Writers, teachers and speakers have a worry in common. It is that after-the-fact worry... did I write, speak, teach enough or perhaps was it too much. We remember Bill who asked the librarian for a book about frogs. She gave him her fanciest most complete volume on the web-footed, tailless leaping amphibians. One hour the boy was back to return the book. Surprised librarian: "Why Billy, what is the matter?" "Miss Smith, that book told me more about frogs than I wanted to know."

Most writers are by nature verbose and many of the greats made it to literary heaven on the wings of a great editor.

Thomas Wolfe, for instance, left trunks of loose sheets to be arranged into printed books by his publisher. A few exceptional souls are honest enough to be able to write and self-edit. By 'honest' is, in this context, meant an inner awareness that a particular arrangement of words is probably not immortal, and probably contains an excess in quantity and an insufficiency in quality.

Since the same hand is responsible for the writing and editing of Way West, it might be amusing to the reader to take a dark pencil and cross out obviously extra words.

If you manage to change the meaning, you will understand why a number of writers hate editors. An editor's reply to such a criticism would be, "I created a BETTER meaning." If you should lose all meaning by removing a few words or phrases, the professional comment might be, Scrutiny revealed a lack of depth in this writing."

The weather was perfect for the last week of the State Fair. But Saturday night the rains and winds commenced. It is difficult for New Mexicans to complain about rain and one rather damp lady was heard to remark, "I'm not complaining, I just would prefer it would fall on our land tonight."

An obviously non-Western visitor asked, "Do you get much rain in New Mexico?" He was answered by a local cowboy, "Well, you remember reading in the Bible about the time it rained for forty days and forty nights. And the whole earth appeared to be flooded so that Noah had to build an Ark to save the creatures of the world. Well friend, that time New Mexico got about a half inch."

Veda, Stacy and Mitch Stephenson were our delightful and helpful companions at the State Fair. We missed a lot of folks but did manage to visit with some former Lincoln County residents. Our experts at the races were Georgia's Albuquerque family, C.A., Jackie, Debbie and Claudia Branum. Sure we won!

Debbie is a fine looking blond with a degree in animal science from Las Cruces. She works as a ponygirl at Sunland, Ruidoso and of course, the State Fair. (Explanation for dudes: A ponygirl is a highpaid racing horse baby-sitter. She exercises the steeds and walks them to the starting gate.) Claudia is a high spirited blue eyed nine year old, wise in the ways of acquiring extra Midway money. Jackie teaches school and is a specialist in linguistic problems. Just now she heads the instruction program for Vietnamese youngsters. No, she does not speak their language but has some special empathy that allows communication. Jackie has been successful with other non-English speaking groups in the past.

C.A. owns an organic fertilizer business. His product comes from one of the largest deposits in the U.S. and is recovered by strip mining process. It costs less per acre than chemical fertilizers and according to C.A. avoids the nitrogen lock-in problem.

Two land parcels needed State park for Smokey

The State Park and Recreation Commission asked the State Property Control Division to appraise 1.5 acres in 2 parcels for Smokey Bear State Park at Capitan. A bar, set to be converted into a visitors' center, is on one parcel. A railroad depot, set to be renovated and be part of the park, is on the other parcel. Parcels are adjacent to the present Smokey Bear Museum. The state commission will buy the parcels with the bar and railroad depot when appraisals are received. A total of $135,000 is available in state and federal funds for the first phase of the new park.

State Parks Director Sam Graft says the park will be ready for Smokey the Bear in two years. Capitan will operate and maintain the park in the 2-year construction period. Afterward the state commission will manage the park.

The Park and Recreation Commission ordered a staff study of a request by concessionaire Harry Parks at Elephant Butte Lake State Park to establish a floating, mobile commission on the lake. The agency staff will also check Parks' request to charge a spectators' fee to see power boat races from the Elephant Butte Lake marina. Fact or fiction?

County explores land boom and subdivider problems

Less than 1 percent of the private lands in Lincoln County's most developed section have been developed. Less than 12 percent of that 1 percent has been improved to date.

Land prices in Lincoln County appear to have more than doubled in the past two years.

There are more than 285 subdivisions recorded in Lincoln County. This amounts to about one subdivision for every forty people in the county, probably a national record of some sort.

These subdivisions represent a commitment in the future for road maintenance and other city-county services. Will the potential income pay for the projected services?

Are instant rural slums being created? Or, will Lincoln County be able to have a healthy attractive growth?

These are the facts under study by the County Commissioners and these are the questions that must be answered.

There appears to be quite a segment of affluent American that desires to leave the cities. Crime, pollution, inflation combine to make the loss of city conveniences diminish in importance to many families.

New Mexico is one of the least populated states in the Union and Lincoln County has an appealing year round climate to go with its surface beauty.

National publicity of the Ruidoso race track and vacationer's word of mouth have brought annually increasing numbers of home seekers into the area.

Where there are people with money to spend, there are people who have something to spend it on.

It is difficult for the average city apartment dweller to make even initial steps in acquiring a country home. The dream may be there but practical considerations such as size of lot, water, utilities and roads seem to present insurmountable obstacles.

So here comes the land developer, maps in hand and a chart of payment plans for the buy-now-build-later boom.

Just how much improvement the developer-subdivider has provided is a matter of concern to the state, the county and the prospective customer. Recently the federal government, in response to consumer protest, has established a truth in land advertising program which is intended to keep the land salesman who is in interstate commerce honest.

Last year, the state followed up with some rather firm instructions to counties to establish rules for subdividers or to prepare to live with state rules and regulations.

