Across a barren land, scarred by centuries of war and neglect, the spectres of ancient Israel appear, hover and fade away. Suddenly there is a movement of a different sort, and slowly, steadily, a startling transformation begins to take place.

Thus begins "His Land", the thrilling story of Israel from ancient to modern times. "His Land", a one-hour color feature motion picture, takes you on a journey through space, time and current events.

In the company of Cliff Barrows and Cliff Richard, England's popular star, who sings a number of new Ralph Carmichael songs, you travel the vibrant streets and lonely solitary paths of this nation whose destiny is daily discussed in the counsels of government all over the world . . . the Look your loveliest!

By Mildred North of Medical Arts

Charles Revson gives us the first professional at home facials: the super-powered Ultra-Facial Series by 'Ultima' II. Each is a salon-perfect, Salon-serious. Yet simple enough to make concentrated care available whenever you need it—a perfect complement to your regular "Ultima" II skin care.

Firming Peel-Off Masque is a transparent gel masque that acts as a firming-and-conditioning exercise for the face—stimulates the skin surface as it deep-cleanses pores to encourage a healthier look—toned and taut.

This "instant tightener" may be used as a morning pick-up or whenever you wish to improve the look of slack skin temporarily.

Follow with Intensive Moisture Facial. This dual-layer creme facial swiftly corrects the tired, taut look of dehydrated skin. You will be visibly refreshed—even signs of tension are minimized as surface cells attain maximum moisture. This intensive-moisture replenishment is especially important after prolonged exposure to sun or wind. The Gentle Planing Facial is a three-step facial that speeds the removal of loose, dry, dead cells that collect on the skin's surface. In just five minutes, with lotion-and-creme, you buff away the dead dulling layer to reveal the brighter, more even textured skin beneath.

Start now to be a new, lovely you for the coming holidays. Of course, we are all "true blue" Americans. Or are we? Do we let prejudice and petty grievances influence any of us when we select the leaders of this land that we love so much?

Let no man say that we are not intelligent enough to send the most qualified men to Santa Fe and Washington.

Every "good" citizen will vote this Nov. 3—with much concern for this United States of America.

Santa Fe -- The new legislature elected Tuesday was expected to be moderate-conservative and the new governor's administration moderate with three major redistricting problems facing lawmakers meeting January 19.

Legislative reapportionment and judicial and Congressional redistricting face legislators. Key decisions will exert special impact on Valencia, Lincoln, Guadalupe, Lea, Hidalgo, Luna, Sierra, Colfax, Union, Taos, Curry, Quay and De Baca Counties.

Some legislators favor a special lawmaker session immediately after the 60-day regular session to tackle the explosive reapportionment and districting issues. They emphasize consideration of the controversial subjects in the regular session would rub off on other major legislation, spark horse trading and severely delay action.

Less populous counties which lost representation in 1963 House reapportionment and 1966 Senate redistricting could find their influence in Santa Fe diluted again after lawmakers' seats are re-shuffled next year.

Reapportionment of legislative seats will be pegged mostly on population in the 1970 census. Increases over 1960 population were registered by Valencia, Curry, Taos, Luna and Sierra Counties. Population dropped in Lea, Colfax, Quay, Lincoln, Union, Hidalgo, Guadalupe and De Baca Counties.

If the size of the House is kept at 70 members, some present multi-county districts will probably be enlarged. The current multi-county districts: Lincoln-Sierra; Union-Mora-Harding; Guadalupe-DeBaca-Torrance; Hidalgo-Luna and Catron-Socorro. Each of the five districts counts one House member now.

Big Bernalillo County gained

20.4 per cent population in the new census. Bernalillo already has 18 House members but could qualify for up to four more strictly on a population basis.

Curry County could qualify for another House member under legislative reapportionment, especially if the size of the House is increased. The state's new total population is 1,014,979. The ideal population for a House district, geared to population alone, is 14,500.

The present Lincoln-Sierra district's new population is 14,749, slightly over the new norm. The Luna-Hidalgo district easily tops the norm with a new census of 16,440. But the Guadalupe-DeBaca-Torrance district count fell to 12,602. The Union-Mora-Harding district census decreased to 10,946. The Catron-Socorro district population dipped to 11,961.

Quay County population dropped to 10,903. Quay County has one House member now. Taos County's census gained to 17,516, well over the new norm. Taos County has one House member also. Lea County currently has four House members but its new population dropped to 49,554. Lea could lose one seat in reapportionment.

Valencia County gained population in the new census. Valencia may retain its three House seats, depending on the formula adopted. Colfax County population decreased to 12,170, well below the new "ideal" district population. Colfax County has one House member now.

