Raventon was once a lively village

Much has been written about White Oaks, once a booming gold mining town, located 12 miles North East of Carrizozo in Lincoln County, New Mexico. But, "What is Rebenton?" is a question often asked.

Rebenton (pronounced: Ray-ben-tone) -- anglicized to Rebenton -- lies sleeping and deserted in a valley about seven miles east of White Oaks. Most of the houses have crumbled, with the exception of several that still remain to ponder over the fate of their companions.

Some say the Spanish settlers came there before the early days of Santa Fe, but so far, no evidence of this has come to light. There is evidence, however, to show that the valley was settled perhaps as early as 1871 -- anyway, before gold was discovered at White Oaks in 1879.

Many who came to this valley and also the families who settled still earlier in what is now Lincoln, came from the early Spanish settlements east of the Manzano mountains. From the Jornada del Muerto -- the old trail which followed the Rio Grande -- a wagon trail turned east about ten miles south of Belen to what is now Mountainair. It then turned north to follow along the west side of the mountains and on to Santa Fe. (Routes 60 and 10) The people of Punta de Agua, Manzano, Torreon, Tajiague and Chilili settled along this old trail in the 17th century, not far from the Indian Pueblos of Abo and Quarai.

West of the mountains and on the east bank of the Rio Grande, six miles north of Belen, lies the old village of Tome. From here in 1858, Father J.B. Ralliere first began to travel many miles to celebrate Mass, baptize and marry the people of his parish. In January, 1860, he travelled to Lincoln -- or as it is recorded, "Rio Bonito" -- where he baptized six babies and one at Fort Stanton.

That same year on April 20 in Manzano, he married Aniceto Lueras and Maria-Librada Herrera. Again in Manzano, November 21, 1863 he married Juan Chavez and Maria Gertrudes Herrera Otero. She was the widow of Antonio Jose Otero and had five children. So far as it is known, these two young men, bringing with them their wives and children, were the first to settle North of the Capitan mountains.

One can only guess as to which family came first. Juan Chavez had a son, Juan Chavez Jr., born before he left Manzano. He settled on the Patos Creek, or Little Rito and put up two rock houses, also a chapel dedicated to Our Lady of Guadalupe. On all sides the rich grasslands rolled to the horizon, only coming up abruptly against the Capitan mountains to the south. A short distance to the west lay a good sized lake, the undisturbed refuge for hundreds of ducks. By 1881, he was well established with 2,000 sheep and several hundred goats--the Fiesta in honor of Our Lady of Guadalupe already famous. Over 300 people came to celebrate each year on December 12, some from as far away as Albuquerque and Manzano.

Judging by this, Juan Chavez must have been on the Patos for at least a decade. But this is not the story of the Patos, except in so far as it relates to the people of Rebenton.

Aniceto Lueras described as blue-eyed, fair complexioned and of Spanish descent, joined up with the Union Army and fought in the battle of Valverde in 1862. He had five boys and one girl before he left Manzano. Like Juan Chavez, he was a sheepman. The valley, to which he came was well protected on the south by Patos Mountain and to the north and west by the Jicarillas. To the east, it opened out on the plains and to Patos Creek.

He put up a log house close to a spring which never ran dry. The story goes that both the Spanish and Indians had fought over the spring, but just when this happened is not told. When the Lueras family settled, however, the Jicarilla Indian reservation extended to the foothills of the Sierra Blancas and the Mesalero Reservation.

It wasn't long before Aniceto had "many, many sheep" according to his granddaughter, Rosa Sanchez. But she tells of one day when they were grazing along the Patos -- a "water spout" of cloudburst, opened up on Patos Mt. The creek flooded and all the sheep washed downstream and drowned. After that he never had as many. The year of this tragedy is unclear, but at the time, many of the men and boys of Rebenton were herding the sheep for Aniceto.

Reventar, in Spanish, means "to burst" and some say that Rebenton was named for the "water spouts" -- frequent visitors to the mountains during the rainy season.

Soon more ranchers came from Manzano to settle in Rebenton. Houses went up along the valley and in the surrounding areas. They were not all alike. Some were of native rock chinked with adobe, others of logs, adobe bricks or jacals of upright poles of Pinon firmly entrenched in the ground, chinked with mud and plastered inside and out with adobe.

Inside, the walls were coated with yesso. Outcroppings of the white gypsum could be found in the nearby hills. It was baked, ground to a powder and mixed with a boiled flour and water paste. Run a finger over the yesso still clinging to adobe walls today -- the finger will remain clean. The remains of old dugouts can still be found, more often used for temporary housing. Usually just one room dug into the side of a hill and finished off, above, with rocks. Roofing on the houses consisted of hand hewn logs -- of Vigas -- which in turn supported a cross hatching of willow sticks or poles, well chinked with and tamped down with layers of adobe. They leaked in the rains and showered down dust in the dry season, and later replaced with sloping roofs of corrugated tin.

Almost all of the families in Rebenton had herds of sheep and good crops of beans, corn, squash and other vegetables, including pumpkins, for which it became well known. Salomon Sanchez tells of working for Frank Coe in Glendale. He used to fill his wagon with cabbages, barter them for pumpkins in Rebenton and sell them off to ranchers on the way home.

Cash was scarce and everybody bartered for that. Wool and pelts carted to Las Vegas could be exchanged for barrels of whiskey and wine, coffee beans; sugar candies etc. The round trip sometimes took a month. It was faster with the mule teams but many, including Aniceto Lueras used oxen to draw the heavy wagons. This went on until the turn of the century, when stores began to open up in White Oaks, Carrizozo and Capitan.

