

Arnold's going to do alright

(Tony Payton, filling in for his father again this week, talks over the local political situation with his friend Arnold.)

I ran into my friend Arnold on the street Tuesday. Arnold, you will recall, is a politician's politician.

"How are you doin'?" I said to Arnold. "Great, just great," he answered, "and you're just the guy I've been looking for."

"Oh yeah," I said, "that's good. What can I do for you?" Arnold, finally taking the cigar out of his mouth, pointed his finger at me just below the neck and said: "You know what you ought to do. You oughta write an editorial about this filing fee business."

"Oh," I said in mock surprise. "Do you think there's something wrong with the filing-fee situation here in New Mexico?"

With this Arnold assumed one of his favorite pool hall stances. He leaned his back against the side of the building where we were standing, and with one foot on the ground, brought the other up to about knee height against the bricks.

I could tell the soapbox orator had taken the stage. "Anything wrong?" he shouted. "Why just this morning I had to go down and pay a filing fee to run for public office."

I inserted: "So did the rest of the candidates, Arnold."

"Yeh," he shouted again, "but all those other guys have a lot more money than I have. Why I had to borrow half my fee from my dad's business."

Arnold continued: "It's discrimination, that's what it is. I mean, any red-blooded American should be able to run for public office and it shouldn't have to cost him a thing."

Seeing that Arnold, even while shouting nearly at the top of his voice, appeared to be quite comfortable in his pool hall stance, I joined him along side the store front. "But Arnold," I cautioned, "who would pay for the elections? That's what happens to the filing fees, you know."

He seemed not to hear. "Those other guys running for county surveyor have loads of loot. But me, I don't have that kinda money. It was really a hardship on me and my family to come up with the filing fee."

"How much was it?" I asked, knowing full well the answer.

Arnold's voice came down an octave. "Well it doesn't sound like much, but to us it's a lot."

"How much, Arnold?"

"$79.60," Arnold said, gazing steadily at the passing cars.

"Surely your friends and supporters could have helped you come up with that much money," I suggested.

Arnold, still watching the passing vehicles, said: "Well, I did get a few donations—but not much."

"As a member of the working press, Arnold, I don't want to pry into the financial aspects of your campaign," I explained. "But things must be looking pretty good if you're already getting campaign contributions."

Here-lit his cigar and tucked his thumbs under his suspenders. "Yeah, things are looking pretty good."

After a moments pause, he said: "You won't put this in the paper will you?"

"Probably not, Arnold," I said, privately wondering how many — if any — of the paper's faithful readers would care one way or the other about Arnold's campaign and its financial hardships.

"Well, like I said, my dad chipped in $20, and my wife put up another $20," he began explaining. "And, of course Louie at the pool hall gave me $15. Oh, and the guys down at the pool hall passed a hat and came up with $8.50."

"That's not bad for a local campaign," I said, adding his contributions to a total of $63.50. "I'll bet some of the state-wide candidates wish they were doing as well."

"Oh yeah," Arnold added, "and I also got $10 from my brother-in-law the lawyer over in Socorro."

"You've got no complaints, Arnold," I added: "Why, between your pool hall buddies and your relatives, you came up with all but $4.10 of your filing fee."

CARRIZOZO, N. M. 88301

Still eight primary matches

Candidate field thinned by three

When the deadline for candidates to pay their filing fees came late Tuesday afternoon, Lincoln County found itself with three less political hopefuls than had originally filed for office.

The three "dropouts" were Democrat Elmer R. Pirelli of Ruidoso, a district three county commission candidate; Democrat Ann Means of Carrizozo, a candidate of county assessor; and Republican county treasurer hopeful Rosella Kirkpatrick of Carrizozo.

The 25 remaining candidates had all paid the required filing fee on or before last Friday—though the deadline had been extended until Tuesday at 5 p.m. on a ruling by the U. S. Supreme Court.

County clerk Alice King said she will now proceed with the printing of the county ballots—a task that had been delayed for four days by the continuing controversy over filing fees.

"We received a call from the Secretary of State's office," Mrs. King said at 5 p.m. Tuesday, "telling us to go ahead."

County officials—as well as the candidates—were hoping the month-long dilemma was finally settled and that the primary election process could get underway. However, it was reported in Santa Fe earlier this week that the Supreme Court's ruling would be further challenged.

With a field of 25 candidates, voters in Lincoln County will still be faced with choosing in four primary contests in each political party.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick's withdrawal left incumbent county treasurer Mabel Vigil unopposed for the GOP nomination. However, there will still be Republican primary contests for county commissioner in districts one and two, as well as for sheriff and probate judge.

And, on the Democratic side, Mrs. Means withdrawal from the county assessor's contest, left Emmeline W. Beck with a free ride into the general election. But there will still be primary election matches for county commission seats in district one and three, as well as for sheriff and probate judge.

With the 25 candidates submitting filing fees, the county's problem of how to finance the primary election appeared to be solved.

The clerk's office collected a total of $7,216 from the 25 candidates. Though any candidate receiving 15 percent of the vote in the primary will get a 50 percent refund, the county was still assured of ending up with more than $3,500—far more than the estimated $2,000 the county budget would find itself short if filing fees hadn't been required.

