Interesting projects underway

New council working well

Carrizozo town council had a long session Tuesday night tending to business that was generally for the betterment of the town. A well prepared set of minutes from previous meeting and one special meeting were read and approved without change.

A representative of the Burroughs company made a presentation of the peg system for handling the towns business, claimed to save considerable time. No new machinery involved. The council will study this further before making any commitment.

Mary Rich presented the Chamber of Commerce mural project which would bring reputable artists to town for purpose of painting murals on walls of buildings. This would be tied in with the New Mexico State Bicentennial Committee. Town of Carrizozo would spend no money on the project, just lend its official support.

Mary told the council that funds were now being raised, Annie Stephenson chairman of the fund committee, and they hoped to raise $2,500 to 3,000 which would be matched by state funds. The Bi-centennial committee had told Ms. Rich that the Carrizozo idea was the most original to come before them. The council agreed to sponsor the project.

R. L. Van Norman was present to discuss transfer of liquor license from Johnnie's Bar location to the old post office building. Van Norman has purchased this building and plans to make it into a bar-lounge. Atty. Witham told the council that laws have changed, the town council has nothing to do with approval of transfer, it's all up to the state. A hearing on this transfer should be called by the state liquor commission soon.

A local lady who prefers to remain unidentified has passed on to us one of the funniest political stories of Election Year 1972.

A friend sent it to her after it appeared in the Jackson, Miss. Daily News, which picked it up from the Pensacola, Fla. News which reprinted it from the Rocky Mount, N. C. Telegram.

It's worth passing along. Mrs. George Wood, now deceased, of Chowan County, had a mule who was named Horace. One evening she called up Dr. Satterfield in Edenton and said to him, "Doctor, Horace is sick, and I wish you would come and take a look at him."

Dr. Satterfield said, "Oh, Fannie Lamb, it's after 6 p.m. and I'm eating supper. Give him a dose of mineral oil, and if he isn't all right in the morning, phone me and I'll come take a look at him."

"How'll I give it to him?" she inquired.

"Through a funnel," "But he might bite me," she protested.

"Oh Fannie Lamb-you're a farm woman and you know about these things. Give it to him through the other end."

So Fannie Lamb went out to the barn, and there stood Horace, with his head held down, and moaning and groaning. She looked around for a funnel but the nearest thing she could see to one was her Uncle Bill's fox hunting horn hanging on the wall. A beautiful goldenplated instrument with gold tassels hanging from it.

She took the horn and affixed it properly. Horace paid no attention.

Then she reached up on the shelf where medicines for the farm animals were kept. But instead of picking up the mineral oil, she picked up a bottle of turpentine, and poured a liberal dose of it into the horn.

Horace raised his head with a sudden jerk. He let out a yell that could have been heard a mile away. He reared up on his hind legs, brought his front legs down, knocked but the side of the barn, jumped a five-foot fence and started down the road at a mad gallop.

Now Horace was in pain, so every few jumps he made, that horn would blow.

All the dogs in the neighborhood knew that when that horn was blowing it meant that Uncle Bill was going fox hunting. So out on the highway they went, close behind Horace.

It was a marvelous sight. First Horace running at top speed, the hunting horn in the most unusual position, the mellow notes issuing there from, the tassels waving and the dogs barking joyously.

They passed by the home of Old Man Harvey Hogan who was sitting on his front porch. He hadn't drawn a sober breath in 15 years, and he gazed in fascinated amazement at the sight that unfolded itself before his eyes. He couldn't believe what he was seeing. Incidentally, he is now head man in Alcoholics Anonymous in a section of the state.

By the time it was good and dark, Horace and dogs were approaching the Inland Waterway. The bridge tender heard the horn blowing and figured that a boat was approaching, so he hurriedly went out and uncranked the bridge. Horace went overboard and drowned. The dogs also went into the water but swam out without any difficulty.

It so happened the bridge tender was running for office of sheriff of Chowan County, but he managed to poll only seven votes.

The people figured that any man who didn't know the difference between a mule with a horn up his rear and a boat coming down the Inland Waterway wasn't fit to hold any public office in Chowan County. Atlanta Citizens Journal

Damage High in 13,000 acre Blaze

By Jeter Bryan

Charred trunks and scorched needles once-stately pines go marching mile after mile over the ridgecrests and along the slopes of Spring Canyon, Agua Chiquita and others today in the wake of the raging forest fire that laid waste 13,000 acres of Lincoln National Forest and consumed 11 residences in the mountain villages of Weed and Sacramento Saturday and Sunday.

Forest Service officials said at 10:30 a.m. Monday they were not calling the fire "contained" but hopefully it will be brought under control by late today—depending on the weather.

With more than 400 firefighters from three states in the area, three "slopovers" developed Sunday afternoon as the fire heated up, adding 2,000 acres. Velocity and direction of afternoon winds will determine whether the tragic conflagration is contained by nightfall today.

