Kathryn Bancroft is Carrizozo's Sun Carnival Princess

Miss Kathryn Bancroft, Sun Princess representing Carrizozo in the 1971-72 Southwestern Sun Carnival, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Spencer of Carrizozo.

The blonde-haired, 19 year old graduate of the Kent School, Denver, Colo., is a sophomore special education major at Pine Manor Junior College, Boston, Mass. She is minoring in art and dance.

Before high school graduation in 1970, Miss Bancroft was honored as Student Council Representative, editor of the Literary Review, winner of the Friendship Ring Award, and winner of awards in basketball, softball and modern dance.

At Pine Manor, Miss Bancroft was freshman representative to the College Academic Council, house representative to the service league, and a member of the welcoming committee. Miss Bancroft enjoys photography, creative writing, dance and art as her hobbies.

Miss Bancroft will be escorted to the activities of the Southwestern Sun Carnival by her brother, Christopher, a student at University of Texas at Arlington. Last year, a new concept of Sun Carnival activity was inaugurated, including a very special responsibility for Miss Bancroft and all participating Sun Princesses of the Southwest. The Sun Court representatives

41-Miles cross Country

All smiles, Hindi wins pony race

Wearing the biggest grin imaginable, Duran rancher Brahm Hindi rode into Lincoln last Saturday morning carrying the mail from White Oaks.

He was winning the 41-mile cross-country Pony Express race in record time. The reason for the ear-to-ear smile was obvious. Hindi, a year ago, had lost a photo finish when he stumbled and fell while running just 10 feet from the finish line in front of the old courthouse. Last Saturday he didn't even have to run hard--he was two minutes ahead of his nearest competitor, Picacho rancher Ted Clements. Hindi, 53, riding as a team with his son Jami, covered the rugged course in two hours and 13 minutes--which was 13 minutes faster than the old record set last year.

Hindi, who used four Arabian horses during the race, was awarded a handsome saddle, valued at $700. The first prize was a donation by Mrs. U. D. Sawyer, of Crossroads, who is chairman of the Lincoln County Memorial Commission, the group that sponsors the three days of festivities in the historical old town.

Clements, who rode the entire distance alone, was timed at two hours and 15 minutes; while Ronnie Eldridge, a Captain rancher who also went the whole route alone, was third with a time of two hours and 36 minutes.

The team of Clifford Lambert and Joe Lively, both of Sunland, were timed at two hours and 39 minutes for fourth place; while Nogal rancher Ted Zumwalt was fifth with a time of two hours and 41 minutes.

The race winner also received a silver belt buckle that was donated by Shepler's Western Wear of Roswell.

Between them, the riders carried some 1,000 pieces of mail, all of which was specially marked as having been carried by Pony Express rider. The winner of the race is the first to deliver his sack of mail to Lincoln postmistress Mrs. Mary Phillips.

With several thousand on-lookers Sunday afternoon, the sweepstakes prize in the parade went to Mrs. Sawyer, who rode bareback on an appaloosa pony while dressed in an authentic Indian costume.

Other winners were: best float, first place, the pageant cast in a buggy and second place, the Chaparral Gunfighters of Las Cruces; best specialty group, first place, The Hole in the Wall Gunfighters, from Kerrville, Texas, and second place, the Morris family of Capitan; best mounted group, first place, the pageant cast, and second place, the Hondo Valley Riders from Ruidoso; best single entry first place, Herman Philipot, of Lincoln, and second place, a rider from Fort Stanton, whom officials could not identify and said left before the presentation of the awards; best costume, first place, Fern Sawyer and second place, the Cox family, of Ruidoso; best most unusual group, the Hindi family; and the band award to the Ft. Bliss Army Band.

In the fiddler's contest, the $25 first prize was won by Woody Spinks, of Thoreau. The prize money was donated by Pat Ward, of Lincoln. Of the eight contestants, second place went to Dink Essary, of Floyd, while third place went to H. R. Gardner, of Rogers, Bill Ward, of Lincoln, and the La Paloma Bar, Lincoln, donated

New Grizzly football coach named

Carrizozo High School signed a new football coach Monday afternoon and the 27-year-old mentor went right to work. The Grizzlies' first grid practice was yesterday morning.

The new coach is Roger St. Louis, recently of Artesia, but a native of Maine. He replaces coach Eli Casey, who resigned this summer after one year--and one state championship--at the head of the Carrizozo football program.

St. Louis, along with new assistant coach Wayland Dillard, are taking the Grizzlies through two practices daily in preparation for the season opener against cross-county rival Ruidoso, Sept. 3.

The new coach, who has been living in Artesia, comes to southern New Mexico from Biddeford, Maine, where he was head football coach. St. Louis was a 1962 graduate of St. Louis High School in Biddeford--a city of 20,000 population--where as a football player, he played four years and, in his senior year, was honorable mention all-state when his team won the state title.

New grid coach

He started college at St. Francis College at Biddeford, but in 1965 transferred to Eastern New Mexico University at Portales where he was a physical education and French major, as well as a student assistant coach. He graduated from ENMU in 1968.

In addition to his coaching duties, St. Louis will also teach physical education and health classes at Carrizozo High School. He is married to the former Janis Syferd, of Artesia, and their first child is expected in December.

Federal, state project

$1,000 grant for study of White Oaks restoration

The State Planning Office this week announced a $1,000 grant for the White Oaks Historical District.

The grant was made available by the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

During the next year, a study will be made of the preservation potential of the area utilizing the grant. Future grants of the same size may be available to further the study.

After a plan is formulated for White Oaks, there may be substantial funds available through the National Park Service preservation grant program for development of the area.

The state planning office will continue to provide administrative assistance to the White Oaks project.

The Cultural Properties Review Committee, which designed White Oaks to the National Registrar of Historic Sites, will be providing technical assistance to the project.

The ghost town of White Oaks is in a narrow valley at the foot of Baxter Mountain, just north of Carrizozo. It is the site of several rich gold claims that were worked between 1879 and 1950.

As the population dwindled in the opening years of the 20th century, log and frame houses were torn down for fuel and today most of the remaining structures are of brick and stone. These include the school house, the shell of the Exchange Bank, the Doyle House and several small dwellings.

The White Oaks Historical Society, headed by Roy Harman, has done substantial stabilization work on the school house. This project was the recipient of a

Worker hurt in gas explosion

Rogene Alford, a plant operator at El Paso Natural Gas Company's Lincoln compressor station, received first and second degree burns on the right hand and face last Friday when a compressor engine automatically vented hot gas through a safety door.