The new population norm for a 42-seat State Senate, the current membership, is 24,166. The Union-Harding-Colfax district falls well below this level. The Quay-DeBaca-Guadalupe senatorial district also is substantially under the new norm. The combined Otero-Lincoln district population fits the norm closely. But two senators represent this two-county district now and the arrangement is subject to court challenge on the one-man, one-vote rule. The Curry-Roosevelt district is open to a similar attack with its two senators but the district's census exceeds the new census norm.

Bernalillo County has 10 state senators now but could qualify for two more under the new census. The state is set for a battle royal in the legislature over reapportionment as members shape decisions that may determine whether many lawmakers survive in the redistribution. If the legislature fails to vote reapportionment, a court suit to force redistricting is likely. The present legislative apportionment was court-ordered.

The new census produced an imbalance in voters between the two U. S. House districts in New Mexico. The 14-county northern district 1 has about 34,000 more voters than District 2 counts. But strictly on a population basis the balance between the districts is close --- 510,931 in District 1 and 504,048 in huge District 2.

District 2 counties: Curry, De Baca, Lea, Roosevelt, Chavez, Eddy, Lincoln, Otero, Dona Ana, Sierra, Socorro, Luna, Grant, Hidalgo, Catron, Valencia, McKinley and San Juan.

District 1 counties: Quay, Union, Guadalupe, Harding, San Miguel, Mora, Colfax, Taos, Santa Fe, Torrance, Bernalillo, Sandoval, Los Alamos and Rio Arriba.

Strong political implications apply to possible redistricting of the U. S. House seats. The Democratic 1968 Legislature districted the seats for the first time. Congressmen had previously been elected statewide.

But both incumbent Democratic U. S. House members --- Tom Morris, then of Tucumcari, and Johnny Walker, then nominally of Las Cruces --- were beaten in startling upsets. Districts may be reshaped to aid Democrats in 1972. Judicial districts may be redistributed by the legislature to correct severe imbalances in case-loads between some present districts.

SCMRA covers much business at Fort Stanton

The Steering Committee of the South Central Mountain Resource Area met Tuesday, October 20, 1970 at Ft. Stanton, New Mexico. The meeting was called to order 1:45 p.m. by Robert Scribner, Chairman. Those present are listed:

The minutes of the meeting of September 1, 1970, were read and approved.

Robert Scribner gave a report of the meeting of the State RC&Ds that he attended, and indicated that the problems and measures of the various RC&Ds are much the same. He said this group, with a representative from each Conservation District, will hold an Annual Meeting.

Carolee Gorney of the New Mexico Dept. of Hospitals, gave a brief review and summary of the State Hospital, their administration and funding and presented Mr. Roscoe Manning, Administrator of Ft. Stanton Hospital. In his program, Mr. Manning outlined briefly the history of the hospital at Ft. Stanton and its prior uses; his presentation described the operation and administration of the hospital together with its programs, goals and problems.

The Steering Committee reviewed progress on various project measures as follows:

Tularosa Nursing Home, Red Burnett, who is backing this home, and who originally presented this as a project measure, emphasized his determination to proceed with the nursing home, regardless of SCMRA lack of support and in spite of adverse criticism. It was moved by Charles Wetzel that the Tularosa Nursing Home be dropped as a project measure. Karl H. Wuersching seconded and motion carried.

Capitan Recreation Lake and White Oaks Recreation Lake. Bob Scribner read correspondence from Fred Thompson of the New Mexico State Game and Fish Dept. advising that no funds were available from his department for development of these lakes. Mr. Thompson suggested that investigation and planning be continued on the two lakes until funds from some source could be obtained, perhaps from the State General Fund, Dept. of Recreation and others. The Committee recommended that the Capitan Lake be given first priority.

Bear Canyon Dam, Dr. Karl H. Wuersching volunteered his efforts Lincoln County Hospital -- Nursing Home. Footings now being poured at the Carrizozo site.

Ruidoso Highway 70. Efforts have been made by surrounding communities and cities to have this part of Interstate system. Telephone Service to White Oaks. Correspondence from E. R. Kipp, representative of the REA was read, suggesting that the group contact Mountain State Telephone Co. This had been done several months back, and the problems were again reviewed.

USFS Red Cloud Recreation Area. Harv Abercrombie reported that information from the USFS indicates it will be at least 1975 before funds are available for development of facilities. Clouderoff Sanitary Land Fill. Dr. Karl H. Wuersching stated that USFS regulations and restrictions ground adjacent to the White Mountain Wilderness Area. Attractions in the area are hunting, camping, hiking, Indian Petroglyphs, etc. Albert Sandoval moved for adoption, Dr. Karl H. Wuersching seconded and motion carried. This is measure 73.