Contrary to late Saturday night reports, the Sacramento Methodist Assembly complex remains intact, spared from the inferno by the leaping nature of the crown fire during 65-mile-an-hour wind gusts late Saturday, and by the dedicated, ceaseless labor of firefighters who kept pumps going, spraying the Methodist Assembly buildings with water as the scorching flames moved to the edge of the complex.

Reports varied on the number of buildings destroyed in the two-day conflagration, some reports numbering as high as 22.

A survey conducted by County Commission Chairman Dan Virden, Commissioner Gordon King, Civil Defense Director Tony Genta and New Mexico Red Cross Disaster Director John Rogers showed the 11 residences burned in Sacramento and Weed and four other buildings in Weed. As the quartet stood by the burn area, State Rep. John Mershon veyed by to contact state agencies if need be and County Administrative Assistant Virginia Yearley prepared to send county men and equipment into the fire area if need be.

Virden told The Daily News late Sunday the survey revealed homes burned at Weed included those of Mr. and Mrs. Don Brown and three children; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wishard and three children; Margie Aguayo and two children, and Pat Hansen. Also burned at Weed were the old elementary school classroom building, the shop building, the Church of Christ and the old Goss general store.

Residences lost at Sacramento in the crazy-quilt pattern of destruction included those of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Brady and two children; Ron Hale; Kathleen Penny; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Woods; Mrs. Upha Shields and Mrs. Beatrice Buckner and her older brother. Mrs. Buckner said she escaped with her check-

Sign Language Interpretation

Easter story at dawn Sunday at Valley of Fires State Park

Easter Glory Bursts at Sunrise around our World. Resurrection Dawn Drama speeds westward as Earth speeds us eastward. Resurgence of faith fills us as we evaluate the victory of Christ, and of ourselves, over death.

Unique in our United States is the seventh annual Easter Dawn Drama to be held in Valley of Fires State Park, near Carrizozo, New Mexico, April 14th at 6:44 a.m. It is unique because it is basically a musical Easter Dawn Drama, wherein a triad of chorus groups sing of how death was defeated through the resurrection of the crucified Christ.

Another unique element is added this year in the appearance of a Mescalero Apache Indian high school girl, Molly Gayton, who interprets this drama in silent sign language as the chorus groups sing the sequences.

Unique also is the ecumenical theme of "Unity Without Uniformity," inspired by the "four chaplains" who gave their life-jackets to four soldiers who had none, on the decks of the sinking troopship Dorchester, in the icy dawn of the North Atlantic on February 3, 1973. These chaplains were Jewish, Catholic and Protestant.

Three 17 foot crosses rise from the top of "Sunrise Hill" representing the setting of the original Easter crosses on Calvary Hill near Jerusalem.

This Valley of Fires sunrise setting is located near the center of our four Southwestern States; Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Trumpet tribute to the glory of God, at first flash of rays from dawning Easter, turns all eyes to the top of Carrizozo Mountain, which signals that the 1974 drama has begun.

Socorro High School Chorus, under the direction of Rhoda Brown, sings "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory."

Past National Chaplain of the American Legion Auxiliary, Nan Genta, of Alamogordo, offers prayer.

Climax of the drama comes when Mayfield Senior High Chorus of Las Cruces, standing near the tomb, under the direction of Trudie Anderson, sing, "Low in the Grave He Lay," instantly followed by Carrizozo Community

Chorus, under the direction of Veda Lou Stephenson, singing from atop the hill, "Up From the Grave He Arose."

Concluding this climax of all history (His story) the Carrizozo Community Chorus sings "The King Is Coming." One thousand donuts with Cowboy coffee are ready as you leave the camping park.

Due to daylight saving time coming several months early this year, our clocks say it is time for sunrise, but the sun says we must wait one more hour before it is due to rise. This gives the latest start for an Easter Sunrise since the first Easter. Simply said, we get an extra hour of sleep this year.

Past speakers include: Father John Rebold of Santa Rita Catholic Church; Rev. Wendell Chino, president of Mescalero Tribal Council and past president of National Council of Indians; American Legion Boy's National President, Grey Gray of Gary, Indiana (16 year old black boy); and the Rev. Mrs. Isadore Fox of Vermont, wife of one of the four Chaplains.

All factors point to a pleasant day this Easter, but Chaplain Alfred Kline, Sunrise director, encourages everyone to put good warm clothes in your car.

Folks coming from a distance stay in motels in Carrizozo; Captain, Ruidoso, and Alamogordo. Some come in campers.

One small wooden cross is given to each car as you leave.

In case of unfavorable weather, the Carrizozo High School Gymnasium will be ready for an indoor service.

Boy lost Monday afternoon

Deputy Sheriff Glen Bradley got in on search for nine-year-old boy above the Three Rivers camp. He was found at 4:45 after a four hour search. Boy was Douglas Wesch whose parents live at Holloman.

A woman walked into a pet shop, looking around, and walked over to a parakeet in a cage. "Can you talk?" she said to the bird. "Sure," muttered the parakeet. "Can you fly?"

