

C of C approves summer recreation

Directors of Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce meeting at the 4-Winds Restaurant Mon. evening approved a program for summer recreation that has been prepared by Jim Steineprels, chairman for the C of C.

The program is well rounded to suit a lot of ages, and should have sufficient variety to please a lot of mothers as well as the children.

Steineprels has already discussed this with the Town Council and they've agreed to the outline. The next step will be to present this program to the Recreation Committee which has charge of handling of swimming pool and recreation center.

Other business handled at this meeting: C of C has given $45 to American Legion to finance boy at Boys State, will host and pay for feeding 20 or more coaches and officials here for the Grizzly Relays Saturday, an Easter egg hunt for next week, heard letter from Sen. Harold Runnels about Nogal-Angus highway. Members attending were: Bill Payne, Scott Lewis, Albert Roberts, Jim Steineprels and Paul Rayton.

Complete outline of the summer recreation program follows:

The Summer Recreation Program/Chairman of the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce wishes to suggest the following ideas be recommended to the Carrizozo Recreation Committee and the Town of Carrizozo Council.

1. Swimming Pool:

a. One manager be hired for the duration of the operation of the pool for a set figure, to be paid in two installments upon completion of the work. This sum to be approximately $1,000.00.

b. One certified-qualified life guard be employed for the duration of the swimming season. Duties to be only in the lifeguard area. Students of the local high school should be given first cost $500.00.

c. Volunteer help used for gate, clean up, candy sales, etc. No charge for swimming for volunteer help-limit of two helpers on duty at any one time; limit of four helpers.

d. All the rest of swimmers must pay the regular price.

Some consideration should be given to families with three or more children interested in swimming.

e. Swimmers from outside the Carrizozo town limits should be informed that the Carrizozo tax is used to help pay the bonded indebtedness along with the help from the city and others.

2. Other Summer Recreation:
a. A summer recreation director be employed to correlate numerous activities for the children and adults of the community. The program to run from June 15 August 15. The sum to be paid, approx. $1,000.00. A person from one of the school districts in the County should have first consideration.
b. The school should be asked to assign the gymnasium to the director for benefit of adults and children. The director will be responsible for the gym during this period. The weight equipment should be moved to a small room in the recreation center for use by adults and children. The school has forms for use of building and equipment which would facilitate this.

c. Volunteer help under the direction of the director could be used to make many activities available, such as: Basketball, Movies, Volley ball, Tennis, Bowling, Badminton, Arts, Ping Pong, Crafts, Dominoes, Softball, Cards, Baseball, Chess, Music, Skating, Weaving.
d. Most of the equipment is available through the schools or in the basements of many of the civic minded people of the community. Some purchase of equipment may be necessary.

3. The communities of Ancho, Nogal and Capitan should be contacted as to the use of their tax money. If this is used for swimming, the difference in price at the pool should be considered in that the children of Carrizozo do not have this privilege.

Respectfully submitted,
/s/ Jim Steineprels, Chairman
Summer Recreation
Chamber of Commerce
Carrizozo, New Mexico.

Dallas survey team looks at hospital

Lincoln County hospital in Carrizozo is the only one in the county qualified under Medicare and a survey team from Dallas was in town last Thursday to make an inspection of the hospital and at the same time view the new Intermediate Care Facility expected to be completed around May 1.

The survey team included Dick Amrician, Public Health Service; Mary Lois Lane, RN; Don Hern, Bureau of Health Insurance; Tillie Rodgers, Medical Record Librarian; Mrs. Betty Downs, New Mexico State Licensing Officer. Mrs. A. N. Spencer, chairman of the hospital board; Johnson S. Stearns, board member; Jeter Bryan, representing Sen. Harold Runnels; Alton Whitaker, hospital administrator; Paul Payton, News editor; were with the survey team during the day.

Rules and regulations governing construction and maintenance change about as often as regulation books are opened. The News editor concluded after listening to the survey team ask questions and getting good answers from local officials, that Carrizozo Hospital is exceptionally well kept up and meets all specifications required for a hospital facility of the size Carrizozo has.

Ceiling material in the corridors of the hospital is being changed as part of the I.C.F. construction. This job being done because the hospital had been advised that the present ceiling material will give off gas in case of fire. The material is fire-proof but gives off gas and is being changed. The survey team noted the type of material on the corridor ceilings, and was then satisfied with the change to be made.

