Miller reports New Mexico getting newspaper publicity in Chicago

Lombard, Ill.
Jan. 31, 1971

Dear Mr. Payton -

It was with considerable surprise that I found, on scanning the Sunday Chicago Tribune of Jan. 31, 1971, that New Mexico was being called to the attention of the country's Midwest through the enclosed clippings which I trust you will find of interest. Ordinarily, one or two small ads appear and are usually weekly repeats, but the ones in today's paper certainly indicate the organized campaign going on in New Mexico today.

Your paper has commented on the organization being developed to promote Lincoln County and the Southeastern part of the State, and I am heartily in favor of it. What disturbs me most of all is the apparent growth of big-scale developments, such as those featured in the big newspaper ad, which by-pass the organized towns such as Albuquerque and attempt to start new communities away out in the flat lands, or what-have-you. It always struck me while visiting in New Mexico that Carrizozo, Capitan, Albuquerque, and many other towns had many available homesites right in the community proper that would be attractive to any newcomers to the State, while big developments such as the Rio del Oro one are not truly representative of what New Mexico has to offer to those interested in the State.

The article on the Indians and their plans to attract the tourist trade is certainly unusual and informative, and certainly centers on an area close to Carrizozo and Lincoln County in general. Just how their projected plans will all work out remains to be seen, but it can bring a lot of attention to that part of the State for some time to come, that's for sure.

Anyway, Mr. Payton, I thought the ads, and their multiplicity, would be of interest to you, since they are quite an indication of the direction being taken by the big land investors. Lincoln County can be sure someone is giving it the once-over in a similar vein, no doubt, and I hope the future holds an orderly and well-planned development of the area that will do nothing to detract from the natural beauty and charm of this attractive part of the Southwest.

With best regards to Mrs. Payton and all the other folks in Carrizozo, will close with Regards,
Bob Miller.

May have missed news story of the century!

Lincoln County News
Carrizozo, N.M.

Dear Mr. Payton:

Seems to me you were busy in the Department of Development, gabbing about rattle snakes and missed the story of this century in this town on the silent majority that makes America's foundations.

Please do your scattered older readers a favor and correct this line from the Roswell Daily Record: "Edward Penfield of Carrizozo." Although Mr. Penfield works in Carrizozo that should be broadened to Lincoln County because of the Penfields, three quarters of a century of service in religion, education, economics and politics centered from their home in Old Lincoln.

Why miss such a front page spread on a friend when a few telephone calls and a personal interview can remind us that diligence is the price of liberty as personified by these people.

I gave an excuse that I did not drive for neglecting a duty. Mrs. Ruth Penfield Martin commented: "I learned to drive when New Mexico's highways were dirt roads and fords had stick gear shifts, while holding Ruth, then a baby, in my lap."

Other people who might contribute unique memories if contacted by the telephone or a personal call:

At Hondo - Mr. Bert Pfingsten, Mr. Leo Joiner and his mother, Mrs. Maggie Bell; at Ft. Stanton and Old Lincoln Town should be Episcopal Church Mission records. All of this communities early residents, especially the Salas, Maeses, Sanchez, Zamorras and Padillas, Ramey and Maurilda Perry.

In Capitan are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins, at Glencoe are Mrs. Ola Casey Jones, Dan Starins, the Tully brothers, Jimmy and Gerald and Mrs. Mayme Perry.

At Alto you have Mrs. Linda-mood, Don't overlook former Gov. John Simms of Albuquerque.

Sincerely yours,
Nina Perry Taylor.

SEN. JOHN CONWAY REPORTS FROM SANTA FE

Controversial bills being considered

On Monday the New Mexico Senate passed the judicial redistricting bill for Lincoln and Otero Counties. The bill that I introduced was part of this composite redistricting bill, and it now goes to the House Judiciary Committee. Under this bill, Lincoln and Otero Counties would have one judge and an elected district attorney. Initially the district attorney would then be appointed by the Governor and then run for office in 1972.

A great number of controversial bills are now being considered, several on ecology, Sunday liquor sales, and a bill to abolish our statutes on abortion. There are also several controversial bills now being considered in the House, but the Senate actually hears very little about these bills unless they pass the House and then come to the Senate.

