'High Danger':

State orders
s'land closure

Santa Fe — All of New Mexico south of U. S. Interstate Highway 40 (66) this week was under an "order of closure" forbidding open fires on both state and private lands.

Under terms of the order, issued late last week by Governor Bruce King, the fires are prohibited unless a special permit is granted by the State Forestry Department.

The governor signed the closure order, similar to one in effect last year, at the request of State Forester Manuel Ortiz who cited a high fire danger throughout the state.

The order prohibits "all open fires located outside the confines of any enclosed structure, with the exception of charcoal broilers, wood or coal stoves, cooking or heated devices fueled by petroleum products such as kerosene, gasoline, or natural gas."

"We are in a period of high fire danger in the southern part of the state, similar to the situation we faced last year," King said. He said the problem is not as severe in the northern section of the state which has received some recent moisture.

King also said persons who had a legitimate reason for having an open fire, such as in connection with operating a business, could apply to the Forestry Department for a permit of exception to the order.

"We certainly do not want to place undue hardship on persons," King said. "But we must again take precautions to protect our forest and range lands."

Ortiz said there have been 78 fires on state and private lands since January 1 of this year compared to 67 at this same time last year. Most of them have been caused by lightning but a number have been manmade, he said.

The following is the complete text of the order: "All state and private lands within the State of New Mexico, located South of U. S. Highway 66 (Interstate 40), excluding lands located within the confines of municipal boundaries are declared to be high hazard fire areas."

"All open fires located outside the confines of any enclosed structure, with the exception of charcoal broilers, wood or coal stoves, cooking or heating devices fueled by petroleum products such as kerosene, gasoline, or natural gas, are hereby prohibited except upon obtaining of a permit from the New Mexico Department of State Forestry, U. S. Forest Service, New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, New Mexico State Parks and Recreation Commission, New Mexico State Land Office and/or any State Forest Commissioned Officer."

Politicos wooing
pace speeds up

By Lyman Jones

Romeo never pined harder after Juliet than New Mexico political candidates were courting voters this week.

And the courtship was proceeding at every level — from seekers for offices from the White House to the courthouses.

When New Mexicans vote in their party primary elections June 6, they will make their choices from a ballot of considerable length.

Democrats seeking nomination to the U. S. Senate total 25. Republican Senate hopefuls number eight.

There are six Demo presidential candidates: Governor George Wallace, Senators Henry M. Jackson, Edmund S. Muskie, George McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey, and Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm. The latter is the first black woman ever to make a bid for the Presidency. Republican Party Presidential candidates are President Richard M. Nixon and Congressman Paul N. McCloskey.

Despite the stepped-up pace of campaigners, most of the state's knowledgeable political observers were predicting a light turnout of voters.

Polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. on primary day and New Mexico law provides that employers must give employees up to two hours off from work so that they may vote.

Because of the ballot's length, sample ballots this year assume new importance. Since but three minutes are allowed in voting booths and the ballot is long, sample ballots are the simplest way for voters to make pre-voting choices.

And absentee ballots are a necessity for voters who are physically unable to make it to a polling place or for those who will be out of their county of residence on election day.

These may be obtained from county clerks' offices.

First time voters are advised to take with them to the polls their blue registration document. These must be validated by the signature of a county clerk.

Voters who did not register in time for the primaries may register now for the general elections.

(A complete list of candidates for all offices appears elsewhere in this edition.)

Priest Declares:

Lincoln's San Juan church unsafe

"The old church at Lincoln. The facts behind the story."

That's the way Father Olive C. Lynn of Carrizozo's St. Rita Catholic Church opens a published explanation of the removal of objects from the Lincoln church to other churches in his parish — an action that kicked off a months-long controversy.

Apparently at the heart of the matter was the removal of the bell from San Juan's belfry.

Father Lynn's explanation is told in a recent edition of The Catholic Communicator — a parish newsletter.

The explanation, which those on the opposite side of the controversy deny, goes like this:

"... in this our parish, we have three used churches, the parish church here at Carrizozo, the church at Fort Stanton (Sacred Heart) and Sacred Heart, Capitan.

"The old church building at Lincoln (San Juan) is old indeed and in its present state most unsuitable for the offering of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass or for that matter any other services.

It has no heating, no electricity, and is in general in a very bad state of repair, the ceiling in places showing some evidence of perhaps falling in on the floor beneath. Moreover, there are just a very few Catholics living in the village, and unfortunately just a few of this few actually practice their religion with any degree of regularity, despite much effort from the present pastor and many other priests in the past.

"Most telling of all, there is a church with regular weekly Mass and betimes special weekday services just a few miles away (perhaps 10, 15 minutes away) at Fort Stanton, where the faithful Catholics of Lincoln can (and do) fulfill their Sunday obligation and worship at other times.

"Next, there is but one priest, the pastor of Carrizozo, even for the three churches of the parish in good repair and in actual use at present. Nor are there any Sisters since last year, so most of the CCD (teaching work) especially of the high schoolers has to be done without the help of Sisters and in a parish without a potential of many teachers, therefore in effect by the one priest available.

"Because of the dampness and general disuse of the very old building at Lincoln, the few objects in the building were in various stages of corruption and disrepair ... some quite ruined.

Moreover much was stolen and various tourists and other sightseers helped themselves at various times. Some natives on seeing this (understandably to an extent) also 'helped' themselves.

