Operation Identification helps stop thievery

The Moore Agency in Carrizozo is providing a valuable aid in the fight against crime by helping you personalize your portable belongings with your social security number.

Bob Stearns told the News that when this operation was put to use in Albuquerque it cut thefts from 2000 to around 300 in a short period of time.

"Operation Identification" is simple. You borrow a small portable electric engraver from Moore Agency, mark your personal items such as television sets, power tools, bicycles, car tape decks, kitchen appliances, guns, cameras, typewriters, etc., with your social security numbers.

When this is done you can display an "Operation Identification" label on a front and/or back window and thefts of your personal property should be cut down.

Fred Chavez dies of heart attack

SCULPTOR OF THE 'FOUND'

Carrizozo recently became home base for a sculptor who uses "found" objects in the creation of his pieces. He is Bill Ward, who recently opened a studio-shop in Carrizozo from which he offers for sale his work, western artifacts of all kinds, among other things. Ward, a native of Garland, Texas, was until recently based at Apache Junction, Ariz., working as a custom blacksmith for a film-making company. He moved to Carrizozo when another film-maker leased the whole town for the making of western television films.

With no warning at all Fred S. Chavez, manager of Carrizozo sectional center of the Postoffice Department, was stricken by a heart attack and died about 2:30 p. m. Sunday at his home in Carrizozo. He was 47 years of age.

Only a few weeks back Fred was making an official visit to the postoffice in Weed and took former postmaster Roy Harman along for company. It so happened that the News editor was at Weed at that time. Roy says that Fred was in high spirits and exuberant about the drive through beautiful New Mexico and about his work and life in general.

Fred filled one of the biggest jobs not only in Carrizozo but in this entire area. As Sectional Center Manager he was directly over the work of 34 postoffices including three first class offices at Ruidoso, Alamogordo and Holloman. In addition to that work he was also postmaster of the local office.

He first started with the postoffice department in 1956 after coming here in 1955. After a short interruption he started again in July of 1959 and has served continuously since that time. Not too many years back he moved up as assistant to Postmaster Roy Harman, then on Harman's retirement Fred became officer in charge, then postmaster, and last Sectional Center Manager. One of the most active civic workers in Carrizozo has been Fred Chavez, he will be sorely missed in that area. Fred has served on the town council, the Carrizozo board of Education and more recently was elected as president of Arriba, Inc., a corporation formed for the purpose of securing industry for Carrizozo.

He was born in Brownfield, Texas, moved to Capitan when he was very young and has been a resident of Carrizozo since 1955.

He is survived by his wife Mary; three sons, Ernest, Gabriel and John; one daughter Josefine, all of Carrizozo; three sisters, Miss Josefine Chavez, Mrs. Frank Taylor and Mrs. Keith Dotson; five brothers, M. S., Godfrey, Richard, Frank and Conrad Chavez; and his mother Mrs. Chavez.

Rosary services were said Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. with Fr. Clive Lynn presiding. Mass was performed Wednesday at 11:00 in St. Rita Catholic Church. Interment was in St. Rita Cemetery.

Casket bearers were Johnson Stearns, Joe Ventura, Ray Wells, Charlie Castillo, Robert Nava and Henry Vega. Services were under the direction of Chapel of Roses Mortuary.

New facilities at county fair

The Lincoln County Fair starts Friday, August 25 in Capitan with judging of livestock. The new livestock barn is complete and will be used for the first time as well as the enlarged show arena. Fine arts exhibits will be shown in the new meeting room.

A new event this year is the Lead Class in sheep showmanship. This is open to both boys and girls, exhibitor will show at halter and contestants will be judged as a pair, on appearance and showmanship. Hand-woven halters will be awarded to the first six places by the sponsor "Sheep to Shawl".

Another new event this year is the junior livestock sale which will be held at 11:30 a. m. Saturday. Sam Massey is head of the sales committee.

The fair parade starts at 10:00 a. m. Saturday with many prizes for contestants, float division, costume, cowboy, cowgirl, and bicycles. There will be rides for small children this year, roping and riding events starting at 1:30 Friday. The trophy and award presentation at 3:00 p. m. Saturday completes the fair.

Oktoberfest meet at Waterfall

Ira Rupp, owner of Waterfall development south of Coudcroft, was host to the August meeting of the Oktoberfest committee at the headquarters right at the waterfall.

