Corona school system faces money problems

The Corona school system faces some critical problems because of its smallness, according to the superintendent, Kenneth W. Anderson, who with his school board attended a budget hearing in Carrizozo for Corona schools, Tuesday morning.

Anderson put a cover letter on the school system's proposed budget explaining the problems with finances which Corona schools experience.

Corona, if its budget gets final approval, will have to use $15,434 from its cash balance to meet its operational budget for next year and another $12,707 for the emergency budget.

. This would virtually wipe out the $28,141 cash balance of the system as of June 30, 1975. · Anderson explained in his letter to Department

"The Corona Board of Education and Administration would like to issue a statement to give meaning and understanding to the decisions that have been made within our District. In order to make sound decisions for the district, we feel the Public School Finance Division and the State Department must understand the problems faced by the district.

"The priorities for Corona Public Schools are in the process of being determined. The New Mexico Educational Needs Assessment Model is being used to determine the needs of our district. At the present time this procedure has progressed to Ithe 7th step. Upon completion, Corona Public Schools will be able to determine needs by priority, and at that time be flexible in order that needed changes might be made to meet the needs of the children in our district.

"This past year the staffing pattern in the elementary school was changed from six selfcontained classrooms for grades I through 6 to an open classroom for levels 4, 5 and 6. We reduced the staff by one certified teacher and added an aide. The open classroom instructional personnel were given inservice training by the State Department of Education, and needed alternations to the multi-purpose room were made for the implementation of the open .classroom,

"After operating for 9 months," the open classroom is in the process of being evaluated to determine if the new methods utilized with this type of instructional organization are as effective, or better than, the conventional selfcontained classrooms. At this point the post-test scores have not been received from the scoring service: so it is impossible until a later date to determine the progress by use of test scores. The instructional staff members for the open classroom, as well as the students, have had to make tremendous adjustments to what we consider a completely new situation.

"These staff members, although experienced, have put in many hours planning every activity within the classroom. They have had to adjust to a wider span of grade levels and age levels within the classroom that create problems within the instructional process.

"The new funding formula is based on the need of a school district. A school district of Corona's size does not have the masses of students to generate large amounts of revenue, and the loss of the $22,000 ceding money has made it necessary for our district to budget $9,962 from cash balance, which is permitted by House Bill 300 for this year only. The district will be virtually forced to eliminate one teaching position next year (1976-77) in order to make budget for that year.

"The position to be elimated will probably be at the high school level. The school district must embark upon a plan to determine priorities at the high school level to determine what the new staffing pattern might be in order that the quality of education will not be affected by the reduction of staff. There are several alternatives which might be utilized in making the necessary changes.

"Junior High industrial arts might be eliminated and the industrial arts instructor might be used to take other responsibilities within the English or social studies department. Home Economics for junior high students might be eliminated and the home economics teacher could be utilized for a half-day librarian. There are other alternatives, but the district will have to choose one of the routes mentioned above, or another alternative by the school year 1976-77.

"The Title I program was reduced to half-time for 1974-75 because allocations for the school districts were very low at budget time, and remained so through most of the year. Although allocations were increased at the end of the year, creating a carryover of funds, this did not help us for our 1974-75 program. We were, however, given a very high allocation of $12,876 for the 1975-76 school year, which will insure a full time Title I reading improvement program for the coming year. The $9,550 carryover funds will be utilized to improve the present reading improvement program. --"The Early Childhood Education for the current year is only half-time according to some standards. Although we have classes six hours a day for only 90 days of the year, the time spent in classes by the children equals more than full time by State minimum standards.

"The State funding formula only allows for 4 FTE, for a total enrollment of 8 children. We feel that consideration should be given by the State Department of Education and Public School Finance Division for a higher funding for our program which meets requirements for a fulltime program, regardless of the number of days the children attend.

"The school district is in the process of establishing a resource room. The State Department has granted a half-time program which created 10 units of revenue. Due to the State Department's late scheduling, the diagnostician is now identifying students that might make use of the reource room, and we have not yet determined the exact number of children that may participate in such a program. The diagnostician's final report will give us a specific number of children to participate, but first verbal indications from the diagnostician are that there is a need for a resource room in the

"The Corona Education Association elected to leave their salary schedule format the same, with any increase to be in the form of a percentage of each step within the salary schedule. The Board of Education approved the salary schedule which would allow a 7 percent increase in the base on all of the steps within the salary schedule. This would allow an average increase of $796 and an average salary of $9,838.