School Board goes for gym

Joel Stout, architect, of Charles Nolen and Associates, Alamogordo, met April 9 with the Carrizozo School Board to discuss plans for the new building program. With the available funds on hand the discussion centered on whether to build the shop and add the gym, or build the gym and add the shop.

According to the majority of the board members, the people of Carrizozo had expressed a preference for the gym. After some discussion as to whether the present design for a 98 foot court should be modified. The motion was made and carried that a 96 foot building should stand approved, with the shop to be added at a later date. The plans include both locker rooms and toilets. According to Stout, bids should open by mid-June and the building be completed in five or six months.

The question as to whether the White Oaks lots owned by the school should be covered by liability insurance came under discussion, as five or six dangerous wells apparently are as yet uncovered. Wesley Lindsay moved that this insurance should be included in the liability policy. The motion was carried.

The Feeder Route to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Balderston was approved, giving access to the school bus.

Nat Palomar announced a meeting to be held May 7 concerning Title 1 money for the reading and kindergarten program. It was also moved and seconded that William A. Terry CPA should be employed as Auditor for the school.

The Board was asked and gave high priority to consideration of the proposed new salary schedule presented by the Classroom Teacher's Assc. and a schedule proposed by Superintendent James Steinepreis.

English teacher, James Florian, stated: "Basically we are asking for an index salary schedule which allows for a 3 percent increment for each year of teaching experience and 3 percent increment for each increase in education above a bachelor's degree. Teachers have requested a salary increase of 10percent - 32 percent."

The Board approved a salary increase of 114 percent thru 26 percent. A motion was made and carried to spend between $56,000 to $59,000 for the increase of staff salaries, a 19 to 20 percent increase over 1973 and '74 contracts.

A Budget Committee Meeting will be held in the County Commissioners Meeting Room on May 20 at 9:30 a.m.

School Board members present at the meeting were: Supt. Jim Steinepreis, Bob Stearns, acting chairman in the absence of Siegrid Lessau; Wesley Lindsay and Nat Palomar.

BSI personnel donate $40,000

New Mexico Boys Ranch will get another new dormitory this summer, thanks to the more than 800 employees of Bank Securities, Inc., of New Mexico. Two similar cottages have been completed in recent years.

Mike Kull, ranch superintendent, announced that the Ranch had received a $40,000 donation from the employees for the Ranch building fund. BSI operates a chain of banks and branches in the state.

In making the presentation, spokesmen for Bank Securities said they hoped to make this an annual affair and hope to start raising money immediately for a new ranch gym. The head of Bank Securities, Ted Bonnell, Alamogordo banker, is a member of the BR board of directors.

The $40,000 donation was made at a banquet in Albuquerque Tuesday. The Ranch boys and staff were guests at a luncheon. Mark Sloan, BSI official, made the presentation. Cong. Manuel Lujan, Mrs. Bruce King, wife of the governor, David King, state planning director, and Wendell Chino, president of the Mescalero Apaches, appeared on the program.

Ranch Supt. Kull said the new cottage for 16 boys, 6 to 12 years of age, will be built this summer. The $40,000 will be virtually enough to finance the proposed structure, Kull said.

To get an uninterested child to eat a nutritious breakfast, slice him a hard boiled egg. He is eager to eat all the pieces. And it doesn't have to be Easter season to color or decorate his eggs.

Cotton swabs make great paint brushes for children. One for each color, so paint remains unmixed and bright.

And now a few chicken 'yokes' for Easter: Farmer: Down on the farm we go to bed with the chickens.

City Feller: Well, in town we'd rather sleep in our own beds.

A chicken farmer wrote to the Department of Agriculture as follows: "Mr. Dunlap: something is wrong with my chickens. Every morning when I come out of the house I find two or three of them on the ground cold and stiff, with their feet in the air. Can you please tell me what is the matter?"

In due time, back came a reply: "Dear Sir, your chickens are dead."

Daffynition - Duck: A chicken with snowshoes.

There's something wrong with this chicken a la king.

There can't be - the cookbook says it's perfectly delicious.

Old Hen: Let me give you some advice.

Young Hen: Yes, what is it?

Old Hen: an egg a day, keeps the ax away.

Do you know the story about the three eggs? No.

Two bad!

Just as bad as these 'yokes', Ha-Ha! Happy Easter!

"Gran Quivira"

It's only a monument in crumbled decay
Just a pile of rocks you would say;

Yet in its glory, years long past
It had a great story, one that will last.

Once many people here did reside
In this great pueblo lived and died;

It once was a heaven, a welcome place of rest
For the weary Spaniard who conquered the West.

Here for the worship of the almighty God
The Padres did build of these rocks and sod;

This once great Mission as you now can see
Its history will be read in the eternity.

Along these trails that are here about
Once children did romp, play and shout;

and lovers would stroll hand in hand
With the happiness of maid and man;

To bring in the meat was the men's toil
The women at home would till the soil;

But Lo! the day came when the Apaches did raid!