Alford, who lives at the station some 35 miles north of Carrizozo, was approaching the machine to shut it down when the pressure relief door opened. He was responding to a flashing light signal on an automatic safety device that warned of an overheated piston.

He was taken to Lincoln County Memorial Hospital in Carrizozo, then later transferred to Bataan Memorial Hospital in Albuquerque. He is expected to remain hospitalized for three weeks to a month.

Geno Romero, of Capitan, first winner in News' name contest

The first winner in the Lincoln County News' Names in the News' contest is Geno P. Romero, of Capitan.

Among the dozens of entries submitted this week, only Romero correctly listed the names Zumwalt, Vega and Light.

Romero will receive $5 in cash, along with a one-year subscription to the News, either for himself or for anyone he designates.

A new contest entry blank for the third week of the contest is in an advertisement on page six of this issue. Contest entry blanks must be received at the News office in Carrizozo by Tuesday morning.

In last week's contest, aside from the winner, only one entrant--Katheryn L. Fambrough, of Alamogordo--correctly identified two of the three names in the game. She correctly identified Vega and Light, however, she missed name number one by entering the name of Spencer, instead of the correct name of Zumwalt.

Many contestants correctly listed Vega as the second name, however, most incorrectly entered the name of Lopez or Lujan for name three. Another popular incorrect entry for name one was Wallace.

This week's new contest has three new names for game players, who will again be competing for $5 in cash and a subscription to the News. This week's clues are: no, one--There are 24 letters total in the three names; no, two--The third name has nine letters; and no, three--Name one starts with B, name two starts with S.

The names in this week's contest are in the news columns of this week's news. Read the News thoroughly, then, at no cost, enter as often as you'd like.

Zozo drivers die in truck wreck

A semi-trailer truck loaded with iron ore crashed on a winding mountain road near Los Alamos Tuesday morning, killing the driver and passenger, both from Carrizozo.

Dead were Lewis C. Greer, 31, and Victor J. Jaramillo, 36.

The truck, a new vehicle owned by Dugger Enterprises that was less than a month old, apparently went out of control on the steep road, struck several trees and overturned. It was a total loss.

State hwy. 4, some eight miles southwest of Los Alamos, was blocked for more than an hour before a crane could be called to remove the wreckage, it was reported.

The bodies of both victims were outside of the wreckage and police said they did not know if the men were thrown from the vehicle or whether they attempted to jump prior to the crash.

Victor J. Jaramillo is survived by his wife Quirina, one daughter, Margarita and one son, Victor, Jr. Also by his stepfather, Abe Sanchez, brothers Frank F. Sanchez, David H. Sanchez, Fred G. Sanchez, George A. Sanchez, Ray X. Sanchez, Herman L. Sanchez and Johnny Sanchez. Sisters, Mrs. Joe Ortiz, Mrs. Natividad Chavez, Mrs. Danny Narvaez, Mrs. Tiofilo Martinez.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 10:00 a.m. at Santa Rita Catholic Church.

Interment will be in local Catholic Cemetery.

Lewis Cornell Greer is survived by his wife Clydia B. Greer of the home, one son, Lewis Randall Greer and one daughter, Tamme, his parents Mr. and Mrs. Randall Greer of Nogal, a sister, Mrs. Janet Barnum, Tucson, Ariz. Brothers, William and Everett Greer of Carrizozo.

Funeral services will be held Friday August 13, at 2 p.m. at Anus Community Church.

CLIPS FROM NEW MEXICO WEEKLY PRESS

Still no Ruidoso councilman

The third time may be a charm for some people but in the matter of Ruidoso mayor George P. White successfully appointing a trustee to fill a vacancy on the Ruidoso Village Council the cliché does not apply. The Ruidoso mayor has recommended three separate Ruidosoans in as many regular council meetings to fill the unexpired term of Wayne Estes with all three recommendations apparently unacceptable to the other council members. The third and most recent turn-down was of the recommendation that John Payne be named to the post. --The Ruidoso News.

The city of Taos is looking for a new police chief this week, following the firing of Arthur Leach by Mayor Rinaldo Garcia. Leach, who had been city police chief for nearly 23 years, was fired over a month-long dispute, including concern over the naming of a law enforcement administrative officer. --The Taos News.

Union County commissioners were visited during their monthly meeting by Clayton city councilmen to form a county planning committee. The group will be responsible for surveying the needs of the county and its residents. --Union County Leader, Clayton.

Announcement was made of the dissolution of the Kiwanis Club's Weather Control Committee. In making the announcement, Claudio Chavez, committee chairman, offered a review of the group's activities, and struck sharply at criticism aroused by the storm which occurred Saturday afternoon during the Fiesta Celebration. "We disclaim any responsibility for that storm," Chavez stated. "Our actions pertained solely to protection of the parade from adverse weather." --The Independent Review, Aztec.

A law-enforcement development program study in Valencia County, proposed by district attorney F. B. Howden, will be headed by a Belen man, Ramon S. Ortega. A fence around New Mexico

Let's build a fence around New Mexico to keep people from settling in our great state.

But... that also keeps people in.

Had we fenced off New Mexico in 1960, the population in the state by 1970 would have been 119,893 higher than the actual census report. Why? Births outnumbered deaths by 184,870 in the past decade in New Mexico. But the state's population increased only 64, 977 in the same period.

Nearly 120,000 people left the state.

Only four New Mexico counties recorded a true increase in population. Bernalillo County added 1449 'outside' citizens to its population to lead the state.

Sierra County was second with an increase of 1,062. Grant County counted 232 and Luna County added 35.

The remaining 28 New Mexico counties had an out-flow of people.

It's true that many counties saw population increases in the past decade. But it was a natural growth of births outnumbering deaths.

Lincoln County, for instance, showed a net loss of 184 people during the decade of the 60s. But it is pointed out that actually 1,059 people left the county. The only reason the population loss was not more severe is that there were 875 more births than deaths during the 10-year period.

And, in Otero County, the figures show a net gain of 4,121. But, never-the-less, some 4,072 people left the county. Again, the population gain was because there were 8,193 more births than deaths during the decade.

For purposes of discussion, let's keep our imaginary fence up a little while longer.

How do we solve New Mexico's problems of high poverty, high unemployment and large out-flow of educated young people if we isolate our state?

The per-capita income in the state is lower than that of the 13 Appalachian states in the east, considered the center of poverty in the United States.

We have more than 25,000 people looking for jobs. Many underemployed.

This year we had more than 4000 university graduates entering the labor market and nearly 10,000 high school seniors started looking for jobs rather than going on to college.

The state spends 75 per cent of its revenue on education, yet when these educated young people start looking for jobs in New Mexico they won't find them.