The nursery has common type glass in door and large glass for viewing. Amrician pointed out that glass should be inlaid with wire so it would not rupture under pressure and that nine square feet was maximum size. Probably door glass will be changed to wire type and the viewing glass area will be walled in. Amrician also suggested roller-type latches for nursery doors.

It was a bit funny when Alton Whitaker went out to start the auxiliary power unit after telling the survey team that the hospital had its own power system in case of outage from utility source. The auxiliary motor would not start -- it was out of gasoline. Unit is under maintenance contract to Central Welding & Supply.

The survey team was concerned about power load on the electrical system, soiled linens in storage room, ventilation in surgical area, spacing of fire extinguishers, food preparation area, handling of the medical records, all of which were found to be satisfactory.

Doors in the hospital are now being changed to a more fire-resistant type which will be the final job to qualify Carrizozo Hospital as a one-hour protection construction, which means that fire in any one area would be contained there for at least one hour, giving people plenty of time to evacuate other areas.

NINE TEAMS COMING FOR ANNUAL GRIZZLY RELAYS

Nine track teams will be in Carrizozo Saturday to compete for trophies in the annual Grizzly Relays to be held at Laab's Field under the direction of Coach Eli Casey.

At 10:00 a.m. the 2 mile run is scheduled followed by high hurdles, 100 yard dash, low hurdles, 220 dash and 440 dash.

Coach and school officials will have lunch at noon, courtesy of Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce at the 4-Winds Restaurant. Finals start at 1:00 p.m. in high jump, discus, 440 relay, high hurdles, 100 yard dash, mile, 880 relay, low hurdles, 880 run, medley relay, 220 dash and last event to be the mile relay.

Medals will be given for first and second places, ribbons for third, fourth and fifth places. Individual trophies are given in the 880 run, mile run and two-mile run. Team trophies go to first three places, plus four relay events.

Hospital and new I.C.F. look good

The new I.C.F. part of Carrizozo hospital will have a beautiful fireplace in the recreation room. Here, you see Jackie Spencer, chairman of the hospital board, talking with Jeter Bryan, representative for Harold Runnels, standing in front of the black rock fireplace.

Dick Amrician, Public Health Service representative from Dallas, and Alton Whitaker, Carrizozo hospital administrator, are standing in hall leading from hospital to the new Intermediate Care Facility. Amrician was with the Dallas survey team at the hospital last Thursday.

Going over the medical records at Carrizozo hospital are Jerry Light, left, and Tillie Rodgers, medical records librarian with the Dallas survey team.

New fire extinguishers in Carrizozo hospital were checked by the Dallas team. Hospital board member Johnson Stearns is on left, Whitaker and Amrician looking at extinguisher. Don Hern is on the right.

Democratic Gov. Bruce King's State Racing Commission appointments sparked strong opposition Senate confirmation on party line votes.

Rep. Ralph Petty, D-Lincoln-Sierra, said: "People are upset because four of the five members are from the Albuquerque area." Gov. King named Herman Tabet of Belen; Les Davis of Cimmaron; Francisco Urrea of Albuquerque and State Democratic Chairman Drew Cloud of Albuquerque to the commission. He retained Albuquerque Democrat George Maloof on the commission.

Many horse breeders and race horse owners in New Mexico objected to King's action. Republicans questioned whether Tabet and Urrea, brother-in-law of Lt. Gov. Robert Mondragon, are race horse breeders within statutory requirements. Davis has bred racehorses many years. State law says at least three Racing Commission members must be practical breeders of race horses in New Mexico. Gov. King said Urrea and Tabet met qualifications. King named four new commissioners although the term of only one member, John Augustine of Las Cruces, expired. Chairman Robert Lee of Belen and ex-State Sen. William Gallagher, Eagle Nest, were among those replaced.

Major legislation by Senate Finance Chairman I.M. Smalley, D-Luna-Hidalgo-Sierra, wiping out coroners and creating medical investigators was signed into law by Gov. King, effective July 1, 1972.

March winds that tore up Bucklin, Kansas must have lost their force before they got this far south. A service station operator said he stayed while large plate glass windows on west and north blew out but when the roof started to go--he left. When the front window of an insurance building blew out the wind also blew out windows at the back of the building, miles of fence and many power lines were down.

Gov. Bruce King has two choices--1) being a good governor for State of New Mexico 2) being a good Democrat for the party. It's a tough choice for every successful politician and Bruce won't get much help with Number One from the party faithful.