"Danger to life and limb:

"In practice however, many months ago the pastor found that there was a very real danger to life and limb present to the unsuspecting and even unsuspecting. An old pulpit (completely useless) but since renovated, was a sort of platform for climbing (tourist) children all summer and at least three had fallen off with narrow escapes. Above all the heavy bell in a crumbling belfry threatened to crush and brain any victim, it crashed down upon ... Locked door: (?) Locked doors do not prevent articles falling away in dampness, etc., but apart from this because of constantly broken windows in all sorts of places in the building and (with no funds to keep placing in new (costly) glass, it proved in practice impossible to keep children and others from gaining access to the ruined church.

"What of history?

"The present pastor and quite a few before him had tried in vain to get the funds to help the building. Various historical agencies were tried without any avail whatever. After 11 months of waiting and a few too close 'shaves' (re accidents), the present pastor decided to save the few items not already stolen or destroyed, or gone too far for saving.

"They would not be lost at all to this parish, not stolen, not given away ... but kept in use in the other churches of this one parish ... all our people thereby (and many descendants of the former township) would use and enjoy and above all see in Almighty God's service what was left.

"Much labor and effort has gone into this worthy project. Before it took place many people and 11 months were involved, with all sides fully taken into account.

"We still want to keep (if possible) the building (if we get help) an historic museum. We do not want to leave any blessed and holy or consecrated objects there for vandalism, stealing or even museum use. Even if this would help certain non-Catholics in the tourist business or hotel industry, etc.

"What was set aside for God's use we believe should remain for God's worship, as we believe those long since gone to God would themselves dearly wish."

Cowbelles share cookoff recipe

CORONA -- The Canyon-Cowbelles this week are sharing one of two state competition-headed recipes used in their sponsorship of the recent 4-H Cookoff -- and promise the other next week. The recipe, that of 4-Her Joan Alford of Corona, runs like this:

LUMPIAS: 1 pound ground round; 1/2 medium onion; 1/4 cup cabbage; 1 medium potato; 1 carrot; 1/2 cup bean sprouts; 1 clove garlic; salt and pepper.

Trim and chop or grate onions, carrots, cabbage and potato and put them in separate piles on trays. It is best to prepare these just before cooking.

In a heavy skillet slightly brown ground round. Add-chopped-vegetables-and-cook only long enough to heat. Then add drained bean sprouts and set aside.

WRAPPERS: 1 egg beaten; 2 cups flour; 6 cups water.

Beat egg, add small amount of water and mix flour, then add the rest of the water.

Dip paint brush in mixture and paint in very lightly greased teflon skillet. The wrapper will dry out and peel from skillet. Place in between damp cloth to moisten slightly. Place about two tablespoons meat mixture on wrapper and roll like a burrito. Fry in deep fat in skillet until browned.

Wrap-up meals for outdoor fun

Las Cruces—It's the time of year when more and more thought and time is given to outdoor meals. A favorite and easy outdoor meal whether around a campsite or in your own backyard is a wrap-up meal, says Louise Garrett, extension nutrition specialist at New Mexico State University. This type of meal is particularly simple for the chef in the family because each person can do his own, she points out.

One of the most important steps in preparing a wrap-up meal is to wrap the food so that it doesn't leak, Miss Garrett says. The best procedures to prevent leakage are:

1. Place the food in the center of a sheet of heavy-duty foil that is large enough to make a secure wrap.
2. Bring two opposite ends of the foil together over the food. Make sure the ends meet evenly.
3. Holding the ends together, fold them down about an inch. Then fold them again as many times as necessary to fit snugly against the food.
4. Turn the package around. Fold the ends over and over in narrow folds until they are snug against the food. Mold the foil to fit the food closely. (Ends of foil may be twisted tightly for ears of corn.)

After the package is securely sealed place the package over or in hot coals. Turn it once or twice with tongs. Be careful not to burn the food. When the food is cooked, cut a gash in the top of the foil and fold it back to make a serving dish. The food is steamy and juicy.

"Try some of the following wrap-up meals or be creative and put together your own combinations. Remember, pork has to be cooked thoroughly.

— Hamburger patty, snap beans, and onions. Place hamburger, sliced onion, and canned green beans on foil. Add a pat of butter or margarine, salt and pepper. Wrap. Cook about 30 minutes. You can use fresh green beans. However, you will have to cook the meal for 45 minutes.

— Ham, sweet potatoes, and apples. Top cooked ham slice with sliced sweet potatoes (canned or pre-cooked) and apples. Wrap. Cook about 20 minutes.

— Tuna fish, onions, and potatoes. Place a pat of margarine or butter, the sliced potatoes, tuna fish, and sliced onions on foil. Wrap and cook about 30 minutes.

If you get rained out, these meals may be cooked for about 55 minutes in a 375 degree F oven, Miss Garrett adds.

Appointive panel wrong: Mayfield

Las Cruces — L. Grady Mayfield, president of the State Board of Education, has voiced his opposition to a proposal by the Legislative School Study Committee which would create an appointive State Board of Education for New Mexico.

Mayfield, who has served as a member of the currently elected Board for six years, said he feels the LSSC proposal is poorly timed since the New Mexico Legislature just this year passed a law reapportioning the State Board.

15. This newspaper further reserves the right to remove any worker from the Campaign for good and sufficient cause, and all decisions made by the Lincoln County News and the Campaign Manager are final.
16. Changing the name of the subscription in the same family does not constitute a news subscription.

18. In case of necessity for this Campaign to terminate within two weeks from the opening announcements due to conditions beyond control of this newspaper, the enrolled workers will be paid by this newspaper, in the amount of 50 cents for each $1 turned into the campaign department in lieu of a cash prize with the agreement that a worker receives full settlement on this basis.

Conway backs Pete for Senate

State Senator John Conway, R-Otero and Lincoln Counties, said Wednesday he supports Pete Domenici for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate.

