Minority report

Open the latch, madam, and be quick about it

by Lyman Jones

(NOTE: The new editor has carried a weekly column title - "Minority Report!" - about with him for years and is too fond of it to change. The column will appear weekly hereafter in the News.)

It has been a long journey home. We've been around the world six times, been paid in yen and pesos . . . but we have remembered you.

Now we know how those heroes in a certain kind of Victorian novel felt. You remember them - he glimpses her from afar on page six or eight, languishes, worshipping from distance, she unknowing, until 20 or 30 years and 250 pages later, he rolls his eyes, twirls his mustache and clicks his heels, declares himself, and embraces and claims the lady.

Privately, we've always wondered why she simply didn't ask him wotinthehell he had been waiting for. But no matter.

We cannot roll our eyes and we shave (we could click our heels and will, if you insist on it) - but we are declaring.

And if you will hold still, New Mexico, we'll embrace you.

Like the giddy lady of the novel, you have not known it (being busy with other suitors, other lovers in those intervening pages), but we have been conducting a long-range, one-sided love affair with you since the day, en route to World War Dos, we first passed this way.

Anyway, it is now page 258 and, dammit, hold still while we get our arms around you.

We've loved you in a lot of places - Texas, Hawaii, Hong Kong, Manila, Mexico, saying to ourselves such things as:

"Well, yes, sure it's pretty - but have you ever seen the sun drop out of sight from 'way up there in the Jemez or the Jicarillas or back of White Sands?"

"Honolulu. Well, it's all right . . . Ever been in Santa Fe, Taos . . . ?"

"Terayaki? It's okay . . . did you ever put a lip over a spoonful of green chili?"

Things like that . . . said in all the faraway places with the strange-sounding names - and in the Zeniths and Gopher Prairies, as well.

We're here finally because one lovely day about seven years ago, we wandered down a trail leading through Nogal Canyon, meandered later through Carrizozo and, casually as could be, said, "wouldn't it be nice someday to work on the Lincoln County News and never, never again, leave New Mexico?"

So - here we are. And here you are, instead of being over there across impossible miles.

You've aged a little since we saw you first, lady. We have, too.

But we show it - and all you have done is acquire grace.

Now, madam. We love you. Stand very still.

Wow!

It is a precious thing to have journeyed so long toward home - and to have arrived there, for the very first time.

Some pleasant soul once said that home is where, when you go there, they have to take you in.

We'll thank you, therefore, madam, to lift the latch.

Escapes taken from jail . . .

KANSAS STATE PRISON escapees Kermit A. Frame, left, and Larry Coatney are escorted from the Lincoln County Jail by a Tucumcari city police officer. Behind the twosome is county jailer Ken Mays. Captured by state policeman Bill Mascarenas, the men were turned over to the Quay County authorities here Tuesday night. (News photo)

Officer captures armed Kansas prison escapees

A Carrizozo state police officer captured two armed Kansas State Prison escapees here Tuesday afternoon.

Following a high-speed chase on U. S. Hwy. 54, officer Bill Mascarenas captured the two men at gun-point 10 miles north of Carrizozo.

Earlier Tuesday the two escapees, who broke out of the Kansas pen at Lansing last Thursday, had shot and critically wounded a deputy sheriff in Quay County.

Taken into custody by Mascarenas were 30-year-old Larry Coatney, a convicted burglar, and Kermit A. Frame, 35, who was serving a sentence for robbery.

Mascarenas told The News he was in the process of stopping a northbound car for a routine check some 15 miles north of here about 2:40 p.m. when he saw the stolen car which the escapees were believed to be driving south.

He said he wheeled his patrol car around and gave chase. And for some five miles the car, with Frame at the wheel, topped speeds of 100-miles-per-hour with Mascarenas in close pursuit.

The officer said to his surprise Frame suddenly slowed and stopped beside the road. "I could just see a two-on-one shoot out coming up next," Mascarenas said.

The state policeman said he jumped from his car with his pistol drawn just as Frame got out of the front car with his hands up. Coatney got out of the passenger's side, but with his hands at his side.

