Reappraisal can start now

Chief Tax Commissioner Haskell Smith and Deputy Joe Gallegos met with Lincoln County Commissioners Don Stark, Charles Jones and Holt Lovelace Wednesday morning to work out a solution to reappraisal in the county which has been stalled since July of 1967.

It is probable that a new look would need to be taken at considerable Lincoln County property to check classification and set up equitable values. It will also be necessary to check new building that has been completed since 1967, a lot has happened since that time.

that people vote and the tax commission has no control over that function.

Overall since reappraisal state millage has dropped from 33 1/3 to around 32. Lovelace said he felt valuation in Lincoln County would continue to go up as areas of the county develop. Stark commented that school people are on a kick of selling five-year bonds which makes larrripin' tax levy. Tom Jones said that more communication between school people, county and towns was desirable. Smith said he could see schools out of the ad valorem picture in the future, there are many people now who have children in school and pay no ad valorem tax what so ever.

Smith said that under reappraisal you will have a schedule to follow and the county ought to be reappraised at least 95 percent correct, you never eliminate all the complaints and the commissioners will continue to sit as a board of equalization but the major inequities can be eliminated.

The cost of completing the reappraisal will be on Lincoln County, probably there is $13,000 available in trust funds to start the job. Gallegos said his office would send an accounting of funds available as well as number of man hours needed and estimate of cost to finish the job.

Other counties in state where reappraisal has not been completed are Mora and San Magill, both with severe problems.

Swearingen asked how long to finish the job. Gallegos said it should take about a year. When done properties in Lincoln County will be classified using same system in use state wide. The county commissioners can set the wheels in motion with a resolution and appointment of committee members, and are expected to start action by the end of the present legislative session.

Demo policy group coming

Members of the State Democratic Party platform and policy committee have begun public hearings across the state Friday, Jan. 30. The committee chaired by State Senator Mack Easley, is charged with drafting a party platform for adoption at the state platform convention, scheduled for March 21 in Santa Fe.

State party chairman, Jerry Apodaca, has urged Democrats to participate in the regional hearings which have already begun. "We want rank and file Democrats to participate in the drafting of the 1970-71 platform," said Apodaca.

"All recommendations and suggestions received by the platform and policy committee members during the course of the hearings will be thoroughly evaluated before the document is drafted.

"For the first time the Democratic Party platform will be adopted prior to the primary election," Apodaca continued. "As a result our party platform in 1970 will be more meaningful than ever before. It will speak for the entire party in offering a direction for the Democratic party candidates to take while on the campaign trail.

Members of the platform and policy committee will hold a hearing in Carrizozo for Lincoln County Democrats Saturday morning February 7 at 10 a.m. at the court house in the Court room.

Committee members who will be present are: Penrod Toles, Casimir Alexandre, Morris Stagner, Jim White and Dave Hamilton.

Smith said they got the materials from Nelson and Associates, contractor that started but did not complete Lincoln County's reappraisal, last week but due to press of business with legislature in session their people have not had time to go over the materials and won't until the legislative session ends.

After the tax commission has checked the Nelson materials they will be brought to Lincoln County pickup truck load.

Smith recommended that Lincoln Commissioners appoint a committee of seven to ten people which should include rancher, farmer, banker, contractor, realtor, and others to serve as an advisory committee in reviewing property values in the county, and the tax commission would send one of its people to Lincoln County to train local people and work with the committee and complete the reappraisal without employing another contractor.

It was Smith's opinion that a contractor would want to start the job from scratch, and that much of the Nelson materials, particularly the maps, are accurate and usable.

The tax commission needs more people, according to Smith and has asked for funds from the legislature to employ at least four more people, they will know soon about this. No person is available now to help Lincoln County but should be shortly after end of the legislative session.

Attorney Bill Payne talks on narcotics

Carrizozo attorney Bill Payne gave a talk on narcotics for the student body of Santa Rosa junior and senior high school last Friday. The point of his talk was not so much whether drugs are good or bad but to make clear the penalties of drug use.

