Two new construction projects underway

Giles Construction of Alamogordo broke ground Monday for construction on the new $222,000 intermediate care facility, a part of Lincoln County Municipal Hospital.

Work on the new building for Otero County Electric Cooperative is well along. Central Welding Service and Supply is the contractor on this building. Clarence Griffin and Sons are doing the stone work and should be through this week, leaving the interior finish work to be done.

The intermediate care facility will have six rooms with four private and four semi-private areas for patients needing the type of care provided by this facility. The new structure is almost a complete new hospital except for kitchen and some medical services.

Holiday Homes of Alamogordo are all but through with work on the new house on E Avenue. This home has been sold to the Peter Aguilar family.

The Lincoln County Historical Society will meet September 30 at the Bar W Ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Spencer, Jr. Mr. Spencer, president, will conduct the meeting. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Annual Tiger-Grizzly clash was real battle

Willie Gallegos has got some running room.

The annual Lincoln County football game between Carrizozo and Capitan played last Friday on the Tiger field was not like the people thought who were spotting the Grizzlies; anywhere from 2 to 5 touchdowns. It was a hard-fought game with the Tigers challenging the GRIZZLIES and threatening to win right up to the final minute and a half.

There was a slight edge in this game, agreed on by the News sports reporter and a Capitan fan who knows the game as well as any. This edge was not in scoring power -- but in line play. The Grizzlies were just a little better, a little quicker, and more experienced.

The Grizzlies could not sustain a drive but then the Tigers were almost completely bottled up on the ground, the reverse play about their only gain. In the air it was another situation, both teams showing some fancy pass work that could lead to better things for Tigers and Grizzlies alike. There were enough unusual situations in this game to keep football fans talking the rest of the season. The real confusion came with Zozo in possession of the ball, 4th down and 12 yards to go. The Grizzlies ran a reverse to Willie who made 15 yards, but was flagged on a face mask penalty which is a 15 yard call. The Tiger captain had this choice -- either take the play or the penalty.

If he took the penalty the ball would go back to the line of scrimmage and Zozo would be penalized 15 yards from that point which would make it about 4th and 27 yards for the Grizzlies. If he took the play, Carrizozo would still have possession of the ball because Willie made more than the needed 12 yards, and it would be first and ten for Zozo.

Comments range all the way from too many Tigers giving advice to the Tiger captain to the referee not making the situation clear, and while this was going on the linemen started to move the chain but were stopped by Coach Casey who put his foot on the chain and told the linemen that Zozo might have a 1 and 10 if the Tiger captain made the right (or wrong) choice.

The choice was made -- Capitan took the play and Carrizozo had a 1 and 10. The argument was not quite over, Coach Dickey was storming a bit, but the decision stuck.

Toward the end of the game with the Tigers making long passes work from the 46 to the 25, then to the 15, then the 5, and with less than two minutes on the clock, the Tigers had the momentum to go all the way but they couldn't quite put it all together in the heat of that moment -- a thriller for both sides of the field.

The game went something like this -- Tigers won toss, elected to receive ball in play on the 25, Zozo penalty to 40, Zozo off side Capitan 1st and 10 on 25. About here Dan Harkey made fine tackle and Grizzlies took over.

Gallegos thru middle for 1st and 10, Tiger 15 yard penalty gave Zozo another 1 and 10, got down to 4th and 3, pass no good, Capitan's ball on the 40.

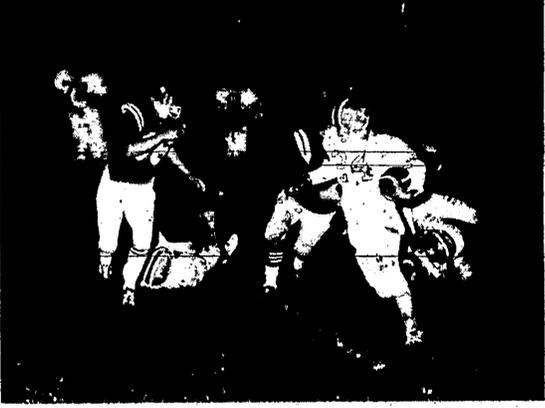

Tigers fumbled on 42, Zozo recovered, 1 and 10 in Tiger territory, then 1 and 10 on 27 by inches. Penalty moved ball back to 32, Gallegos off left end to the 17, then to the 10. Capitan outside, leaving six yards to TD. Carrizozo outside making it 3rd and 6, Ray Roper on reverse 4th and 6, pass incomplete. Continued On Back Page

Dexter hexes Ruidoso Warriors

Ruidoso Warriors scored 7 points in the first quarter, the Dexter Demons hit for 16 in the second quarter while holding the Warriors scoreless, both teams made 8 in the 3rd quarter, the Warriors scored 12 in the 4th but it wasn't enough because Dexter scored 6, final score 30-27 for Dexter.

The Demons had 228 total yards to 97 for the Warriors. Sosa, Vandenbout, Grassie, Shaw scored for Dexter.

Melrose wins 18-0. Alvin Brown broke away for runs of 25 and 65 yards to lead Melrose to an 18-0 shutout over Corona Cardinals. Corona has now lost 27 straight games.

Tiger Ted Sisneros was a hard one to catch.

Speight likes to run over them and headed that way.

LEADER OF THE BAND -- Francisco Trujillo, Capitan Tiger Band drum major, is shown in action during halftime at Friday game.

Jackpot FB Contest reaches new high

The Lincoln County News Jackpot Football Contest reached a new high in entries this week and also a new high in winners. As wild as the Carrizozo-Capitan game was right down to the last minute the final score had possibilities of going several different ways.

Final score was Carrizozo 14, Capitan 6 and the four winners are Virginia Otero, Les Samora Jr., Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Spencer and Billy Lucero, all of Carrizozo.

This was the week when it happened -- actually six people guessed the correct score, two of them entered more than one card, so their entries are thrown out, leaving four contestants to split the $30,000 cash.

About eighty percent of the contestants went for Carrizozo to win but a lot of them didn't realize how tough this game might be and gave Zozo too many points, running all the way up to the forties.

