Lincoln - Sierra County to elect constitutional delegates

Lincoln County voters will go to six precincts June 17 starting at 8:00 a.m. to vote in the special election of one delegate from the counties of Lincoln and Sierra to a constitutional convention to revise or amend the Constitution of New Mexico.

Candidates are John W. Thompson and Ralph Petty Jr of Ruidoso in Lincoln County and Robert C. Cox of Winston in Sierra County.

Constitutional convention comments by Jeff Bingaman, assistant attorney general, make several good points. The convention will be in session for a period not to exceed 60 calendar days. In one sense the constitutional convention governs itself and could extend this 60 day period, except that the legislature controls the purse and might not provide extra funds.

Factors which have brought about the need for a revised constitution in New Mexico are thought to be 1) growth of the federal government since turn of the century, and thought that a stronger state government is means of restricting federal controls. 2) Worry by some groups about inability of government to take action to correct injustices in society. 3) Growth of communications and news media serves as substitute for internal checks upon government corruption which had traditionally been written into state constitution.

The present New Mexico Constitution was drafted in the fall of 1910 during a fifty day session. It was approved by people of the state after certain changes were required by the U. S. Congress, as adopted the length was over 20,000 words.

Between 45 and 60 days after the adjournment of the Convention the Governor is required to call a special election at which time the people of New Mexico will be asked to accept or reject the changes which are proposed by the Constitutional Convention.

Range test fertilizing doubles stocking rate

A project of interest to livestock people is being carried out on 150 acres of range land near Fort Stanton, just east of the turnoff from US380.

Don Dwyer, professor of range management at New Mexico State College, is in charge of the research project assisted by Jerry Reed with four graduate students helping, Jerry Schickelanz, Jim Montoya Will Wile and Frank Theford.

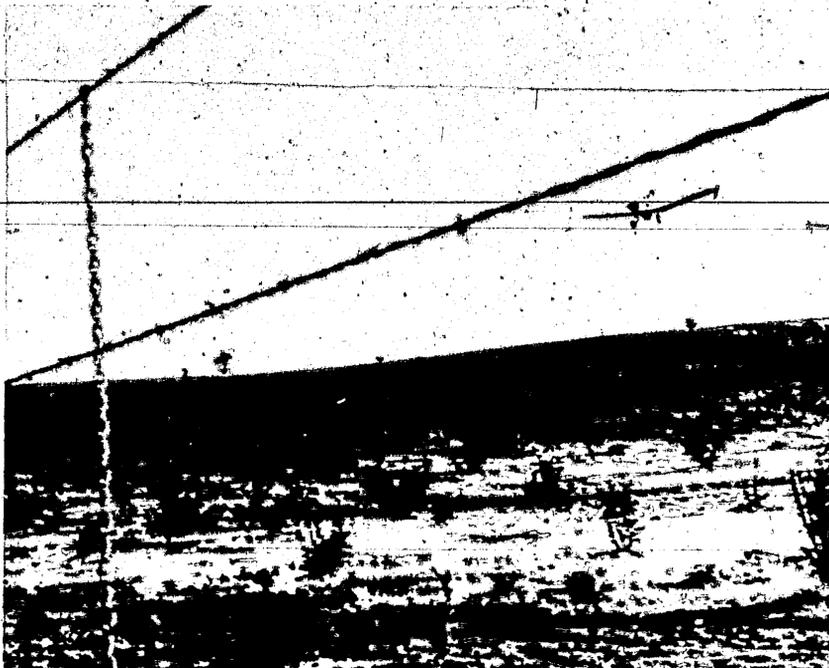

This is the second year of the range fertilization project.

Approximately 100 pounds of fertilizer (high in nitrogen) is applied per acre. Last year the stocking rate was doubled on the fertilized range, 28 heads of yearlings on this pasture, and 12 head of yearlings on an unfertilized pasture.

Cost was figured at 5.50 per acre, and return on gain basis figured to be 7.50. Dwyer said they have been experimenting with fertilizing small plots which led to this study on a more extensive basis. Results show up within ten days following rain after application of fertilizer. Results of research this year will be added to the first year and the project carried on for one more year of study.