However, a telegram from the Secretary of State's office in Santa Fe directed Mrs. King to keep the filing fees in a special "suspense fund" just in case the law is reversed yet another time.

Here's the way the candidate line-up finally ended up:

County commissioner district one: Democrats Walter L. Jones of Capitan and Roman Chavez Nunez of Picacho; Republicans Proceso Salcido of Hondo and Paul Pacheco of Tinnie.

County commissioner district two: Democrat Salvador M. Ortiz of Carrizozo; Republicans J. O. Payne and Leroy B. Acker, both of Carrizozo. County commissioner district three: Democrats Tom W. Jones Jr. and W. A. Hart, both of Ruidoso; Republican Leland Stone of Ruidoso.

County clerk: Democrat Rexene Howell Huey of Capitan; Republican Barbara Lovelace of Carrizozo.

County assessor: Democrat Emmeline W. Beck of Capitan; Republican Julia Samora of Carrizozo.

County treasurer: Democrat Amelita Jenkins of Capitan; Republican Mabel Vigil of Carrizozo. Sheriff: Democrats Haskell Lee Graham of San Patricio, Conception A. Morales of Carrizozo and John Thomas of Lincoln; Republicans Leandro Vega Jr. of Carrizozo and Robert Albert Crenshaw of Carrizozo.

Probate judge: Democrats Austin Wooten of Carrizozo and George P. White of Ruidoso; Republicans John Roger Kuhn of Ruidoso and Merle Foster of Carrizozo.

Superintendents oppose merger plan

The five school superintendents in Lincoln County are united in their opposition to a proposal to merge the local school districts under a single administration.

A plan to merge Carrizozo, Capitan, Hondo and Ruidoso schools into a single district, and to place Corona schools into a district with several schools in Torrance, De Baca and Guadalupe Counties, is currently being viewed by the State Legislative School Study Committee.

Santa Fe newspaper columnist Fred Buckles said last week the merger proposal will probably be introduced before the 1973 session of the legislature.

However, a Lincoln County News poll of the superintendents of the five existing school districts in the county showed they are adamant in their opposition to the plan.

"You would be doing away with local control," Corona superintendent Louis Stratton told the News.

"Basically, the whole thing is a little far-fetched," Ruidoso superintendent Pat Valliant said.

"Perhaps there would be advantages in some areas, but not in Lincoln County," was the opinion of Carrizozo superintendent Jimmy Steinpreis.

"It won't be the economic savings they think it will be," said Hondo superintendent Ernest Booky.

"The object is to improve education, but I don't see the consolidation of administrations as accomplishing that," Ira Caster, superintendent at Capitan, explained.

The LSSC plan would cut the number of schools districts throughout the state from 89 down to 33. Only seven districts in the state would remain unchanged.

Buckles said the mergers, though unpopular with many rural New Mexicans, may meet with approval in the next legislative session. The County sheriff's personnel spending time in classroom

Sheriff's deputy Alfred "Leroy" Montes has just completed the required basic training course at the State Law Enforcement Academy in Santa Fe.

Completion of the course by Montes means that every officer on the Lincoln County department is now certified under the recent state law requiring all law enforcement officers in the state to be certified by an accredited school.

Montes, who works in the Capitan area, earlier had six years' experience on the Alamogordo Police Department.

Practically every member of the sheriff's staff either recently has, or soon will be, attending a school.

Radio dispatcher Pat Moore has attended a dispatchers school at the academy in Santa Fe.

Sheriff Ernest Sanchez and undersheriff Leandro Vega Jr. will attend a police management school at the academy—the second week in May.

Kenneth Mays, who recently joined the department, will be attending a jail management school at the academy this week and is scheduled to attend a basic training course later in the spring.

Jerry Foster, the deputy who works in the Ruidoso-Alto area, is scheduled to attend the academy to take the basic course—even though he is already certified to keep up with new and changing methods and techniques.

News and Notes

Egg prices now low-priced

By Mary Ellen Payne

Eggs are low-priced now, due to the plentiful supply. The three consumer grades of eggs are U. S. Grade AA or Fresh Fancy, Grade A and Grade B. The price varies for different sized eggs of the same grade. Generally speaking, if there is less than a seven-cent price spread per dozen eggs between one size and the next smaller size in the same grade, buy the larger size.

Egg size refers to the minimum weight per dozen. Sizes most often found are: Extra large—27 ounces; Large—24 ounces; and Medium—21 ounces. The official grade shield on egg cartons certifies that the eggs have been graded for quality and size under Federal-State supervision. The grading service is provided on a voluntary basis to those who request it and pay the fee.

Always buy eggs from a refrigerated case and then refrigerate them promptly at home. Store eggs large-end-up to help maintain quality.

Fresh blueberries will soon be on the market. Look for the dark blue color with a silvery bloom—that's your best indication of quality according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They should be plump, firm, and uniform in size.

It's time to swing into summertime thoughts when living is easy. Start with easy to prepare, simple, yet nutritionally satisfying meals. Plan meals to include surprise guests. Watch your local food store ads for foods featured on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Plentiful Foods List. Featured for May are: broiler-fryers, eggs, milk and nonfat dry milk, potatoes and potato products, canned peaches and canned fruit cocktail.

