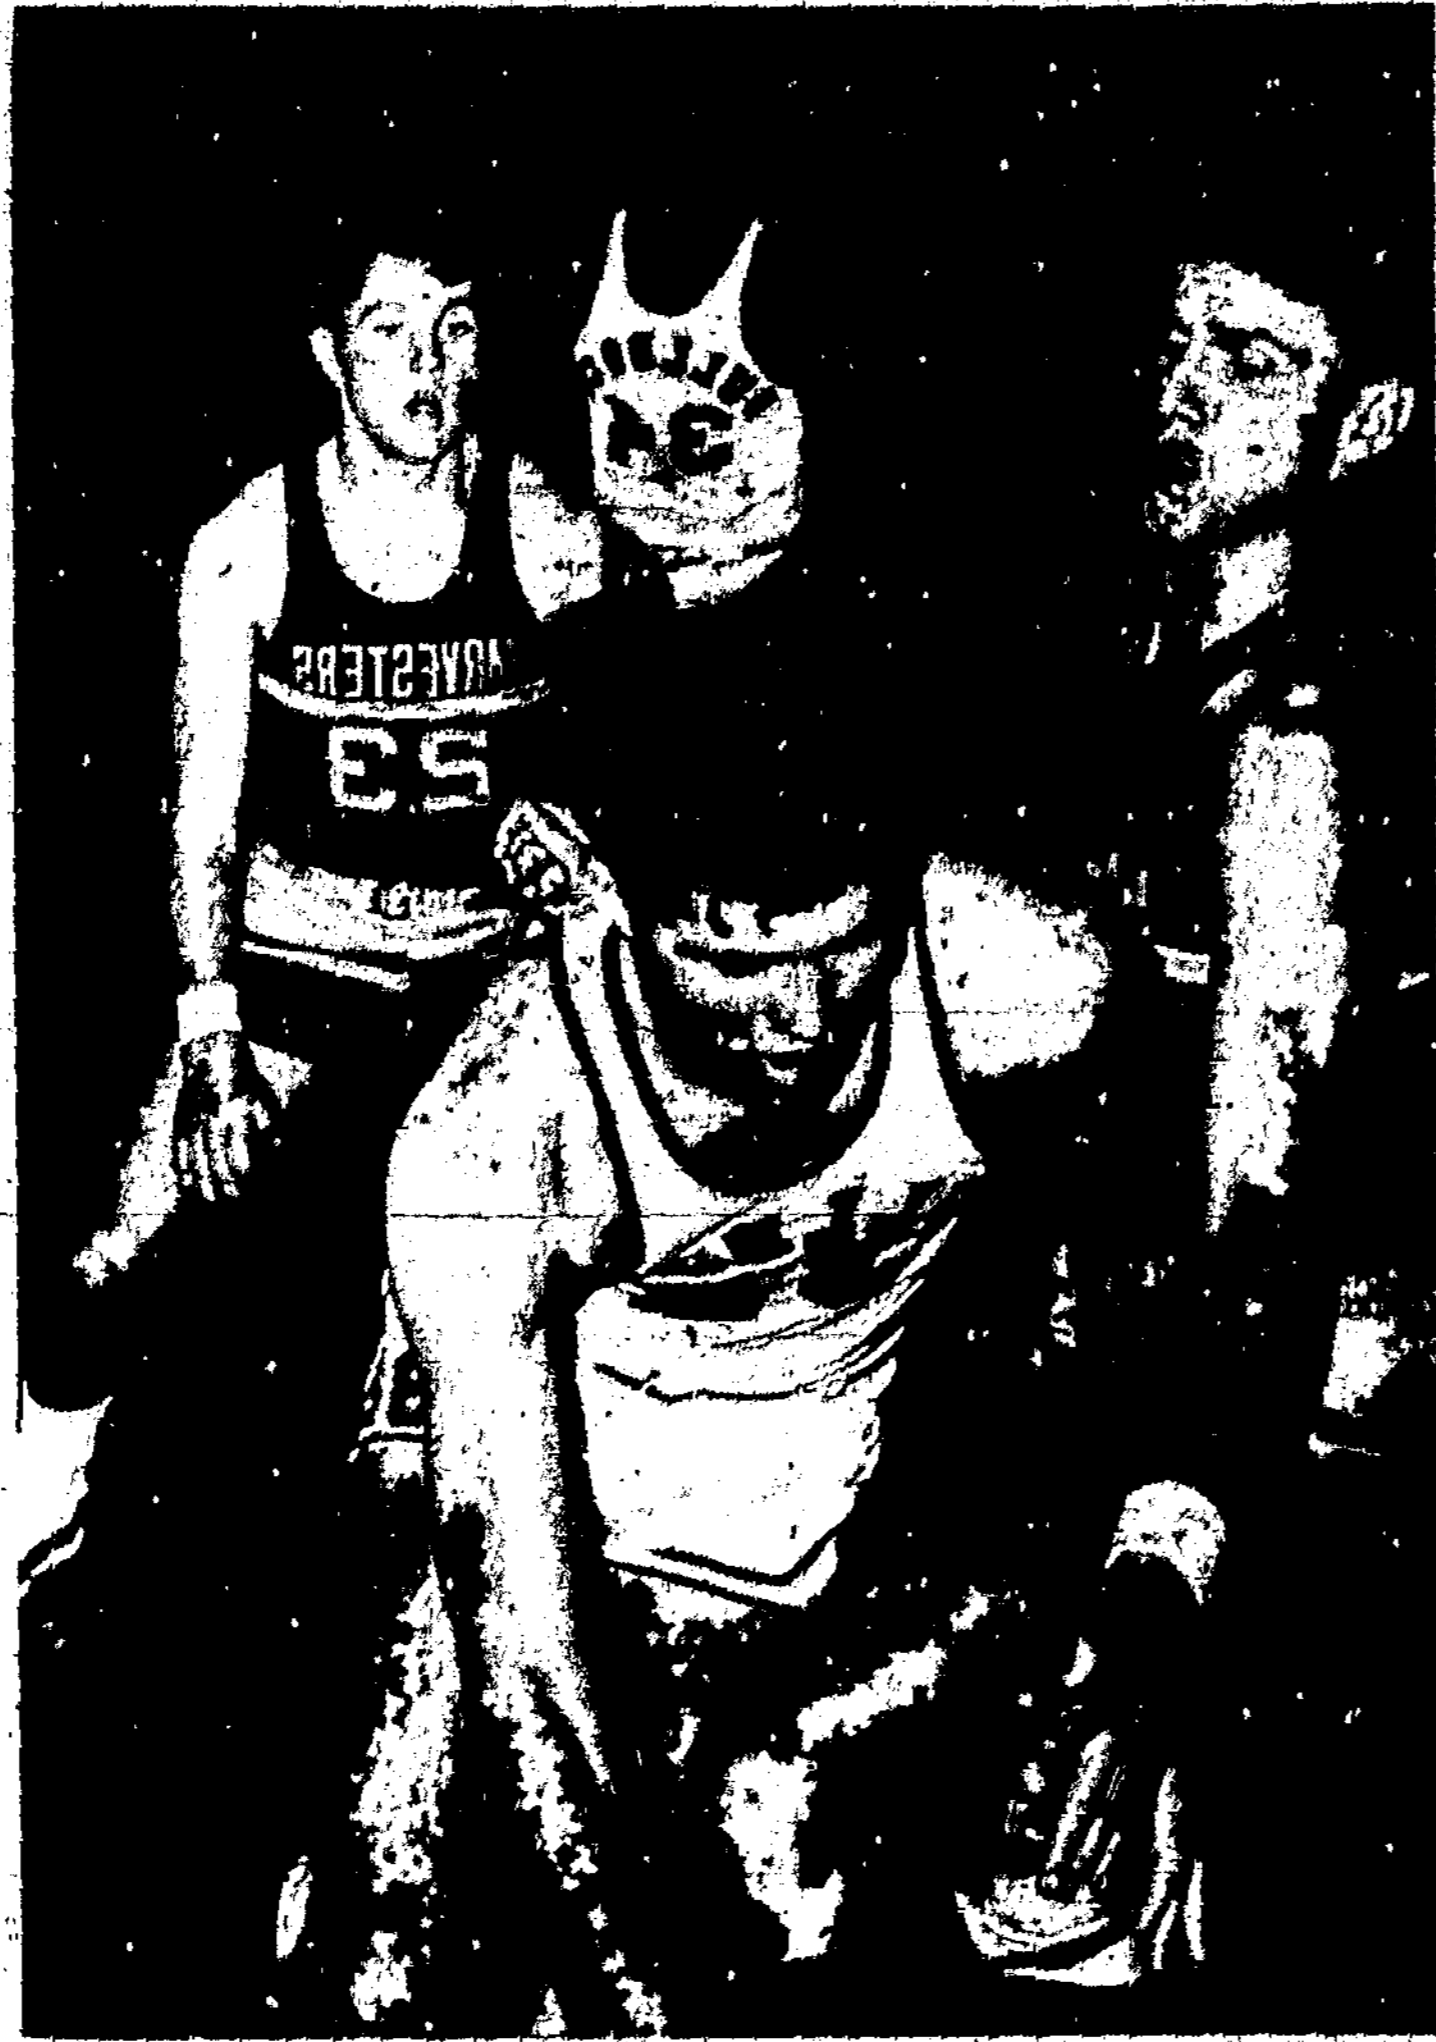

Dwight and Gladys Payton at Aztec called and said meet us in Albuquerque Sunday, we'll eat, visit and go to the ballet. What ballet, but that didn't matter because of the visiting and eating which turned out to be as good as we hoped for. You should try Hoyt's Dinner Bell restaurant at 3900 Central for a delicious change in your diet, Best food and service. Anyway, the ballet turned out to be the "Nutcracker" danced by Ballet West in Popejoy Hall at the University. Purely a delightful evening.

The biggest surprise was those dancers and reading in the program about development of ballet department at University of Utah.

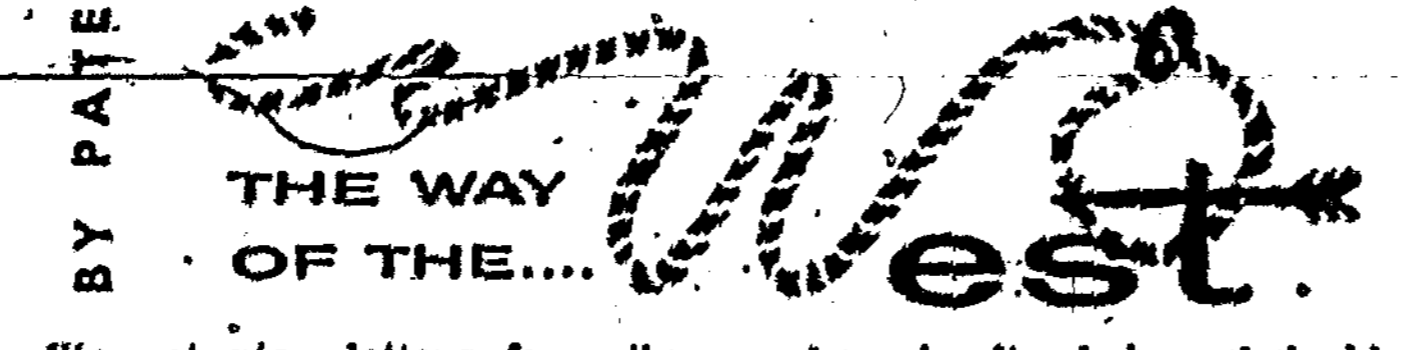