"I told him to 'get 'em up,'" Mascarenas said, "but he kept putting his hands up, then taking them down."

The News reporter asked the young officer how he had gotten out of his patrol car and drawn his gun. "The fastest I've ever done it," Mascarenas replied.

Was he afraid? the officer was asked. Mascarenas just whistled under his breath and said: "oohee."

During the chase, Mascarenas had radioed to Carrizozo in hope that a road-block could be set up. And by the time he had stopped the car, state policeman Andy Benevidez was already driving north out of Carrizozo.

When he arrived, Mascarenas had both men covered, leaning against the stolen car with their hands up.

In the stolen car, the officers found a loaded .38 special pistol under the front seat and a loaded .12 gauge shot gun on the floor in the back.

They were handcuffed and taken to Carrizozo where they were held in Lincoln County Jail until 9 p.m. Tuesday when five officers from Tucumcari came and took custody and returned them to Quay County.

Mascarenas said he was surprised that the escapees had given up so easily - without any resistance. But, he said, "They just looked like they'd had it - just glad it was all over."

When the Tucumcari officers left the jail Tuesday night, Mascarenas' only comment was, "It's been a long day."

An all-points bulletin had been issued at 1 p.m. Tuesday - just an hour and 40 minutes before they were seen by Mascarenas - after Quay County special deputy Travis Haynes, 60, was found wounded in a telephone line shack four miles north of the tiny eastern New Mexico town of School budgets up for state approval

It is 1972-1973 budget-making time for New Mexico's public school districts and Carrizozo School Superintendent Jimmy Steinpreis this week was wrestling with his.

He will present a tentative budget document to the Carrizozo Board of Education next Tuesday at 7 p.m., at that body's regular monthly meeting.

(The tentative budget will include a recommended 5.5 per cent pay hike for teachers.)

After next week's session, the Board meets but one time in regular session before it faces a budget hearing to be held by the state Public School Finance Division set for June 12 at 1:30 p.m. in the Lincoln County Courthouse.

Harry Wugalter, chief of the state school money agency, will preside at the June meeting.

Wugalter and Leonard J. DeMayo, state Superintendent of Public Instruction, last week jointly announced the scheduling of budget hearings for each of the state's 89 school districts.

(Other Lincoln County hearings will be held in the same week: Corona, June 12, 4 p.m., Lincoln County Courthouse; Ruidoso June 13, 9:30 a.m., Ruidoso School; Hondo, June 13, 3 p.m., Hondo School; Capitan, June 14, 9 a.m., Ruidoso School.)

There's a new wrinkle in this year's state hearings, Steinpreis noted. Wugalter and DeMayo have mailed a three-page questionnaire to every school superintendent and board of education member in the state.

The questionnaire asks local school officials and administrators, in effect, to look both backward and forward, appraising the programs of the current school year, setting priorities for the next.

The quiz at one point gets even more specific:

It asks local authorities to pick "at least one particular objective" it would like to achieve in the 1972-73 year - from any of its program areas.

The answers thus elicited from the state's school districts are part of what Superintendent DeMayo this week called a running "monumental" evaluation of the quality of education offered currently in New Mexico.

DeMayo, in a formal report just published, said the New Mexico self-weighting program is being copied in California.

DeMayo said: "New Mexico's . . . program has been discussed, analyzed, criticized, praised and even scoffed at," but draws this kind of attention, in his view, because the state is "a pioneer in attempting to develop a system of evaluation based upon individual goals and objectives for each separate district, with the ultimate aim of judging . . . how well each school is performing in comparison to what they said the level of their performance would be."

One item on the questionnaire holds out promise that state funds may be increased as much as $25 per pupil per year. It asks in what way local schools would spend the additional $25 should the state provide such an increase.

Steinpreis estimates the local system will have spent $713 per pupil in the school-year closing shortly - slightly more than was spent in 1969-70 ($710) and a little less than was spent last year ($749).

