And more than enough to drink Water, water everywhere

VOLUME 70, NUMBER 24 THURSDAY, JUNE 10, 1976 P.O. DRAWER 459 CARRIZOZO, N.M. 88301

Stolen cattle warrant issued

A warrant for the arrest of Sam Stoneman, an inspector for the New Mexico Livestock Board, has been issued in connection with the sale of cattle stolen in Lincoln County.

An intensive investigation by the Lincoln County Sheriff's department, Lincoln County Inspector Butch Allen and local ranchers had resulted charges being filed against the former Lincoln County resident.

Rancher Don Dose's report of 13 missing cows and calves set the investigation under way. Inspectors Butch Allen, Clark Foster and Deputy Dennis Cleever with the aid of Lincoln County ranchers, for about one month have traced tire tracks from a pickup and a goose-necked trailer on north Lincoln County ranches. Evidence of the use of loading pens by persons other than the owners, cut and mended fences, and the tracks indicated the presence of rustlers on ranches owned by Dose, Lee Straley, Demmitt Bond and other Ancho area ranchers.

These buildings located on Rail Road Street in Carrizozo don't look restorable and certainly are capable of being the site of a tragedy. The roof of the building on one end of the street has fallen in and the flooring is an invitation to disaster. Called the "old ice house", the basement is deep enough to get lost in. An adventuresome child could be lost there forever. The burned out shell of an old gas pump station is another example of a building that constitutes potential menace and has no restorable value, in the opinion of the NEWS. In a town on the go, these buildings should be next to go.

Looking up is the vacant lot with a large old tree located next to Central Welding's shop. Ben Stuteville and Gary Lindsay get some heavy duty help in moving junk from what is a friendly, familiar spot to many Carrizozo old timers. It might be Dutch Cox's way of saying Happy Birthday, U.S.A.

Implication of the Albuquerque based cattle inspector came with the location Saturday of four cows and four calves owned by Phil Harvey, of the Harvey Cattle Company at an Albuquerque auction company. The animals were being sold by Sam Stoneman, according to Garner.

Garner said that the 13 cows and an uncertain number of calves owned by Dose had either been located at auction companies or accounted for.

Also located was one cow belonging to the Gallacher ranch. Still unaccounted for are cattle including two pair reported missing by A. W. Gnatkowski.

Ranchers in the sparsely populated area are attempting to account for their animals. Several have reported losses over a three year period.

Garner said that the involvement of one of his inspectors in the sale of stolen cattle came as a shock. "We have not completed our investigation and it is probably that other charges will be filed," he said.

Evidently only small numbers of animals have been taken from any one ranch at any one time, according to Garner and local ranchers. It was only when a comparatively large number was missed by Dose who operates a small ranch that the intense investigation began.

Tracks around loading pens on the Bond ranch and a broken lock indicated the presence of the pickup and trailer in the area. Other tracks were found in pastures owned by Lee Straley.

The warrant for the arrest of Stoneman covers only the sale of stolen animals from the Harvey Cattle Company, according to Garner. Bond has been set at $1500 but the whereabouts of the brand inspector are unknown.

The sale of stolen livestock is a felony carrying a penalty of 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary. "I feel very bad about an inspector being involved in this," Garner said. "It makes it worse since an inspector has all the necessary papers and equipment for such an operation. I regret the loss to the ranchers and we will do everything possible to complete this investigation."

The Lincoln County Fair Board is sponsoring a horsemanship-personality clinic for all Lincoln County girls planning to enter the annual queen contest held during the Smokey the Bear Stampede July 2, 3 and 4. The clinic is open not only to queen contestants but to all girls who might like to run in future years.

The clinic is slated for June 19, at the Capitan Fair Building, and will begin at 1 p.m. It is not mandatory that this year's queen contestants attend, however the clinic should be very helpful to those attending.

All queen contestants for this year are asked to bring a dress for the personality portion of the clinic and their horses and hats. Other girls attending may bring their horses and a dress if they wish to.

This year's local queen contest is patterned after the State Fair queen contest and will consist of two sections. The personality portion of the contest will be in the large room of the fair building June 3, at 2 p.m. Queen contestants will be in dresses and will answer several current questions before an audience.