Livestock Report

By Reuben Caplan

While fear that much of 1970 corn crop will not keep in storage has abated to a considerable extent in recent weeks, there is still some doubt about the value of the crop as livestock feed. Mitch Geasler, Extension Beef Nutritionist, Iowa State University remarks, "If I knew the answer to that, I'd be the most popular guy in the State." He indicated that it will be another 100 days or more until there is some definitive word on 1970's corn's value as livestock feed. So far, there is no toxicity problem because of the corn just about rules out the possibility of Forest Service Land as a site. Another possibility discussed was a joint collection system by the Mountain communities of Clouderoff, Highrolls, Mountain Park and possibly Weed to use a sanitary fill at La Luz.

Otero County as a Great Plains Conservation County. Robert Bell said data is being obtained to proceed with this designation. Also working on the project are Rex Werner and Harv Abercrombie.

Highway-Right-of Way Erosion Control. Jim Lee indicated that lack of funds has delayed revegetation on right-of-ways.

Under new proposals, the first came from the Otero Soil and Water Conservation District regarding the need for a caution light on US 70-54, approximately 5 miles north of Alamogordo. This point has a turn-off to La Luz west to Holloman Air Force Base. A number of accidents have occurred here and a warning signal would be of benefit. Kurt Ziebarth moved for adoption, Dr. Karl H. Wuersching seconded the motion and it carried. This is project measure 71.

The next proposal concerned a small cemetery about 2-1/4 miles west of Lincoln. This cemetery has historical significance involving early day wagon train and settlers in the area. Needed is recognition through the New Mexico Historical Society and protection of fencing. Dr. Karl Wuersching moved for adoption, it was seconded by Robert Bell and was approved. This is measure 72.

The third proposal came from the floor and was presented by Albert Sandoval on behalf of the town of Tularosa. It was a request for road improvement from US 54 near Three Rivers up to a camp blight. But it remains to be seen about low corn's palatability -- whether or not cattle will eat 1970 corn as well as they ate corn from other years.

Dick Carlisle, Extension man for the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, feels that cattle will probably score per day gains as great as in other years, but he also feels that more 1970 corn will be needed to accomplish the same gains as in other years. The difference may be the result of a variety of per bushel test weights. A test weight of 54 lbs. per bu. is high this year, compared with the accepted 56 weight, and quite a bit of corn is reported to have weights of 50 or slightly less. Carlisle indicated that while corn combines in some cases are black from blight spores, the corn that is being harvested doesn't look too bad. And too much moisture is not a big problem in most of Illinois, while Carlisle doesn't expect daily cattle weight gains to be much different than in other years, he does expect that the cost of gains will be higher because of the higher price of corn and possibly because more corn may be required to put on the same amount of weight. Time will tell.

Slaughter of cattle during October has fallen below last year's figures by about 3%. This may continue since most areas of the country report feed lots to be current. This is also indicated by the lighter weight of steers at seven main central markets last week. The average was 1116 pounds vs. 1118 pounds a year earlier. The auto strike apparently has not cut into consumer demand to any appreciable extent, but the large supplies of competing pork and poultry may prevent cattle from making any substantial gains between now and year-end.

Recent cattle on feed reports estimated a 2% reduction in cattle weighing 500-900 pounds. These cattle will be moving to market after January 1. This reduction appears constructive when considering that the October 1, 1969 report estimated a 10% increase. But the lowest weekly average for choice steers thereafter was $28.45 in late October of last year. By March the price was up to $31.50. Higher prices of corn and its somewhat lower quality may prompt midwestern farmers to continue selling cattle at lighter weights. This would tend to moderate total supplies of beef.

Tigers break loose in 4th quarter

The game Friday night between Clouderoff and Capitan was marred by numerous penalties which kept either team from getting in good scoring position for three quarters. Clouderoff's punter was kicking short which put the Bears in poor position frequently.

The Tigers had more man power and made good use of it in the fourth quarter. Buddy Hall scored his first of two TD's from the one after a Tiger drive, and a few minutes later went into to score from the five. Junior Guevara scored a two-point conversion after the first Captain TD.

The Bears were penalized a total of 175 yards, one 15-yarder costing them a touchdown when the Bears were called for clipping as Castanon galloped 86 yards off tackle to cross the Tiger goal line. Burrell gained 62 yards for Clouderoff. Bear total rushing was 166, passing 25.