Castleberry dusting and spraying service of Anthony is doing the job in a Piper plane special built for this type of work. Monday morning was windy and only twelve or so passes made with the fertilizer granules but Tuesday was real good from daybreak to shortly after 8:00 a.m. and about half the job was done then with Charles Landelle of Canutillo doing the piloting. Each run takes about seven minutes. Wayne Castleberry was using a chamolito skin to filter gas into the plane during service period. The runs are made right down on the ground and utmost care is taken to properly service the plane. Castleberry said the chamolito skin does fine filter job up to point when small fibers start breaking off which would clog the system.

Two of the grad students worked as road flagmen while the plane used the road into Fort Stanton as landing and takeoff strip, another student was on top of hill with flag to guide the plane, and rest of crew stood by to help load the plane for its fertilizing run.

FERTILIZING AT FENCE LEVEL — The plane piloted by Charles Landelle was coming over the mountain about fence high spreading granules of fertilizer on Fort Stanton range Tuesday morning when the News photographer caught this picture.

SPEED LOADING — Each trip with plane load of fertilizer took about seven minutes more or less and you see the New Mexico State College crew busy pouring buckets of fertilizer in hopper just in front of the pilot. The plane used a strip of road going into Fort Stanton for landing and takeoff.

Helen Ray mill sites on option

Some of the choicest mountain property in Lincoln County is to be made available to interested private buyers in the near future. Boykin Real Estate has a 180 day option of seven mill sites totalling 35 acres, located up Nogal Canyon, some of which cross the mouth of Philadelphia Canyon a popular picnic spot for Lincoln County people.

Gordon Sipple and partner Leonard Sharp are the owners of this property which they purchased in 1954 at the time they bought all the Helen Ray mine holdings. The mine has been inactive for many years.

Mill sites were permitted with each lode claim and did not have to be close to the mine. Leonard Sharp told the News that Boykin expected to break the acreage up into small tracts which would be put on the market.

COMPLETES BASIC — Mannie Hernandez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hernandez has completed his basic training at Ft. Ord, California, where he was awarded the M-14 expert medal. He is now attending MP school at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Dave Jackson's "Homecoming"

The following article was written by Amanda Treat at the time of David Jackson's death in 1963. It has never been published and the News asked permission to print "Dave's Homecoming" because he was White Oak's number one citizen by virtue of his character as well as having spent most of his 93 years there.

Last week it was my privilege, albeit with a mingling of sadness and regret, to accompany a great little man to his last resting place. This man was David L. Jackson, a well known figure throughout these parts, being noted for his benevolence and dedication to, and concern for humanity. He was humble but dignified; sensitive but understanding, and his remarkable sense of humor helped him to cope with many a difficult situation.

"Jack," as he is affectionately called, was zealous almost to extreme about the traditions and legends concerning White Oaks, the colorful little town of his adoption. It was here he spent sixty-six of his ninety-three years, his age at the time of his death, on May the eighth, 1963.

Jack witnessed and experienced the rise and fall of this fabulous town, once a center of activity, and boasting of culture and refinement . . . not to mention the millions of dollars in gold bullion drawn from the mysterious depths hundreds of feet beneath placid, serene hills surrounding it. In 1905 White Oaks was immortalized by a famous author Emerson Hough, in his book titled "Heart's Desire," after experiencing the many attractions and fascinations it had to offer.

The simple and impressive funeral services were held in the Baptist Church in Carrizozo, New Mexico. The floral tributes were numerous and expressed in mute eloquence the love and esteem of his host of friends. The church was filled to its capacity with people, young and old, some of them having traveled long distances to pay their respects to this outstanding citizen. Strange as it may seem, only four persons in that assembly were of Mr. Jackson's own race, they being his only living relatives, with the exception of a sister who could not be present.

We left the church and wended our way over the twelve miles of mountain road to White Oaks. I am sure there were sad hearts and moist eyes in that caravan of friends, many, who like myself, are natives of this little town of yesteryears, so dear to our hearts. To us all, David Jackson had become a tradition, a monument to all that, once made "our Town" a good place in which to be -- and now . . . so empty and forlorn.

We laid Jack to rest beside his beloved wife Mary, who preceded him in death nine years. His heart has for many years been divided between his living friends and those who went before, since he considered the latter as important as the former, and faithfully tended the graves where he helped to place countless numbers of these. In this peaceful "City" reside many distinguished and prominent personages of days gone by.

The sun was shedding its last mellow light as though in benediction, as the flower-laden casket was lowered into the ground, and a turtle dove called plaintively to his mate in the woods nearby.