One question in the quiz Steinpreis already has the answer to:

"Did you have enough classroom teachers during 1971-72?"

Steinpreis has planted a sizeable "X" in the "No" space provided behind that one.

Two pilots killed

Air Force investigators probing jet plane crash

An Air Force investigating team was combing a tiny, charred valley southwest of Corona this week seeking clues to the cause of a jet fighter crash that killed two pilots.

"They'll try to put the whole thing back together," Holloman Air Force Base information officer 1st Lt. Paul Wilcox told the News.

The F-4D Phantom jet crashed on the Harvey Cattle Co. Ranch 25 miles southwest of Corona early last Thursday afternoon.

Highway patrolman Albert Clouse, who was one of the first persons to arrive at the crash scene, said the wreckage scattered over a hundred yards in a small valley amid the rolling hills of northwest Lincoln County. He said the largest piece of the plane was the engine and that most of it - as well as the bodies of the pilots - were scattered in small pieces over the area.

The wreckage started a small range fire that burned some four acres of meadow land.

Wilcox said the investigation board, made up of officers from other bases, had not yet reached a conclusion as to the cause of the crash. He said it might be a month or longer before a final determination is made.

However, he did say the apparent cause had been narrowed to two or three possibilities.

Wilcox said the plane was on a routine training mission.

There were no eye-witnesses to the crash, as had earlier been reported, though a ranch forman for the Harvey Ranch heard the explosion from a mile away.

Killed in the crash were Capt. Steven Bowman, 31, and Capt. Jeffrey Lamantia, 25. Both were assigned to the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing at Holloman.

The Air Force spokesman said Bowman whose hometown is Oelwein, Iowa, is survived by his wife, Joyce, and three-year-old daughter, Leslie, of Holloman. The crash occurred on the little girls' birthday.

Lamantia, who was not married, is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lamancia of Niagra Falls, N. Y.

News from the County Agent

Home garden saves money

It's important in these days of high inflation to consider home vegetable gardening as a means of saving money, but there are other advantages. It's true you might be able to save some money, but more importantly, gardening gives many people a sense of pleasure, satisfaction, and pride; pleasure from working in the fresh air and sunshine, satisfaction from eating home grown vegetables that are fresher; and pride from a good gardening job well done.

Then too, home vegetable gardening offers excellent opportunities for cooperative family activity. All members of a family can do their bit in planting, controlling weeds, and harvesting vegetables fresh off the vine.

Gardening can be a form of at-home relaxation that's easy or as strenuous as you like. Gardening is a part of the American way of life, and fits in so well with rural and suburban living. All members of a family can enjoy the pleasure, satisfaction, and pride of having a home vegetable garden.

Home gardeners are beginning to report powdery mildew on their roses, euonymus, and other mildew-susceptible plants. This persistent fungus disease can be kept at a minimum if mildew fungicides are used early in the season. Spray or dust at the first sign of the disease. Repeat treatments at 10 to 14 day intervals as long as the disease threatens to spread.

Not just any fungicide will control mildew. Mike sure that the label specifies that it will control powdery mildew. Dusts are preferred by many gardeners because of their ease of application, but as a general rule, sprays are much more effective.

The effectiveness of sprays can be increased by adding a wetting agent or spreader-sticker to the spray solution. Liquid household detergents are satisfactory-add one teaspoonful per gallon of spray mixture. Wetting agents help the spray material spread out and stick on glossy-hard to wet leaves.

Mildew fungicides include Acti-dione PM, Benlate, Daconil 2787, Karathane, Sulfur, and Parnon. Always check the label thoroughly before using. At present, Acti-dione PM, Benlate, Daconil 2787 and Parnon, are not registered for use on most edible fruit and vegetable crops.

Roadless areas hearing Saturday in Alamogordo

Saturday in Alamogordo southland residents will have a say in whether five remote areas of the Lincoln National Forest will be included into the Wilderness System.

The U. S. Forest Service has scheduled a public meeting at the North Elementary School, starting at 9 a.m., to take public opinion on the five so-called roadless areas in the huge southern New Mexico national forest that qualify for the Wilderness system.