One of the frustrating aspects of being in the legislature is to have to vote against a bill which you actually think is good in theory. This happened to me this week on the bill presented to make the district attorneys of the State full-time elected officials. At the present time a district attorney can have a private law practice along with his duties as district attorney. Basically, I favored the bill, but the form in which it was presented did not strike me as being in the best interest of the State. There was no difference in the amount of salary to be paid the district attorney in Bernalillo County who handles probably 2,000 to 3,000 cases a year, and the district attorney in the Quay County area, who has possibly 150 cases a year. The form of the bill was such that it could not be amended to make it workable, but I hope it is a bill that will be presented in the next session after more thought has been given to it.

It is also frustrating to cast the one dissenting vote on a bill. On Friday I did this, and I am sure it will not be the last time. The State Police presented a bill which makes it a misdemeanor for any person to wear a uniform or a badge that is a close replica of that worn by the State Police, or to drive an automobile which has similar markings to that of the State Police. On the face, this sounds fine, but it is not a bill that is directed toward a person who is impersonating the State Police, but is rather directed toward some of the municipal and County law enforcement departments in the State.

The testimony at the committee hearing was that the State had complaints on some officers who had been mistaken for the State Police. The Chief of the State Police was unable to tell us how many complaints they had had, he was unable to tell us what municipalities wear uniforms similar to the State Police, and they had absolutely no cost figures on the number of cars that would be affected by this new law. This may be worthwhile legislation, but I couldn't vote for it in these times of spiraling costs without a basic understanding of the effect this would have on the taxpayer. The rest of the Senate did not agree, so I cast the lone dissenting vote.

I am pleased to report that I am receiving more telephone calls and mail regarding legislation, so hopefully this column is accomplishing part of its purpose.

Signs held by the second grade youngsters read "Arriba Carrizozo" meaning clean up our town and the back row of signs say much the same. Alma Sherrill's class has been studying pollution and how our town can be made a cleaner, better place to live. The 38 second graders made a trip down to tell people what they think.

This is the "quiet time" of year in Lincoln County except for basketball nights in Capitan when the tempo revs up to about 90 and noise level on a par with the speed of things.

It all starts out peaceful enough with the Capitan Legion serving a supper in the school cafeteria, food was excellent, so was the take which amounted to $125 for the Legion to use in the community. Herman and Toni Otero made the sauce for this supper, real tasty stuff.

Talked of many things with Frankie and Nora Silva, Capitan Legion used to be on the rocks, in more recent years it has been real active with several projects for the good of the area.

Carrizozo was the Tiger opponent for the basketball game and that is always a "biggie". Each athletic season is improved vastly for which ever of these two teams can win.

Capitan and Carrizozo both have what should be called new gyms, old gym at Capitan recently burned down on the fairgrounds. This new 10-20 year-old gym is crowded and the game is different than it would be on a wider floor. All the players jam up the middle, no room for "moves" and not a lot of real good plays come off under the basket under such circumstances.

The Grizzlies had the better man power, more height and some slightly better team effort but they played Capitan's slam-bang game most of the way and rarely set a pace of their own. Neither team potent in the first half, the Grizzlies making plays work under the bucket a little better in the second half and making enough turnovers to keep the Tigers close in score.

Score was still close in the 4th quarter and that probably didn't matter to the Capitan fans, they were yelling loud for the home team, and added foot-stomping to the din in the effort to bring home a winner.

May be because the nights are cold in Capitan -- but they're raising a lot more hair around those parts than in Carrizozo.

Swiped from Duffy--A real he-man is a fellow who tells his wife the truth, let the dishes fall where they may.

It's nice to see people with plenty of get-up-and-go especially if some of them are visiting you. Experience is a teacher, but here's what makes me burn, she's always teaching me the things I don't care to learn.

Parting thought: The world will never be wholly civilized. Some outlying portions have no natural resources worth seizing.

Rumor came by that Alamo might be of mind to sell Bonito Lake. Called Mayor Walter Mullins at Alamogordo. He said, "Nothing to the rumor." Alamo has been approached about selling some 1000 acres above the Lake to the Forest Service for a recreation area. The City of Alamogordo is drilling test water well on McGregor Range but is not thinking of selling their Bonito water supply.

As Bob Miller points out in his letter, New Mexico is getting publicity in Chicago, and certainly other cities. A news column in the Chicago Tribune tells of the Mesalero Apache reservation and plans for recreation development in that area. Bob also enclosed two good-sized ads from the Tribune, one for El Rancho Grande development and other for Rio Del Oro, both near Albuquerque.