Thus ended the final chapter in the life of this remarkable Negro whose very name has become almost legendary. David Jackson had no enemies and his friends were legion, for to know him was to love him. In his heart he held no malice toward any one. Though the color of his skin was shady, not so his soul, and he had a heart as big as Baxter, the mountain from whence he had extracted large, round nuggets of pure, glittering gold.

Here a sad thought comes; who is going to take care of our loved ones who sleep in this quiet little valley basking in the summer's sun or cringing beneath the chilling blasts of winter, since Jack has joined the ranks of the multitude of sleepers? and who is going to look after Jack? He has been for many years the self-appointed, unsalaried keeper of Cedarvale -- it was his domain and responsibility, therefore he took much pride and joy in the beautification of the temporary abode of his friends and neighbors.

No truer words were ever spoken than those which the Minister spoke beside the bier -- that the world was a better place because David Jackson passed through. By Amanda A. Treat May 14, 1963

Cope Straley killed in one-car wreck

Four employees of the U.S. Forest Service were traveling south on NM37 highway when the car went off the left hand side of the road at the bottom of Angus hill according to the investigating State Police officer, killing Cope Straley of Ancho and seriously injuring Mack Cook of Ruidoso. William Welshans of West Alexander, Pa., and Gordon Owen of Corona.

Straley has ranched in the Ancho area all his life and has worked as heliport crew chief for the Smokey Bear station for the past two years.

His survivors include his wife Blanche, two sons Joe and Clint and one daughter Juliana. Two sisters, Mrs. Joan Barnett of Florida and Mrs. Esther Copeland of Albuquerque. Two brothers, Charles of Las Cruces and Tommy J. of Carrizozo.

Funeral services will be conducted in the Ancho Community Church at 3:00 p.m. Friday, June 13. Rev. Milford Misener and Rev. Frank Crown will preside.

Excessive speed was listed as the cause of the accident. Straley was the driver of the car.

Horse tour starts at Mill Iron

An event expected to bring 200 people, more or less, from all over the state is the annual horse tour sponsored by New Mexico Stockmen which will be July 24-25 this year and will start at the Mill Iron Lazy Three Ranch off US54 north of Carrizozo.

The tour is intended to show all breeds of horses and horse growers are expected to bring horses into the five stops on the tour schedule. After the Mill Iron Lazy Three stop Thursday, the tour will go to the Malpais Livestock Co. Ranch and lunch at this stop will be furnished by Lincoln County Cowbelles. An overnight stop in Carrizozo will be lived up by supper furnished by Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce and a dance at the country club.

On Friday the tour will take in Fletcher Hall's at Capitan, Bob Scribner's High Mesa Ranch at Alto and on to the R. O. Anderson place in Tinnie.

C of C ballot cards go out

Its time for election of Chamber of Commerce board of directors in Carrizozo which is handled by postcards mailed out to all members who are expected to return them. The cards went in the mail Tuesday and hopefully will be returned right away.

Vote counting will take place at the C of C meeting June 17 at 7:30 at the recreation center and results made official at that time. Names on the ballot card include Paul Ortiz, Margaret Stearns, Roy Harman, Erma Strohmeier, Barbara Turner, Dale LaMay, Austin Woolen, Bill Kerby, Dutch Cox, and Bud Payne. You vote for your choice of five of the ten candidates.

Other business to be taken care of at the June 17 meeting will include discussion of reception for horsemen coming to this area July 24-25. The C of C has been working with the county commissioners to get sign on courthouse lawn redone and the commissioners have agreed to move the sign to face US54 both ways and the Chamber will have paint job done.

First governor's address remembered

By Roy Harman
Mr. chairman, Distinguished guests and friends: I am deeply grateful for the privilege of being here for this dedication of White Oaks as a historical site and for the dedication of the grave of W. C. McDonald, first governor of New Mexico, after it became a state in 1912. His business ability and service to our state as Governor was an outstanding one. On May 30, 1890 he gave an address here in this cemetery that would be a credit to any statesman of today. This

The good and the bad

Two developments are surfacing this week, one indicates a continuing trend not good for Carrizozo, the other indicates a trend that might be of some help to this same town.