The honor list of those who came within a point were R. A. Cox, Bud Payne, Linda Rickerson, Juanita Chavez, Barbara Bohl, Robert Luna and Frances Beltran at 13-6, Yolanda Zamora, Rebecca Perea and Vernon Petty at 14-7, Mona Johnston and Edna Wood of Cloudercroft got within two points of winning.

There should be plenty of cards at business places of any of the sponsors, in Cloudercroft, Capitan, Carrizozo, Corona or Ruidoso. The jackpot this week will be $15,000 and the game may be a lot tougher to figure -- read the football ad, and get in the fun.

Inside THE CAPITOL

by Fred Buckles

Santa Fe--State Sen. Joe Skeen, of Picacho, Lincoln County, the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, will push economic development, education and law enforcement in final weeks of the general election campaign.

A senator 10 years and the GOP Senate leader, Skeen, 43, is teamed with Pete Domenici of Albuquerque, with Republican governor candidate, Sen. Skeen says: "We're going to plug particularly hard on what we can do for New Mexico through real experience and ability."

Skeen says: "We can go out and tap industry and bring them in here. We sincerely believe we have the best combination. We're also going to hit hard on the fact there has not been any long-range planning. Pete is correct in his criticism of the way the legislature has operated. Together we have some answers that will give the ability to do some long-range planning in education so we don't have this annual crisis."

Skeen asked: "Why is it so difficult for us to come up with a school money distribution formula that won't last over two years at a time? It's ridiculous to go through this computation to come up with a distribution formula every year. We've got the brains to account for cost factors and other elements. Educators should be given something long-range to plan on."

The Lincoln County rancher added: "We've heard much mouthing from the opposition about law enforcement in the state but we haven't heard any solutions." Skeen said the new State Law Enforcement Academy "isn't the whole answer." He said New Mexico "could be a pilot state as far as an example of progressive law enforcement legislation and revamping of the existing enforcement agencies etc. We already have a pretty fine start."

Skeen and Domenici are matched against Democrats Bruce King of Santa Fe County and State Rep. Robert Mondragon of Albuquerque in the general election November 3. King is running for governor and Mondragon for lieutenant governor. King is regarded as the leader over Domenici but Pete is gaining.

A lively state Senate race is developing in the Luna-Sierra-Hidalgo Counties district. Sen. I. M. (Ike) Smalley, Deming Democrat and a lawyer, seeks reelection. His Republican opponent is Clifford Moody, 44, Luna County rancher for 20 years. Moody lives 18 miles northwest of Deming.

Smalley edged Moody in 1966 in a close election. Moody says Sen. Smalley "spends the majority of his time in Santa Fe." Smalley owns a home in Santa Fe. Moody says he is campaigning "door-to-door and ranch-to-ranch." Moody, a Luna County commissioner now, says he wants to represent the people of the district in Santa Fe. He says: "Ike's a tremendous legislator but he fails to communicate with the people."

Moody is past president of Luna County Farm and Livestock Bureau and ex-president of Deming Chamber of Commerce. He served six years on the Deming Board of Education. Moody is pushing a need for law enforcement. He also favors "holding the line on any tax increases."

Luna and Hidalgo Counties are heavily Democratic. Sierra County often votes Republican.

Sen. Smalley is chairman of the Legislative Universities Study Committee which met late last week in Santa Fe. The committee heard lengthy testimony from President Stirling Colgate of New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology at Socorro.

Afterward Smalley told Colgate: "It looks as if the school is making very definite, solid and substantial progress." NMIMT has not experienced student disturbances that have plagued many other colleges in the nation.

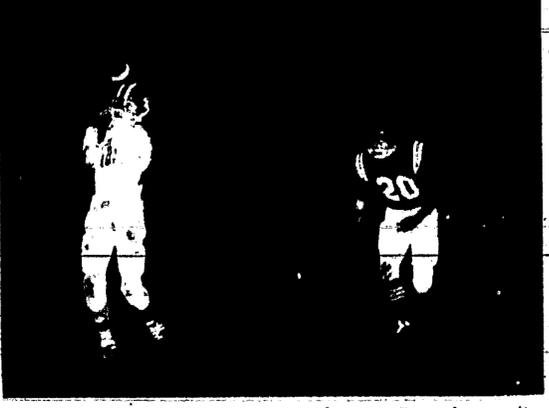

Gov. David F. Cargo created a committee to propose laws on major land developments. Cargo named State Rep. Carter Kirk, R-Luna-Hidalgo, to the committee. Kirk is a land developer.

Seeking a third House term, Kirk opposes Deming Democrat William Upton in the general election. Upton is former state banking commissioner. Kirk is on the House Taxation-Revenue Committee.

Former State Rep. John F. Bigbee, Encino rancher and a Republican, seeks to return to the House in the Guadalupe-De Baca-Torrance Counties district. Bigbee opposes Robert Gerhardt, Santa Rosa Democrat, November 3. Bigbee was in the House 1965-66. He was a constitutional convention delegate in 1962 and was the convention's Revenue Committee chairman.

In the Lincoln-Sierra Counties district State Rep. Ralph F. Petty Jr., Ruidoso Democrat, is trying for a second term. Petty was matched against Arthur H. Evans, Caballo Republican. At 29 Petty is the youngest legislator. Evans has withdrawn from the race.

District Judge James Scarborough ruled in Santa Fe the latest consolidation of the Belen and La Joya School Districts is valid and effective. The consolidation was approved last April 2 by the State Board of Education. Special legislation was adopted by the 1970 Legislature to permit the consolidation. The merger was approved in 1965 but the consolidation was overturned by the State Supreme Court after a group of La Joya residents filed a suit in Santa Fe District Court. Carlos Gutierrez of Springer, chairman of the New Mexico Boys School Vocational Advisory Committee, attacked an investigation of the school by Howard Leach, director of the State Corrections Department.

Inches were very important in Tiger-Grizzly game.