Main business of the meeting was finishing plans and drawing up rules for the beer drinking contest, the fiddle contest; and further distribution of the small calendar of events, and getting television publicity underway. About 50 stations in this area will use short takes on the Oktoberfest.

Waterfall country is as beautiful as any in the southwest. Mr. Rupp is going right along with his program and has most of his initial section sold out. The spring at Waterfall produces about 10,000 gallons an hour which keeps numerous trout ponds full as well as supplying water for other purposes.

Committee members attending were Wyman Scarborough and Dick Mound of Ruidoso, Paul Payton and Mary Jones of Carrizozo, Jim Seery of La Luz, Layne and Sue Preslar and Ed Cooney of Cloudcroft, John Barber, Dwight Ohlinger, and Nolan Conner of Alamogordo, Jerry Baker of Santa Fe, and the hosts Ira and David Rupp.

Former White Oaks minister coming for barbeque Bishop Carleton will preach at Capitan and Carrizozo

The barbeque following dedication of United Trinity Methodist Church on Labor Day weekend a year ago was such a fine success that it is being repeated again this year.

It will be a barbeque cowboy supper and get-together for all Methodists and friends of the Methodist Church starting at 6:00 p. m. at the Valley of Fires State Park Saturday, September 2.

Several distinguished visitors will be present including Bishop and Mrs. Aisie H. Carleton from Albuquerque, Dr. and Mrs. M. Buern Stewart from El Paso, and Rev. and Mrs. Finis Crutchfield, Sr., from Carlsbad.

The Crutchfields are parents of Mrs. Carleton. Rev. Crutchfield was a boy at White Oaks when his father was pastor of the old White Oaks church and he hopes to visit with old timers of this area who will remember early days in White Oaks.

Also expected to attend the barbeque will be Rev. and Mrs. Charles Crutchfield of Ruidoso. Rev. Crutchfield is a nephew of Mrs. Carleton and grandson of Rev. Finis Crutchfield.

On Sunday, September 3 Bishop Carleton will preach in the Methodist Church at Capitan at 9:00 and at all people in the Capitan area are invited to attend this service.

At 11:00 a. m. Bishop Carleton will preach in Trinity Methodist Church in Carrizozo. Jane Shafer is arranging special music for this service.

A church dinner will be held following the service Sunday with many guest expected from Capitan and other churches of the area.

Bishop Carleton serves the New Mexico and Northwest Texas Conference. Dr. Stewart is district superintendent.

THE WAY OF THE West

Either Steven Spencer does things up big or the News does -- most likely it was in the News office where Mrs. Steven gave birth to the first grandson of the Truman Spencer, Jr., family. Way it read in the News last week was an 84-pound baby.

Happy birthday to Jake Fulmer -- his 96th is on August 29. Margaret Fulmer called to tell us that the William W. Fulmer family has moved and so has Jake. That he is doing real fine, gets around alright, still enjoys a highball before dinner and is enjoying life. Jake is one of those guys who always did enjoy life, especially his many years in Carrizozo, and lucky for us, we got to enjoy many happy hours with him and listen to a great many fascinating tales about early days in this county. The new address is in care of Wm. W. Fulmer, 6803 Avenue, Chevy Chase, Maryland 20015.

Sure sorry we can't have all those good memories and thoughts about friends in good health without the loss of quite a number of other good friends. We have admired Fred Chavez in a great many ways as one of the guys willing and able to help Carrizozo -- we have needed more like him instead of less -- plus the fact that fellowship with Fred meant a great deal to us and Carrizozo people.

We have found out from man in the electrical control business that when your lights dim down, power may be dropping as much as 12 volts. We also found out from people who make our computer type setting equipment that we can stand up to a 5-volt drop. So after getting $300 to $400 worth of new parts and back in business, we were scared to turn the computer on Tuesday of this week when the lights were going off or dimming. Going to spend another $150 for protection from this faulty and totally unreliable electric service.

Duff May told us that Gretchen Linsey put out a bad batch of liquid for her humming birds so they all came over to the May place and now Joyce has to fill her feeders several times a day for the 15-20 hummers darting around. We have more than usual at home but not 15.