Watching ballet is not exactly like watching Lamonica throw the ball or Swoboda using his bat but let me tell some of you back woody types that holding a 100-110-120 pound gal up in the air for the long count must take muscles and there was nothing feminine about the men dancers in the Ballet West.

They danced the interesting Christmas story that is Nutcracker. Youngsters real good and fun to watch, three men as Cossacks brought most applause, settings and costumes were beautiful to compliment the music of Tschalkowsky.

Makes one feel a lot better about the entire state of Utah.

RANDALL ROBERTS ON THE MOVE - The J. N. Roberts family, in Carrizozo for construction of our new postoffice, made a lot of friends during the months they were here. Randall is 4th leading scorer with the Plainview basketball team which is leading in the Texas IAAAA race. Randall had a high of 30 points against Odessa and is averaging 19 in the district. He is shown with ball in game with Pampa where he led with 25 points. J. N. sends congratulations to the state champion Zoza football team and holiday greetings to all his friends.

We get nice letters from the Coca-Cola company rather regular about the handling of their company name, like somewhere in our issue of September 25 when an erratum (their word) appeared when Coke was written with a lower case "c". Mighty sorry about that and hopefully the Coke people in Atlanta and New York will get this message through their clip service.

W-W
Just so they don't get too proud... we never drink unstrengthened soft beverages. A shot of several varieties of hooch really helps the flavor of Coke, with a large C.