SANTA FE -- Rep. Clifton Moreland, D-Tucuman, favors a Senate-passed bill that creates a judicial district of Quay, De Baca, Harding and Union Counties.

The bill is set for a House Judiciary Committee hearing Thursday. Reportedly, House Majority Leader David Salman, D-Union-Mora-Harding, and Sen. John L. Morcov, D-Union-Colfax-Harding, will try to move Union County back into a judicial district with Colfax and Taos Counties. The Senate passed the bill 34-7 with a strong push from Senate Majority Leader Tibo Chavez, D-Belen.

The bill creates a new judicial district of Valencia and Sandoval Counties. Filo Sedillo of Belen, chief assistant district attorney in Valencia County, says only four days were devoted to the criminal case trials in Valencia County in the last two years.

Sedillo, Valencia County Democratic chairman, is pushing hard in Santa Fe for the new judicial districting structure. Filo says: "We don't blame the judges in Albuquerque." Valencia and Sandoval Counties are now in the Second Judicial District with populous Bernalillo County. The caseload is heavy in Bernalillo County. Sedillo says eleven practicing attorneys are based in Valencia County. He holds added cost of the new judicial district would not be substantial.

Sedillo disavows ambition to be district judge or prosecuting attorney in the proposed new district.

Sophomore Rep. Moreland opposes a bill by Rep. Salman creating a new emergency road classification and adding one cent to the 7-cent-a-gallon state gasoline tax to fund the improvements on such roads.

Rep. Moreland is an oil company jobber. He said a state gasoline tax hike would hurt the economy of Quay County, a border county. Moreland is cool toward $7.17 million in requested deficiency appropriations for state agencies to pay bills in the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Moreland says: "I don't run my business that way and I don't think the departments should run theirs that way." Reps. Moreland and George Blocker, D-Jal, sponsored a 6-bill package to streamline the troubled Motor Vehicle Dept.

Included is a proposal to replace the semi-annual vehicle brake-and-light inspection at $1 with an annual, more comprehensive inspection for $3.50. Rep. Blocker is chairman of the House Transportation Committee considering the bills and Rep. Moreland is HTC vice chairman.

Rep. Blocker says Lea County magistrates should receive salary raises but the amount may be controlled by the state's tight money situation. New reports on the state's fiscal outlook showed the expected $14-million general fund surplus will vanish under the weight of deficiency and non-recurring appropriations.

A pending House bill would raise pay of Jal Magistrate Frank L. Montgomery from $2,000 to $4,000 a year and Eunice Magistrate Faugh H. Bowden from $2,000 to $8,000. Bowden told Lea County legislators his case load the last two years topped 500, far above the norm set for magistrates paid $2,000 per annum when the magistrate system was created in 1968.

Rep. Blocker, dean of the House, favors a Senate-approved bill providing staggered passenger car registration. The bill was set for a hearing this week before Blocker's HTC. Rep. Blocker predicted the House will pass the bill. The Senate did approve 33-0.

Sens. C. B. Trujillo, D-Taos, and I. M. (Ike) Smalley, D-Luna-Hidalgo-Sierra, introduced the bill for the Legislative Finance Committee. Passenger cars are registered now between Dec. 15 and March 2, Rep. Blocker says the change would improve the Motor Vehicle Department procedures.

Rep. Blocker will mount an all-out effort to defeat a public employee collective bargaining bill pending in the House. Rep. Blocker said: "I'm really upset at the governor for sending the message to the House on the public employee collective bargaining act."

Democratic Gov. Bruce King endorsed public employee collective bargaining with a no-strike clause in an executive message to the House. King was elected in 1970 with organized labor support.

Blocker will oppose a Sunday liquor sales bill recommended by a House committee. He noted the bill does not contain a local option provision.

Rep. Salman sponsored a bill raising pay of Mora Magistrate Celestino S. Garcia from $2,000 to $4,000 a year and Clayton Magistrate Berlin Harvey Crites from $4,000 to $6,600. The proposal was in a House committee.

Rep. John Bigbee, R-DeBaca-Guadalupe - Torrance, supports the Senate passed judicial districting plan. It leaves the Torrance - Socorro - Catron-Sierra district unchanged.