Had a lot of weekly newspaper publishers and their wives in for Saturday evening food and song plus gab session Sunday morning in the Payton patio. Comment we'd never heard much of before and was repeated to us several times by those guys -- "When you get to Carrizozo you're halfway to nowhere". That good soprano voice topping off the music was Bernice Hopkins from Silver City. Guy who kept going back for food was Dwight Payton from Aztec, guy who kept going back for drink was Bill Payton of Nogal. Gal with the liveliest conversation was Agnes Head of Hobbs, she sure gives the establishment hell down there. First time Wendell and Pat Faught of Deming had been to Zozo; sure glad they were here. Ward Ballmer from Grants said, "It's sure a long way to drive for a sandwich and drink, but sure had a good time". Ward's wife Jo was along for good company. It was a happy occasion.

Swiped from Duffy: Advertising can be very expensive -- especially if your wife can read.

Observing the speed limit strictly is highly commendable -- and pretty apt to get your car rammed from behind.

Fellow we know came home one night and proudly announced to his wife that he had bought himself a hearing aid. "Well, thank goodness!" said his wife. "That's what I've been telling you to do for the past eight years." "Oh," replied hubby, "So that's what it was!"

NOBODY KNOWS?

Nobody knows for sure when and exactly from whence came the Indians who, about 900 a.d., carved some 500 of the "petroglyphs" found near Three Rivers on a rocky ridge rising from the Tularosa Basin floor.

It is believed they were carved -- petroglyphs means "rock carvings" -- with stone tools by a branch of Mogollon Indians who migrated into the area from the west, perhaps seeking safer and better living conditions.

At Three Rivers: Petroglyphs origin veiled in time

THREE RIVERS

If you're intrigued by riddles wrapped in mystery and enclosed deeper yet in enigma -- try a rock-spined ridge rising out of the desert floor of the Tularosa Basin about five miles northeast of here.

Try it and you'll meet a riddle thousands of years old -- and still unriddled with any degree of certainty.

The search will take you along a graveled road (with Sierra Blanca on the eastern horizon) to what at first appears to be a massive, tawny dinosaur hunched in the sand, but not at rest; the big beast's tension is forcing its vertebrae upward through its back.

Closer, blink an eye and the beast becomes a narrow, north-to-south upthrust of the desert floor, probably it is an old volcanic uplift, geological scar tissue on the otherwise flat land.

What appeared to be backbone ridges become huge, skyward-pointing rocks thrusting out of the gritty flanks of the old earth scar.

And on the rocks are the famed -- and enigmatic -- Three Rivers Petroglyphs, hundreds of rock carvings on stone, carved on the stone by stone in the hands of an ancient people who once, from about 900 to 1300, briefly, as such things are measured, called this desert basin home.

"Petroglyph" is a big word, but like most such words, its meaning is simple: petroglyph was coined from the Greek for "rock" and "carving". Such carvings are relatively common and exist throughout the world, antedating the time when man devised written languages.

But the riddle of most petroglyphs has been solved.

At Three Rivers, nobody's quite sure.

The place is officially known now as the Three Rivers Petroglyph and Recreation Site. It is in the custody of and is maintained by the US Department of the Interior's Bureau of Land Management.

If you've never been there, here's the way: Leave US Highway 54 at Three Rivers, travel five miles along a graveled road (one doesn't need four-wheel drive vehicles), following the signs.

No firewood or water are available at the site, but there are six family picnic units with tables and barbecue grills, toilets and concrete-floored shelters.

There are garbage and refuse containers, a guest register and interpretive signs. There is lots of parking space and trailers and pickup campers or self-contained campers are welcome to spend the night.

The carvings are conceded to be "outstanding" examples of American Indian rock art and are believed to have been made with stone tools, sometime between 900 and 1300 a.d. by a Jornada branch of the Mogollon-culture Indians.

It is believed likely they came to the area from further west -- possibly as a part of a larger migration away from enemies and toward better homes.

There are more than 500 carvings and most of them can be seen by moving along an easy trail about 1,400 feet long; it takes about 45 minutes to negotiate the asphalt-covered walk.

What more is known? Not much.

Even the federal custodial agency is content to

Funeral wishes are fulfilled

By MARGARET RENCH

Mrs. Judy Bergamn's wishes were fulfilled for the funeral services of her husband Neal who passed away a couple of weeks ago.

She called and asked if it were possible to get Neal's Wrestling Team together and have them there. Therefore Mr. Tranquilino Silva phoned some and had them come to his home and Ray Taylor volunteered to take to Colorado.