"Due to the inflationary costs in many line items and the 7 percent pay increase for teachers, the district will expend a great portion of its cash balance in operational line items. This has tremendously reduced the use of cash balance for new equipment and improvements to building. Therefore, this coming year will see Corona Public Schools buying very little equipment and making limited improvements to building."

School budget is reviewed

A grand total budget of $892,133 for Carrizozo public schools was tentatively approved by representatives of the New Mexico Department of Public School Finance at a budget hearing in Carrizozo, Monday.

Conducting the hearing was Dr. Larry Huxel, assistant chief, Public School Finance.

With Dr. Huxel were Dr. Al Clemmons, who will become assistant chief, data management, Public School Finance, on July 1; Bill Loshbough, Transportation Division, and Phyllis Whittemore, of the Legislative School Study Committee.

The budget of $892,133 compares with estimated expenditures this fiscal school year of $793,335.

organized into a league from Hondo, Capitan, Corona, Ruidoso, Carrizozo and other Lincoln County towns-with a regular playing schedule.

Money is available for equipment, Valdez says. All he needs are warm bodies from the various towns to make up a league. Sounds like fun-call Valdez if you're in insurance, etc., will run to $65,097.

terested. He's the new manager of the Carrizozo Rec Center and is doing a fine job. 4 .

Also on the sports front, the Carrizozo Golf Assn. was to be organized Tuesday night. Carrizozo needs a golf association in order for the beautful and green Carrizozo Golf Course to become a member of the U.S. Golf Assn.

The fine Carrizozo golf course has one of the most beautiful mountain backdrops in the country. It'd be perfect for major tournaments.

The golf-string tournament on June 28 sounds like a lot of fun. You get so many feet of string depending on your handicap and can use it to move your ball around (even into the cup) but every time you use your string, that portion is cut off. We'd need 200 yards of string to win, but it'd sure be fun. Call 648-2260 and enter with Jim Valdez. Entry fee for both men and women is $4. Prize money will be awarded-75 percent of the prize fund.

The Gavilan Canyon road job, by the county road department, is moving ahead in fine shape. We toured the project with County Manager Les Olson and County Commissioner Bill Hart last week. The project is ahead of schedule--widening and resurfacing the road in the Ruidoso area.

Gavilan Canyon leaves Ruidoso proper just north of Gateway and comes out way north on the Alto Road. Many subdivisions are along the road or just off of it. The road crews are using a gravel pit on Forest Service land near the south end of the road.

The road, when completed, will drain some heavy traffic from congested areas of Ruidoso during peak traffic periods such as after the races on weekends.

It'll be an alternate route from the Hwy at U.S. 70 and Sudderth to beyond Ruidoso to the north. w-w-

Peter Hurd of San Patricio has "loaned" Lincoln County four acres of land for a sanitary land fill in the San Patricio area.

The Lincoln County Municipal Hospital Board has struggled and struggled with plans to put the ICF (Annex) on a paying basis, but it appears the Intermediate Care Facility will have to be closed for a time so that long-term plans can be formulated. It's unfortunate that this had to happen. The board has done the best possible job, explored all avenues. They have been working hard for Carrizozo and the area. The setback is only a temporary one.

The area is showing its better side regarding weather. Warm, yes. Pleasant, definitely.

Larry Scarborough, manager of the new Safeway store in Ruidoso, and crew were quite pleased with the Grand Opening last Sunday. People and customers, were as thick as bees around a honey pot that day-and every day this week. A fine beginning...

Ruidosoans all are saying that visitors to the area are in greater numbers earlier this year. hunting and traveling. After all, the plains areas of Texas groweth very hot very early some years. Anyway, welcome to the mountain country. It's delightful, and we'll share it.

The budget includes all facets of school operation-classroom instruction, maintenance, transportation, etc.

Salary increase for all school personnel will run between 12 and 13 percent for next school year-with the exact percentage for each individual determined by extra credit hours earned this summer, special increments, etc.

Anticipated federal revenue for the school distirct is $16,925; combined federal, local and state revenue is figured at $563.514; An additional $158.771 is in a capital outlay fund for completion of the gymnasium and voacational building and the equipping thereof.