In the past decade, we added fewer than 4000 jobs per year to our economy. We needed 14,000 per year.

After investing heavily in our young people, their talents are then applied in other states where they find jobs.

To advocate building a fence around New Mexico is to put your head in the sand and ignore our serious problems.

Peter Drucker says, "During each year of the next decade, we will have to find jobs for 40 per cent more people than in each of the past 10 years. The babies of the baby boom are only now entering the work force in large numbers, because so many of them delayed going to work by entering college."

"We can know certainly about America's near future -- the next 10 or 20 years. We can foresee its size, its structure and its dynamics, because everyone who will enter college or the work force between now and the late 80s already is alive."

He pointed to the need for capital. "If we hope to succeed in creating a vast number of new jobs for the young people coming into the labor market during the years ahead, the country will have to find a great deal of new capital somewhere. For every additional job requires a capital investment. This is particularly true of the jobs we will need the most -- jobs for highly educated people who are supposed to work with knowledge rather than with their hands. The greater the skill or knowledge demanded by a job, the greater the capital investment needed to make it possible."

"A computer operator can't work without a computer. A doctor can't function efficiently without a substantial investment by somebody in a nearby hospital. A professor needs not only a classroom, but a good library, perhaps a laboratory, and probably housing for his students. So on the average a 'knowledge job' in the American economy today -- whether in business, education or government -- requires a prior investment of something like $20,000."

To find the capital we need in New Mexico, we'll have to tear down the fence. Remember the need: 14,000 jobs per year multiplied by $20,000 capital per job.

Just by checking our job growth of the past decade, it should be apparent we don't have sufficient capital within the state. Therefore, we are going to have to do more to attract the "knowledge" industries to our state.

But economic stimulation requires an additional discussion.

The purpose here was to discuss the oft-stated principle of building a fence around the state to keep people out (or in). -- K.R.

Thoughts while looking forward to Friday the 13th... It comes as a matter of passing interest that Capitan Peak in Lincoln County, at 10,088 feet, is the 26th highest mountain in New Mexico. Much higher on the list is Sierra Blanca Peak in Otero County, at 12,003 feet, and eighth on the state's list... You've read much in recent months about the alleged teacher surplus throughout the United States. Not so, at least not so in the small towns, says Carrizozo superintendent Jim Steinpreis, who doesn't even have any qualified applications for two remaining vacancies on the school's staff... Inflation, so they say, has reached the point where it's possible to win $1 million in a single race at the track--if you're a horse... In case you're interested, studies show that the sun shines for nine hours and 20 minutes each and every day in Carrizozo--on the average, that is. Further down in the Tularosa Basin in Alamogordo, they get, on the average, about five minutes more sunshine every day... If you're still interested, New Mexico's real sunshine capital happens to be up in the northeast corner at Clayton. There they get some 10 hours and 25 minutes of sunshine daily, which is about 40 minutes more than anywhere else in the state... For Friday the 13th fank--whether its in favor of good luck or bad--the one that comes tomorrow is the only time this year that the 13th falls on Friday, or vice-versa... Left over from the regular editor, Paul P., is this little gem: Us humans probably don't realize what a tasty dish a horned toad is: for man's best friend, the noble dog. Been trying for a couple of years to get our dogs and our toads to make friends. Toads are willing but they always lose. Dogs roust them out of the chemise, carry them to the front lawn, where the lecture and training session starts. Back to the patio for a beer with horned toad safely stashed under a cactus, we think. Sure enough, the toad will be back in the game and by now it's too late. Nothing left but dog food. Guess nature intended that a certain number of toads find that happy land in a dog's gullet... The U. S. Department of Agriculture's weekly weather summary, listing rainfall statistics through last Friday, showed that Carrizozo has received a total of 4.05 inches so far in 1971--the total in a normal year being 9.61 inches for the first eight months. Even though it's been raining a lot lately, it obviously still isn't enough--but it sure is a lot better than, say over at Socorro where their total rainfall this year is only .87 of an inch... The prize for the biggest smile of the week goes to Duran rancher Brahim Hindi, winner of third annual Pony Express race to Lincoln last Saturday. For Hindi, who last year stumbled and fell while running on foot for the finish line and lost the race in the last 10 feet after riding 41 miles, the victory was doubly sweet.

have the privilege of assisting four prominent out-of-town judges in the selection of the 1971-72 Sun Queen and two regal Ladies-in-Waiting.

The Sun Queen and Attendants are chosen from the group of 16 Sun Duchesses, sponsored by the leading women's civic and service organizations in El Paso.

The identity of the new Sun Queen will not be revealed until the surprise announcement at the colorful Coronation ceremonies, Dec. 31 in the El Paso County Coliseum.

The Coronation program will also include a spectacular entertainment attraction, headlining one of the nation's outstanding entertainment talents.

The top-name entertainer is expected to attract a capacity audience to the glamorous Coronation Ball. Advance ticket selections are expected to be at a premium, according to Sun Carnival officials.

First priorities on ticket purchases for the Coronation, Dec. 30, and the Sun Bowl football game to be played on Dec. 18, will be available to members of Sons of the Sun, major sponsoring organization of Sun Carnival finances and activities.

Annual land bank meeting Sept. 1

The 54th annual stockholders meeting of the Federal Land Bank Association of Roswell will be at the Roswell Inn, Roswell, on Sept. 1. Powhatan Carter Jr. of Fort Sumner, president of the association, announced.

"As the member-owned Land Bank System enters the second half century of long-term agricultural lending," Carter continued, "we want to recognize the outstanding contribution of America's farmers to our nation's development and continued progress." Carter said.

Other members of the board of directors, in addition to Carter, are Richard Harshey of Hagerman, vice president; M. J. McClish of McDonald, H. L. Green of Artesia, K. M. Davis of Carlsbad and J. P. McKnight of Picacho.

William S. May, vice president and secretary of The Federal Land Bank of Wichita will be the speaker at this year's meeting.

Arrangements for the meeting are being made by Vonnie Jasper, manager of the association and Gertrude C. Jones, office assistant. The association, located in Suite 201 Security National Bank Building in Roswell, serves Chavez, Eddy, Lincoln, Lea and De Baca Counties.

Senators at UNM

Four U.S. senators; Edmund Muskie, George McGovern, Hubert Humphrey and John Tower, are among speakers who will lecture during the next year in a program series financed by students at the University of New Mexico and University of Albuquerque.

Individual membership in Sons of the Sun, for $10 a year insures a priority selection of seating for the Coronation and six ticket priorities for the Sun Bowl football classic. Sons of the Sun memberships received in the Sun Carnival office before the end of October will be eligible for advance ticket selections.

