Work day at Nogal Mesa Saturday

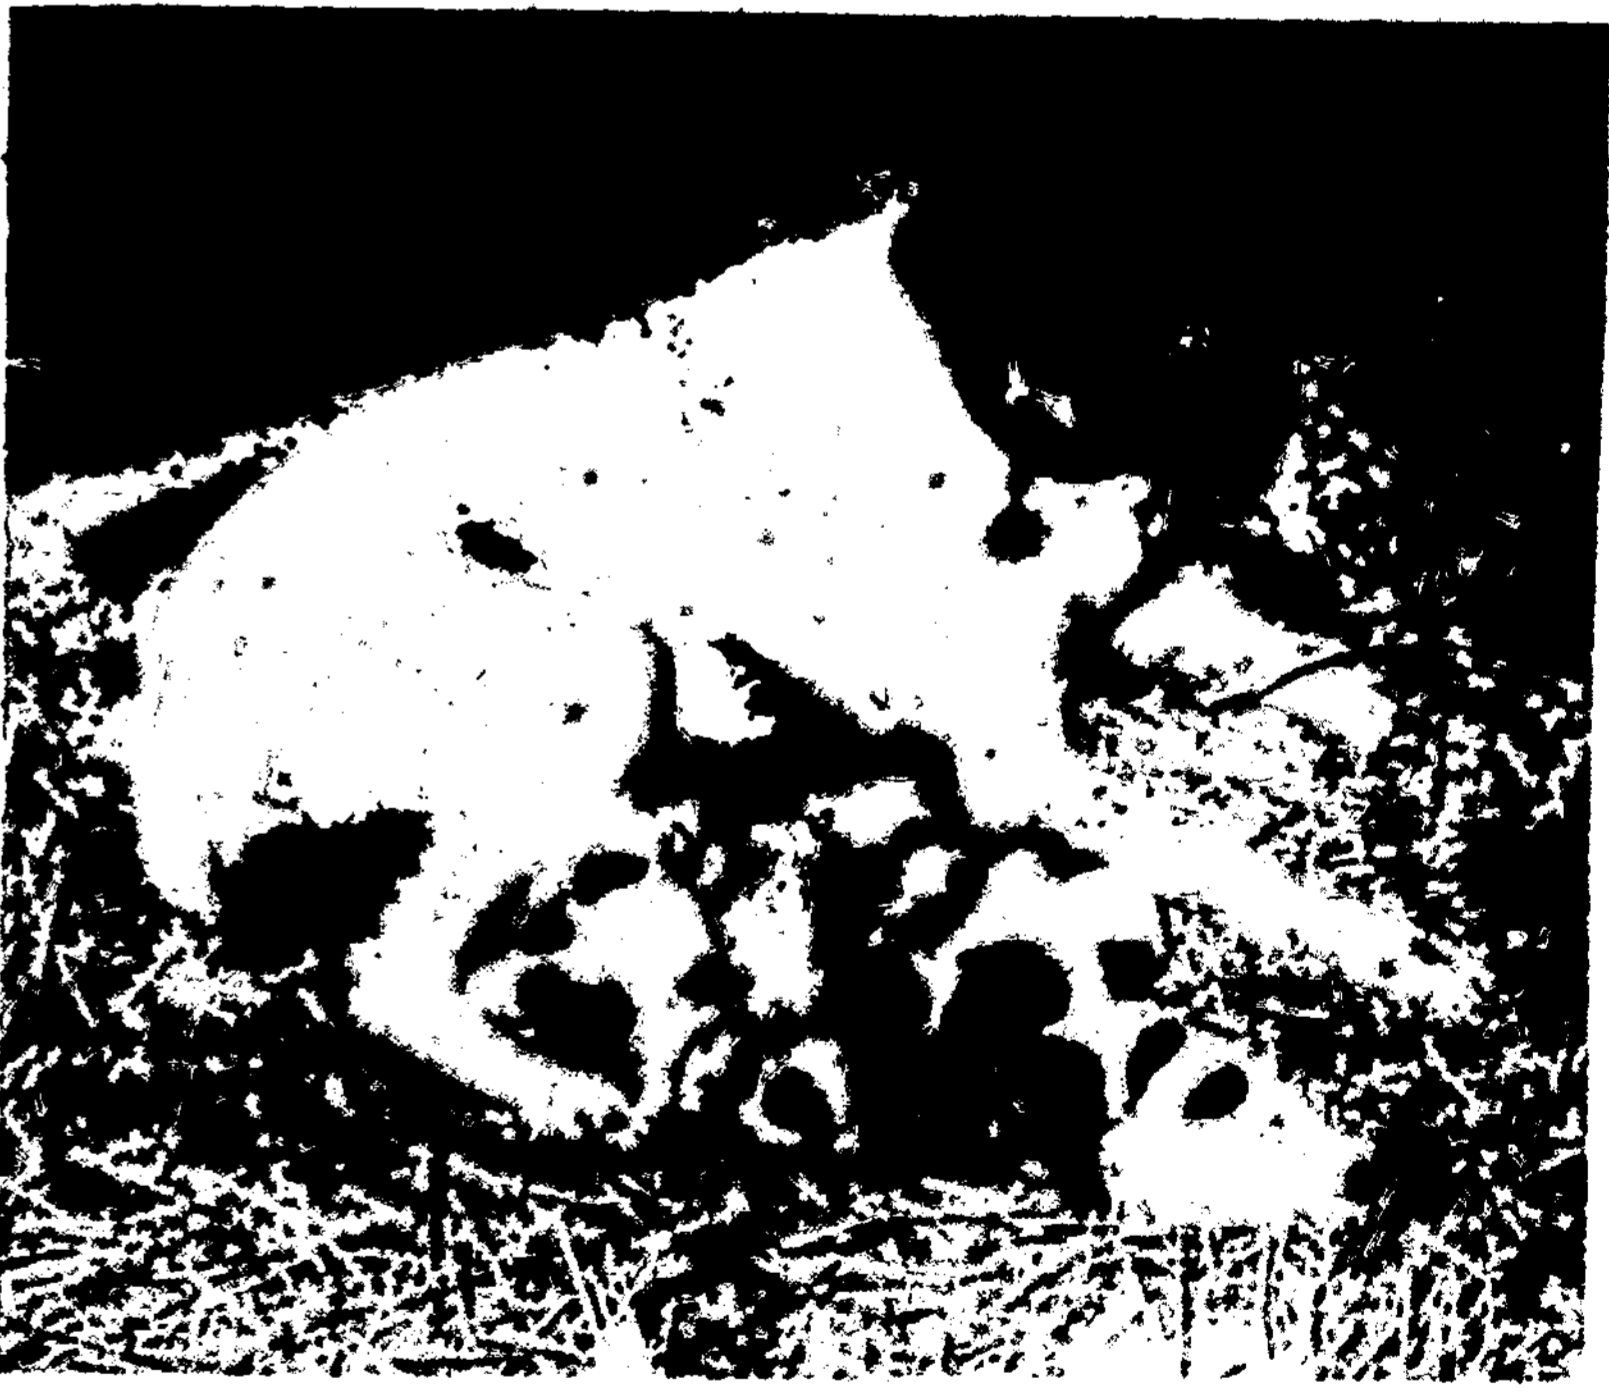

It takes some work to start a four-day session of camp meeting and much of the work will be done this Saturday. The people who usually gather to cleanup the grounds, dust off the tables, make needed repairs come from all around the area and are asked to be at the grounds on the Nogal Mesa in the forenoon, July 10, with lunch and tools. The first service will be held July 14 following supper at 6:30 p.m. The service run through July 18.