The bad -- Audrey Langfitt is closing the door of her business, a trend that has been going on in Carrizozo for several decades. All the time our town has been gaining some real nice new things such as churches, schools, park, swimming pool, courthouse, post office, recreation center, a revitalized US54-380 intersection, air port -- we continue to lose people to make use of these places and to make business for doctors, lawyers, merchants and such. Without people a town can't offer services expected these days and we're not gaining in that respect.
Some things could be done about this situation but at present no revitalization is being attempted.

The good -- Several sales of land in the Nogal area indicate that this area will be opening up for residential use, probably more in the summer but still it will add to the economy of Carrizozo, and some of the same to Capitan. As the area around Alto develops the push for more development acreage will continue and Nogal Canyon area, as beautiful as any in the county, is bound to grow. Not much the Town of Carrizozo needs to or could do about this situation for it will take care of itself -- but if Carrizozo wants to draw these residents to town for shopping purposes . . . there's a lot that needs to be done, all in the same category of making our town a neat and attractive place to shop with at least the required services and merchandise available.

First, the will to make progress has to be present.

Grasshopper problem is developing in area south and east of Carrizozo, by July could be real bad and talk is going on now for private spray program on some of these lands.

Some of our boys are well occupied and busy right now, summer band camp, Richard Coca and Burdette Means at Eastern Sunshine Music Camp,

Bruce Hunter, Weylin Johnson, and David Lock at Boys State.

Last two weeks we've been recalling the days when the Lincoln County News might have 1-2-3 pictures and those not too clear. Two weeks ago the News printed 45 pictures, last week 20, this week several and we've got seeds of pictures taken at White Oaks will use in coming weeks. It all comes at the same old subscription price and comes like a bargain.

A computer was being installed in the offices of a large manufacturing concern. "This machine," bragged the technician to a secretary, "does the work of thirty men."

"Maybe it does," sighed the girl, "but for my part, I'll take the men."

We're supplying C.L. Sonnichsen, noted southwest author, with a set of pictures taken at White Oaks which he will be used in book he is editing. The book is about White Oaks written by the late Morris Parker in 1945 and to be published by University of Arizona Press.

This, especially for Fathers on their day --

Peter was in his second year of college when he decided to hit his father for a raise in allowance. The old man refused.

So Peter wrote him: "I can't understand how you can consider yourself a kind father when you won't send me more money. What sort of kindness do you call that?"

"That's unremitting kindness, son," replied the father in his next letter.

In tough times like the 30's and 40's more people ate scant than now but it wasn't true in the beef country around Carrizozo. Wayne Withers told us those were the years when he really learned to like beef -- the hoof price was terrible and cattle hardly worth taking to market, so what . . . they had good red meat morning, noon and night at Wayne's house.

Add up the things people (have to) go out of town for -- like tooth, shoe leather, glasses, fashion, flowers, certain inward parts, plus come more outward things and you'll know why the small town loses business to the big town.

Dogs are like people in so many ways. Waldo our youngest dachshund has always been third in command at our house until we got the cairn terrier pup.
Now Waldo has found a dog he can bluff and does. The two older dogs let the pup choose them around but good.

Swiped from Duffy -- The man who stands on his own feet is most admired -- in an elevator. Overweight often is just downsorts. Most home accidents still occur in the kitchen. But, frost bite has now replaced burns from hot pots. There's nothing wrong with teenagers that trying to reason with them won't aggravate. Children who are spoiled young souldon ripen with age.

DEDICATION SPEAKER -- John Kelt of Tucumcari, originally of White Oaks recalled old times for the crowd at dedication service on Memorial Day.

Major step for White Oaks

I am very grateful for having the privilege of saying a few words today. We are here on this Memorial Day to pay our respects to our loved ones and friends that have passed on. I want to compliment Lt. Gov.
Francis and Gov. Cargo and representatives in our legislature for seeing fit to make the Cedervale Cemetery a state memorial. I also want to say thanks to Mrs. Clara Snow and her committee for taking the lead in getting this project completed.

This occasion is a major step in the history of White Oaks, the history of this plot of ground started back on May 15, 1880 when a man by the name of Mr. McVoy was buried, making it about 89 years and 15 days since the first person was laid to rest here. Much history has transpired in this area since 1880 and it is my thinking that history is being made here today when the largest group of old time citizens of White Oaks are gathered here today, that have been back here all at one time since the 1880's. I am sure that Mr. Harry Dyer, his brother and Mr. Williams will remember the creaking of the wheels of the big ore wagons during the early morning hours as the men and the teams hauled the ore and coal from the different mines.

