Tony Treat wins three first places

There is a genuine tradition behind the hat on the head and the flowers on the desk of the NEWS editor. In the days of old, at least before World War II, women news reporters were not looked on with favor. About the only females seen in noisy smoke-filled newsrooms of metropolitan dailies were the ladies who passed through on the way to very separate offices of the Society News department.

As I recall, the society editor always wore a very flowered hat, white gloves and had flowers on her desk.

Beneath that lady-like hat was usually the brain and nerve of a war correspondent. In those days, the social scene was a battlefield and victory often was the best position of the society page of the paper.

Gone is the heading "Society" replaced by some euphemism such as "Of Interest to Women." The hat, though, is going to often appear on at least one editor's head.

Last week, when the weather was still summery, I wore a straw hat trimmed in peacock feather of an interesting origin—the product of a monumental bit of horse trading. I had a picture that my friend and member of the second grade in Carrizozo, Kenny Crenshaw wanted. Kenny had a peacock complete with feathers that I wanted for my hat. We made a trade—the picture for five feathers. Kenny was gone quite a while, looking for feathers, I thought. We heard some rather loud squawks, and Kenny returned with a great hand full of feathers followed by a peacock with none. ALL of my hats are going to have peacock feathers this year.

W-W

As I was running down the street, past the bank, chasing one of those hats that had been lifted by the September wind, I remembered another windy day, my mother, Erma Rich of Stephenville, Texas, tells about.

She was driving her grandson, Tom Hand, from Arizona to Texas, and along about that flat awesome emptiness in Eastern New Mexico and West Texas, a ferocious wind blew up. Mama looked at the country blowing away and said, "They had better tie down those windmills before they pump all the water out of Texas and New Mexico."

Eight year old Tommy looked out with wonder, "Wind Mills to pump water? Why Grandmama, I thought those were fans to keep the cows cool."

W-W

Mayor Ken Fuller of Corona stopped by the news office and mentioned that his grandson and namesake Ken Gibbs was another up and coming Corona football freshman.

The Mayor recalled the first year Corona had a football team. He was a member of that 12 man squad. There were only 11 uniforms that first year so if there was an injury, the team would call a quick time out, circle around the injured player and the substitute for a quick change act.

At Weight-Watchers this week, Helen Craig of Ruidoso was the lecturer. She said Doc. Clump who used to take care of the folks in Tularosa told his over-weight patients who had heart trouble, "It's like trying to water a 40 acre field with one water right."

W-W

They didn't send the cavalry from El Paso but they did send a helicopter to rescue Hannah Barker of White Oaks. Hannah broke her hip Wednesday night in White Oaks. The ambulance was met at the Carrizozo Airport by the first MAST helicopter since the program was initiated, and flown to William Beaumont Hospital in El Paso.

W-W

Tammy Hourigan came up with the best idea for conservation that the students of the speech class at Zozo High had ever heard. The exercise for the week was to give an acceptance speech for an imaginary award. Tammy accepted the "Paper Saver Award for Lincoln County." Tammy's answer to the paper problem eliminate homework! She saved 3000 sheets by eliminating all homework. Tammy called on her fellow students and teachers to join the campaign to save the trees. The students cheered.

We decided to recommend to the government the elimination of all reports—tax included. There are a lot of people that would join the campaign. A number of unpaid mayors are leaving office because they do not have the time to fill in the papers required by state and federal agencies.

Of course, many of the studies, reports, questionnaires are necessary but some seem to just 'make work.' We heard of a federally financed study to determine the factors that create human happiness. Some thousands of dollars of tax money later this was the study result:

Healthy people are generally happier than sick people.

Rich people are generally happier than poor people.

Young people are generally happier than old people.

Thus: Young healthy rich people are usually happier than poor, sick old people. And that friends, we pass on as your tax payer bonus of the week.

Remember, you rich young healthy people, spread some of that happiness in Lincoln County.

Lincoln County made an outstanding showing in the Wool Show at the 1975 New Mexico State Fair.

Tony Treat of Picacho led the way at the Livestock Complex with three first places, five runner-up prizes and three third place finishes.

Treat's victories were in the following categories: Open class Fine Wool Ewe Lamb-64 to 80 Spinning Count; Open Class Fine and 1/2 Blood Ram Lamb-60 to 80's Spinning Count;

Open Class Fine Wool Range Ram-64-80's Spinning Count.

Treat also had the Reserve Champion Fleece. His second places also included breed fleece Registered Debouillet Ram Fleece; open class 1/2 Blood and Coarser Range Ram-62's and below Spinning Count; open class 3/4 Blood Ewe-56-58's Spinning Count and open class 1/2 Blood and Coarser Ewe Lamb-62's and below Spinning Count.

Picacho rancher Joe Skeen had the Reserve Champion Fleece in the 'Breed Fleece' competition. Skeen's first place finish was in the breed fleece Registered Debouillet Ewe Fleece event, and he added a second place finish in the open class 1/2 Blood Ewe-60-62's Spinning Count. Other outstanding Lincoln County performances at the Wool Show were:

Ginger Cooper who won the Junior Fine and 1/2 Blood Ram-60 to 80's Spinning Count. Miss Cooper, from Tinnie, also finished third in the Junior Fine Wool Ewe-64-80's Spinning Count.

Pacheco Ranch of Tinnie which finished first; and third in the open class 1/2 Blood and Coarser Range Ram-62's and Below Spinning Count.

The New Mexico State Fair, "The Biggest Show in New Mexico," continues through Sept. 21 in Albuquerque.

Commissioners pass dog act

The forever difficult task of controlling animals in rural areas was undertaken by Lincoln County commissioners last Friday.

Acting under its newly gained ordinance power, the commissioners adopted an ordinance which in effect tells Sheriff Leandro to enforce the state law governing animals.

A $10,728 budget was adopted to assist in doing the job. There will be an animal control deputy at $550 per month and a special pick-up complete with cage and dart gun.

Animals that are collected by the deputy will be boarded for three days and then disposed of if not claimed.

City dwellers have an unfortunate habit of dumping unwanted pets in the country. Dog packs which roam at will are a danger to farm animals and the children, it was noted.

A number of Lincoln County ranchers have complained of livestock destruction by these wild packs and a possible combination of dogs and coyotes.

The commissioners also adopted an ordinance governing all future ordinances as to style and form. This was a necessary step in implementing the authority given counties by the New Mexico legislature last year. Counties now have much the same power as municipalities in law making.

Grizzlies squeeze out victory 13-6

by Jim Valdez

The Grizzlies of Carrizozo under the direction of Henry Paul managed to squeeze by the Wildcats of Tularosa. The victory started when the Grizzlies took the opening kickoff 70 yards in eleven plays capped off by Dickie Portillo scampering into the end zone from his own nine yard line.

