All-American sets record

Ruidoso Downs — An impressive record went into the books as the 1976 All-American Futurity as Ruidoso Downs drew a total of 1,349 original nominations.

According to General Manager Al Rosa, the previous high of 1,245 was established for the 1975 All-American. And the record before that was the 1,228 original nominees for the 1974 edition of the World's Richest Race.

"The All-American Futurity occupies a class by itself in the racing world," Rosa said, "No other race, anywhere at any time, has approached the purse magnitude of the All-American. And the fact it keeps growing at such a remarkable pace indicates the tremendous appeal of this racing classic."

With a record turnout of nominees, the '76 All-American will easily reach the ceiling of $1,030,000. (The All-American, in fact, has been over the $1 million level since 1972.)

Rosa noted that all money in excess of the $1,030,000 ceiling is channeled into the following year's All-American Derby. "There's no doubt the 1977 Derby will go well over the half-million-dollar mark," Rosa said.

Nominations for the All-American came from all over the nation — plus several from Canada, Mexico and Australia. The state which supplied the most nominees was Texas with 243. Second place belongs to Oklahoma with 96, and California is third with 50.

New Mexico holds down fourth with 41 hopefuls. Other states which are prominent on the list: Arizona, 28; Kansas, 23; Colorado, 17.

The honor connected with entering the most nominees belongs to Valton Cox of Lubbock. Cox entered 19 head, plus another in partnership with Chris Cox. Of the 20 head, five were sired by Azure Te, one by Easy Jet, three by Jet-Poo and three by Alamitos Bar.

Melvin Hatley of Oklahoma City checked in with 19 head, followed by Jimmy Millar of Morton, Texas, with 18, and Braugh Ranches of Riveria, Texas, with 17.

Other major nominators: Mickles Valley View Ranch of Scottsdale, Ariz., 16; Sam Van Ness of Alvin, Texas, 15; Joe McDermott of Madisonville, Texas, 13; Big M Ranch, Inc., of Los Molinos, Calif., 12; G. R. Russel of El Paso, Dr. Jack Frost of Centralia, Ill., 11; Carl Miles of Abilene, Texas, 11; Duncan Farms of Plano, Texas, 10; Joe Kirk Fulton of Lubbock, Texas, 10; Robert Moore of Oklahoma City, Okla., 10.

Walter Merrick, who won the '74 All-American with Easy Date and the '69 edition with Easy Jet, nominated two head this time. Both are by Easy Jet.

There were also three nominations from Canada, and one from Mexico. The lone South-of-the-border hopeful is Yesenia II, owned by Florentino Lopez Sanchez of Orizaba in the state of Vera Cruz. Yesenia II is by the impressive stakes-winning stallion, Beduino.

Carrizozo Patrolman Eddie Davis points to two lava rocks in front of the Central Cafe which a speeding car struck early Monday, causing the car to overturn.

Accident outside restaurant

If Paul Lindsey of Tucumcari hadn't parked his pickup in front of the Central Restaurant in Carrizozo early Monday morning while he and his family were in the cafe, a car would certainly have wound up inside the safe.

Delores Jane Link, 21 of Overland, Mo., was cited for careless driving by Carrizozo Patrolman Eddie Davis after Davis witnessed the accident which almost put the car inside the cafe at 7:35 a.m.

The Link car, a dark blue 1970 Dodge, was moving about 65 miles per hour going north into Carrizozo on US 54, Davis said, when it smashed into some malpais rocks and a street sign outside the cafe, turned over on its right side and slid 50 feet into the Lindsey pickup, doing extensive damage to the right rear of the pickup.

The Link car was demolished. It was towed to Lincoln County Motors.

State Policeman Dale Housley also was on the accident scene.

Ms. Link posted $25 bail bond. She told officers she had been in Texas and was returning to her home in Missouri when the accident occurred. Davis was parked at the Phillips 66 Station when he witnessed the accident.

'El Cibola' traded to Scott

Another change in the economic life of Carrizozo is evident this week after Johnson and Margaret Stearns and Scott Industries, Inc., announced an exchange of property.

The Stearns property — the Ford Garage building and the El Cibola Hotel — are in the process of being exchanged for the home owned by Jim and Caroline Cantrell, owners of Scott Industries, Inc.