Some of the men responsible for the gold discovery in White Oaks were John V. Winters who passed away Nov. 21, 1881 and was laid to rest in this cemetery and along with him was Mr.
John E. Wilson the great grandfather of Mr. Paul Mayer of El Paso. Mr. Wilson is resting in this plot having passed away Aug. 28, 1893. I was visiting with Paul Mayer a few days back in El Paso and he was telling me that his mother Mrs. Ina Mayer who was 13 year old at the time she and her parents came to the White Oaks area and these folks camped just below Lincoln, New Mexico on the afternoon of April 28, 1881 the same day that Billy the Kid made his escape from jail and left two law officers dead. There was also another Mr. Wilson involved with the two men I mentioned in the early gold discovery. These men that made the early gold discovery made their headquarters up at the old Sam Wells ranch southeast of White Oaks where there is a large bunch of white oak trees located and this was the reason for White Oaks getting its name. Mr. Leonard Hunt present today, husband of the late Frances Wells Hunt will verify this I believe.

It was back on Aug. 8, 1893 that a Chinaman by the name of Wah Sing was murdered in White Oaks and I was visiting with Mrs. Retha Owens Brown of Corona a few weeks back and she was telling me about the town of White Oaks and since there was nothing else to offset the noise during the still of the night, it naturally scared this little five year old girl very much. Mr. Owens immediately went to see what was happening and of course found the Chinaman dead. I believe Willie Gallacher, who is her today will also attest to this incident since he remembers when the gambler that left the Little Casino after losing all his money went to the Wah Sing home in the east of White Oaks thinking that he would find a lot of money which was the reason for the murder.

While talking to Mrs. Brown she was also telling me about the time when the preacher was baptizing several people that were joining the Congregation church in White Oaks and was doing the baptizing at the pond up at the old Wells ranch. Mrs.
Brown, the small 5 year old girl, asked the preacher why he was giving all the people such big drinks of water.

The Gallacher family arrived in White Oaks late in 1887. Mr.
Willie Gallacher was about six months old and there were two other small boys in the family which were Harry and John his brothers. On June 2, 1890 Mrs.
Maggie Gallacher Kelt was born here in White Oaks in the old Ozane Hotel, which was located right across the street from the Telefero store. Granny Gallacher the mother of Maggie also said she would have no trouble locating her small daughter in any mixup because she would be able to read THE PRIDE OF DENVER, which would be written across the seat of the bloomers Maggie would be wearing since flour sacks were used to make much of the small children's clothing of this nature.

I would in closing like to pay tribute to a great American and a man that was just like a father to me as well as many other kids that were raised in White Oaks, this is my friend David L. Jackson and his wife Mary, who are resting in this Cedervale cemetery. Happy Jack as we all knew him did much for the young kids and you sure didn't hear anything about juvenile delinquency. I appreciated this man so much as he was my Scout Master, my Sunday School teacher in the Congregation Church. He helped to shape the life of many young people who left White Oaks to go out into the world. Thanks again for letting me share a few of my fond memories here today.

Kennecott Has New Mexico's

LARGEST MAN-MADE EXCAVATION . . .

DROP IN SOME TIME!

The beautiful Santa Rita Mine of the Chino Mines Division of Kennecott Copper Corporation in southwestern New Mexico had its beginning some 60 million years ago when fiery masses of boiling water and molten rock pushed their way from the interior of the earth to the surface.

Copper mining first began in 1804 and continued sporadically for the next 100 years. Then a new concept in mining -- the mass production of low-grade copper ores -- was considered for the Santa Rita Mine. Six years later the first ore was produced under this concept. Today, this open-pit mine is more than one and a half miles wide and reaches a depth of more than 1200 feet. It is one of the largest man-made excavations on earth.

Located in Grant County near Silver City, the Santa Rita Mine, its reduction plant, smelter and refinery produce approximately 100,000 tons of copper annually. You are cordially invited to view these operations.

There is a visitors' observation point at the mine, which is open daily during daylight hours. No reservations are needed. The wide, sweeping vista of the mine affords a photographer's delight.

A guided tour is conducted daily in June, July and August through the mill and the smelter at Hurley. The once-daily tour, Monday through Friday, begins at 9:30 a.m. and concludes at about 11:30 a.m. Again, reservations are not necessary.