Manuel Lueras, grandson of Aniceto, tells of when his grandfather and great-grandfather, Juan Lueras, hitched up the oxen and started for the Staked Plains, east of the Pecos River to hunt for buffalo. They reached the plains but during the hunt his father died of a heart attack. On the long trek back to Rebenton, Aniceto slept in the freezing weather, in the wagon beside his dead father. Buried near the Lueras home, a triangular still marks his grave.

Schooling was a problem for all the early settlers. Aniceto sent his two youngest sons, Manuel and David to school in Las Vegas, Delores, the oldest, Andres and Jose Maria remained at home. By the time his daughter, Francisca was ready for school (app. 1880), he had built a one room schoolhouse of rock -- parts of the walls still stand. Jose Maria Aguayo, the first teacher, later homesteaded in Tortolita Canyon which runs about five miles west of Nogal. The old school was the scene of many a baile or "fandango" as dances were often called.

By 1891 all six children of Aniceto and Librada had married, the boys settled close to the old home along the Arroyo. Andres built a house of rock, the outside walls plastered with adobe. The floors were of wide pine-planks and the long living room had a fireplace at one end. His brother, Dolores, bought the house and land in 1902 when Andres and his wife, Adele Gutierrez moved to Carrizozo.

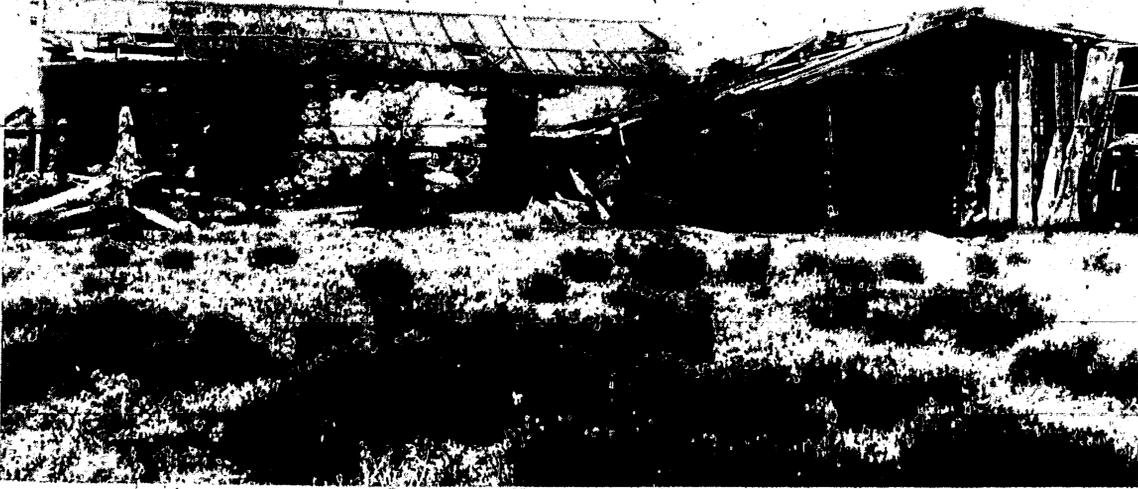

By 1880 White Oaks was born. Two years later the population exploded to a census of 1,000. A post office opened up in 1880 and Dolores Lueras took the mail each day from Rebenton in a buggy. Four years later, his brother, David was to be the first postmaster in Rebenton -- before this all mail had to be carried to Fort Stanton.

Miners paid little or no attention to the village. Apparently the attitude was mutual. Morris Parker states in his book "White Oaks": "... Spanish, the only language for which in later years I had any use, I studied not at all. ... in White Oaks we had very few Mexicans." The Lincoln County War came and went in 1878, raising barely a ripple north of the Capitan.

The only thing that really gave the sheep ranchers of Rebenton and the Patos a headache, was the influx of "Americanas" with herds of cattle. John Chisum's huge herds had already fanned out into the surrounding public grazing lands. Maybe the sheep didn't care but the herders did. Frequent fights broke out around the water holes.

For the most part, Rebenton clung to the traditions and a way of life that had lingered unchanged for generations. The Catholic faith

Lincoln Republicans going to convention

ALBUQUERQUE--Republican gubernatorial nominee Joe Skeen will be the keynote speaker at the Republican State Platform Convention, beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Albuquerque Convention Center.

Skeen will be introduced by Congressman Manuel Lujan, who will address the convention, according to GOP State Chairman Murray Ryan. Don Trubey, Republican candidate for the Second Congressional District seat, will also speak to the session.

Chairman of the convention is Rep. Hoyt Patison (R-Curry, Roosevelt, Lea), with Bernalillo County Commission candidate Julian Garcia as vice chairman and Mary Talle of Colfax County as secretary. Registration for the convention begins at 10 a.m. in the Convention Center auditorium.

Lincoln County Republicans meeting in convention last Saturday in Carrizozo elected the following officers who are delegates to the convention plus additional delegates to make out the quota of 13:

Elected committee: Jim Gipson, county chairman; Bill Gallacher Jr., vice chairman; Mrs. W. B. Shrecengost, vice chairwoman; A. T. Pflingsten, Sherman Atwood, Mrs. R. A. Canning, president of Republican Woman's Club.

Delegates are Preston Jones, Mrs. A. T. Pflingsten, Mrs. Fritz Pflingsten, Mrs. Bud Allen, Archie Witham, Mike Hernandez, Kenneth Nosker. Three alternates, Mrs. Preston Jones, Bud Allen, and Mrs. Kenneth Nosker.

The convention set meeting time of July 31, 7:30 p.m. in the courthouse in Carrizozo for purpose of planning calendar of activities for county and state candidates. Committee for Carrizozo includes Julia Samora, Glen Bradley and Leandro Vega Jr.

Kenneth Nosker, as Gov. Candidate Joe Skeen's county chairman, will report on special activities planned for Skeen.

Dates for precinct meetings will be set and announced later.