"Remember when Fred 'Shorty' Dawson was manager of the very fine Carrizozo baseball team. He was a great little man in those days and still is. Let's all remember him with a card this Christmas. His address: Fred 'Shorty' Dawson, Veterans Hospital, Grand Junction Colorado 81501."

J. C. Palmer accuses us of news suppression last week and he is a bit right.

W-W
Swiped from Duffy - A lady we know went to a pet shop to buy a drinking bowl for her dog. The proprietor of the pet shop asked her whether she might like to have it inscribed: "For the dog." "It really doesn't matter," the lady replied. "My husband never drinks water and my dog can't read." Confucius say: Man who burns candle at both ends not very bright. Some friends are a lot like mifages - try to touch them and they disappear. Without a doubt Mother Nature knew what she was doing, but sometimes it looks as if she deliberately constructed mankind for the benefit of doctors and dentists.

W-W
Some chitling of work took place at News this week - David LaFave doing press work and Omy Lindsey doing camera and stripping work. Of course we regret Peter Aguilar's leaving for reasons beyond the years of training invested in him but the wheels will keep turning.

W-W
Please keep in mind that our December 23 Christmas issue will be closed out Monday morning and go in the mail the night of December 22.

W-W
A large department store hired seven men to act as Santa Clauses for the holiday season. One man was put in charge. The other six were given the title of "Subordinate Clauses."

W-W
"I'm the first to admit," she said.

EDUCATIONAL DEVELOPMENT TESTS UNDERWAY IN GRADES 9-12

Interpretation of the scores made recently on the Iowa Tests of Educational Development are underway in grades 9 through 12 at the Carrizozo High School. The scores which students obtained from the results of their two days of testing are being handed out to each grade at a time when the counselor can meet with that particular grade.

Each pupil is plotting his scores on the pupil profile so he can see at a glance how he stands in relation to the national percentile rankings of thousands of students all over the country who have taken the test. Each class average has been plotted on the same profile and the student plots his local percentile ranking so that he can see how he relates to the rest of the pupils in his class as well as how he ranks nationally. As a pupil studies his scores, particularly in relation to national percentiles, he can tell in what areas of study he needs to work especially hard to bring his accomplishments up and he can tell in what areas it might be possible that his greatest abilities lie. If a pupil will keep his records from year to year, he will be able to tell at a glance if he is moving upward in his educational development, holding his own nationally, or going downward. In this age of technology, it is hoped that pupils will see the necessity of greater endeavor so that their educational development will advance.

Also, in the counseling department, the English teachers are working cooperatively with the counselor giving the Kuder Preference Tests which will be used to help each pupil from grades 9 through 12 determine several of his highest possible vocational interests. He will then be encouraged to see what additional training beyond high school will be necessary for these vocations, where it may be obtained, what are the possibilities for employment.

The Moore Insurance Agency truly believes in the basic principles our great country was founded on, and we are most interested in hearing from the students of the Lincoln County Schools.

Coca writes "Why pull out"

Many people in the United States today are protesting the war. They are saying we should get out of South Viet Nam, stay out, and offer no military support. They say we have lost, and we are not getting anything accomplished. But do they really know what they're talking about? I don't think that most of them do. In my opinion many of the demonstrators are just troublemakers, hurting our country. They believe in peace, or at least they say they do, and yet many of their so called peaceful protest marches seem to turn into destructive riots, injuring many and causing great financial loss. They want the United States to pull out of South Viet Nam and give up. The United States has never surrendered to anyone in war, so why should we now? The United States stands for freedom and liberty. We are against Communism and don't want it to spread. South Viet Nam asked the of January 15th and 16th on your calendar and plan to attend.

The 1970 Farmer's Income Tax Guide is now available in the County Agents office in Carrizozo.

The ornamental plants around your home need pruning and training annually to make them beautiful. The type and amount will vary greatly, so it's very important that you understand how to prune each plant on your property. To understand the proper pruning methods, you'll have to study, practice and observe. Study the plant, its growth habits and flowering characteristics. Practice removing stems and branches. Observe the effect of your pruning job on the shape, vigor, flowering, etc., of the plant. Proper pruning makes your plants look young, vigorous and beautiful for many years.

Think of your plants in groups rather than individually. Group in your mind all plants having similar growing and flowering habits, or which have similar uses. Each group requires a special type of pruning. It is easier to remember the special pruning methods for particular groups of plants than for each individual plant.