Other revenue will come from earnings from investments, cash balances. Title I funds with total resources of the district next year figured at $908,143.

Administrative expense next school year is pegged at $32,829 compared to approximately $27,701 this school year.

Direct instruction, teacher salaries, aide Slow pitch softball action will be experienced salaries, funds for substitutes, supplies, in-Instructional support-principal, librarian media specialist, secretarial and clerical aides.

Valdez--at 648-2235--would like to see teams supplies and materials, etc., is figured at $44,842. Transportation is pegged at $33,043. Health services will cost approximately $1,797. Operation of plant is figured at $41,956; maintenance of plant, $15,777. Fixed charges, educational retirement, Social Security, group insurance, workmen's comp.

Food services runs to only $200. Non-instructional student activities, athletics, band.:etc., figure at $6,472. Capital outlay will be $162,273--using $137,000 in a cash balance in the building fund from a bond

Debt service will be $38,633 for next school

Anticipated enrollment or average daily attandance next school year is figured at 386 in the Carrizozo school system.

The district valuation of $5,088,295 including a segment of Socorro County (7L) at $291,676 will provide $14,270 in assessed valuation behind each student.

One large item of expense which has increased tremendously is natural gas for heating.

Actual expenditure for natural gas for the 1973-74 school year was $2,360. Estimated expenditure for the school year just ending is $5,709. Next year, this item figures in at $6,667.

But, the new gymnasium and vocational building will be included next school year-which provides part of the increase because of expanded facilities.

'Zozo Alumni invited

Carrizozo High School alumni will gather at the school here June 27,28 and 29 for a reunion. The program is tentative, but a get-together is set for the first day, a Friday, and a program planned for Saturday feaaturing an alumnus, George Cooper of Ruidoso, a musician.

A dance Saturday night is a feature-with Sunday's program to be announced.

Eleanor Payton Recovering

Eleanor Payton of Carrizozo, co-publisher of the Lincoln County News, was progressing nicely Wednesday after undergoing surgery in Albuquerque, Sunday night.

An emergency appendectomy was performed at Bataan-Lovelace Hospital in Albuquerque. Paul Payton, publisher of the News, took his wife to Albuquerque Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Payton is in Room 301, Bataan Hospital, 5400 Gibson Ave. SE, Albuquerque.

Weather for the week ending June 1 was pleasant in the mountain country. High for Ruidoso during that week was an 80, low, 26,

Carrizozo had a high of 89 and a low of 36. Precipitation for the year in Ruidoso stands at 8.87, for Carrizozo 2.95. Ruidoso is four inches above normal for the year. Carrizozo is .24 above

R.V. Traylor, former teacher at Ruidoso, has retired after 33 years as principal of three Lordsburg elementary schools.

Traylor says he expects to do a lot of fishing.

One of the recent new elementary schools in Lordsburg carries his name. He is considered one of Lordsburg's most respected citizens.

Seelbach heads commission

Bill Seelback, Ruidoso Realtor, has been elected chairman of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission.

The election came at a meeting of the group in Carrizozo this week.

Emmeline Beck of Capitan was elected vice chairwoman, while Jim Steinepreis of Carrizozo was named secretary.

Reorganized P & Z Commission members will have staggered two-year terms. Current goal of the P & Z is a study of subdivision regulations and determining exact procedures for developers to obtain approval for subdivision development. The group hopes to create pamphlets containing procedures for development of each type of subdivision-eliminating confusing aspects of current guidelines. Another goal is to establish a model planning commission to provide leadership in subdivision development in New Mexico, according to Les Olson, county manager.

Other members are Tom Perteet, also a Ruidoso Realtor, Pat Rooney, and John Allen Hightower.

Child rearing hints

A Cupfull of Child Rearing You may help your child become happy and a successful adult by considering seven steps-says a leading psychologist. Parents shouldn't wait until their children are nearly grown to start telling them how to be an adult. A good adult begins with the first stepstraining, love, understanding, reasoning-and time with communication.

1. encouragement-and explanation. Show your child how to do something then let him try until they can do it

2. Praise--praise of a job done--E for Effort and Praise.

3. Stop doing things for them that they can do themselves. If you continue to do things for them they will be afraid to handle responsibilities. 4. Give your children the courage to be imperfect the first few times they try something new Encourage them to keep trying until they can become better. 5. Let them make their own decisions according to the age they are. However, discuss the action so that they may use their reasonary

6. Let them experience the consequences of their actions. Life is a game of Truth or Consequences. They need to understand this as soon as they can.