Tony Montoya flew to El Paso where Frankie Silva of Las Cruces met him at 3 a. m. and they came to Silvas'.

Dwain Votak - Capitan. Sam Boyd - Carrizozo. Clark Taylor - Albuquerque. Earl Taylor of Ft. Collins, Colorado.

The six young men above were his wrestling teams that made the District and State meets with honors.

Tony, Frankie, and Sam met at Frankie Silva home and Ray Taylor joined them. Nora had a delicious chicken dinner waiting for them. They left at 1 p. m. Monday, Aug. 7. The funeral was Tuesday 3:30 p. m. at the First Presbyterian Church at Millikan, Colorado with Rev. Richard Stewart officiating. Organist was Mrs. Derryl Goes. Duet was sang by Rev. and Mrs. David McDonald. Interment in Johnstown Cemetery.

Pall Bearers were Floyd McEuen, Wilbur (Red) Lyles, Gary Terrell, John Stroh, Jim Tierney and David Stroh.

The honorary Pall Bearers were Frankie Silva, Tony Montoya, Sam Boyd, Dwain Votak, Clark Taylor and Earl Taylor.

Ray picked Clark up as they went thru Albuquerque. Called El. Collins and Tom given permission to drive to Millikan.

The preacher mentioned Neal's Wrestling team from Capitan. At the graveside the other preacher introduced each one of them.

This was a nice gesture honoring their coach. The man who was coach of ball games here when Neal was here is now in California and he also attended.

We have had over two inches of good rain this last week of which we are happy to receive. Ruidoso has had lots of hard rains. Bonita received over two inches. The nights are cool with the tinge of Fall. Grasshoppers by the millions.

School started Monday morning with a good attendance. The open house at the school was well attended and certainly enjoyed.

Mrs. Maurilda Perry underwent surgery in the Ruidoso Hospital Tuesday August 15th. She had her work all ready for her students as she felt she may not be present the first week. I wish you a complete and good recovery.

Mrs. Ellen Faye Cornelius and Mr. Sammy Hammons were united in marriage at the Ruidoso Community Methodist Church Saturday night August 19.

Brides attendants were Catherine Grantham - Capitan - Bridegroom attendants were R. E. Hiut - Roswell, Bill Whitt - Ruidoso.

Rev. Crutchfield, performed the ceremony. Their children and a few close friends attended. I wish this lovely couple many years of happiness together.

A wedding shower honoring Ellen Faye will be held Friday night, 7:30 to 9 at Hollis Cummins home. Do attend. We loved our girl.

Mr. Forest Gaston started his new job as night jailer and dispatcher at Carrizozo last Saturday night.

ANYONE HAVE AN EXPLANATION FOR THIS?

Abraham Lincoln was shot 107 years ago. There are still those who believe that many mysteries about his murder still remain unsolved.

John F. Kennedy was shot less than nine years ago.

There are still those who believe that many mysteries about his murder still remain unsolved.

THE NUMBER OF SIMILARITIES BETWEEN THE TWO KILLINGS IS ALMOST UNCANNY.

Both Lincoln and Kennedy were concerned with the issue of civil right.

Lincoln was elected in 1860; Kennedy in 1960. Both men were slain on a Friday.

Both wives were present.

Both were shot from behind and in the head.

Their successors were both named Johnson, and both were Southern Democrats, both were in the Senate.

Andrew Johnson was born in 1808; Lyndon Johnson 1908.

Both Booth and Oswald were southerners favoring unpopular ideas.

Both Booth and Oswald were killed before going to trial.

Both Presidents' wives lost children while in the White House.

Lincoln's secretary, whose name was Kennedy, advised him NOT to go to the theatre.

Kennedy's secretary, whose name was Lincoln, advised him NOT to go to Dallas.

John Wilkes Booth shot Lincoln in a theater and ran to a warehouse.

Lee Harvey Oswald shot Kennedy from a Warehouse and ran to a theater.

The names Lincoln and Kennedy each contain seven letters.

The names Andrew Johnson and Lyndon Johnson each contain 13 letters.

The names John Wilkes Booth and Lee Harvey Oswald each contain 15 letters.

CHANCE?

Or could there be some hidden meaning beyond our comprehension?

State get BLM check

WASHINGTON - The Bureau of Land Management sent New Mexico a check for $7,371,807 this week.