Ralph Garcia appointed

On July 18 at a special meeting of the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners, C. O. Rominger III, County Appraiser for Lincoln County submitted his resignation to be effective August 2, 1974.

Mr. Rominger has accepted a job with the State of New Mexico Property Appraisal Department in Santa Fe. First assignment with the State will be in Lincoln County from four to six weeks training a new county appraiser.

Mr. Rominger said that he and his wife Alice, son Randy who now reside in Capitan will relocate to Santa Fe sometime in the later part of September.

Mr. Ralph Garcia now Asst. Appraiser has been appointed county Appraiser effective August 2, 1974.

Pflingsten is lucky

A. T. Bert Pflingsten had the misfortune of slipping on some mud and falling off into a streambed which happened to be dry. Luckily he hit on his head and no bones were broken. Bert spent eight days in Ruidoso hospital while his wife represented him at the Apple Growers meeting in Roswell. Myrtice said the meeting was wonderful. Bert is recovering nicely.

Shooting ruled as justifiable

RUIDOSO, N.M. -- Involuntary manslaughter charges against William Hickman of Ruidoso, who was charged in the shooting deaths of two men he said were burglarizing his home, were dropped today.

Magistrate Judge Robert Bradley of Alamogordo ruled the shooting was justifiable homicide during Monday's preliminary hearing. Hickman, 71, shot and killed Thomas Sanders, 28, of Mesilla Park, and David Anthony Schlitz, 21, of Tempe, Ariz., in his home the night of July 3, police said earlier.

Bradley handed down the decision after hearing about one hour of testimony presented by the prosecution.

Hickman had entered a plea of innocent to the charges when he was arraigned before

Scramble golf for everyone

A new kind of golf tournament for Carrizozo Recreation Area has been planned for Saturday and Sunday, July 27-28 by Mary Lou Beddoe and Margaret Stearns. It is known as a 18 hole Scramble Tournament, nine holes played each day.

Four-player teams get together, men, women of any age, pay their $2.00 per person entry fees

Discussion on Ranching

Lincoln County ranchers and livestock industry representatives will join New Mexico State University Extension specialists in conducting a "Ranch Survival" meeting Wednesday, July 31, at Capitan. Area participants will make up a panel to discuss the ranching outlook and conditions in the county, according to Ralph R. Dunlap, Co. Ext. Agent. The Ranch Survival meeting begins at 1:30 p.m. in the County Fair Building, says Dunlap. Panel members for the program include: Ivan Watson, Agricultural Advisor, Roswell State Bank, Roswell, N.M.; Walton Wilson, Rancher, Ancho, N.M.; Farrell Watson, chairman of Feeders Committee, N.M. Cattlegrowers and Feedlot operator; J. P. McKnight, Rancher and lamb feeder, Picacho, N.M.

Information presented during the meeting will help ranchers meet the critical problems of the year ahead, according to Dunlap. "Ranchers are in very serious trouble," he said, "and the meeting information should help them survive a very crucial period."

The Capitan session, among the first of a series to be conducted across the state this year, is sponsored by the NMSU Cooperative Ext. Service. A three-man team of Ext. specialists will appear on the program in addition to the local panel. The specialists include James M. Sachse, Wallace Cox and Gene Ott.

Sachse, Ext. Sheep specialist, will discuss early calf weaning as it can benefit both the cow and calf. Ott will relate the livestock outlook for the immediate months ahead, and will discuss credit, financing and ranch enterprise alternatives.

and start around the course playing the "best ball" hit by any one of the four. That means that three players could be rather common and with one good golfer win all the prizes. It is designed especially to let beginners have a lot of fun.

The first nine hole played Saturday will commence at 1:00 p.m. finishing at just the right moment to enjoy the 19th hole at the country club. The second nine will start at 9:00 a.m. Sunday expecting to finish around noon for awarding of prizes at the country club.

Golfers are asked to register at the Control Building where they may pay entry and green fees.

Heavy fines are assessed

Two men were picked up by Deputy Sheriff Dennis Cleaver at the Nogal turnoff on July 21. John Michael Chambers age 24 of Roswell, driver of the vehicle, was charged with buying, selling or giving liquor to minors and was fined $290.00, plus $10 court costs in Magistrate Bill Payne's court.

Kenny Lane Darling of Roswell, age 20, was charged with allowing himself to be served and fined $100.00 on this count, driving vehicle while license was suspended and fined $200.00 on this count, plus charge of possession of marijuana under one ounce, and sentenced to seven days in jail.

"It Ain't Fair"

UNCLE, Why do you allow me only $675.00 income deduction per year to raise my child when you allow $1200.00 for a Cuban refugee? If the Cuban boy or girl is attending school, an extra $1000.00 per year?

You allow $2390.00 to keep one man in the federal pen. Retired persons receive $168.00 per month under Social Security but you say I need less than $57.00 per month for my dependent's cost.

The Vista program cost $3.1 million to train only 202 young people. This is more than $15,000.00 per year per trainee.

The Job Corps has spent approximately $18,000.00 to train each high school dropout. To feed, clothe and train a boy in the armed forces costs $1,076.14 but you expect "Mr. average tax payer" to the same for his youngster on $675.00.

This is what takes the cake: You allow me only $675.00 exempt from tax to take care of my child, but give through Aid to Dependent Children $800.00 of tax payers money to care for one illegitimate child. That leads me to believe you consider that child more important than mine. I am yelling, Uncle!!!

I think it's time someone pointed out these inconsistencies!!!

- A Harassed Taxpayer -

Ruben Samora, assembly shop foreman, is shown presenting the 1,000th welder made by Scott Industries in Carrizozo, to Carolyn Cantrell, marketing director for the company.

1,000th welder goes to market

Scott Industries brought quite a few electric welder parts with them when they first moved to Carrizozo two years ago and just started counting welders made completely in Carrizozo in January of this year.