The unpopulated forest areas are part of 78 such areas throughout New Mexico and Arizona listed in an inventory recently compiled by the U. S. Forest Service.

The public meeting in Alamogordo Saturday--the 17th in a series of 18 throughout the two states--is to solicit public opinion prior to official recommendations about classifying the areas for inclusion into the national system.

The five areas under study include two in Lincoln County, two in Otero County and one in Eddy County. They are:

--Capitan Mountain, an area of 29,600 acres 15 miles east of Capitan in Lincoln County. The Forest Service has described the areas as very rugged country, rising abruptly from surrounding grasslands to a knife-like ridge. Vegetation ranges from pinon-pine and juniper at base to Engelmann spruce, corkbark fir at crest. The area is excellent deer and bear habitat, with numerous birds and small animals.

--West face of Sacramento Mountain, an area of 43,800 acres south of High Rolls in Otero County. The inventory description says this area is part of the west and south facing slopes forming the eastern escarpment of the Tularosa Basin. Elevations range from 4,500 to nearly 8,000 feet, with vegetative types from desert to woodland. The area supports a large winter deer herd and there is evidence of past Indian activity.

--Little Dog and Pup Canyons, a 14,650 acre area some 25 miles southeast of Pinon in Otero County. According to the Forest Service the area is characterized by moderate west-facing slopes cut with several canyons. The area is primarily open grasslands with beargrass and mesquite on the ridges and some pinon and juniper bottoms on the northern exposures. Deer and smaller wildlife are abundant.

--South Grudalope Mountain, an area of 19,800 acres 25 miles southwest of White City in Eddy County. This steep, rugged and majestic portion of the Guadalupe Mountains ranges in elevation from 4,800 and 7,444 feet. Numerous limestone caves occur in the area. Vegetation varies from desert shrubs to ponderosa pine. A large herd of desert mule deer and numerous other wildlife species are found.

--White Mountain Wilderness addition, some 12,880 acres adjacent to the already existing White Mountain Wilderness some 100 miles southeast of Carrizozo in Lincoln County. The addition comprises nine individual tracts adjacent to the existing wilderness. The various tracts range from desert to subalpine. The area includes important large and small animal habitat. Several areas of past Indian activity are evident. To qualify for consideration as a roadless area, a minimum size of 5,000 acres was established as a guide for the inventory. All of the areas in the Lincoln National Forest, of course, qualify under the requirement.

The five areas are not wilderness proposals, said regional forester William H. Hurst, but rather areas where man's activity and influence are substantially unnoticeable.

Hurst pointed out that following the hearing in Alamogordo Saturday, he will then recommend to the Chief of the Forest Service the areas that should be further studied for possible inclusion into the Wilderness System. The recommendations on the five Lincoln National Forest areas--as well as those on the other 73 areas throughout the two states--will be submitted June 30.

"We want as much public input as possible," Hurst said. "Participation by interested citizens in presenting their recommendations will help in making wise land use management decisions."

Ceramics shop opens

Our something new has entered Capitan at last. The ceramics shop which opened Tuesday, May 2, "Try it, You'll like it," greets one on the door. It is a delightful place of business. Speaking of enchantment, its there. Joan is a charming lady whom you will enjoy as your instructor. This is located in the building which the Branch Bank moved from. A nice location. How glad we are she has selected our town for this. We do welcome her and wish her many years of happiness and success here. She and her husband have a lovely home here and just love our country. Do go see her and have many hours of enjoyment, happiness and learning. It is wonderful.

That is a good corner. The above business is just across east of the Museum of Antiques.

The old drug store building has another wall down and is slowly but surely coming down. But each day it looks better.

More progress started Monday morning. The cabins at El Paisano are coming down. They had a fine start at this writing. They have stood for 41 years.

It is still cold weather here. Too cold to plant. No moisture. The perennials have taken severe punishment from ice and cold high winds. Some have died though others are struggling to live for the warmer days ahead.