Preachers for the Nogal Camp Meetings are Walter Willis from Galveston, Texas; Bobby Cook from Metairie, Louisiana. Paul Biggs, music leader for many years will be back again to arrange special music and lead the singing.

Carrizozo may well become known as the "bear" town, three of these big signs dot the entrances.

Judy really did it this time. Pups are hard to count but there are eleven in the litter, born week ago. Father's name is Liver, both dogs help Clarence Milligan with his bird hunting and the pups will too when they come of age.

Morris Parker's White Oaks book adds much to history

Morris B. Parker was not quite eleven years old when he moved with his family to White Oaks in 1882. He grew to manhood there, worked variously in the mine, the mill, and as an assayer.

His book, "Morris B. Parker's White Oaks," came into publication by the University of Arizona Press largely through the efforts of C.L. Sonnichsen, himself a noted southwest historian and author. Dr. Sonnichsen attended the dedication of White Oaks Cemetery May 30 of 1969 and had previously visited Carrizozo.

Dr. Sonnichsen learned of the existence of the memoirs kept by Morris Parker in 1948 but it was 20 years later when Harwood Hinton, editor of Arizona and the West, remarked to Dr. Sonnichsen the one of the gaps in historical writing was the story of White Oaks. Dr. Sonnichsen remembered the manuscript and the book publishing developed from that point.

One of the questions still discussed frequently around Lincoln County -- "Is there any gold left at White Oaks" -- is answered by Morris Parker, who says (Page 139), "I think there is."

The fact is that little or no intelligent prospecting, following geologic clues, has ever been done. During the exploitation of the known deposits, nobody cared, and now that the working are inaccessible, the diagnosis would be far more difficult. The relative deposition and association of gold in the felsite and diorite formations surely have some distinctive meanings, and worth study, are the words of Morris Parker.

The book is a genuine gold mine of historical documentation by a man who "was there". The Parker family expected to make a million by getting in on the ground floor, Morris' father, E. W. Parker, knew little of mining and after spending two and one-half years financing and building a mill, it would not work.

Dr. C. L. Sonnichsen

Besides a lot of interesting family history and history of the area, Parker's book tells of the development of the town of White Oaks -- and its downfall. Much of the White Oaks mine story is new to this writer and we believe you readers will learn more than you now know of the history of this Lincoln County town.

The best days White Oaks knew as a mining town came with discovery of the Old Abe, first located in November 1879, after being passed over for years by miners and non-miners going to and from the North Homestake.

The Old Abe started production on July 1, 1891 and boomed the population up to around 2500 people. The Old Abe was the deepest of them all with a shaft down to 1,350 feet which produced most of the $4-1/2 million Parker estimates was produced from White Oaks mines.

Parker makes this comment on the fadeout of White Oaks -- Had the citizens of White Oaks been less unreasonable, had they foreseen the results of their stubbornness, Carrizozo would not exist and White Oaks would be a center of trade and industry, producing coal, timber, cement, lime and building stone, a mountain resort town with summer cottages easy of access.

Dr. Sonnichsen, who edited the memoirs, is real kind to Lincoln County people who contributed, even in small ways, to helping put the historical work together.

We recommend Morris B. Parker's "White Oaks" as interesting reading of the highest order for all people, and doubly so for Lincoln County residents -- so for Lincoln County residents -- Paul Payton.

ZIP CODE PUTS ZIP IN THE MAIL

Now that nearly all American families are putting the ZIP Code on their mail, the Postal Service is adopting simpler and faster systems for moving letters from your post office to the 32,000 other post offices.

The ZIP Code is the key to using big letter sorting destinations—reducing the need to handle and rehandle letters before they reach their destinations.

Could be news -- The United States is the only country with a known birthdate, but it's not July 4. The actual date of the act of independence was July 2 -- the day that the Continental Congress adopted a 1,337-word resolution declaring the 13 Colonies free of British rule. The Declaration of Independence, adopted on July 4, was merely a fuller explanation of why the American colonists had taken the momentous step two days earlier.