We look forward to seeing you.

Would you like to have a pay increase? Money saved by gardening is just like getting a raise. A garden can be tended in less than one hour a day, which pays more than $1 an hour, for your spare time. Vegetables are the safeguard to better health. By your own labor, you can produce the vitamins and minerals needed to protect the health of your family. Garden fresh vegetables contain more vitamins than those that have been shipped long distances.

Gardening is recreational. Why take a sedative to remove nervous tension? An hour in the garden in the late afternoon or early evening will relax nerves that have been 'tied up' from a hectic day at the office. To many, gardening can be fun, just like a picnic or an outing. Make gardening the family hour, get together. Parents can teach their children how to garden by giving them a definite responsibility. "This row of beans belongs to Johnny; this row of lettuce is Mary's". The love of growing things and the feel of the good earth makes gardening a good opportunity for teaching wholesome outdoor recreation. Many doctors are recommending gardening as a means of relieving personal energy that may be stored up from hours of inactivity. All the sciences of farming have a place in the small garden plot. Time to plant, how and when to plant, the use of fertilizers and pest control materials, all make gardening interesting and challenging. To help in your gardening project, get a copy of the New Mexico Extension Circular 360, 'Home Vegetable Gardening' from the County Agent's office in Carrizozo.

Did you know that there are more deaths from bee stings in the U. S. annually than from all poisonous snakes? The list of stinging insects includes bees, wasps, hornets and yellow jackets. While reaction by most individuals is a sharp pain for a short time followed by swelling, the reaction may be an acute allergy, a serious illness or death for some people each year. Yellow jackets, honeybees, bumblebees and hornets are the worst offenders. Persons sensitive to insect bites must be extremely cautious. Here are some suggestions:

Use insect repellent or protective clothing when working outdoors near stinging insects. Do not use hairdressings or perfume with floral odors. Wear light colored clothing. Avoid sudden motions. Motions and air movement will attract a mad bee. Bees and wasps usually sting only when they are touched or nests are threatened. If you're sensitive to stings see a physician for suggestions before you get stung.

Grasshoppers have been found on the R-X Ranch south of Carrizozo. There are from 25 to 75 hoppers per square yard. They have just hatched out and are about one quarter inch long. You have to stir the grass and look for them. They will probably start flying in mid-July. They can be controlled with malathion or Sevin on grazing or cropland. Use malathion at 2-10 ounces of technical malathion of Sevin at 1 to 3 lbs per acre. Grasshoppers can be controlled much more readily when they are small and wingless.

 dedication is particularly appropriate at this time during our Lincoln County Centennial and at a time when our nation is engaged in war in a far off land.

I see a number of very wonderful former residents of White Oaks here today. I am happy to see them and talk to them again.

At this time I would like to personally thank Mrs. Snow for her untiring efforts in behalf of White Oaks and all who made this possible. We are also deeply grateful to the humanities class of the Carrizozo High School, other students, Supl. Ellison, Mr. Fulton, Lee Fleming, Evelyn Kressyman, Chuck Wetzel and George Spires for cleaning the cemetery.

My thanks to Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Francis for coming here today and to each and every one here.

Family of former Wortley owner visit

Lincoln -- By Mrs. Edgar Phillips

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Norman of Albuquerque, their daughter, Mrs. Frank Manfredi, and granddaughter, Karen LaRue visited Lincoln May 30 and 31. Mr. Norman's family at one time owned the Wortley Hotel which was at that time called the Old Lincoln Hotel, where they spent the night at the Wortley. Mr. Norman was born in Lincoln attended school here and worked with his dad in their store and hotel, which they owned at different times.

He enjoyed reminiscing with some of the old timers who still remember Lincoln in the early 1900s. It must have been quite a thrill to be back and stay in Lincoln with many of the old buildings still very much the same, and think of all of the good times he had while living here.

There's no doubt about it Lincoln has a charm all its own.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Salas and their little girls are so happy to have a baby boy in their home. I haven't learned his name yet.

Mrs. Tomacita Mirilloz and daughters who have been living in Hudson, Colorado are here. They may make their home here, again.

Mrs. Brubaker of Ruidoso and El Paso is visiting Mrs. Vera Beall in Lincoln this week. Mrs. Brubaker has lived in this area, when her husband now deceased was Forest Ranger on the Lincoln National Forest.