The riding section of the contest will immediately follow the personality portion and will be in the arena. Each contestant will ride through a predetermined pattern designed to show the girl's horsemanship abilities. In addition each contestant is allowed three minutes of freestyle riding time in which she can further demonstrate her horsemanship abilities.

A seventy three page looseleaf booklet may turn out to be the most important document in the history of Lincoln and Otero Counties.

It has all the hidden elements a science fiction adventure and a western dream.

It is a scholarly, scientific study of the southwest's most urgent and enduring problem, water, and it may prove to be the best money Lincoln County, the town of Carrizozo and the village of Tularosa ever spent.

The report, presented to the Lincoln County Commissioners last week, is entitled "Studies, Research, Field Work and Planning for Water Conservation, Water Management and Water Quality Improvement in the Lincoln County Part of the East Tularosa Basin."

Behind the report is Dr. Ernst A. Steinhoff of the New Mexico Research Institute in Alamogordo.

Dr. Steinhoff is one of the foremost authorities on water problems in the United States.

County manager Les Olson said he had asked for on that and on tort claims insurance but that it had not been received.

"Assistant District Attorney Pat Kennedy said that he gives criminal problems top priority. Basically the D.A.'s office considers county business a low priority," he said.

Payne said that he strongly objected to this attitude. "He is our attorney and it is not right that we should have to hire a lawyer to do our work when his duty is to serve as the county's attorney."

Asked for a statement by the NEWS, Doughty said that this criticism came as a complete surprise. "I don't consider the county's business as a low priority item," he said.

The commissioners were unable to certify the primary election result because of a 251 vote discrepancy in the total in the District Judge race.

Evidently 251 more votes were cast in the race than there were actual voters because of a missetting of the machines. It was possible for a voter to cast a vote for one candidate in each of the two columns of candidates on the machine.

Candidate Billy Payne carried the Lincoln County vote 851 to 468 over Alamogordo candidate Richard Stanley but lost overall by 1851 to 1586.

The matter is now being considered by the New Mexico Attorney General. According to District Attorney Doughty, the contesting of an election is usually the duty of the candidate involved. Payne said that he would not make a final decision until the attorney general had made a ruling in the matter.

In the mean time, the county commissioners had been advised to hold certification of the election—until—advised—otherwise—Doughty, Tuesday said, the commission could canvass and certify in all races other than the judges race and report all results to the Secretary of State.

The Commissioner worked Friday and Wednesday to get the budget in shape for the public hearing this Friday.

The Carrizozo Board of Trustees may have a long meeting Monday night when complaints about the town's law enforcement comes up on the agenda.

A special meeting Friday at 3 p.m. to consider the budget in the presence of state local government financial officials will probably take less time.

The trustees have received complaints of abuse behavior on the part of new members of the force. A special meeting to discuss the problem was held several weeks ago but evidently the matter was not resolved.

The trustees will also hear the resignation of plant manager Johnny Johnson who leaves the city job Friday. Johnson will become purchasing agent for Ebeling Manufacturing Company in Plainview, Texas. The company manufactures the garbage collection equipment recently installed in Carrizozo. Johnson says he will report to his new job by the first of next month. He has worked for the city more than three years and has lived in the area since 1960.

Doughty hears county gripe

District Attorney Bob Doughty and the Lincoln County Commissioners are working on an improvement in their attorney-client relations.

At last Friday's meeting of the commission, Commissioners R. C. Nunez and Bud Payne declined to give a final approval to an ordinance granting use of the right of way along county road to Continental Telephone Company.

The Commissioners had requested an opinion from the District Attorney's office on the measure.

County manager Les Olson said he had asked for on that and on tort claims insurance but that it had not been received.

"Assistant District Attorney Pat Kennedy said that he gives criminal problems top priority. Basically the D.A.'s office considers county business a low priority," he said.

Payne said that he strongly objected to this attitude. "He is our attorney and it is not right that we should have to hire a lawyer to do our work when his duty is to serve as the county's attorney."