Lincoln County Commissioners formed a county zoning committee and went hard at it. For approximately a year, the county and the subdividers have attempted to arrive at a fair set of land-use rules.

This month, County Manager Les Olson has been updating and amending the subdivision regulations. Last week, the Commission received a report from Ivan Hall of the SENMEDC which was a result of a survey on land use in the "Intensive Development Sector of Lincoln County, New Mexico."

The project was undertaken in an eight township area which included Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan, Alto, Nogal, Angus and Fort Stanton.

The purpose is to provide information for the commissioners "in determining land use management for the area."

In later parts of this report, the News will analyze the report, interview subdividers and attempt to explore the dangers and benefits of land development in the area.

Grizzlies victorious

by Jim Valdez

The Carrizozo Grizzlies once again stepped into the win column with a victory over the Hatch Bears 14-6.

Hatch, a 2A school, showed the Grizzlies a tremendous running attack, but the vicious Grizzly defense, lead by Dickie Portillo, managed to shut off the hard running of Robert Bouvet of the Bears.

It all began when Raymond Beltran hit paydirt after a 60 yard drive by the Grizzlies. The attempt for extra point failed and the score board read Grizzlies 6 Hatch 0.

The Bears came back and tied it up on a seven yard carry by Bouvet. The Bear extra point failed; making the score Grizzlies 6, The Bears 6.

When the second half began, the boys from Carrizozo carried the ball on seven plays.

When the second half began, the boys from Carrizozo carried the ball on a seven play parley.

It was capped off by a play that made Hatch look like they had never played football. After six strong running plays, Coach Henry Paul called an action pass that found Raymond Beltran completely open.

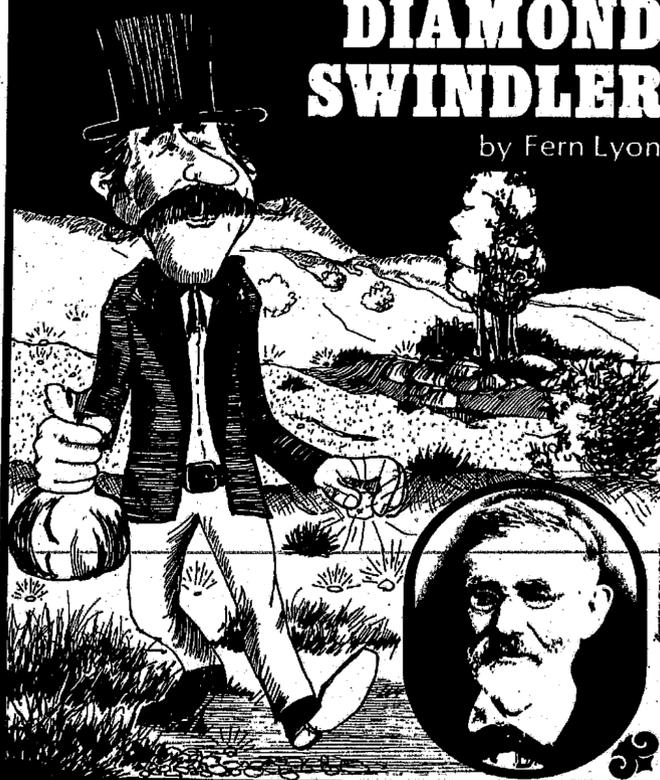

He waltzed into the end zone untouched and the try for extra point was good to make the score the Grizzlies 14 Hatch 6.

From that point, on the strong defense of Portillo, Lindsey, Palomarez, Hernandez, Works, Roper, Edwards and Vallejos kept the Bears out of the ball game completely.

Another congratulations to the boys and the coaches for another fine job.

THE RELUCTANT DIAMOND SWINDLER

by Fern Lyon

Copyright 1975 New Mexico Magazine.
(Ed. Note - Our thanks to New Mexico Magazine and Editor Sheila Tryk for permission to reprint the following article from the October issue.)

Nettie Lemon and Maggie Kelt never could believe that nice old man helped swindle some of the world's greatest financiers — and got away with it. The two White Oaks old-timers knew John Slack well when they were little girls there in the 1890s.

Let's go back and find out how it happened. John Burcham Slack was born in 1820 near Elizabeth town, Kentucky, of a solid old Hardin County family. When the Mexican War was declared in 1846 he enlisted as a private and saw considerable action. He was honorably discharged in June, 1847, went back to Elizabethtown and became town constable.

When the California gold rush started, John joined the rushers as sergeant in a quasi-military outfit called "The California Rangers." His younger cousin, Phil Arnold, joined him in the gold fields.

Cousin Phil was an early wheeler-dealer type and he had some connection with a San Francisco promoter named Asbury Harpending. The two cousins worked for a while at Harpending's hydraulic gold operation in Yuba County, California.

March, 1870, found John and his cousin Phil prospecting for silver in southwestern New Mexico for Harpending. They found pay dirt in the Pyramid Mountains near what is now the ghost town of Shakespeare — it was called Grant then.

Harpending (who later wrote The Great Diamond Hoax, proving his own innocence) and his business associate, George D. Roberts, immediately went to work attracting San Francisco money to the area. For example, they changed the name of Grant to Ralston City to honor William Ralston of the Bank of California. They were successful, as we shall see.

Jackie's Belle Boone comes home first

Belle Boone, a fast two year old filly who calls Carrizozo home, ran first at the State Fair last week. The quarter horse who is owned by Jackie Spencer had previously taken a second at the Fair on Sept. 3.