From January of 1974 to the middle of July this local manufacturing industry has made and shipped 1,000 portable 125 amp arc welders with total value of $550,000.00 according to Carolyn Cantrell, marketing director.

This special welder was shipped by Whitfield Truck to Harley Industries in Dallas, Texas.

The Brown family had a reunion at Baca Camp Grounds five miles west of Lincoln. There were near 100 relatives and friends there and everyone seemed to enjoy the day very much, including a big dinner and lot of gossip.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel S. Birhes and four children - Eric, Cynthia, Aaron, and Mark, from Danville, Iowa, were visiting in the home of Leonard H. Hobbs on the OX Ranch in Cedarvale for the last two weeks. Mrs. Burhes will be remembered as Miss Pansy Hobbs. Also visiting the Hobbs, was Mrs. Lila Brady, an aunt from the Pecos Valley Nursing Home in Fort Sumner, and Mrs. Eustace Reagan from Alamogordo, N. M.; Mrs. Jean El White and two little daughters, Jeana and Anna Marria, from Montana, were visiting with them for awhile too.

Lincoln News

by Hattie Phillips

Mr. and Mrs. David Coleman and children visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap Sunday and attended the morning meeting at Ranchman's Camp meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunlap are now in New Foundland at Claramille. They will be stationed there for a few months.

I have heard many favorable comments on the restoration of the old adobe by the Torreon. The Dunlaps are restoring it and it is very attractive.

Mrs. Dunlap and Mickey Thomas have moved their Wood Shop from its former location to this building.

Mrs. Vera Beal had a routine appointment for check up at her doctors in Ruidoso and so did Mr. and Mrs. Jim Howard of Tularosa so they had lunch and a nice visit together.

Vera drove her car to Tularosa last week when a group of us went to visit the Howards' and spent part of the day and had lunch with her daughter Jennie Lee Gesting and family also visiting the Howards.

Maurildia Perry ran into a lawn sprinkler in her yard Sunday, in her flower garden and a prong pierced her leg injuring it painfully.

She went to Ruidoso for a tetanus shot but had to go back Monday as it was so inflamed and painful.

Mickey Thomas is again directing the "Billy the Kid" pageant and reports are that it is going well. They practice each Tuesday and Thursday evening.

Bert Pfingsten is at home now and convalescing nicely.

Turquoise show at High Country Lodge

Dotty Hall of High Country Lodge in Alto to have exclusive pink champagne showing of turquoise set in GOLD. Guests will be by invitation only August 8 thru 11.

The jewelry is by "Benjamin", one of the Southwest's finest Navajo silversmiths. His jewelry has been purchased by investors in Hawaii and Holland as well as the continental United States, and has been on exhibit in museums throughout the country. Many stars of the entertainment world are his customers. Deloras Lenko, wife of a prominent attorney from Las Cruces, will be hostess for Dotty.

Fine stores including Tiffany's in New York, Niemans in Dallas and Mary V's in Tyler will be featuring Benjamin's jewelry in the coming season. High Country's gift shop will carry it too for this area.

On hand, also, will be Dee VanDuzer, Dotty's well known portrait artist friend from Cleveland, Ohio. The guests will be able to view her show as well as watch her work. Ms. VanDuzer has moved her studio to Santa Fe and is now able to commission work in our area.

It should be a gala affair for all invited. High Country Lodge's two Saint Bernards, Tequis and Beau Too, will probably greet you too with a gentle bark that verberates over the mountain sides.

Dotty Hall wants everyone who reads this paper to know that if she has missed sending you a personal invitation, and you would like to attend, do please call her.

House painting going on

Capitan By- Margaret Rench

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin McKay are painting the outside of their home, white with dark red trim to match the new roof. It is beautiful.

The Kelly house on East Fourth street has been painted white with dark trim. The Gaston house west of there is being painted a pumpkin color.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Garrett purchased the Billy Huey home is the subdivision. They painted the outside dark brown. It is very pretty in that setting. The fireplace truly shows up on the east. It made the house much larger.

Mrs. Willa Mae Luck and daughter Mary of San Diego, arrived in Ruidoso last Wednesday and Mrs. J. C. Harris met the bus and brought them to Capitan to visit her mother Mrs. Maude Kingston for ten days. They had a good trip though their suitcases still have not arrived.

Mrs. Doris Pounds accompanied by Mrs. Rench enjoyed the Ranchers Camp meeting Saturday afternoon. There were lots of Capitan people there and we did enjoy visiting with many other friends from other places. The food was superb and delicious. 640 were served for the evening meal. It was taken care of nicely. The worship services were great. The choir did such splendid job too. We enjoyed every moment. Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Miller attended every service.

Elizabeth (Goose) Jenkins went to the All-Girl Rodeo in Melrose last Friday. She won first in Bronc riding. Second in steer undecorating. There were more activities and she will return Tuesday.

Bobby Jenkins who has spent one year in the Marines in Okinawa came home last Thursday on month's furlough visiting his mother Mrs. Amelita Jenkins and sister Elizabeth. They met him at the airport in El Paso. He will return to duty in 29 Palms, California until December at which time he can get out.

We are overjoyed here in Capitan as we did receive half-inch of good rain with a little hail, but enough for damage Sunday afternoon. A couple rains last week gave us one tenth in each shower. Therefore at this time we have had seven tenths this week.

The Senior Citizens met July 16 at the fair building. Frances Poorbough, Asst. Director and Mabel Johnson who taught crazy quilt pillow tops and Lathera McPherson teaching safety pin jewelry are from Ruidoso. The ladies attending enjoyed the crafts and took home their finished wares. The Capitan meeting will be the third Tuesday of each month at 1:30 p.m. at the fair building.