Scott Industries, which employs 22 people in Carrizozo, manufactures the Scott-135 Arc Welder which is becoming known across the United States. The Scott offices and production equipment will be moved from the Lane Building and the old power plant to the garage and hotel about the middle of March when the transfer of property will be complete.

The Cantrells will live in the El Cibola Hotel in quarters now occupied by the Stearns.

Last week the Cantrells were in Las Vegas, Nev., for a trade show staged by rental companies. Mrs. Cantrell said that she and her husband talked to United Rental people and Taylor Rental, two companies which operate nationwide.

Some 61 Scott arc welders were sold at the Las Vegas trade show.

Production on the first six months of 1975 is expected to equal total production in 1974, Mrs. Cantrell told the News.

The Scott arc welders also will be marketed through Weld-Mark with private labeling and through a welding association, she said.

Scott Industries, Inc. has been a part of Carrizozo since an announcement dinner in September of 1973. The Cantrells came here from Irving, Tex.

Wayland Johnson is building new offices in the Ford Garage building and will lease from the Cantrells. The old office portion of the Ford Garage will be utilized by Scott Industries.

Adobe structure

The El Cibola is a two-story adobe structure constructed by Frank A. Entlish in 1917 for Ira O. Wetmore who then owned the Carrizozo townsite; at the same time he built the Ford Garage building adjoining from which Fords have been dispensed through dealers and sub-dealers to this day.

Charles B. Eddy was largely responsible for resurrecting the defunct El Paso and White Oaks Railroad from El Paso east, forming the El Paso and Northeastern, later the El Paso and Southwestern and in 1924 becoming a part of the Southern Pacific System. He had the town laid out parallel to the railroad tracks for the Alamogordo Improvement Company and accounts for some of the strange street terminations and block formations, Johnson Stearns recalls. He was also against liquor in any form and restricted the sale thereof in the deeds to be given, recognizing that the rails were apt to imbibe on occasion he did leave unrestricted a location in plain view of the depot where railroad officials would have an unobstructed view of who went in and came out of the saloon. This was across the street and south of Carrizozo Hardware.

The El Cibola Hotel, was a part of railroad town in those early days. The railroad had a cash car and on pay-day the men were paid along the line not by check or warrant but cold hard cash on the barrel head. Carrizozo being a terminal point where the crews changed between El Paso and Tucumcari, a large force of men were stationed here in the depot, roundhouse, car repair shop and water service gangs, besides all of the crews that laid over. Counting these men and various and sundry gangs and depots short distances east and west of Carrizozo around 200 men received their pay here each two weeks.

With advent of the diesel locomotive, progress began to take its toll and each year saw a new reduction in personnel and finally the terminal point was no more, the trains being run through from El Paso to Tucumcari and back. No longer could the townspeople gather at 4 in the afternoon at the depot in their cars and afoot to view the spectacle of the Golden State Limited grinding to a halt, whereupon ladies and gentlemen got off to stretch their legs and go to the express car to get out their dog for a walk around the depot platform. This way the Carrizozo ladies viewed first hand some of the fashions being worn in the distant cities, and some of the city dads would check their timepieces with the train conductor to determine if their watches were still keeping the correct time.

Stearns, president of Citizen's State Bank, says, "Small towns across the nation suffered a like fate and where dependence had been almost wholly upon the railroad, a new era dawned and to stay alive at all was the major proposition. Some did and some didn't, almost all of them boast a long forgotten railroad street, closed Harvey House restaurants, boarded up railroad recreation rooms and other symbols of a railroad town — including many hotels."

"Fortunately for Carrizozo, it is also the county seat and located on two major highways, close to scenic mountain resort areas, having a good climate and a general attitude of facing the future affirmatively, a small, aggressive and reliable manufacturing plant such as Scott Industries may pave the way for others who do not need large labor pools or extravagant supplies of water to continue their existence."

"The town fathers for years have been working toward an industrial park and this appears to become a reality shortly, adding further to the attraction of this rural area and who know in a few short years enough will have been gained to offset the loss of a vital railroad payroll."

"It used to be said that some of the railroad engineers wives could tell by the screech of the old steam locomotive's whistle if it was their husband at the controls and further if he wanted a big T Bone to be ready when he got home. These sounds are good, new ones are here to stay and newer ones probably on the way as crowded, congested met areas yield up some of their population to the rural life, and new and better manufacturing methods may cause mini-factories and businesses not presently known to seek their permanent abodes in places like Carrizozo, offering employment and opportunity to the citizens who are there and the citizens yet to come."