With a blood-thirsty warcry the siege was laid;
Attacked these people who loved and feared God

Now many their bones lie here 'neath the sod.
The peace loving people their lives did defend

But lost to the raiders in their bloody end.
You here see the havoc the raiders wrought

Capturing treasures that from Spain were brought;

Destroying these buildings with force and fire
To kill and destroy was their maddened desire;

But a few did escape from the bloody brigands
And fled this home for more peaceful lands;

We have part of the record of this great site
But most of its history is dark as night;

There are many stories about this old town;
But yet the true facts remain to be found;

For here on this majestic hill
The roving Apaches, the history did kill.

But we do know that it was the Piro tribe
That built this pueblo and here did reside;

And later they welcomed the Padres so grand
Who came over from Spain to teach in this land;

Accepted their God, and tilling the soil;
Here a great mission of safety was born

Once a great city this hill did adorn;
As you see now there's nothing that's grand

But once was the pride of this western land;
It was a grand pueblo that stood here in that day

But the raiding Apaches reduced it to rock and clay.

Social Security Report

People who earned over $2,100 and got one or more monthly social security retirement or survivors checks in 1973 must submit an annual report of their earnings to social security by April 15, according to James Flemons, social security Claims Representative.

The report shows how much was earned in wages and self-employment income last year by people who got social security payments—as well as how much they expect to earn this year.

"The report will be used to determine if people were paid the correct amount of social security benefits for 1973, and to adjust their monthly social security payments for 1974 according to their estimated earnings," Flemons said.

Full social security benefits could be paid to eligible people in 1973 if they earned or less for year. No matter how much they earned for the year, they could be paid their full social security benefits for any month they earned $175 or less and didn't do substantial work in their own business.

For 1974, the figures are $2,400 for the year and $200 a month.

Flemons may be contacted at the County Commissioner's Room, Lincoln County Court House in Carrizozo on April 23 from 10 to noon.

Wool Prices Down

by Ralph Dunlap

Wind and dust did not stop the boys and girls from participating in the Horse Clinic at Lincoln Saturday.

The morning started out with JoAnn Evans and Barbara Byrd showing the riders how to set the horse, handle the reins and use of the knees in control of the horse. They were given practice in proper riding. Each participant was given pointers on how to improve their horsemanship. Katie even gave a demonstration on the proper method of horse control when using the jumps. She put her horse over a series of jumps so the group could see proper control of the horse.

RRD

Wool prices are down considerable from the high of last year. Wool sold in Roswell recently from 64 to 85 cents per pound for grease wool with an average around 75c per pound. This wool was estimated to bring around $1.75 per clean pound.

Considering gardening--then get the publication "A Guide for Home Vegetable Gardeners," 400 H-5, available from the county extension office in Carrizozo. It will help you get the most out of your garden.

An important consideration when choosing vegetables to grow is the planting date. That's because garden vegetables have different requirements for optimum growing temperatures and growing days to maturity. The planting dates will vary depending on what part of Lincoln County you live in. The gardening guide provides a zone map indicating the three general growing areas of the state. The growing season varies from 40 to 210 days in different parts of New Mexico, based on the average date of the last killing frost in the spring and the first killing frost of the fall.

Cool season vegetables, those that should be planted during early spring include such crops as radishes, lettuce, peas, spinach, cauliflower, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, beets, onions and potatoes. These cool season vegetables grow best in the cool mountain areas. Warm season crops, which should be planted after danger of frost is over will include such crops as tomatoes, sweet corn, squash, cucumbers, green beans, peppers and melons. Tomatoes, and melons are slow to develop in the cool mountains.

4-H floating officers elected

The Capitan 4-H club held a regular meeting February 28. The main business of this meeting was to elect floating officers. The floating officers are: Vice President, Loyd Engleking; Song Leader, Betsy Eldridge; Recreation Leader, Ann Womack; Sergeant at Arms, Grady Lee Eldridge.

It was announced at the meeting that the Capitan club had sold 8 cords of wood for the County Council fund raising project. We would like to thank those people who purchased the wood, it was really appreciated.

Linda Trujillo, a Jr. Leader for the club, is working with the Home Living sewing project. They held their first meeting April 3rd. These girls will make scarves and tote bags for the county dress revue. Those enrolled in this project are: Becky Jones, Renee Richardson, Jackie DeWebber, and Sandra Lacy.

The Horse project, under the leadership of Preston Stone, has been busy studying horse judging in preparation for the county judging contests. We had a meeting April 4th at which we were quizzed on the parts of a horse and desirable conformation. Our next meeting will be April 19th.

Those attending the meeting were: Shirley McGinnis, Betsy Eldridge, Grant Dean, Allan Ponder, Vance Sidwell, Jim Parker, David Parker, Lloyd Engleking, Rick Clifton, Grady Lee Eldridge, Sandra Lacey, Donna Joiner, and Nancy Hunter.