7. Teach them to respect the rights of others. Social awareness: this can be done at home with

Some parents feel that children have all the rights and parents all the responsibilities but it is a two way street and a young adult is pityful when he or she can't take responsibility. The parents are giving the child nothing not even love when their children aren't able to do anything

Indi's Reply Downs leader

RUIDOSO DOWNS--Indi's Reply, a filly who can go for the early lead or come from off the pace, looks like a main factor in Thursday's headliner at Ruidoso Downs.

The affair entice three and four year-olds into a six-furlong spin. The purse is $2,100.

. First post, Thursday through Sunday, is 1:30 p.m. The weekend comes to a climax on Sunday with the Mr. Jet Moore Stakes, a 400-yard dash for a $4,500 purse.

Thursday's program also kicks off Ruidoso's first purse boost of the new season. Purses have been boosted some $10,000 through the eight-day period concluding on June 15. The minimum purse is now $1,600--$200 more than it was last year at this time. Ruidoso's booming mutuel trend-up more than 11 percent-prompted the early purse hike.

Indi's Reply, leased by M. Dooley Guinn of Canutillo. Texas, made her last start in a headliner a week ago. The filly was outrun in the early going, but found her best stride in the final stages of the 512-furlong sprint and finished

Her previous start was staged early last May at Sunland Park, and she used a front-running strategy. The lans sent her off as a 16-1 shot in an allowance group and she led until the upper stretch. She weakened a bit at that point, then sunk back to third.

Before that, the filly managed three other Sunland outings, but didn't have much to brag

Here's a look at Thursday's feature: 1--Like To Do (Jim Bannowsky), 112; 2-Just A Nose (no boy named), 118, 3-Indi's Reply (Mike Meador), 113; 4-Shppery Ed (LeRoy Coombs), 120; 5-Biadream (Larry Orona), 115; 6--Miss Cane (Carlos Rivas), 115; 7-Bad Music (Jerry Nicodemus), 118; 8-Feliz Navidad (Coombs), 118; 9-Dan's Little Sis (Coombs), 113; 10-Time Is Right (Robert Thompson), 110.

Just A Nose will be trying to make amends for a disappointing spin. The gray gelding found himself-up-against Indi's Reply in that topper last week. He never managed to get in high gear and sailed in fifth as a 9-2-shot.

Before that, the colt turned in a bangup job when he slapped around maidens by 212 lengths. Time Is Right will be going up in class, but the chestnut colt has a good talking point in his

Hondo budget reviewed

The Board of Education, Hondo Valley Public Schools, the superintendent, Ernest J. Booky, and others were present at a budget hearing in Carrizozo, Tuesday, for the school-system. Conducting the budget hearing was Dr. Larry

Huxel, assistant chief, Public School Finance, of Orlando Lucero could not be present. Hondo presented its proposed school budget for District 20 to the officials from Santa Fe, The budget was approved tentatively."

Also attending the hearing was State Rep. John Bigbee who commented on the "Transportation" item in the Hondo budget. "There is sure something wrong with the transportation formula where the school has to subsidize. We sure have to look into this."

Hondo's prblem, it was pointed out, is that the school buses are small, and make short runs. which, apparently, results in short funding under the state formula for transportation.

The school had to use $6,000 in operating funds the past school year for transportation of students.

The Hondo Valley schools budget totals out $473,602 for all facets of school operation, administrative, classroom instruction, maintenance, capital improvements, etc.

Hondo teachers and school personnel will get an 11 percent wage increase the next school Administrative costs are figured at $29,502 for next school year in Hondo compared to $26,845 this year. Salary increased account for much of the increase.

Administrative costs include the superintendent at $16,500, a secretary, audit costs, general supplies and materials, dues, travel and some other expenses.

Direct instruction, salaries, supplies and materials, will come to $194,549 next school year. Instructional_aupport,_librarian,_principal, secretary, clerical assistants, supplies,

State Monument Truck Exhibit

A museum in a truck, "Spanish Colonial Life in New Mexico," a travelling unit of the Museum of New Mexico, will spend the summer at Quarai State Monument. The exhibit, housed in a 40-foot truck trailer, normally travels to schools throughout the Southwest, but during the summer it will become a stable addition to the Monument's programs.