The money was the state's share of revenues from federal lands for the first half of 1972. Another payment of approximately the same size will be made early in 1973 and will cover the last half of this year. The total state allocation for 1971 was $13,128,871.

The money is paid to the state treasurer, who may apportion it as he sees fit.

Of the total, the largest portion came from sale of leasable minerals, oil, gas and potash. Revenues from that federal source returned $7,204,298 to the state.

Revenues from public land grazing returned $159,840. Proceeds from the sale of public lands and materials gave the state another $7,668.

They will play at Vespers and High Mass in Santa Rita Carrizozo, this Sat. and Sun. August 26, and 27th.

Your Weekly Horoscope

August 26 through September 1

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Informal mood prevails. Daily dish set before you. And it won't be four-and-twenty blackbirds, baby. Nevertheless, you will gobble it up and relish every tasty morsel.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Inner vibrations will be strong. Taurus. Follow them. If another is critical, tell this person to go shiny up a waxed rope. Then do as you jolly well please. Week ends on note of confidence.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Give negative thought the boot, Gem. For the thought is father of the act. Time ideal to take giant step in direction of long-range goal. Key to success: Think YES.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Hang on, Moonbaby, for week ahead is full of activity. Situation confronts you which demands choice followed by quick action. Do not hesitate. Do not vacillate. Do not cogitate. Just move, doggone you, MOVE.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Some conflict hides in the shadows, Leo. Olga does so hate to be the bearer of bad tidings, but facts are hard things and must be faced. Suggest you stay on familiar turf. Keep voice and profile low. Week tumbles to a close.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22): Long overdue kick due to come your way, Virg, if you stay where the action is. The whole scene will be really heavy. So hang in there, sweet thing. Week ends on key of A-For-Answer, Audacity and Aphrodisiac. Ah, hot!

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): Confrontation awaits and must be followed by swift decision. Lib. You won't have time to choose medium cool. It will be fire or ice, well done or bloody rare. You manage magnificently if you listen to that tiny voice within you. Vibes will be unusually powerful.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): In days ahead do as you like (providing no one is hurt by your actions, of course.) Don't give a fig as to what outsiders think. Relationship with another intensifies and your ego is challenged. Blow your little mind, Scorp. If you can find it.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): Vibrations work overtime, Sag. Emotions are stirred by news before last day. News not necessarily written or spoken. Possible it will be transmitted by non-verbal experience. Study advice to Scorp for hidden message.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19): Week ahead full of razzmatazz, Cap. Press reject button on negative thinking. Use power of love to overcome one who practices love-of-power. Week ends with a squeal of delight.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18): Knotty problem arises. Do not settle for simplistic solution. Take time to sort out possibilities and then establish priorities. Spiritual communion possible with one you respect. Explore. You end week not only surviving, but actually thriving on turmoil. Message clear.

PISCES (February 19-March 20): There you are, Pisces, dallying away these beautiful summer days, while Olga worries her head off about you. Week can be most productive if you get off your fantasy and get cracking. Keep your mind open, your wallet closed and cut down on the joy juice.

Minority report

by LYMAN JONES

We have been attacked in our time by various kinds of things - rocks and sour apples, German machine gun rounds and artillery shells, once even by a Texas lady hunter who mistook a rustling in the brush for a deer (she said later she had taken a "sound" shot).

But never in our wildest dreams did we think we would be the victim of what we are now calling, for our memoirs, "the great Apache jellybean assault."

It happened Tuesday. We were driving from Mesalero to Cloudcroft, bemused by the lovely scenery and greenery (the Herefords deep in grass at those altitudes right now) when - spat, spat spat - we came under fire.

The attack came from the port side, out of which was hanging our left arm.

At least six rounds caught us in the forearm, two in the shoulder and one or two - these really stung - in the wrist.

Our first thought was that we had come under assault by swarming bees or beetles or big moths or something of that persuasion.

Then we glanced down.

The floor of the car was a-rattle with - honest to Geronimo! - jelly beans.

Jelly beans - red ones and blue ones, green ones and white ones, black ones (those are the kind we used to like) and one of a particularly purplish hue.

Flying jelly beans? we asked - aloud, too, you will understand. Jelly beans in flight at an altitude of 8,600 feet?

We U-turned and slowly as a wagon train circling for a defense drove back the way we had come.

When we reached the place of the original fusillade, we slowed to a crawl.