Interesting way of figuring total population of a city was used by Santa Fe last year. It was assumed that there were four persons in the average household, which is the same value which was used ten years earlier in a similar population estimate. Yet average household size clearly decreased during the 1960's, as evidenced by the fact that the state's birth rate declined by about one-third. If the census estimate for Santa Fe of 39,107 persons is divided by the average number of utility connections, which is 11,572, then the city of Santa Fe is found to have an inferred average household size of 3.4 persons. Since Santa Fe's declining birth rate makes it reasonable to postulate such a decline, one may conclude that the number of utility connections implies a total population which is very close to the figure released by the Census Bureau.

Carrizozo has 440 water hookups, less 71 commercial would be total of 369. Multiply that figure time 3.4 and you come up with total population count of 1244. The census figure released for Carrizozo was 1168 and our birth rate likely has dropped as Southern Pacific continues to take off trains--so, around 1200 ought to be right.

From Louise Runnels and Rafaela Pryor cussing and discussing Lincoln County history. Don't remember how Phil Rasch came to send us the first chronology of violent deaths in our area, but after getting the first list we told him we might as well print the entire run. Far as we know he has gone the route and you'll have to do your violent death reading on the front pages of the daily press instead of in our history column. Sorry about that.

Frank Tittsworth honored for life of service to the Hondo community

Frank Tittsworth, of Hondo, who has served on the Hondo Valley Public School Board for 38 years, retired this spring. Mr. Tittsworth served as president of the board all but two years of his long tenure. Frank began his services at the Tinnie School, which, at that time, was one of the six schools that have been consolidated into the Hondo System. Much school growth has taken place in the past 38 years. In 1951 the office of the county school superintendent was abolished, and the new school district was formed of the schools from Bluewater, Arabela, Tinnie, Picacho, San Patricio and Hondo. Frank deserves much credit for his assistance and support of the school administration during the trying days of consolidation and the building of the modern plant that exists today.

Mr. Tittsworth has been a conscientious, unselfish and sincere board president. He is the owner-operator of the Hondo Valley Garage, and upon many occasions he has left his own business to assist with school problems. His business knowledge and broad experience has been most valuable to the school in building and maintaining the plant. Mr. Tittsworth has insisted that the Hondo Schools offer quality education, and has worked untiringly with the administration to find the best teachers possible. At the present time one-third of the faculty hold Master's Degrees. As an item of interest, it is estimated Frank has signed at least 38,000 school warrants during his tenure as president of the board.

Mr. Tittsworth has taken an active part in the various organizations sponsored by the school, and served as an officer whenever needed. He has been a member of the Parent-Teacher Association, Athletic Club, Band Boosters, and was made an Honorary Farmer by the Hondo Chapter of Future Farmers of America. He was always ready to assist with sponsoring any group of students on school trips or other activities. He made many trips with the Hondo Fiesta Dancers, both in the United States and Mexico.

Not only has Mr. Tittsworth been active on the Hondo School Board, but he has given much service to the community in other ways. He organized the Voluntary Fire Department and is the present fire chief. He has been a deputy sheriff for 25 years. Through his efforts there is ambulance service in the valley, with the ambulance furnished by LaGrone Funeral Home of Roswell. During World War II, Mr. Tittsworth used his own car to carry ambulance cases to the hospital in Roswell. He helped organize the Optimist Club in Hondo Valley, is a Farm Bureau member, and an active member of the Tinnie Baptist Church. He assists with the Lincoln County Historical Society and the County Planning Development Committee. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge, York Rite, Shrine, Eastern Star Chapter No. 10 of Roswell, and a member of the Shrine Club and Associate Patron of the Ponderosa Court Order of the Amaranth, of Ruidoso.

Mr. Tittsworth is married to Mora Ferguson, of Capitan, and has two children—Margie Slaten of Dallas, who is vice president of Beauty Control, Inc., and Fred of Houston, who is associated with Brown and Root, one of the largest construction firms in the world.

In appreciation of his services on the school board, Mr. Tittsworth received special recognition and honor last year by the State Schools Board Association, and the people in the Hondo Valley are appreciative of his many years of assistance.

Climate is high and dry at Prineville, just about right. Course he had a wonderful time visiting all those relatives and see a lot of new country.

Rural Environment Program approved for year of 1971

Fred W. Pflingsten, chairman of the Lincoln County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today that Lincoln County has received approval of the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) for 1971.

"Agricultural producers have known REAP as ACP -- the Agricultural Conservation Program", Mr. Pflingsten said.

"The cost-sharing principle will be the same--that is, producers and federal government will share equally in paying for beneficial conservation practices. The re-structured program will be in line with modern day needs for a better environment, both on and off the farm."