Sons of the Sun memberships may be obtained from the Sun Carnival office, El Paso National Bank Bldg., (7994). Additional information is available by phoning the office, (915) 533-4416.

Carrizozo residents and friends of Miss Bancroft and her family are especially encouraged to attend the Sun Carnival activities this year, to witness the Coronation and Sun Bowl football game, enjoying the benefits of priority selections for the best tickets through Sons of the Sun memberships.

Carrizozo girls pitch tents for camping near Carlsbad Caverns

By Chaplin Kline

Ten teen girls, from Bingham, Carrizozo, Nogal, Capitan and Lincoln, left Capitan in two cars early on Monday of last week. They were headed for a two-day campout at the Jayder Moore ranch near Loving, not far from Carlsbad Caverns.

First day activities, included setting up camp with two tents in sudden wind and rain, diving in the Carlsbad Park Beach swimming pool on the Pecos River, and a sing-out around the after dark campfire.

Second-day included a cook-out breakfast of bacon and eggs, cowboy coffee and Indian bread, 20 mile drive to the caverns, unhurried three and a half hour hike along cavern trails, camp supper, last swim, and trip home with heavy lightning and rain storm, from Roswell to Capitan.

Due to delay in travel on the trip home, and because storm still threatened, seven girls spent the night in the Kline home on Outpost Hill.

Girls on this camp-out trip were; Cheryl Johnson, Jackie Dross, Tawn Caldwell, Delores McBride, Lisa Zumwalt, Carol Larson, Beth and Jenann Kline, Jamie Nethaway and Bernie Gomez.

Sponsors were Chaplain and Mrs. Alfred Kline and Mrs. R.A. Canning.

The day before leaving on the campout, Chaplain Kline preached at the regular church services in Capitan United Methodist Church and in Trinity United Methodist Church in Carrizozo. The regular minister, Rev. James Reynolds, of El Paso, was away on an emergency leave.

On July 31 the Kline family were in Albuquerque for the week end fall conference state meeting of the American Legion and the Auxiliary. Kline conducted a "God and Country class" for Legion chaplains from all posts in New Mexico.

The first youth outing this summer, sponsored by Chaplain Kline, was made in June by a group of eight from the children and youth choir. They tackled the north up-hill spillover lava bed, extending two miles above the Malpais crater near the Bob Shafer ranch. They climbed the crater, selected samples to take home, and took pictures of the group perched precariously on the rim in a brisk wind. They made the round trip in 6 hours.

Chaplain Kline requests to use this news column to correct a recent report on the 1071 Four Chaplains Easter Sunrise Service, held at Valley of Fires State Park on April 11. A report has indicated that expenses were $550, (which is correct), but not correct is that $420 is still outstanding. No bills are outstanding. All accounts have been paid in full. Sincere appreciation has been publicly expressed, and is hereby repeated to so many who helped so well with work, planning, ideas, equipment, gifts, encouragement, hospitality and attendance.

11 school bus drivers attend state institute at Silver City

Eleven Lincoln County residents attended the 30th Annual New Mexico School Bus Drivers' Institute in Silver City last week.

Bill Loshbough, director of the institute and supervisor of school bus safety for the State Department of Education in Santa Fe, said the bus drivers attended classes during the week and participated in activities designed to help them in their capacity as school bus drivers in the county.

Attending from Cedarvale were James and Maxine Brown; from the Hondo area were Fernando Montoya, E. O. Sanchez and Eloy Torrez. Attending from Capitan were John DeNardi, Mrs. Nora Silva, Becky Silva and Janice Silva; and from Carrizozo were Frank C. Montoya and Mrs. Josephine Montoya.

News and Notes

By Mary Ellen Payne
 Lincoln County HDA

Outdoor cooking and hamburgers just naturally go together. A "good" hamburger indoors becomes a "delicious" main dish if cooked on an outdoor grill.

The quality of the ground beef you buy makes a difference in the finished product. "Ground chuck" is from the shoulder or beef "chuck." Because the chuck is also used for roasts and steaks, "ground chuck" is often priced higher than "ground beef".

"Ground round" is just what the name implies ground round of beef. It has a low fat content, so it is better in combination with other ingredients that add moisture to the meat.

"Ground sirloin" comes from the sirloin and commands a higher price. Since it has a good ration of fat to lean, it makes a "king" of a hamburger. Remember, ground beef is more perishable than steaks or roasts because more of the meat's surface is exposed. Purchase only that amount that can be used within 24 hours, or plan to freeze the meat at once. For outdoor ground beef patties keep them, a good outdoor recipe is:

Green Chili Burgers
 1 1/2 Lb. ground chuck
 1 teaspoon salt
 dark garlic powder
 1/4 cup chopped canned green chili

1/4 cup finely chopped onions
 1/4 cup evaporated milk
 Bacon slices

Combine all ingredients except bacon slices. Shape into 4 or 5 thick patties. Wrap bacon around the patty and secure with tooth picks. Broil over medium hot coals for about ten minutes. Turn carefully with spatula and tongs. Broil ten minutes or longer on remaining side. Serve on slices of french bread if desired.

800 attend electric co-op annual meeting

Some 800 persons attended the annual meeting of the Otero Electric Co-op which services three counties and some 3,500 consumers.

The annual meeting, required by the by-laws of the Co-op, was in Cloudcroft at the school gym Saturday. Some $750 worth of door prizes was handed out by president of the board J. B. Runyan who conducted the meeting before a crowded room of people who traveled from as far as Carlsbad to attend the meeting.

In the fiddling contest, first place honors were taken by Hiram Posey of Alamogordo, a young musician popular with fiddle enthusiasts of the area. Bill Bates of Tularosa took second place and third place was won by Junior Daugherty, all well known fiddlers in the area. The fiddling contest was conducted by Phil Fuller of Cloudcroft.

Election of five new members to the board of trustees was the highlight of the meeting. A nomination committee had met earlier in the summer and nominated the members already on the board. They are F. R. Chambers, High Rolls; Charles Fuller, Roswell; Arthur Blazer, Mesalero; Mark Harwell, Cloud-croft; Milton Mable, Roswell.

Other trustees on the board include J. B. Runyan, Elk; George Sisneros, Tinnie; A. D. McLean, Cloudcroft; W. A. Gage, Pinon; and Wayne Withers, Carrizozo.

Special guest to the meeting were Dan Smith, who had attended every meeting for 20 years except for one which was when his wife was having a baby. Smith represents Pine Electric Supply of El Paso. Carl Turner of the Santa Fe state office attended the meeting and traveled on further south for his vacation which had started the day before. Very special guest attending the meeting was Melissa Clendenin of Cloudcroft, the current Miss Otero County Electric Co-operative. Also attending was Nora Nelson her mother and sister from Dexter. Nora is the current Miss New Mexico R.E.A.