And there, by the side of that road through the lovely green, we saw peering through the high grass of the roadside ditch, six little Indians, each armed with a sack of the terrible missiles. We parleyed. Wouldn't you? And we reached an armistice. If the six little warriors (and warrioresses?) would agree to a cease fire "so long as rivers run and grass will grow," we would transport them the hundred or so yards down the road to the turnoff they were trekking to. It worked out. And while we don't exactly recommend it to President Nixon and the good Dr. Kissinger - well, there are elements there worth consideration, we are sure. For starters, let Kissinger propose a ceasefire of deadlier ammo and propose that both sides in Southeast Asia arm themselves with - what else? - jelly beans. They hurt a whole lot less and can, in addition, be picked up, wiped off and eaten. Save me the black ones, please. I never could abide the purple kind.

INSIDE THE CAPITAL BY FRED BUCKLES
Young Deming alternate Liberal

MIAMI BEACH -- Alternate Paul Feil, 21, of Deming in the New Mexico GOP national convention-delegation disagreed sharply with parts of the party platform drafted at the White House and tailored to President Richard M. Nixon's wishes.
 Second youngest New Mexico delegation member, Feil said: "The platform looks a little too conservative for me." The platform opposed amnesty for draft evaders. Feil says: "I favor a work service program for draft evaders."
 "The effect of the laws have to be upheld. The term punishment in an institution is not the way to solve the problem to get a piece of revenge," Feil says draft evaders should be tried and assigned, for example, to VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America), a federal program in effect in New Mexico.
 The national GOP platform took conservative positions or omitted mention of legalization of marijuana and abortion. Feil said of marijuana: "I've lived around marijuana for the last three years at Colorado College." He is a senior biology major and plans to enter a medical school in 1973.
 Feil, son of Dr. Paul Arnold Feil, Deming general practitioner, says: "At 21 years old marijuana may be permissible, matching the legal age for alcohol." He said marijuana may be legalized at 21 with proper controls "as long as it is kept out of the hands of 14-16-year-olds."
 He would not extend legalization to any other drug. Feil said at parties three groups were often found among college students -- marijuana smokers, alcoholic beverage drinkers and those abstaining from marijuana and alcohol.
 Feil and his brother, David, 18, polled 100 voters in 6 Deming precincts in a 2-week period ended Aug. 17. The results: President -- Nixon, 66.5 per cent; McGovern, 8.5; California Rep. John Schmitz, American Party candidate, one per cent; undecided, 23 per cent.
 U. S. Senate -- Domenici, 41.3 per cent; Daniels, 19.5; undecided, 38.4; State Representative District 32 (Hidalgo-Luna Counties) -- incumbent Democrat William Upton, Deming, 34.8 per cent; Mrs. Thelma Innon, Republican, Luna County rancher 15 miles south of Deming, 21.7; undecided, 40.5.
 Confined to Deming, the poll did not include Mrs. Innon's home precinct or Hidalgo County. Dr. Feil is a GOP Luna County Commission candidate. He formerly lived in Belen.
 Dr. and Mrs. Tom Prescott and their son, Michael, 20, drove to the GOP national convention at Miami Beach in a car. Efforts were unsuccessful to convert a new moter home 27 feet long the Prescotts bought in time for use at the quadrennial powwow.

Dr. Prescott and Michael were both New Mexico alternates at the convention, the father-son combination in the 27-member delegation. Michael, who was 20 June 19, was the youngest delegation member.

Mrs. Juanita Marcus Michaels, 36, a Taos Pueblo member, was the only Indian delegate in the New Mexico contingent. She met with minority groups at the national convention.

But Mrs. Michaels, a Santa Fe resident 13 years, says people in minorities should be treated as individuals. They should not be pictured as stereotypes, she says.

Mrs. Michaels favored allotting California Rep. Paul (Pete) McCloskey a committed New Mexico delegate. In pre-convention action the committee on contests and the National GOP Committee unanimously rejeed McCloskey's demand for a bona fide New Mexico delegate.

Would-be McCloskey delegate Tom Mayer, 29, of Espanola and McCloskey alternate Pete Duran, Albuquerque, flew to Miami and teamed with McCloskey to push his bid. Mayer-piloted his yellow single-engine 1932 design, Beechcraft stagger-wing biplane from New Mexico.

Most New Mexico delegates opposed allotting McCloskey a delegate at the national convention. McCloskey won a delegate by polling 3,367 votes against Nixon in the first New Mexico presidential primary June 6.