In the middle of the 2nd quarter the Grizzlies struck again. After a faulty handoff the ball was fumbled into the end zone where it was recovered by Edward Vega, Jr. for another Grizzly TD.

The try for extra point failed and the scoreboard read Grizzlies 13, Tularosa 0.

The second half was quite a defensive battle with both teams having trouble moving the football. Early in the fourth quarter lightning struck. The Wildcats scored from 3 yards out setting the stage for a dramatic finish. After the Grizzlies turned the ball over, the hardheaded Wildcats moved the ball down to the Grizzly 30 yard line.

The last hope for the boys from Tulie snuffed out when Ricky Edwards intercepted a stray Wildcat arial, and that is how it ended.

Would like to congratulate coach Henry Paul and Bill Mac Veigh on the fine job.

Carrizozo College opening large

Carrizozo Community College enrollment opened Tuesday night and drew a surprising 110 students.

Pat Baca, Director of Continuing Education, and Dean Loganbill an assistant professor of English at New Mexico Tech who heads the Socorro program, were on hand to assist in the initial steps.

Superintendent Jim Steinpreis said that all classes, except Banjo and Golf, were filled. Persons interested in enrolling in those courses may call the school or the individual instructors. Teacher Douglas Jarrard announced that his Spanish class will meet Monday at 7 p.m. and Guitar will be Thursday at 7 p.m. He said that the courses will end by Christmas vacation.

Plans are underway for an expanded second semester and interested persons should express their course preferences now.

Lincoln County past and present is featured in this exhibit at the 1975 New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque. Mary Ellen Payne and Danny Knight, both of Carrizozo, helped set up the annual display.

The Sheriff reports

Man arrested in Ponder break-in

Curry Reynolds, a 31 male resident of Capitan, was arrested Tuesday by Lincoln County Sheriff Leandro Vega and charged with aggravated burglary arson and larceny of firearms.

Reynolds is charged with breaking into the Pete Ponder ranch about 30 miles north of Capitan. Approximately $8000 in firearms were stolen and the ranch house was set on fire according to the Sheriff who feels that the fire was an attempt to cover up the burglary.

The arrest came after an extensive investigation which included stake-outs, by the Sheriff's office.

Reynolds was arraigned before Judge Bill Payne Wednesday.

Five camp trailers

Ruidoso police dispatcher, Gayle Knapp, 51 years old, has been arrested and arraigned on charges of theft of five camp trailers.

Knapp, a retired armed forces member, allegedly hooked up the trailers, which were in the Bonito Lake area, and moved three to his place 3 miles east of Carrizozo. The other two were located in the Bonito area.

The Sheriff's department located the trailers after their disappearance was reported by owners. Knapp made bond of $1000 and a preliminary hearing on Sept. 18 has been postponed.

Corona arrest made

Noble Snodgrass, Jr., a 26 year old Cedarvale resident, has been charged with criminal damage to property and the purchase of liquor for minors by the Lincoln County Sheriff's department.

The arrest followed an investigation which turned up two witnesses, according to Sheriff Vega. It arose out of an incident in which a number of Corona businesses suffered broken windows.

Snodgrass was arraigned before Judge Payne and there has been no hearing date set.

Capitan Tigers blank Eagles

by Danny Chaves

Shirley McInnes

The Capitan Tigers recorded its second victory of the season by blanking the Quemado Eagles 42-0.

The game saw its first score late in the first quarter when Kenny Cummins raced 45 yards for a touchdown. The Tiger's stiff defense held the Eagles and forced a punt and then drove 60 yards for another score with Pat Griego plunging over from the 5 yard line. The two point conversion was good with a pass from Kenny Cummins to Kirk Phillips.

The last score of the half was set up when David Hightower intercepted an Eagle pass and took it back to the Eagle 40. The Tigers then drove the ball to the Eagle yardline and Cummins swept the right end and scored his

"Keep New Mexico Beautiful"

Junk, cars still state's problem

New Mexicans consider abandoned vehicles to be the number one visual blight problem according to a statewide survey distributed by Keep New Mexico Beautiful, Inc. Ninety-eight percent of those responding to the survey were especially concerned about "junk cars" seen near occupied buildings and in wrecking yards. One rural resident commented that, "Uncontrolled and, unsightly wrecking yards receive very bad care and deface our natural landscape." Another respondent felt these vehicles were "especially ugly sitting in yards of houses."

This Visual Blight Survey was developed by members of Keep New Mexico Beautiful (KNMB) to determine public opinion concerning "eyesores" in the Land of Enchantment. With the help of the New Mexico Council of State Garden Clubs, the surveys were distributed to rural communities (populations less than 10,000), small towns (10,000 - 100,000) and Albuquerque. KNMB will use this tally of public opinion as an additional guideline to help establish its projects and goals in the future.

Ninety-five percent of the participants indicated litter as another important solid waste challenge which is not new to those who have been working with KNMB to rid the state of roadside trash. Most respondents thought that the most seriously littered areas were their own communities and rural roads. Citizen complaints were attached to the returned surveys from all corners of the state: "Roadside rest areas are beyond belief!" "Camping, fishing and boating areas are bad wherever we go in the state." "Litter in New Mexico seems to be traditional-year after year!" "City sidewalks and vacant lots are full of weeds and trash."

Equal concern was shown for the sources of blowing dust. Of the 95 percent that indicated dust was a problem, respondents from Albuquerque and smaller towns placed the blame on land that is barren of vegetation. One city dweller mentioned schoolyards and non-developed park lands as examples of this source. Most rural New Mexicans pointed the finger of blame at unpaved roads. Only Albuquerque residents felt "off-the-road" driving was a significant cause of dust.

In other areas of air pollution, exhaust emissions were considered to be a serious problem only by Albuquerque participants where 92 percent considered automobiles to be at fault and 77 percent felt that better mass transit was the solution. A Silver City citizen looked into the future and said a national need for "smaller cars that use less fuel as well as need for a fuel that is pollution free." One participant judged that the motorcycle was "a major cause of noise pollution." Another respondent voiced an opinion that city buses were "worse offenders than any of these listed in this survey."

A resident of Portales complained of a different kind of "air pollution." "Air pollution from stockyards (feedlots) is terrible in this area." "Albuquerque, Silver City, and San Juan County accounted for the responses which indicated concern with industrial air pollution. Official garbage collection, storage, transportation and disposal sites were not considered as contributors to visual blight by most participating citizens; on the other hand, 75 percent of all respondents indicated that illegal dumping created eyesores in their areas.