Mr. Jack Young returned home last week from several weeks vacation in Galveston area fishing and visiting. He had a great vacation. He went in his camper and was prepared. He gave fish to senior citizens and friends. I do thank you, for remembering me and my neighbors. We did appreciate it and certainly did enjoy that delicious fish.

Mrs. Cathleen Massesy spent several days in Albuquerque visiting her sister. We missed her but are happy that she did stay and enjoy that visit.

Mrs. Juanita Nowalk went to Albuquerque Thursday and returned Sunday. She attended the wedding of Glenda Gomez, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gomez in Lincoln. Juanita's guests last week for three days was her brother Lazaco Gallegos of Phoenix.

There was a Ferguson reunion held at Cloudcroft, July 13. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Evans and family of Grand Junction, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Slaten and daughter of Roswell; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Werner and family of Roswell; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Evans of Alamogordo; Mr. and Mrs. Britt of Clovis; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stovall and family of El Paso; Billy Ferguson of El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Titsworth, of Tinnie, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ferguson of Ventura, California; and Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson of Capitan.

Mrs. Fred Schroeder of Jonesboro, Arkansas passed away Saturday morning after a long illness. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Huntington Ave. Methodist Church with burial at the Memorial Cemetery. Mrs. Schroeder was a sister of Eltha Merrell of Capitan and had visited here on several occasions.

Capt. and Mrs. Ned Sanders of El Paso became the proud parents of a baby daughter born July 10 weighing 6 lbs. 4 oz. name Claire Elizabeth. Mrs. Sanders is the former Carol Ann Williams and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Williams, Jr. of Nogal.

Rev. Garth Hyde and family of Landers, Wyo. visited here one week with friends and attended the Ranchers Camp Meeting. They have four children. The oldest a boy and three girls the youngest of which is 10 weeks.

Rev. and Mrs. Dendal have a baby girl born last week at Ruidoso Hospital. More information later.

Mrs. Gerald (Mary) Dean, Sr. spent last weekend visiting their daughter Janie Randle and Joe Paul and will be there a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw spent last weekend in Las Cruces with their son Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Shaw.

Mrs. Howard Wright took their granddaughter Ronda Kay Strickland home to her parents Mr. and Mrs. Terry Strickland in Humble City, last Saturday. She had visited them for one week.

Young James Richardson returned home last Sunday evening after one month with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Tom Richardson in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Don (Geradine, Jerry) McClung left Sunday for Roswell to return to her home in San Jose, California after one week's visit with her mother Mrs. Bessie Cummins and brother Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Cummins and family.

Mrs. Fama Lou Hunter Worden of Long Beach California passed during heart surgery last week. She was the niece of Mrs. Lewis (Bessie) Cummins. Attended school here and is well known here. Funeral was Saturday morning, there. Her survivors are her husband, three children and parents Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Hunter.

Andy Wright of Fort C has been at his mother's home in Lincoln for two weeks getting plumbing and other items done. His mother Mattie Wright wants to come home and he said he may bring her home for a few days. She is in good health, just cannot get around. She is 88 years old. I do hope she can have a few days there with them.

Clara Snow of Carrizozo and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Snow and family of Gulf Port, Miss. were guests at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Zane Leslie, Jr. of Capitan are proud to announce that their son Zane Grey Leslie, III (A.G.) is progressing very steadily. Z.G. was born June 12 in Alamogordo and weighed 2 lbs. 2 oz. on June 13 he was flown to the Bernajillo County "Medical Center" in Albuquerque and put in intensive care. On July 2 he was moved back to the Alamogordo Hospital, and weighed 2 lbs. 6 3/4 oz. He now weighs 3 lbs. and 2 oz. and is gaining an average of an ounce a day. They expect to bring him home around the middle of August. They delayed announcing his arrival because of his unsteady conditions at birth.

The Actual Smokey could not care less. He may have many a good year left. Thanks to friends for sending the paper. Smokey is a live symbol of our's to that fire in the Capitan Mountains. How can anyone ever forget. Forest Fire Prevention is so important. Smokey will always be a reminder.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Miller recently attended the Modern Woodman's Annual picnic near Albuquerque.

SANTA FE, N.M.: Game law violations resulted in stiff fines for two Lordsburg men and a Corona couple in two cases brought before magistrates in southern New Mexico recently.

The couple John and Geneva Stafford of Corona, were charged with illegal possession of a deer and fined $100 and $10 court costs each.

Two Lordsburg men, Joseph U. Roda, 35, and Thomas Hapek, 31, were charged with hunting dove out of season and were fined $75 each and $10 court costs.

Game Department officers Larry Turner and Rick Flowers, assisted by Livestock Inspector Claude Foster of Corona, arrested Mr. and Mrs. Stafford.

Petty receives police degree

Mike Petty, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Petty of Carrizozo, received a Bachelor of Police Science degree from N. M. State at close of spring semester.

Nancy Northrup, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Lawson of Carrizozo received a Bachelor of Arts degree with honors at NMSU's 81st annual commencement.

Alcohol Program to be Model

The Alcoholism Treatment Program operated by Southwest Mental Health Center (SWMHC) in 7 1/2 counties of Southwestern New Mexico will be used as model for a similar program in Baton Rouge, La.

Oliver B. Perry, assistant director of the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Council of Greater Baton Rouge, Inc., obtained a copy of the program plan upon recommendation of James Hawkins of the National Council on Alcoholism. Perry told SWMHC Director Joe B. Alexander that Hawkins reported the Southwest Mental Health Program was one of the two best such programs in the United States.

Betty Torrez on honor roll

Betty J. Torrez, a freshman from Hondo at New Mexico Highlands University, recently was named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the Spring Quarter, according to Dr. Merritt McGahan, dean of Academic Services.

Miss Torrez, a biology major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio G. Torrez of Hondo.