The New Mexico delegation, solidly pro-Nixon, complied with state law by casting 13 votes for Nixon and one for McCloskey. But delegates said McCloskey badly damaged his chances of winning a committed delegate at the state GOP convention July 15 in Albuquerque.

McCloskey told the state convention he would not support Nixon for re-election unless Nixon stopped bombing in Vietnam before the general election.

The New Mexico delegation supported a compromise delegate reapportionment plan that favors New Mexico Republicans at the 1976 national convention. New Mexico delegates would be increased from 14 at the 1972 powwow to 19 at the 1976 convention if Nixon carries the state again Nov. 7 under the plan.

National Committeewoman Francine Neff of Albuquerque backed the plan, approved by the National GOP Committee. Mrs. Neff and Albuquerquean, Ed Hartman, New Mexico members of the convention rules committee, also supported the new plan in rules panel action. The plan favors lightly populated, rural, Midwest, Southern and states that traditionally support the GOP presidential candidate.

It retains the bonus rule vital to the New Mexico GOP. Six of the 14 GOP delegates at Miami Beach were awarded as a bonus because Nixon carried New Mexico in 1968.

The National GOP Committee also recommended more representation of women, youths and other minorities on 1976 national convention delegations. The 14 New Mexico delegates at Miami Beach counted nine men and five women, two delegates under 30 and five minority group members -- four of Latin American heritage and one Indian.

Coffee honoring Congressman Rannels
 Lincoln County Democratic Women will meet August 31 at Four Winds for a Coffee honoring Congressman Harold Rannels. It will be at 10:00 a. m. This will be the regular meeting. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Petroglyphs

 speculate:
 "Imagine, if you can, the Indians who recorded these symbols. Did they do it to report successes in the hunt?"

"Or were they serving as lookouts who whiled away long hours with ancient games . . . ?"

"Perhaps these markings once held religious meaning."

"There are similar drawings on rocks found throughout the Southwest. And perhaps these people came here to trade with other Indians and these signs were 'billboards' advertising their wares."

"Let your eyes take in the horizons from east to west -- from 12,003-foot Sierra Blanca on the east, once a volcano, to the lava flows and glistening sands in the west -- and then you may know the meaning of the symbols graven here."

Maybe.
 And maybe not.

Reaction to the carvings, as recorded in the visitor's registration book (and visitors come from everywhere; a man from Moscow, in the Soviet Union, was there recently) range from the thoughtful to the rude and disbelieving.

One reaction, though, rings truest and appears most frequently, in forms like this:

"Preserve it."
 "Save it for our children."
 "Protest it."

And of course, this one:
 "Tell us what it means."

Perhaps one of the children we are asked to save it for may, one day, "tell us what it means."

Meantime, there it broods, the Three Rivers Petroglyphs Site, its carvings mute, its origin really unknown and with its mysteries intact.

Linda Simpson at Los Alamos
 LOS ALAMOS, N.M., -- Linda Maurine Simpson has recently joined the staff of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory in New Mexico to work with the Theoretical Division.

Miss Simpson received a B. S. degree in mathematics from the University of Texas, El Paso.

The new staff member is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen H. Simpson, Carrizozo, New Mexico.

Security for working women

Close to 30 million women are earning social security protection for themselves and their families through their own work, according to Mr. Christine Graves, social security Field Representative.

Here in Lincoln County, 541 women 60 and over actually receive social security benefits.

"The working woman has both disability and survivors protection," Mrs. Graves said. "If she becomes unable to work for a year or longer because of a disabling accident or severe illness, she and her dependents may be eligible for monthly cash payments from social security."

If a working woman dies prematurely, monthly cash payments from social security can help her children through school (until they're 22, if they remain full-time students and unmarried).

"If a working woman's husband is 62 or older and dependent upon her for his support, he also can be eligible for monthly social security payments on her work record," Mrs. Graves said.

"Even though her husband may be working at a full-time job, her children are still eligible for benefits on her work record," Mrs. Graves noted.

On her own work record, the working woman can retire at 62 with reduced monthly cash payments. Or she can wait until she's 65 and get full monthly cash benefits, Mrs. Graves said. But, if she could collect higher benefits as a wife on her husband's record, she can choose to collect the higher payment.

Mrs. Graves may be contacted at the County Commissioner's Room, Lincoln County Court