All plants can be classified as evergreen or deciduous. Evergreen plants, retain their leaves or needles throughout the year. Deciduous plants drop their leaves in the fall and replace them in the spring.

Evergreens are divided into narrow-leaved and broad-leaved plants. Deciduous plants are divided into groups which produce flowers in early spring on stems grown the past year, and those which bloom later on new wood.

Light pruning on broad-leaved evergreens can be done any time. Severe pruning is best done during the winter months. Narrow-leaved evergreens such as pines and junipers are best pruned in late spring following the first flush of growth. Do not prune spring flowering deciduous shrubs before flowering. Winter pruning of these plants would reduce flowering. Summer flowering deciduous shrubs should be pruned during the dormant or winter season.

Note From Andy Carter

For the past several months I have watched the campaigning of the two recognized candidates for the United States Senate. On the basis of what I have read and seen so far, I can only say, the people of New Mexico deserve better.

The real issues in the 1970 Senate campaign have been clouded by name calling and bitterness, and the important questions facing our state have been ignored. Name calling and petty quarrels are not going to solve Viet Nam, inflation, crime or our state's growth.

The back alley nature of the personal exchanges between our two highest office holders has given rise to a growing concern, even disgust, in the minds of the people of this state.

The people of New Mexico want calm, considered, constructive representation in the United States Senate. What happens in that house of government is too important for personal bickering and back biting. The people want a campaign based on the issues.

The people of New Mexico want something better than they have been offered so far. They want progress instead of politics, and I believe they deserve it.

For this reason, I am announcing my candidacy for the United States Senate. I pledge to you a forceful, honest and constructive campaign based on the issues and the Republican philosophy. My concern is with the future of New Mexico and the Republic. My attention will be focused on the issues.

A goal for 1970

A great many of us Carrizozoans have lived in small towns all our natural lives and some of us in more small towns than others for various reasons.

We know what makes a small town lively, dull or dead - the answer is people.

Consider life in small towns like Encino or Corona where a great big part of community life - business, social, service - is centered entirely in the school.

The trend of large getting larger and small getting smaller is going to continue. The town of over 1,000 population we grew up in, with two banks, newspaper, many other businesses, is now down to nothing as a business town - but it does have a new school building.

Consider that in our town most business - social - service community action stems from four local organizations (Lions, Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Woman's Club) and that membership lists of these organizations show only two teachers (two long time residents belong to Woman's Club) and you begin to wonder... what makes us different.

Things are only slightly different in the churches of our town.

Teachers can take this as an indictment of their activities if they like, but it is not intended that way so much as to set out a goal for the new year. That of getting the community to work together for our common good, certainly no simple task but one that would surely help this small town... and maybe slow the trend of gradually getting smaller.

Capt. Anderson tells Greenland experience

Capt. Barbara Anderson, a 4th Air Force Nurse assigned to Thule Air Force base in Greenland has returned to the states for a 30 day leave. Her parents Mr. and Mrs. Elvin R. Anderson of Captain met her in Colorado Springs, Colorado, Nov. 7 when she returned from over seas.

When asked to tell us some thing about her assignment at "top of the world" Capt. Anderson said, "Well, when you think of our hospitals here state side your picture is of a large, modern architectural design with beautiful green lawns. At Thule you strip this down to an insulated, aluminum plywood building on the permafrost grounds of Thule, Greenland.

Is it difficult for you to imagine this? Not for those of us stationed at the northern most installation.

Here state side remember how many nurses you saw last time you visited a hospital? Now strip this down to 4 Air Force nurses stationed at Thule. May I introduce our current staff? They are Maj. June Tennis, Maj. Marilyn Jorgenson, Maj. Reva Sturm and myself, Capt. Anderson. Hi!

Most people here in the states think, oh! those poor people, nothing to do but just work. This is not true, the work and recreational activities of Air Force Nurses in the Arctic, with a few unique exceptions parallel those elsewhere.

Of course it is those exceptions the idea of associating women with work a matter of miles from the polar ice cap that tends to the misconstrued facts about how things really are.

The hospital at Thule while it lacks the exterior glamour of the stateside hospital, is a well equipped 8 bed hospital with 22 additional beds as standbys.

Thule's hospital is a well lighted, roomy interior and affords Air Force Nurses and patients alike a comfortable work and recovery atmosphere, shielded from the sometimes sporadic and unpredictable arctic weather.