Fair queen clinic slated

For the riding portion all contestants will be attired in levis, white shirt, boots, and hat of choice. Contestants will be judge 60 percent on horsemanship and 40 percent on personality.

The Lincoln County Fair Queen contest is open to all single girls age 16 through 21 who attended a Lincoln County High School. There is a $10.00 entry fee for each contestant with the entry money going to the winning contestant. The fair queen will represent Lincoln County at the State Fair Queen Contest in Albuquerque during September.

The selected queen is expected to be present for the grand entry at each of the three performances of the Smokey the Bear Stampede and the rodeo parade held the morning of July 4. She is also expected to compete in at least one event of the Lincoln County Fair Rodeo held during the County Fair in August.

A poem by Carrizozo High School student Esther Miller was selected for inclusion in the 1976 booklet of the 15th annual Southwest High School Creative Writing Awards.

Miss Miller received honorable mention for her poem "Reflections of Myself."

The contest is sponsored by New Mexico State University's Creative Writing Center and is designed to stimulate creative writing by high school students and give promising young writers printed recognition, according to Dr. Tom Erhard of the center. Entries were from New Mexico, Arizona, southwest Texas, southern Colorado, southern Utah, southern Nevada, and southeastern California.

This year's contest drew 1,118 entries from six states, an all-time record participation, Erhard said. Free copies of the booklet were sent to 550 high schools in six southwestern states.

Father Joe Sys celebrated 35 years of service as a priest with a special mass at St. Rita's Catholic Church Monday: Father Joe is working with members of his parish to rebuild a religious education program this year in Lincoln County.

Along came the machines. You had to vote for a candidate. Most of the time, you feel like its choosing the lesser of two (or more) evils unless you have a relative running.

Anyway, how is a person to know if the machine really works?

As Lincoln County discovered this election, the machines sometimes don't work. Barbara Lovelace, our pretty county clerk, looks a bit unhappy about it all and reminds us that this is the first time in Lincoln County that there has been a serious mistake.

We really did it up right the last time. When the returns were so late arriving from Ruidoso. I jokingly (?) said to a fellow ex-Tex, I wonder if we are going to have a Box 13 missing somewhere on Indian Divide.

For those who don't remember how Lyndon Johnson became the U.S. Senator from Texas, this bit of history: Lyndon was running against Coke Stevenson, a former governor, for the senate. Boy, was it ever a tight race and when the Texas election bureau closed on election night, they were neck in neck with Coke in the lead.

Some time later, considerably later, in drifted Box 13 from Duval County, then and for a long time under the tight control of the Duke of Duval, George Parr, giving an overwhelming percentage votes and earning him the title of Landslide Lyndon. Ah, the midnight tales that are told in Texas about the history of Box 13.

We didn't have a Box 13 but we did have a problem in Precinct 14 where the paper that records the machine votes had been put in backwards. Barbara had quite a job unscrambling that printout.

But the real big booboo was yet to come to light.

Somehow, in setting the machines, in the district judge race it was possible to vote for two candidates instead of one. And since the names were in two lines instead of one, an uninformed voter could easily make that mistake. And 281 did. There were 251 more votes cast in the judge race than there were total voters who appeared at the polls.

In this case, the outcome of the election was not affected but the solution of certifying a correct count in the election is still unresolved at this writing.

Sister Edith Dominguez will be serving the St. Rita's parish this summer as a youth counselor and educator. An automobile of some type is badly needed for Sister Edith's transportation around the county. Anyone with an extra automobile to lend or give to St. Rita's for this important youth work would receive the gratitude of the whole congregation.

 THE WAY OF THE...
 by Mary Rich

There was wide spread dissatisfaction in Texas when voting machines replaced the paper ballot. It changed the whole voting atmosphere.

In those days no one expected much out of politicians. The speeches during campaigning were intended to be entertaining and demonstrative of forensic ability. Before television and instant communication, it was permissible to make campaign promises to fit the voters' need. In the event there was a conflict, from town to town, the election was usually over before anyone got around to comparing notes.

If a politician stretched the truth to fit the situation, well, it didn't make much difference. His opponent had already called him four different kinds of a liar and thief from every stump that had a voter nearby.