This year the filly's record looks pretty impressive with 3 wins, 2 places, 1 show and 4 fourths out of ten starts at Ruidoso and Albuquerque.

Belle Boone was born at the Spencer stables in Carrizozo.

Her dam, Honk's Tonto, is owned by the Spencers and her sire is Johnny Boone.

She will be racing this fall at Sunland along with two other Spencer horses. Super Sky Bars is a three year old gelding raised by the Spencers. Also racing under the same colors will be A Go Man Go filly. Sometimes Sweet recently acquired by the Spencers.

Stable trainer is S. Dean Brewer.

Capitan's Fletcher Hall is a working partner with the Spencers in the racing business. He is responsible for the care and early training of the fillies, Jackie says.

Jackpot split four (4) ways

Lincoln County News football jackpot fans were carrying rabbit's feet and other lucky charms around last week. Christine Chavez and Ricky Luna both hit the Zozo 14 and Hatch 6 score, while Manuel Monreal and Margaret Jaramillo guessed the exact right score of the Hagerman-Capitan game ending 38-6 for Hagerman.

Only one fan picked Capitan to win by a 6-0 score while as many fans went for Hatch as for Carrizozo. About a dozen got close to the other game, Nancy Luna, Rita Delgado and Beth Koblock missed one point at 14-7. Arthur Zamora, Benita Otero and Mrs. Ramon Lunda had 10-14-12, Jason Hein 13-12, Max Zamora 13-7, L. Beltran 12-6 and Orlida Luna 13-6.

Contest cards may be mailed from Capitan, Corona or other places in the county, just so they are postmarked Friday before game time. Cards in Carrizozo can be brought to the News office, we have mail drop in the door.

See the football ad for contest games and get your entry cards at any of the business places sponsoring the contest.

Polly's Bulletin Board

Did our grandmothers and great-grandmothers collect herbs, flowers and fruit for their beauty recipes? Do you remember ladies from the past famous for their beauty? Their lovely skin, hair, eyes, etc.? Remember Cleopatra? Marie Antoinette?

They didn't have a corner drugstore or the Avon lady around to get their beauty aids. They kept their oily skin under control by using milk, lemon juice and brandy.

The kids call me the 'Ancient One' so I am starting to read about using and making natural cosmetic preparations.

Did you know that you can make a hand lotion by mixing equal parts of tomato juice, lemon juice and glycerine? I should try that recipe. I just sanded a coat hanger and I didn't even use sand paper. Just my hands!

If you want to be extravagant you can use the yolk of an egg to cleanse your skin. Spread on and rinse off after three minutes. I use this treatment every day. When the baby is fed his soft-boiled egg, I get more egg on me than in him.

When eating oranges do not discard the peel as it contains a lot of precious oil, good for face and body. Scrap off and add to your daily cream or you can rub the peel directly on face. Someone handed the baby half an orange as he sat on the back carrier (on my back) I don't think oranges contain precious oil! They are just plain sticky and how does one get an orange seed out of ones ear?

Everyone knows about the cucumber eye freshener. Place a slice over each eye and relax for ten minutes. Around here, cucumbers are gobbled as soon as they are sliced. Wonder if a dill pickle would work?

Beer is good for the hair and makes a quick and easy setting lotion. Just pour it over your hair after final rinse, then set. I think it would be good to pour in a glass and sit.

A slogan taken from a contest presented by columnist Jack Anderson:

"In 200 years which will be in 1976 we have cleared a wilderness, have become the granary of the world and the arsenal of freedom. We have built churches, schools, colleges, universities, libraries, hospitals, the establishments of homes. Millions of Americans still pay taxes, obey the laws and govern themselves and look forward to a better future. As one who cares for those that are in need, or less fortunate than we, our nation was and still is a land of opportunity to all who wish to be free!"

Bobcats storm by Capitan

The defending Class A State Champions, the Hagerman Bobcats came to Capitan last Friday and destroyed the Tigers hopes of a perfect season by taming the Tigers 38 to 6. With a big line and speed to burn the bobcats ate up the yardage at will.

The game started as Hagerman took the ball and drove 70 yards for their first score. Capitan rallied back moments later when Kenny Cummins broke loose for a 90 yd T.D. run. The score stood 6 to 6 until four minutes before the half when the Bobcats got a break and recovered a bad snap on an attempted punt of Capitan. Taking the ball on the Tiger 20 they pushed over their second T.D.

4 plays later, with a minute and 30 seconds left in the first half, the Bobcats struck again from 30 yds out on a great run by Mario Morales.

The third quarter was frustrating for the Tigers as they moved the ball but couldn't score. The Tiger defense seemed to take control until Hagerman, Capitalizing on a fumble deep in Tiger territory, scored its fourth T.D. with 5 min. left in the game. Their last T.D. came with 55 seconds remaining in the game as the Bobcats took three minutes to drive 60 yds.