The Capitan 4-H club held a livestock judging clinic April 6th. Two classes of sheep and one class of heifers were judged at the Gnat Gnatkowski ranch and two classes of dairy cattle were judged at Millers Dairy. Many good points on judging were given and much was learned.

Those attending the judging clinic were: Tim, Tina, and Tod Proctor, Jackie and Johnnie DeWebber, David and Jim Parker, Farrell and Perry McKay, Ricky and Robbie Richardson, Rick Clifton, Allan Ponder, and Eddie Davis. Nancy Hunter, Reporter.

Lincoln Town

by Hattie Phillips

Mrs. Cooper fixed a lovely lunch and invited Rebecca and Glenda Phillips and myself to join her and Kathleen for it.

The girls had a great time playing and Mrs. Cooper and I enjoyed visiting.

Although we will be happy to see Linda Cooper when she comes home from her trip, we will hate to see Mrs. Cooper go back to her home in Denver.

A group surprised Edna and Wayne Zumwall in their new home Saturday evening. There was a lot of good food and everyone enjoyed eating and visiting and seeing the trailer home. It is very nice.

I understand that the horse show sponsored by the 4-H group, at Lincoln Sunday, would have been great had the dust not been blowing so they had to cut it short.

I surely hope they will do it again and the next time the weather will cooperate.

Some how one sentence didn't come out last week. Mrs. Racher fell on a slick spot on the pavement around a filling station while in Arizona and Mr. Racher fell later dislocating his shoulder and sustained severe injuries including a broken wrist.

They brought home bunches of beautiful grapefruit and oranges which they distributed to their neighbors. That was certainly nice to do and I'm sure everyone duly appreciates it. I know we did.

Mrs. Carrie Dow is still in the hospital at Roswell and is very ill. We hope and pray that she will soon be improved.

Helen Pfingston had been ill with pneumonia but is better. Fritz Pfingston has a very bad cold.

We're ready for April Showers. How about you?

Our Postmaster, Fay Womack, attended a seminar on postal procedures in Roswell, April 3, along with other area post masters.

Deputy Sheriff for Corona Area

The Lincoln County Commissioners at their regular meeting, Tuesday, authorized Sheriff Leandro Vega to hire a Deputy Sheriff to be stationed in Corona.

The authorization came as a result of a joint effort by the Mayor and Village Council of Corona since the area has had numerous burglaries.

Sheriff Vega stated he is accepting applications for this position.

Soybeans make muscles

by Mary Ellen Payne

Soybean Cookery: The highly lauded soybean is cooked like any other humble bean or pea. Dry soybeans are cooked in the same way as other dry beans. Soak overnight or use the quick-soak method. After soaking, drain; add six cups of fresh water for each cup of beans put to soak; and two teaspoons of salt. Cook for one and one half to two hours. Season and serve.

Cooked soybeans may be used in casseroles, soups or salads. Soybean puree can be added for foods, especially to extend meat dishes and supplement the protein. Puree soybeans by pressing soaked soybeans through a coarse sieve or grind.

Soybeans are a good source of high-quality protein, but the beans are not a complete protein. Soybeans and soybean products are relatively expensive on a per pound basis. Other extenders may be just as nutritious and more economical.

A cook could add dry milk to a meatloaf, for example, and get as much protein and a better-tasting meat dish at less cost.

In many successful recipes using soybeans as an expander, the economy and ease of preparation of the recipe is lessened because of adding spices or other ingredients to mask the flavor of the soybeans.

Since soybeans absorb fat and moisture, extra liquid must be added in many dishes or the finished product will be dry.

1 Cup of Easter!
Happy Easter! In this year of 1974 Lets think of the beauty of the world. Make your world beautiful! Begin with just the simplest things; A word to speak, a song to sing, A room to clean, a note to write, A heart to heal, a lamp to light, To guide some footsteps through the night. Be kind to one you thought unkind. Give selflessly and you will find A rainbow at the journey's end; Make your world beautiful! Awake to beauty. Become aware of all the good in which you share. The love that around you lies, and you will see with glad surprise how close you live to paradise!

I took the old pickup today. The wind is still blowing.

Johnny - Bob invited his teacher, Mrs. Pherigo, and his 4th grade class to an Easter Party, at his home last week. It was fun for all. Sue told me that Bob Stearns and LaMoine Carpenter went fishing at Conchas Lake.

After a chat with Mrs. Sitten about Alva just returning from the hospital, and feeling better, I went to visit with Sarah Maxwell. She is a dear lady, and her three grand children were busy picking up toys while I talked to their parents Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Maxwell. They were on an Easter outing through Ancho and the Jicarilla's (old mining territory).

I heard, on the wind, that Mrs. Homer McDaniel, her brother-in-law and sister made a visit to Noga.

Sam and Loraine Cox returned from Denver, Sunday where they visited their daughter and family Mary Ann Haux. On their way home they visited two of Loraine's sisters, and stopped in Roswell to help a grand daughter, Carrie Jean Wilson celebrate her 5th birthday.