The Tigers were set back a total of 125 yards in penalties and they were short on several drives down the field. Hall led the Tigers with 134 yards, Guevara second with 119. The Tigers had 285 rushing and 42 passing.

Hallowe'en is over and it was a nice time for the kiddies. The little ones were well behaved and seemed so happy and enjoyed themselves. I enjoyed them and their costumes. There did not seem to be damage. Just a few garbage cans turned and old boards with nails in them across the road. I am proud of our children. Thank you for being good and acting right as you have.

The Lewis Cummins home is progressing. The first coat of plaster is on the outside and have plastered on the inside as well. It is shaping up nicely.

Mrs. Alton Tiffin and Mrs. Fred Gehring of Grants visited me for awhile last Tuesday while enroute to visit their mother Mrs. Daisy Gehring who is in the Sunset Villa Nursing Home. They will have her with them at a motel for two days and return to their homes on Friday. Mother always feels better after she has been with them for awhile, then is glad to return to her home. She does like it there.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Traylor are proud to announce the birth of their second grandson, Ricky Lynn, Jr. born to Kathy and Rick Vinyard on Oct. 22. The baby's other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leon Vinyard of Las Cruces.

Mrs. Opal Peters underwent minor surgery last Thurs. at the Medical Center in Roswell. She returned home last Saturday and is improving very nicely. I wish you a good recovery.

Ellen Faye Cornelius and two daughters, Kaye and Beverly, left last Sat. morning to attend at the bedside of her father, Mr. Greenfield who is seriously ill in the Lubbock hospital. I do wish him a good and quick recovery.

Mr. Ray Provine just finished his nineteenth year of service to the City and Community. I do think that is worthy of mention for he has worked so hard and is still doing so. We appreciate and love you Ray. Good luck and good wishes for many more years of services to our City.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw drove to Tularosa last Sat. afternoon and visited her brother Montie Gardenhire and also called on Mr. and Mrs. James Howard.

Happy birthday to Mrs. Bessie Cummins, Mrs. Winifred Cozzens and Mrs. Maxine Wright whose birthdays were October 29th. I do wish you many more very happy and healthy birthdays dear ladies.

Miss Jane Cozzens of Alamogordo prepared a lovely and delicious birthday dinner for her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Cozzens and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins last Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Cummins then spent the night with his nephew Mr. and Mrs. Claude Read.

The report on Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Pepper we have had is this. Mrs. Pepper is feeling better and is more satisfied and Mr. Pepper is not doing so well in health. They both are in the nursing home in Carlsbad. I wish them all of the comfort and happiness to be had right there.

Mrs. J. G. Otero entered the Ruidoso Hospital last Saturday morning after several weeks at home. She is very ill. Chn up little lady and get well fast. I do wish you a good recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lopez and family moved to Roswell where they purchased a home last week. Mrs. Mittie Smith is now employed at Ft. Stanton.

REAL ADVERTISING TO BE SEPARATED FROM SLUSH

This year, 1970, may be remembered as the year of consumer revolution. One advertising executive has said it may represent the beginning of a new era in advertising. "It will separate real advertising from slush." Every indicator of consumer buying potential shows that the consumer has more disposable income than at anytime in history. If his buying seems slow in some areas, it is because the consumer is more discriminating than ever. He is buying more from head and less from heat of emotions. "The consumer has become cynical to appeals to vanity, status, fear, and pseudo-happiness. Now he looks for value," the executive said. This opinion is confirmed by the increasing profits of great retail stores which depend primarily upon newspaper advertising for sales. Their quarterly financial statements reflect no sign of recession. Newspaper advertising is a straight appeal to the intellect. When it offers value, the offer is based on complete information from which the newly sophisticated consumer can make a solid decision. Merchants who recognize this unique quality of local newspaper advertising yet flourish.