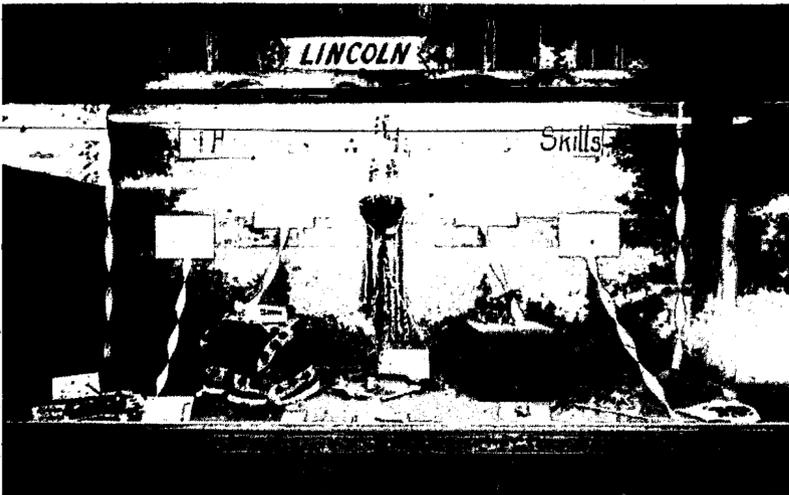

Over all, the Tigers were never out of the ball game until late in the fourth quarter. Although the patient Hagerman offense chewed up over 200 yds on the ground they found the going tough once they entered Tiger territory. The Tigers gained valuable experience in clashing with the seasoned state champs. They seem to be getting better each week. The Tigers hope to end last week's frustrations by knocking off Vaughn this Friday. Game time is 7:30 at Tiger field in Capitan.

Hagerman Bobcats, last year's Class A champs, took the Capitan Tigers by resounding 38 to 6 but left Coach Billy Henson's team uninjured. In a pre-game chat, the coach said a lack of injuries and good experience would probably be the best Capitan hope for against the big Hagerman team. (Action photos by Frank Hoff)

Have you tried spice sniffing? No, it's not a new fad...and you can't get high from it. You ought to do it once or twice a year a specialist says. Your spices may be losing their aroma.

Spice flavor fades slowly, you may wonder why some of your upcoming holiday dishes won't taste the same.

Sniff a year or two year old spice, then compare the aroma with that from a new can. Wow! I have spices in my cupboard that must have come over on the Mayflower!

Life is hard, by the yard;
But by the inch, life's a cinch!

A man wrapped up in himself makes a very small bundle.

The best victory is to conquer self.

Swallowing your pride occasionally will never give you indigestion.

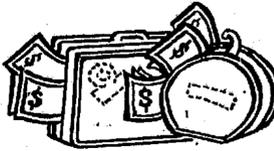

If life gives you lemons, make lemonade.

Speaking of spices? Life is like a fruit cake, you wouldn't have one without a few nuts...

The living is easy — the opportunities are great — in Carrizozo, New Mexico

A few miles from Carrizozo, rainbow and brown trout abound in streams and lakes. The beautiful 'Bonito' Stream is a favorite for fishermen and for picnickers seeking a time of serenity, of oneness with nature. Nogal and Bonito lakes attract their shares of anglers but soon, after a few more frosty nights, the autumn colors will remind travelers of the unequalled artistry of nature.

The Lincoln County Homemaker Lunch box time means planning

by Mary Ellen Payne

LUNCH TIME: If back to school also means packing a lunch for your children keep these things in mind:
 To be a nutritious lunch, at least 2 oz. of protein-rich food should be included. But, the question always is, "What sort of meat, poultry or fish is safe to pack?" The answer of course is "Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold". With lunches packed in the morning and not eaten until noon this is rather difficult. Canned meat and poultry products that can be opened at lunch and eaten immediately are a good bet. Canned Vienna Sausage is ready to eat and the small can provides an adequate single serving. It's also easy to open. Dry meats, or fully cooked products like bologna and hot dogs, keep well too. Soups, stews or chili are good in lunches and can be kept piping hot in a vacuum jug. To help keep cold food cold freeze sandwiches ahead and take them from the freezer just as the child leaves for school. They will be just right by lunch. This saves time and frayed nerves also.
 Sunday afternoon or evening is a good time to prepare and label, with the child's name and the day it's planned for, the sandwiches for the week. This method has worked so well for me with three young children that lunches were handled pretty much by the kids themselves, even when they were in 5th, 4th, and 3rd grades. Just remember to use good food safety rules when preparing lunches as well as regular meals. In September class rooms and lockers are nice warm places for germs to grow.
HEM LINE REMOVAL: If you are letting the hem down in a skirt or pair of pants it can be difficult or downright impossible to remove telltale hem crease. Today's man-made fabrics are softened and creased by heat. About the only way to remove a crease is to use even more heat. The higher temperature can easily glaze or melt the fabric. With care, however, a crease line can often be removed. Work with a dampened press cloth to provide extra steam and protection. Dampen the skirt on the crease line. Work on the wrong side of the garment and protect the fabric with a wet press cloth. Use a slightly higher setting than normal. Pressing on a hard surface will also help because a well-padded board does not give the resistance needed to remove the crease. After working on the wrong side, lower the iron temperature slightly, and press on the right side. Again use a damp press cloth. Hang the garment to dry. Repeat the treatment if the crease still shows. If the hem crease has changed color due to abrasion, fading or soiling, the marking may never come out. Add a row of decorative stitching, braid or other trim to cover it up. Try to also use the trim at the neckline or on another part of the garment. Making clothes last longer is sure a help to a strained budget.

QUICK FOOD STORAGE TIPS:
 Berries and cherries should be covered and refrigerated. Don't wash or stem them before storing and use them within a few days. Refrigerate lettuce and other greens in covered containers or plastic bags. To prevent spoilage, crumple some waxed or plastic wrap in the container's bottom to keep the greens from sitting in water.
 Keep green tomatoes at room temperature away from direct sunlight until they ripen. They may then be stored in the refrigerator for one week.
 Keep potatoes in a well vented dark, dry spot. Light will cause greening, which lowers the eating quality. High temperatures hasten sprouting and shriveling.
"DON'T BLAME THE FARMER: When food prices rise too many people think the farmer is getting rich. It just isn't so. Let's look at wheat in a loaf of bread. A bushel of wheat provides the flour for about 70 one-pound loaves of white bread.