The Burkstallers had one night in Denver with Doug B. Burkstaller on his birthday, then picked up Damon in Canon City, on the way home.

Sunda Villa had two visitors for tennis today. Lovd Davis, Mayor of Ruidoso, and Roy Parker, Manager of Sierra Blanca Ski Area.

U.P.W. will be postponed until, next week, will let you know where and when.

Summer Smith, of Dry Prong Louisiana was 5 years old April 5th. Burton C. Smith, H. F. Burkstaller's son-in-law is top salesman in his company. We congratulate both he and his daughter Summer.

Preventive Medicine

Most Medical Drs. do not study nutrition, or preventive medicine. However Doctors at Methodist Hospital of Indiana in Indianapolis are treating patients before they get sick. Dr. Lewis C. Robbins, chief of the health hazard appraisal program, and Dr. Jack H. Hall director of graduate medical education at the hospital have been studying the problem nearly 15 years of preventative medicine; and they have written a book on the subject.

Both Drs. say that preventive medicine techniques are here to stay and will become commonplace with-in the next 6 years.

Roby's Box;

Loraine Cox sent our recipe this week. Thanks!

If you put off until tomorrow what you should do today, there will probably be a higher tax on it.

Dear Roby,

If you want an easy way to put a new shelf in your cabinet, just find a board the size you want - cover it with paint or shellpaper, find four of the same height bottles lay the board on the bottles or jars then you can store other things on the shelf.

Dear Roby,

If you want to keep your table cloths from wrinkling, just put a rod across a closet - and lay your cloths over it.

Proposals should be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked on the outside "Proposal for Purchase of General Obligation Bonds", and addressed to Doris Jo Engelking, Village Clerk, Village Hall, Capitan, New Mexico.

THE BONDS will be awarded to the highest and best bidder considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any, and subject to the right of the Village to reject any and all bids and readvertise. The highest and best bid for said issue will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid, if any, from the total amount of interest which the Village would be required to pay from the date of the bonds to the respective maturity dates at the coupon rate or rates specified in the proposal, and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the Village. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. None of the bonds will be sold for less than par and accrued interest, and no discount or commission will be allowed or paid on the sale of the bonds. The Village reserves the privilege of waiving any irregularity or informality in any bid.

ALL BIDS shall be sealed and except for the bid of the State of New Mexico, if one is received, shall be accompanied by a deposit of two per cent (2%) of the amount of the bid, i.e., the principal amount of the bonds plus any premium, either cash or certified check drawn on a solvent commercial bank or trust company in the United States which shall be returned if the bid is not accepted; and if the successful bidder for said issue shall fail or neglect to complete the purchase within thirty (30) days following the acceptance of the bid, or within ten (10) days, whichever is later, the amount of the deposit shall be forfeited to the Village, and in that event the Governing Body may accept the bid of the one making the next best bid, or if all bids are rejected, the Governing Body of said Village shall readvertise said bonds for sale. If there be two or more equal bids for said issue and such bids are the best bids received and for not less than par and accrued interest, the Governing Body shall determine which bid shall be accepted.

THE GOVERNING BODY will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids for said issue not later than twenty-four hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of bids. Delivery of the bonds of said issue will be made to the successful bidder at the Ruidoso State Bank, Ruidoso, New Mexico, or at the successful bidder's request and at his expense, delivery will be made elsewhere as requested. Any successful bidder will not be required to accept delivery of the bonds if they are not tendered for delivery within sixty (60) days from the date herein stated for opening bids; and the good faith deposit will thereafter be

Stark Believes in Tax Relief

I have been a resident of Lincoln County a number of years. During that time I have been active in many Civic and Fraternal organizations. Having served the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce as President and three years Manager. I have served Lincoln County Development Association as President twice. My wife Sara and I have a son and a daughter both married and four grandchildren. I am self employed in sales and have ample time to devote to being County Commissioner.
Having served Lincoln County four years as chairman of the County Commission I feel well qualified for the office. During my four year tenure, Lincoln County encountered many growing pains as it has before and will continue to do so.

I feel we were able to cope with these problems in a satisfactory manner with Lincoln County going forward.

I have in the past and will continue to represent all of the people of Lincoln County. I will continue to help perpetuate the growth and prosperity of our county to the best of my ability. I am a firm believer in economy in government. I believe your tax dollar should be spent so that you the tax payer derives the most benefit from it.

Realizing we are living in an inflationary period, I don't believe it is to your best interest to waste any of your tax dollars.

We are fortunate in Lincoln County to have two fine hospitals. Aid to these institutions was authorized by you the Voters of Lincoln County. I feel this aid must be given.

Due to the reappraisal program which was a directive of the State of New Mexico being completed most all property owners are paying on a much larger Valuation. I was of the opinion before and still believe with this higher Valuation we can have a decrease in your tax levy. I pledge to your all of my efforts to try to relieve some of your tax burden. I want to see Lincoln County grow and prosper. Tax relief is one answer to this.