"Environmental problems are caused by all of us, both town and country people, and solutions must come from all of us working together," Mr. Pflingsten said. "For instance, pollution of the Bonito and Hondo rivers, Nogal, Alto, and Bonito Lakes comes from many sources, including the industrial wastes, city sewage, and farmland drainage. Pollution is caused by the same people who want clean water and unspoiled countryside." REAP offers a way through which the producers of agricultural products can aid in environmental cleanup of our country.

"Farmers and ranchers pay part of the cost and the Federal government pays part of the cost for the conservation practices approved by the County ASC Committee and carried out by the farmer or the rancher," Mr. Pflingsten said.

The county ASC committee has set high priority for certain type practices that will contribute most to the improvement of conditions that benefit the general public and farmers.

The main goal and objectives of REAP is to improve the quality of life for all people by preventing or abating environmental pollution, providing the maximum public benefit, conserving the land and related natural resources so as to assure their continuing ability to produce the food and fiber necessary for the maintenance of a strong, healthy people and economy. Also to provide for wildlife, open space, landscape beauty, and outdoor recreational opportunities. "The County ASC Office is now taking applications to request cost-sharing under the program," Mr. Pflingsten said.

Do You care enough to know?

By Spanish II Class of Carrizozo High School

What does the word "Carrizozo" mean? Being a resident of the state of New Mexico do you know what the name of the town you live in means? Do you care enough to find out?

Well, the Spanish II Class of Carrizozo High School cared enough to take it upon themselves to find out.

They made studies of towns, mountains, rivers and lakes of our state that reflect the influence of presence of the Spanish culture in their names.

Let's start off by examining the name of our hometown -- "Carrizozo". During the early days of the railroad, workers sighted this region covered with "carrizo" -- a common weed-grass -- they decided to name this spot "Carrizozo" meaning "grassy".

Other towns in New Mexico that bear Spanish names have similar histories. Here are a few:

Name of Place	What it means
Socorro	Help
Ruidoso	Noisy
Oscuro	Dark
Ancho	Wide
Hondo	Deep
Nogal	Nut-tree
Quemado	Burnt
Amargo	Bitter
Tierra Amarilla	Yellow Land
Ojo Caliente	Hot Eye
Tres Lagunas	Three Lagoons
Alto	High
Gallina	Hen
Santa Fe	Holy Faith
Sanito	Pretty
Rio Salado	Salty River
Chiquita	Little One
Rio Grande	Big River

Because you cared enough to read now you know!

HASTA LUEGO!

Oracion
Dios, gracias por darnos esta paciencia para traer y crear nuestros hijos en este mundo.

Amen
Mrs. Kathy Archuleta
Cuento Del Larador,
Su Hijo Y El Burro

Padre, queremos que nos digas un cuento.

Pues aqui hay uno que ensena que es imposible tratar de complacer todo el mundo.

Un dia que un buen labrador espanol se preparaba para ir al pueblo a comprar un burro, la mujer le dijo a su esposo:

Deseo que llesves a nuestro hijo, proque de otra manera el no va a aprender las cosas del mundo. Dentro de poco tu no podras trabajar.

Asi fue que el padre y su hijo fueron al mercado donde compraron un burro que parecia ser bueno. Por la tarde los dos volvian del pueblo a pie, mientras que el burro, como iba sin carga, corria delante. Viendolos un labrador que trabajaba al lado del camino, comenzo a reirse de ellos porque iban a pie y el burro, sin carga. El padre preguntó al hijo que le parecia eso.

El labrador tiene razon -- contesto el hijo.

Pues, quiero que tu, que eras sighted this region covered with "carrizo" -- a common weed-grass -- they decided to name this spot "Carrizozo" meaning "grassy".

Entonces el hijo monto en el burro y se pusieron a caminar mas despacio hacia la casa. Poco despues se encontraron con un pastor que guardaba ovejas, e este exclamo:

Que mal hijo! No puedo comprender por qu usted, que es viejo, va a pie mientras que su hijo, que puede caminar mejor, va montado.

Que to parece lo que dice este pastor?

Es verdad, padre. Ahora quiero que tu montes en el burro.

Al poco rato se encontraron con otros hombres que se burlaron del viejo porque iba montado, mientras que el pobre hijo .... Esta vez el viejo le dijo a su hijo.

Como el burro es fuerte, tu puedes montar tambien, y de esa manera ninguno ira a pie.