In June 1972, the month before the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union, bread prices averaged 24.7 cents for a one-pound loaf of bread, and the net farm value of the wheat ingredients in a loaf was 2.6 cents. In June this year, bread prices averaged 35.6 cents a loaf, while the net farm value of the wheat ingredients was 3.6 cents. In other words, the farm price of wheat accounted for a one-cent increase in the price of bread since 1972—but bread prices went up 10.9 cents. If the 1972 sale to Russia had accounted for all the increase in what prices since (which it hasn't). It would have added one cent a loaf to bread prices. Bread prices went up 10 times that much.
 It isn't the farmer who is getting fat from a 10.9 cents increase in the loaf of bread.
What is blood pressure?
 Blood pressure is the force that causes blood to travel through the body. The force is generated by the heart.

Tinnie rancher will be missed

George Butts died Wednesday evening at the family ranch near Tinnie and he will be missed by his family and neighbors very much.
 He had lived in New Mex. for 26 years but was born at Big Springs, Texas on Jan. 24, 1928. He was married to Opal Purcella on Dec. 24, 1947.
 He is survived by his wife, Opal, his mother, Alice Butts McInturf of Lovington, three sons, Frank Butts of the home, Harlan Butts of Ruidoso, and Dale Butts of Glendale, Arizona; one daughter, Janet Taylor, of Carrizozo, one grandson a brother, Wayne Butts of Hayden, Colo., a half-brother, John McInturf of Monahans, a sister, Mrs. J.C. Noack of Lovington, and a half-sister, Mrs. George Wash of Denver City, Texas.
 Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hahn of Albuquerque visited her sister, Helen, and husband, Fritz Pfingsten last week.
 Mrs. Helen Pfingsten was quite ill for a few days but is feeling much better now.
 Last week I reported that Mrs. Tony Leyba had an eye operation and by mistake it came out as Mr. Leyba. She appears to be getting along real well. We hope she doesn't need more surgery.

Kate Evans won some more ribbons at the State Fair and she and Albert Booky of Lincoln both have danced with the other Fiesta dancers at Roswell and White Sands.
 Mrs. James (Gwyda) McDaniel lost her father, Mr. W.A. Sterrett who passed away in Roswell last Friday.
 Among Lincolnites who attended the State Fair were the Dunlaps, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ward, Mrs. Mary Mard and the Evans. There may be others from here that were there, too, that I have not heard about yet.
 Work is progressing on a large scale on the nursery being put in at Lincoln.
 It should be quite a good thing for Lincoln.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sirs:
 Mrs. Nettie Lemon, a very dear friend of mine, sent me a copy of your historical edition of the Lincoln County News. I want you to know how very much I have enjoyed reading it. It represents a lot of work and is an excellent job.
 I was disappointed not to find the name of my father, Albert Ziegler, mentioned in the article about Carrizozo. You know, as one of the people born in White Oaks, I feel a keen sense of delayed participation in the historical events that took place there.
 I am enclosing a small check for mailing costs, and will you kindly mail to me three more copies of your bicentennial edition. Thank you very much.
 Sincerely
 Effie Gutkrecht

 Dear Paul: Please see that Mrs. Madden gets this week's paper. As you can see, and maybe know, she and her husband who works in the Lab at the Ruidoso Hospital, and she works for OLCMC four days each week. A very nice person and very efficient and hard working.
 Maybe you and Eleanor, since you were good friends of Jo Elliott would enjoy reading some of the articles I have. He always kept me informed as he received mail at Lincoln of his travels etc. Let me know some time when you could come to visit and I'll try to be at home.
 Sincerely "Hattie"

Fort Stanton and Military Operations in the area - will be discussed by Lee Myers at the Lincoln County Historical Society meeting on Sept. 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Jury Room of the Lincoln Courthouse Museum in old Lincoln town. Lee Myers of Carlsbad has made a study of all the forts in the area and the military operations. He has had articles published in the UNM Historic Quarterly and the American West Magazine. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

 Pinkeye is showing up in some cattle in the area lately. It seems to be in areas with a heavy crop of weeds and in probably a result of the pollen irritation. Spraying cattle to reduce the flies will help to slow down the spread of pinkeye. Pinkeye is caused by many different bacteria or virus. What will control one outbreak will not help in another. The livestock owner has to try several before he can get the right one.

BE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR WEBWORMS:
 The second generation of fall webworms is now starting. Even if the first brood in June or July were controlled, watch the trees closely for this second onslaught. Many shade trees throughout New Mexico are infested each year by fall webworms. These woolly caterpillars, which feed on leaves, make their unsightly webs on poplars, cottonwoods, elms, mulberries, willows, pecans and many other ornamental and fruit trees.
 When the web nest and caterpillars are small, remove them from the trees by cutting a few twigs and leaves. Since the worms don't leave the web until full-grown, be sure to get the entire web. Destroy the worms by stepping on them or by placing them in a garbage can with a tight-fitting lid. A general garden spray, as well as carbaryl, diazinon and naled insecticides, will control the worms. Check all broad-leaved trees closely at least once a week during the summer. Spray the entire tree about 10 days after the first web forms. If the webs are already covering several leaves, spray immediately. "Fall Webworms and How to Control them" Extension Circular 439 is available at county Extension offices.