Usually we have a Danish translator available 5 days a week but there are times when we do have a minor problem in treatment of Eskimo patients since no translator is available. Finding out what their ailments are can sometimes become a major task.

Someone asked where do you get your hair done? Ha! you try a hair cut from each of the other 3 nurses and settle on the best for there is the lack of a beauty parlor, certain cosmetics, adequate women's clothing (we do have good old Sears and Montgomery Ward catalogs). But these are just a few inconveniences and do not make your year tour dismal, far from it, I would take nothing nor everything for the wonderful experience I have been given.

When I arrived in Thule last April we had 24 hour days, the sun never set. The day before I left we had our last sunset and now we will have 24 hour nights.

What do we do? Truly we are not as isolated and restricted as some rumors have it and we do live on top of the ground. Many believe we live underground. The Officer's open mess, base theater, gym and chapel are all available, day or night. Sight seeing, tours, climbing Mt. Dundas and exploring poses no more a problem for us than it does the men.

Capt. Anderson summed it up by saying "While Thule may not be one of the choicest assignments, it is definitely one of the most interesting and challenging of all for the Air Force Nurse" and as she said before she is so happy to have had the chance of serving and seeing this part of the world that many will never see.

Capt. Anderson has an apt. in Roswell and will leave there Nov. 23 for St. Louis, Mo. where she will spend a week with her sister and family before returning to Thule Dec. 1. Her tour of duty will last 'till April. Good luck and God bless all 8 of you.

GERALD GILBERT GOMEZ IN TECHNICAL SCHOOL

Gerald Gilbert Gomez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel D. Gomez of Lincoln, is among the 1,100 full time day division students attending the Technical-Vocational Institute here during the fall trimester. Vice President Louis E. Saavedra has announced.

Mr. Gomez, who is a graduate of Capitan High School, is enrolled in the Institute's Drafting Technology program, which is 16 months in length.

Since there is no tuition charge to legal residents of New Mexico, many students from outside of Albuquerque are now taking advantage of the job training opportunities at T-VI. Since the State Legislature provides some funds for operation of the Institute, tuition is waived for residents of the state, and the only charge for most students is a $5 per trimester registration fee.

At present, the Institute offers technical and vocational training in 12 major fields. The majors include accounting, automotive collision repair, automotive mechanics, data processing technology, distributive (sales) education, drafting technology, electronics technology, practical nursing, hospital aide, machine trades, office education (clerical and secretarial), and welding. In each of these fields, students attend classes 25 to 30 hours per week.

Applications are now being taken for the spring trimester, in which classes will begin Feb. 3. Dead line for making application for admission is Jan. 2. There are still openings for new students this spring.

You'll Be Used To It!

A girl was wondering whether to marry her boy friend or wait for someone else to come along. Unable to make up her mind, she consulted a fortune teller. The seer gazed intently into his crystal ball. "If you marry this man," he intoned, "you will be poor and unhappy until you are forty."

"And then?" asked the anxious girl.

"And then? Why, and then you'll be used to it!"

Notes From Ralph Dunlap

Urinary calculi or water belly can be prevented by adding 0.5% ammonium chloride to the feed. This can be done by adding 10 pounds per ton of feed. Ammonium chloride can be used as a drench (1/4 to 1/2 ounce dissolved in water per animal) in affected animals plus a smooth muscle relaxing agent, Dr. Crookshank with Animal Research Service at College Station, Texas, gave this as the results of his study of the problem in West Texas.

WE HAVE the

Few things irritate the house wife as much as finding insects in cereal and other foodstuffs. Usually an infestation is recognized by the presence of insects, holes in the packages, webbed food material, and insect pellets. Many pantry pests are general feeders, feeding on nearly all types of dried vegetable and animal matter.

Examine all food products of the type mentioned above every few months. Anything that has been on the shelf, opened or closed, for over three months should be checked closely. If you find an infestation or even signs such as webbing or pellets, dispose of these obviously infested foods immediately.