There are signs all around telling us we need to be aware of what is going on -- in our town, our state and nation. The Town of Carrizozo that came into being from blundering and greediness at White Oaks, is entirely capable of losing out now as a town -- for much the same reasons. Our state has real troubles and the northern nest of politics and welfare does not help at all. Many people of our nation are just now finding out that too much of our government has taken place under the table. The attitude of "don't care" can ruin, right at home.

Fletcher Hall put together what was probably the best parade ever seen at Capitan, also the biggest and most colorful. This parade had everything but music -- and frankly, we were so busy taking pictures we did not realize that lack until now. The boys from Sierra Blanca Camp made up some with their guitar music.

Be hard for us to pick a winning float and we don't yet know what the judges did. Bikes and riders were real cute, several queens there, interesting old cars, old equipment, lots of horses doing their thing, color bearers and clowns and all the stuff a parade needs.

Marion Pherigo says Nogal Lake is Dry, Austin Wooten says Bonito is down 21 feet at the dam. Still fish in Bonito but you sure need a worm with the right wiggle.

Monday was a holiday in Carrizozo -- this newspaper comes to you partly because Joy, Kathryn, Beatrice, Peter, Paul and David worked out the holiday.

Floyd Herrera over at Payton house for a visit, has lost about 50 pound weight. He gets home from work at mid-day and doesn't eat much. Floyd hasn't become a Texan yet, Lincoln County is still the most friendly and best to him.

We've got an unidentified hatch of birds at our place. Fly like swallows but don't have the V-tail. They watch the grass in front yard, when small flying insects pop up the birds unerringly catch them with a snap of their bill. Seem real friendly.

Xanthus "Kit" Carson, loog unite friends of Lincoln County and the editor, sells as many western tales as he can write. His latest is "10,000 Lost Post Hole Cache" in Fall 1971 issue of Old West. The action takes place in the San Saba River area of Texas. Another story in this issue is centered in Roy, New Mexico.

Letter from T or C Chamber of Commerce about Elephant Butte Reservoir going down to low level. They need more water. The reservoir was first authorized by Congress in 1907. In 1962 Congress provided for recreational facilities at Elephant Butte, but available water has been inadequate even to meet irrigation needs. What these people want is help in Congress -- you fishers and boaters take note.

Bernie Laabs at Minocqua, Wisconsin, has been a mite ill (pneumonia) but Edna is making up for both of them, playing organ for your singing and listening pleasure at Bugse's Supper Club. They serve Chinese dinners and very likely Edna is beating out some oriental music to go with the bird-nest menu.

Swiped from Duffy -- Bus driver -- "You're only six? When will you be seven?" Little boy -- "When I get off the bus."

Taos County Democratic Chairman James Duran was among eight Spanish-American county chairmen who met in Albuquerque and whacked the Democratic administration of Gov. Bruce King. County chairmen will air grievances at a meeting to be slated within two weeks in Santa Fe by State Democratic Chairman Mike Anaya.

Dona Ana County Chairman Ray Chavez blasted the King administration and said he is resigning. It was disclosed Guadalupe County Chairman Leo Montoya of Vaughn quit his party post weeks ago. Montoya complained Guadalupe County Republicans still held state jobs. He said not enough Guadalupe County Democrats had been hired by the King administration. Frank Encinas of Santa Rosa, former county party vice chairman, succeeded Montoya as chairman.

The Public Service Commission will hold a hearing July 29 in Santa Fe on a gas rate increase for Jal proposed by Jal Gas Co. Inc. PSC Chairman Richard Montoya said PSC engineers and accountants have investigated the request in the Jal area.

The proposed Jal gas rates for domestic, commercial and other general metered service: First 1,000 cubic feet of gas per month, $2.00, up 25 cents; next 6,000 cubic feet per month, 84 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, up 2 cents; next 5,000 cubic feet per month, 74 cents up 2 cents, and next 5,000 cubic feet per month, 62 cents, unchanged.