Oven-fried chicken, always a favorite, may be teamed with warm peaches. Place canned peach halves in the pan with the chicken for the last fifteen minutes of cooking time. It's attractive and delicious, too. Serve versatile hard-cooked eggs, creamed, in sandwiches, in salads, and deviled, to satisfy every taste.

Mrs. Thornton new president

Mrs. J. E. Thornton has been elected president of the Carrizozo Women's Club.

Her election was at the club's meeting last Thursday.

Other officers elected were first vice president Mrs. Frank Lindsey, second vice president Mrs. Austin Wooten, recording secretary Mrs. Welcom Armstrong, treasurer Mrs. A. N. Spencer, parliamentarian Mrs. Bill Payne.

One new member was elected to the board of directors Mrs. William Hayes.

Mrs. Frank Lindsey and Mrs. C. A. Snow were elected as delegates to the state convention in Las Vegas April 26 and 27.

Mrs. Hayes was appointed as Sun Princess Chairman.

Members and guests enjoyed an unusual but interesting meeting Thursday afternoon at the woman's club.

Mrs. Henry Massie of Alamogordo gave a very interesting book review, "Time for Outrage," a story of the Lincoln County War.

Following the book review guests and members were entertained by one of the local rock and country groups. Boys playing in the band were Stan Wheeler, Steve Wheeler, Artie Ortiz and Larry Lindsey. The boys and their music were greatly enjoyed by all.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Kelley Stephenson and Mrs. B. W. Wilson.

Mrs. Frank Lindsey was program chairman.

Mrs. Bob Byrd hosts meeting of Beta Sigma Phi chapter

Gamma Theta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met in the home of Mrs. Bob Byrd April 10.

Following the opening ritual, president Mrs. Robert Williams conducted the business meeting. The "Girl of the Year" was voted on by secret ballot vote and the trophy will be presented to her on Founders Day, April 30, the 40th anniversary of Beta Sigma Phi.

A very interesting program was given by Miss Shirley Daugherty on sculpture and painting. Miss Daugherty suggested that we become more aware of different types of art. She also said many people devote their entire life studying art but because some paintings are so expensive we can still enjoy art by visiting museums and going to art shows. Miss Daugherty presented several paintings that were discussed by the members.

Following the program refreshments were served. The table was beautifully set with an off-white silver woven metallic tablecloth edged with a three inch band of pure silver metallic. A small bouquet of pink roses with a silver tapered candle on each side was the centerpiece.

Spinning wheel prize

Corona student in national finals

Mel Gnatkowski, sophomore at Corona High School, has been notified that his entry in the national Stanley Pool Company contest has been placed among the top 10 of the ninth and 10th grade division.

Mel designed and built a spinning wheel as a woodworking class project last year. When John R. Pool, shop instructor at Corona, received announcement of the Stanley Contest, he encouraged Mel to enter his spinning wheel.

A picture of the spinning wheel along with a list of materials and plans were sent to New Britain, Conn., where they were judged for originality of design, completeness of the plan, usefulness and workmanship of the completed project.

Mel was notified last Thursday of his place among the top ten entries. He has sent the spinning wheel itself to New Britain for final judging. $1,000 is the first place award, with $200, $100, and $50 prizes to be awarded to others of the ten finalists.

is one of several scientists who have utilized the research facilities on a 20-acre area in the Lincoln National Forest some four miles north of Ruidoso.

NMSU scientists study forest life

Four years ago, Sam Montgomery of Ruidoso gave a 20-acre plot of forested land to New Mexico State University for use as a biological research station.

Montgomery, a Ruidoso land developer, said, "The university was looking for a location to establish a research station. I thought this area was very appropriate because of the mountains, desert and the plants and animals. I also felt that locating the station near Ruidoso would help the local economy."

Since that time, NMSU has built a concrete block building on the site with sleeping facilities for 20 persons, a kitchen, bathrooms and workspace for research activities.

Plans for the future, providing funds become available, include the construction of a laboratory and additional dormitories, according to Dr. Max Dunford, director of the Montgomery Biological Field Station.

Located four-miles north of Ruidoso in the Lincoln National Forest, the site is less than 10 miles from the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation and the White Mountain Wilderness Area. The station is close enough to Ruidoso for obtaining supplies, yet remote enough to allow the privacy required of a research facility.

The nearby White Mountains present a wide diversity of habitats including the 12,000 foot Sierra Blanca Peak - the southern most peak in North America which shows effects of Pleistocene glaciation.

There are two lakes and two permanent streams in the area, and the peculiarities of the flora and fauna located in a geographical location containing five life zones make the area an ideal locale for a research station.

The life-zones range from alpine to the Chihuahuan Desert of the Tularosa Basin. Also, the White Sands National Monument and the Malpais Lava Flow are within 45 minutes of the site.

Dick Maze, 33, a graduate student about to complete doctoral studies, is one of several persons who has utilized the Montgomery Station.

Dunford said the site has been used by various groups and organizations for research dealing with plant and animal life. It has also served as a conference site for several groups, including the forest service.

Maze is conducting research on three species of Nuthatches, (woodpecker-like birds), to determine how Nuthatches use the forest environment.