In the eyes of the law marijuana is the same as heroin or any other drug, and the penalties are the same. For adults the penalty is two to ten years in prison and the judge cannot suspend sentence in such cases. There are no prescribed penalties for juveniles, such cases being up to the judge.

Four Bliss soldiers held in Hurd breakin

Four Army men stationed at Ft. Bliss in El Paso, Texas were arraigned Tuesday and jailed in lieu of $7,500 bond each today in connection with a robbery and aggravated assault committed at the San Patricio home of painter Peter Hurd.

The four, all privates first class, are Lawrence D. Garner, 18, of Meridian, Miss.; Michael E. Harrist, 18, of Vidalia, La.; Jeffrey D. Lannon, 19, of Lawrence, Mass.; and William R. Miller, 19, of Colinger, Calif.

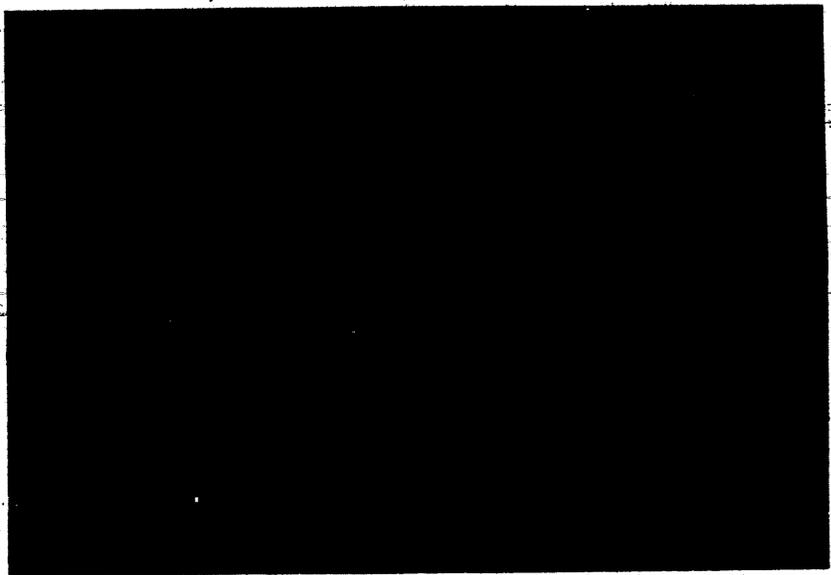

State Police Sgt. Kenneth Shockey said four men allegedly entered the Hurd residence Monday night, assaulted Peter Hurd's son Michael, who wasn't seriously hurt, and fled with a rifle that belonged to the artist.

Peter Hurd wasn't at home at the time.

The four men now in custody were arrested near Bent by State Policeman Dean Smith of Tularosa.

Gallegos said they do not have any reappraisal contractors that makes them jump with joy. Charley Jones said that some way has to be figured out to keep appraisal up to date and get new properties on the tax rolls. This is basically the job of the county assessor's office and Smith advised the Commissioners to see that the assessor had sufficient funds and help to do the job, also that the tax commission had no idea of taking over the county assessor's job.

Considerable discussion centered around county budgets. The county operates on 20 mills, and 33 1/3 tax ratio which could be lowered if all properties in the county were assessed equitably and on the tax roll. Smith said that many counties have tax rates as high as $49 a thousand, but that county operation still only takes $20, the higher taxes are for bonds

State Rep. Ralph Petty Jr. Reports Law clears hospital bonds

Lincoln - Sierra State Representative Ralph Petty Jr. called Tuesday with information that the House of Representatives had passed law 64-0 that will enable Lincoln County to have another election for non-property owners only -- which, if the vote is favorable, would allow sale of bonds for extensive improvements at the Ruidoso hospital and construction of a new intermediate care unit in Carrizozo.

According to Petty the voting September 30, 1969 in Lincoln County on $665,000 for Ruidoso hospital and $142,000 for Carrizozo intermediate care unit where property owners went nearly two to one for the issue, will stand as a legal election and all that is necessary now is for non-property owners to vote on the same issue. If the vote in the expected election is in favor of the bonds then they can be sold and work started. Rep. Petty said that legislation had been introduced on legalized gambling with county wide option and also a bill to permit dog racing.