John Bernard of Corona, who used to work on the old Hippo Ranch near Corona, says they used to make rides all the time like the Pony Express Race only they would ride one horse all the way in the saddle eight to ten hours at a stretch. News never did get time on the last Pony Express Race and John wants to know how long it took -- Bill Ward, how about letting us know.

Wayne Milburn of Alamogordo stopped in the office Tuesday on his way home from the state fair where he had been on duty with the Mounted Patrol helping with crowd control. He said there were Mounted Patrolmen from all over the state helping an equal number of State Policemen and they kept troubles to a positive minimum.

Beef business bulletin has this note of interest -- In other action at Alamogordo, the ANCA and NWGA committees decided to ask the Secretaries of Agriculture and Interior to continue the grazing fee moratorium at least through 1971. This will be pending development of a reasonable and equitable fee structure established by statute and conforming to recommendations of Public Land Law Review Commission.

That Carrizozo has a lot of people wanting to be friendly (like the signs say) was proved Monday night at the reception for newcomers. Room at rec center was pretty well filled and people were sitting around talking for an hour after the official welcome was made by Johnson Stearns and Ruth Armstrong. This event can be marked down as one of the nice things that happened in Carrizozo this year. Sharon Hefker brought in food bill, $9.41 was all, which isn't much cost to extend a welcome to a lot of people -- not forgetting the big batches of homemade cookies prepared by the gals, thanks, they were delicious.

Read in Tony Payton's paper at Lovelock, Nevada, where they took the hard road to tear down remains of old building. Town condemned structure and is moving dozer equipment in to clear the site. Property owners will be billed for the work, if they don't pay then a lien goes on the tax roll.

US News reporters have a higher degree of ESP (extra sensory perception) than we knew about. In August 13 issue we had news of John Porter taking first grade teaching position, with added note that his wife was expecting. John told us Monday that reading about this blessed event was the first she knew of it, so he asked his wife. She didn't know but said that if it was in the News it must be true, so she went to doctor -- sure enough it was true. Don't know whether its John or the News that is stretching the truth. The Porters are owners of two English bulldogs, who came out to greet the Paytons on their bicycle, friendly as most bulldogs are. John says his big male doesn't much like any other male dog. Female due to have pups this week.

Look your loveliest!

By Mildred North Medical Arts

Through the years we have had many "spot-covers" on the market. They come and go and none actually cover.

All of you know about our Ultima II Makeup. This makeup is the finest ever — all will agree.

Now there is a Spot Cover for the face to match every Ultima II Makeup shade. This creamy camouflage conceals facial blemishes, discolorations and birthmarks — perfects the look of the skin for fashion's shearer makeup.

An invaluable companion to Ultima II Makeup.

This Spot Cover is truly a spot cover. There is a shade for everyone.

And we still have the Creme Concealer Under Eye Makeup —

the miracle of the eye. This cream can disguise under-eye lines, shadows, circles — dispel the look of fatigue — all in one quick dab under the eyes, or wherever the telltale signs are. It stays on all day (your secret) under makeup.

Create light to remove shadows caused by lines and dark circles. Create shadows to take away light.

We are very proud of our selection of perfumes. Lovely fragrances create an elegance that we all enjoy.

Perfumes and women go together, and through the centuries fragrance has been used to bolster feminine self-confidence. Perfume is good for morale. A dash of a familiar scent has been known to uplift drooping spirits in much the same way that indulging in a new hat or dress will change a woman's outlook. With the magic of perfume a woman feels like a different person — and because she feels so, she actually is.

To some, perfume is a thing apart, something fragrant to wear, but with no particular relationship to what is being worn. This is a mistake, because fragrance is as much an accessory as are gloves, handbags or jewelry, and the wrong scent can detract from the overall effect of your appearance as surely as any other ill-chosen accessory.

On an important occasion, perfume may be the most effective accessory for one's admirer may forget a certain hat or the style of the dress that was worn, but a perfume is almost never forgotten.

Your perfume should complement your personality, become a part of you. You must like it, but even more important it must like you.

Chrysothemums and autumn go together, so a perfume with a spicy note is the choice of this season. The chill in the air, the heavier tweeds and woolens call for a fragrance that is more vibrant.

Winter is the time for glamour. Heady perfumes with a sophisticated note fit in with the richness of satins, velvets and other elegant fabrics. Exotic scents are compatible with the elegance of the winter season.

Perfumes should not only be scented to the season but should also be in keeping with the time and occasion.

Perfume should be used directly on the skin, not on clothing. Never underestimate the power of an exotic fragrance.

Madame de Pompadour, one of the great French beauties, for nearly twenty years enchanted Louis XV to such an extent that she was regarded as the power behind the throne. Her real achievement lay in her influence on the taste and style of this highly perfumed period.

Ft. Stanton art exhibit excellent plus

The school art exhibit from Fort Stanton received an overall excellent-plus rating at this year's New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque.

The exhibit which was competing with all public and private schools throughout New Mexico, represented the work of seventy students. It contained samples of weaving, jewelry and ceramics made during the year by students receiving sheltered workshop training at the state school for the retarded.

Supervisors of the workshops are Horace Cordova, Elizabeth Rennie, Carol Voutrot and Lorna Donovan.

In rating the exhibit, the three state fair judges commented that the student work showed enthusiasm and imagination. One judge wrote: "The students seem to be getting a reasonable amount of individual attention, and they feel free to express themselves".

My House

Of Old Things, By Jackie Silvers

Last week was a real fine week with lovely and interesting visitors from Dallas, Balmorhea, Tahavale, Pecos and El Paso, Texas, Columbus and Cleveland, Ohio and Milwaukee, Wis. From New Mexico—Santa FE, Clovis, Corona, Alamogordo, Tularosa, La Luz, Roswell, Artesia, Hobbs, Dexter, Albuquerque, Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs.

Wednesday Joyce May of Carrizozo came to see us accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Swain of Grandberry, Texas. Mrs. Swain is Dora's sister, whom he had not seen in several years. They were a very interesting and enjoyable couple and with our own charming Joyce we had a most enjoyable visit.