Inadequate animal control was considered an additional factor of visual blight in 77 percent of Albuquerque surveys and 80 percent of rural surveys. In contrast, only 33 percent of participants from Artesia, Farmington, Las Cruces, Portales, Raton, Roswell, Santa Fe and Silver City indicated that animal control was a problem. A positive comment was offered by one Silver City dweller for the attempt at better animal control being made by that area's new Humane Society.

Keep New Mexico Beautiful has become active in recycling in Albuquerque and has tried to encourage local groups to establish their own recycling centers across the state. Therefore, the survey responses on this topic were of particular interest. In Albuquerque, where KNMB operates its largest center, surveys indicated that 92 percent saw a potential for recycling. In smaller cities, 75 percent of the responses were positive; however, in rural areas only 27 percent saw this potential existing in their sparsely populated communities. Few respondents checked "Overcutting Forests", "Overgrazing" or "Stripmining" as contributors to visual blight; however, comments were added which may explain this attitude: "I know too little about these topics." "A certain amount of logging and grazing is necessary." "Few surveyed say visual blight in the water and liquid waste categories; however, additional comments did show isolated local concerns: "Industrial pollutions are in the rivers of the Gila Forest" from Silver City. "Las Huertas stream is terrible with trash from picnickers" from Albuquerque; "Our San Juan and Animas Rivers are being polluted by many sources and a check by the EPA should be made constantly" from Farmington.

Erosion of the natural landscape was seen as a visual blight problem by 75 percent of the respondents; in addition, 75 percent also judged abandoned and/or deteriorating buildings as eyesores in their communities. Billboards were thought to be a major factor of visual blight only in Albuquerque where 85 percent checked this category. These urban residents blamed chiefly billboard placement (75 percent) but also were dissatisfied with the size and number of billboards (both 65).

Keep New Mexico Beautiful agrees with one respondent who commented, "if every citizen of New Mexico began a personal cleanup campaign at regular intervals, we could have the most beautiful state in the union." Lynda Katonak,

Executive Secretary of KNMB, added, "The survey tells us that the public is concerned. Now we must aim to translate that concern into action; but we need the help of volunteers across the state to achieve this. Many communities have existing committees for beautification that have been actively working to eliminate these problems, but more people need to get involved with their own neighborhood or youth group, or even as a family unit. There's room and a need for everyone."

Lost children are sought

How many New Mexico children are being deprived of an education because they suffer from physical or other handicaps?

Superintendents or their designees from the twenty-six school districts in the southeast quadrant of New Mexico met recently in the Southeast Special Education Regional Service Center in Roswell.

The meeting was called to discuss the upcoming New Mexico Child Find campaign. The meeting was well attended.

Jim Steinpreis, Carrizozo and Cindy Underwood, Capitan, represented this area.

Mr. Eli Gutierrez, Director of the New Mexico Division of Special Education, and Paula Parks, Educational Specialist from the Division, were present to discuss the Child Find Project.

Gutierrez estimates there may be as many as several hundred of the educationally deprived youth. The division is assisting local school districts to launch a campaign this fall to locate every child in New Mexico who for one reason or another cannot, or does not, attend school.

The search, called New Mexico Child Find Project, will be carried out by the Special Education Regional Service Centers in Albuquerque, Las Cruces, Roswell, and Las Vegas.

According to Gutierrez, once these children who have not been in school have been located, the Regional Service Center or the local district will seek parental permission to administer tests to determine what kind of help the child may need. Once the problem has been diagnosed every attempt will be made to design a suitable service for that child.

For what reasons might a child not be attending school? According to Gutierrez, there might be a problem with vision, hearing, or the child may be afflicted with some crippling disease which keeps him bedridden. Another possibility might be that the child is severely retarded.

"No matter what the problem," Gutierrez says, "I think we can put our heads together and come up with a solution. But right now we have to locate the children who need special help."

In order to help educators find as many handicapped children as possible, anyone who knows of a child who is not receiving schooling should inform their local superintendent; the Southeast Special Education Regional Service Center, 300 North Kentucky Avenue, Roswell, New Mexico 88201, telephone number 623-7000; or call this toll free number 1-800-432-6860.

Playwrights competition announced

Playwrights who are residents of Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington, or Wyoming are invited to take part in the Western States Arts Foundation's first Playwrights Competition.

Five plays, selected solely on the basis of artistic excellence by a panel of theater professionals, will each win a $600 prize. In addition, the Foundation will make awards of $700 to each of ten theaters in its region that selects one or more of the winning plays for production.

Selection of theaters will be based on the quality of production, exposure to audience, and the degree of involvement between playwright and producing theater. Scripts of winning plays will be circulated to interested theaters.

One full-length play or a maximum of three one-act plays may be submitted in a professional theater. Deadline for submitting plays to the Foundation is December 15, 1975.

Participating theaters will each have the option to stage ten royalty-free performances during a single season, after which period, all rights revert to the playwright.

For applications for the Playwrights Competition, write Western States Arts Foundation, 1430 Larimer Square, Suite 200, Denver, Colorado, 80202.

Bicentennial garden is home Liberty Bell

"Martha's Garden"—a display of plants commonly grown in the United States 200 years ago, was formally dedicated on the New Mexico State Fairgrounds on Friday, Sept. 12 at 2 p.m.

The colonial garden is located in the courtyard of the Youth Hall, directly across from the Red Barn on Main Street.

"Martha's Garden" (as in Martha Washington) also is the site of New Mexico's authentic replica of the United States Liberty Bell. The bell was cast in France in 1850, with the size, weight and tone identical to those of the original. Replicas were presented to each state by the U.S. Treasury Department as part of a "U.S. Savings Bond Independence Drive" during the 1950's.

The garden was planted by the Albuquerque Board of Realtors' "Make America Better Committee" as a project of the Bernalillo County Bicentennial Committee. It contains 50 varieties of plants including flowering tobacco, watermelon vine, straw flowers, bachelor's button, Joseph's coat, love-lies-bleeding, balloon flowers, black-eyed Susans, herbs and many other wild flowers which originated in Europe.

The list of colonial flowers was obtained from Mount Vernon by tracking seed orders placed in England 200 years ago.

Lynna Handley, Albuquerque, is chairman of the "Make America Better Committee," with Larry Sallee, vice-chairman.

"The garden is planted like an English garden in predominantly Victorian colors," Sallee said. "It is both pretty and practical, as some of the plants were used as medicinal herbs."

Cindy Underwood, Resource Room Teacher, Capitan Schools, Eli Gutierrez, Director, New Mexico Division of Special Education, and James C. Steinpreis, Superintendent Carrizozo Schools attend Child Find meeting in Roswell.

Algae farming is test project

The Four Corners Regional Commission has awarded $41,000 to fund a project designed to test the commercial feasibility of using common algae as a nutrition and energy source.