Sen. Conway said that Domenici, experienced in the problems of local government, "will be able to help return some of the federal government's powers so New Mexicans can better deal with our own problems."

"I think Pete has the right approach to our rising crime rate when he calls for higher police pay, more efficient courts, and a crackdown on drug use," commented Sen. Conway, a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

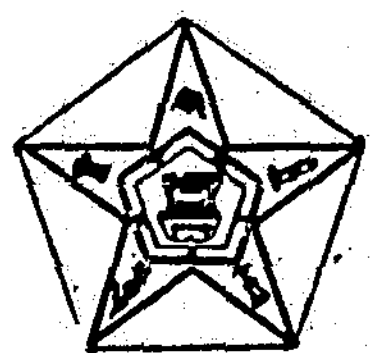

Arthur E. Salas of Fort Stanton has resigned as a member of the Lincoln Historical Review Board. He has been transferred from the Fort Stanton staff to the Fort Bayard Medical Center.

In a letter to board chairman Bill G. Payne, Salas said he resigned with "the deepest regret."

He added: "I sincerely believe that there are many changes in store for the town of Lincoln and I wanted very badly to be involved in bringing these changes about in an orderly and satisfactory manner."

A Hot One

CARRIZOZO'S FIRE DEPARTMENT fought a small grass fire last Saturday morning near Evergreen Cemetery. It was quickly brought under control, but had to be watched for several ensuing hours as tinder-dry grass and weeds, denied very much rain so far this year, were capable of re-igniting.

The June Outlook:

Month will mean sizzlers, maybe

Albuquerque — What will June be like in New Mexico — weather-wise?

The National Weather Service's Forecast Office here this week made these weighted observations and predictions:

June usually brings the first sustained summer-like temperatures to New Mexico. Twenty-six of the 30 days of June will usually be above 90 in the south part of the state and four will be 90-plus in the north.

Occasionally the hottest temperatures of the year will occur in June.

Highest of record was a sizzling 116 recorded at Artesia on June 6, 1929, and at Orogrande on a July day in 1934. Average top daily heat in June ranges from 98 in the lower Pecos Valley to 72 at lofty Cloudcroft.

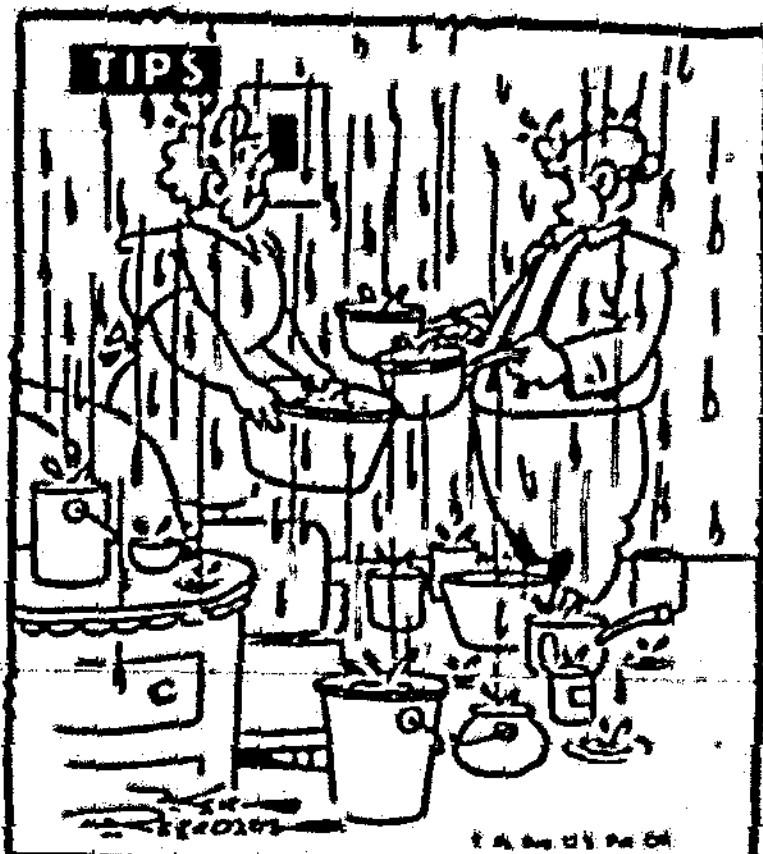

At the other extreme, one June night in 1946 brought a chilly 12 above zero to the ghost town site of Elizabethtown in the Moreno Valley.

June is, on the average, one of the drier months of the year. But highly localized thunderstorms will continue to occur at times over the eastern plains and less frequently in the extreme south.

These may be very intense over a restricted area; one dropped 6.50 inches of rain on Lulu in 24 hours on June 23, 1950. (Lulu is 40 miles southeast of Alamogordo).

But frequently the lowest humidities of the year are observed in June, and the average number of rainy June days ranges from one in the southwest to four in the northeast.

The month, therefore, can be one of vast extremes. Very hot, very cold, very wet, or very dry—all these crop up in the records. But usually the month is mild and pleasant with a little rain, cooling afternoon breezes, and mostly sunny skies.

Range, cropland still waterless

LAS CRUCES — New Mexico farmers and ranchers last week continued to watch for rain, commodity in short supply all over the state this year.

State Climatologist Frank Houghton and USDA Statistician issued the following crop-livestock-weather summary:

Shortage of moisture is the main concern of farmers and ranchers throughout the state. Planting of crops in some areas being delayed because of lack of moisture. Scattered showers fell throughout the State but were not sufficient to overcome dry conditions.