Mrs. Stella Jones, son Arthur Jones and Mrs. Mary Fox, all of Corona, came by for a tour of "My House" and a nice long visit with us. Mrs. Jones is one of Corona's oldest citizens, arriving in Corona in 1904. We "old timers" enjoyed her stories of the old days, a real enjoyable visit with all three of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Elyin Anderson of Capitan came to see us for another visit. They were accompanied by their house guests. We enjoyed a nice visit with all four of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edgar of Capitan were by to see us Sunday. This was Bill's first time to view our relics but Marie had been to see us before. We enjoyed their visit very much. They had met Willa and Preston and the four attended the state fair together. Willa is teaching in Vaughn and Preston is Manager of a ranch at Pastura. It was good to see Bill and Marie and have word of our former Lincoln County kids.

Tommy Whatley and Larry Pharris of Mineral Wells, Tex. stopped by for a tour of "My House of Old Things". They were returning to Mineral Wells after a visit with the Eric Lynch's of Jicarilla and Larry Lynch's of Carrizozo. Tommy and Larry really enjoyed our "things of the past". Tommy is collecting a few of them.

Mrs. Chas. Stoneman, our friend and neighbor for many years on the ranch in the Jicarillas and now of Capitan was by for a visit with us. She was with a niece Mrs. A. E. Casebeer of Brownfield, Texas and a grand-niece Mrs. Mary Ziembo of Hobbs, N.M. They had visited the ranch which Mrs. Stoneman still owns, her home here in Ancho and planned to go on to see White Oaks. We enjoyed their visit immensely.

Community United Presbyterian Church of Ancho was host church of the Fall Presbytery held Sat. Sept. 19. Mrs. Mary Lynch was the voting delegate from Ancho. Thirteen churches in the Pecos Valley Presbytery were represented.

Special music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Stan Thomas and David Sims, who sang contemporary hymns accompanied by guitars and bass violin. Paul Dick of Westminster Church, Roswell, and Jesse Sims of Alamogordo reported on their attendance at the General Assembly held in Chicago this summer. Rev. Joe Medina from the Synod Office in Albuquerque was a special guest.

Luncheon was served by the Ancho UPW. A tour of Jackie Silver's "My House of Old Things" was conducted after the meeting adjourned.

The regular meeting of the Ancho UPW was held at the home of Mrs. Betty Crown Wednesday Sept. 16 preceeded by a covered dish luncheon. Pres. Barbara Harkey called meeting to order, reading Desiderata by Max Ehrmann. Dorothy Straley led the first Bible Study on James. Business matters were taken care of. Meeting closed with Circle of Fellowship and prayer by Dorothy Straley. Members present were the Mesdames Dorothy Straley, Vernelle Hightower, Arabelle Molder, Barbara Harkey, Rose Harkey and Betty Crown.

Dorothy Straley, Vernelle Hightower and Barbara Harkey attended an Executive Meeting of the Pecos Valley Presbyterial held at First Presbyterian Church, Roswell, on Thursday of last week.

Old Lincoln Town

By Hattie Phillips

Local residents came out quite well with their various products at the Lincoln County Fair. We're quite proud of each and every one of them. Folks around Capitan -- and all who help -- deserve a lot of credit for keeping the Fair going.

The rodeo and calf roping seemed to have been a big attraction and was thoroughly enjoyed. We have a fine bunch of youngsters in this area.

Mrs. Lee Beall was pleased to have her granddaughter -- Janet Rounton and her husband -- spend the weekend with her. The Rountons live in El Paso. Also Mrs. Dean Earl spent a couple of days with her the first of the week while Mr. Earl attended a meeting. They had a lovely visit. She has heard since they went home that Mr. Earl had surgery and doesn't know as yet how he is doing.

The Werner children, Mary Lynn, Melanie, John Ty and Alan spent the weekend with the Phillips grandparents. John and Lynn went to Clauch and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Doc Dean. They all went on to Mountainair to attend the dedication of the Visitor's Center at Queral -- an ancient ruin of fantastic beauty and charm, which will be a Mecca for tourists, I'm sure.

Christobal Zamora had to go to Albuquerque for a check up. He had a good report on his progress. His son Christobal Jr. and his wife brought him home.

Jim Racher, who had his jaw broken when the rim of a tire he was repairing flew off striking him in the face, is getting along well. He is back at work and back in college. He was to have the wires removed from his jaw this week so maybe he can eat solid food then. He was lucky not to have been more severely injured though it was real bad!

Mrs. Nina Taylor and Phoebe visited in Texas last week and brought Earl Taylor, who has a month's furlough, home with them. He met them at Tom Taylor's at Lockney, Texas.

The Abercrombies enjoyed a weekend trip down in Mexico. Mr. Abercrombie attended a meeting while there. They enjoyed a tour of a beautiful hacienda, and other interesting places.

The Gran Quivira National Monument in Mountainair, New Mexico, the site of an early Spanish mission, is one of 36 historical sites described in a new photo guide book on Colonial America by noted conservation and travel writer Michael Frome.

Gran Quivira, southeast of Albuquerque, typifies this. During the Spanish settlement, in the 1600's of what is now the Southwestern United States, Franciscan missionaries established a large pueblo here to impose the Spanish life - style and religious life on the Mogollon Indians who inhabited the region since 800 A.D.

Conversion efforts did not flourish. Stricken by drought, disease and Apache raids, the pueblo was abandoned around 1675. The sites have been excavated showing the ruins of the old missions churches and pueblo.

Frome's book recounts this history and is particularly timely as the nation approaches its 200th anniversary in 1976. It focuses on America's architectural heritage and serves as a picture taking guide through missions, pueblos, forts, trading posts, log cabins and stone mansions that represent the early development of the United States from the first days of European exploration to the culmination of the American Revolution.

Mr. Frank Kowski, Director, Southwest Region of the National Park Service, presented the employees of Gran Quivira National Monument, Mountainair, New Mexico an award for a Perfect Safety Record in 1969. This is the sixth year in succession that Gran Quivira has had an accident free record, with no personal injuries, no vehicle accidents, and no fire losses.