The project is based on laser research in growth processes, and the use of controlled atmosphere environments to speed algae growth. Research was conducted at Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory.

The research included Biologist Victor Kollman, a Los Alamos Scientist, Dwight L. Walker, Economic Development Specialist, Leon Cooper, Chemist and George Taylor, Biologist. Also assisting in the project is the School of Agriculture of New Mexico, Dr. Eugene Staffeld, State University Biology Professor, Dr. Don Cameron, Specialist in Algae at Argonne National Laboratory, Argonne, Illinois and the Food and Nutrition Department of Iowa State University.

Coordination of the project and research into commercial feasibility of algae production is being carried out by Dwight Walker, Economic Development Specialist with the New Mexico Governor's Division of Human Resources.

Herman Grace, Division of Human Resources director, said the project calls for a test model "algae farm" on land made available at Los Lunas by New Mexico State University.

He said construction of the controlled atmosphere greenhouse and algae pond will begin immediately upon receipt of Four Corners funding. He added the test facility should be operational within a month after start of construction.

Walker said he has reviewed the prospects for commercial production of algae with scientists, biologists and industrial concerns in many states.

"There is agreement that definite feasibility is indicated for use of algae for nutritional use, for energy, livestock feed, soil fertility augmenting, vitamin production and water quality improvement," Walker said.

Biologist Kollman, who has developed laser techniques to gain new insights into cellular growth processes, said the product uses of commercially grown algae are "almost unlimited."

Kollman stated that under controlled condition, one acre of land could produce up to 1,460 tons of Algae per year, and then produce, in addition to protein, hydrogen for fuel and fertilizer. He said the potential for vitamin production is also being explored.

The team involved in the algae test project is in agreement that it could create a new rural industry for New Mexico and have a strong economic impact.

"A variety of corporations already have expressed strong interest in this project. In terms of livestock feed alone, commercial algae production could develop into a major market in the United States. World wide, its potentials can't be estimated," Walker said.

He said that results of algae production at the test facility will be published in scientific journals and made available to the general public.

Darlene Salazar jackpot winner

The first Lincoln County News football jackpot contest had one winner getting ten dollars cash and about a dozen entries hitting around the correct score.

Darlene Sue Salazar guessed the correct score of the Carrizozo-Tularosa JV game 13-6. Eddie Luna came in at 13-7, Raymond Lueras 12-6, Liz Beltran 12-7, Tony Beltran 13-7, Quirina Jaramillo 12-7, Margaret Jaramillo 14-7, Lena Chavez 12-6, Debbie Niederstadt 14-6, Frances Zamora 12-7, and Mario Zamora 14-7.

The Capitan-Quemado game got a little wild, the Tigers winning 42-0 and no contest entry even came close.

The News jackpot is operating different this year in that you may guess on any game listed in the football ad—but only one card or one guess per person. More than one card throws you out of the game.

Albert, Patsy, Liz, Elsie, Benita, Ralph, Mary, Jack, Ida, Orfida, Pat, Nancy, Henry, and Ricky need to look the Grizzlies over one more time. These people all picked the Tullie JVs to win.

You may get a contest card at any advertiser in the football ad, mail or bring to the News before game time. It's cash money each week for the winner.

Fall is ideal for planting

September is the ideal time to make plans for late fall and winter planting of woody trees and shrubs, says Ricardo Gomez, Extension horticulturist at New Mexico State University.

Remember the family's needs when reviewing the present landscape. Consider adding shade for the patio, replacing dying roses or accenting the front walk with shrubs.

A landscape is an expression of the family's personality—so never copy exactly from a magazine or book. Use these resources for ideas instead, Gomez says.

Once the family's needs are identified, review plant catalogs and books. Then check on plants and trees available at the local nursery or near outlets.

Early landscape planning allows time for bargain hunting and helps stretch the landscape budget.

After the plans are finalized, prepare the beds for late fall and winter planting. Plant placement and the overall effect is easier to visualize after these beds are prepared.

Coffee joins inflation rush after frost cripples harvest

Consumers worried about rising food and fuel costs won't be able to calm their jangled nerves with a soothing cup of coffee.

The price of coffee is expected to go up 40 per cent or more in the coming months.

Brazil, which produces a third of the world's coffee, has been hit by the worst cold wave in half a century. About three-fourths of the country's 2.1 billion coffee trees have been destroyed by frost.

The trees were damaged nearly down to their roots, reports Camilo Calazans de Magalhaes, president of Brazil's Coffee Institute. Word that coffee crops for the next two years would be less than half their expected size sent coffee prices skyrocketing on world markets.

Disabled Vets checks raised

An estimated 2.5 million service-connected disabled veterans and eligible dependent of deceased veterans who died of service-connected causes will receive an additional compensation check from the Veterans Administration this month.

The checks, ranging in amounts of $3 to $174, will represent increases of 10 to 12 percent signed into law by President Ford last month. The increases came to late to be included in the August checks.

A separate check, representing the retroactive amount for August, will be mailed about mid-September, a VA spokesman said.

The new rates will be reflected in the September checks, to be mailed October 1. Total cost of the increases for the first year is $450 million.

The increases require no action by recipients. VA officials emphasized no contact with VA offices is necessary.

Veterans with a 30 percent or less disability rating received a 10 percent increase in their monthly payments. Veterans with a greater disability rating and dependency indemnity compensation beneficiaries received a 12 percent increase under the new law.

Monthly payments to single veterans with 10 percent disabilities were increased from $32 to $35. Veterans rated 100 percent were raised from $84 to $655. For the most severely disabled, the maximum amount was raised from $1,454 to $1,628 monthly.

Coffee has alternated between shortages and surpluses through the years, the National Geographic Society points out. This year's freeze looks worse than in 1969, an industry spokesman says, recalling the last time frost crippled the trees and sent coffee prices soaring.

Prices rose again in 1970 when coffee rust swept plantations in South and Central America. The disease mysteriously had jumped the South Atlantic from Africa two years earlier, and it spread swiftly.

Coffee trees are subject to some 375 ailments. Of 10 that are serious, coffee rust is the most devastating. The epidemic was checked but acres of infected trees had to be destroyed.

In 1949 a combination of summer drought and an unusually cold September played havoc with Brazil's coffee crop, just after a series of torrential rains and floods wiped out much of the Guatemalan crop.

Brazil sells 60 percent of its coffee to the United States. While Guatemala's output is smaller, it is widely used in blending. The result of this double blow was that Americans paid more for a cup of their favorite brew the following year.

Prices fall with equal speed when harvests are too bountiful. In those years, exporting nations have resorted to burning part of their crops or dumping them into the sea to keep the market from plummeting.

At one time or another Brazil has experimented with cattle feed made from surplus coffee, and even used the red coffee berries to manufacture lipstick.