A Bowl of Activities

by Roby Burke

A BOWL OF HEALTH
Danger! To Children.

Whether the child is hyperactive or slow or normal there is no natural body defense against the synthetic food additives, states Dr. Ben F. Feingold, who is a San Francisco allergist. His new book is very revealing.

He believes that children are not necessarily allergic to so many foods but instead are only allergic to the additives in foods. The chemicals are chiefly the coloring and flavoring additives which are ever present in processed foods.

Teachers refer to their children as fidgety, irritable, unhappy, unable to focus attention, unnatural muscular nervous movements, failure and frustration, clumsy and forgetful. These children need a better diet. Dr. Feingold worked out a diet called K.P. diet which he uses with remarkable success. The diet simply outlaws all food containing synthetic coloring and coloring agents and all processed foods. Dr. Feingold suggests that you check your children's diets more carefully and buy more pure foods and less processed foods.

A BIG HANDFUL OF HEALTH QUESTIONS!

1. Will Vitamins retain their potency for a year or more?
A. It depends mostly on where you keep them. After the seal is broken they should be kept in the refrigerator.
2. I have heard that peanuts should not be eaten raw, is this true?
A. No, peanuts are better for you raw if you haven't a digestive problem. Raw peanuts have more nutrients.
3. Is aspirin a good anticouagulant?
A. Yes, aspirin is pretty good but a better one is to take Vitamin E for a long time.
4. Are citrus fruits harmful to a person with arthritis?
A. Yes, it's best not to eat too many citrus fruits.

Blind youth SSI eligible

"Blind and disabled children, regardless of their age, may be entitled to supplemental security income (SSI) benefits. This is true if their disability is so severe as to keep them from being able to work for a year or more, and their income and resources fall within certain limits," Tim Hassen, social security field representative, said.

"Even through a child has no work credit under social security, he may qualify for SSI benefits if he is statutorily blind, or if medical evidence proves that even if he were an adult he would be unable to work for a year or more.

"The child's income must be less than $177.70 if he live alone or is under 18. His resources must be no more than $1,500. However, his possession of a home, car, and life insurance of reasonable value would not disqualify him," Hassen explained.

Missile firings set for October

A four round series of Pershing missile firings has been scheduled next month from McGregor Range, northeast of Ft. Bliss, U.S. Army officials announced.

The Model 1-A Pershings will be launched by units of the Federal Republic of Germany Air Force. They will be programmed to impact on ground targets in the northern part of White Sands Missile Range.

The firings are scheduled early in the morning - before daylight - on Oct. 7 and Oct. 21, with two rounds to be fired each day. The preparation and firing operations are conducted under simulated tactical conditions for training purposes and as service practice for the participating units.

The German units are deployed in Europe as part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) defense forces.

Support will be provided by the 3rd Battalion, 9th Field Artillery, a U.S. Army Pershing unit from Ft. Sill, Okla. Traveling in a convoy from Ft. Sill, the 3rd Battalion is scheduled to arrive at McGregor Range Camp Friday.

Scoring the firing units will be a team from another Ft. Sill organization, the U.S. Army Field Artillery Missile Systems Evaluation Group.

Technical supervision will be provided by a field crew from the U.S. Army Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Ala. Other participants will represent Picatinny Arsenal, N.J., and the major elements of White Sands Missile Range led by Army Missile Test and Evaluation Directorate and National Range Operations Directorate.

Most powerful of the artillery missile systems in use today by troop units of the Western allies, the two-stage Pershing has a range of up to 400 miles. It has been operational since 1963, although the missile and its ground support equipment have undergone a number of modifications to improve the system's mobility, accuracy and reliability.

More than 300 Pershing rounds have been fired since testing began in Florida in 1960. More than 200 of these have been fired onto White Sands from off-range launch sites in Utah and New Mexico. The WSMR off-range firing program began in 1963.

U.S. and NATO units in Europe are equipped with Pershings, which replaced the Redstone artillery missile system. Prime contractor for Pershing production is the Martin Marietta Aerospace Corp., Orlando, Fla. The solid propellant motors were developed by the Thiokol Chemical Corp.

The Pershing employs an inertial guidance system. Weighing 10,000 pounds at launch, the missile is 35 feet long and 40 inches in diameter. It can operate in any weather conditions and may be armed with a nuclear warhead. However, live warheads are not used in test and development, product improvement and service practice firing programs.

What causes high blood pressure?
90 percent of the time we don't know the answer. Some factors which may affect the development of High Blood include: Age; It often develops between the ages of 35-50 years. Ethnic group; It is twice as likely to occur in Blacks as Whites. Family history; If you have relatives who have it, you are more likely to.

In the crowd of melodrama watcher find Debbie Gallacher, Matt Ferguson, Lynn and Gray Gallacher.

This is what the youngsters saw on stage.

Gary Joe Lovelace had the Champion Rambouillet ewe.

Every hour on the hour, Sheep Shearer, Richard Gustamonte, performed for the crowd.

Resplendent in silks and rhinestones, Fern Sawyer presented the flag, then returned to work the rodeo.

Eleanor Jones shows a Gnatkowski raised and woven poncho to Claire Wilson.

Lincoln County News, Sept. 25, 1975, Page 9

It was another beautiful New Mexico Day and the only thing missing to make the whole scene straight out of the movie "State Fair" was William Holden.

The News followed several Lincoln County families around the fair. We ate cotton candy rode on the Octopus (whee) and waved at our Fern Sawyer as she led the Rodeo parade every night.