In addition to promoting employee safety, the staff of Gran Quivira National Monument are determined that each visitor to the Monument should enjoy an accident free vacation.

Carol Cooper Has Winner Clabe Jones of Tatum, won champion fleece honors in the Junior Wool Show at the 1970 New Mexico State Fair. Reserve champion honors went to Carol Cooper of Timie.

Worth seeing. Worth owning. Worth waiting for.

Vega. Not just another little car, but one little car that does everything well. You get more room, more weight and more power than most little cars give you, yet the gas mileage is right in the same neighborhood with the best of them. Vegas come dressed up, too, not stripped to the bone so you have to add a lot to make them liveable. Drive one. You'll see.

Caprice. There's a double layer of steel in the roof, a steel guard beam in each door, power disc brakes up front, a new power ventilation system inside, a wheelbase two and one-half inches longer. You get the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, but at Chevrolet prices. And that's the kind of change during these tight-money times that all of us can appreciate.

Vanishing tailgate. A big change in our big wagon. The window goes up into the roof, the Glide-Away tailgate vanishes beneath the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way for easy loading even in a closed garage or when you have a trailer hooked on.

See what we mean by putting you first? September 29 at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Lincoln war spotlighted in Arizona history mag

The five-day fight that convulsed the village of Lincoln, New Mexico, during the week of July 15-19, 1878, was a decisive event in the celebrated Lincoln County War.

The testimony of two Negro participants in the fight, given when the army ordered a court of inquiry, has recently been published in the summer issue of Arizona and the West, a quarterly journal of history published at the University of Arizona.

Author of the article, Lee Scott Theisen, points out that although it did not affect the outcome of the inquiry, "when viewed as a social document reflecting Western mores, attitudes about race and frontier justice, the testimony assumes a larger meaning in the history of the Southwest."

The article also outlines events which preceded the inquiry "In the spring of 1878, an outbreak of lawlessness plunged Lincoln County, New Mexico into a state of anarchy. Two groups were struggling for economic and political dominance. On one side was the Murphy-Dolan faction - - Opposing was the McSween-Tunstall-Chisum combine."

After several killings, the five-day fight resulted from an attempt by local authorities to serve warrants on McSween who had barricaded himself and a group of his followers in his fort-like home. At the sheriff's request, Lt. Col. Nathan A.M. Dudley, commanding nearby Fort Stanton, brought a detachment of soldiers into town.

Better Highways Paramount to tourist development

Tom Hamilton said, "The greatest tourist attraction in the world is worthless if the public cannot reach it safely, comfortably, and conveniently."

The democratic candidate for the State Senate from Lincoln and Otero Counties made the remark in regard to the critical need for better highways in the two counties. "Our area has a great community of interest, with thousands upon thousands of people annually visiting the many attractions we have to offer. I'm sure this number could be doubled if we had safer and more modern highways."

We cannot improve our tourism potential significantly if we don't improve the highways and roads in our area, which have been sadly neglected during the last few years while freeways and interstate system have been consuming almost all available highway dollars in the state.

"We need better roads throughout this area, especially between Tularosa-Ruidoso, Alamogordo-EI Paso, and Holloman AFB to Las Cruces. U. S. 70-380 from Ruidoso to Roswell needs to be expedited. The once excellent road between Carrizozo and Alamogordo is in a sad state of repair, and a paved road between Corona and Roswell is needed."

The candidate continued, "These highway improvements are sorely needed to save lives and improve the safety and comfort of our residents and the hoped for tourists."

The sheriff then set fire to the beleaguered residence and when its occupants were forced to flee, his possemen killed McSween and several others. Because Col. Dudley had refused to intervene in the affair and, in fact, appeared to be a conspirator in it, Mrs. McSween brought charges against him and the army ordered a court of inquiry.

The testifying Negroes were McSween employees and had been present at crucial points during the fight. Like the other 60 or more witnesses testifying, their statements had little effect on the outcome of the inquiry, and Dudley was exonerated.

Thunderstorms strike widespread targets

Summer thunderstorms strike widespread targets with sudden fury and awesome power.

At any moment, about 1,800 of the violent disturbances are buffeting the world.

In the United States the West Coast experiences the fewest thunderstorms -- less than 10 a year. At the other extreme, more than 100 annually rage through Florida, making that state the thunderstorm center of the Nation.

Heat from the sun at the lower latitudes and warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean make Florida an ideal breeding ground for the outbursts.

A thunderstorm normally begins as a column of warm, moist, gently rising air that climbs faster than it cools and forms a cottony cumulus cloud.

Under the right conditions, this "cell" gains power as it lifts. The cloud boils higher and higher. Water vapor condenses and droplets form. Ice crystals appear at the cap, which may tower more than 40,000 feet as a thunderhead.

A switch in air movement marks the tempest's mature stage. A downdraft of air joins the prevailing updraft which started the disturbance.

In the middle, water drops grow heavy enough to overcome the updraft and fall. They drag cool air with them, and create the cold gust that blows from the fringes of the storm.

On the ground, winds can reach 70 miles per hour. A single deluge may release a hundred thousand tons of rain and hail stones as large as tennis balls.

Negatively and positively charged centers polarize within a thundercloud. Eventually, electrical discharges occur between one and the other or between one and the ground, creating lightning.

A single flash of lightning seldom drains a storm cloud of its energy. Repeated strokes down the same channel are common, and dozens can occur in one second. If it could be tamed, a prolonged storm might create enough electricity to power a large city for several days.

Even as a thunderstorm reaches violent maturity, it starts to die. The downdraft initially shares the circulation with the sustaining updraft; then strangles it.

As the updraft is separated from converging low-level winds, the disturbance loses moisture and heat energy. Precipitation first weakens, then stops, and the cold downdraft ceases.

In their menacing advance, thunderstorms sometimes bend and uproot trees, flatten crops, and splinter buildings.

Paradoxically, they also bring blessings -- abundant rainfall and valuable fertilizer. Lightning trees nitrogen from the air, and rain washes it into the soil at the rate of a hundred million tons a year.