Jim and Carolyn Cantrell, left, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Stearns are shown in front of the El Cibola Hotel and Ford Garage — which the Stearns are trading to the Cantrells for their home. The Cantrells' Scott Industries, Inc. will occupy the property — along with the Cantrells in the hotel living quarters.

A pinch of life
In memory of Mitch Nalda and in sympathy for his family.

A New Day
This is the beginning of a new day. I have been given this day, to use as I will.

I can waste it or use it for good
What I do today is important because I'm exchanging a day of my life for it.

When tomorrow comes, this day will be gone forever, leaving in its place whatever I have traded for it.

I pledge to myself that it shall be gain, not loss; good not evil; success not failure in order that I shall not regret the price I paid for this day.

All the Nalda live each day with the love of life. For the no cal gals.

A cup of exercises
Say, if you have finished with your second cup of coffee, try to gather your self up and turn to channel 5 (the educational one) and do some Yoga with Lelian Folum. She is fantastic! Oh! Yes you will be sore and you won't be able to do it all, but in time you will be in great condition. Just try a little every day.

Next week a great diet to start "Instantly", for all of you no cal gals.

Do you know?
That now is the time to trim your trees and shrubs.

That there will be a style show next month given by the Sun Dial of Alamogordo at the Womens' Club. So get ready to go.

Who is very excited about baby rabbits being born very soon. Imagine that!

That road 37 has a chance of being paved.

While making pancakes try putting a large colander or strainer over the done ones to keep them warm. While your doing the others.

No one worth possessing can be quite possessed.

Character is a victory not a gift.

Our receipte this week is from Adelaide Weber of Ruidoso.

beaten eggs. Mix well. In another bowl mix together 1 pint buttermilk 2 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 1/2 teaspoon soda and 2 cups of Kellogg All Bran and mix the above all together. Store in a glass jar in refrig. This will keep 6 to 8 weeks. These are nice to make up and have on hand for instant company. Bake them in a 400 degree oven for 15 to 20 min.

Happening around the bowl
It has been snowing again. But the sun comes out and melts it away even while it snows, very beautiful.

Molly Bosh's son visited Sunda and it seems Molly won't be home for a couple of weeks. Now get with it Molly start eating more.

Fern Sawyer and Pat Ward are back from their weeks cruise. Pat does beautiful needle point and she said she had lessons on the boat and Fern won several trophies even with her swollen ankle. She is walking however and feels great.

My neighbor Rahecta tells me that Douglas B. Burkstaller just received a merit promotion with Chevron Oil and Damon C.B. made the all star basketball team in the Abbey School. Congratulations boys.

I took a spin outside the bowl and visited Barbara Otero's new beauty shop in Capitan. It is very clever; with a new idea in decor. She carpeted the walls part way up and it makes her room warm and cosy. Ma Johnston (the mayors wife) was getting her hair fixed and I was delighted to meet her.

Stopped at the post office and had a letter from May Sharpe her granddaughter Paula will graduate in May. Paula taught crafts at Sunda one year. We wish her a cherie Hello! Also had a note from Debrah Smith. She is feeling great and is making little shadow boxes for a shop in Alexandria. Maybe she will send us one to see.

Jack and Susan Frost made a flying visit through Nogal this week. Maybe they will land at Sunda next time they come. But I did get to see Steven and Patty Spencer and Trumans grandson "Trume" as he calls himself.

Well get those notes off to me.

Character is a victory not a gift.

State gets control of wild burros

There apparently are no wild burros on the Kelley Stephenson Ranch near Carrizozo currently, but no doubt Stephenson has been following developments in the judicial which has culminated in the State of New Mexico having control of wild horses and burros.

Stephenson has been working on his ranch this week but is aware of action taken by federal judges last week in the year-old dispute over who has jurisdiction over such animals on public lands.

A three-judge federal panel in Albuquerque Friday declared the Wild Free-roaming Horse and Burro Act unconstitutional and permanently enjoined the government from enforcing it.

The Act was intended to officially protect unclaimed and unbranded horses and burros and endangered wild species and declared the animals wards of the government.