He has heard from quite a number of people in support of the gambling bill and would like to have opinions from people all over his area.

His address: Rep. Ralph Petty Jr., State Capital, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87501.

Other action in Santa Fe included over-ride of governor's veto on legislation to enable state investment council to deposit $75 million in state banks. Tax refund bill has been passed which gives a straight 20 percent refund that may be deducted when paying your state income tax. Petty said he expected school funding at about a $6.5 million increase.

Increase in food stamp use expected in state

A sharp increase in food stamp participation is expected in New Mexico when a more liberal food stamp plan goes into effect February 2.

This word comes from John G. Jasper, executive director, Department of Health and Social Services, Santa Fe.

Under the new plan, coupon allotments will be changed to insure that low-income participating families can purchase a more nutritionally adequate diet. This will be done by providing each family with enough food coupons to pay for the "economy diet" of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

He has been touring the state weighing the prospects of campaigning for lieutenant governor. His overseas travel both in military and as civilian has covered much of the globe. He retired from government service in 1969 from position as deputy assistant director (special intelligence), office of the Director of Defense Research and Engineering, Department of Defense.

Carrizozo people ought to get a lot of work done, especially after reading this bit -- In what temperature range do humans do their best work? Space researchers have found that a man with no insulation can very briefly endure temperatures of up to 500 degrees F. But simple endurance is not enough. Tests have shown that humans can perform tasks efficiently within a spread of only 35 degrees, from about 50 degrees to 85 degrees above zero. Below 50 degrees limbs stiffen; above 85 mental activity becomes sluggish. We're in that 35-degree spread most of the time here.

She carried a bouquet of white rose buds on her Rainbow Bible.

For something old, the bride wore a gold locket belonging to her mother; something new was a 1969 S penny in her shoe; borrowed was a handkerchief; and she wore the traditional blue garter. Mrs. Shirley Falsetto, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of red velvet, accented with white trim and carried a bouquet of red and white rosebuds. ROUND-UP

By Ralph Dunlap

Competition in the National Western Show's wool show in Denver, Colorado, January 16-24 was particularly keen this year because of a convention of the National Wool Growers Association, held there at the same time.
James M. Satche, Extension sheep specialist at New Mexico State University, and over-all superintendent for the wool show, said the showing of New Mexico fleeces in the show reflects the general quality of sheep present in the state. There were a total of 270 entries in the show from nine states with A. D. Jones Estate, Tatum winning the sweepstakes for the breeder exhibit of five fleeces. Other winners in the territory fleeces were Phelps White of Roswell, Treat Ranch of Peacho took fourth in the sweepstakes division, Felix Cauhaup, Hope; Ivan Watson of Cooper Ranch, Tinnie; Lincoln County Livestock, Roswell;
Goodrum Brothers, Roswell;
Joyce Brothers, Peacho.

A new organization named the New Mexico Horse Council
designed to represent all horse oriented groups or individuals was formed in Albuquerque January 19th. Purpose of the council is to encourage, assist, and promote activities that would be beneficial to the entire horse industry. Membership forms can be obtained from New Mexico
Horse Council, 400 Elm, N.E.
Albuquerque, New Mexico 87132.

You can plant roses in the fall however most gardeners find planting in the spring best. There is a better choice of varieties and the plants get off to a better start. Too, they do not have to withstand the adverse conditions of winter which could result in severe damage or loss of plants.
One of the more common ways plants are handled in nurseries or garden centers is in pots.
Potted roses have the advantage over bare root roses in that the root system has already been established to some extent and the gardener has a better chance of getting the plant going. Regardless of when you plant your roses, locate them where they will get at least six hours of sunshine a day.

The Lincoln County Development Assn. will meet Tuesday, February 3rd at the Ski-Skeller Restaurant in Ruidoso, at 6:30 p.m. Nomination committee reports and membership drive are on the agenda.

Fruit growers put February 10th on your calendar for the Hondo
Fruit Growers School at the Hondo School. Insect control, and orchard sanitation will be discussed along with other subjects.

A. T. Pittingsten and Bill Shrecengost were re-elected to the Board of directors of the New Mexico Apple Council at its meeting during the Fruit Growers meeting last week in Albuquerque.