Employees recognized to the group with 10-year service awards were Anna Mary Derrick, Lovar Medina, Ignacio Alacorn of Cloudcroft and Wayne Langford of Ruidoso. Twenty-years service to the co-op by Charles Fuller and Milton Mable, members of the Board of Trustees was also recognized.

The financial report of the co-op was given by George Sisneros who is currently serving as treasurer of the board of trustees. The balance sheet for the Co-op was prepared by Bolinger, Segars, Gilbert and Moss of Lubbock, Texas, with comparative figures from the previous year showing an increase in total operating revenues of $33,501. It was also reported by Forrest Chambers, secretary, that this co-op is one of 15 of the seventeen co-ops in the state to join the CURC, Cooperatives Utilities Finance Corporation, the co-op's own bank in the state.

Capitan

We had four days last week with no rain and then it started Thursday by giving seven-tenths, of an inch of good rain. Friday two-tenths, Saturday and eight-tenths and Sunday night seven tenths. The way it is coming is just great and is doing so much good. We are not losing any of it. The country is getting green in all shades as some places it is farther advanced in growth.

The hills to Hondo are just beautiful, then it is lighter to Picacho, then the green pastures are even greener and what beauty with the black Angus and hereford cattle grazing on to Riverside with the alfalfa hills pretty. On to Roswell it was green though lighter but it is coming. It was such a relaxing drive to and from Roswell. I returned via Ruidoso and it too is beautiful. It is great. How we do appreciate that moisture.

Last Saturday Mrs. Maude Kingston and Mrs. Eltha Merrill drove through the mountains on Highway 42 to Cloudcroft, again the beauty was beyond expression. Lots of water standing and the cattle seemed to be so happy.

The trees so pretty and lots of good grass. On our return we came through an area where it had hailed heavily with fog low. It was cold as winter but after we came through that it was just raining good and wet. All was great. We attended the REA annual meeting in Cloudcroft and there was a larger crowd than last year. The dinner was delicious.

The meeting was good and entertainment great. Many happy winners of door prizes. And they were from all areas. It was a happy day at that meeting.

We three went to visit the Burgkett Floral. Now that made it complete. Such beautiful plants and flowers of all descriptions. It hailed heavily and then rained hard while we were inside. And was drizzling when we left. As usual there was a big crowd there. I imagine that is a daily occurrence as tourists do visit there daily.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Miller of Alamogordo and Mrs. R. M. Jones of Boles Acres were present. I was happy to meet Mrs. Bonnell again. She is James Bonnell's mother.

Mrs. R. M. Jones and I had not seen each other for 25 years. Mr. and Mrs. Jones lived here and he was in our school. Howard is grown and is captain in the Army and has enjoyed his Army life so much. He married a year ago Aug. 1. He will be out of the Army Nov. 1 and will leave for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, where he will do radar work for submarines.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones live at Boles Acres. She is house mother for the handicapped and this is her fourth year with them. Mr. Jones is not in too good health at this time. Their daughter Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Petree and family, have a nice home in Vaughn and he is in banking there. Louise and Lorene Ferguson made a business trip to Roswell last Friday. Tuesday before they visited Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Ferguson and family at their ranch home near Carrizozo.

Mr. Tom Blingham of Tularosa visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pepper last Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean Sr. had a lovely weekend in Lovington last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean Jr. and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Elridge and family left together in their campers for a weeks vacation in Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Renfro and family or California are visiting his mother Irene Renfro of Smokey Bear Motel and Cafe, Gary has been here for some time and will return home with his parents.

It is reported that there was a large attendance at the Nazarene Assembly at their camp grounds at Angus all last week. Plaques of recognition were presented to Gilbert Peters and his son Lamoyne Peters for their contributions to the camp for the new well and their many other items.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Shaw of Silver City spent last weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw and attended the pageant in Lincoln.

Mrs. Carol Ann Schatzel and four children of California came to Albuquerque to visit her grand mother Mrs. Long, and her husband met her there as he flew in by plane. And they came to Capitan and visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw. Sunday they went on to visit Mr. and Mrs. Frank Titsworth at Tinnie.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lassiter moved into the Carl house east of Mayme Greison on east 4th last weekend in July. Tom started to work for Cummins Store some time ago. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lassiter of Ft. Bayard spent last weekend with them and they attended the pageant.

The city well was officially tested last week. The quantity was good and the water was good though hard. Everyone must remember it is for an emergency

Artists' show at Ruidoso gallery

The works of artists Dorothy Archer and Pat Trimble will be on display at the Gallery III in Ruidoso from Aug. 14 through Aug. 27.

The artists will be present at the opening reception Saturday from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at the gallery.

measure. The motor was ordered.

Mr. and Mrs. Tonia Lightfoot dropped by Aug. 5 to visit me while they were enroute to their home in Canada in the wilds. They now have a motorcycle on which they had their pup tent and bed roll. It was a new machine and was prepared for the trip. It will take three weeks. They spent the night at High Country as they hit a big rain storm. They are taking route 54.

Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins, accompanied by Miss Lou Harris, attended church at Angus Camp Grounds. Lou Harris met her childhood friend Miss Gussie Bledsoe of Clovis who was spending that week with her friend Mrs. Forbs of Clovis at her cabin. Miss Harris and Miss Bledsoe started school together and were inseparable friends until the Harris's left Texas. They had not seen each other for 19 years. Miss Bledsoe is a retired school teacher of 47 years. They spent the entire afternoon together after church. A very happy meeting and visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Harris of Ruidoso Downs spent last Tuesday afternoon visiting his sisters Mrs. Maude Kingston and Miss Lou Harris here at their home.

The last week of July Mr. and Mrs. Jess Harris enjoyed their birthdays. I do wish you many more happy and healthy ones together.

Capitan school starts Aug 23

The Capitan Schools will begin the 1971-72 school year on Aug. 23.

School hours for students will be from 8:25 a.m. to 3:35 p.m. The school buses will run the same schedule as last year, arriving at school about 8:15 a.m. and departing about 3:45 p.m.

The school has been forced to increase student lunch prices this year from $.30 to $.35 because of an increase in the cost of operating the lunch program and a reduction of Federal funds. There will be a staff meeting at 9:30 a.m. on Aug. 20.

From page one the second and third prize money of $15 and $10.

Pageant officials, with a wary eye at the threatening rain clouds throughout the weekend, said several thousand people attended the three shows of "The Last Escape of Billy the Kid." The shows, with a cast of more than 50 local residents, was presented Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon.