We spent a lot of time visiting with the Gnatkowski's and Jones' at the sheep to shawl booth - a big Fair attraction.

We visited with Lincoln County winners: Tina Proctor with her third place winner, Duroc Swine (She made the sale and sold to Safeway for $2.25), Gary Joe Lovelace, Roby and Dale McDaniel.

We tasted Japanese food and had a glass of free milk. We watched the Indians dance and saw a free melodrama.

Mary Jane Ferguson, Lynn Gallacher and Stacy Stephenson brave the thrill of the Octopus.

Bob Wolfe, we think you are great, but never, never has there been such fiddling as Doug Kershaw did Friday night at the rodeo. For the first time, it was understandable why the fiddle is called the 'devil's instrument'. You would follow that music anywhere.

We spent an afternoon at the races but missed the day that Jackie's Belle Bonne' won.

The arts and crafts exhibits were marvelous. The talent and hours that went into those examples of New Mexico creativity is almost unbelievable.

Finally we rested our tired feet at the Horseman's and had a cup of coffee with Lois Hindi. She was dressed in a gorgeous red velvet and lace gown that had just won the blue ribbon in the Bi-Centennial dress competition. She is the wife of Shawkeet Hindi who is one of the Corona Hindus. He is with Sandia Labs now and the couple have four children.

Roby won Junior Jersey Champion and third place showmanship medal.

Sheep to Shawl--Jacqui Binford dyes wool.

All of which brought to mind a story about a rancher who sold his land for a big price, and moved to town. Naturally, with all of that loose cash, he became one of the most popular fellows around. In fact, after a few years he was elected mayor. Not having to work anymore, he was a real active, conscientious kind of public servant. One day, he was inspecting the lawn outside town hall and remarked to the town secretary, "This grass could use a load of manure."

The young lady reported the fact to the clerk remarking that someone should tell the mayor to use the word "fertilizer" in polite society. The clerk, who had been around for a while said, "Let's leave well enough alone. It's taken his wife twelve years to get him to say manure."

 A letter from daughter Lucy at the University of Texas arrived damp, ink smeared and marked "Damaged By Water". We can't help but wonder how an AIRMAIL letter was water damaged. Must have been a leaky plane caught in a cloud burst. Lucy writes that the students and faculty are up in arms over the appointment of a university president without their advice and consent. She ends her letter with a slogan "Power to the People." There are those of us, who tend to be a little leary, as we grow older, of any slogans. "Merry Christmas," "Happy Birthday" and "Good Luck" are about as far as we can go without looking for a hidden motive. Even "Peace on Earth" has been known to be used to call for a certain kind of peace not necessarily of universal concern.

We are delighted though, to hear that our two students are concerned about the quality of their education. Since the newly appointed president is a woman, they may have a little Fem Lib backlash. A generation ago, when the University of Texas had a student body of less than 10,000 as compared to today's 40,000, we were painting signs, writing letters to the editor and parading in front of the legislature demanding the removal of one president and the reinstatement of another.

It is important that, as we approach our nation's 200th birthday, we remember the power and importance of opinion. We of the press hope that letters to the editor, to congress, to councils, commissioners, trustees and all persons in positions of public trust are used to protest and to applaud. The final place of protest, dear students and fellow citizens, is the ballot box.

...Diamonds

John Slack handled building and real estate affairs at Ralston City for Harpending and Roberts' Pyramid Mountain of Silver Mining Co., which does sound a little phony, doesn't it? Cousin Phil was superintendent of the mines. The two cousins must have been civic minded citizens and good Kentucky-style Democrats for they wrote this letter to the editor of the Tucson Arizona:

Ralston City, N.M.
 October 19, 1870

Mr. Sooner
 Editor, Arizona, Tucson,
 Dear Sir: having noticed that many of your Republican subscribers have withdrawn their support from your paper in consequence of your manliness in expressing Honest Sentiments, we the undersigned enclose you $30, and request that you forward your paper to us at this place, until requested to change our address.

Very respectfully,
 J.B. Slack
 P. Arnold
 (Three others)

That last phrase is a clue for what came later. About this time George D. Roberts bought Cousin Phil's share of the mines for $25,000.

The Arizona reported that Harpending, on his way east to buy machinery for the mines, stopped in Ralston City. With him were several distinguished guests including a diamond-drill salesman named James B. Cooper. Cooper stayed on in Ralston City.

On November 19, 1870, the Tucson Arizona Citizen carried this item of special interest to us: During the week, Messrs J.B. Cooper and P. Arnold, resting here a few days on their way to San Francisco, called on us...

They...bring specimens of crystals which they believe to be diamonds and which were found at the mines. Mr. Cooper appears to be a man of judgment in this respect and he is sanguine that they are genuine by comparison of tests made of those found with some Brazilian gems in his possession...

No mention is made of John Slack, but he kept to the background in what followed. Perhaps he was wrestling with his conscience in Tucson. I think he must have been along because of the stories of what happened next. These stories vary but John Slack figures in most of them.

The most popular version is that two old prospectors, John Slack and Phil Arnold, appeared at the Bank of California in San Francisco and inquired about a safe place for a buckskin bag they had. William Ralston, this story goes, persuaded them to open the bag and diamonds poured out of it.

On the other hand, Cousin Phil, who had a weakness for talking to newspaper reporters, was quoted later in the San Francisco Evening Bulletin as saying he and John Slack first called on George D. Roberts, and

...Roberts was very much elated by our discovery and promised Slack and myself to keep it a profound secret until we could explore the country further...