Maze said his research shows that competition between species is offset by the different ways each species used the environment, particularly by foraging in different parts of the tree.

The species native to New Mexico are the White-breasted Nuthatch, red-breasted Nuthatch, and the pygmy Nuthatch.

Maze, who has been working at the Montgomery site off and on since 1970, said his research on Nuthatches was made easier by having access to the station and its proximity to the five life zones.

The building at the site is used primarily as a base of operations for sleeping, cooking, and sorting out data gathered there.

In other research, Dunford recounted how a Texas biologist and his family used the field station to do research on insects and discovered two genera of insects in the process.

Sam Montgomery added that while the research was being conducted, the biologist's wife had put several insects into a jar with tubes stuck through the lid. The tubes were used to aerate the water in the jar but unknown to the woman her children had switched tubes and when the woman sucked on the tube she got a mouthful of bugs.

Capitan Women Hear Sheep to Shawl Talk

The Capitan Women's Club held its regular monthly meeting April 20 in their club house with 20 members and guests present.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Pauline Britton, the program chairman, who introduced Mrs. Janice Gnatkowski, the speaker for the evening. Mrs. Gnatkowski then introduced her son Mel who demonstrated the use of the spinning wheel, Mrs. Bessie Jones who demonstrated how to spin yarn without a spinning wheel and how to use a loom, and Mrs. Ann Gholson who also demonstrated how to weave on a loom.

Mrs. Gnatkowski explained the processing of wool from shearing the sheep on through spinning and dyeing the yarn to weaving it into various garments. The "Sheep to Shawl" group uses numerous weeds and herbs found in this area to dye the yarn they spin and use and they do all of their own wool processing. After the talk and demonstrations, many of the club members tried their hands at weaving belts on the looms brought for that purpose.

Following Mrs. Gnatkowski's presentation, Mrs. Kathy Dean, club president, conducted a brief business meeting. Among the items of business was the acceptance of Mrs. Laneta Langford's resignation as president-elect for the coming club year. The club then nominated and voted for Mrs. Tommy Allen as their new president-elect. The club members also voted to donate $10 to Girl State.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kathy Dean and the door prize was won by Mrs. Granny Binyon.

Capitan band concert May 1

May 1 is the date set for the annual spring concert by the Capitan Tiger Band. Two grade school bands and a volunteer chorus will also be featured on the program. The activity gets under way at 8 p.m. in the old school gym.

The Tiger Band will play such familiar numbers as Rainy Days and Mondays, Hogan's Heroes March, Green Grass of Home, Streets of Laredo, Close to You, Love Theme From Romeo and Juliet, and three Sousa marches arranged as a medley. These marches include El Capitan, Thunderer, and Stars and Stripes Forever.

Elaine Bell, first grade teacher, is in charge of the chorus. The girls chorus will sing Both Sides Now, Amazing Grace, The Way of Love and Traces.

Band director Bartley McDonough said that 31 musicians from grades four, five, and six will also have a most interesting part in the program. He invites everyone to attend the concert and support the music program.

Colorful program

Famous dancers perform Hondo Fiesta May 5-6

The well-known Hondo Fiesta Dancers will present the 20th annual Hondo Fiesta, May 5 and 6 in the Hondo gymnasium.

The fiesta is the annual presentation of the extremely colorful performance of Spanish, Mexican and New Mexican folk dances. Over 60 junior and senior high school students beautifully costumed will perform the many graceful and difficult dances starting both evenings at 8 p.m.

These famous dancers have traveled and danced at the Festival of Arts in Tucson, Arizona, in 1951, the National Folk Festival in Nashville, Tennessee, in 1959, Mexico City and Acapulco in 1965, Disneyland and San Juan Capistrano in 1966, The HemisFair at San Antonio, Texas in 1968, Chihuahua City and Los Mochis in 1970, in addition to their extensive travels throughout New Mexico and Texas.

The dancers reluctantly turned down an invitation to the National Folk Festival in Washington, D. C. in 1960 due to the students' school commitment.

Many of the old favorite dances will be danced again by popular request. They include El Jarabe Pateno, El Bolonchon, La Varsoviana, La Raspa, El Vals de los Panos, Jesusita en

Chihuahua, La Paloma, El Novillero, Danza de los Matlachines, Viva Navarra, Lagarteranas, and the always popular national dance of Mexico, El Jarabe Tapatio.

Among the new dances that Mrs. Fermin Montes has added to the program will be Jota Tapatia, a Mexican jota with Spanish influence; El Jarabe del Valle and the return of Los Viejitos, a Mexican comedy dance depicting the feeble efforts of a group of "old men" doing intricate steps to music.

After an absence of several years, the humorous and entertaining market scene will be presented.

United States Senator Joseph Montoya, who crowned the 1970 Fiesta Queen, praised the group of young teenagers for their skills in keeping alive the three old cultures of the state. The fine Mexican dinner will again be served by the mothers of the valley. Many people choose to arrive early for this dinner thus giving them a better selection of seating in the auditorium for the fiesta. Dinner will be served from 5 p.m. until the dancing starts at 8 p.m.