The New Mexico State Fair is ranked first in per capita attendance.

State court rules tax legal at Sierra Blanca Skiing Area

The State of New Mexico has authority to tax gross receipts at Sierra Blanca Ski Area, even though it is leased and operated by Indians, the state appeals court in Santa Fe has ruled.

According to an Associated Press news story last weekend, the decision also affirmed the state can charge a compensating tax on materials used to build two ski lifts at the resort.

Nine 4-H'ers win ribbons

Nine Lincoln County junior 4-H'ers garnered seven ribbons at the southeastern New Mexico junior 4-H contest last Thursday in Lovington.

They were in competition with nine to 13-year-old 4-H'ers from seven other southeastern counties, including Chaves, Curry, De Baca, Otero, Eddy, Roosevelt and Lea.

Heading the Lincoln Countians was Miss Marcella Montes, of Hondo, who won the first place blue ribbon in the home improvement presentation contest. Her presentation was making burlap flowers.

The only two ribbon winner from this county was Ginger Cooper, of Tinnie, who was awarded a blue and a red ribbon for clothing presentations.

Also winning a blue ribbon was Carlos Pacheco, also of Tinnie, in the livestock presentation contest.

The Lincoln County livestock judging team won a red ribbon. Team members were Robble Richardson, of Carrizozo, G. L. and Phil Straley, of Ancho, and Brian Sisneros, of Tinnie.

Revenues go for education and welfare of the tribe members, and the enterprise serves as a job-training center for them.

The court said in the treaty the Apaches submitted to U.S. "Power and Authority" and the federal government in turn gave New Mexico the power to tax non-reservation lands owned by Indians.

The Appeals Court said the facts show there is no interference with the reservation's government by taxing the ski area.

Judge Lewis Sutin in a special concurrence said of the tribe: "as it earns money from citizens of this country, it should carry the same burden of taxation as its competitors."

Two other ribbons winners were Laine Perry, of Glencoe, a red ribbon in the skirt and blouse competition, and Tawnya Alford, of Corona, a white ribbon in the simple dress contest.

Reappraisal completed Dec. 1972

By Fred Buckles

The State Property Appraisal Department said Lincoln County property reappraisal will be finished in December, 1972, on a $140,333 contract awarded to American Appraisal Co. of Fort Worth. Work was started in March.

The state is paying $70,167, half of the cost, with a grant. The state loaned the other half of the cost to Lincoln County. A 2.2-mill property tax reversion from the state to Lincoln County will be reflected on 1973 tax rolls—1.7 mills for schools and .5 of one mill for county operations.

Lincoln County voluntarily entered the state property appraisal program with the first 19 counties in 1966. The first reappraisal contractor did not complete reappraisal and a new contract was awarded to the Fort Worth firm.

Atty. Gen. David Norvell's office distributed $9,974 to New Mexico school districts, and cities. The money was a settlement obtained by the attorney general's office from a price-fixing suit against Harper and Row Publishers Inc. and others on textbooks.

The distribution included: Belen Public Schools, $146; Maxwell Schools, $73; Raton School, $798; San Jon School, $82; Tatum Schools, $150; City of Tucumcari, $38; Raton Public Library, $56, and Deming Public Library, $52.

A $1,000 federal grant was approved to preserve and develop White Oaks in Lincoln County as a major historical site. Gov. Bruce King named Mrs. Irma Robinson of Taos to the State Board of Cosmetologists. A Corporation Commission hearing on an application by Lawrence M. Martinez of Clovis for escort service authority was moved from

Aug. 3 to Aug. 17 at Clovis.

The State Appeals Court said in a landmark decision the State Revenue Bureau has authority to tax Indians engaged in business off of Indian reservation land.

Mescalero Apache Tribe's operation of a ski resort in Lincoln County on Sierra Blanca is at issue. The court affirmed a ruling by Revenue Commissioner Franklin Jones that the Mescalero Apache Tribe was subject to the state gross receipts and compensating taxes.

The tax was imposed on Sierra Blanca Ski Enterprises and on operation of the Sierra Blanca ski resort. Mescalero Apache Tribe said in its appeal the state has no authority to tax it.

The federal Four Corners Commission approved a $46,000 grant to the City of Santa Rosa. The money will help to expand the Santa Rosa sewer system and build waste treatment facilities. The over-all cost is about $369,994. Santa Rosa is providing $138,997. The Environmental Protection Agency is funding $184,997 with a grant.

The subject was horses and the question was how more than 73,000 had been inoculated last weekend in New Mexico with federal encephalitis shots while only 24,245 were on tax rolls statewide for property tax purposes.

In fact, New Mexico Livestock Board estimates there are 100,000 to 150,000 horses in the state. New Mexico State University's estimate is 250,000.

State law says horses must be assessed as personal property on tax rolls if they are in the state 20 or more days. The assessment ratio for horses is the standard 33-1/3 per cent. But apparently proportionately few horses actually were placed on tax rolls. The State Property Appraisal Department said horses and valuations on rolls for 1970 included: Colfax, 765 horses and $18,310 valuation; Curry, 486 and $11,135; DeBaca, 447 and $9,020; Guadalupe, 483 and $10,624; Hidalgo, $16 and $12,320; Lea, 633 and $13,045; Lincoln, 919 and $30,844.

Luna, 308 and $7,005; Quay, 1,180 and $39,364; Taos, 417 and $8,990; Union, 797 and $15,850, and Valencia, 532 and $11,037.

State PAD Chief Assessment Officer Tony Armijo said the agency will get a record of each encephalitis shot. Armijo said location of horses will be determined. Reasons why horses are not assessed will be sought if horses are not on tax rolls.

Placing assessed valuation of livestock, especially transient animals, on property tax rolls is a longstanding state problem. The PAD and Livestock Board were supposed to be increasing enforcement before the recent encephalitis threat sparked mass inoculations statewide.

Former State Rep. Jeff Good, D-Fort Sumner, is a prospect for state senator in the 1972 elections. Good retired in 1970 after 10 years in the House. He was Appropriations-Finance vice chairman and Rules chairman. R. C. (Ike) Morgan, senior senator in service with 18 years, resigned from the Senate. Morgan of Portales represented Roosevelt and Curry Counties. But under the new Senate reapportionment voted this year a new district of Roosevelt and DeBaca Counties was formed. So the senator chosen next year will represent the new district.

Rep. Cecil Cook, D-Portales, was set to move up to Morgan's Senate post but decided to stay in the House.

Little league all-stars named

Fifteen Carrizozo Little Leaguers have been named to the 1971 summer season all-star team. The all-star selections were announced Monday night at the league's buffet banquet at the recreation center. More than 100 players and parents, as well as coaches and others, attended the function.