Pero habian caminado poco, porque el burro andaba aun mas despacio con la carga, cuando otro labrador grito:

Pobre animal! Me sorprende que maten asi a un animal tan pequenol

El viejo paso un rato pensando en todo lo que habia pasado. Por fin pregunto:

Que hacemos, hijo? Tendremos que cargar al burro en nuestros hombros?

Sophomore Class wants to give valued possessions

In order to help make Carrizozo a more "arriba" community we, the sophomore class of Carrizozo High School, want to give our most "valuable possessions" to those people who we feel would benefit greatly from receiving these gifts:

I, Jane Campbell, will my two-foot long hair to Ed Lawson, I, Alex Chavez, will my car to Jay Barnes.

I, Chris Fenter, will braces to Marc Haden Ellison.

I, Koen Hoff, will brains to Bobby Jean Vest.

I, Jesse Lee, will my smile to my dad.

I, Geneva Narvaez, will my ears to Joel Barham.

I, Mark Nicolas, will my chopsticks to Ben Bradley.

I, Edward O'Brien, will by musculos to Walter Wetzel.

I, Gloria Ortiz, will an Estancia blond to Nat, the custodian.

I, Liz Ortiz, will my French dictionary to Joyce Simpson.

I, Lois Ortiz, will my dad's cafe to Lucia Vega.

I, Linda Porter, will my clean shaven face-- to Jesse Garfield Moore III.

I, David Roper, will my love-making abilities to my boss.

I, Patsy Samora, will my sex appeal to Ruby Romo.

I, Miles Smith, will my work to Anne Ham.

I, Carla Stuterville, will my naturally blond hair to Ginger Armstrong.

HEARTS -- Collene Leach

Hearts, like doors

Will open with ease

To very very little keys.

Two of these are:

Thank you sir

and

If you please.

DRUGS -- Aletha McGinnis

Drugs are dangerous and frightening tool

Please don't take them, I'm advising you.

They've been hidden in plates,

and teddy bears.

Don't make a move as if no one cares.

Don't blow your life with LSD

Your life is worth something,

don't you see?

Another drug is marijuana; Those trips are different from Tijuana.

Drugs are cheap across the sea. But who would want them, sure not me.

Drugs are dangerous and frightening tool

I wouldn't take them if I were you.

IMITATIONS -- Steve Wheeler

There are those who do not imitate.

Who cannot imitate.

But then there are those who do imitate

At times to expand further the light of an original glow,

Knowing that to imitate

the living is mockery

And to imitate the dead is robbery.

I THINK -- Edward O'Brien

I think, I think, I think,

As I sit, I think, I think,

I think I see a sea gull flying freely in the breeze.

I think I see a squirrel running round and round the trees.

I think I see the sun arisin' in the west.

I think I see a drop of water trickle off a wet man's chest.

I think I see a big, big car putting pollution in the air.

I think our world is dying too fast and will end up nowhere.

I think I see all death approaching

And I think that I know why.

I think I sit and think too much about how our world will die.

PEACE -- Kathy McBride

There it is again!

That bird!

Why is it flying in the rain?

It is only searching for a single word.

The word is held in a single rainbow.

But she cannot touch it.

For the rainbow is really gone but she can still see it.

The word is there and holds the key

To unlock a burdened door.

The word is only to have at a moment's glance And then disappears with the rain.

WHY -- Nancy Dross

We know why

The sun rises in the east

Because of the way the earth rotates.

We know why

Jesus died on the cross

Because he wanted to save all men.

We know why

Paul Revere is called the "midnight rider"

Because he rode through towns warning people that the British were coming.

But there's something,

I don't know

And I can't seem to find it in a book.

WHERE DOES LOVE GO?

If I know

I would run through forests and jungles

Just to find it.

Could it be at a castle,

Or at the bottom of the sea

Underneath the beautiful colors?

Oh please tell me

Where does love go?

I KNEW WE WOULD NOT WLD

Lisa Campbell

We met in the winter,

during frosty weather.

I knew we would not wed.

We loved through the winter,

and into flowery spring.

I knew we would not wed.

Now I feel the life of our child within me.

I am filled with life,

and joy and happiness.

I AM NOT A ROCK -- June Hein

You are like this flowing water

But unfortunately I am not a rock.

You flood through my heart

Storming the waves over

And drowning what hopes

You come as the tide,

Your moon is your heart

And together you crash

my dreams.

White bubbling foam comes out from you,

Fiercely you try to overcome me,

To rid me from your sight.