In the middle of a long sermon, a minister said to a young boy, "Wake up your father, Johnny."
"Wake him up yourself," Johnny replied, "you put him to sleep!"

New Council

 Magistrate S. M. Ortiz asked the council about an increase in salary. Money is in the budget for raise from $100 a month to $150 a month, question was whether or not salary of elected official can be raised during term in office. Some research will be done.

Discussion of town cleanup was next on agenda. Mary Jones presented the council with survey results from teams working under direction of the Chamber of Commerce. Plat of the town was cut apart, then survey made by several teams coming up with recommendations as to where cleanup needs to be done: mowing, building repaired or condemned. The council will approach this problem in three steps, 1) to identify property owners on the survey maps, 2) send letters asking that easy kind of cleanup, such as mowing, old car removal, be done, 3) get help from state fire marshal and do something about old buildings.

The cleanup job will be done on a problem basis, no picking or choosing or piecemeal type of approach. Town attorney will check legal angles.

Period of redemption of town properties, foreclosed for paving liens, expires April 19 at which time the town can move ahead with disposition of some 40 to 50 pieces of property. All can be sold subject to taxes. Council discussed this matter and means of selling. Some good lots are on the list, some of little value, some now owned by the state taken over for delinquent taxes.

Mayor Bill Payne told the council that the town would go after delinquent paving payments, only two or three need attention.

Dr. Ernest A. Steinhoff was expected to present proposal on water research in this area. He did not appear, council tabled his proposal.

Scott Industry people have asked to town for site along runway at airport for future expansion of its plant in Carrizozo. The town has in mind construction of an industrial park on airport land, using 20 or more acres. Scott could acquire part of this land with access to taxi strip. Payne told the council they would know after July 1 if funds from the state will be available for water, sewer, other work on industrial park site. Some arrangement will be worked out for Scott, but probably not until the industrial park is lined up. Occupation licenses were approved.

Town planning committee appointed to work with Kenneth Larsen & Associates, the firm doing town planning. Committee members are: Tom Ward, Jackie Spencer, Fred English, Chevo Baca and Albert Roberts, all subject to acceptance.

Fire Department asked town for OK on advertising for bids on new fire truck, to cost $15,000 or more. OK with council.

Few words about possible tampering with antenna on ambulance, stored in town garage. Hard to tell how this might have happened.

Fishing season is about here and Carrizozo has a new lake. Questions asked by council, limit of fish, can just children be allowed to fish, license fee. May well be that existing regulations will apply to this new lake, Archie Witham will check.

Last order of business was approval of bills. Present at the meeting were Mayor Bill Payne, Councilmen Roy Harman, Earl Fenter, and C. D. May. Atty. Archie Witham, Manager Johnny Johnson, Clerk Viola Fenter, Marshal Choncho Morales. Visitors Mary Rich, Jimmy Lucero, S. M. Ortiz, and Burroughs man.

Damage high

 Church Camp in 1933.
 The new brick Sacramento post office and residence built a year ago was destroyed, leaving brick walls and a fireplace chimney partially standing. Across the street, all that remains of a residence is the stark fireplace chimney. Flames leaped over two more residences.

A number of residents lost invaluable personal

As 450 firefighters were engaged in a holding action at mid-morning, huge earth-moving machines sat silent at strategic points with operators gazing into drifting smoke clouds ranging the perimeter of the burn area, which extends 10 miles from east to west. They hope the call to return to cutting fire strips though the virgin timber will not come again.

Meanwhile, walking along the floor of the burned-over forest, with the silent, one-green trees standing like silent sentinels on a far-flung battlefield, one barely hears the sough of the wind in the crisped tops. Under foot is white ash and black, charred remains of burned underbrush and fallen needles and small limbs.

It's a heart-rending experience to see this forest laid waste, like the big burns of 1951 and 1953 nearby. Since the trunks of the trees appear to be only partially seared, one can almost hope that they will survive and recover.

Forest Service spokesmen said this morning, however, that the blaze has damaged seriously 13,000 acres (20 square miles) of valuable pine timber and watershed lands. They said 21 homes and business buildings were destroyed Saturday. Private property damage is estimated at $330,000. Most of the organization camps and most private homes located in and adjacent to the fire were saved from destruction by efforts of rural fire departments, Forest Service firefighters and units from Holloman AFB.

An estimated 250 residents of Weed, Sacramento and the surrounding area had been evacuated before the fire reached them.

Forest Service officials today placed no dollar figure on the timber loss but an unofficial estimate from other sources late Sunday placed that figure at $38 million.

The roads into the immediate area still were closed by state law enforcement officers because of the continuing danger today. National Guardsmen joined State Police, Otero County Sheriff's officers, Sheriff's Reserves, U.S. Air Force units, Army personnel from Fort Bliss, members of the Mounted Patrol, Forest Service personnel, rural fire departments and others in manning blocks to control traffic Saturday and fighting the fire throughout Sunday and they remained at their stations today.