A few days ago I received a page from the Milwaukee Journal with pictures and a present story of Smokey Bear. It article mentioned he was from Capitan, N.M. He is loved by all of the children. The Keepers feed him a special commercial biscuit in the morning - something like a big piece of toast with minerals. In the afternoon he gets some fish. And then there are vitamins, usually put into something palatable, such as a peanut butter sandwich. He likes that - and it is about the only thing that persuades him to move around much. His coat is glossy and healthy. Children write him letters and tell him of their love.

A Spokesman said the Forest Service was cool to the idea of letting much publicity attend the death of Smokey. The idea seems to be to let the old bear die quietly and put little Smokey figuratively into the familiar overalls and ranger's hat and let the image live on.

and a love of the saints was very much a part of their daily lives. They had no church other than the chapel on the Patos, ten miles away, but Father Ralierre often came to celebrate Mass at the home of Aniceto Lueras.

On June 24, three saints were honored: San Santiago, San Santana and San Juan. It was the custom on this day, for a small group of villagers to go from house to house at three o'clock in the morning to sing Las Mannanitas, a song of greeting. At each home, coffee, whisky and sweets were served.

Later, everyone feasted at the Placita, in front of the old schoolhouse. Then came the games: Horse races up and down the road with $5.00 to the winner. La Argolla - Ten tall poles had been erected along side of the road for about a block. Iron rings hung out from the top of the poles with a horse shoe clamped to each ring. At each pole stood a man with a whip. As horse and rider passed each pole the horse got a lash. If the horse reared, the rider missed his grab for the horse shoe. The only men who could win had horses well trained to the lash!

Sacar el Gallo, or Pulling the Rooster (abandoned in ) was another popular game. The poor bird, with his feet tied, was buried to the neck. Again the horse got a lash, as the rider reached to pull him loose. If the bird was lucky, the rider missed!

That night, everyone danced until daybreak to the fiddle and guitar. The Broom Dance and the Scarf Dance must have been popular as they are still well remembered.

A few of the men in Rebenton, apparently belonged to a sect called the Penitentes. Frowned on by the Church, it never-the-less continued to survive in the more remote areas of New Mexico. The sect originated after the Spanish were driven back to Mexico during the Pueblo Revolt in 1680. With no priest available to the few who were left, they developed their own secret rituals held inside the Moradas, or chapels of adobe built with no windows. A few actual crucifixions took place on Good Friday.

No Morada has been heard of in Rebenton - Lincoln had three - but one eyewitness tells today of coming on a group of Penitentes in a canyon near Rebenton, while riding with her father in a buggy. The men were scourging each other with cactus whips. Her father handed her the reins and told her to be ready to drive on fast. He took some peaches, from the buggy and offered them to the men. Happily accepted, no violence flared and they drove on. Also the son of a rancher, living not far from Rebenton, tells of his father coming on a group in a canyon. He was not seen and got away.

Another faith, held for generations among the Spanish peoples, was the faith in the curandera to heal the sick. She knew the secret of the herbs and acted also as mid-wife when babies were born and came to lay out the dead. Few people in Rebenton called on a doctor unless desperately ill or dying.

By the time the grandchildren of the early settlers began to grow up and marry, the old way of life had begun to wilt and fade. 73 families were listed in Rebenton in 1902 when White Oaks had dwindled to only a few, but the ranchers in Rebenton no longer had the large herds of sheep or the wool to barter for supplies. Nobody had ever bothered too much about cash, but now it took on a new importance. To pan for gold in the Jicarillas had always been popular but not too profitable!

The men of the village began to sign up and work for the cattlemen or with the few who still had the large herds of sheep. They could be gone for six months at a time and wives, left with children and chores, worked hard. Crops still had to be gathered and dried, meat butchered and jerkied; water had to be hauled from the wells, wood hauled and chopped, and meals cooked - to say nothing of heating the water on open fires under the wash tubs and scrubbing the clothes on a wash board. But one helped the other and somehow they managed. Boys and girls did the work of men and women.

Rebenton had a saloon by 1905 and another in 1918 - which none of the younger men were allowed to patronize! - also a store. Augustine Chavez kept the store and later in 1910 when the post office was reactivated (it had been given up along with the one in White Oaks) he became postmaster. Rafael Chavez, father of Mrs. Julia Aragon, now in Carrizozo, took the mail to Tit-sworth in Capitan.

Another store started up not far from the old store in 1921. Miguel Montoya kept it and one evening after dark he stood in the open doorway talking to a friend. Two shots were fired. One hit him in the arm, another in the chest. After his death, his brother Lorenzo kept the store. He drove off one day to Carrizozo for supplies, and returned to find the building burned - no trace of groceries charred or otherwise. Later, the body of Lorenzo was found frozen by the road, about two miles east of Carrizozo. He had been hit with a blow on the head and apparently thrown from a car. Who fired the shots; burned the store and killed Lorenzo? The answer is still to be heard in Carrizozo.

Violence was not the way of life in Rebenton. It came along later with prohibition, rustlers, both Anglo and Spanish had fights over land when barbed wire cut up the countryside.

A new school and teacher's house went up in Rebenton in 1932. Nellie Gallegos, the first teacher married Jose de Bara. Mr. and Mrs. Jose Perea, tell of taking into their home eight children to try to keep the school open. It closed in 1940 and by then the valley had been deserted. The Lueras family had gone. Most of them to Carrizozo. What had happened?

Not enough rainfall which dried up the crops, not enough jobs, and pressure from the big cattle ranchers to buy up the land. There are tales of fences cut to scatter the remaining sheep.

Aniceto Lueras died in 1926. He is buried in the old Catholic cemetery in Carrizozo in an unmarked grave. Elbrada went back to Rebenton and died three years later at the home of her son, Dolores. Her grave, also unmarked, is in the cemetery to the south of Rebenton now owned by Albert Snow.