Planting of grain sorghum, corn, and cotton continues. Dryland wheat is headed out and is mostly fair to poor. Spring barley is headed and in good condition. First and second cutting of alfalfa is underway in many areas of the State. Irish potatoes in the Portales area good. Planting of chilis under way in producing areas. Ranges are fair to poor. Livestock are fair to good. Supplemental feeding continues.

Small Grains: Dryland wheat condition is mostly poor to fair. Most grain for harvest has headed but is short and thin. Yields will be reduced because of shortage of moisture. Many fields were grazed out. Irrigated barley is in good condition and is heading out in many areas. Irrigated corn and sorghum planting is continuing with some acreage up to stand and in good condition. Very little dryland sorghum has been planted.

Cotton and Alfalfa: Replanting of some cotton acreage in the Carlsbad area is underway. First planting continues in the more northern producing areas. Cotton in the southern producing areas is up to stand and is in fair to good condition. Harvesting of first crop alfalfa is active in the northern areas while second cuttings are underway in some areas of the south.

Miscellaneous Crops: Harvesting of lettuce remains active in the Mesilla Valley. Irish potatoes remain good in the Portales area. Chili planting continues as well as other miscellaneous vegetables. The small apple crop is progressing well.

Range and Livestock: Ranges remain in poor to fair condition. Scattered showers gave spotted relief temporarily but much more is needed for ranges to become productive. Livestock are fair to good and in most areas supplementing feeding continues.

Weather Summary: Light showers in northern mountains and Eastern Plains mostly on Thursday. Continued dry elsewhere. Temperatures averaged above normal except in extreme southeast and locally less in Central Valley. Lowest temperatures on Monday. The regular temperature changes during week with highest temperatures mostly on the weekend.

Safer blankets now on market

Las Cruces—Blanket shopping? You'll find major fashion changes and — more important — fiber changes to reduce extent of human injury from fire, says Patricia Knapp, home management specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at New Mexico State University.

Because blankets of rayon or part rayon ignite quickly, many blanket manufacturers have already discontinued the use of rayon, Miss Knapp points out. The trend is toward acrylic and polyester used alone or in combination with each other.

"Acrylics and polyesters tend to melt, then self-extinguish," the specialist explains. "They may, however, cause painful burns if melted fibers come in contact with the skin."

Lincoln County News CONTEST OPENS

June 2 (Friday)

to Go-Getters in our Lincoln Co. Area

The Plan is Brief:

Our campaign has two objectives: First to increase an already large subscription list, and second to give our friends and readers an unusual opportunity to turn their spare time during the next few weeks into dollars. ... BIG MONEY for the top prize winners, and a 20 percent commission to all the rest. There will be no losers among those who enter.

Our list of prizes is one of the most valuable and attractive ever offered in this section of the country by a local newspaper this year.

Ambition, energy and enthusiasm for the Lincoln County News you'll be taking subscriptions for, are the only requisites to success.

We want to emphasize that this is no beauty or popularity contest - simply a competitive proposition for enterprising people, and in which no element of chance enters. The plan is simple. ... just check the Subscription Point Chart below and then get started. The Opportunity Stub will give bonus points to first week front-runners.

Subscription Point Chart

What it was was rain

By Margaret Rench

Lincoln town had one inch of good rain last Friday afternoon as it was reported to me. It rained below Lincoln too though hailed near Bert Pfingsten heavily. Oh, how happy everyone was and is and I am happy for them. We had only clouds but our time will come later. It was so refreshing Saturday as I was driving to Lincoln. That rain does refresh the atmosphere. So cool. Our school closed for the summer. The children seem happy and gay, but they will be just as glad for it to start this fall.

There is grading being done at the El Paisano today. The cabins away and one rebuilt for storage and all is so very clean and pretty. All of this weekend cleaning went on in the Town. At this time the sight at the old drugstore site is being cleaned. Mr. Pat Huey is going to take the adobes down. Soon that corner will be cleared.

Mr. Glover Dobbs spent last weekend here with his mother Mrs. Doris Pounds and left Tuesday. He helped his mother in her yard work and how she did appreciate it. He has engineered Sound Systems business in Clovis. The name of his business is B. W. Sound Incorporated. I wish him success and we do know he will succeed. As he recently graduated from Eastern College in Portales.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rankin of Ralls, Texas visited her daughter, Mrs. Ellen Faye Cornelius, Beverly and Kaye as they were enroute to their home from their Arizona vacation.

Mrs. Eltha Merrell returned Wednesday May 16 from three weeks vacation with her sister, Mrs. Fred Schroeder of Jonesboro, Ark. She went via plane from Albuquerque both ways. She visited Mrs. Ruth (James) Anderson before she went. In other words three days each time. She had a great time, but it was good to get home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean, Jr. and family spent last weekend in Las Cruces visiting his sister Miss Janie Randle and Joe Paul, Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Taylor and Christi. They helped Janie get settled in her new trailer home. Enjoyed it all very much.

David and Dorothy Evans went to Austin, Texas to spend two weeks to visit family and friends.

Mr. Dale Floyd purchased a new beautiful blue four door car complete with stereo, radio and all equipment. I know he will enjoy that for many years. I am happy for him.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris of Hollywood visited his aunts, Miss Lou Harris and Mrs. Maude Kingston, last Sunday evening.

Congratulations to a lovely delightful couple on their Golden Wedding Anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cumpston on Wednesday, May 16. They are now living in Carlsbad though formerly lived in Lincoln. Sold their home and moved due to their health. We do miss them. I wish you many more very happy years together.

Eddie Jones recently underwent knee surgery on his left knee which was injured while playing football. He spent last week in Roswell.