Roberts' own version was that he immediately wrote to Harpending (in London promoting The Pyramid Mountain of Silver Mining Co.) that Ralston was talking about the diamonds and added that he thought there was "something in it."

Harpending, in his book, says he got a cable in London from William Ralston urging him to hurry back to San Francisco to get in on a great diamond discovery. He makes no mention of hearing from Roberts, but says he was suspicious of the diamond-news-and-reluctant-to-leave his "great affairs." He adds that he returned only after the famous British financier, Baron Rothschild, advised him that:

America is a very large country. It has furnished the world with many surprises already. Perhaps it may have others in store. At any rate if you find cause to change your opinion, kindly let me know. (Oh, Baron Rothschild, bite your tongue!) I think Roberts and Harpending used Cooper to get diamonds to Ralston City, then dropped him. I think they sent the cousins to the bank with the diamonds as a lure for Ralston and his rich segregated funds to a flat general fund appropriation.

Under the proposal, Echols said, "some future legislature might decide to be vindictive and hamstring the SHD." Contrariwise, the legislature might vote more general fund money than earmarked taxes generate. "I'm not convinced the legislature should adopt the change," Echols says. He says a simpler answer to the SHD money problem "would be to take the SHD out of the constitution by a constitutional amendment and convert it into a State Transportation Department."

He said: "The transportation commissioners would be answerable to the governor and would not be locked in like highway commissioners."

The Legislative Environmental Health Study Committee met in Santa Fe. Rep. Fred Luna, D-Los Lunas, is chairman. Rep. Bobby Duran, D-Taos, is a member.

A New Mexico Municipal League proposal for another one-fourth per cent of city gross receipts tax authority received a cool reception from legislators. Echols says: "We either have to do that or restructure the whole tax system." Echols predicted New Mexico state severance taxes will be increased within two years.

Rep. Colin McMillan, D-DeBaca-Chaves, favors handing cities power to levy another one-fourth per cent of gross receipts tax only if the added .25 of one per cent is deducted from the state's 4 per cent tax.

Rep. McMillan, Sen. Ray Leger, D-DeBaca-Guadalupe-San Miguel, and Rep. John Bigbee, R-DeBaca-Lincoln-Torrance-Guadalupe, are pushing for the state to sponsor restoration of the Maxwell House at Fort Sumner, headquarters of the historic Maxwell holdings that once spanned much of Eastern and Northeastern New Mexico. McMillan talked Friday with State Planning Office staffers on the project. He is cooperating with President Dick Davidson and Manager Chuck Holder of Fort Sumner Chamber of Commerce in the effort. He says Maxwell House was designated in 1974 as an official historic site.

The Legislative School Study Committee endorsed a rewritten school nepotism law that would allow an Ojo Caliente School District teacher with 28 years of service to remain in his job. Repp. Bigbee and Rey Medina, D-Taos-Rio Arriba, both LSSC members, back the bill. The bill says a school employe hired before a first degree relative is elected to a local school board can keep his job. The board member relative can be reelected and the employe relative can stay in his job as long as the board member's service is continuous.

Sen. John Morrow, D-Unjon-Coffax-Harding-San Miguel, said propane gas, crucial to New Mexico rural areas, may be in short supply this winter because of natural gas shortages in other U.S. areas increasing propane demand. A Capulin rancher, Morrow said propane prices are still rising. The current rate in his district is 28 cents a gallon, he said.

Rep. Dan Berry, D-Eunie, said disclosure of contributors to political campaigns "could be difficult in a small town because of personal friendships." Berry said: "I see this as a big deterrent to getting campaign contributions." Berry is on the Election Review Committee that spent three days last week in Santa Fe on campaign reform legislation. State Democratic Chairman Ben Alexander of Hobbs told the committee: "State campaign reporting laws have been violated. Some way should be found to enforce reporting laws." Alexander favors disclosure of contributions.

The SHD held a public hearing Tuesday (Sept. 23) at DesMoines, Unjon County, on a proposed 6.7 mile construction project on US-64-87 southeast of DesMoines. The stretch is narrow, hazardous and rough now. Rep. Hoyt Pattison, R-Curry-Lea-Roosevelt, strongly opposes the State Property Tax Department's position that lessees of leasehold interests on tax-exempt property—city, county, state, federal and others—are subject to property tax. This includes state and federal grazing and mineral leases. Pattison is an agricultural engineer. Pattison called the SPTD's stand "an administrative nightmare for the department, lessees, the State Land Office, county assessors and county treasurers."

Assessing Lincoln County rancher Joe Skeen's 1975 U.S. Senate prospectus, Pattison said: "I should think he would run if enough support is generated." A Republican, Skeen was shaded narrowly in 1974 by Apodaca.

Cheerleaders hold sale

The ninth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades went to Popejoy Hall in Albuquerque to see Romeo and Juliet on Sunday, Sept. 21, 1975. Mr. Graham, Mrs. Brown, Mr. Warfield, Miss Henley, and Mrs. Donahue were the accompanying sponsors for this trip.

The Corona Cheerleaders had a bake sale on Friday, Sept. 20. On Saturday, they had a money-making project of hauling trash. They did very well and made $66.00. If anyone needs their trash hauled off to the dump, please contact the cheerleaders, or call the school at 846-1911.

Corona football team will play Roy on Friday, Sept. 26, there at 7:30.

There will be a talent show held on Oct. 17, 1975. Entry fee is $2.00, and the grand prize for the best entry will be $10.00. It is sponsored by the Annual Staff.