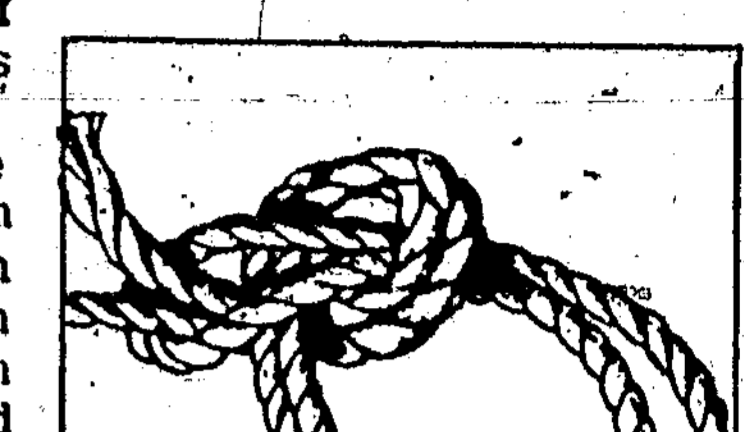

Thoroughly clean all storage areas. Food particles from occasional spilling accumulates in cracks and crevices. Insects can feed and reproduce on such material. Then, as newly stored products are brought in, they may also become infested. A vacuum cleaner does an excellent job of picking up dry particles from corners and crevices. After vacuuming, wash the shelves with a strong detergent.

Foods in open containers that are not obviously infested should be treated by heating or freezing to kill any eggs or insects that might be in them. Heating in the oven at a temperature of 130 degrees F. for one-half hour or freezing at zero degrees F. for four days will kill any pests in the foods.

Store treated foods in clean glass or metal containers with tight fitting lids. Apply an insecticide after vacuuming and washing the area. All foods should be removed from cupboards or pantry. This includes canned goods, too. Your cleaning job will be more thorough and there will be no chance of contaminating foods with the insecticide. Insecticide on the lid of a can could contaminate the contents as the can is opened.

Ready to use aerosol bombs, sprays or paints are available. Concentrates that can be mixed with water and applied with a paint brush, flit gun or compressed air sprayer are also available. Read the "active ingredients" statement on the label to be sure you are getting a product that contains chlordane, DDT, dieldrin, diazinon, DDVP, Lindane, mal-athion, methoxychlor or naled. Many preparations contain mixtures of two of these chemicals. Most ant and roach preparations have one or more of these insecticides. Lightly spray or paint the shelves including cracks and crevices. Let the insecticide dry; then cover the treated shelves with clean paper before replacing foods. Shelf paper impregnated with lindane will help prevent reinfestation.

Can You Untie It?

Some loan agreements have penalties or restrictions that make it difficult to refinance in case interest rates drop. But not a Variable Rate Loan from the Federal Land Bank. Interest rates on Variable Rate Loans are reduced whenever economic conditions permit. This is a new idea in farm and ranch financing—an idea you'll want to consider before you tie yourself down to today's high interest rates. Let's talk it over!

"Leave it to Charley"
Charlie brings along his Motor Bike - to the disgust of the hunters, but Charlie's bike transports the camping equipment and enables Charlie to bring on the only deer of the hunt. This convinces Charlie's companions that they too travel better in the field on a Trail Bike.
The film historian remembered the production vividly, for years ago, he acted in the film with three other citizens of New Mexico, his role was that of "Charlie".

SAFETY - THE GREAT ESCAPE TO NOWHERE!
The youth of our nation are going to "pot" literally. Marijuana or "pot" has become the choice of many students on top-ranking campuses throughout the USA. What is behind this drug craze? What are the effects of marijuana? And why do young people turn to pot drugs?
Tons of pot cross the U.S.-Mexican border each year illegally. Tijuana is "pot capital of the world. An estimated 13 million "joints" marijuana cigarettes are puffed away each week-end in the US.
Most of the Americans turning on "with pot are under 21 years of age, but many adults are also using "sticks" "joints" or "grass" as it is called. Drug abuse among youth, even high school and Jr. High is fast becoming an epidemic.
Marijuana, its use and its possession, is illegal. In spite of this illegality, "pot" is second only to alcohol in popularity as an intoxicant. It is no longer the escape route of the down trodden only. It is risen socially from the grimy - encrusted slums to acceptance more dangerous than a narcotic addict. The reason - His judgement is impaired but his desire for physical activity often remains at a high level. His poor perspective, lack of judgement, a desire for activity combine to make him extremely dangerous.
Marijuana deposits toxin in the liver, damages the brain, eyes and the respiratory tract. Evidence has been introduced of lasting genetic damage that might be passed from one generation to the other.
It takes only about 3 months with pot to reduce a bright eyed bushy-tailed youngster to a blob of inertia.
Drug addiction is one of the greatest epidemics, in a few years time the Great Plague and Black Death will look like small fry compared with it.