Mrs. Terry Strickland and Rhonda spent several days in Hobbs last week visiting relatives and returned Thursday.

Jimmie Wright of New Mexico State completed his first year and is now home for the summer. He is at work for the Ruidoso Forest Service.

Mrs. Dee Hickman of Tularosa entered the Carrizozo Hospital May 9 and was released Friday 19th. I wish you a good recovery and good health.

Zozo raises water, sewer, trash ante

The Town of Carrizozo has announced increases in its charges for municipal water, sewer and garbage services.

The higher rates go into effect June 1. The new minimum charge for water is to be $3 for 3,000 gallons.

From 3,001 to 4,000 gallons, the charge will be 45 cents per 1,000 gallons. From 4,001 to 5,000, the new cost will be at the rate of 40 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Deposit for water service will go to $10 for residential users; commercial users will still deposit $15.

A new reconnect charge of $2 will be effective on the same date.

Garbage and sewer charges will be increased by $1 each month.

Wooten for Probate Judge

Mrs. Eltha Merrell and Mrs. Lorene Ferguson visited Mrs. Vera Beall in Lincoln last Sunday afternoon.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson at their ranch home last Sunday were Mr. Jack Conley of Phoenix, Arizona and his mother Mrs. Conley of Oklahoma.

Do not forget to attend the Voting Machine School of Instruction at the Commissioners Room at the Courthouse in Carrizozo May 30 at 2 p.m. It is important, as it makes better officials at election.

Conservators will compete

The Carrizozo Soil and Water Conservation District will compete for the top prizes in the 26th annual Goodyear Conservation Awards Program, according to A. W. Gnalkowski, Ancho, district chairman.

The district will put its 1972 record of conservation, achievements against other districts in the contest sponsored by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company in cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD). An independent judging committee will select the first and second place districts in the state.

Each first-place district wins expense-paid, vacation-study trips for its outstanding cooperator and a member of the governing board. Representatives of 53 award-winning conservation districts nationwide will be guests of Goodyear on a tour of outstanding resource development projects.

The awards program also includes recognition of the outstanding cooperator who will be selected by the district from the 85 landowners and land users who are enrolled in the Carrizozo district's program.

Members of the district governing board are A. W. Gnalkowski, Ancho, Bill Gallacher, Jr., Carrizozo, Bill Stephenson, Carrizozo, Johnson Stearns, Carrizozo, and Lee Straley, Ancho.

Life quality seminars plan

LAS CRUCES - A series of environmental quality seminars in six cities throughout the state have been scheduled for late May and in June by the New Mexico Environmental Institute.

The seminars will be informational in nature and will discuss the implications of state and national environmental legislation, the authorities and responsibilities of county and municipal governments, effects on individuals, and the requirements of an Environmental Impact Statement.

Keight Austin, extension leader in community resource development at New Mexico State University, said the seminar schedule will begin May 30 in Albuquerque with a session at the 4-H Center at 1:30 p.m.

It will be followed by others at the Chamber of Commerce in Gallup at 2 p.m. May 31; at the City Schools Bldg. in Las Vegas at 7:30 p.m. June 1; at Western New Mexico University in Silver City at 7:30 p.m. June 6; at the Extension club Bldg. in Roswell at 2 p.m. June 7, and at the Youth Recreation center in Tucumcari at 1:30 p.m. June 8.

The Environmental Institute said other seminars are planned during the next year and a half.

An overview of New Mexico's environmental problems will be examined in a series slated for October of this year. Next May, the series will look at techniques and concepts of rural land use planning, and next October the series will deal with the relation of air, water, environmental and land use qualities.

The seminars, conducted in cooperation with district U. S. Dept. of Agriculture Rural Development Committees, will be presented by Dr. John Hernandez, a professor of Civil engineering at NMSU, and Thomas Bowell, executive director of the New Mexico Environmental Institute.

Tar Heel Visitors . . .

15 GEOLOGY STUDENTS from the University of North Carolina's Geoscience Department visited and looked over New Mexico earth in the Carrizozo vicinity over the weekend. The touring students are on a field trip throughout the Southwest under the direction of Dr. R. J.

Carson, associate professor of geology at the Raleigh, N. C., institutions. The News found the group along Highway 380 examining rock strata in a highway cut about halfway from Zozo to Capitan.

Fertilizer use on the increase

LAS CRUCES - Consumption of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium fertilizer has increased nearly fivefold in the United States since 1950. Led by steady gains in nitrogen, total use reached 13.5 million tons in 1971. Nitrogen's steady growth was due mainly to declines in relative price—particularly of anhydrous ammonia—and to the excellent yield response on forage and crop production, says Gordon B. Hoff, extension agronomist at New Mexico State University.

In recent years, the use of these primary plant foods has grown faster in New Mexico than in the nation as a whole, he adds.

Since 1966, New Mexico's use of nitrogen has increased more than three-fourths, phosphorus nearly two-fifths, and potassium three-tenths. Some of the increase is due to refinement of rates, availability of new crop varieties with potential for higher yields, and the fertilizing of a wider range of crops.

Compared with prices of other farm inputs, the price index of fertilizer has been fairly stable in the past 20 years, varying from a high of 110 in 1954 to a low of 99 in 1969 (1950-100). Prices for 1971 were up, due to higher marketing charges and a 17 per cent rise in the average farm price of potash.