If I were of stone,

I could build a wall to hold you

My surface could suffer none,

But unfortunately

I am not a rock.

WINDING PASSAGEWAYS

Kimie Anne Ham

I went through many winding passageways.

I opened lots of doors

I traveled alone,

In search of I know not what

The days became endless,

The night cold and empty.

The harsh winds kept calling my name,

Leading me on and on,

I thought soon I'd die of despair.

But then . . .

I found your Love.

"Quiet Cry" to be performed here

On Saturday evening at the school cafeteria the New Mexico State Theatrical Group will put on a play, the "Quiet Cry", commencing at 7:00 p.m. This performance is sponsored by the Carrizozo Advisory Board to the Southwest Mental Health Institute.

The play deals with the theme of suicide and is aimed at dramatizing a situation which calls for suicide-prevention measures.

The second of a series of mental health discussions, it follows the panel discussion, held last month locally, concerning drugs and drug abuse. Similarly, this Saturday's program will feature a discussion period following the play.

Questions from the floor will be directed to panelists including

Mr. Byron King, a specialist in prevention of suicide, and a member of the Southwest Mental Health Institute. Also on the panel are

Mr. Bob Bell, whom many may remember for his work on the drug abuse panel - Dr. A. N. Spencer, Father Kevin Moynahan, and two or three students from Carrizozo High School.

"Quiet Cry" is an effective presentation high-lighting the tensions and effects of suicide, and the follow-up discussion is directed toward measures that are necessary to cope with such a situation. The entire program will be interesting, informative and educational.

All are invited to take part. Admission is free. The costs incidental to this presentation have been underwritten by one of our local people simply to make it available to our people an appealing mode of instruction in a mental problem not unknown amongst our citizens, young and old.

"Charlie, you couldn't even comb your hair without the livestock industry!"

City folks often think of the live stock business only in terms of the meat they eat each day. But there's plenty more--and you shouldn't pass up any opportunity to tell the entire story of modern live stock production and its total impact on comfortable living to the folks you know who live in the neighboring towns and cities.

For example, it is possible for lambs raised on a western ranch and fattened in a midwestern feedlot to furnish wool for a New York man's suit, strings for the violins of an orchestra in Philadelphia, "sheepskins" for a graduating class in Chicago, sweat bands for the hats of citizens of Alaska, surgical ligatures for an operation in Houston and leg of lamb for Congressmen in Washington, D.C. But let's be more specific. Think of a typical American family and their activities--and see how often they use a product of the live stock industry.

Charlie wakes up in the morning beneath a wool blanket made from sheep wool and on a mattress stuffed with curled hog hair. He emerges from beneath the covers and slips into a cashmere wool robe. I wonder if he realizes that the window he looks through to check the temperature on the outside thermometer is fastened in place with glue made from live stock hides. Later, I wonder if he realizes that the bristles in his hair brush are hog hair and the handle contains dried blood and the bones of cattle.

The soap Charlie lathers himself with is produced from cow fat and the shaving cream and hair-oil contain cattle fat, too.

The live stock industry seems to have provided him with that day's outfit, too--cow hide leather belt, wool slacks, wool tie, sheep skin coat and calf skin shoes that have been polished with an industrial oil made from hog fat.

But Charlie isn't the only one who is being followed around in the morning by the live stock industry. His wife is cooking bacon with animal fat, his son is carrying around a leather baseball glove stuffed with hog hair--and his daughter has a violin in a leather case that has strings made from the intestines of animals.

There are many live stock by-products that go into his lunchbox too, other than the roast beef sandwich. The marshmallow foam on the cookies contains gelatin made from heating cleaned calf skins, fresh bacon rind, green skin bones and ham trimmings. Gelatin goes into the making of many foods such as ice cream, jello and hams that are stored in gelatin.

Even the gardener needs live stock products. His car was polished with the help of live stock products made from bones and fat and the charmois comes from tanned hide. The fertilizer he uses is made from steamed bone meal and a mixture of pulverized cattle and sheep manure. He washes his hands with soap made from animal fats and paints with brushes filled with the soft hair of cattle's ears. Even the cigarette he smokes contains some glycerine, a by-product of the soap manufacturing which comes from tallow.

There are over 1,500 uses for refined glycerine--explosives, transparent wrapping materials, cosmetics, auto polishes, parchment paper, sausage casings and printer's rollers are just a few.

Even the soft drink Charlie buys has a cap with a cork disc that is held in place by glue made from live stock blood albumin.