Outwardly the truck is a typical product of the 20th century, but inside Museum staffers have recreated 18th century New Mexico with portals and bigas enclosing display cases. A historic reproduction of a New Mexican kitchen includes an adobe fireplace, pots and utensils, and a Spanish upright loom, while exhibit cases describe the highlights of Spanish history and culture in New Mexico.

Quarai State Monument, eight miles north of Mountainair off State Highway 14, preserves a major pueblo ruin and the remains of two 17th century Franciscan churches. Nearby Gran Quivira-National-Monument-and-Abo-State Monument make the area a good destination weekend excursions.

audio-visual equipment, etc. will run $33,183. Transportation is figured at $49,468 for the Hondo schools, It includes such items as insurance, fuelds, operators, purchased services and other items.

Operation of the school plant will cost $25,670 for personel, heat, electricity, water and such. Maintenance of the plant will add $3,400 more.

Fixed charges, retirement fund, Social Security, Group Insurance, Workmen's Comp., surety bonds, etc., will account for $43,700. Food service is figured at $4,025; athletics;

$3,019; other activity expense, $2,000. Capital outlay comes to $20,630. Remodelling of the central office, remodelling the vocational ag building and repairs to the gym roof are - figured in capital outlay costs. Expenditure per pupils next school year will be $1,392 compared to $1,185 the past school year and $919 per pupil in 1973-74.

bridegroom's mother. She also carried a twenty dollar gold piece belonging to her great great grandfather.

Matron of honor was Mrs. James Burford of Pleasanthill. Flower girl was Miss Sabra Sultemeier, niece of the bride. Both wore formal length gowns of blue crepe with a small white daisy design. Streamers of blue grosgrain ribbon fell from the back of their straw picture hats. They carried baskets of blue petti carnations, white daisies and babies' breath,

. Hollis L. Wilson, III, of Belen was the best man. Travis Winnat, nephew of the groom, was the ring bearer.

Ushers were Melvin Sultemeier, brother of the bride, and James Winnat, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The chancel of the church was decorated with urns of white gladioli and blue carnations.

The bride's mother wore a floor length dress of cream colored knit, styled with a floral print skirt and long sleeves. The mother of the bridegroom wore a floor length dress of blue and white with sheer long sleeves. Both mothers wore corsages of pink rosebuds.

Guests were registered by Mrs. John Powell, sister of the bride, at a table holding an anniversary candle.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. Attending at the reception were Mrs. Fred Turner, cousin of the bride; Miss Lois Ann Sultemeier, cousin of the bride; Mrs. James Winnat, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Melvin Sultemeier, sister-in-law of the bride; and Mrs. John Powell, sister of the bride. A three tiered wedding cake, adorned with blue daisies, was served with mints, nuts and coffee or punch.

After a honeymoon in south Texas the couple will be at home in Hagerman.

First general opposed promotion

Washington-On a muggy June day 200 years ago, George Washington became a general in spite of himself.

Having been a militia colonel in the French and Indian War 19 years earlier, the wealthy planter was prepared to lead Virginia's troops. But the thought of commanding an entire army dismayed him.

In meeting halls and taverns in Philadelphia that spring he protested to fellow delegates at the Second Continental Congress that the task would be "too boundless for my abilities and far, very far beyond my experience."

He told friends of his "conviction of my own incapacity and want of experience in the conduct of so momentous a conquer," and recommended that the post be given to Andrew Lewis, another veteran of the French and Indian campaigns.

Others Expected Command -Both Artemas Ward and John Hancock expected to be given the command. General Ward already was in the field, at the head of some 14,000 New England militiamen who had been besieging the British at Boston ever since the fighting at Lexington and Concord on April Hancock was presiding in Congress on June 14 when John Adams rose to urge creation of a Continental Army to show the united support of British North America for the New Englanders.

Congress voted to raise six companies of expert riflemen in Pennsylvania, two in Maryland, and two in Virginia.

Hancock had listened approvingly to Adams' proposal, but delegates saw the chairman's face darken in disappointment when Adams went on to say his choice for commander in chief of the new army was a gentleman from Virginia. Washington left the room, so as not to be present during the debate on his qualifications.