Farm prices of most nitrogen and potash fertilizers are expected to level out in 1972,

Artists visit old Lincoln

By Hattie Phillips

Old Lincoln Town hosted a large crowd Sunday, when the Red Geranium Antique Shop sponsored an outdoor art show and the Sheep to Shawl Shop had open house and gave demonstration showing how to card and spin wool, weave etc. Ernest McDaniel of Glencoe, demonstrated the art of doing macrame and showed some lovely wood carvings he had done while Mickey Thomas and Rosalie Dunlap demonstrated their arts.

Another art show is in a planning stage. Some lovely work was shown by well known artists and the many beautiful articles in the Red Geranium Shop were admired.

Scharbauer will fly to Europe on a tour of every European country. He has a completely planned trip designed for college students. One particularly exciting part will be visiting and skiing in Switzerland, but he will travel by rail or car to the most interesting spots in each country. It certainly should prove to be, not only interesting and educational, but also very enjoyable.

We are rather down-hearted, today. The Campstons have moved as of today to Carlsbad and we're all going to miss these wonderful neighbors very much.

We certainly heartily hope they will be in good health... and very happy in their new surroundings.

John (Jack) Thomas, Jr. who works for the S.C.S. at Espanola suffered a broken leg while roping a calf and had surgery on Monday morning. His parents John and Mickey Thomas left Monday afternoon for Espanola to be with him for a day or two.

Bill Ward spent the weekend in Vail, Colo. attending the Rocky Mountain United States Ski Association Convention.

Bill, who was president of the Rocky Mountain Area was accorded the honor of being chosen as one of the board of directors.

The Lincoln area had a very nice rain last Friday afternoon to help make gardens grow.

Forest blaze action swift

CAPITAN -- A spokesman for the Lincoln National Forest said a fire last weekend burned over approximately one acre in the Alpine Village Development north of Ruidoso.

Two slurry drops were made as two pumper crews and an Indian fire fighter team surrounded the fire.

The blaze was man-caused, the spokesman said at a moment of "extremely" high fire danger to which low humidity contributed.

Santa Fe--The primary election* campaign thundered into the stretch but registration showed few 18-20-year-old voters-eligible to cast ballots June 6.

Atty. Gen. David Norvell, formerly of Clovis, said he is taking compensatory and annual leave time to campaign full time for the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination. Lt. Gov. Robert Mondragon, previously of Santa Rosa, says he will take a "couple of days" of leave to campaign in the same race.

Norvell and Mondragon are elected officials. And elected officials are not subject to compensatory and leave time under the State Personnel Act. In practice they set their own working hours.

The light new under-21 voter registration is shown in county totals reported here: Colfax, 153 voters under 21--105 Democrats; 40 Republicans; 8 declined to state; Curry, 705 under 21--435 Democrats; 211 Republicans; 58 declined to state; minor parties, one; Guadalupe--161 under 21; 124 Democrats; 30 Republicans; declined to state, 7.

Lincoln--104 under 21; 52 Democrats; 39 Republicans; 13 declined to state; Luna--280 under 21; 204 Democrats; 67 Republicans; 6 declined to state; minor parties, 3, and Sierra--73 under 21; 37 Democrats; 34 Republicans; 2 declined to state.

Democrats held their 2.2-1 total voter registration advantage statewide over Republicans, only 5 to 6 per cent of eligibles under 21 registered.

Albuquerquean Pete Domenici, Republican U. S. Senate candidate, told 40 persons at Clovis he found nearly unanimous support for GOP President Richard M. Nixon's Vietnam policies among voters. Domenici called for local control of programs now federally administered.

He promised to build a stronger Republican Party to compete with the Democratic Party. Curry County registration is 3.4-1 Democratic over the GOP.

Sierra County Republican rancher Reuben Pankey attended the Domenici-Clovis rally. Pankey of Monticello seeks the GOP U. S. House District 2 nomination against Ed Presson of Silver City. Pankey is favored. Pankey campaigned early this week in the Grants area.

Santa Fe lawyer Gene Gallegos, formerly of Tucumcari, told a Tucumcari audience $20 billion for new domestic programs could be realized by cutting Defense Department spending. Gallegos would end the Indochina War, reduce the 2,000 U. S. overseas military bases and the 300,000 U. S. troops in Europe along.

A fiscal 1973 Fort Sumner Public Schools budget of $502,391 was tentatively approved after an annual public hearing in Fort Sumner. The tabulation of resources for the total: State money, $372,214 or 74 per cent; local, $103,957; federal, $4,700, and carry over cash balance, $21,520.

Fort Sumner Schools Supt. James R. Fincke's salary was raised $500 to $13,700. Teachers will account for about $222,000 of the budget for 27 instructors. The over-all proposed Fort Sumner fiscal 1973 budget is up about $52,400 over the present fiscal year. The estimated fiscal 1973 enrollment of 545 is down 37 pupils from the current year.

HONESTY IN GOVERNMENT

Jack Daniels believes the most important qualities for any candidate are honesty, integrity and ability to make decisions. To be effective, government must be honest; open and responsive to the needs and desires of the people.

DEEP CONCERN ABOUT THE PEOPLE IN NEW MEXICO

Jack Daniels believes that New Mexicans want as the next U.S. Senator a man who is concerned with the people of New Mexico, their problems, their needs—a man who will devote all of his time to helping our state and all of its people.

MASSIVE JOB DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

The biggest problem in New Mexico today is JOBS. Jack Daniels believes that we need more and better jobs and will work hard to use the office of United States Senator not only to keep the jobs we have but also to get more and better jobs for the people of New Mexico.

PROTECTION OF OUR NATURAL BEAUTY

The danger signals are here for all to see—and unless New Mexico acts quickly and decisively, the natural beauty and resources of our state will be destroyed. Tough, determined leadership is required to lead this fight for the preservation of our environment and natural resources.