The Ruidoso nursery is for sale. Mrs. Byers is retiring due to health. I wish her good luck in selling and that she can enjoy her home in Alamogordo for many years to come. She has given us all much pleasure and happiness with her plants etc. We will miss her but it is time she had a quiet life for a while.

Rev. Garth Hyde is going to be the minister at the Ranchers' Camp Meeting in July.

The Otero County Federal Credit Union is going to hold open house May 12 at the Branding Iron Lounge and Steak House to get an idea how many would be interested in them opening an office in Lincoln County. There will be a happy hour and a free meal. The invitation is extended to all Federal State County and City Employees and spouses. This includes all retired military and civil service.

Mr. Steven Knapp has been out of the Army since Jan. 18, and is here helping his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Knapp. He arrived April 20. Welcome to Capitan. Good luck and we hope you will remain here.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Riska of Clovis arrived last weekend to visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw for one week.

Kenneth Stone is the new owner and manager of the Standard Station which he purchased from Miles Williams. He opened up Monday morning. We wish you success Kenneth and we know you will have it. I wish you worlds of success in your business.

Mr. and Mrs. Otho Lowe went to Deming Sunday, April 23, to visit his sisters, Mrs. Deane Fitzgerald and Annie Braidfoot and returned Wednesday 26. They came home in heavy dust storms. Arrived home not feeling up to par.

Mrs. Hollis Cummins accompanied Mrs. Billy Clark to California last Thursday as there was serious illness there.

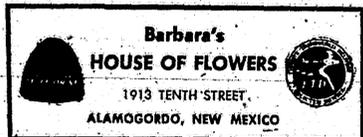

The Junior-Senior Prom was held at the Capitan School Gym at 8 p.m. last Saturday night.

Guests of Mrs. Doris Pounds and Wesley arrived last weekend were her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Turner and her daughter, Mrs. Patricia Pierce of Buena Vista, Colo. They all will attend her son Grover Dobbins, college graduating Thursday in Portales.

Mrs. Mary (Candelario) Trujillo entered the Ruidoso hospital Tuesday, April 18, and returned home the 21. She is better at this time. Keep up the good work Mary and stay well.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris of Hollywood were guests of his aunts, Mrs. Maude Kingston and Miss Lou Harris last Sunday afternoon for a few hours.

WALTER JONES talks about the issues

Property Taxes:

The property valuation in Lincoln County will almost double with the completion of the reappraisal program. But it doesn't have to mean that property taxes, too, will be doubled. As your county commissioner, I'll see that taxpayers money is wisely spent. I pledge to hold the line on higher property taxes in our county.

On the campaign trail

Countian understands the demise of Muskie

Carrizozo High School's football and track coach, Roger St. Louis, doesn't talk sports all the time. In fact, he's something of a student of politics.

And being a native of Maine, not too long gone from that most northeastern state, St. Louis is a pretty good judge of the real senator Ed Muskie—the Democratic Presidential hopeful who last week withdrew as an active campaigner from the national field.

St. Louis, who could be called an authority when it comes to winning, says he sees the demise of his homestate senator coming from too many attacks on President Nixon.

Attacking the President just isn't a real issue, St. Louis said in a casual conversation at the News office earlier this week. Muskie, he said, spent too much time directing his campaign blasts at the incumbent administration and not enough time firing at his fellow-Democratic candidates.

The senator is, however, still extremely popular in his homestate, St. Louis said—or at least he was a year ago when the Carrizozoan last visited Maine. He said he remembers growing up in Maine when Muskie was governor of the state. "He is a tremendous speaker and seems like a very good campaigner," St. Louis added.

"Probably those tears in New Hampshire hurt him as much as anything," St. Louis said, referring to Muskie's crying session on a street-corner platform prior to the New Hampshire primary election while rebutting a newspaper publisher in that state.

St. Louis said if the general election match-up came down to a Muskie-Nixon race, he'd likely have to go with the current President—even though he's a registered Democrat.