Methods of timing spray application were discussed as well as the keeping of a clean orchard.
Tony Horn, Idaho Extension Horticulturist, gave some new ideas on training and pruning the young fruit tree. He emphasized the need for a different pruning system in dense dwarf plantings. The central leader is the more desirable for dwarf trees. The use of small sticks for forming stronger crotches was shown to the group.

Doug Bryant described some cold and freeze injuries of apples.
Besides freezing, the reduction in insect activity and reduced pollination vitally affect fruit set.

As you prune your apple trees, check for over wintering mite eggs. They are small, red eggs on the larger limbs of the tree.
When you rub them with your finger, you will get a red smudge.

If you have mites, plan to put on a delayed dormant spray when the apple buds begin to swell. For more particulars get a fruit spray schedule from the County Agents office in the courthouse in Carrizozo.

Orchard fertilization and codling moth traps for better insect control will be discussed, starting at 7:00 p.m. at the Hondo Fruit School on February 12th at the Agriculture building at the Hondo School.

When and how to apply iron and zinc to fruit trees as well as nitrogen and phosphorus will be discussed by Douglas Bryant,

Extension horticulturist. The use of codling moth traps along with a more complete spray program will be discussed by John Durkin, extension entomologist. How good a job of insect control that your neighbor does will affect your cost and insect control program. The different types of codling moth traps will be on exhibit. A few of the bait traps are: sex lure, black light and regular light. Plan to attend and bring your neighbor.

Choosing animals for carcass quality was discussed at the Animal Science Workshop last week. The emphasis is on a large bulging rear quarter and a muscular shoulder. Whether it is a beef, lamb or pork the size of stifle area of the rear quarter should be thick and muscular. The muscular shoulder often makes the animal seem narrow about the heart birth. All muscles are round, therefore the wide square back is often associated with too much fat and is not desirable. Cross breeding of beef cattle and range fertilization were also discussed.

Carol Ann Cooper Is New President

The Hondo Valley 4-H Club met last week with the 4-H pledge being led by Gabriel Polacko and the pledge to the flag led by Yvonne McTigue.
Cristina Pacheco, outgoing president opened the meeting with a special 4-H prayer and led the club in a song. She announced the community project for this year will be focused on the Ft.
Stanton Hospital. As their first project each member was asked to make or have made two bibs apiece for the Ft. Stanton patients.

New business included the election of officers as follows:
President, Carol Ann Cooper;
1st Vice - President, Yvonne
McTigue, 2nd Vice - President
Yolanda Salas; Secretary,
Cristina Pacheco; Treasurer,
Cecelia Pacheco; Reporter, Ray
Sisneros; Recreational Leader,
Riley Armstrong.

Plans were made for the state
Dairy Judging Contest, February
28th at the Price - Black Dairy Farms. Members will be coached by Ben Powell, Agricultural Project leader.

County Agent, Ralph Dunlap, announced Lincoln County would send four delegates to the National 4-H Citizenship Conference at Washington, D. C. to be held in June. The club decided to start a fund-raising campaign to help finance the trip for a delegate. This would be done by bake sales.

At the close of the meeting,
Miss Pacheco led the members

NEWS AND NOTES

Most homemakers are on the lookout for new recipes to add variety and nutrition to their meals. Just such a recipe was given to me by Mrs. Elisa Pacheco of Tinnie. I have eaten the pie and it's quite a delicious surprise.

Southern Pie
3/4 cup grape-nuts cereal
1/2 cup warm water, 3 eggs well beaten, 3/4 cup sugar
1 cup dark corn syrup
1 tablespoon butter, melted
1 tsp vanilla, 1/8 tsp salt
1 unbaked 9 inch pie shell
Prepared whipped topping Combine cereal and water; let stand until water is absorbed.
Meanwhile, blend eggs with sugar; add syrup, butter, vanilla, and salt. Fold in softened cereal.
Pour into pie shell. Bake at 350 for 50 minutes, or until filling is puffed completely across the top. Cool. Garnish with whipped topping. Sprinkle with additional cereal, if desired.