Witch doctor's medicines sought by modern MDs

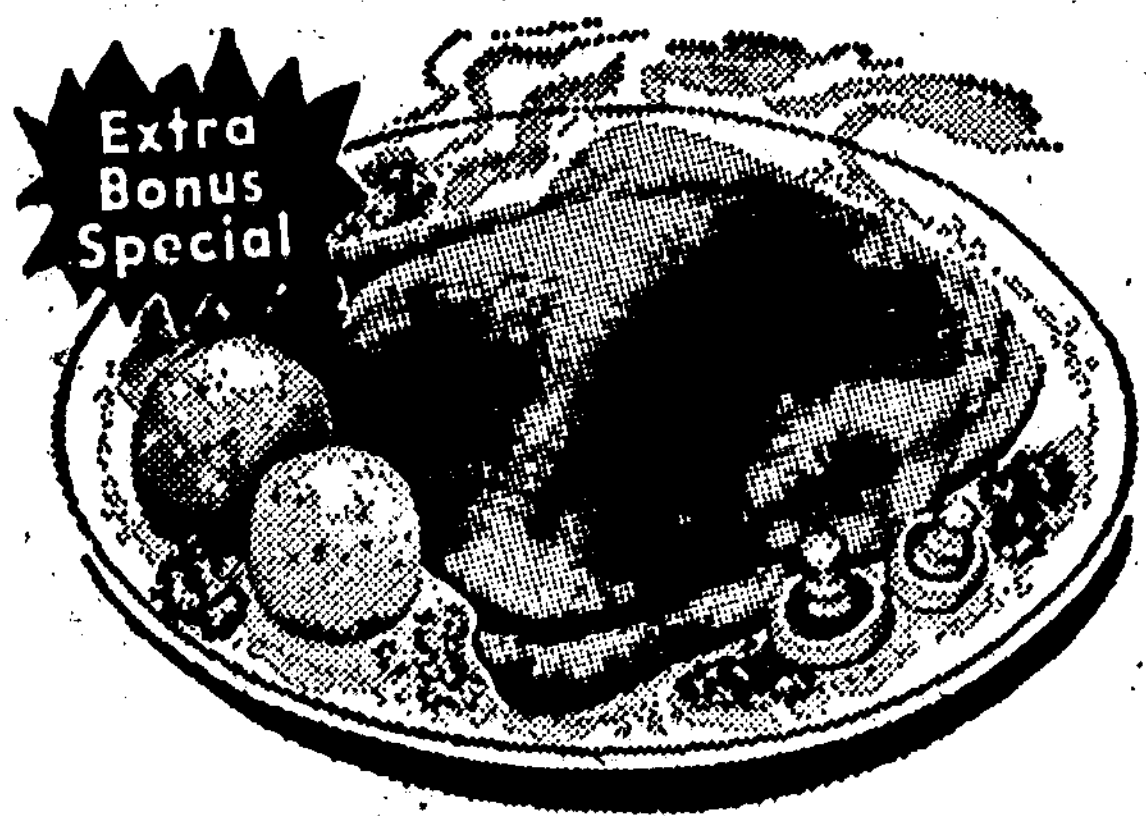

Modern medicine hopes to learn the witch doctor's remedies before they are lost. They may -- as many doctors suspect -- hold the answers to some of mankind's worst ills and ailments. But from Africa to the Amazon basin, civilization is smothering the secrets of jungle treatments and cures, as well as discrediting the quackery that often kills and cripples. More and more witch doctors are retiring. They forget their secrets or take them to the grave, the National Geographic Society says. Potions and Aspirin: Fewer and fewer regions are beyond the reach of the medical missionary or the government medical officer. Young tribesmen, growing up in the aspirin age, are much less taken by the jungle potions of their ancestors. These medicines may be made from bark, leaves, seeds, nuts, fruits, or roots of the plants, or extracted from birds, snakes, fish, or other animals. As science has found out, they may be far from worthless. American Indians alone have contributed more than 50 plants to modern pharmacology. For instance, the May apple, an old antidote for warts, is now known to contain an antitumor substance. In Africa, Uganda's "tooth ache plant" produces an effective pain killer. Experiments with some powerful poisons may produce specialized anesthetics or relaxing drugs. The South American blowgun poison, curare, is used in treating heart disease. A medicine of ancient India, taken from the snakeroot or Rauwolfia, has been greatly useful in lowering blood pressure. Snakes and Toads: Doctors are interested in sea snakes' venom, 50 times as deadly as the cobra's but, when refined, useful in stopping bleeding. The venom of the toad fish fights diabetes by burning up blood sugar. Long before the discovery of Penicillin, the Ainu of Japan salved wounds with a certain tree fungus that produced an effective antibiotic. Ancient Chinese soldiers treated themselves with compresses of toad skins, now known to contain epinephrine, a blood coagulant. Witch doctors, known by dozens of local names, have conducted their primitive practices in all corners of the world, with medicines evolving from thousands of years of trial and error. Traditionally, much witch doctor treatment involved the kill - or - cure approach, but some were highly skilled. A few years ago, two South American doctors successfully performed a brain operation using surgical instruments invented for the same purpose by the Incas. Even psychiatrists have respectfully studied witch doctors' successful treatment of mental patients, who believe their troubles come from a variety of unfriendly spirits. No clinical opinion is offered on the standard African treatment to sweeten a mother in law's disposition: nailing a dried bat wing beneath her bed,

Commission members are guests of Fern

LINCOLN -- In a building loaded with history, the New Mexico State Fair Commission last Thursday made plans for the future of the annual exposition in Albuquerque. Meeting in the courtroom of the Old Lincoln County Courthouse Museum -- at the invitation of southeastern board member Fern Sawyer of Nogal -- the board discussed overall planning for the 1971 fair, which is slated Sept. 16-26.