Charlie is only one of many people who are being treated by pharmaceutical products that are developed from live stock by-products. There are many drugs made entirely or in part from the glands and organs of live stock. And in addition to medicine, doctors use animal casings in the form of ligatures and thread.

Even television sets use the live stock industry--the delicate tubes are protected in transit by contour filled molds made of loosely curled hog's hair and of latex rubber (rubberized hair).

So now, don't be afraid to say to your city friends, "There's a lot more to the live stock industry than the meat on your bone china plate."

German pancake breakfast April 30

Clouderoff -- Mit der dancen und der singen und der alien gedranken, der Hirsten Fuehlingfest Fueschoppen ist occurren en Clouderoff en Aprilspringenmonth enMay and ist enden mit gefallen downer from der alien gedranken.

Which, loosely translated from pidgin German means: A Springfest based on traditional German celebrations and featuring a German pancake breakfast and ale party is set for the weekend of April 30-May 2 in Clouderoff, N.M.

Jerry Baker, Department of Development community representative, said New Mexico Gov. Bruce King has invited the West German ambassador and military attache to attend the Clouderoff Springfest.

The first of what will become an annual affair, the Springfest is a prelude to the "Cowboy Oktoberfest" being planned for this fall in southcentral New Mexico, Baker said.

The German Air Force contingent stationed at the Air Defense School at Ft. Bliss, Tex., will be bussed to Clouderoff Friday April 30, and welcomed with a barbecue and Western Dance, Baker said.

Saturday will be reserved for trail rides and a German band and choir concert during the afternoon. Saturday night's dinner will feature a unique concoction Baker dubbed "sauerbraten con chili" a Teutonic meal with a Southwestern flavor, followed by polkas to more German music.

Sunday celebrations will open with a pancake breakfast and continue with a "Fruehschoppen" a traditional German Sunday event.

Clouderoff Chamber of Commerce President Layne Preslar said Clouderoff--and all of the "Oktoberfest Country"--is home to a substantial population of Germanic people. Many of them are descendants of German immigrants to the U.S. who followed the railroads west as homesteaders, tradesmen and builders.

"O I course," Preslar said, "everyone's invited whether of German ancestry or not. The more the merrier."

SENATOR JOHN CONWAY REPORTS --

More important legislation discussed

In this column, my last regular weekly column, I want to discuss some of the more important legislation that has passed, and briefly touch on some of the legislation that failed to pass. In all, 204 House bills were sent to the Governor, and 168 Senate bills. A large number of these bills are simply clean-up language from past legislative sessions and do not make any material change in the law.

Two bills of interest to our area are Representative Mershon's bill for $60,000 for the space shuttle program, and the bill I introduced for the new judicial district of Lincoln and Otero Counties. Both of these bills have been signed by the Governor, and the judicial district goes into effect on July 1, 1971. Prior to that date the Governor will appoint a new district attorney for the Twelfth Judicial District, Lincoln and Otero Counties, and Judge Stanley will continue as the judge of this district. This new judicial district is one of the issues I campaigned on, and I am very pleased that it became law during my first session in the Senate.

The controversial implied consent law which covers drivers accused of being under the influence of alcohol was signed into law by the Governor. Under this law any person who drives on the highways of New Mexico has consented to a breath test if he is arrested for being under the influence of alcohol. If he refuses the test, the State will suspend his license for one year. We received statistics that in Oklahoma the vehicular death rate had dropped 14% after their implied consent law went into effect. I hope we will do as well and I am certain this is a step in the right direction.

Another law provides for staggered registration of motor vehicle licenses, which should be away with some of the problems the Motor Vehicle Department has on getting everyone their license between January and March. Prior to this session, there were approximately 130 classes of motor vehicles, depending on weight and age, and this was reduced to three classes. The Motor Vehicle Department has been a source of complaint to many citizens of New Mexico, and these two laws should go a long way toward reducing these complaints.

Over the last several months, several convicted narcotics users have been released due to a foul-up in the marijuana law. This law was corrected and will be effective as soon as the Governor signs the bill. Marijuana is being treated by the Federal Government in a different manner than hard drugs, and our new law goes along with this theory. I do not necessarily agree with all the aspects of the bill, but I do know that it is better than what we presently have on the books.

We also established a Drug Abuse Study Committee, which I think over the next few years will prove to be quite beneficial. I can assure you that the members of the Legislature are cognizant of the drug problem, and I think that the legislation in the next few years in this area will be the result of a great deal of hard work.