Dry cereal s have become widely used and most of them are nutritionally sound. Cereals are predominantly carbohydrate in their composition but also contain some protein. The whole grain cereals have important amounts of thiamine, vitamin B 6, vitamin E and iron and many other nutrients. These nutrients and vitamins are removed in milling and processing. You must look on the package to determine if the product has been "enriched" or in other words if the nutrients removed in milling have been replaced or added to. It is not wise practice to buy cereals without first checking the label to find the necessary nutritional information.

4-H MEMBER OF THE MONTH

Ray Sisneros was voted outstanding 4-H member of the month from the Hondo Valley 4-H Club. This is his fourth year in 4-H. He has completed three years of baking and Fat Lamb Projects and is again enrolled in a Sheep Project this year. He is also a Junior Leader.

In 1966 he won a trophy for first place in the Lamb Carcass
Class and in 1968 won the Lincoln County Sheep medal. At present he is the reporter for the Hondo Valley 4-H Club.

He attends Hondo High School where he is on the Honor Roll and on the Varsity basketball team. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Sisneros.

Meeting at Pacheco Ranch

A 4-H Baking project meeting was held at the Pacheco ranch
Wednesday, January 28th.
Members made biscuits, learning the techniques of measuring dry ingredients and liquids.
After they were finished they judged their biscuits under the supervision of Cristina Pacheco, Junior Leader. Members attending this meeting were Michael McTigue, Gabriel Polacko, and Carlos Pacheco.

SMOKEY BEAR COUNTRY — By Margaret Rench

February brings eight-inch wet snow

Sunday, January 31, one could hardly stand or walk in the terrific wind from 9:30 a.m. thru sunset. In other words Jan went out like a lion and Feb. was ushered in with an 8 inch wet snow which we truly were grateful to receive. That is a good start and we do need lots more.

I would like my readers to send a card of cheer to Mrs. Mary Johnson, 1371 Hillside Drive, SE Isaquah, Washington, 98027. She needs to hear from us now as she was to have been home Jan. 31. She has been visiting her daughter Mr. and Mrs. Gerald King, Mike, Rhonda and Mike.

She blacked out while they were in a Super Market and fell. Cracked two ribs and her pelvis, Monday, Jan. 26. She was in the hospital at the time I was notified. But the above address will reach her.

Isaquah is 10 miles north of Seattle. I wish you a good and quick recovery, Mary. Chin up, we all are thinking of you and praying for your good health and good healing.

Mrs. Mary Childress and Mrs. Lena Casey of Ruidoso were my guests for a few hours last Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Sanders and four lovely children spent a few hours Sunday afternoon visiting with me in my home. The children were from two years to six years.

Pete Pfingsten son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Pfingsten of Lincoln took the Navy Officers Exams and his grade was 93. The best it was reported is 98 and he missed just 6 points. He was put in charge of the group that flew from Albuquerque Sunday Jan. 24 to San Diego, California for training. I wish him lots of success and happiness there.

Welcome - Mr. Ray Jennings, to our circle of subscribers. I hope you do enjoy the News. Mr. Jennings has the most beautiful white cattle. He advised me they are called the Charlols. He is the owner of the former Massey Ranch. It is a beautiful ranch. We all wish luck and want you to enjoy it with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hobbs are the proud parents of a son born Jan. 15, 1970, at the Ruidoso Hospital weighing 7 lbs. 4 oz. Name - Wesley Howard.

Mrs. Howard Wright and her sister Mrs. Morris Lucas went to Lubbock, Texas, Thursday, January 22 to visit their mother Mrs. Elsie Kidd who underwent surgery. She is doing O. K. They returned Monday night. I wish Mrs. Kidd a good recovery and quick.

Cozzens left December 13 for Calif. to spend several weeks with their children, Miss Marilyn Cozzens, Palm Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Cozzens and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Cozzens, Pasadena, Cornelius, Mr. and Mrs. Grannis. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cummins and three daughters also. They were able to watch the Rose parade which they did enjoy. They had a most enjoyable several weeks and returned last Wednesday, Jan. 28. Miss Jane Cozzens arrived to spend last weekend with them. She is a teacher at Elida, N.M. She came often here to their home during their absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw enjoyed a day with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Howard at their home in Tularosa. Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ferris were present there too.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Greenfield of Tatum spent last week end in Capitlan with their daughter Mrs. Ellen Faye Cornelius, Kaye and Beverly. They had intended to leave Monday but were snowed

In much to the happiness of their family.