"But once a Kennedy fan, always a Kennedy fan," he said, explaining that he would probably support a Democratic national ticket headed by Massachusetts senator Ted Kennedy.

Still on his homestate political wars, St. Louis said he sees little likelihood that incumbent Republican senator Maragret Chase Smith will get dumped—even though her Democratic opposition is reported to be dumping hundreds of thousands of dollars into an effort to unseat her. "She's just done too much for that state," he said.

The only state office seeker touring Lincoln County last week was former lieutenant governor E. Lee Francis.

The Valencia Countian who is seeking the GOP nomination for the U. S. Senate, was reported to be seeking votes in Ruidoso.

The Lincoln County clerk's office said earlier this week that the "unofficial" total number of voters registered for the Primary Election is 3,741. The official totals, with breakdowns by precinct and party, won't be completed until late this week.

Registration closed Tuesday of last week and won't be reopened until the week following the Primary in early June.

Several weeks ago we reported that the big field of local candidates in Lincoln County was surpassed among the so-called small counties only by the large number of candidates over in Valencia County.

A total of 44 candidates had originally filed in Belen for the county races this year. But last week when it came time to pay filing fees, the field there was thinned out by 11—leaving a total of 33 seeking office.

Here in Lincoln County the field was trimmed by only three, leaving a total of 25 candidates for courthouse offices.

Lots of folks around the state have been complaining about the huge number of candidates running for U. S. Senate in the Democratic Primary Election. At last count—which is post filing fee—the total stood at 25.

While this is considered a voting machine buying number, the Democratic senatorial hopefuls surely can't lay claim to the title of "trendsellers."

That title has to belong to the Democratic candidates seeking the Presidency. That field has numbered, according to the best estimates, anywhere from 14 to 18—depending on whose counting.

It would seem, then, that if one considers the New Mexico Democratic senatorial field as absurd, then somewhat the same label could be applied to the Presidential field in the same party.

Capitan 4-H's clean-up Lincoln County Fairground

Capitan 4-H's joined in a clean-up of the county fair grounds at Capitan last Friday.

More than 35 young people picked up a truck load of trash at the grounds. Directing the clean-up were the junior 4-H leaders, Nancy Hunter, Teresa Pumphrey, Ricky Richardson, Linda Trujillo and Patsy Walker.

Following the four hour clean-up, the youngsters enjoyed a sack supper.

Blowin' the blues

SAXOPHONIST ALBERT LAFAVE goes solo on "Baby Sitter Blues" during the Carrizozo High School spring band concert last week. Lafave is part of the school's stage band, which is directed by Arnold Boyce. Several hundred Carrizozoans attended the concert, during which the concert and jazz-rock bands performed, as well as the elementary band.

'For Pete's Sake!' showing at First Baptist Church Monday

"FOR PETE'S SAKE!" a film credited as "unique in its capacity to reach out to meet the problems of people, will be shown on Monday at the First Baptist Church in Carrizozo.

The full-length comedy-drama, filmed in Eastmancolor by World Wide Pictures, will be shown once beginning at 7 p.m., and is open to the public at no admission charge.

A cordial invitation is extended to all families of the community by Pastor Bill Miller, who has made arrangements for this special showing of "FOR PETE'S SAKE!"

Filmed entirely on location in Denver and the Colorado Rockies, "FOR PETE'S SAKE!" is the story of Pete Harper, a family man and service station owner, who is knocked flat by unexpected problems, but finds the strength to stand up again, to face life anew.

Columnist says Carrizozo man fights fire

(The following is an excerpt from the column "From where I sit" by Trudie Hahn in the White Sands Missile Ranger newspaper April 21.)

We are very proud of Jimmy Means, a young man employed at our Stallion Section, who recently performed an act of bravery by pulling out a brush fire by himself, saving the need for many firefighters to be called out for the job and saving the government considerable equipment and ground.

Jimmy was returning from a visit to his parents' home in Carrizozo en route to Socorro and noticed a brush fire near north Oscura Range Center. He drove to the nearest emergency telephone to notify the Fire Control Ranger, then returned to a nearby farmhouse to borrow tools.