And what happened on the Patos? Juan Chavez married Romona Trujillo in 1896 after the death of his first wife. He died in 1910, after the death of his son Juan Chavez Jr. in 1908. Both lie buried under the floor of the chapel. A few years later, Ramona moved away and is said to have died in Corona in 1921. Soon after she left the few families still on the Patos moved to Capitan where three generations of Oteros descendants of Gertrudes Otero and are living today. Only the chapel is still left standing.

Teachers house built in 1932, still in good condition.

Old stile in back of new schoolhouse leading to home of Dolores Lueras.

Manuel Lueras, son of Dolores, in the cellar of the saloon.

Angelito Lueras, age about 43, was coming home from a dance at Ancho, "mucho Burracho" when his horse stopped at the fence throwing Angelito to the ground. Tony Lueras, a nephew, found him dead the next morning. The marks have been put there in his memory, over a long period of years.

Triangular stone, marks the grave of Juan Lueras father of Aniceto. He died around 1880 while hunting buffalo with his son on the Staked Plains east of Pecos.

That there was lots of farming around Reventon is proved by the old machinery left behind to rust away. Manuel Lueras is riding a corn or bean planter.

SINGING & SWING AROUND THE BONFIRE AT THE CAMP MEETING IN NOGAL

It is just as beautiful on the mt. this year as ever, and the camp is something special to attend. While attending with the campers last Friday night from Nogal - Bill Payton & Louise were talking with a friend, Mrs. J. Stearns was greeting everyone with a cheer... Dorothea, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cox were standing line. There were many others there from Nogal and all over the Southwest. Give yourself a break and attend.

ROBY'S BOX
Dear Roby: We ate with Ross Bigham and Jerry Bigham, at the Cousins in Ruidoso, and it was good, just wanted to let you know. Steve Johnson HEALTH TIPS: Cook your pork well done, it is better for you.

Everyone needs everyday - eggs and pure dairy products, fresh fruits and vegetables, poultry meats and fish.

Sunshine and cod liver oil - "The unwashed Polynesian child, playing all day in the sunlight, summer and winter has no need for cod liver oil. But what about children in the northern hemispheres who get their sunshine for perhaps 3 months in the summer and live the rest of the year in cities where little of the sun's ultraviolet light penetrates? These children are bound to contract rickets if their diet is not supplemented with a good, assimilable source of Vitamin D. Of course, calcium and phosphorus in your diet are important also."

Dear Roby, (A tablespoon of Humor)
One small boy to another, as they leave dancing class: "A little more of that and I'd be willing to go back to taking naps."

One woman to another: "George's idea of women's lib is for me to get a job."

Around the Bowl
I had to use just notes today, didn't get to visit anyone.

Do-You-Know?
That Miles Williams is married to a beautiful new Grandmother!
The handsome young fire chief who is getting married.

The young man who will be ready indeed for his wife and children to return.
That two families in Nogal have female border collies.

Phil and G. L. Straley visited the Tennis Villa this week and brought with them one of those darling little collies. We thank them and hope they will return for a longer visit.

I visited Tom and Myrtle Pope's store in Capitan last week and was thrilled to see June Straley and Alva Wilson buying some little goodies. Also picked up some Special food at Cummings Grocery after taking camper over to Dr. Service's to get a shot. Thanks again Dr.

BY THE WAY
 THE WAY OF THE... West

Heading north on US 54 last July 11 we were sure hoping that the countryside would have a different look on the return trip. Except for irrigated stuff up in Texas - Oklahoma Panhandle and western Kansas there was not much green to see.

W-W
 We usually make a rest stop at Archie Zink's Tfin Restaurant on south side of Santa Rosa and did so this trip. Knew Archie in Clayton where he still has restaurant. Coffee, roll and conversation good as you'll find anywhere and Santa Rosa has survived highway by-pass without severe damage. Dalhart and Liberal parks are good places to relax along US 54.

W-W
 One of the real nice things about going to O'Donnell home in Ellsworth, Kansas is the choice supper we know will be waiting on us - yum, yum. Eleanor coffee's around with a whole passel of long-time friends. Paul goes river fishing with Kirk and we bring home channel catfish which make wonderful eating.

W-W
 Happened to be using shad sides for bait (no shad ever smelled like this stuff) and Kirk had some chicken parts, equally good. What you do is throw that "smell" in the running water and fish come swimming from way down stream.

W-W
 Wren house hanging out back porch at O'Donnell's is a lively place and those small birds sure make a lot of cheerful song. Rabbits all over that town, a skunk inhabits back part of O'Donnell Hardware, Bohemian and German names abound, plus some Irish.

W-W
 Lincoln County ranchers would love to have some Ellsworth County grass down here, it was green most of the way, but those farmers were complaining about the dry weather, - their growing crops probably did need rain. Hay was put up in big, big roles, and in places sure looked like they had windrowed the wheat straw and gathered it in roles.

W-W
 Made a side trip to Wichita to visit Charley Payton (son). Charley is an electronics expert with the kind of tape - stereop outfit we would like to have. Going to Ellsworth from Wichita we tuned in Newton (Kansas) radio station, heard gospel music all the way home. Mostly all good listening and a great many songs we had not heard before. Go through small town of Inman on that trip, farm equipment manufacturing plant there does over $20 million business each year.

W-W
 Ellsworth is suffering no kind of recession pains. The town has around 800 jobs now that it did not have five years ago or so - that many paychecks each Friday sure improves business at the Plamor, as well as the hardware, etc.