Pearl Soderback drove to El Paso Wednesday 4 and flew by American Airline to Los Angeles. She then went to Eureka, California to visit her sister. Then flew on to Port Townsend, Washington to visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Wright. On to Seattle to visit Bennie, Mr. and Mrs. Stensrud and sons. She will have two weeks vacation of which she certainly is entitled to. Happy vacation Pearl. Rest and relax. That is a great trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Doe Dean of Clauch, Miss Sally Ann Dean of Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean, Jr., and family, and Elvin and Nona Anderson all gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean to celebrate Mrs. Deans 80th birthday Sunday Feb. 1. Nona made a beautiful cake for the occasion and ice cream was added.

Every one enjoyed the very happy hours with them.

I wish you many more good healthy and very happy birthdays Mrs. Dean.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Jones last Saturday, Jan. 31. All of their ten children were present. The first time that has ever happened. They had a wonderful happy time and enjoyed dinner and supper together. A full happy day for everyone.

My heart felt gratitude is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Jones in their happiness in this family reunion. It was a great day and I hope you have several more such days in your lives.

We will now finish our trip to Korea with Mrs. U. S. Savings Bonds. None other than Mrs. Joy Berlemann.

When we arrived at the actual fence, we saw a 10' to 12' high chain link fence with concertina on the other side. All along the concertina were tied pairs of brand new soft - drink or beer cans. The explanation is that if any enemy should be able to get past the Claymore mines positioned along the fence and arrive at the concertina, any slight movement of the wire would cause all the cans along the whole length to start tinkling. The men who work in this area are compensated by combat pay, but it's a "hard way to earn a dollar." They may be out for 24 hours, back in 8 -- of which only 5 to 6 can be spent in rest as they have to eat, shower, clean their weapons, and so on -- then out again for another 24 hours to patrol.

Lt. Col. Tharp himself often arises and goes out to "walk the fence" at 4:30 a.m. These men are really doing an important job seeing to it that the "armed truce" is observed.

As we again boarded the helicopter and rose above the mountains, we passed over the "Freedom Bridge" where Commander Bucher and his Pueblo crew crossed back into South Korea.

We joined Colonel Goodwin and others at the Eighth Army Golf Club for a quick lunch and then hustled into the sedans again for a flying trip to Kimpo International Airport to catch our Korean Air Lines flight for Tokyo and thence to Bangkok, Thailand. Reluctantly we left the "Land of the Morning Calm" at 4:30 p.m., just 44 exciting, action-packed hours after we had arrived. It was certainly inspiring to me to meet and talk with the dedicated men over there who are doing the job so essential for maintenance of Freedom in our time.

I have enjoyed this travel and sincerely hope others have with me. Joy has recently been to Washington, D. C., New York, and other cities and we do hope to attain some of those travels in memory and writing soon. I understand it will be released soon.

She has done a good job and certainly it has been educational as well as enlightening.

Ranch Transferred

Two ranches west of Carrizo controlled by R. T. Freeland of Capitlan have been transferred to Gary Lovelace.

The two ranches contained about 1,000 acres of Federal Land which was transferred through the Las Cruces District Office of the Bureau of Land Management.

Mr. Freeland sold his base properties to Mr. Lovelace in December, and the transfer was completed in late January.

6. The man who will look at temptations squarely and say "no."
7. The man who brings his children to a place of worship rather than sending them.
8. The man who puts God's business above any others.
9. The man who tries to be the right example to every child rather than simply talk.
10. The man who has a passion to help, rather than a passion to be helped.

History may never repeat

(Contributed)

History may never repeat, but there are some remarkable parallels. Witness the agonizing dilemma of President Richard Nixon, caught in the frustration of the Vietnam war abroad; at home, besieged by the massive "peace" campaign initiated and applauded by the enemy himself, encouraged by well-known public figures seeking the President's humiliation, and supported by many well meaning Americans who yearn for peace.