Conservation is increasingly important

The conservation and development of natural resources is urgent now and will become increasingly so as population pressures on land, water, and related resources continue to increase.

These pressures are created by a growing national appetite for better diets, better housing, more recreation, improved cultural opportunities, and more consumer goods, among other things. These pressures are a reflection of growing needs by a pyramiding member of people.

Our population is 200 million plus now, and it is expected to reach 245 million by 1980, and 330 million by the turn of the century.

By the year 2000, demands on land and water resources will indeed be staggering. Land for recreation will be up 300 per cent; needs for land for homes, schools, and factories will be up 215 per cent. Land for transportation will be up 125 per cent, and land for reservoirs will be up 180 per cent.

We have a growing national need for water. By the turn of the century, demands for water for municipal use will double; for industry, will quadruple; and demands for water for irrigation will be up 50 per cent.

The demand for products of the land, our increasing thirst for water, and the nation's need for increased outdoor recreation must be met by the privately owned and operated lands of the nation.

Practically all our food and fiber is produced on these private lands. The Congress recognized in 1962 that needs for outdoor recreation could not adequately be met by the publicly owned lands of the nation and provision was made for more intensified use of private lands for recreational purposes.

Although we now recognize that problems of water pollution, air pollution, flood control, urban sprawl, loss of prime agricultural land to non-agricultural purposes, and many other problems in resource conservation and development that affect the well being of our country far exceed the capabilities of local people operating through local and state governments. This is an awareness that has developed over a long span of years.

It was during the early 1930s that disastrous wind erosion in the Great Plains states and critical erosion by water in the southeastern United States and general economic distress of people across the nation created an awareness of the necessity of bringing forces of the Federal government into play.

The Congress responded by creating the Soil Erosion Service in 1933 in the Department of the Interior, which was subsequently transferred to the Department of Agriculture in 1935 and its name changed to the Soil Conservation Service.

The Soil Conservation Service is an agency within the United States Department of Agriculture. The fact that the agency has functioned for over thirty years without a change in name and with only three Administrators during its history have been of considerable interest to some political scientists.

Our agency employs about 19,000 people of many diverse specialties. These include soil scientists, biologists, engineers of many kinds, range conservationists, agronomists, foresters, and many others.

We have about 3,000 offices in local communities throughout the 50 states and possessions of the United States and our personnel have worked with about 50 foreign governments helping them to develop conservation programs in their countries.

TRADING GAME

There was a friendly little card game in a suburban house one night and during the course of the evening the hostess showed off her new mink jacket. "That looks like a very expensive garment," said the husband of one of the guests to the host while they were mixing drinks in the kitchen. "Must have set you back a few bucks."

"You might say we got it on a trade-in," said the host. "What did you trade for it?" asked the guest.

"Our old bank account," was the sad reply.

Hamilton calls for change in racing commission
Tom Hamilton, Democratic Candidate for State Senatorial Post Position 23, representing Lincoln and Otero Counties, said, "I feel it is a disgrace that the home of the richest horse race in the world does not have a representative on the New Mexico State Racing Commission."

Hamilton said if elected he would push for a representative from Lincoln County as a member of the Racing Commission. Hamilton pointed out, "No one in recent years, if ever, from Lincoln County has been appointed to such a post." He said Ruidoso Downs and its All American Futurity are a vital part of the state's economy. "Ruidoso Downs accounts for thousands of out-of-state visitors each summer to New Mexico. It also has caused national radio and television networks to focus attention on our state," the candidate said.

Missile Park and Garrison flag with Headquarters building and Organ Mountains in background.

Gaggle of missiles in first museum

Like a sentinel standing guard over Headquarters of White Sands Missile Range is a gaggle of missiles that formed the nation's first and largest outdoor "missile museum."

Known as Missile Park, the collection of Army, Navy and Air Force weapons are displayed in a typical firing attitude and is the focal point of interest of visitors to the range. Each year, hundreds of military and civilian dignitaries, scout, civic and scientific groups visit the garden. Almost any hour of day, a sprinkling of people can be seen wandering through the pillaring weapons, examining air-framed and reading statistics posted by each display.

The 35 different rockets and missiles exhibited in the unique museum represent extensive test programs conducted at the desert installation since its establishment 25 years ago. Of the group, 20 systems are operational and still tested at WSMR. The others, including the German made V-2 rocket, are obsolete and important only for their historical value.

Holding center stage in Missile Park is a German V-2, one assembled from the carloads of parts brought to the New Mexico missile range from Europe at the end of World War II. Known as the "grandfather" of American missilery, the V-2 was made by the Germans from findings of Dr. Robert H. Goddard who did pioneer testing during the early 1930's near Roswell, N. M.

The V2 experimental program during early years of WSMR provided the basic research for America's array of modern missiles and for placing man on the moon less than 25 years later.

Missile Park dates back to May 1955. As a special feature for Armed Forces Day celebration, Post Engineer mounted three missiles in cradles and put them on display in the triangular area directly in front of Headquarters Building. Silhouetted against the peaks of the Organ Mountain and the desert sky, the missiles -- the giant V-2, the Loon, and Nike I -- fascinated the thousands of visitors. All day, men, women and children crowded around the display, at times standing several deep.

Because of the missile display's unqualified appeal to the Armed Forces Day crowd, the missiles were left in the area afterwards, WSMR employees immediately began referring to "Missile Park" so, Missile Park was born.

The Loon missile was the American version of the German V-1, and Nike I, the first of the Nike family, later became Nike Ajax, the world's first supersonic missile to become operational.

Within a couple of years, a dozen or more missiles had been installed in Missile Park, each donated by the contractor who built and owned it.

Although the V-2, Loon and Nike Ajax were charter members of Missile Park, they were not the first missiles flown on the White Sands range. That honor belongs to a war-time Tiny Tim, modified to simulate a WAC Corporal and developed to probe the upper atmosphere. The Tiny Tim was launched Sept. 26, 1945. It was seven months later, on April 16, 1946, that America's missile program got underway in earnest when the thunderous roar of the first V-2 shattered the desert stillness as it lurched from its make-do launch pad and careened across the sky.