The court action in New Mexico — which has application throughout the west — goes back to when the New Mexico Livestock Board impounded 19 unbranded, unclaimed burros in February of 1974 and sold them at public auction in Roswell.

The animals had wandered on to Kelley Stephenson's private land the public land he leases for grazing his cattle in this area. His ranch is the I Bar X Ranch.

Stephenson had asked the Bureau of Land Management to remove the animals. The BLM refused, and Stephenson contacted the Livestock Board which rounded them up and took them to auction as strays.

Jimmy Scott, who operates a restaurant and truck stop in Roswell, bought 16 of the animals and Claude Foster, a Corona cattle inspector, saved the other three from execution by purchasing them as family pets.

Before Scott could sell his burros, which he intended to do, a hot jurisdictional dispute arose involving federal and state agencies, ranchers and farmers, ecologists and humane society leaders.

BLM said the state had acted without authority in rounding up and selling the animals. The bureau requested that the two purchasers hold, feed and protect the animals until the matter of ownership could be established.

Scott and Foster found that Federal law sets up a prison sentence and a $2,000 fine for selling wild horses and burros. Scott had thousands of dollars tied up in fed bills within several months.

Last fall, a suit was filed in US court against the US Department of the Interior and Bureau of Land Management by the New Mexico Livestock Board on behalf of the State of New Mexico contesting the constitutionality and legality of the 1971 Horse and Burro Act.

In September the three-judge US District Court in Albuquerque opened hearings on the suit which is regarded as a test case.

The decision last week apparently will allow a 30-year-old New Mexico law to become effective. It entitles the state to round up and dispose of all unbranded and unclaimed "stray" horses and burros.

The decision apparently also takes Scott and Foster off the hook. The state can direct disposal of the animals — by sale or what-have-you.

The three-judge opinion says that the state has jurisdiction — that "wild horses and burros do not become property of the US simply by being physically present on the territory or land of the US."

The judges also pointed out that the common thread running through cases decided under the Territorial of the US Constitution Clause is that of protecting of public lands from damage of some kind.

"There is no congressional finding nor any evidence to indicate that wild horses and burros are damaging the public lands. The statute is aimed at protecting the wild horses and burros, not at protecting the land they live on. Thus we find that the — act cannot be sustained as an exercise of the power granted to the Congress in — the Constitution," the judges concurred.

Scott last year said it cost him $3 per day per animal to feed them, that he already had run up a bill of $9,000. He had submitted a $3-per-day bill to the BLM, and the BLM made a counter-offer of $1.25.

State President to see fashions

Members of the Carrizozo Woman's Club are looking forward to a double treat next Thursday when Lyla's Sun Dial Style Shop will present a spring and Easter fashion show.

The show will be presented at noon at a luncheon when the guests of honor will be Mrs. Paul C. House of Albuquerque, state president of the New Mexico Federation of Woman's Clubs, and Mrs. H. K. Knox of Ruidoso, Fourth District president.

Following the luncheon, members will hear messages from Mrs. House and Mrs. Knox.

Hostesses for the luncheon will be Mrs. B. K. Stephenson, Mrs. Robert Shafer, Mrs. Tom Ward, Mrs. T. J. Chisolm and Mrs. E. S. Eaker.

A scenic picture results from atop the flag mound looking toward Carrizozo at Valley of Fire State Park north of Ruidoso. Nogal Peak and Old Baldy form a backdrop from the Mal Pais.

Scott Shafer

Scott Shafer promoted

Scott Shafer, who has been employed by the Estancia Branch of the Citizens State Bank for 13 months, has been named assistant cashier and acting manager of the branch.

Masking the announcement was Johnson Stearns, president of the Citizens State Bank of Carrizozo.

Shafer started with the Estancia Branch in January of 1974 after obtaining his master's degree from New Mexico State University.

He started at Estancia filing checks, in the proof department, doing ledger work and as a teller. Later he was shifted into the Loan Department as part of his duties.

Some of the many projects they are taking are horses, sheep, cattle, rabbits, and leather craft.

During January most of the members worked on leather-craft. The members first starting out learned how to stamp heir leather and lace it. The older members learned how to cut their leather.

At the last meeting, Feb. 12, they had two demonstrations. One was on pigeons by Maurita Lovelace and the other one was on rabbits by Joe Curtiss.