As the net result of this, when a voter got dissatisfied with an elected official, he was genuinely dissatisfied—plain mad and disgusted. Memories were a little longer too in those days when there was a lot less general information to clutter up the mind.

You didn't have to remember telephone numbers. Central always handled that chore. Zip codes were unheard of—I don't think the zipper was even a part of life then. And social security was so new that it wouldn't even be mentioned in polite society for fear someone would think you were talking about a disease.

With all that clutter not necessary for survival, people could afford to remember the important things. If a fellow had cheated your grandpa in a horse trade, you knew better than to vote for his grandson for sheriff. If a candidate's uncle had been a drinker, you were certain that blood line would be risky in the legislature—where the temptations were already enough to assure the downfall of any average man.

So, come election time, a voter might not know just who he was for but he sure did know who to be against.

In the days I'm talking about the paper ballot was an exercise in expressing disapproval. You got to cross through, with a big black line, each and every person in every race that you were against.

If there were four candidates running for office you started with the one you had a personal score to settle with. A big black line through that scoundrel's name. Ha!

Next, consider the public good. A black line through old sticky fingers name.

That third fellow wasn't so bad but it seems like you had heard something about his wife's cousin over in the next county being mixed up with Darwinism on one side or the other. No use taking a chance on that spreading over the county line. So a black line through that name.

Leaving one last name on the ballot. Well, you knew he wasn't any account but his wife was a fine woman who kept the kids in shoes by taking in laundry. And it wasn't as if you were really voting for him—you just weren't voting agin him.

In those days a voter could leave the polls with a real sense of satisfaction.

And doesn't have a cent to show for it!

And Eddy is just a minimum wage earner. Earning far below what the people in Ruidoso earn.

But, let's take Eddy's modest income of $4,784 a year. If, over the last ten years, he had put only $30 a month into a Ruidoso State Bank Savings Account he would now have $4673.92 in savings. That's something to think about.

Eddy's no different than you or I. Saving is something we put off, because it's more fun to spend. That's why it's so important to put a little away each month. So you'll have something there when the important things come along.

1. Your money earns 5% INTEREST on all Passbook Savings Accounts . . . the highest amount allowed by law.
2. Your interest is computed daily . . . which means your interest earns interest on top of interest on top of interest.
3. Your interest is paid quarterly.
4. If you don't get around to depositing your money until the 10th of the month . . . Your interest will be computed as if you deposited it on the 1st.
5. You can make two withdrawals a month Free of service charges.

And the place to watch your money grow is at the Ruidoso State Bank . . . where you get the most for your savings dollar . . . with the "Incomparable Five Savings Plan"

ANYWAY YOU LOOK AT IT... by Paul

Traveling up US54 into Kansas a hundred miles or so you go by a small community with less people than Nogal - this is their Bicentennial program - Hay rack ride, flag ceremony and patriotic skit, old fashioned worship service, basket dinner, recreational activities including horsehoe pitch, volleyball, softball, games and races for children. Name of the place is Kingsdown in Ford County.

Some of you old poker players may not have read about the Seventh Annual World Series of Poker in May. The game they play is called 'hold 'em'. Two cards down, bets made, three cards face up in center, more bets, then the sixth and seventh cards face up with bets after each. The last bet made in the recent World Series was for $80,000, this after the sixth card and the guy had a winner at the time. The seventh card left him second best and party named Texas Dolly the winner of $220,000 after 57 hours of poker. Comment of the writer was that all it takes to play hold 'em is a gunfighter's nerve, endurance of a cattle drover and a drunken cowboy's respect for money on Saturday night.

was in Monday. Was working his mining properties in Bonito Canyon area Sunday where they had a dinger of a rain. Us Zozo folks did good on that date too.

From New Mexico petroleum facts '76 - first discovery of gas in commercial supply was near Aztec in 1921. First of oil was in San Juna Basin in 1922. Deepest hole to date was 22,926 in Lea County in 1968, a dry hole. Average cost per well in 1975, $182,000 for dry holes, $141,000 for oil wells, $202,000 for gas wells.