A House Appropriations - Finance Committee member, Rep. Bigbee says: "We essentially don't have any surplus." Bigbee says he is disappointed at state agencies for the husky deficiency appropriations requested for the present fiscal year. Rep. Bigbee says on public employee collective bargaining: "My district certainly doesn't need it." He opposes state officials' pay increases.

The Senate Public Affairs Committee deferred action on Sen. Smalley's bill removing New Mexico from daylight saving time. Since the action senators have received a flood of mail supporting Sen. Smalley's proposal.

Bonnell - Petty wedding vows are solemnized at Grace Methodist Church

Wedding vows of Miss Jill Bonnell and John Petty were solemnized in a candle light ceremony at Grace United Methodist Church, Alamogordo, on Feb. 6. The Rev. Don Forsman officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bonnell, 1421 Rockwood, Alamogordo. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Petty, Sr. of Ruidoso, N.M. White tapers in tall pew candelabras tied with white bows, greens and roses, lighted the pews. The windows were lighted by tapers in baskets of greens. Baskets of white gladiolus, American Beauty roses and greens flanked the seven-branch candelabras against the altar and altar candles.

The organist, Mrs. Carroll Sorenson played special music and accompanied Miss Trudy Brock singing More and True Love. Miss Brock sang The Lord's Prayer during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride paused to give her mother a single white rose and upon leaving the altar paused to present the groom's mother a single white rose.

The bride was lovely in a formal gown of peau d'oseau styled with empire waist, long sleeves and attached train trimmed with Alencon lace floral motifs enhanced with seed pearls and crystals patterned in front and back of the gown and on the flowing train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a Juliet cap with matching lace motifs, crystals and pearls. She carried a small white Bible with satin streamers with one white and one burgundy rose.

Her sister, Miss Luan Bonnell, was maid of honor. Her floor-length gown was burgundy velvet with a matching headpiece of burgundy velvet petals and veiling. She carried an arm bouquet of Azela pink roses. Bridesmaids were Miss Kayon Petty, sister of the groom, Miss Linda Kotur and Miss Cathy Young. Their gowns were floor-length burgundy velvet tops and pink crepe skirts. Their headpieces were small crowns of burgundy petals and veiling. Each wore a velvet choker and carried arm bouquets of Azela and American Beauty roses. The candle lighters were Miss Sandra Petty, sister of the groom and Miss Lisa Durrett. Their gowns were the same fashion as the bridesmaids and they wore corsages of pink Sweetheart roses. Louise Hobson, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a pink crepe floor-length dress, she preceded the bride and scattered rose petals from a tiny pink basket. Danny King, also cousin of the bride was ring bearer, he wore a burgundy velvet jacket, black pants and carried the rings on a burgundy velvet pillow.

Best man was Ralph Petty, Jr., brother of the groom. Groomsman were Kiel Bonnell, brother of the bride, Mort Sawyer, and David King. Ushers were John Alford, Joe Thompson, Mike Currier and Vince Brown.

For something old the bride wore her maternal great-grandmother's gold wedding band. For something new was her wedding ensemble, something borrowed was a lace and linen handkerchief carried by Mabel Hobson in her wedding. She wore the traditional blue garter and a sixpence in her shoe.

Mrs. Bonnell wore a blue silk ensemble and pink corsage. Mrs. Petty wore a green coat and dress ensemble with a pink orchid corsage.

The reception was held at the bride's home, Mrs. Ralph Petty, Jr., and Mrs. Dorsey Bonnell attended the guest book and were assisted at the door by Mrs. Robert Hamilton and Mrs. Wm. A. Dunn.

The four-tiered wedding cake decorated with wedding bells and pink rosebuds was served by Mrs. Maurice Hobson, and champagne was served by Mrs. Kenneth Bonnell. Cake and punch was also served from a second table by Mrs. John Hawkes and Mrs. Jesse Kotur. The tables were covered with cut-work Madeira cloths and centerpieces of pink carnations, roses and baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Harkey, Carrizozo, grandparents of the groom attended the wedding, as did many other relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

The wood and grass had burned and it had started burning inside of the northwest part of the house between the walls. Mrs. Hein and the two children were found asleep in the smoke filled house. State Police Darrell Austin went in and awakened her and took her outside. It took her some time to regain herself. Then Darrell went back in and brought the children out. They had to chop a hole in the outside wall to get the fire out. They did a grand job. Another job well done by our Fire Department and some of our citizens who responded to the call and helped get the grass part of it put out.