The all-stars are: from the bank team, Ricky Edwards, 12, Willie Vega, 12, Danny Sandoval, 11, Ricky Vega, 11, and Bobby Padilla, 11; from the merchants team, Stanley Steinpriest, 12, Jimmy Samora, 12, Orlando Beltran, 11, and Tiny Armijo, 9; from Fort Stanton, Robert Gutierrez, 12, Larry Smith, 11, and Adam Aldaz, 10; from the fire department team, Ray Hernandez, 12, Nat Palomarez, 12, and Dick Portillo, 12.

In the league's tournaments finals, played last Friday after being delayed a week because of rain, the fire department team upset the bank 15-11. The bank team had finished first in the regular season standings, while the fire department was second.

The all-star team is practicing daily with hopes of playing in a tournament, either this weekend or next. If enough teams will come, the tournament would be hosted in Carrizozo.

Winners named in bicycle rodeo

There were six winners in the bicycle rodeo Tuesday afternoon, which was sponsored by the Carrizozo High School "B" team cheerleaders.

The winners were: pole bending, Bobby Valtejos; barrel racing, Stanley Steinpriest; figure eight, Roberta Vega; shoe scramble, Roberta Vega; big race for ages seven to nine, Russell Carey; and big race for ages 10 to 12, Eugene Vallejos.

PONY EXPRESS rider Ted Clements, of Picacho, hands his sack of mail to Lincoln postmistress Mrs. Mary Phillips. He finished second, two minutes behind the winner.

FORMER JOCKEY Clifford Lambert strides toward through the crowd at the end of the 41-mile cross-country horse race to Lincoln last Saturday. Lambert, who teamed with Joe Lively in the race, finished fourth.

The State Court of Appeals reversed a Guadalupe County District Court decision over the death of a motorist whose vehicle struck a cow. The case was returned to district court for more action.

Guadalupe County District Court entered judgment in favor of a rancher in the damage suit. Willie Gamma Jr., 26, was killed in 1968 when his car struck a cow on Interstate 40 near the Flying C Ranch in Guadalupe County. The suit sought $350,000 damages from Eivens McKenzie of Tucumcari, owner of the cow. State Appeals Court Judge Lewis Sutin said in a special concurring legal opinion New Mexico stockmen must restrain the freedom of a cow "not to preserve its life but to preserve human life."

Racing at Ruidoso

LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS-Thurs., Aug. 12, 1971-Page 7

Weekend of reckoning for horses in Rainbow, Rio Grande Futurities

It will be a weekend of reckoning for an elite group of young quarter horses and thoroughbreds at Ruidoso Downs when the finals and consolation in the Rainbow Futurity and the finals in the Rio Grande Futurity will be settled.

However, when the difference between the first and tenth place qualifiers is but fifteen one-hundredths of a second, the championship is still very much up in the air and a tick's hesitation or a tiny bauble could drastically change the outcome. There will be thousands of racing fans on hand this weekend to watch the championship actions in all fields.

The first to go on the big championship block will be the Rainbow Quarter Horse consolation which will be held Saturday, Aug. 14. The second ten fastest qualifiers from the marathon eighteen trial divisions run last Friday will vie for the bridesmaid's title and shares of the consolation pot.

Duplicate Bid, who was one of the highest selling yearlings in last year's All-American sale, will make his first bid for a crown at Ruidoso Downs by going to post with the premier qualifying time among the consolation field. However, he will be hard-pressed with such outstanding competition as Top Selection, highly-heralded candidate from the Charles Casco stables and from Alamitos Angel, runner-up in the Kansas Futurity but who failed to make it into the first echelon of the Rainbow.

Many close followers of the short dashers believe Savannah Jet may be the entry to beat in the consolation. A fourth place finisher in the Kansas finals, Savannah Jet has the ability to be a real contender.

Saturday's feature race will pit ten of the best two-year old thoroughbreds housed at Ruidoso Downs in the finals of the Rio Grande Futurity. Twenty-eight head competed in three trial divisions last Saturday to determine who would vie for the big title and the fat purse. The three top finishers in each division moved into the finals, with Paulanne, one of the three fourth-place finishers, drawing in to the select field.

County cards posted the fastest heat with a 1:14.2 for the 6-furlongs. Wardine's Gem recorded a 1:14.3 to take the first division, while Rica Kid flashed a 1:15 in taking the second trial division laurels.

The prestigious Rainbow Quarter Horse Futurity championship will go on the line Sunday, Aug. 15, when the top ten qualifiers in the trials will be tested down the 400-yard straightaway for the lion's share of the $190,000 purse.

All eyes will be on Mr. Jet Moore, the sensational youngster owned by Robert W. Moore of Oklahoma City, who captured the Kansas Futurity championship, the first leg of the triple crown of quarter horse racing. If he is to be the first horse in history to sweep the Tres Coronas, he must win the Rainbow and the All-American.

Mr. Jet Moore moved toward that possibility in an affirmative way in the trials by posting a time of 20.10. The time was tied, however, by Come Six a candidate who did not enter the Kansas competition. A scant whisker away from the fastest time Mr. Kid Charge, who turned in a highly respectable 20.14.

Graves appointed

Gov. Bruce King has reappointed Howard E. Graves, of Roswell, to the New Mexico State board of Public Accountancy. The appointment is for three years from last June 13 when his previous term expired. Graves is a registered public accountant.

National publicity for Conquistadors Trails includes boost for Lincoln County communities

Communities along the recently designated Conquistadors Trail routes through New Mexico --including several in Lincoln County--should be beginning to feel the benefits of national publicity, according to Tourist Division Director Fabian Chavez.

Chavez said the Department of Development has answered more than 12,000 inquiries describing the trail's routes in answer to requests from throughout the United States and several foreign countries.

"This is one of the most successful programs we've had," Chavez said, "and this is just the beginning. I expect that the trails will be even more heavily traveled next summer, as publicity increases and takes hold."

A 4,000-mile route through New Mexico, Texas and Arizona, the Conquistadors Trail is being promoted by the three states and the American Petroleum Institute. The route through Lincoln County includes Lincoln and Lincoln State Monument, Capitan and Ruidoso.

Major distribution of the 500,000 brochures initially printed is being made nationwide through American Automobile Association offices and oil company tour offices, Chavez said.

The Trail is also being promoted through a colorful, eight foot exhibit in the Discover America Showcase, being displayed this year by the Discover America Travel Organizations, Inc., in 36 mall-type shopping centers through mid-America, and in 1972 from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

In addition to the display tour, a color film, "A Trail for All Seasons," is being produced in both 35mm and 16mm prints. The movie will be released through theaters and television this fall.