Finding no one home and no tools, he returned to the scene of the fire. By then it had spread to approximately 50 feet in area. He grabbed a blanket from his car and put out the fire, singlehandedly, before anyone else had time to get there. When he had the fire under control, the area burned covered a 4,500 foot area.

A check was made with Dale Green, Stallion Range Center, who said that without Jimmy's quick action and bravery the fire could have developed into a very bad one causing much damage. Congratulations Jimmy. We are all very proud of you.

When only a ten-speed racer will do... We understand.

We have a lot of officers and employees who have children, too. We know! When your boy says he wants a ten-speed racer for his birthday, he doesn't mean a three-speed, or a banana-seat spyder bike. He means a ten-speed racer! When you need a personal loan to buy it, we understand about that, too. There are a lot of things that aren't really necessities, but are very special just the same. Like that racer. Or your new car. Or the TV set. We're happy to help you buy them.

Stop by and talk to Johnson Stearns, or any of our officers here at Citizens, about a personal loan. You'll see. We understand.

Strong showing at Dexter

Grizzlies favored for runner-up in district

Carrizozo High School's track team, following another strong showing at Dexter last weekend, is expected to finish second in the district track meet at Artesia this weekend.

Cinder mentor Roger St. Louis will take a 12-man squad to the eight-team meet which will determine the entrants in next weekend's state track and field festival in Albuquerque.

The super-strong track team from Jal, which has competed successfully with "AAA" and "AAAA" teams during the season, is rated as the run-away favorite in the district meet.

But the Grizzlies, who are enjoying their best season on the cinders in many years, are expected to easily finish in the runner-up spot. St. Louis said he expects Jal to also be the favorite in the state meet field next weekend.

Heading the remainder of the district teams will be Eunice, which is labeled the third best team in the district. Others in the meet are Ruidoso, Cloudercroft, Hagerman, Capitan and Dexter.

In each event, the first two places will qualify for state. However, if any other times or distances below second place should surpass a pre-set standard, then some third and fourth places could also qualify.

Last weekend at Dexter, the Grizzlies piled up 74 points to finish second behind Fort Sumner in a 10-team field. Dexter and Truth or Consequences tied for third in the team standings.

Only a dropped baton in the 440-yard relay stopped the Carrizozo team from possibly winning the meet. The Grizzly quartet was ahead of the field in the race when the baton was dropped. If they'd won the event the extra 10 points would have boosted them two points in front of Fort Sumner's winning 82 points.

The Grizzlies picked up six first places—including a double by distance ace Koen Hoff.

Hoff, who has only lost one race this season, won both the mile and two-mile and was clocked in his best times of the year in both events. He won the mile with a time of 4:50.2 minutes and the two-mile with a 10:31.6 timing.

In the mile, Koen's closest competition came from his brother, Andre, who finished second with a 4:52.3.

Andre, however, had the field to himself in the 880-yard run and won the two-lap race in 2:11.6 minutes.

Gabe Chavez also turned in his best performance of the year in the javelin throw, winning the event with a distance of 164-feet-10-inches.

The other individual victory came from Matt Ellison, who cleared the 180-yard, low hurdles with a time of 21.8 seconds.

The Zozo baton quartet of Willie Gallegos, David Roper, Rusty Leslie and David Lee captured the mile medley relay with a time of 4:00.2 minutes.

The two other relays teams finished second—behind Fort Sumner both times. The 880-yard relay team ran the half mile race in 1:36.2—their best time of the year—while the mile relay team was clocked at 3:44.6 minutes—also the best time of the year for the Grizzlies.

Other point-makers for Carrizozo were Kim Lee, who finished fourth in the two-mile in his first time to run the event in competition; Chavez was third in the 440-yard dash; Ellison was third in the 120-yard high hurdles, while Frankie Martinez was fifth; Martinez was also fourth in the pole vault, which was won by Capitan's Ted Sisenos at 12-feet six inches; and Leslie was fourth in the discus and fifth in the long jump.