MAJOR CRACKDOWN ON DRUGS

The greatest threat to our young people is the easy availability and increased use of drugs. Jack Daniels proposes a program aimed at compulsory drug education in schools to alert young people to the awful consequences of drug abuse, medical treatment and community programs for addicts, as well as strong penalties for the pusher.

Las Cruces--A real dilemma faces fathers--and some mothers: Does the breadwinner emphasize financial or emotional support? And, is it possible to satisfy both functions and still do each job effectively?

Many contend that it's difficult to be both a good father and a successful business or professional man. To some extent, society's values are changing. Increased emphasis is placed on the emotional contributions of the father, says Leo Yates, extension family life specialist with New Mexico State University.

A good father strives to develop a helping, loving, and trusting relationship, he points out. Busy fathers should find comfort in the fact that the amount of time spent need not be the determining factor in the strength or weakness of that relationship. In fact, human development specialists have concurred for many years that quantity doesn't make quality.

Certainly there has to be some time spent together or there's avoidance instead of interaction, Yates believes. A certain amount of interaction is necessary to maintain good feelings toward each other. There has to be time for father and daughter as well as father and son, just as there needs to be time between father and mother. But in addition, the whole family needs some time together to develop emotional bonds of the group. This family bond may not seem significantly visible on a day-to-day basis, but is especially and importantly visible during a crisis, Yates says.

"It is the sentiment toward each other that counts," he adds. "Merely being together

Las Cruces--Do you have a sewing problem? Difficulty with putting in zippers? Baffled about the assortment of notions, threads and fabrics to choose from? Give professional home economists will be on the NMSU campus June 15 to answer your questions and show you the latest sewing techniques. The Corbett Center Ballroom will be turned into a "Fashion Fiesta" for part of the annual Homemakers College, says Miss Kathryn Treat, extension clothing specialist at New Mexico State University.

The five home economists participating in Fashion Fiesta are representatives of the following companies: Armo Co., Coats & Clark, Inc., Pellon Corp., Talon, and Unique Zipper. As field home economists, they each travel around the country speaking to home sewers, teachers and students, and radio and TV audiences.

Representing the Armo Co. will be Mrs. Lou Ann Gilhool, whose sewing demonstration will be "Sewing for the Man in Your Life." Emphasis will be on sewing men's shirts and ties and using double knits for sport coats. The program includes how to sew with menswear knits, how to choose the proper fabrics and notions, how to select the proper shaping fabrics, and how to apply pockets. Mrs. Gilhool's lecture is supplemented with model garments and visual aids.

Miss Annette Ripper, fashion sewing consultant for Coats & Clark, Inc., will illustrate professional sewing tips. Included will be pointers on the proper choice and use of thread, adjustments of the sewing machine, and special sewing techniques on fabrics such as novelty knits and lingerie.

"Fashion Sewing with Polyester Pellon" is the topic of Miss Eileen Foley of the Pellon Corp. Miss Foley will discuss tailoring techniques for the professional look with today's fashions and fabrics. She will explain in detail the uses of the three polyester Pellons in tailoring. She will have a variety of model garments and samples illustrating new construction methods and the latest in tailoring techniques.

Representing Talon will be Miss Lois Rompel, who will demonstrate the use of their line from thread to zippers and decorative trims.

Miss Gerry Uhlenhaut, the Educational Representative of Unique Zipper, will

Some political deadlines near

Lincoln County Clerk Alice King this week called attention to some upcoming events of the political calendar:

Two schools of instruction for voting machine precincts are scheduled--May 30 at 2 p.m. in the County Commission room of the courthouse and May 31 at 2 p.m.--both in the County Commission room at the courthouse.

Additionally, she said, her office will be open May 27 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. That is the last day on which, by state law, county clerks may accept absent voter applications by mail.

June 1 is the last day for acceptance of absentee ballot applications in person. Absentee ballots may be cast up to 5 p.m. on June 1.

WALTER JONES talks about the issues

PLANNING AND ZONING:
In the next several years the strength and vision of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission will be all important. The county must come up with a planning and zoning law by itself, or one will be imposed on us by the state or federal government. If this happens, it'll be done by people who don't have an understanding of our county. As your county commissioner, I'll see that all opinions are considered and that planning and zoning is fair to everyone.

doesn't guarantee anything. It may only create more conflict if warm feelings aren't shared. So, it's the combination of being there and enjoying it that makes the difference in interaction.

"Lots of people worry about the amount of time that fathers spend away from home. Or, they're overly concerned about a negative effect if the mother works. There's no research evidence to indicate the child is adversely affected, reports Yates.

Southland fish rising to bait

Fishing continues good to great in southeastern New Mexico lakes and streams. Here's a hole-by-hole report as of the first of the week:

Bonito Lake -- Fishing good (especially early in the morning) on all baits.

Alto Lake -- Same as Bonito, reportedly.

Lower Pecos River -- Some catfish being caught on trotlines baited with cut bait.

All southeastern trout waters were stocked with catfish the week of May 8; fishing fair to good.

Alamogordo Lake -- Crappie fishing improved and improving with minnows apparently best bait. Catfishing fair on minnow-baited trotlines. Walleye and bass takes slow to fair.

From Elephant Butte and Caballo, the reports are of good catches of crappie and white bass on minnows, small jigs and yellow Shyster spinners. Catfishing good on bait and prepared catfish baits.

Approximately 17,000 northern pike fingerlings were planted in Elephant Butte Lake last week. In addition, an estimated 1,600 of the northern pike were released into the Rio Grande below Elephant Butte Dam and are expected to make their way downstream and into Caballo Lake.