Chavez said the routes were designed to avoid heavily-travelled interstate highways as much as possible.

"The idea is to get the tourist off the freeway, onto the less travelled highways and into some of the smaller towns," he said. "Too, we're hoping it will keep the tourist in the state longer."

The Trail loops through New Mexico twice, Chavez said, covering both the northern and southern areas.

A tourist following the Trail from Arizona would enter New Mexico near Shiprock and travel south through the Navajo Reservation to Gallup and Zuni Pueblo, then east to El Morro National Monument, Grants, Acoma Pueblo and Albuquerque. From Albuquerque, he would swing north to the Sandia Peak Tramway and Santo Domingo Pueblo, back down to Bernalillo and Coronado State Monument, and northwest to Cuba, Chaco Canyon National Monument, Farmington and Aztec Ruins National Monument.

From Farmington, the tourist would go through the Jicarilla Apache Reservation to Chama and south to Espanola, Los Alamos, Santa Fe, and Bandelier National Monument. Heading north again, he would travel to Taos and take a circle tour from there to Eagle Nest, Red River, Questa, the Rio Grande Gorge Bridge and back to Taos. From Ranchos de Taos, he would head for Mora, Las Vegas and Storrie Lake, then Conchas Lake, Tucumcari and Texas.

After a long loop through Texas, the tourist would return to New Mexico for stops at Carlsbad Caverns National Park, Carlsbad and the Zoological-Botanical State Park of the Southwest, then travel to Artesia, Bottomless Lakes State Park, and Roswell.

From Roswell, he would turn toward Lincoln, Lincoln State Monument, Capitan, Ruidoso, Mesalero, the Mescalero Apache Reservation, Cloudcroft and Alamogordo.

After a side trip to White Sands National Monument, he would travel south to Orogrande and El Paso, then north again to La Mesilla State Monument, Las Curces, Caballo Lake State Park, Truth or Consequences and Elephant Butte Lake. Retracing his route to the town of Caballo, he would then head west to Bayard, with side trips to City of Rocks State Park and Gila Cliff Dwellings National Monument, and on to Silver City, the Santa Rita copper mine, Lordsburg, and Arizona.

A good green thumb —

Gran Quivira National Monument

tourist total in July is 4,756

During the month of July 4,756 persons visited Gran Quivira National Monument, an increase of more than 700 visitors over July 1970. This is 2,500 more persons this year-to-date, than at this time last year.

Gran Quivira National Monument is administered by the National Park Service, an agency of the United States Department of the Interior.

The Visitor Center is open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Guided tours are available to groups by appointment or visitors may use the self-guiding trail. There is no camp ground, but picnic tables are available for those who wish to lunch in the area. Gran Quivira can be reached by traveling north on U.S. Hwy. 54 and State Hwy. 14 from Carrizozo, or south on State Hwy.

14 from Mountainair.

Favorite sport for Boots Randolph, one of the bigname stars booked for the 1971 New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque, is golf.

News from the County Agent

Range caterpillars are starting to show up north of the Capitan Mountains. They are about an inch long and can be noticed on the top of old grass stalks in the middle of the day.

They must go through five skin changes or instars before they become pupae. The late hatch may have delayed their development to make it impossible to mature and lay eggs.

Toxaphene is the only insecticide that will control this pest. This insecticide cannot be used on Department of Interior lands such as the BLM grazing lands.

Lincoln County was represented by twenty-eight leaders, parents and 4-H members at the District Contest in Lovington last Thursday.

Also attending in the "Favorite Food Show" were Cynthia Morales, Sandra Morales, Paul Morales, Pamela Means and Ramona Payne.

The Lincoln County 4-H Horse Show and Rodeo will be Aug. 28 in Corona. The horse show will start at 9:30 a.m. and the rodeo at 2 p.m.

The halter classes are limited to Lincoln County 4-H members taking horse projects. The riding classes are limited to Lincoln County 4-H members and the rodeo to Lincoln County school students for the past year.

All horses in the horse show and rodeo must have been vaccinated for Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis. The vaccination receipt must be presented at the gate.

The Halter classes are:

1971 foal — either sex yearling — either sex two and three year old mares aged mare (four and over) grand champion mare

Two and three year old geldings Aged geldings (four and over) Grand Champion gelding

Booster Events (9 and under) Barrel Race Barrel Crawl Pole Bending Goat Hair Pull

The Lincoln County Fair is September 3 and 4 in Capitan. The beef cattle show will be September 3rd and the sheep show September 4. There will be a junior rodeo each afternoon for Lincoln County boys and girls. Put September 3 and 4 on your calendar now.

A sure way to slow the growth of a good lawn, and perhaps even kill it, is to persistently mow it too short. This is particularly true of bluegrass and fescue lawns. Many lawn owners make a mistake in cutting and removing too much of the grass at one time.

Cutting too close shocks the grass causes it to recover slowly and often permits crabgrass and weeds to get started. Proper mowing height and frequent mowing would go along way toward controlling those and other weeds.

Cutting too low removes young grass blades or leaves the plant without enough leaf surface to sustain itself. The grass blades are the part of the plants in which grass manufactures its food through the phenomena we call photosynthesis. The young blades are the most active part of the plants in the process.

Bluegrass should be cut at one and a half to two inches. Tall fescue and creeping red fescue should be left with two to two and a half inches. Bermudagrass can be mowed to one half to one inch heights. Zoysia should be left with three-fourths to one inch of growth.

Homemakers should now at the height recommended for the dominant species in mixed lawns. Mow during the summer months at the tallest recommended height and even slightly above that for bluegrass and fescues.

For the best in grass, frequent mowings are recommended so that no more than a third of the height is removed at one time. This could be at least once each week.

Antelope permits to be reduced

Aerial antelope surveys, just completed by the Department of Game and Fish, indicate that the number of antelope permits available to hunters this fall will be drastically reduced as compared to previous years.

The surveys show that the antelope fawn crops in many areas of the state, particularly the southern portion, are down considerably in comparison to what they have been previously. The reduction in proghorn fawns is a result of the extremely dry conditions that existed over most of the state through the winter, spring and early summer months.

The Mesa area, north of Roswell, is one of New Mexico's most prominent antelope producing areas and normally has a fawn crop of 80 to 100 percent. Department personnel flying the area this year did not sight a single proghorn fawn.

The fawn crop is also down drastically in other prominent antelope areas. In the Buckeye area where 70 to 80 of each 100 does normally have fawns at this time of year, the fawn crop is down 20 and 30 percent.