Discussions at the afternoon meeting, attended by about 30 area residents, centered around horse and livestock displays, wool exhibits, rodeo star talent and food and liquor concession bids. Chairman Dan Burquete of East Vaughn presided at the session from the judge's stand in the ancient courtroom, while five of the six other commissioners occupied the jury box, with the audience in front of the judge's box. The only board member not present for the meeting was James B. Barber of Grants, who was unable to attend because of pressing business. On hand for the meeting, in addition to Fern Sawyer and Burquete, were: T. D. Neal, Eagle Nest; P. D. Torres, Deming; Leo L. Smith, Chama; G. T. (Dick) Hennessy Jr., of Albuquerque.

The board opened six bids for the liquor concession in the race-track grandstand and in Tingley Coliseum, and three others for topped by the $25,225 bid from Dale Stoner of Albuquerque, who has handled the concession for several years.

All of the bids were from Albuquerque dealers except one combined bid submitted by Lou Newton of Lincoln Management in Ruidoso. His bid was for 34% of the gross revenue to go to the fair for both the concessions.

The board decided to hold off awarding of the two concessions until their Dec. 10 meeting at fair offices in Albuquerque, after they have had an opportunity to analyze and study all of them. Manager Finlay MacGillivray reported that this past year's fair (Sept. 17-27) was a very successful one, and noted it would be hard to top.

He suggested that the fair consider the possibility of erecting display stalls for a variety of horse breeds in front of the new horse arena, and another typical display of various breed cattle in front of the cattle barns. He said it would attract interest. The board took the idea under consideration. Lincoln County Agent Ralph Dunlap, appeared before the board and suggested that a wool display be made a permanent part of the fair -- showing the processes used to convert wool from the sheep into the finished product. The board thought this was a good idea and will consider it.

The board heard commissioner T. D. Neal of Eagle Nest outline some of the star name possibilities for next year's rodeo. He mentioned the names of Charlie Pride, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Lynn Anderson, Sonny James, Bobbie Gentry, Merle Haggard, Boots Randolph and the team of Misty Morgan and Jack Blanchard. In other action the board approved the bid of Bishop Printing and Litho Co. of Portales, to once again handle the racing programs with the fair to receive $6500 for the privilege. The session was the first State Fair Commission meeting ever held in Lincoln County, and individual members were happy to tour the historic courthouse and town of Lincoln. They stayed overnight at the Wortley Hotel in Lincoln.

"An hour in Mexico" made up of delightful skits & narrative

Tuesday morning, October 27, was an unusual morning at Carrizozo High School. Moving away from the usual routine of the classroom, the Spanish I and II classes presented "An Hour in Mexico". Guided by their teacher and director, Norbert Welk, as Master of Ceremonies, the students proceeded to enlighten the rest of the school on the history of our southern neighbor. Heading the hour of entertainment, the students of Spanish II class sang that beloved tune, "Cielito Lindo." Adding to the atmosphere of the occasion, colorful posters depicting Mexican motifs provided the background for the stage. "The Silhouette Plays", written by students of Spanish II themselves, were two short fables. Through the use of the overhead projector, they "acted out" the shadows of their portrayed characters. The three "movers" were Ruby Romo, Margie Zamora and Rosalie Portio accompanied by the readers at the microphone, Irene Garcia, Yolanda Hernandez, Kathy Vega, Rosemary Lopez, Margaret Monreal and Bertha Verdugo. Next on the program, "Moments in Mexican History" proved a humorous, fast-paced take-off on Rowan and Martin's "Laugh In". With each 30 second scene placed at some historic moment in Mexican history, the cast of famous characters never failed to keep the audience interested in their antics.

"Aztec Human Sacrifice" by George Portillo as the Aztec High Priest and Bertha Verdugo as the human sacrifice; "Columbus Discovers America" by Burdette Means as Christopher Columbus, Jay Barnes as the plous padre, Ann Ham as the Indian sexpot and the students of Spanish II as the crew; "Cortez Colonizes Mexico" by Tony Padilla as Cortez and Spanish II as fellow conquistadors; "The Teachings of Father Hidalgo" by Julie Narvaez as Father Hidalgo and George Portillo as the Indian Student; "A Legend of Pancho Villa" by George Portillo as Gen. Villa and Joe Portillo as Superman and Lorena Baca and Rosemary Lopez as messengers; "Inauguration Day in Modern Mexico" by Bertha Verdugo as President and Ruby

Romo as gunman; "Bargaining in the Streets of Mexico" by Geneva Narvaez as the seller and Dona Wells as the tourist.