In 1931 Brazilians threw tons of coffee into the ocean and burned tons more because the selling price was too low to ship it to market. Part of the crop was pressed into bricks and burned in place of coal to drive steam locomotives on Brazil's railroads.

In earlier centuries, coffee sometimes was destroyed for religious reasons. When the drink was banned in Egypt in 1511 because it was considered an intoxicant, Muslims set entire warehouses afire.

At the other extreme, after coffee was introduced in Europe by Venetian traders in the 17th century, it was considered so valuable that it was sold by the ounce.

Pharmacists dispensed it for medicinal purposes and physicians prescribed coffee for stomach vapors, fevers, swellings of the body, and other ailments.

Dear Sir:
Please "tell all our friends in Lincoln & Capitan the Hoot McCabe's say "Hi!" from their lovely new home in Nipomo, California. The grass is green and the cattle fat and we'd love to see anyone passing thru this-a-way. Our town is about the size of Lincoln without the excitement of the pageant or The Wortley. We also miss the Smokey Bear and The Branding Iron. Mike wants to say "Hi!" to all his rodeo friends and to tell Becky and Candy that they're just as cute as the golden beach bunnies. Looking forward to catching up on the Lincoln County News!

Early 1900s recalled by Lois Stadtman Headley

The Richard K. Headley family of San Bernardino, Calif., was visiting in Carrizozo Tuesday and many of the older buildings in this town were very familiar to Mrs. Headley.

She was born here in 1914, the daughter of Walter W. Stadtman who came to Carrizozo in 1912, went back to Oklahoma, got married and returned to Lincoln County to homestead property six miles south on US 54. Mr. Stadtman worked in the Kelley Hardware, was town clerk for eight years, Mrs. Stadtman served on the school board and was president of Carrizozo Woman's Club. They moved to California in 1930.

Mr. Stadtman started the first abstract and title company in Carrizozo.

Lois Stadtman Headley was born on south side of tracks but does not remember where, her brother Floyd was born where Spider Park now is, used to be one-room house there. Brother Keith was born in old Stidham house. Earl and Vern were both born in house in Baptist church block.

Mrs. Stadtman remembers that Mrs. McSween, whose husband figured in the Lincoln County War, had married a second time to man named Barber, an attorney whose office was east of the present bank location. She heard Mrs. Barber talk of Billy the Kid several times.

The Headley family of Mr. and Mrs. and son Roland had visited in Minneapolis, Tulsa, Washington, Youngstown and were on their way home to California.

Capitan folks enjoy the fair, weather

by Margaret Rench

We had near five inches of the best kinds of rain last week. It is so appreciated and so beautiful. This is the first time, this Monday morning that we have had sunshine in one week. But that moisture! Its great. The vegetation, trees and people responded to that with joy. It gets very cold at night but that is to be expected. It is time for that. It gives us new energy.

Many of our citizens attended the State Fair in Albuquerque this last week. The person I do know of were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Provine and they stayed with their daughter Judy who is employed there.

Attending also were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edgar and Mr. and Mrs. Preston Stone. The report of the Fair was excellent. They enjoyed it. There perhaps were others but I do not know about them. Therefore no hurt feelings. Come forward and tell me.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Ware became proud parents of a lovely nine pound daughter in Roswell Saturday, Sept. 13. Name later.

Jonelle Lucas went to work for the Alto Country Club Sept. 1. She filled the vacancy that Pearl Soderback left when she retired Sept. 3. I wish you lots of joy and happiness there, Jonelle. She is a wonderful good cook and will do great there. I am certain.

Mrs. Clara Marks of Jal recently purchased the lot east of the H. Lee Miller property on west fifth Street and she is moving a three room house from Jal there. Welcome to Capitan and we hope she enjoys it here. It is a pretty location.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Strickland left their children Rhonda Kay and Melinda with her parents and their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright, and last Wednesday they went to Ballinger, Texas and stopped in Hobbs while enroute and visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Strickland.

Mr. and Mrs. Trolinger have purchased the beautiful big trailer home of Mr. Ratliff parked at the Young Trailer Court. They will move it to their location soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker of Roswell have purchased the 50 foot lot from Paul Kingston east of the school on Second Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and family have purchased the Annie McInnes home on west second and have moved in. Welcome to Capitan.

The Capitan Builders Supply have made many changes in their store, the former Dean Hardware. They have moved the office to the southeast corner of the store and built in with glass. Mrs. Claude (Geneva) Walker is their bookkeeper. They have lots of new merchandise and more coming in all of the time. It is a beautiful store full of stock. We can buy anything and everything imaginable.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Zamora became proud parents of a little daughter recently. Name and information pending.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coleman and family attended the wedding of their nephew, Erwin Coleman, and Linda Taylor in Amarillo last Saturday evening and returned Sunday and put Irene on the bus for Las Cruces. She attended the summer session at New Mexico State University last summer and is working this fall session and she will return to the spring term and will again attend the summer session next year. She just loves college and her work as well.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Borland and family have purchased the George McBride home across from the school grounds east on the corner of third street. They moved in last week. They lived in the Carl house for several months. Welcome to Capitan and we know they will be happy here.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Otero are back in their business at the El Paisano Cafe after two weeks vacation. They started rested and new Tuesday morning after a joyous time. Ready for work. Patti returned to New Mexico State University again Sept. 28. They visited her.

Mr. and Mrs. Otero have their wedding Anniversary Sept. 19. Toni has a birthday Sept. 21 and Patti has a birthday Sept. 23. I wish you many more very happy anniversaries together. And both of you the happiest birthdays ever and many more.

Mrs. Lois Gould formerly of Capitan and Ft. Stanton became the bride of Mr. Edmund G. Flannigan of Redding, Calif. on Aug. 21. The Reverend Cole of the First Christian Church officiated at the ceremony which was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Almond at Alto. Mrs. Jon Christensen of Sacramento, Calif., daughter of Mr. Flannigan, and Mrs. Jack Shaw.

Prices farmers pay turn upward
LAS CRUCES — Farmers paid five percent more for input items in May than in April of this year, and two percent more than in May, 1974. This came after a five month decline in farmer's unit costs, says Gene Ott, Extension farm management specialist at New Mexico State University.

In contrast, farm product prices, during the first quarter of 1975, were 10 per cent less than in the same 1974 period and seven percent less than in the last quarter of 1974.

In spite of tight supplies, crop prices decreased about 13 percent while livestock product prices fell two percent under the previous quarter levels.

Presently, the price outlook for 1975 farm products is below 1974 prices. If harvests are poor, prices may hold and could equal last year's levels.

Any difference between the 1974 and 1975 unit costs to the farmer is closely tied to feed supplies and an easing of inflationary pressures in the general economy. Ott adds.