A little over a century ago, another American President faced as grave a dilemma, in a war which was undoubtedly the most brutal and bloody conflict in our history. The summer and fall 1864, during our Civil War, brought overtures of peace from Confederate emissaries who were fully aware of the growing frustration and war-weariness in the North. Historian Richard N. Current has described how Horace Greeley, influential Republican editor of the New York Tribune, and other well meaning citizens "caught at the Confederate peace offers, irregular and often insincere though these were. The effect was to put Lincoln on the spot. Unless he accepted the offers, which were illusory, he would seem to stand in the way of what everybody, North and South, desired - peace."

The question facing Lincoln was this: Should he choose the easiest and most politic way out, as "peace maker"? Even though he knew full well that by this act he would nullify the hundreds of thousands of lives already sacrificed in the war, and abandon the major issues on the war - Union and slavery - while those issues were still in doubt?

Then, as now (regarding Vietnam), there was little clear understanding across the nation as to what had started the war, or what it was to accomplish. Then, as now, there was rising resentment over the ever lengthening casualty lists. American deaths in the Civil War were to reach the unbelievable total of 600,000 with almost 1,250,000 additional casualties. By extrapolating from population figures, this would be equivalent to about 3,800,000 war deaths today.

Then, as now, there was growing resentment against conscription. In New York City, the Draft Riots of July 1863 caused injury or death to more than four hundred people. It took three days to quell the mob that destroyed records and halted all business. Desertions from the Union Army averaged six hundred daily that spring, after the Army of the Potomac had lost at Fredericksburg.

Then, as now, newspapers editorialized that the war had been "criminally prolonged" and was "unjustifiable and sinful."

Then, as now, there were doves and there were hawks. One dove senator was ex-president Franklin Pierce, who, at a "moratorium" in New England, "hurled contempt at the Washington Government," according to Carl Sandburg, "and spoke words in such close sympathy with the enemy that any listener accepting his arguments would have been justified in joining the enemy camp."

Although Abraham Lincoln could not have known the term "bugout" he undoubtedly understood the concept, as well as the temptation.

And though he was a master politician who could compromise and maneuver with the best of them, he refused to do so when the nation's welfare or survival was at stake, even if it were politically expedient.

Great challenges, he realized, bring opportunities for greatness. He remained true, in the end, to those eloquent words he had spoken, while still a relatively unknown Midwestern lawyer, at Cooper Union: "Neither let us be slandered from our duty by false accusations against us, nor frightened from it by menaces of destruction... Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith, let us, to the end, do our duty as we understand it."

Lincoln obviously believed, as does President Nixon, that national policy should not be determined in the streets -- that neither a well organized demonstration nor a disorganized mob is a legitimate referendum. And though he seemed to stand almost alone in his determination, he said he would "maintain in this contest until successful, until I die, until I am conquered, or my term expires, or Congress and my Country forsake me."

As a result of his firmness, he was probably the most vilified of public figures during his life time: his administration was called "wicked and contemptible," and he himself was called in news print, "scoundrel," "tyrant,"

"despot," "dictator," and "perjured traitor."

But another even more lasting result is that, in death, he still remains after a century the symbol of freedom... to all men who yearn for freedom everywhere.

Gran Quivira Attracts People

People from many lands are attracted to the historical spots in New Mexico. A look through the visitor register at Gran Quivira National Monument shows that in 1969 visitors came from 21 countries: Canada, West Germany, Egypt, England, France, Mexico, Switzerland, Spain, Columbia, Holland, Australia, Ireland, Panama, New Zealand, Ecuador, Sweden, Sudan, Bolivia, Argentina, Viet Nam and Greenland. In 1968 several other countries are represented: Netherland Antilles, Philippines, Italy, Belgium, American Samoa, Laos, Japan, and Denmark.

Gran Quivira also had visitors representing all 50 states and the District of Columbia in both 1968 and 1969. The citizens of New Mexico accounted for a large percentage of the visitors at Gran Quivira both years.