The demonstrations told how to feed and take care of the animals. At the next meeting, which is Feb. 26, Jerry Lovelace plans to give a demonstration on sheep, Lois McBride on horses, and Maurita Lovelace on dogs. They also planned for a parent's night at 7 p.m. on March 1 so the parents could find out what their 4-Her is doing.

Fire is believed to have started in a TV set, Sunday, which took the life of Rollie G. Harmon, shown charred in photo, in a trailer at Corona, 56.

Fire claims life of Corona man

Death from smoke inhalation was the decision of Deputy Medical Examiner Ray Clarke in the demise Sunday at Corona of Rollie G. Harmon, 56, whose body was found in the charred trailer home he occupied there.

Corona volunteer firemen received an alarm at 2 p.m. Sunday and went immediately to the trailer home; the front portion was a barbershop operated by owner Claude Casey.

The front portion was in flames when the firemen arrived. As soon as possible, the firefighters broke open the rear door of the trailer which led into the bedroom occupied by Harmon. His body was found on the floor near the foot of a bed.

Windows were popping out of the trailer when firemen arrived. Both doors were locked. Harmon worked at the Corona Trading Post in the meat department and had lived in Corona about eight months. He was born August 23, 1918, and came to Corona from Belen.

He is survived by a sister, Helen Harmon of Clovis and by a daughter, Barbara Clayton of Bridgeport, Neb.

The sheriff's office and state fire marshal's office investigated the fire.

Deputy Sheriff Dave Wheeler said it appears the fire started in a TV set in the barbershop portion of the trailer.

Sheriff Leandro Vega Jr. was in Corona on the case, Monday morning.

A Bowl of Activities

A Pinch of Legend for Lincoln County

That you may always have a safe tent and no sorrow on your travel.

That you may always have a cache for your food, and food for your cache's.

That you may never find a tree that will not give sap or a field that will not grow grain.

That your bees will not freeze in winter and that the honey be thick and break like snow in the teeth.

That you keep your heart like the morning and that you come slow to the four corners where men say Good Night.

A cup of Health:

Study compares the food value of 14 fruits. You may think an apple a day will keep the doctor away, and this is partly true, says Dr. Michael Jacobson, but cantaloupe has the most vitamin A and C. The apple contains a valuable fiber that is good for the teeth. The second most nutritious fruit is the watermelon, it contains far more iron than any other fruit. Strawberries, grapefruit and pineapples are the next most nutritious.

Here is your diet I promised you.

Start instantly - but stay on it for ever.

You may eat - vegetables of any kind, if they haven't been processed with sugar (read labels) Frozen or fresh or canned.

You may eat natural sugar in any kind of food. You may eat all meats, baked broiled or fried in oil. You need some animal fat, such as butter, very small amounts of fat on meats.

All fresh fruit in it's natural sugar or it's own juice. You need a calorie counter to limit your natural sugar intake.

YOU MAY NOT EAT POLLUTERS! NO! NO!

No - Potatoes, beans, pasteries, cakes, cookies, puddings, pies. All other desserts made with sugar and-or thickeners such as flour or cornstarch.

No - canned or stewed fruits, cereal and cereal products, jams, jellies, candies, syrups, honey, sugar, rice and pasta products, (spaghetti noodles, Macaroni), dried fruits, biscuits and extra bread.

No - corn, or beer, whiskey or wines and also soda-pop-of-any-kind.

If you go by this exactly you will find that you aren't very hungry. You will lose slowly at first, then later it will come off fast. You should allow yourself just so many natural fruits a day. For example; one apple is 75 calories of natural sugar. This diet is a calorie diet, but it is a good guide. And all Dr.'s agree that the calorie diet is the most healthful.

If you have any questions. Write me!

Robys Box
Dear Roby

weekend and Sunda had some guests. Mrs. Randall Briggs of Roswell came up spent the night in the girls dorm, visited the Episcopal prayer group held at Roberta's house and took a tennis lesson. Mrs. Briggs told the Prayer group about her trip to the Holy Land and it was an exciting story, and delightfully told.