Prices for the dinner will be $1 a plate. Admission to the fiesta will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

On the campaign trail

Political guide dedicated to some Lincoln Countians

Timed just as the bi-annual political season in New Mexico is warming to high heat is a new book for politicians and laymen. It is "A Practical Guide to New Mexico Politics."

The outstanding feature of the newly published book is its dedication to more than 1,000 New Mexicans who are, or have been actively involved in the election circus in this state. And, the 33 pages of the publication proceed to list those to whom the dedication is directed—including at least 12 Lincoln Countians.

Those on the honor roll, "who rose above success to become involved in the political scene," include Charles A. Jones, Don B. Stark, Mabel Vigil, Ernest S. Sanchez, Billy Gene Payne, Austin A. Pritchett, Edward Penfield, Paul Payton, Pat Huey, Seigfried Lessau, Robert Stearns and Mrs. Veda Stephenson, among others.

Authored by Charles Cullin, who was press secretary in the administrator of Governor David Cargo, it is hot off The Press of the Territorian in Santa Fe, copyrighted by one St. George Cooke.

Actually Cullin's book, once you get past the names to which it is dedicated, isn't too lengthy. But in its 30 pages of text, Cullin supplies readers with one of the better "tongue-in-cheek" guides to selecting a candidate, running his or her campaign, and then tips on how to perform once elected.

For instance, on campaign advertising, Cullin says: "The trick is to make your advertising slightly less repulsive than your opponents' while still insuring that the name is generally familiar to the public."

Another Cullin's law, this one on television commercials, is: "It is better to hit an audience more times with short statements that mean absolutely nothing than fewer times with a message which makes sense."

On buyer votes: "The worker simply determines the residents who lean toward the opposition, and the vote monies are spent persuading these persons not to vote at all."

Lots of folks will get a good chuckle out of "A Practical Guide." And there will be the so-called old-pros around Lincoln County and New Mexico who, like the others, will chuckle as certain passages and then, upon reflection, recall that many of Cullin's campaign rules are actually how its done in the Land of Enchantment.

A limited number of copies are for sale at the News office.

At this time of the year it's probably worth noting that Felix Walker, a congressman of the 1820s, became known as "old oil-jug" because of profuse speeches made as he said-for Buncombe County in his North Carolina district. The words "bunkum" and "debunking" derive from his loquacity.

When candidates in Lincoln County filed for office earlier this month, there was at least a little uproar about the large number—28 in all in both parties—and some local political observers

Oliver E. Payne

Deputy state attorney general Oliver E. Payne is a Democratic candidate for the four-year term on the State Supreme Court.

A native of Santa Fe, Payne said "The keystone of my candidacy is education and experience."

During 1957-59, Payne was law clerk for Supreme Court Justices James B. McGhee, Eugene Lujan and James C. Compton. And, during Governor Jack Campbell's term of office, he served as his legislative liaison attorney on loan from the attorney general's office.

Rexene Howell Huey

Rexene Howell Huey is a candidate for Lincoln County clerk in the Democratic Party primary election in June.

Mrs. Huey has been a resident of Lincoln County for 14 years. She is a Ruidoso High School graduate and while a student at New Mexico State University was on the dean's honor roll for two years.

Currently she is employed by the Affirmative of Ruidoso.

She is a member of the Baptist Church, the Captain Womens Club, Extension Club and is a Cub Scout den mother.

She and her husband, Billie, has lived at Capitan for the past two years. They have two children.

blamed it on the no filing fee ruling in effect at the time.

"But now that things seemed to be mostly straightened out and candidates were paying the filing fees after all, it turns out that the number didn't diminish too much in Lincoln County.

County clerk Alice King reported Tuesday that of the 28 who originally filed, all but three had come back to her office with the appropriate amount of money to submit the filing fee.

Some observers had guessed that from six to eight of the candidates wouldn't have filed if they thought they were going to have to pay a fee.

It has been proposed that all of the names of the electorate in America be fed into a computer, from which it will spew forth nonsequential and random naming the President, Vice President, Speaker of the House, ad infinitum, on down to the ecological engineer in Podunk. This method has been billed as true democracy, and is designated to save wear and tear on the electorate.

Lincoln County's only candidate for state-wide office, Ruidoso attorney George Underwood, has—following the filing fee controversy—paid his fee as a contestant in the race for the eight-year term on the State Supreme Court.

Rudy Valencia, Congressman Harold Runnels' man in southwestern New Mexico, was pulling duty at the Lincoln County courthouse Tuesday morning.

He says he tries to make it to Carrizozo at least once every six weeks to talk about problems with the congressman's constituents here.

The sessions here are part of the congressman's program of simply not forgetting about the people that elected him, Valencia explained.

The big city newspapers reported that Marivee Norvell, wife of the attorney general and candidate for U. S. Senate, was in Lincoln County late last week seeking votes for her husband, David.

Her schedule called for stops in Hondo, Lincoln, Capitan and Ruidoso.

Murray Morgan, former resident of Otero County, state senator for Lincoln-Otero Counties, state land commissioner and corporation commissioner, has come out of retirement to help in the 1972 political race.

Morgan was visiting in Carrizozo Monday on behalf of Columbus Ferguson, corporation commission candidate and Tom Morris, candidate for U. S. Senate.

Morgan was born in Alamogordo and started working as a printer for his father at age 12.