The northern pike were placed in rearing ponds at the old Federal fish hatchery, just below Elephant Butte on the Rio Grande, approximately six weeks ago.

This marks the third year that Elephant Butte has been planted with northern pike raised to fingerling size in the rearing ponds and the pike have shown a phenomenal growth rate in that lake. The largest pike caught from the lake to date was an 8 1/2 pounder taken last August. In addition a netting survey showed that one northern pike gained 6.9 inches in length and 3 1/2 pounds in a period of six months time.

Prior to going to the method of raising the fish to fingerling size before planting, Department of Game and Fish fisheries personnel had very little success with establishing populations of the northern through fry plantings.

Keep swine visitor-free

LAS CRUCES -- To prevent outbreaks of transmissible gastroenteritis (TGE), keep visitors out of the swine farrowing area.

Limit the number of people coming into the farrowing house, says Neil Burcham, extension assistant livestock specialist at New Mexico State University. Human visitors and attendants, birds, tractor and feed truck tires may carry the virus from diseased herds, he points out.

Prior to or during farrowing, growers should avoid bring new swine onto the farm, Burcham suggests.

If possible, plan for swine to farrow in late spring after the height of the TGE season, the specialist advises. This may be an impossible practice in a multiple farrowing enterprise.

"Though deliberate exposure of pregnant swine to TGE virus is the only way to induce adequate immunity against the disease, this is not generally a desirable practice," he says.

"With deliberate infection or exposure come dangers of establishing a reservoir of infection and unforeseen consequences."

Use this method only after talking with your local veterinarian, Burcham adds.

TO THE EDITOR:

Dear Publisher:

We need your help in our crackdown against heroin trafficking now underway across the country.

The President on April 7 announced establishment of the "Heroin Hotline," a nationwide, toll-free telephone number to provide American citizens with a quick and convenient way to report information on heroin pushers.

That telephone number is (800) 368-5363. Anything you can do toward publishing this number in a prominent place in your newspaper, such as within a box on page one, will be a tremendous help in moving this program forward.

The telephones are manned at a center in Washington around the clock, seven days a week. Trained operators on duty are under the supervision of experienced Federal agents. The caller need not identify himself, and the rights of all callers will be fully protected.

We believe this national "turn in a pusher" program has tremendous potential. But as I said, we need your help in promoting the telephone number. Anything you can do will be greatly appreciated.

Thank you for your cooperation.

MYLES J. AMBROSE
SPECIAL ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
DRUG ABUSE LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICE

TO THE EDITOR:

Here are some of my thoughts about how a county should be run, especially a county like Lincoln -- over half the lands state or federally owned, a situation that has the taxpayer about choked down already and no end in sight.

How about opening up every possible road to the Forest and marking them as access roads?

After all, tourists, hunters, woodcutters, prospectors or whoever own that land as well as the Forest Service (whose only job is to supervise the Forest, not cut 97 per cent of the people out by creating wilderness areas or suing some miner for improving a road to his mine or claims that has existed for 20 years, or causing woodcutters to have to bid on a 100-cord contract in order to get a contract at all. That last alone cut over 100 parttime jobs out of the county that we desperately needed.)

N.M. - Mexico flights urged

WASHINGTON -- U. S. Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., has strongly urged that the Civil Aeronautics Board and the U. S. State Department take steps to authorize international airline flights between Albuquerque and points in Mexico.

Sen. Montoya made his views known through a staff aide during hearings at Albuquerque International Airport on the state's desire for the new service.

The senator could not attend due to other congressional business. However, he had letters, addressed to Mr. Secor D. Browne, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, presented at the hearing in support of the request.

The senator's letter to the Civil Aeronautics Board chairman stated:

"I want you to know that I am 100 per cent in favor of establishing direct airline service between Mexico and Albuquerque, New Mexico."

"I urgently request that you give this matter your prompt attention with the idea of carrying the case before the U. S. State Department for negotiations with the Mexican government."

"Direct airline service between Mexico and Albuquerque would enhance the state's chances of increasing its exports, boosting its tourist business and generally improving its economy."

"Albuquerque could become the hub of air travel to and from points in Mexico for the region."

Sen. Montoya, prime mover in getting Albuquerque International Airport its port-of-entry designation, started the ball rolling toward the international airline service earlier this year by meeting with both Mexican and American airline officials.

How about the Forest Service spending thousands of dollars to pull trees down and then leave them laying to really clutter up the countryside, then turn around and sue, or threaten to sue a miner for pushing over a couple trees to widen his road on a patented piece of ground?

How about these county roads that lead to the Forest that are marked "Private Road," "Keep Out," "No Hunting" and the like when they should be marked "Access to the Forest?"

How about the coyote? They kill more little deer, antelope, quail and other small game than any other one thing, including the hunters. There should have been a bounty put on them instead of a "No Poison" program. The coyote and the rattlesnake are in the same category, to my way of thinking.

How about putting a county road grader and perator in the five main towns and concentrating them when and where moisture conditions are right?

I may not make it, but I sure intend to raise a dust. Thanks for voting anyway.

Dear Dick,

I desire to take this opportunity to commend you for the dignified manner in which you are apparently conducting your campaign for re-election as District Judge of the Twelfth Judicial District.

During the years you and I were the two Judges of the Third Judicial District prior to the creation of the Twelfth Judicial District by the 1971 Legislature and your subsequent appointment as Judge of the newly created Twelfth Judicial District, I had many occasions to observe the capable and fair manner in which you discharged your duties. I sincerely trust that the electorate of Otero and Lincoln Counties will retain you as their District Judge.