The 1970 Jal Gas Co. Inc. annual report to the PSC lists 933 residential and 33 commercial customers. The PSC said Sam Beard is president and manager.

C. R. McIntosh, Raton Democrat, retired as district judge of the Eighth Judicial District (Colfax, Union and Taos Counties) after some seven years of service. Gov. King appointed Raton lawyer John Wright, 56, a native of Springer, to succeed Judge McIntosh. McIntosh is a former Santa Fean. Wright is former chairman of the board of directors of the State Boys School at Springer. He served in 1959-60. He has been a Raton attorney since 1938. Wright is expected to run in 1972 for a full six-year term as district judge of the northeastern New Mexico district.

New Dist. Atty. Ted Howden of the new 13th Judicial District (Valencia and Sandoval Counties) said his office will be at Los Lunas. Howden announced these assignments for assistant district attorneys: Martin Pearl, moved from Grants to Los Lunas; Joseph E. Gant of Albuquerque, based in Grants; Joseph Duran of Albuquerque, located in Bernalillo, and Frederick J.

McCarthy, unchanged with headquarters in Belen. McCarthy and Pearl were previously assistant district attorneys. Gant is the son of State Sen. Joe Gant, D-Carlsbad.

The regional federal anti-poverty office at Austin approved formation of a new Sierras y Llanos Community Action Agency Aug. 1 for Mora, Colfax and San Miguel Counties.

The agency succeeds the controversial Sangre de Cristo Community Action Agency. The federal anti-poverty office halted funds for the Sangre de Cristo Agency June 30. A skeleton staff of two employees will handle community action agency business in July.

The State Corporation Commission will hold a hearing July 22 at Taos on the wrecker service application of Edgar Mitchell, doing business as E. D. Mitchell Petroleum Products of Taos. The firm seeks authority to provide all classes of wrecker service in Taos, Rio Arriba and Colfax Counties.

The new state Board of Economic Development will hold its next meeting July 16 at Taos High School. Taos is in the district represented by Robert Well of Santa Fe County. The SCC will hold a hearing July 27 in Santa Fe on the application of Trans Fe on the application of Transport Trucking Company of Texico to provide oversize unit escort service in Curry, Quay, DeBaca, Guadalupe and Roosevelt Counties.

News from the County Agent

Milkweed caused the death of about 400 cattle in a feed lot near Roswell. It was fed to the cattle in a green chop. I have not seen range cattle eat Milkweed if they can avoid eating it. The only time they eat Milkweed is when they cannot sort it out such as baled hay or green chop that contains milkweed.

Dr. John Ryan was in my office last week. He said that voluntary testing for Brucellosis will be started on July 12th at the Roswell Livestock Commission. There is no charge for the test if it is done before the sale. There will be a charge for cattle tested after the sale. If enough cattle are tested it may not be necessary for additional test at the ranch every three years.

I had a call last week to look at some ornamental vines that the leaves were turning brown and dying. Upon close examination they were found to have a heavy mite infestation. The mite is very small and hard to see, but can often be recognized by the bronzing of the leaves. Kothane is one of the miticides recommended. It must be applied for 2 or 3 times at 10 day intervals to control the mites. Diazinon or Spectracide will control a light infestation.

How can you eliminate the grass that is growing in and through your hedge and choking it? Black plastic could be the answer. Black plastic as a ground cover keeps it dark underneath and annual weeds or grasses simply cannot grow in the dark. Should they get started, they would soon die for lack of sunlight.

Before laying the plastic, cut the weeds and grass to ground level. Then spread a two-foot strip of black plastic on each side of the hedge, pulling the two strips together beneath it. Anchor the plastic in place by covering it with soil. If you find the appearance of the plastic objectionable, spread a thin layer of pine bark mulch, lawn clippings, gravel or similar materials over it. The plastic will last for two to three years.