Very attractively clothed in Mexican folkloric costume, Julie Narvaez and George Portillo danced the traditional "Mexican Hat Dance" which proved to be a real show-stealer.

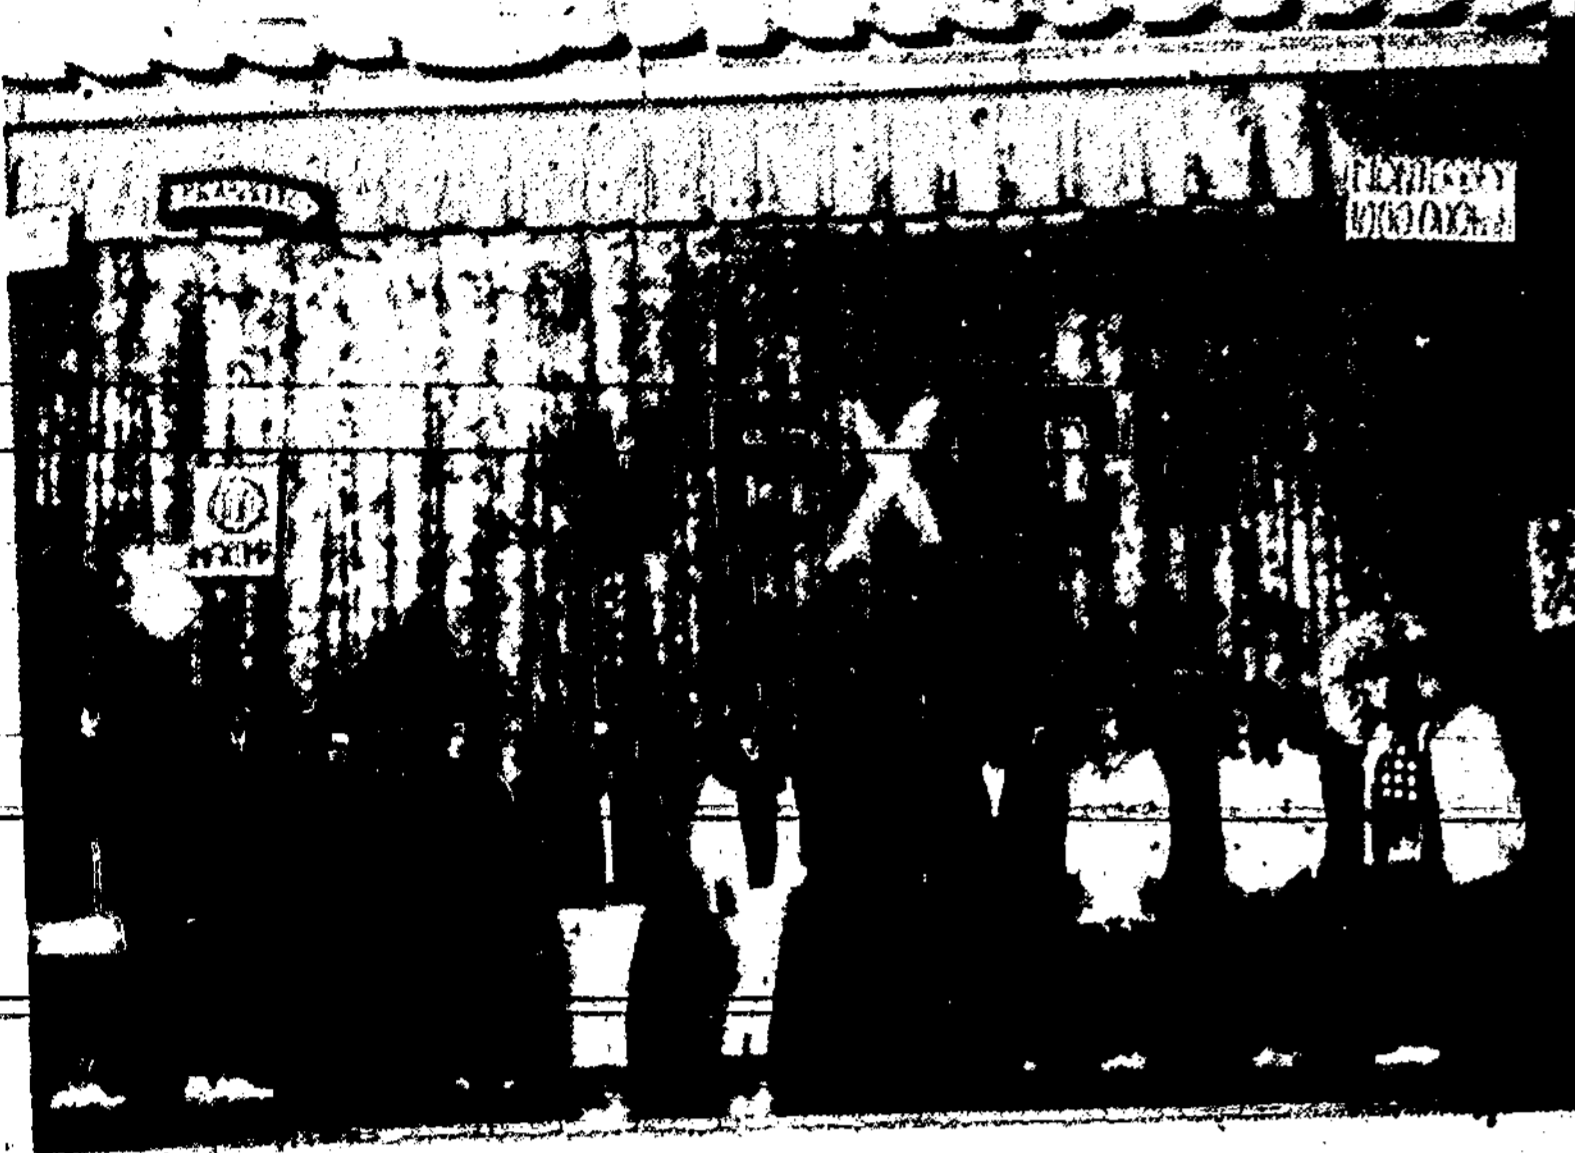

Concluding the hour, both Spanish classes sang "Guantanamera" accompanied by Kathy Mc Bride at the piano and Juanita Chavez at the trumpet. Special recognition also goes to Beatrice Samora who operated the curtains.

"An Hour in Mexico" was an overwhelming success! In a short interview with Mr. Welk after the show, he expressed his feeling that he would be an irresponsible teacher if he overlooked the cultural aspect of language learning, especially with the great influence that the Mexican culture has in the Southwest.

Mr. Norbert Welk, "Master of Ceremonies".

Mental patients face charges at Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS -- A variety of charges ranging from first degree murder to petty larceny were filed Monday against 10 inmates at the Las Vegas Medical Center (the state mental hospital).

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bennie Flores of Las Vegas said Monday first degree murder charges were filed against Richard Beltran and Esterino Romero in connection with the death of another inmate, Bonafacio Chavez. Chavez' body was found in the Gallinas River, east of the hospital, in September. Hospital officials said he apparently died of a broken neck. Dist. Atty. Donald "Tiny" Martinez of Las Vegas said police will try to determine which of the inmates have been declared legally insane and which are at the hospital for psychiatric evaluation.