Sunday night, 200 firefighters worked to close firelines along the 30-mile fire edge. A wind shift to the east was expected today as a weather front passes through the fire area, which could spread the fire back to the southwest. A total of 450 firefighters presently are engaged in holding action along the southern front to prevent the fire's crossing the fire lines. If they are successful today, the fire should be contained late tonight, officials said.

There have been only four minor injuries to firefighters. None of the area's residents have been reported injured.

Forest Service officials have begun plans for rehabilitation of the burned area even though the fire is still uncontrolled. A team of land management specialists, using helicopters and tractors, will spread grass seed over the burned area and prepare erosion control dams. This is expected to prevent soil erosion damage.

Later, trees will be planted on the denuded areas. Damages to timber, wildlife, forage, recreation and watersheds amount to millions of dollars.

Fiery enemy overcome

A forest fire resembles a war in many ways. The "enemy" is the all-consuming fire which sometimes creeps through dry brush and grass and sometimes roars through the treetops, pushed by the wind to lightning speed.

It uses the winds, the layout of the terrain and the available fuel to wage its campaign. "Defenders" in the war take many forms and use different weapons. Some ride bulldozers, others fly airplanes loaded with slurry, a few man tankers filled with water sucked from streams and nearby water tanks and the "footsoldier" comes armed with either a Pulaski, a McCleod or shovel.

Perk Canyon, south of Weed, became the battleground Sunday afternoon as the "enemy" launched an all-out attack on the ranch of Demery Anderson which has seen three generations grow up on it.

The fire made its move early Sunday as a branch from the Spring blaze which Saturday evening had razed the villages of Weed and Sacramento to the north.

Sensing the fire's push to the south, the "generals" of the defending army ordered World War II vintage B-17 bombers to the area to drop their red fire-retardant slurry under the direction of a "bird dog" light plane which streaked down to treetop level to scan results of the bombers' work.

Slowed somewhat, the fire still marched toward the Anderson ranch.

Firefighters near the ranch called for help as it became more evident that the ranchhouse was in jeopardy. The initial response by the "defenders" saw the arrival of three water pumpers, one from Holloman, one from Sacramento and a third whose home base is in the Roswell area.

Two quickly soaked the house while the Holloman unit moved into the woods beyond to douse "spot fires" blossoming in advance of the fire's march.

Fire Chief Travis Eldridge with the Air Force truck called it "buying time" until bulldozers and more ground troops could be brought in.

"Buy time" they did as, with the hot spots knocked down, the fire seemed to divide on the ridge behind the Anderson place with one fork pushing south and another beginning a drive to the east.

Quickly, the east branch of the fire became the most active, with spots of flame reaching to with 100 feet of the ranchhouse.

Single trees near on the east leg began to "torch" from bottom to top, making a noise that one firefighter likened to "the sound of a tornado" he had heard recently on television.

The south finger of the fire seemed to subside slightly as efforts were turned to battling the push on the east flank, but only for the time.

Arriving "hot shot" crews and a couple of "cats" soon had the east leg confined within a fire line scraped in the earth two dozer blades

Lincoln County News, April 11, 1974, Page 8 wide.

Anderson, watching the smoke on the south side of the canyon with the experience gained on other fires in the past, allowed "it sure looked like trouble."

And trouble it was. With the east fork dying behind the fireline, the south fire made its move to jump the dry creek bottom running the length of Perk Canyon and move across the meadow grassland seeking the next ridge of virgin timber.

A school bus loaded with "foot soldiers" pulled up, cats working the east line clanked across to the south and the Air Force pumper drove to stop the southward push.

All went according to the "defensive plan", with the men and cats clearing a break along the creek bank and the pumper quacking hot spots when in the space of seconds the blaze suddenly "crowned" into one of the last patches of trees along the creek bank and as if by magic patches of fire began to appear in the dry grass on the far side.

Stopped by the natural barrier, the fire seemed determined to reach the other side however it could.

But the men "defending" had other ideas. The pumper race to the far side of the creek and men armed with tools leaped the stream to begin swatting at the many spots of fire in the dry grass, each of which began about the size of a dinner plate and grew within minutes to join and cover the entire area.

But the pumper's water and the men with Pulaskis, McCleods and shovels proved a match and suddenly the battle of Perk Canyon was all but over.

The sack lunches which refueled the defenders were consumed quickly. The Holloman pumper left to refill its tanks, the "footsoldiers" piled into their bus to move to a new job and a small crew remained to watch over the recent battlefield in case of a re-awakening of the now quiet fire.

Sunday evening, the Anderson place stood just as it has for three generations. Anderson turned the propane tank back on and went inside, saying "I guess it's about time I put on the coffee pot." The sun sank into the smoke at the west end of Perk Canyon and what had been a great fight while it lasted -- ended.