Bill 168

Albuquerque, N.M. — The Board of Directors of the New Mexico Petroleum Marketers Association today expressed great alarm over two provisions of Senate Bill no. 168, which call for the adoption of a gross vehicle weight basis for registration fees to include truck transports, tank-wagons, bobtails, pickups, campers, etc. They were also greatly alarmed over the provision calling for a 2¢ increase in Diesel Fuel Tax.

These thoughts were announced by the Executive Director of NMPMA, Richard F. Bartlett. He said, "the Board feels an increase in fees of 275% for truck transports and bobtails would be ruinous to so many small, independent petroleum marketers". "Also," he continued, "our people feel the proposed 2¢ Diesel Tax increase would have far-reaching, disastrous results". "With the adjoining states having a 2¢ and above lower tax each over us, many, many carriers will by-pass New Mexico for their Diesel purchases. Thus, New Mexico will lose the existing 7¢ Diesel Tax of this lost business." "Our people calculate this lost revenue to the state as being very substantial—and in addition, this will have a ruinous effect on the many small independent Diesel marketers who sell in New Mexico", Mr. Bartlett concluded.

Number 45
made some wierd noises

The girls' basketball team met the "Growling Grizzlies" here at the Cardinal gym last Monday night.

Their hot tempers and loud
mouths didn't scare us a bit.
Number "45" made some pretty wierd noises during the game, but it didn't bother us. Although,
it did make a lot of fans laugh.

We have always heard that redheads have a temper, but it seems black heads have one too.
We have heard from many people (none from ZoZo) that
"our boyfriends" did a real fine job of refereeing the game. At least we've got boyfriends at our school.

The Cardinal ball team has a record of 14-3. We pulled through with another victory after playing ZoZo there.

Congratulations Cardinal!
Maybe the girls can't control
the "G-G" but our "boyfriends"
sure can!!

The Cardinals played Cuba
here Friday night. Needless to say, the Cards won 52-46.

News from the County Agent

As you do your pruning be on the look-out for insects. Many pests spend the winter in various stages out in the open or protected under the bark of the trees. Scale insects and some mites spend the winter on the bark of deciduous trees and the foliage of evergreens. Cold weather keeps them inactive now, but they will be off and running in the spring. If you see scales or mite eggs while pruning, make a note to apply
an oil-insecticide spray when night time temperatures begin to remain above 32 degrees Fahrenheit.

I noticed a fall contract for 1000 Okie steers for $30.00 per hundred weight. They were expected to weigh 675 at delivery
time in October.

The range caterpillar, a pesky insect which gave Northeastern New Mexico ranchers fits in 1970,
will be among featured attractions
February 14-16 at a Southwestern Branch meeting of the Entomological Society of America. The 19th annual branch meeting will take place in the Sheraton Motor Inn, El Paso, Texas, J. G. Watts,

professor and head of New Mexico
State University's Department of Botany and Entomology, will talk about "Behaviour in the Range Caterpillar Adult". What he will have to say is based on research
he and D. R. Liesner, an NMSU graduate student are doing.

Watts will tell of a new project
at NMSU which especially aims at finding what attracts the adult range caterpillar. Finding the right attraction might lead to the biological control of a very destructive pest. So far, adult range caterpillar attractions have had their drawbacks. For example, Watts has found that males are attracted to caged females, but only very briefly and over a short distance. The male moths are attracted to light, but unfortunately they emerge from the pupa in the morning and mate in late afternoon the same day. Their habits, in other words, provides no opportunity to attract the moth into a trap until after it mates. Watts and Liesner are still trying, and Watts
will tell about those efforts.

Dr. Charles M. Smallwood, dean of the School of Agriculture at West Texas State University, says
the influx of the so-called exotic breeds of livestock into breeding programs may have a detrimental effect on the meat quality that is produced.

The exotic breeds, he said,
produce large and growthy body types, but the offspring may lack the early maturity and carcass quality to make the type of meat
which is popular with the consumer today. Also, he says their reproductivity under range conditions crossbred dairy and beef animals have poor reproduct-ivity rate because of the high nutrient requirements for milk production.

Livestock Report

By Reuben Caplan

A well known advisory service has stated that the odds favor
a rather sharp increase in January - March placements of cattle on feed - an increase of maybe 15-16 percent.

Traditionally, the first quarter of the year has not been a large placement month. Yet, an increase of these dimensions can not be taken lightly.