The discussion centered more on geography than on him. There were objections that since the fighting had been in Massachusetts and all the men under arms were from New England, the soldiers should be led by someone they already knew--if not General Ward, then another officer from the northern colonies.

Practical Politics Prevail The Founding Fathers were as much practical politicians as any of today's congressmen. Washington became the unanimous choice because he was the ideal compromise candidate.

A commander from the south leading New England troops was seen as a'demonstration of colonial unity. And it assured southern support for the campaign around Boston, which all felt would end the war within 90 days by bringing Parliament to its senses.

The vote taken on Thursday, June 15, and the following day Hancock announced that George Washington, Esq., had been chosen as commander in chief and that Congress hoped the gentleman would accept.

He did, in a brief speech reiterating that "I do not think my self equal to the Command I am honoured with." He declined the $500 monthly pay congress had voted, and pledged instead to submit "an exact Account of my expences."

On Saturday, June 17, Washington received his commission, drafted in the name of "The Delegates of the United Colonies." It was the

"Sending grass clippings away with the garbage wastes energy." These words are from Gene Kamerzell, district conservationist with the USDA's Soil Conservation Service.

"Chemical fertilizers require a lot of energy to produce," Gene said. "So we buy plant food in a bag, put it on our yards, clip the grass, and send all that energy to the landfill. And the garbage trucks burn more energy taking the bulky clippings away.

"This is especially ironic because this material is so easy to save and convert into valuable organic fertilizer at home." Gene continued.

"I'm not going to try to give details of com-posting in this news item," Gene said, "but if you will call or write my office. I will send you a dandy little leaflet, Mulches for Your Garden, which tells how to make and use compost."

How he agonized over the conflict between his loyalty to the crown and devotion to the American cause is shown in a new educational film, "George Washington: The Making of a

The film, one of a series of 12 on "Decades of Decision: The American Revolution," was produced by the National Geographic Society in association with public broadcasting station WQED-TV in Pittsburgh, with the cooperation of the Carnegie-Mellon University.

No rebellious hothead, Washington in the film is a retired military officer with the honorary rank of brigadier general, one of the richest men in North America, and very much part of the establishment.

His chief concerns were the operation of his extensive plantation at Mount Vernon and securing the western borders-where he held land-against Indian attacks. He considered himself an Englishman first and a Virginian second.

The Boston Tea Party repelled him because of the destruction of property. But as 1774 wore on. the British retaliatory measures against Massachusetts, including closing the port of Boston in order to starve the colony into submission, alienated him.

Washington was a member of Virginia's House of Burgesses, which met in Williamsburg in May and voted to support Boston in its struggle. Virginia's royal governor promptly dissolved the House.

The indignant legislators reconvened their meeting elsewhere, and Washington joined them. He had become a rebel, and a year later became their commander in chief in the fight for independence.

Queen clinic planned

By Margaret Rench

· The Lincoln County Fair Board is sponsoring a horsemanship-personality clinic for all Lincoln County girls planning to enter the annual queen contest held during the Smokey the Bear Stampede, July 3, 4, and 5. The clinic is open not only to queen contestants but all girls ages 13-21 who are interested in running for Miss Lincoln County in future years.

The clinic is slated for Saturday, June 14, at the Capitan Fair Building, and will begin at 1 p.m. It is not mandatory that this year's queen contestants attend, however the clinic should be very helpful to those attending.

All queen contestants for this year are asked to bring a dress for the personality portion of the clinic and their horses. Other girls attending may bring their horses and a dress if they wish

This year's local queen contest is patterned after the State Fair queen contest and will consist of two sections. The personality section of the contest will be in the large room of the fair building, July 3 at 2 p.m. Queen contestants will be in dresses and will answer several current questions before an audience. The riding section will immediately follow the personality contest and will be in the arena. Each contestant will ride through a predetermined pattern designed to show the girl's horsemanship abilities. Each contestant will also have a "free-style" three minute period in which time she can further demonstrate her horsemanship. For the riding section all contestants will be attired in levis, white shirt, boots, and trat of choice. Contestants will be judged 60 percent on horsemanship and 40 percent on personality.