Other teams in the field included Cloudercroft, Hagerman, Ruidoso, Hatch and New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped.

Earlier last week, the Zozo team participated in a practice meet at Tularosa. The host team won the team scoring with 113 points, while the Grizzlies were second with 84. Ruidoso finished third ahead of Cloudercroft in the four-team meet.

The third grade relay team . . .

RACING OVER THE legs of her classmates in the third grade race in the Mini-Olympics Tuesday is little Cindy Fenter. Her team won the unusual race on an evening program that included dancing, tumbling, singing and an outdoor miniature track meet. Several hundred Carrizozoans attended the program.

Zozo trackmen in decathlon

Three Carrizozo High School cindermen are slated to compete in the New Mexico state prep decathlon championship in Albuquerque May 19-20.

They are Rusty Leslie, Matt Ellison and Gabe Chavez.

The decathlon—often called the most grueling event in sports—has 10 separate events, with five being run each day.

Leslie has shown during the current season that his strong suit is the dashes and weight events, while Ellison has been strong in the hurdles and long jump. Chavez has been a strong competitor in the longer dashes, as well as the javelin and pole vault.

Your Weekly Horoscope

May 6 through May 12

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Communicate with family member at a distance and you are encouraged and reassured. Energy should ZOOM by mid-week. Use it productively. Temptation will be to shilly-shally days away on fun and games, the kind lovers play, which, come to think of it, could be the most productive of all.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Major opportunity is presented early in week. Grab it! In many ways, Taurus, you have just completed the winter of your discontent. Conditions now begin to improve. Before end of last day, grab your flea bag and head for the hills. Get away from duty, just this once. You'll return to reality rejuvenated. You'll see.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Forces scattered in week ahead. Gem. Odds and ends drifts and places. Nothing will seem to fit quite right. Remember that in today's world it requires a certain madness just to remain rational.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Emotionally, you go from mud puddle into cool, clear stream, Moonflower. However, should you swallow attractive bait offered, it will be out of the stream and into the pan. It's spring, and you're hungry, and Olga understands. But will others?

LEO (July 23-August 22): You may find it necessary to do some letting go in days ahead, Leo. It will not be a happy experience, and pangs of regret may follow. But events are simply taking their natural course. Smile if it kills you. And it won't. In fact, your future will be more productive for having taken this action.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Energy returns in week ahead, Virg dear. Use it to exorcise yourself from emotional mire. Then you not only survive, but actually thrive and blossom. Do what you KNOW is right and your heart celebrates. Last day a pip.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Vibrations will be unusually strong in week coming up, Lib. It will be that old spring thing again. Don't fight it. You owe it to yourself to relax and unwind. After all, this past winter has been a bit blah. Look up old friend and get together. Share memories and laugh it up.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Days ahead should find you full of beans, Scorp. Try to please one who in the recent past has been difficult. You can now succeed. Mother Nature beckons. Follow her, for she won't lead you astray. End of week finds you refreshed and dewy-eyed.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): New chapter begins by third day, Sag. New characters appear on scene. One who seems most charming could in reality be villain, not only treacherous but lecherous. Be cool. Observe. Message clears.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): A top-sy-turvy week ahead, Cap. Concentration may be difficult. Like a butterfly, you flit from one idea to another. Keep pad and pencil handy and jot down notes. Later in week, sort out thoughts. Separate fact from fancy. A devil of a task, but most important. On last day, you experience a "little epiphany."

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Pressures build in days ahead, Aquari. You alternate between depression and elation. Welcome aid from one who would like to be your brother. Before week is completely shot, get out of doors and allow the spring sun to warm your bones, and your heart.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): Back to work again, chickadee. A spring fling is delightful, but even Pisces can't afford to play week-in and week-out. Dig in to tasks at hand and get your house in order. A visitor is on the way, and you don't want to be caught with the joint looking like a baboon cage, do you? Now, SCUTTLE.