The 15-16 percent is compared with a year earlier when first quarter placements were the largest in at least eleven years.
In the first quarter of 1970, placements in the 22 states were 5,157,000. An increase of 16 percent would mean placements of 5,982,000 head which is more than twice the placements in the comparable quarter as recently as 1963.

The advisory service
emphasizes that the high priced grain situation would seem to be a potent deterrent to such a large increase in placements. Yet recent trade comment indicates that large placements are not out of the realm of possibility.

Wheat pastures were short because of deficient moisture and cold weather, leading to movement of cattle to feedlots
two months earlier, mostly in January. And the recent surge of slaughter cattle prices has prompted substantial purchases of two-way slaughter feeder cattle for further feeding.

The advisory service says that placements of 15 - 16 percent would mean an increase of 3 - 4 percent in cattle on feed on April. Nevertheless, it stresses that the overall picture is one of firmness, with generally steady to higher prices into the Importance of cattle to area

emphasized.

LAS CRUCES--The continuing importance of cattle to the agricultural economy of the Southwest is being emphasized
by the attendance at an annual Feeders Day and Cattle
Growers Short Course at New Mexico State University.

Over 350 livestock producers were on hand Monday (Feb. 15)
for the first day of a two-day event in the NMSU Agriculture Building auditorium, with the attendance still growing as the ranchers arrived from distant points in the state. First morning activities were devoted to the Feeders Day, with one and one-half days devoted to the Cattle Growers Short Course.

Subject matter for the Feeders Day ranged from feeding earlyweaned farm lambs to the merits of grazing yearlings on irrigated pastures. Current NMSU animal science projects were also viewed during a college feedlot tour Monday morning. Jack L.
Ruttle, Earl Ray, A. E. Nelson,
Lewis Holland and A. L.
Neumann, all of the NMSU College of Agriculture, appeared on the Feeders Day program.

Other Feeders Day subjects
included the effect of sex alteration on the growth and carcass traits in beef; implants for suckling beef calves; and feedlot performance and the carcass traits of straightbred and crossbred steers.

A rancher panel on methods
of supplemental feeding helped highlight the Monday afternoon
session of the Cattle Growers Short Course. Making up the panel were Jasper Koutz, Fort Sumner; J. W. (Dutch) Heringa,
Mt. Dora; Robert Madera, Jal.
and Larry Williams, Lovington.
Dale Furr, nutritionist for Hi-
Pro Feeds, Inc., Friona, Texas,
also appeared on the opening afternoon program, taking on "Cattle Feeding in the '70's."

A Monday evening social event
featured a Baron of Beef Buffet
in NMSU's Corbett Center,
followed by an NMSU Aggie-Arizona State basketball game
in the Pan American Center.

The program scheduled for Tuesday included another panel discussion by ranchers' on grazing systems; an address by George Spencer, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, Denver, Colo.; and a talk
by Jesus Almeida, Chihuahua, Mexico rancher on management
changes he has made.

The Tuesday morning rancher panel is composed of W. E. (Hil)
Overton, Yesso; A. D. Brownfield
Jr., Deming; Al Snipes, Roswell;
and Rudy Gutierrez, La Jara.
A full day of cattle-talk on Tuesday also includes discussion on strategies for managing range land; keeping the cattle healthy;
what livestock eat; and an explanation of a New Mexico feedlot and carcass evaluation program.

HE TRIES HARDER
On a jet flight to New York, a 300 pound gentleman was quietly reading his paper when a stewardess asked if he would care for a cocktail. Not looking up he replied, "I'm a lover, not a drifter." The stewardess' reaction was a surprised, "Oh,?" "In fact," he continued, putting his paper down and giving her his full attention, "I'm probably the third greatest lover in history." "Is that right?" said the stewardess. "And who would you say No. 1 and No. 2 were?" Benjamin Franklin and Abraham Lincoln, declared the 300 pounder. "But they weren't great lovers," protested the stewardess. "Oh, my gosh," he said, slapping his gigantic thigh, "then I must be No. 1!"

New custom feedlot to start May 1 with capacity of 6,000 head of cattle

A new custom feedlot with initial capacity for 6,000 head of cattle plans to begin operating south of Roswell May 1, it was announced today.

Located three miles west of the new Artesia Highway and about 25 miles south of Roswell, the new facility will be owned and operated by the Chaves County Cattle Corporation, a Roswell based company organized last year.