The Lincoln County Fair Queen Contest is open to all single girls age 16-21 who attended a Lincoln County High School. There is a $10 entry fee for each contestant, with the entry money going to the winning contestant. The selected queen is expected to be present for the grand entry at each of three performances of the Smokey the Bear Stampede and also the rodeo parade, held the morning of July 4. She is also expected to compete in at least one event in the Lincoln County Fair Rodeo and appear in the fair held for prespective queens' in 1976. Deadline for entering the contest is Saturday. June 14, so girls' get busy and get your enties in. Contact Betty Jones, Willa Stone (354-2356), or Janice Eldridge (354-2489) for more information.

We are getting a lot of visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum Among them this week are people from Delaware, Kentucky, Virginia, Singapore, Italy and France. SS Advice for brides

June brides should remember to change their name with social security. That reminder comes from Tim Hassen, social security field representative.

"No matter which month she is married in, a bride should give us her new name so we can keep her social security card and her earnings record accurate and up to date," Hassen said. "The earnings she had both before and after her marriage can be correctly credited to the same record. Earnings women have in jobs covered by social security will determine the amount of their future benefits.

"To get her name changed on her record, a new bride may call or write any social security office. Or, she may pick up a green 'Request for Change in Social Security Records' blank at most post offices. If she will take her old card to a social security office she will be able to get a card showing her new name immediately," Hassen concluded

Hassen may be contacted at the County Commissioner's Room in the Court House in Carrizozo on Tuesday, June 17, between the

These last two days has been warm and threatening rain. Lasknight was the first with no heavy frost. It is so appreciated. It has been very cold and windy.

New water lines are being laid in Capitan getting ready for the paving of our streets. We were so grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Bob (Marjorie) Harcrow of Ruidoso, Monday, Monday 26, at the Ruideso Hospital after several months illness. She was laid to rest in the Ruidoso Cemetery Wednesday May

30. I do extend my sincere sympathy to her husband and daughters and families.

Curious Marks etch desert

Washington-A curious marking more than a mile long etches the desert in southern Peru. wandering mule paths that cross it only emphasize the precision of its angular design.

Throughout hundreds of square miles of arid plateau, other marks abound, most of them concentrated between the town of Nazca nd Palpa. Viewed from the air, the lines appear as complex geometric designs, or as flowers and giant creatures-bird, reptiles, whales, a monkey and a spider.

Found on Pottery "Because some of the figures resemble those decorating Nazca pottery, archeologists, attribute the lines to the Nazcas, a coastal people whose culture rose, flourished, and declined between-roughly speaking-100 B.C. and A.D. 4700," points out Loren McIntyre in the May National Geographic. Nobody really knows why the ancients constructed the lines. There have been many guesses-that they were prehistoric roads, farms, or some form of signals or offerings to celestial beings. One far-out theory speculates that some of the markings may have guided visitors from outer space. A 1968 study, financed partly by the National Geographic Society, ascertained that some of the lines do point to solstice positions of the sun and moon in ancient times, as well as to the rising and setting points on the horizon of some of the brighter stars.

But, the study indicates, this is no more than could be expected by chance. "Making the marks must have been simple enough, though time-consuming," Mr. McIntyre explains. "Clear away a few million rocks to expose the lighter ground beneath them, pile the rocks in rows, and you have designs that, in this nearly rainless region, can last thousands of Surveyors have been astonished at the straightness of the lines, stretching for miles, crossing valleys and traversing hills. never swerving from their courses.

For more than 25 years, Maria Reiche, a 72year-old German mathematician has -photographed-and-charted-the-lines, striving-tocomplete a map of the hundreds of designs and figures that score a tableland some 30 miles long. Another National Geographic Society grant now aids her work.

by Fred Buckles SANTA FE-Rep. Hoyt Pattison supports more state money in the public school finance formula's sparsity factor "for very small, essential school districts."

House GOP Leader Pattison represents District 63 (Lea-Curry-Roosevelt). All school districts in House District 63 receive state sparsity money now-Texico, Melrose, Grady, Clovis, Elida, Floyd, Tatum and Lovington! He says under the present formula "It is hard for school districts with less than 100 enrollment to hire teachers necessary to meet State Education Department requirements."

He says House in Quay County and Encino in Torrance County are examples. The current formula allots sparsity money to school districts with over-all enrollment under 4,000 and to elementary, junior high and high schools with less than 200 enrollment.