Between then and June 28, 1951, a total of 65 of the re-assembled V-2s were launched on the White Sands range and two from ships at sea. During the program, the V-2 was used for hundreds of experiments and set numerous records, chiefly because it was the vehicle for the nation's first missile program. A V-2 with a WAC Corporal mounted on its nose was the world's first two-stage missile. One of these two-stage rockets, on Feb. 24, 1949, set an altitude record of 244 miles. That was America's first step towards the moon.

Nike Ajax was America's first guided anti-aircraft missile. It was first tested at WSMR in October 1951 and became fully operational May 30, 1954. It was the world's first supersonic guided missile to become operational and 10 years later, in November 1964, the pen-shaped Ajax which had a "one shot kill" potential was withdrawn from active duty.

Among other early comers to Missile Park was the Army Dart, anti-tank weapon which was first tested on the range in 1954. Dart was designed to blast through the heaviest known enemy armor and was a boon to the Army's foot soldier as a defense against heavy armor.

Soon to join the ranks of weapons in the outdoor showcase was the Navy's Aerobee Hi sounding rocket used for upper atmosphere studies. Still a vital support vehicle today, Aerobee was first flown in 1947 and broke its own altitude record for a single-stage boosted rocket 10 years later, on April 10, 1957, when it zoomed to 190 miles. Through the years, Aerobee has kept pace with science and today supports numerous programs including several for National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Another making an early debut in the park was the Army Corporal, the tall, slim ballistic missile which preceded the Sergeant. Standing 45 feet tall, Corporal had a range of approximately 75 miles compared to some 400 miles for the Pershing. Corporal followed a ballistic trajectory and had a propulsion system that utilized a liquid propellant rocket motor.

In addition to missile history, the WSMR park-museum serves as a monument to missile progress. During late 1966 and early 1967, four of the United States' newest missile systems were added to the collection. These were the Army's long-range Pershing; the Air Force Athena and Navy's Tartar and Terrier fleet air-defense missile.

The two-stage Pershing was first tested at WSMR in August 1963. Today operational in the Western World, the highly mobile Pershing is test fired from sites in southeastern Utah and impacts on the White Sands range some 400 miles away.

The Air Force Athena is one of the most dramatic missiles in the park. Named for the Greek goddess, Athena is a research vehicle to study atmospheric re-entry phenomena and not a weapon. The 50 feet tall Athenas are launched in Green River, Utah, and impact on the WSMR range. On re-entry to earth's atmosphere over White Sands after its 400 mile flight, Athena puts on a spectacular show that is visible hundreds of miles. The first Athena was launched in 1964 and at the beginning of the 1970 series in March, a total of 120 had been fired.

The Navy Tartar and Terrier took their places with the Talos in the southwest corner of the park in February in 1967. Developed at WSMR by the Naval Ordnance Missile Test Facility (NOMTF), the sister missiles have been combined to form the Navy's medium range Standard missile. Terrier, a two-stage system, weighs approximately 3,000 pounds and has a 15 mile range. The single-stage Tartar has a 10 mile range.

Claiming the title of the largest missile in the museum is the Army's Redstone which towers above all its cohorts. The 30-ton, 69-foot Redstone was replaced by the Sergeant and Pershing which are more mobile and adaptable as tactical weapons. However, Redstone is still fired in Australia. The liquid fueled missile is a sister model of the propulsion vehicle that carried Commander Carpenter, U. S. Astronaut, on his space flight and man to the moon.

The Missile Park's smallest missile, although not the smallest in existence, is the Loki which is still used for research, usually in combination with other missiles. The Loki frame measures 103 inches long and three inches in diameter and it weighs approximately 24 pounds.

Also displayed in Missile Park, under the protection of Army, Navy and Air Force missiles, is a bronze memorial plaque commemorating the visit of the late President John F. Kennedy to the national missile range in June 1963.

Plans are underway for moving to the area WSMR's own "flying saucer." Actually the cone-shaped item is an aluminum payload from a balloon that was launched in a project several years ago near Roswell, N. M., and impacted on the White Sands range. But, the silver disk closely resembles an artists' conception of a flying saucer and has received much publicity as an UFO.

Missile Park draws visitors

The focal point of interest for many visitors to White Sands Missile Range today is Missile Park, the installation's outside missile museum which was a spin-off of the 1955 Armed Forces Day celebration. Among the large missiles later installed in the park located across from Headquarters Building are (back, counterclockwise) the Nike Hercules, Army anti-aircraft system; the Air Force Mace, surface-to-surface Army Redstone, surface-to-surface; Army Pershing, long range ballistic missile; Nike Zeus, Army anti-missile system; German V-2, both vertical and the horizontal cut-away version further forward; Army Corporal, right of flagpole, surface-to-surface; Air Force Athena, atmospheric re-entry research vehicle; Army Sergeant ballistic missile; Navy Talos, long-range ship-to-air or ship-to-shore system, and Navy Terrier, two-stage short range ship-to-air. Of the 35 missiles displayed in the park, 20 are operational and still tested at WSMR. All except V-2 were donated by individual contractors.

Fortuna acquires Ruidoso Downs

Acquisition of the majority control of the stock of the Ruidoso Racing Association, Inc., was announced Friday by the Fortuna Corp.

Art Johnson, manager of the Fortuna racing operation at the Sunland Park Race Track of El Paso, Tex., announced the completion of the purchase by the Fortuna Corp. of 100 per cent of Newco Industries, Inc. stock. Newco, in turn, owns 87 per cent of the stock of the Ruidoso Racing Association.

Johnson, in announcing the transaction, stated that Fortuna looked forward to a long and successful operation with the horsemen, the racing public, and the community of Ruidoso. Johnson further pointed out that increased efficiency and service to both the public and the horsemen will result from the year-round operation of the two tracks by a single staff and management with racing available from June through September at Ruidoso Downs and from October through April at Sunland Park.