Education received about as much money as was available, and remains as probably the top priority of the Legislature. We were able to fund in a limited way bi-lingual education which I certainly support.

Hopefully the question of Sunday liquor sales has now come before the Legislature for the last time. The law, as passed, puts this question on the ballot at the next State-wide election, which I expect will be in the Fall on the constitutional amendments. Lastly, the Legislature reapportioned itself and I have not spoken much about this as there is continual talk about a Court case on the action of the Legislature. Reapportionment is required by recent decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court, and with our population shifts, it is necessary. Reapportionment will again concentrate more power in the Albuquerque area, and I am afraid that more and more we are going to find legislation for Albuquerque and then legislation for the rest of the State.

On the minus side, the Legislature did very little in the area of environmental controls. No subdivision acts of any consequence were passed, even though one act which delegated most of the power to the Counties passed the Senate, it failed in the House. The so-called Cougar bill and one to protect hawks, vultures and owls passed, but otherwise not a great deal in this area was acceptable to the majority of the Legislature.

The session went by very quickly for me, I think 60 days is sufficient time, but I would prefer a ten-day session for the introduction of legislation, approximately 60 days to come home to have the bills printed and to discuss them with the people, and then go back for the remaining 50 days to hold committee hearings and debate on the floor. We seem to not have quite enough to do at the start, and be completely overloaded at the finish, and I believe a better balance is necessary.

Many people have told me they have enjoyed my weekly column and I have tried to keep my constituents informed. I want to especially thank this newspaper for donating the time and space to print this column. I also want to thank the many people who have contacted me regarding legislation. I tried to answer every phone call and letter that I received, and I will continue to do so. My first session in the Legislature has been a very exciting and rewarding experience for me, for my wife Dorothy Anne and for the children. I thank you for giving me the opportunity to represent you, and I hope that my work has met with your approval.

Investigations of violent deaths are placed on the state level under state medical investigator. District medical investigators will be named. Medical investigators must be licensed physicians. A State Board of Medical Investigations is created. The State Health-Social Services Department will administer the new plan.

County commissions pick coroners now. Magistrates may be chosen as coroners in counties of less than 30,000 population.

Sen. Smalley barred the press from Senate Finance Committee hearings on the $262.1 million General Appropriations Act in late stages of the legislative session although the vital bill was public record and had been passed by the House 40-20. Sen. Smalley is on the Legislative Finance Committee that will consider major matters at interim meetings before the 1972 Interim meetings before the 1972 Legislature.

Rep. William Upton, D-Luna-Hidalgo, favors the House reapportionment plan, adopted by the legislature. It retains the present Luna-Hidalgo district of 16,440 population, 13.26 per cent above ideal population for a House district. Rep. Upton favored added appropriations inserted in the General Appropriations Act by Sen. Smalley's Senate Finance Committee.

Former State Rep. Carter Kirk, Deming Republican, said environmentalists were inflexible on land subdivision regulation bills in the legislative session. Kirk is owner of Deming Ranchettes. He spent much time at the lawmaking session on subdivision regulation proposals. A compromise bill was defeated and the legislature passed no subdivision regulation proposals.

A bill by Sen. John Morrow, D-Union-Cofax-Harding, creating a single board to set policy for the State Corrections Department awaited Gov. King's action at the week end. The bill cleared the Senate 20-12 and the House 39-14. The house rewrote the legislation and the Senate concurred.

Sen. Morrow's original bill replaced the Corrections Department and revised boards for each institution the agency manages. The approved bill preserves the state department and creates a single governor-appointed board.

The legislature also cleared a bill by Rep. George Blocker, D-Jal, that hands the State Corporation Commission strong authority to revoke truck service authority. Rep. Blocker, whose district includes Jal and Eunice says motor carrier service is inadequate in Southeastern New Mexico.

The brief but important bill says: "Regular route scheduled service carriers shall maintain with the commission a current time schedule of their holding out of service to the public. Failure by the carrier to operate on each day the service as scheduled shall result in the revocation of the certificate of public convenience and necessity." SCC action would be mandatory. Rep. Blocker's bill awaited Gov. King's action at the weekend.

King signed two bills by Reps. Blocker and Clifton Moreland, D-Tucumcari: Registration of private aircraft was moved from the Motor Vehicle Department to the State Aviation Department. The motor vehicle commissioner was authorized to see fees for copies of MVD records.

Rep. John Bigbee, R-Guadalupe-DeBaca-Torrance, charged liberal Democrats on the House