I didn't get in touch with many in the bowl this week, but after buying a few groceries stopped in at Pauls. Goodness it was jumping with people I knew. Cora Dutton was having a hamburger and the Gary Lovelace family said hello, not to mention, Al Reveria from Alamo, and Truman Spencer was having a chat with Faral Canning. On the way home I ran into Miles Williams and Mr. Freeman hauling home lumber, two very busy men. I had a visit with Jody and Alva Sitten. Alva is feeling good and is back on the road again, in his new car. We are glad to have Jody back at the Post Office but a big thanks to Opal. Hi to the Sharpes and all their family, keeping sending shoes poems in.

Polly's Bulletin Board

Here are the directions to make the kids a 'fibber'. You will need a Lincoln County News issue and tape.

Last week after you read the issue you recycled it (to start the fires in the wood stove, as wrapper for potatoe peels, trash can liner or as cupboard paper.) This week the kids get a 'fibber.'

But before you start you read all the local news. You cut out the sports picture of 'Little Johnny' for his scrapbook. The picture of 'Little Suzie' goes in her 4-H album. You send Grandma the announcement of her granddaughter's wedding.

You clip the bookmobile schedule for your bulletin board and the Piggly Wiggly free stamp coupons. Up on the Bulletin Board goes Roby's Yummy Fours Recipe and Polly's Favorite Recipe for Paper-mache. (warning: If you have a 'Michael' underfoot be sure to keep your mind on your recipes or you will wind up with 'Yummy, Gummy Paper-mache Fours.')

Now you take the 'remains' of your Lincoln County News and make a 'fibber.'

Lay the two sheets of newspaper on the floor, slightly overlapping the edges. Tape, roll them up, pat them on end. Cut them four times, one-third ways down on one end. Tape handle part so it will not come undone. Hold center piece on cut end and gently pull out.

A 'fibber' can be used in marching or for pom-poms. They make imaginary corn stalks or palm trees.

Valley accident is fatal for man

A grinding head-on collision a quarter of a mile west of San Patricio early Sunday — about 2:30 a.m. — claimed the life of Raymond Allen Mitchell, 25, who lived in the Ruidoso area.

Mitchell was alone in a car which was in collision with a car containing two former Hondo Valley residents, Felix Herrera, 31, of Portales, and his cousin, Frutoso Herrera, Jr.

Felix Herrera was seriously injured in the accident and was transferred to a Roswell hospital from the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley General Hospital. Frutoso Herrera was treated and released at the Ruidoso hospital.

It took State Police and wrecker people some time to extract the body of Mitchell from the wreckage of his small car. Both vehicles were demolished.

The Herreras were in a vehicle — a station wagon — owned by Southwest Baking Co. of Roswell.

Investigating officers indicated the Mitchell car was on the wrong side of the highway. The car travelled over 300 feet after the impact and rolled several times on the highway before going into a ditch.

Ernest D. Key

Ernest D. Key was born Jan. 24, 1904 in Chimney Lake near Weed. He passed away at the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital Tuesday 4:30 p.m., Feb. 25, after a long illness.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church in Capitan at 2 p.m. Friday, Feb. 28.

Ernest moved to Capitan in March 1917 with his parents the late Thomas Calvin Key and Ellen G. Key. He was a 1924 graduate of the Capitan High School.

He then attended the George Washington University in Washington, D. C. from 1924 thru 1926.

Beginning in January 1929 he was assistant county clerk for the late Ben Greisen for two years. From then on he spent about twelve years in offices of the courthouse in Carrizozo.

He also worked for the railroad for a while. He was time keeper for the railroad during the time that Bonita Dam was being constructed. He then started working in the Lincoln County Abstract office for Miss Grace Jones. After she retired he continued working for the same abstract company owned by Jete Voss.

His health failed in February, 1974, causing him to retire. The abstract work had kept him in the Lincoln County Courthouse working for some 40 years.

He married in 1933 to Miss Janie Halderman.

Van to visit

A mobile van staffed by specialists in veterans benefits and counseling will be arriving in New Mexico for a 70-day stay in a tour of the state to provide one-stop, on-the-spot-aid for former servicemen and women.

The aim of the program, called "National Assistance for Veterans" is to reach veterans who have not made full use of VA benefits and governmental services.

These on-board specialists explain VA benefits, such as GI bill educational allowances, home loans, medical care, compensation.