Rolf R. Hinkle, II, president of the new company said, "We believe this area eventually could become one of the country's major producers of beef." The Roswell area was chosen, he explained, because of the physical inputs--cattle and feed--are plentiful; the space is available to properly engineer total pollution controls; the area undoubtedly will become a major exporter of beef to the West Coast because of their higher production cost factors; the ideal year-around feeding weather; and, "We have great potential for future air transportation of beef to many markets, with the facilities already in existence at the Roswell Industrial Air Center."

Hinkle stated that the location south of Roswell was selected after several years of research for the ideal location. "There are about 30 factors which should be considered in the selection of a feed lot location," Hinkle said, "All of those factors except one, rail-heading, are available at our lot."

Among them he listed ideal slope of the ground, proper drainage, and a solid cattle bison which eliminates mud, a southern exposure which makes for a warmer winter and cooler summer temperatures, new concepts in the design of pen and handling facilities, "We know if we are going to succeed we must produce above average gains and conversions at the lowest possible costs," Hinkle said, "That is just what we are going to do."

"We spent a long time studying feed lot operations all over the mountains west, in West Texas and New Mexico," he said, "And we have incorporated into our plan of operations all the best practices we have seen and learned, along with many new concepts to do a better job."

Originally slated for a one-time feeding capacity of 6,000 head, the new installation is designed for expansion to 24,000 head. Approximately seven people will be employed when operations begin this spring. "Pens are partially constructed, the mill is progressing on schedule and we have water of excellent quality," Hinkle said.

Chaves County Cattle Corporation is an open admitted corporation registered under the New Mexico State Corporation Commission, and will provide facilities for both custom feeding and agricultural financing.

Other officers in the Corporation are: David W. Mc Gee, Vice President, and Richard R. Armstrong, Secretary - Treasurer. The Directors and

REAP development starts Feb. 19

Fred W. Pfingsten, chairman of the Lincoln County ASC Committee announced today that development of the 1971 Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) in Lincoln County will get underway at 10:00 a.m. February 19th at the County ASCS office located in the County Court House at Carrizozo, New Mexico.

Mr. Pfingsten announced that anyone interested in helping with development of the program is invited to attend as it is a public meeting, however, if any organization has an agricultural committee they may wish to send a representative. The County Committee representatives, R. Archie Perkins and Allen K. Trammell have just returned from a meeting held at Las Cruces with State Officials to learn details of this conservation cost-sharing program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. At the meeting they were told that it is essential that each county develop a "REAP" investment plan that will serve as a basis for using the program's limited funds to help solve the urgent conservation and pollution problems in your county. The speaker was Ray Wolf, Program Specialist from the State ASCS Office. In outlining the goals of REAP, Mr. Wolf said they would be to improve the quality of life for all people by preventing or abating environmental pollution, and

News And Notes

Today's well-insulated and tightly-built houses don't allow enough inside air to slip out to control the odors, moisture, heat and smoke produced by the living and working we do in the house. As much as 200 pounds of greasoladen moisture is given off every year in the average kitchen. An exhaust fan might save you money in repairs and certainly lightens your cleaning load.

The open interior design of many houses makes it even more necessary than ever to keep cooking odors from spreading throughout the house. Grease-filled smoke not only can damage kitchen walls and cabinets, but it can ruin draperies and soil furniture all over the house.

The reduction of heat over ranges, ovens, washers and the dryers is important for comfort and to protect cabinets and walls. The removal of moisture from kitchens, bathrooms and mudrooms saves the homeowner money and work-in-cleaning and refinishing. Recreation rooms and family rooms, especially during and after a party are often smoke-filled and stuffy.

Some fans are made especially for installation through an outside wall and others are made for installation in the ceiling. Use the recommended size of duct or vent pipe. Anything smaller will reduce the capacity of the fan to exhaust air. The fan can be vented directly through the roof, or up and out under the eaves, or down and out through the foundation wall.

The ventilating capacity of fans is measured by the number of cubic feet of air per minute they can move. With the usual 8 foot ceiling height, your ventilator should move about 2 cubic feet of air per minute for each square foot of kitchen floor area. Certified units are tagged with their capacity in CFM (cubic feet per minute). Variable speed models let you adjust airflow to suit kitchen operations.