We get letters

Dear Editor:
Since our little visit last Monday, I find our little paper really gets around.

I didn't really know one has so many interested friends of all professions and trades until you are in some of my difficulties. Advice and offers have come from three counties.

Just put it in the paper and people in this state really show that they support the constitution of the U.S.A.

Most people don't really know what it is all about, but the miners and ranchers sure do.

I don't yet know if the miners will lose their property but at least I know it is not the will of the people—and with an election coming up soon.

Your paper sure must have a wide circulation. Thanking you for the good service in your paper and I wonder just how big your circulation is the way it gets around.

With his voice near shouting again, Arnold said: "That's what I been talking about. A red-blooded American shouldn't have to pay anything when he's making a sacrifice to seek public office. You know, duty, that kinda thing."

"You ought to write an editorial about it," he added. "Let the people know about how tough it is to be a candidate."

"I'll give it some thought, Arnold," I said, starting to move on down the street. "Thanks for the advice."

"Hey, and anything you can do to help me with my campaign, I'd appreciate," he said falling into step along side and handing me a campaign card that looked like it had been printed in one of those big plants in Albuquerque.

"Oh, I wouldn't worry about anything, Arnold," I said, starting across the street toward the office. "It looks like you'll do alright."

$600 million in loans

Wichita, Kansas—The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Wichita (FICB) now has more than $600 million in loans and discounts outstanding, according to Kenneth M. Lyon, president of the bank. This historically high figure represents agricultural operating credit extended to farmers and ranchers in Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and New Mexico by 41 Production Credit Associations (PCAs) and 41 other financing institutions that have discount agreements with the FICB of Wichita.

SOME 3,000 SETS of deer antlers make up the unusual collect of Ed Guck in Nogal. Guck, who has been collecting the antlers for more than 10 years just by finding them in the mountain

Radar scientist

Zozoan named for special government award at WSMR

Ernest Sanchez, a scientist at White Sands Missile Range who grew up at Carrizozo, has been named the recipient of a "Special Act Award" for his specialized work in radar instrumentation.

"Sanchez has placed radar cross section signature analysis on a firm foundation at White Sands Missile Range," Col. John B. Watkins, director of national range operations at WSMR said.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Salomon G. Sanchez of Carrizozo, Sanchez is a CHS graduate. His wife, Bernadette, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Baca of Corona. They live in Las Cruces and have two children.

Sanchez graduated from New Mexico State University in 1967 with a bachelor of science degree in mathematics.

In the official citation, Sanchez was commended "for a Special Act Award for his personal efforts at enhancing the scientific computation, customer service and range operational posture for the derivation of radar cross section signature information from instrumented radar data at WSMR."

"Sanchez has been the primary analyst in the forceful development of accurate mathematical and computation procedures for the critical analysis of radar cross section data by several alternative methods."

He was also cited for "the high quality of documentation describing the mathematical and computation procedures which have received wide distribution."

The citation noted that Sanchez' work would typically be accomplished under a university grant costing $20,000 to $40,000 in a one-year period.

"His latest accomplishment removes the mathematically exact and analytically complex task of calibrated sphere radar cross section determination from the realm of tedious text book mechanics to the level of a simple automatic computation process easily accessible to any project or investigator," the citation pointed out.

Young speaker addresses VFW

After dinner speaker at the district five Spring Conference of The American Legion, held at the home (former V.F.W. Hall) of Chaplain and Mrs. A. S. Kline on Outpost Hill at Capitan last Sunday, was New Mexico State Oratorical Winner, Nancy Griggs of Alamogordo Senior High School.

Her subject, based on the Constitution of The United States, was "We, The People." She was introduced by district president Hazel Hayes of Carrizozo. She received a standing ovation from the 62 registered delegates.

District five is composed of Alamogordo, Ruidoso, Tularosa, Carrizozo and Capitan.

Nancy has been invited to attend the three-day "Salute To Excellence" sponsored annually by the American Academy of Achievement, to be held July 6-8 in Salt Lake City. More than 100 outstanding high school students from across the United States have been invited. The Readers Digest is paying all expenses of this trip for Nancy. A donation of $22 was given to her by those present at this district meeting.

Food from kitchens of Capitan's famous cooks was savored by the ladies of the Auxiliary in V.F.W. Hall at noon. Legionnaires located seats around the oversized patio tables, using the sundeck as a sunshade, while they visited and overate.

Auxiliary reports were given on the upcoming Pappy Sales by the five units of district five, during the week before Memorial Day, May 29th. Proceeds benefit disabled veterans.

Alternate national commitman Al Montoya from Albuquerque pointed out several serious threats to our national security, and ways we need to be more alert and prepared to frustrate all who attempt to turn us against each other.

District commander Alejo Marrujo of Tularosa introduced Department of New Mexico Commander Bob Durand who complimented district five on being one of the most harmonious and winner-producing districts in our state.

Robin Byrd, Commander of Post 79 in Ruidoso and the state committeemen representing district five, was recognized as having performed long and effective service in behalf of the five posts in district five.

News columnist wins in Panhandle press contest

Tony Payton, temporary editor of the Lincoln County News, last weekend was awarded first place in the column writing competition in the Panhandle Press Association in Texas.