While in Carrizozo, March 17, the van will be located at the U. S. Post Office and will be open for business from 9 a.m. — 1 p.m. It will be in Ruidoso March 19.

With the transfer of the Ford Garage building and El Cibola Hotel to Scott Industries coming this week, the story of how Frank English came to be a Carrizozo resident is an interesting one.

Mr. English had a major hand in building the El Cibola Hotel for Ira O. Wetmore in 1917, but he was on the Carrizozo scene long before that. He resides now in an apartment in the Carrizozo Hardware building a block from El Cibola Hotel and near many other buildings he constructed or helped construct in Carrizozo.

Mr. English was a carpenter when he came to Carrizozo in 1906 and followed that trade for many, many years.

"Cibola" means buffalo, and Mr. English remembers when the widow of John Gallagher operated El Cibola when it had a beautiful picture of "El Cibola" on the wall near the front entrance.

The painting was stolen one night, English recalls.

But, back to the story of how Frank English came to be a Carrizozo resident in 1906.

The story starts in Pennsylvania, at Pickville, Pa., eight miles north of Scranton.

English was a carpenter working on an amusement park in Pennsylvania — Luna Park. The company — Luna Park — also was having an amusement park built in Mexico City, and English and seven other carpenters volunteered and departed Pennsylvania for Mexico City to work on that park.

Mr. English spent six months working in Mexico City; one day one of the carpenters died.

Mr. English didn't at all care for the way the man was buried or anything about the way that situation was handled.

"I left the next day for Juarez," he says. "I didn't want to die there," he said. Mr. English arrived in Juarez and El Paso via train with his carpenter tools, $15 and some clothes.

He was acquainted with a Hank Purdy of Tularosa and went there to stay for a time — picking up carpenter jobs in that area.

He came to Fort Stanton, to do some work and became acquainted with Carrizozo and this area.

He stuck in Carrizozo. He helped build half the town and when he first arrived went to White Oaks where he built the wooden sidewalk in front of the main store there — plus the Hoyte Hotel, the Charley Mayer house and other work.

He helped build the Exchange Bank here in 1906. The first story was complete when he arrived — he assisted on the second story and slept in a bed located "in a vault under the vault". Nearby a woman operated a "cafe" in a tent where he took his meals.

Mr. English recalls when the round house here — a tin structure — burned down with the El Paso Southwestern Railroad rebuilding it out of brick — a "substantial building."

He says "Sparky" Harkey who lives near Ancho was born the night of the round house fire and thus acquired the nickname "Sparky". John Harkey is "Sparky's" stepfather. "Sparky" was agent for the Southern Pacific Railroad here for a long time, English said.

Mr. English and his wife had five children, including Fred English of Carrizozo.

Mr. English recalls that El Cibola Hotel is adobe. He doesn't recall whether the bricks were made on-site or hauled in.

"It's pretty well built," he says.

He recalls holding a gold bar in White Oaks in the early days "worth $3,500" then.

"It'd be worth a couple of hundred thousand now," he estimates. The bar was six to seven inches long, four inches wide and an inch thick. At $175 an ounce, today, it would be worth a fortune.

Mr. English has witnessed a lot of history in "Zozo. He has made some.

"I believe there are more people here now than ever before. There's not a vacant house in town," he says.

Even at a rather advanced age, Mr. English keeps up with things.

Next summer he's going to lower a window sill in his living room so he can see out better — see out on the town he helped build.

Ernest Booky, superintendent of Hondo Schools, displays photos of equipment that will be in a $10,000 playground and picnic area at Hondo school. Booky last week requested county aid to help finance the project after the state said it couldn't fund part of the project. County Commissioners help hold the display.

County employes' checks 'shrink'

Lincoln County employes who previously belonged to PERA (Public Employees Retirement Assn.) found themselves short of money, Friday, when retirement payments for up to three months were deducted from their pay checks.

The Lincoln County Commission dealt with the problem and considered alternatives at length during a regular meeting, Friday morning.

The commission also gave Ernest Booky, superintendent at Hondo, encouragement that the commission would help toward the cost of an extensive playground at the school which, when completed, will be open to the public as well as school children.

Commissioners R. C. Nunez, chairman; Bud Payne and Bill Hart also approved a subdivision play for below Biscuit Hill Cafe, opened and approved bids for a truck tractor and galvanized pipe for culverts, approved three resolutions and discussed use of off-hour emergency use of county road personnel.