Consideration of proper ventilating fans when building or remodeling can make a lot of difference in the comfort and the beauty of your home.

No one is more repugnant than the wise guy who turns out to be right.

Welfare caseload to be cleared

The State Board of Health and Social Services Saturday approved establishment of a system to clear ineligible recipients off most of the welfare caseload by July 1st and a program of continuing review designed to keep the caseload "clean" in the future. The new programs, along with the 100 percent review of all cases in the 10 counties involved in testing the new "simplified" or declaration method which was completed between July and December last year, will mean that the number of cases reviewed during the year ending July 1971 will nearly equal the total caseload, but because some cases will have been reviewed a second time it is estimated that the result will have been a checking of about 80 percent of the entire recipient population in the state.

The plan involves establishing a "permanent task force of eligibility review specialists to conduct a full field investigation of selected cases" in 15 of the largest counties starting March 1.

In addition, a training program will be started in March to improve the capabilities of county welfare eligibility workers and their supervisors so that a continuing effort to keep the caseload free of ineligible in the future through better review of new applications as well as normal annual or semi-annual checking for continued eligibility. These two programs also will continue to be backed up by the already established quality control checking of cases which is required by the federal government--but which is now a relatively small operation.

The board felt it necessary to review cases in larger counties a second time since the results of the checking last year were not entirely successful due to the lack of prior training for eligibility staff members. Follow-up investigation by the Quality Control Section reviewers showed that the incidence of ineligible cases had continued to exceed the three percent federal tolerance level in the 10 test counties--which were Bernalillo, Colfax, East Valencia, Eddy, Hidalgo, McKinley, Mora, San Miguel, Santa Fe, and Sierra. In these counties the declaration method being tested means that the applicants

Washington Report
From Your Congressman
HAROLD RUNNELS

This is the first in a series of weekly reports which I plan to make to the citizens of New Mexico's Second Congressional District through the newspapers which are making this space available.

The purpose of this brief report will be to inform you, the citizens and taxpayers, about major legislation in the Congress. I will at times give you an explanation of why I voted on a particular bill the way I did and how the legislation will affect our district.

As you know, the 92nd Congress is less than three weeks old, and thus far most of the time has been devoted to intra-party organizational matters, including committee assignments, and receiving the President's State of the Union and budget messages.

I have been assigned to the House Armed Services Committee, which is most important to the citizens of District 2 and New Mexico. As a member of this committee, I will be devoting considerable time to matters pertaining to New Mexico's military bases and to the overall defense program.

Another matter which I will be devoting a lot of effort to will be legislation which I plan to introduce giving New Mexico and other western states a better break on royalties derived from our federal lands. This is the bill which I discussed in detail immediately following the November election, and I will be discussing it further after the final draft is completed and it is introduced in the Congress.

In the meantime I invite any of you to contact my Washington office or any of the three district offices regarding your views on legislation or any matter on which I or my staff can assist you. The addresses and phone numbers of each of these offices are as follows:

WASHINGTON--1726 Longworth Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, Phone (202) 225-2365.

LAS CRUCES--Suite 1022, First National Tower, Las Cruces, N.M. 88001, Phone 526-6156.

fill in their own information for determining eligibility and the caseworkers normally only check when statements are in conflict or appear unclear. The percentage of ineligible in these counties actually has been lower than in the other counties wherein all eligibility factors are still being confirmed by caseworkers. The "simplified" system is ultimately to be required by the federal government throughout the state.

The counties to be checked by the specialized teams, which will be made up of members of each local staff, are Bernalillo, Chaves, Dona Ana, McKinley, Rio Arriba, San Juan, San Miguel, Santa Fe, Taos, Curry, Eddy, Sandoval, Grant, Lea and East Valencia.

The task forces in each of these counties will be made up of 10 percent of the eligibility workers in each, plus staff assigned from Central Office in Santa Fe. This will mean reassigning some social service caseworkers to eligibility work so normal intake of new applications and continuous periodic reviewing of cases will not be disrupted.

Members of the team, after investigation, will be empowered to continue cases, close them if found to be ineligible, and adjust grants where indicated. Cases of suspected fraud will be referred to the Health and Social Services Department legal staff for possible prosecution.

Results of the review will be tabulated and monthly progress reports will be made to the board.

Other eligibility workers in all counties will receive training and will make reviews when they normally fall due. It is expected that with the combination of the newly trained staff