Rep. Pattison pinpointed key subjects he believes should be studied by interim legislative committees: A review of the public school finance formula, adopted in 1974; a new higher education differential funding formual; energy resources and development and the state election code.

Rep. H.B. Barnard, D-Clovis, an insurance agency owner, is cooperating with Curry County medical practitioners to shape a discussion draft bill on medical malpractice insurance. Rep. Barnard said a law setting recovery limits on medical malpractice insurance suit judgments may be necessary in New Mexico similar to workmen's compensation insurance recovery

The influential Legislative Council named Senate President Pro Tem I.M. (Ike) Smalley, D-Hidalgo-Sierra-Luna, as chairman of the new interim legialative Criminal Justice Study Committee. Senate Republican Leader John Conway, Lincoln-Otero, was named as an advisory member of the committee. Rep. Fred Luna, D-Los Lunas, was appointed to the new committee.

Senate Democratic Whip Odis Echols, Clovis, was named as chairman of the new Water Resources Conservation Committee. Also named to the new committee were Sens. Schlientz and Conway and Rep. Von Rue Crawford, R-Hidalgo-Luna Rep. John Hays, D. Clovis, was named on the new Legislative Statutes Recodification and Repeal Committee.

Sen. Morrow was also named to the Legislative School Study Committee. Sens. Echols and Truillo were appointed to the Council of State Governments' executive committee. The Legislative Council postponed naming of a new 7member Energy Committee when House council members won a straight Senate-House split vote 7.6 to recess and defer action.

Rep. Carbajal said House Energy Committee members had not been picked. Senate Majority Leader C.B. Trujillo, D-Taos, pushed unsuccessfully to name the Energy Committee and noted House member tactics delayed action. Speaker Walter Martinez, D-Valencia-McKinley, accepted 13 of House GOP Leader Pattison's recommendations for Republican House member appointments on interim legislative committees.

Creative quilters special contest ALBUQUERQUE-Creative quilters with a bent toward American history are being urged to make plans to enter a special contest planned in the Hobby Show at the 1975 New Mexico State Fair in Albuduerque. Mrs. Janille Farthing, director of the hobby department, said a special Quilting Contest-with a bicentennial theme-would be staged this year. She said prizes and a Best of Show award would go to the winners.

She said that competition this year-in connection with the fair's celebration of the nation's bicentennial--evolved from quilting demonstrations held in the hobby show last year.

She noted that 82 volunteers participated in free demonstration on quilting, held twice daily during last year's fair.

The hobby director said that the New Mexico Quilting Association with 150 members, is behind the special competition planned this year.

Mrs. Farthing said any interested person can obtain more information on the special Bicentennial Theme Quilting Contest at this year's State Fair by contacting her. Her address: Mrs. Janille Farthing, North Star Route, Box 170 A, Corrales, N.M. 87048, or by phoning 898-1163.

The 1975 New Mexico State Fair-The Biggest Show In New Mexico-will be held in Albuquerque Sept. 6-21.

Rep. Richard—Carbajal, D-Belen, was were named to the new Tax Reform and Jurisdiction Committee.

Thirty percent of 26 New Mexico Public school districts have set selections on a new local 2-mill property tax levy, mostly in mid-June. Local ad valorem tax revenue from the levy would be matched by new state funds. The money would finance school capital improvements and maintenance.

Among school districts that have set elections on the added tax are Belen, Lordsburg, Los Lunas, Penasco, Taos, Clayton, Des Moines and Springer. State matching money would range up to 15-1 at Penasco.

Mrs. Marian T. Vigil, Springer Democrat, was a top prospect for appointment by Gov. Jerry Apodaca to the State Corrections Commission. Mrs. Vigil, Colfax County Democratic vice chairman and a State Democratic Central Committee member, will serve a term ending in

Jone and Harkins, Inc., Des Moines, complained to State Purchasing Agent Joe Baca on the handling of its bid on a State Highway Department petroleum products contract: President J.T. Jones of the firm said State -Highway Engineer Lowell G. Boles said he requested cancellation and readvertising for bids on the contract because of limited budget. Jones said: "This is the first time there has been more than one bid for this product. Our bid was considerably lower than the previous supplier."

The Racing Commission reported attendance was up 10.6 percent and the handle was up 11.14 percent for the first seven racing days at Ruidoso Downs. LaMesa's attendance was up 12.6 percent and handle was up 13 percent.