Buddy Hall took the kickoff and made good run back to the 42. Ted Sinerros on reverse makes yards to the Grizzly 40 and 1 and 10. Capitán penalty 1 and 15, pass incomplete Capitán kicks.
 The punt sure took a Tiger bounce, Carrizozo 1 and 10 on their one yard line. Lost foot, no gain, then Willie ran to the 36, 46 seconds left in half. Grizzlies on 45 as half ended.
 Tiger hand directed by Bartley McDonough performed at halftime. On the field this band was under the direction of Francisco Trujillo a drum major who did a wonderful job of putting the band through its paces -- finest we've seen in this section of the country.
 Tigers kicked to Ray Roper who brought the ball back to the 33. Flag cost Capitán 5, 1 and 10 on 44, lost 6 on pass attempt. Gaby thrown for loss 4 and 20. Have to kick.
 Tigers have ball on Grizzly 42. Pass incomplete, things got out of hand here, Tigers kicked, Grizzly player touched ball but didn't cover it, Tigers took possession 1 and 10 on the Grizzly 5. Time out Carrizozo to consider the situation, and try to figure out what happened and what to do. Tigers flubbed a play, pass incomplete, lost 7, 4th and 14, Buddy Hall tried run, Zozo took over 1st and 10 on their 10. Had to kick.
 Junior Guevara made good punt return 1st and 10 on Grizzly 27, pass complete for short yardage, 1st and 10 on 18, Ray Roper breaks up pass. Guevara on keeper to the 8, Ted Sinerros runs over for the TD, 3 seconds left in 3rd quarter. Run for extra point failed, score 6-6.
 Capitán kicked, Tony Sanchez made good tackle for the Tigers, Zozo 1st and 10 on 23 moved the ball to the 36, then 49, 15 yard penalty on Tigers, ball is on 31, 5 yards on Grizzlies 1st and 15 on 37. Miss long bomb, 4th and 11. Here is where Willie Gallegos runs to the 18, is flagged for face mask contact, Tiger captain takes the play and Carrizozo has ball 1st and 10 on the 18, Jim Speight runs to 6, 1st and goal, Speight gains 2, Zozo backfield in motion cost 5, 4:24 left in game. Speight on sweep around right end, no gain.
 Tigers took over, ball up in back field, 2nd and 12, quick kick gave Grizzlies the ball on the 20, penalty moves ball to the 13, run to the 4, Willie carries to the 1 yard line, then goes in for score. Pass interference called on try for point give Zozo another chance, Shawn Lock made end run for 2 point conversion. Score now 14-6.
 Zozo kicked, Tigers start on their 46. Long pass good to 25, 46 seconds remain in game. Pass complete to 15, Sinerros catches pass on the 5 then Tigers are thrown back to the 10, 4th down 32 seconds remain -- time out. Dick Jones caught short pass, no score, Zozo takes over with 24 seconds left and runs out the clock.

No question about it, the Capitán Tigers have a fine ball team, they need about the same things as do the Grizzlies, more blocking in the line and more polish on their offense. Both teams let scoring opportunities go by and both teams let plays get away.
 Don Ham had knee trouble, Jody Wrye had sprained ankle and didn't play on offense. Mat Ellison played only half game due to an earlier injury, all of which put Gaby Chavez at QB and he did fine for 15 year old soph. Speight moved to wingback, Parham at fullback his first time on offense. Marc Ellison moved to strongside tackle to fill in for Ham, Chris Monreal moved to weakside tackle, Gerald Wells filled in for Chris at strongside guard, Rusty Leslie has not been playing offense but he did at Capitán, playing weakside guard.
 Referees were critical of comment from fans on Grizzly side line, bad words to tally uncalled for and could cost yards (probably did) when they needed them badly. Coach Casey was sending Speight into the game and yelling instruction at him as he ran on the field, common with practically all coaches, he was flagged for 15 yards in this instance.
 Casey said that Zozo provided poor coverage on one long Capitán pass but that the other two were simply tremendous catches by Sinerros and Padilla.

 Capitán goes to Vaughn Friday and Carrizozo to Roswell Saturday for games this week.

 The book starts with this paragraph -- The beginning will not stay, the beginning will flit by, though with a dozen wishes you hold it tight and sigh. You can fence it with love, or surround it with despair, the beginning will fade away and destiny will be there -- Paula Pherigo, member of annual staff. And closes with this -- This above all; to thine own self be true, and it will follow, as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man - Shakespeare.

Livestock Report
 By Reuben Caplan
 While considerable doubt still remains about the quantity and quality of the 1970 corn crop, the blight has not, so far, had the effect on feeder cattle that a number of industry observers thought it would have when blight problem information first became widespread -- in the last half of August. At that time, it was thought in some quarters that Midwest feeders would bid down on feeder cattle enough to break the feeder cattle market $2 a hundred or more. Yet, the market remains quite strong.
 This week, choice steers weighing 600-750 lbs. were quoted at Missouri River markets from $30-$33.50, virtually the same as a month earlier. Gary Enright, of the Sioux City Market Foundation, notes that cattle feeders "stand around in the exchange building lobby and talk about the high price of corn and how the cattle should be bought lower, then walk out to the cattle alleys and pay stronger prices." Several trade sources indicate that Midwest feeders don't have much choice other than to pay strong prices...if they want to buy feeder cattle every week of the year and many buy every month of the year, tending to reduce the Sort of interesting to learn where new people come from and why they come to Carrizozo. Teaching brings new people in every year from many sections of the country, work on the north end of range accounts for more, ranch work adds new families to the area, work at the courthouse, and a surprising number of people move to Carrizozo because they've retired and Carrizozo is where they want to live.

Gary Enright, of the Sioux City Market Foundation, notes that cattle feeders "stand around in the exchange building lobby and talk about the high price of corn and how the cattle should be bought lower, then walk out to the cattle alleys and pay stronger prices." Several trade sources indicate that Midwest feeders don't have much choice other than to pay strong prices...if they want to buy feeder cattle every week of the year and many buy every month of the year, tending to reduce the