A. This section shall not apply to ordinances dealing with an emergency declared by the Board to be an immediate danger to the public health, safety and welfare of the county; or to ordinances the subject matter of which amends a city zoning map if the amendment has been considered by, and recommended to, the Board by a planning commission with jurisdiction in the matter; or to the repeal or amendment of existing ordinances.

LINCOLN COUNTY ORDINANCE NO. 75-1 COUNTY ORDINANCES

WHEREAS, the County of Lincoln, State of New Mexico, deems it necessary to provide for the regularization, organization, and codification of County Ordinances;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, pursuant to authority granted by law, as follows:

SECTION 1.—PROPOSAL OF ORDINANCES.—Ordinances may only be proposed by members of the County Commission; any member of the Commission may propose an ordinance for adoption.

SECTION 2.—PUBLICATION OF PROPOSED ORDINANCES.—Before submission of a proposed ordinance to the Board for final adoption, the proposed ordinance, together with the date and time of the meeting at which the proposed ordinance is coming up for final approval, shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation within the county at least once each week for two successive weeks prior to the said meeting.

A. This section shall not apply to ordinances dealing with an emergency declared by the Board to be an immediate danger to the public health, safety and welfare of the county; or to ordinances the subject matter of which amends a city zoning map if the amendment has been considered by, and recommended to, the Board by a planning commission with jurisdiction in the matter; or to the repeal or amendment of existing ordinances.

B. It is a sufficient defense to any suit or prosecution for violation of an ordinance to show that notice by publication was not made in accordance herewith.

SECTION 3.—ADOPTION OR REPEAL OF COUNTY ORDINANCE—MAJORITY VOTE.—A proposed county ordinance shall be passed only by a majority vote of all the members of the board of county commissioners, and an existing county ordinance shall be amended or repealed in the same manner. Upon a vote of adoption, amendment or repeal of any county ordinance, the yeas and nays shall be called and recorded by the County Clerk.

SECTION 4.—RECORDING BY COUNTY CLERK.—All county ordinances, immediately after their adoption by the Board, shall be recorded in a book kept for that purpose and shall be authenticated by the signature of the county clerk on the ordinance.

SECTION 5.—EFFECTIVE DATE.—Ordinances shall take effect on the 30th day after their recording in the book kept by the County Clerk.

SECTION 6.—EFFECT OF REPEAL.—The repeal of ordinances shall not affect any right which has accrued, any duty imposed, any penalty incurred, nor any action or proceeding as commenced under or by virtue of the ordinance repealed, nor shall the repeal have the effect of reviving any ordinance theretofore repealed or superseded.

SECTION 7.—EFFECTIVE AREA.—County ordinances are effective within the boundaries of Lincoln County, including privately owned land or land owned by the United States. However, county ordinances are not effective within the limits of any incorporated municipality.

ARTICLE II.—STYLE AND CONSTRUCTION OF ORDINANCES.

Lingering images from the summer of '75

by Dick Alva

One day there's all the tumult and the crowds and the glory; the very next, sweeping silence. Except for debris, one would think it had never happened. But it's Tuesday—the day after Labor Day at Ruidoso Downs—and when a workman begins to board the tote board, there's no doubt summer has gone, and with it, a racing-season flickered with lingering images.

It's hard to be unaffected by the change from Monday to Tuesday. Picture, "Bugs Alive in '75" roaring down to the finish line in the All-American Futurity. Over 15,000 fans—an all-time record—are jammed into the mountain track, many of them stacked 30 deep along the forecourt rail.

As the field thunders under the wire, the Bug's rider, Jerry Burgess, waves an arm in a jubilant victory salute. For Burgess, who's as stoical as any rider around, that's quite a display of emotion. As The Bug starts for the special winner's circle, the fans rush onto the track, and the winning horse, still breathing hard, is surrounded by the crowd.

Burgess has a smile big enough to crack his face; his black-and-white silks appear soiled and sweat-stained. Two young men, obviously members of the winning stable literally jump for joy at the finish line, then slap hands in a victory gesture reminiscent of TV football.

Burgess dismounts to weigh in, and Bugs Alive is led into the infield to meet the Governor, and pose for the TV cameras. The flowered blanket is thrown over his shoulders.

By now, the crowd on the track has tripled, and the fans try to follow The Bug onto the infield, while rows of determined police hold them back.

J.B. Montgomery, the winning trainer, comes jogging toward the finish line. He's locked arm-and-arm with an assistant on each side, his face flushed, frozen in a tremendous smile. J.B. stops suddenly, grabs his hat, and flings it into the air. There's no time to recover the lost headpiece, and the three men continue that odd half-trot, half-dance to the winner's circle. Another hat goes sailing into the air, lands on the turf, and traces a circle in the rich, deep-brown soil of the homestretch.

Those remarkable 10 minutes following the All-American Futurity—the prestige of the race, and the winning purse ($330,000), and the pent up tension connected with it create a delirium which infects the crowd.

It takes less than 22 seconds to run those epochal 440 yards. Within that time, an industry hero is created. The All-American Futurity has the aura of history about it. No wonder it affects the fans the way it does.

Now it's Tuesday morning, the day after the All-American Futurity. Ruidoso Downs has already changed from a place of high drama to deserted amphitheater. The actors and the audience have departed, and the grounds are heavy with silence.

The racing strip, no longer being watered and, harrowed, nor raced over, has taken on a flat, unhealthy pale-orange tone. 10 o'clock is time for the ceremonial picture-taking of the winning horse and cameramen are waiting in the infield. The Bug is lead out, magnificent and mahogany-colored; his tail swishing. Somehow, he seems more like a playful pony than the equine giant who ate up the world's richest race the previous afternoon.

Unconcerned with the picture taking, he munches on the grass in front of the tote board, still swishing that flaxen tail. In the barn area, where all horses have since departed, the stall doors are open. Two men move from stall to stall, looking for what was left behind. It is as if a giant gypsy camp has vanished into the night.

Ralph Shebester, the man who owns "Bugs Alive in '75", had to climb out of a hospital bed to watch his horse run. Ralph is still recovering from cracked ribs suffered in an auto accident. He looked a little pale on the eve of the All-American.

The day after, he was the picture of glowing health. He also wound up a little richer than he thought. During the press interview, Ralph mentioned his take would include a $150,000 bonus in nominating and breeding awards. Actually, it came out to $17,500. So when Bugs Alive won the All-American, the 1 1/2-length romp was worth $347,500. That amounts to one of the biggest paychecks in racing history.