The entries in the annual contest were written by Payton when he was editing the Union County Leader in Clayton last summer.

The Panhandle Press Association is a 100-member group of newspapers in northern Texas, the Oklahoma panhandle and northeast New Mexico. Its convention was in Amarillo.

Payton, the son of News publisher Paul Payton, for five years was editor and co-publisher of two weekly newspapers in Nevada. During that time his column, "For Those Who Don't," won four first place awards in the annual writing contests of the Nevada State Press Association.

Merger plan . . .

Another primary concern of the LSSC is the possible money savings that would result from eliminating several school district offices into a single entity.

A LSSC spokesman told Buckles: "The committee thinks it's ridiculous to have so many administrative districts."

"I don't see much, if any, money savings in such a plan," Steinpreis said. "There is going to have to be someone in charge at all of the schools—someone getting more money than the principals are now."

Caster said, "A superintendent in one place won't be able to give the necessary supervision to the other area schools without some assistants." He added, "Right there would eliminate much of the proposed savings created by eliminating the superintendents."

"There would be considerable cost in transportation throughout Lincoln County for the administrator or his assistant(s)," Booky pointed out. "It won't be the savings they think it will."

Stratton said that he believes Corona residents would rather have their school district merged into Lincoln County—if a merger does become law—than with districts north of Corona.

"Part of our districts is also in Torrance and Socorro Counties," Stratton pointed out, "but we feel more akin to Lincoln County."

"Why, I think we'd even rather be merged with the Torrance County schools (Estancia, Moriarty and Mountainair are proposed for a single district) than with Fort Sumner, Vaughn, Santa Rosa and Encino."

"It's easy just to take out a map and start drawing schools—districts—that look like they would fit together," Stratton added, "but it just doesn't work like that."

FHA News

FHA Chapter of Corona High School held its regular meeting on April 11 in the Home Economics Room. The meeting was called to order by president, Faith Foster. Discussion on the Leadership Camp was the main business. Tammy Owens was elected to represent the chapter this summer at Camp Stoney at Santa Fe. Courtney Tracey was voted alternate.

Karen Winchester gave a report on etiquette. Courtney Tracey and Sherry Erramosque posed as models for the do's and don'ts in etiquette. Also discussed was "Women's Self Defense."

Kathy Hopper gave a very interesting and different relaxer. Each girl was given an amount of some sort of food, and she had to guess how many calories were in it. If she missed by more than 10 calories, she had to do exercises. If she guessed right, she got a candy bar. Guess how many were doing exercises? All but 2! Refreshments were served by Carla Lueras and Karen Holleyman.

Those present were Janet Wills, Karen Holleyman, Debbie Selman, Carla Lueras, Vicky Stratton, Tammy Owens, Mary Kilgore, Kathy Hopper, Diane McInnis, Sherry Erramosque, Karen Winchester, Courtney Tracey, Faith Foster, Colleen Williams, and Mrs. Donna Lightfoot, club sponsor.

Grizzlies capture Rose Relays title

Superior scoring depth throughout the 18-event card at the 12th annual Rose Festival Relays in Tularosa Saturday won Carrizozo High School its first track meet team championship in many years.

Scoring in 13 events, the Grizzlies mounted a total of 66 points to hold off a late charge by Lordsburg, which finished second with 64 points.

The team championship was in the relay's division one, which included 13 "A" and "AA" schools. Carlsbad repeated as the champion in the division two class, which included nine schools in the "AAA" and "AAAA" class.

The Grizzlies won only three first places—including a double in the distance runs by Koen Hoff—but also piled up four seconds, five thirds, four fourths and one fifth place in compiling the top score.

Three other Lincoln County schools competed in the division one section. Ruidoso, aided by two victories in the sprints by speedster Frank Calderon, finished seventh with 22 points. Capitan, with Ted Sisneros scoring in three events, was 10th with 13 points; and Corona scored three points to finish 12th.

Grizzly tosses the shot . . .

CARRIZOZO High School's Steve Ortiz pushes the shot put 39-feet-10-inches, good enough for fourth place in the 12th annual Rose Festival Relays at Tularosa last Saturday. The Grizzlies won the team championship.

Your Weekly Horoscope

May 6 through May 12

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Communicate with family member at a distance and you are encouraged and reassured. Energy should ZOOM by mid-week. Ari. Use it productively. Temptation will be to shilly-shally days away on fun and games, the kind lovers play, which, come to think of it, could be the most productive of all.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Major opportunity is presented early in week. Grab it! In many ways, Taurus, you have just completed the winter of your discontent. Conditions now begin to improve. Before end of last day, grab your fleecy bag and head for the hills. Get away from duty, just this once. You'll return to reality rejuvenated. You'll see.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Forces scattered in week ahead, Gem. Odds and ends, bits and pieces. Nothing will seem to fit quite right. Remember that in today's world it requires a certain madness just to remain rational.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Emotionally, you go from mud puddle into cool, clear stream, Moonflow-er. However, should you swallow attractive bait of-fered, it will be out of the stream and into the pan! It's spring, and you're hungry, and Olga understands. But will others?