W-W
 Met some cousins, Dick and Mattie Mae O'Donnell at the Brookville Hotel for reunion and "family style chicken dinner." This affair got off to good start when Dick carried in a black doctor's bag - out of which came the kind of medicine that goes best "on the rocks". This O'Donnell family lives at Clay Center, a town tore up by tornado last year.

W-W
 Have thought any number of times how nice it is to sit on river bank watching leaves float down, birds in the trees, clouds floating slowly - with never a thought of any problems at home or in this world. Had only two serious thoughts, those farmers need to know about erosion control and that fool catfish headed right under those tree roots. Rescued the fish but not the farmers.

W-W
 Probably the slower speed (under 60 MPH) is more restful. Takes 11 hours to make Ellsworth and we did it this time without getting real tired. Was passed by a lot of cars and trucks, also horses and cattle.

W-W
 Country around Vaughn didn't look so good, but coming in north of Corona we could see they'd had rain and places along road to Zozo were real green plus water in the tanks - little or a lot - it was a beautiful sight to see last Sunday evening.

SCMRA report
King speaks on coordination

The Steering Committee of the South Central Mountain Resource Area met in Alamogordo at the Holiday Inn June 27th for their annual meeting. Chairman Bill Gallacher presided. Reverend Dan Wright gave the invocation. The Mayor of Alamogordo, Mike Glover, delivered a welcoming address.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved with the one correction being that the roof of the White Oaks School House being repaired and not replaced as stated in previous minutes.

The special speaker, Governor Bruce King, spoke on State Government in coordination with local level government. He said this is the right way to place the right priority in the right place. He mentioned the followed projects coordinated by his staff during his term of office: The International Space Hall of Fame in Alamogordo; Carrizozo Recreation Center; Ruidoso School House Park; Alamogordo Recreation Area; Tularosa swimming pool; Mesalero recreational area - total cost of the above is One million, 870 thousand dollars.

Other projects mentioned through historic preservation funds were the Lincoln Restoration Feasibility study; the White Oaks school house roof repair, paving of the White Oaks road, the Lincoln water system. The Indian Divide Rest Area and the Pinon water project are projects being looked into for funding.

Governor King stated that his administration is working to insure the continuance of grazing privileges on BLM and Forest Service land; assisting the farmers and ranchers by trying to insure that foreign imports do not drive our own people out of business; working with the USDA to insure proper management and conservation of all our agricultural land; and they are, vitally concerned with the impact of many of the environmental protection activities, notably water pollution and predator control, to name two, as to their effect on our agri-business enterprises. His administration is also vitally concerned with rural community development and has given much aid to this cause. The State Planning Office's Emergency Fuel Allocation Program has helped many people in our state stay in business.

He spoke of the Weed-Sacramento fire where he has given all state agencies top priority to alleviate the bad situation as they can. This was declared a state disaster area.

Governor King stated that he has enjoyed his association with RC&D's and was very complimentary on the RC&D movement and its accomplishments.

After Governor King's speech, the business meeting was conducted.

Mr. Bell, Chairman of the nominating committee, gave his report. He suggested that Bill Gage become Chairman; Lewis Merritt - Vice-Chairman; Agnes Crouse - Secretary; and Johnson Stearns - Treasurer. Mr. Pflingsten moved that the above slate of officers be accepted and elected by acclamation. This was seconded and carried.

There followed a discussion on consolidation. Reasons for and against were read by Chairman Bill Gallacher, and a vote was taken. The vote was unanimous not to consolidate.

The annual report of the Chairman was given out. No changes or corrections were noted.

Tom McCalmont of the State Planning Office gave a short summary of the following project measures:

PM-138 Brass Caps - Will ask for a survey by the U.S. Geological Service to expand the Brass Cap program.

PM-120 INDIAN DIVIDE REST AREA: Special use permit will be applied for.

The Pinon pipeline was discussed.

Bill Gomez, Assistant to Nick Pappas, pledged the aid of their office on our projects.

Hal Fuller of the State Planning Office introduced Bill Kreuch, recreation projects, and Jo Brechley, secretary, both with the SPO.

Bill Gage gave the Executive Committee report and announced that the next meeting will be in Carrizozo, August 6th.

Lincoln County News, July 25, 1974, Page 8

Kennan Fuller extended an invitation for SCMRA to meet in Corona anytime.

Mr. Weindorf spoke on the advantages of our becoming funded on our own.

Mr. Pflingsten announced July 12-13 as the Western Apple Growers meeting to be held at the Chaparral Motel in Roswell and invited all to attend.

The plaque for Stan Green will be presented at our next meeting.

DeNardi Graduates

Navy Fireman Recruit William E. DeNardi, son of Mr. John A. DeNardi of Port Stanton, N. M., graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

He received nine weeks of intensive instruction in seamanship, small arms training, fire fighting, close order drill, first aid and Naval history.

He will now report to a formal school for specialty training or to a ship or shore station for on-the-job training.

72-year olds can work

"Of the 1,545 individuals in Lincoln County who draw social security benefits, 450 are over age 72. These individuals can earn any amount of money and still receive full social security checks," Mrs. Christine Graves, social security field representative, stated today.

"Working people under 72 who are getting social security payments should report any changes in their 1974 earnings estimates as soon as possible. Individuals who find they are earning less than they originally estimated may get additional social security payments during 1974 if they report the change."

They will now report to a formal school for specialty training or to a ship or shore station for on-the-job training.

 Can be your neighbor's worst enemy!

Continuously, dogs on the loose are molesting and KILLING chickens and rabbits that belong to people other than the dog owner.

Carrizozo Town Ordinance requires that all dogs be penned or tied up.

When you allow your dog or dogs to run loose you are committing a flagrant violation of the law -- as well as causing much trouble around the town.

First to be desired is the cooperation of all dog owners. Failing in that it is the duty of Carrizozo Town Marshal to cite people for breaking the law, and-or catch up the stray dogs.