The 1975 All-American Futurity got a pretty big press. At last count, there were about 30 reporters and photographers from throughout the country on hand. The group included a five-man team from Associated Press, a reporter and photographer from Time Magazine, a photographer from Sports Illustrated, a photographer and reporter from Town and Country Magazine, a four-man film crew from the German Television Network, a reporter from United Press International, and reporters from numerous newspapers.

Things have a way of going wrong. But the press guys, durable fellows that they are, still got the job done. Take Bob Green, for example,

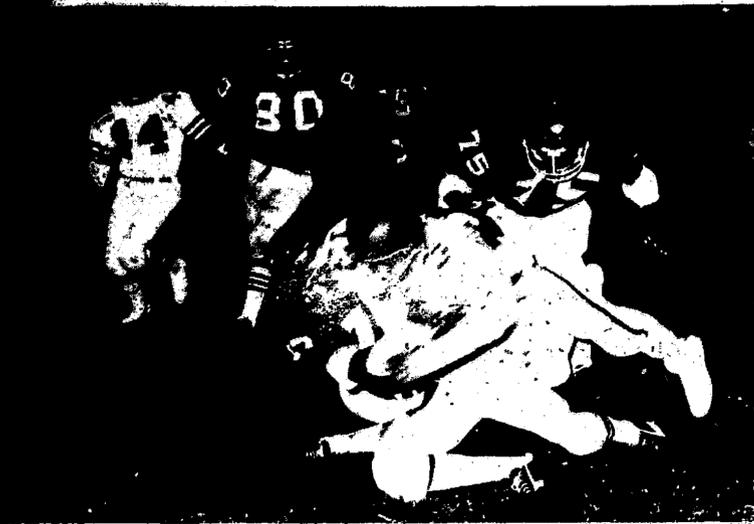

He's the AP reporter assigned to write stories for the national wire. Bob came in with an electronic gadget, which can be described as a keyboard with a television screen.

The words, as he wrote them, appear on the screen. They're fed into an electronic tape relayed by telephone wire to the AP computer in New York and sent out almost instantly to the country. The temperamental gadget is a mote of dust in its craw, and refused to work. Bob reverted to a tiny, red portable typewriter which looked more like a toy. And he wrote excellent pieces; one of which ran with an all-column headline in The New York Times.

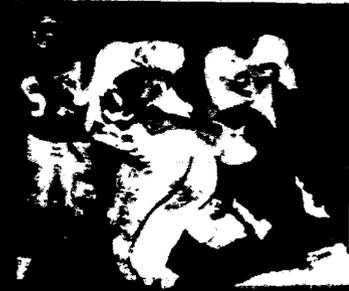

All-American Futurity. I walked into the pressbox, and someone volunteered: "Don't hear the Time Magazine fellow broke his leg. That was Roland Flamini out of the Los Angeles office. Who had stumbled on a stairway at the motel. But he was out for the All-American hobbling about in a wrapped-up foot."

The German photographers also had woes, with a special slow-motion camera in transit. One was stationed in an El Paso phonebooth, calling the track every half hour. Luckily, the camera got through in time. Electrical storm accumulated over the mountains near Ruidoso, but dropped moisture on the track.

The storm took its toll. It scrambled some of the audio and video signals of the race telecast of the big race. The gremlins-outwitted in another case. Daye Taylor, photo chief in Dallas, brought in some hardware to transmit photos. The device rotated its cylinder, glowed its electronic eye, and emitted an impressive beep. It failed, however, to send any pictures. The day was saved by George Brich, another AP photographer in Los Angeles, arrived with a similar device. This one worked to perfection.

Twenty-two takes a tumble in the Friday game in Carrizozo.

Address change will aid delivery

"Every 3rd of the month a few people fail to receive their social security checks. Although there are many reasons for this, one of the most common is the failure of the beneficiary to notify the social security office of his new address," Tim Hassen, social security field representative, said today.

"People getting monthly social security payments should notify the nearest social security office now if they plan to move soon. Prompt notice will help assure delivery of your social security check to your new address without delay or interruption."

"A move can be reported on the change-of-address form printed on the back of the envelope in which the social security check is delivered. Or, you can write, or visit, or call any social security office for this purpose," Hassen said.

Mr. Hassen may be contacted at the County Commissioner's Room in the Court House in Carrizozo on Tuesday, Sept. 16, between the hours of 10 and noon.

Runnels wins again

Lincoln County Pony Express Race winner Benny Runnels got on his horse at Monticello and picked up a more than $1000 purse.

The Sept. 7 Sierra County Pony Express Race covered 20 miles and ended north of T. or C. Benny made the dusty run in 1 hour and 5 minutes to take first place.

The same day, Benny's brother, Robert, made the weekend a big one for the Runnels family by winning $100 calf roping. Benny presented his brother with the saddle won at the 4th of July Lincoln County race. He had won two other saddles in previous White Oaks to Lincoln races.

Sportsman day to be observed

You've never shot a gun, used a bow, or cast a net, the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish explains that National Hunting and Fishing Day, Sept. 27, is for you. Far from being a day devoted exclusively to hunters and anglers, NHF Day is an opportunity for the nonsportsman to observe many of the activities related to these national traditions.

The department is among many groups in the state supporting and endorsing the day's activities.

Open to 15 groups of shooters, fishermen, sportsmen and other related organizations around the state are invited to sponsor some kind of activity, said. These will range from small demonstrations to full-day exhibits and competitions.

Las Alamos Sportsmen's Club will host an open house at their shooting range, featuring trap shooting, archery, and other competitions.

Outdoor skills fairs will be held at Los Alto Park and Winrock shopping center. Representatives will be present from all outdoors and conservation clubs in Lincoln County and activities will run throughout the day.

Little Chama added to public wildlife land

The Nature Conservancy, a national, nonprofit land conservation organization, announced today the purchase of the 20,208-acre Little Chama Valley Ranch from the heirs of the late Edward Sargent. The land is being resold at cost by the Conservancy to the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, which today made its first purchase of one-fourth of the ranch. The remainder will be purchased by the Department over the next three years.

Chama Valley or Edward Sargent Ranch is located in Rio Arriba County and stretches from north of the town of Chama to the Colorado border. Consisting of open grassland, gently rolling foothill brushland and forested mountain slopes, it is a valuable part of the wildlife habitat of northern New Mexico. The broad, fertile valley of the Rio Chamita runs through the ranch from northwest to southeast, providing an ideal migration route for deer and elk. Bears, bobcats, bald and golden eagles, coyotes, grouse, banded pigeons and turkeys are also found on the ranch, along with many other small mammals and birds.

The eastern boundary of the property being purchased by the Conservancy and in turn by the Game and Fish Department includes two and a half miles of frontage on the Chama River. This river, which provides some of the scenery for the Cumbres and Toltec Steam Railroad, supports an abundant fishery of brown, rainbow and native cutthroat trout.