The PERA question arose when County Road Supt. Jackie LaMay said many county employes are "hurt" this month because of retroactive deductions for the retirement fund.

Deputy Sheriff Dave Wheeler appeared before the council and said out of his $212 check, $112 went for PERA at one whack.

Commissioner Payne suggested that the county drop out of the PERA program and "let them sue us. I am not afraid of court suits."

County Manager Leslie Olsen said, "Yes, we can take PERA to court."

It was agreed that the district attorney will be asked to look into the legalities of the situation.

Meanwhile, Olsen said, the county can refund a portion of the "big bite" for PERA to employes and let them pay out the refund over a six-month period.

He said he is looking into the mechanics of doing this.

Apparently, it became mandatory for public employes to belong to PERA as of Jan. 1 with retroactive payments back to November necessary only for employes who formerly belonged.

Commissioners approved the plan for White Angel Subdivision, Earl Travis Pior and Martha Louise Pior are the developers.

Location is just below Biscuit Hill Cafe off the highway to the south on a mesa. Red Keohane of Roswell has a place in the area, and the Piors live there. The plat has been approved by the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission, according to Tom Mann of Roswell who made the plat presentation before the commissioners.

The Piors have a well which will provide water for the project and which feeds another subdivision. All utilities will be underground, and a gravel road, Mesa Drive, will separate two blocks of large lots — nine of them.

Mann, who also was involved in the Lincoln County water system, said the project is complete except for a couple of items.

Someone entered the pump house recently and turned off all the heaters, and the pipes froze and burst.

"They are being fixed," Mann said.

Hondo Supt. Booky reported that a playground, the fanciest "one between El Paso and Denver" is being shaped at the Hondo School on the old football field.

It includes playground equipment, animal figures, basketball backboards, picnic tables, barbecue grills, and other facets. Total cost is $10,500, which the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation putting up $4,800, the Hondo Schools over $3,000 with $2,100 needed to complete the project.

Booky said the state was supposed to come up with the $2,100 but ran out of funds.

He asked the commission for the $2,100.

Olsen reported $3,535 in the county recreation fund. He pointed out that there is a commitment to Corona for $1,900 for a project over which there has been some controversy.

Hart pointed out that the Indian Divide picnic area project may require some county help.

The matter was postponed until the March 14 meeting of the commission — when the financial picture may be a little more clear.

Payne indicated to Booky that $1,600 probably will be available for the project. New recreation funds will be coming to the county after July 1 when the fiscal year ends.

Commissioners agreed on Monday, March 10, at 9:30 a.m. for an "informal meeting" with the district attorney. Nature of the planned discussion was not revealed in the open meeting.

A contract for 400 feet of 24-inch culvert pipe and 100 feet of 36-inch of such pipe will go to Drainage Structures Inc., of Albuquerque which bid $6.95 per foot for the 24-inch pipe and $11.06 per foot for 36-inch pipe.

Other bidders were Hydro Conduit of Albuquerque, Arco Steel Corp and New Mexico Tank and Culvert Co.

Hydro Conduit was less than $5 lower on the total bid but had a longer delivery date. Governmental agencies can accept the second lowest bid where the difference is less than $25. Three-day delivery is promised by the successful bidder.

The $14,400 bid of Watson Truck and Supply of Hobbs was accepted for a 1971 diesel truck tractor.

Other bidders were El Paso Truck Center and West Texas Peter-Built, Inc. Mack Truck Center, offered a 1972 Mack tractor for $17,760.

West Texas Peter-Built's offer of a 1972 Diamond Red tractor didn't meet weight specifications.

Commissioners approved a resolution requested by the village of Ruidoso Downs. The resolution states that a water system improvement project in the Downs is not in conflict with the county or state master plans for Lincoln County. FHA requires the resolution before FHA can make loans.

One resolution, approved, okayed expenses for the county during the month of February.

Another was re-approval of Resolution No. 5 because of faulty language in the original. It had to do with increases in wages for county employes.

The recent search for a Roswell family in the Capitans after a heavy snowfall brought discussion on use of county employes in emergency situations.

Commissioner Payne said that the decisions of what to do should be left with Road Supt. Jack LaMay.

Action often is required immediately in such situations.