LEO (July 23-August 22): You may find it necessary to do some letting go in days ahead, Leo. It will not be a happy experience, and pangs of re-gret may follow. But events are simply taking their natural course. Smile if it kills you. And it won't. In fact, your future will be more productive for having taken this action.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Energy re-turns in week ahead, Virg dear. Use it to extricate yourself from emotional mire. Then you not only survive, but actually thrive and blossom. Do what you KNOW is right and your heart celebrates. Last day a pip.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Vibrations will be unusually strong in week coming up, Lib. It will be that old spring thing again. Don't fight it. You owe it to yourself to relax and unwind. After all, this past winter has been a bit blah. Look-up old friend and get together. Share memories and laugh it up.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Days ahead should find you full of beans, Scorp. Try to please one who in the recent past has been diffi-cult. You can now succeed. Mother Nature beckons. Follow her, for she won't lead you astray. End of week finds you refreshed and dewy-eyed.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): New chapter begins by third day, Sag. New charac-ters appear on scene. One who seems most charm-ing could in reality be villain, not only treacherous but lecherous. Be cool. Observe. Message clears.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): A top-sy-turvy week ahead, Cap. Concentration may be difficult. Like a butterfly, you flit from one idea to another. Keep pad and pencil handy and jot down notes. Later in week, sort out thoughts. Separate fact from fancy. A devil of a task, but most impor-tant. On last day, you experience a "little epi-phany."

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Pressures build in days ahead, Aquari. You alternate between depression and elation. Welcome aid from one who would like to be your brother. Before week is com-pletely shot, get out of doors and allow the spring sun to warm your bones, and your heart.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): Back to work again, chickadee. A spring fling is delightful, but even Pisces can't afford to play week-in and week-out. Dig in to tasks at hand and get your house in order. A visitor is on the way, and you don't want to be caught with the joint looking like a baboon cage, do you? Now, SCUTLE.

Based on their showing in Tularosa Saturday, the Grizzlies will go into the annual Dexter Relays Friday as the favorite for the team championship.

CHS track mentor Roger St. Louis said Monday he wasn't sure just how many teams would be entered at Dexter, but added it likely would include about 10 schools in the "A" and "AA" classes.

He said that Jal, one of the few small schools that has outscored the Grizzlies in competition this year, is not expected to be in the field at Dexter.

Little Koen Hoff paced the Grizzly attack with wins in the two-mile and one-mile run.

It was the second straight week Hoff has won the eight-lap event. Two weeks ago he was Carrizozo's only winner at the Tatum Relays.

In Tularosa, he turned in a clocking of 11:01.6 minutes in the two-mile-winning over S. Pino of the New Mexico School for Visually Handicapped by some 30 yards.

Hoff's first place time in the mile run was 4:56.7 minutes—just ahead of Estancia's S. Daugherty. His brother, Andre, finished third in the mile run with a clocking of 5:00.9 minutes.

Zozo's other victory came from Gabe Chavez, who was a surprise winner in the javelin throw. Chavez hurled the spear 161-feet-six and three-fourths inches—which was some 22 feet further than he'd ever thrown before.

The outstanding performance by Chavez establishes him as one of the premier javelin throwers in the "A" class throughout the state.

Carrizozo's four seconds included Frankie Martinez at 10-feet-six in the pole vault; Matt Ellison's 21.8 seconds clocking in the 180-yard low hurdles; David Lee with a 2:11.2 minutes time in the 880-yard run; and the medley relay quartet of Gallegos, Roper, Martinez and A. Hoff with a four-lap time of 4:05.1 minutes.

Third place points were earned by Leslie in the discus throw with a toss of 123-feet-four and a half inches; A. Hoff in the mile run; Martinez in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 16.1 seconds; and Chavez in the 440-yard dash at 54.8 seconds; and the 440-yard relay team in a photo finish at 46:25 seconds.

Scoring fourth place points were Steve Ortiz in the shot put with a distance of 39-feet-10-inches; Ellison in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 16.6 seconds; Martinez in the 180-yard low hurdles at 22.0 seconds; and the medley relay quartet of Gallegos, Roper, Martinez and A. Hoff with a four-lap time of 4:05.1 minutes.

Marcus Barela picked up the fifth place point with a 2:15.9 minutes clocking in the 880-yard dash.

For Capitan, Sisneros won the pole vault at a height of 11 feet; and was third in both the high jump and the long jump. E. Jones was fifth in the 440-yard dash.

Corona's three fifths came from L. Sanchez in the 180-yard low hurdles, D. Lueras in the javelin and the 880-yard relay team.

Because this was the first year the meet has been divided into two divisions, all winning performances in division one will go into the books as records.

The division results are:

With prices what they are today, trying to save is rough! We understand.

After all, most of us are in the same boat. We're trying to raise families and make budgets stretch—just like you. We know how hard it is to come up with an extra ten or twenty dollars a month for savings. But we also know how very important it is.

And we just can't tell you often enough—save! Save! For vacations. College educations. Retirement income. A new home.

And less pleasant, but equally important things like large hospital expenses—or the time you might lose your job.

Stop by Citizens, and talk to Johnson Stearns. He'll be delighted to tell you about the different types of savings plans we offer for all kinds of budgets. Johnson's expert at helping you decide which is right for you. You'll see. He understands.