The transaction that took place was made possible through the joint efforts of The Nature Conservancy, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish. 75 per cent of the total purchase price of around $3.8 million is being provided by federal excise tax monies for hunting and fishing licenses, administered by the Fish and Wildlife Service through its Albuquerque office. The State of New Mexico's contribution of the remaining 25 per cent of the purchase price, on a three to one matching basis of federal to state funds, was provided for in legislation signed by Governor Jerry Apodaca this past April.

The Department of Game and Fish is taking over management of the entire ranch under a lease agreement with The Nature Conservancy. The Department plans to develop the area as an integral part of the State's wildlife management program, and to further enhance its high quality big game and fisheries habitat. The ranch is within an area of limited public land and public recreational opportunity.

The Nature Conservancy, a membership organization devoted to the preservation of ecologically and environmentally significant land, began its efforts to preserve the ranch in May of 1974. In January 1975, it negotiated an option to purchase the property from Mrs. Elisabeth Burkart of Denver and Mrs. Virginia Binkley of Chama, New Mexico and her sons Edward S. and Edward L. Binkley III. In the words of Henry P. Little, Western Regional Director of The Nature Conservancy, "The preservation of this land as wildlife habitat was made possible because federal and state governments, a private conservation group and concerned individuals were able to work together effectively. Little Chama Valley Ranch is an important part of Northern New Mexico's magnificent natural heritage, which is now assured of being protected for the benefit of both present and future generations."

second touchdown. Cummins kick was good and the score remained 21-0 as the Tigers substituted freely.

The Tigers kicked-off the second half and forced the Eagles back to their own goal line with tough defensive football. Pat Griego played an outstanding defensive game sacking the hapless Quemado quarterback numerous times. He was Griego and freshman, Danny Chaves, who tackled the Quemado's quarterback behind the goal and scored a two point safety.

The third quarter did not get better for the Eagles as Captains stingy defense and potent offense began to catch fire. Kenny Cummins connected with Kirk Phillips for two more TD passes of 40 and 56 yards. Robbie Richardson scored the final touchdown on a 10 yard sprint.

The fourth quarter saw the Tiger freshmen move the ball well but could not push across a score.

Over-all it was the vicious Tiger defense that set the pace for Captain. With tough hitting they held the Eagles for minus yards rushing and 5 yards passing. The Tigers recovered two fumbles and picked off two passes which set up scores. This tough defense made up of Griego, Ricky Richardson, Robbie Richardson, Bert Shrecengost, Hightower, Rocky Willingham, Granger, Phillips, K. Cummins, David Cummins and Adam Aldez, will face it's toughest test yet as they host Hagerman at 7:30 this Friday.

Mrs. Maggie May Brazel

Mrs. Brazel was born on July 23, 1902 in Oklahoma Territory. She passed away September 9, 1975, in Vancouver, Washington. Funeral services were held in Vancouver in September 13, 1975. Graveside services were held in Tularosa on Sept. 15, 1975 conducted by the Tularosa Chapter of the Eastern Star of which Mrs. Brazel was a former Worthy Matron. Her husband, W.W. (Mack) Brazel preceded her in death.

She is survived by five children, Paul Brazel of Bandon, Oregon, Bessie Schreiber, Vancouver, Jessie Danley, Vancouver, Bill Brazel, Anchorage, Alaska, and Vernon Brazel, ten grandchildren, and five great grandchildren. Paul Brazel, Bessie Schreiber and her husband, Jim, Bill Brazel, and Bessie Danley were all at Tularosa for the services there. Mr. and Mrs. Brazel lived in Carrizozo for several years and then moved to Tularosa in the early 1940s.

driver, presented a comprehensive survey of county roads that were in need of repairs.

The survey had been made by school bus drivers in the area and was adopted by the commission with words of appreciation for the preparation.

Crews were dispatched this week to begin the road work. On the list are the following county roads: EO-31-East 6 miles. Repair Culvert and Gravel; EO-31-Chadwick to 42. Grade; FO15-Between Hays and turnoff on FO18. Gravel; FO15-Between FO 04 and McKnight. Gravel; FO 04-Richards south 2 1/2 miles. Gravel; FO13-Richards east 2 1/2 miles. Gravel; FO 03-North around curve out to FO 04. Gravel; EO 29-Gravel to Walkers; EO 21-Walkers to EO 16. Gravel; EO 23- From 42 to EO 16. Gravel; DO 26-From Antelope tank to HW 10. Gravel; DO 40-from DO 39 to DO 26. Gravel; DO 17-1 1/2 mile each direction from Bond's. Gravel; FO 04-Repair cattle guard second south of Richards. Repair cattle guards on Gallinas and Tecolote crossings.

The commissioners instructed County Manager Les Olson to confer with Torrance County officials on the possibility of cooperation on the maintenance of EO 31, the county line mile on the north boundary.

Corona Mayor Ken Fuller appeared to request action on the appointment of a Corona deputy. Fuller reminded the commission that the north end of the county was without a deputy. He also mentioned dissatisfaction among town people over use of one of the sheriff's department autos. Fuller said that the car had been purchased with LEA funds earmarked for the Corona area but had not been used there.

The commission referred the matter to the sheriff's office.

The commission voted to cooperate with Corona in preparation and use of a sanitary land fill. The town has equipment for compacting and leveling. The county will assist in the preparation of the ditches.

Fire department sets openhouse

The Alto area of Lincoln County has a new multi-purpose building which serves as one of three fire stations for the area, as precinct voting place and as community center for people who want to hold meetings or gatherings of most any kind.

Openhouse will be held at the new building on Sunday, Sept. 28 from one to three. Refreshments will be served. Known as the Sun Valley Fire Station, the new building is the first on right at entrance of Sun Valley.

Bonito Fire Department will host the openhouse. Equipment from three fire stations will be on display. This FD serves an area of 110 sections of land with stations up Bonito Canyon and at Nazarene camp ground as well as the new one.

Officers of the Bonito Fire Department are: John Hall, chief; Neal Chapman, assistant chief; Bob Finley, secretary; George Lore, treasurer; John Von Rosenberg, captain; Kirby Smith, lieutenant.

HERE'S A HUNTING STORY FOR YOU

A man was telling his son what a good shot he was, and probably exaggerated more than he should have. To prove his point, he took the boy out duck hunting with him one day.

Ducks were scarce, but finally a lone bird flew overhead. The father took careful aim and fired. The duck kept right on going.

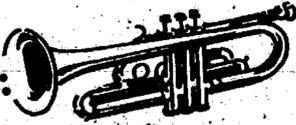

Turning to the boy, the father said: "Son, you've just witnessed a miracle. There flies a dead duck."