The 10 inmates were returned to the hospital after a disturbance Sunday at the San Miguel County Jail. Sheriff Pat Romero said the group burned some mattresses and stopped up a toilet, causing some flooding.

They have been confined in a locked ward area, hospital officials said.

Round-Up

Red is no longer the safest color for a hunter to wear in the woods. Science has come up with a color which is reducing hunting accidents each year. It's hunter orange. This fluorescent color was labeled "most visible" after tests by the United States Army, Harvard University, and the Massachusetts Department of Fisheries and Game. Hunter orange stood out like a beacon in situations where other colors blended into the background.

During the hours of dusk and dawn, when other colors tend to fade, hunter orange is highly visible, Massachusetts, Maine, Colorado, and Iowa have made hunter orange clothing mandatory for big game hunters. These states have greatly reduced accidents in the "mistaken for game" and "in line of fire" accident categories. Give hunter orange a try this season for upland and big game hunting. It's a courtesy for other hunters.

A bacterium, which under certain conditions can infect and kill many insects, may assist in the control of the range caterpillar. The worm, in some years, heavily damages millions of acres of New Mexico rangeland. The discovery of the bacterium in the range caterpillars may be a beginning toward reducing the use of insecticides. Something has reduced the range caterpillar populations at times in the past to almost nil. The range caterpillar has now spread from an area of around 200 acres found infested in 1960 to scattered light