You can go where the people are, up in the Bonito area, or you can go where the country is even more beautiful and the people aren't, up above White Oaks and around through the Jicarillas. Bud Arendt said they'd had a 1-1/2 inch rain and a 3 inch rain, all that before last weekend. That part of Lincoln County is beautiful in a way we don't remember.

If you "go whole hog," you go all the way - this saying dates back to 13th century England - a time when young sheep were called hogs. When times were good and wool was plentiful, farmers would shear their sheep superficially, leaving short fleeces. But when money was tight and wool was scarce, the farmers "went whole hog" and cropped the sheep close.

At a recent meeting in Carrizozo the group stood up to 'pledge allegiance'. The looked toward the speaker table - this is what they saw. The oath went off without a hitch.

Swiped from Duffy - Snickersnoop-of-the-month: The president of a bank called in one of his vice presidents. "I want a frank answer," he said. "Tell me - have you ever made love to my beautiful secretary?" "Never, Never," the vice president assured him. "I swear I've never even kissed her." "Okay," the president replied. "Then you fire her!"

An expert on children, one easily spots - he has all the answers - and none of the tots. Most people would have no qualms about the meek inheriting the earth if they'd just be meek after inheriting it. Parting thought "(To fathers with marriageable daughters):" "Don't count your chicks until they're hatched.

We need a strong, powerful tree spray the worst way for our elms, only shade we have in patio area. First batch of leaf suckers made few holes in leaves, but now there are lots of eggs about ready to hatch and the new crop will surely bleed the leaves white. Ordinary garden-hose spray won't reach up very far. Christmas cactus in our yard have also suffered from small worms-bugs under fine web which suck the cactus dry. We can reach them with a spray.

Any wife can cure her inferiority complex by being sick in bed a day while her husband tries to manage the household and children.

5 cups of Citizen Band Radios!

The CB radio craze is sweeping the nation, a half million people apply for citizens band radio licenses every month, some people agree that it is the best thing that's happened to America in years.

The federal Communications Commission estimates that there are now 15 million CB transmitters in the U.S. today, and there will be six million more by next year.

The way things are going, CBs will be as common and popular as TV sets. There is no sign of this fad fading. Most specialist agree that CBs help to ease tensions, establishes a sense of neighborliness among strangers and allows motorists to indulge their fancies while on routine trips.

The CB radio user enjoys immediate acceptance into a kind of new and exciting secret club that even has its own jargon, he may use a nickname—the bored executive bedomes: "The white knight." The lonely widow gets on the air and says, "This is Tender Love calling." The shy teacher can call herself "Hot Lips". You can pretend to be anything or anyone you want to—it is bringing the country together again. A Boston psychiatrist says that the visible barriers that separate people are all gone, don't know if the person is rich or poor or egg headed or red-necked. As soon as you know that "Smoke" means cop, green stamps means money, and a pregnant roller skate is a Volkswagen, your one of the crowd: Say is it fun! Are you one of the crowd?

A TABLESPOON OF HOUSE HOLD HINTS
To protect your newspaper—cut off each end of a large juice can, paint paper on it and suspend it from the porch.

Try stretching a cart of tuna, by adding finely grated carrots (two) and mix normally with salad dressing and etc. It tastes good, and is healthy.

Save a candle stub and use to protect the written addresses on a package you mail. After ink dries, rub addresses several times with the candle stub.

ROBY'S BOX

The only reason they call television a medium is that so much of it is neither rare nor well done. A fun idea to make!

Growth chart, hem the top and bottom of a piece of 12-40 inch fabric. Sew a tape measure along one edge and decorate fabric with cutouts from nursery. Insert dowel in top hem. Attach cord for hangers. Paper doll cut-outs are cute. A pinch of Humor!

One Sunday morning a minister announced to his congregation: "My good people, I have here three sermons: one is worth $100, one $40 and one $10 now lets take the collection and see which one I will deliver."

When an executive complained that there aren't enough hours in the day for him to do his work, a friend advised, "Give up smoking" then the days will seem endless.

There's one thing the Democrats and Republicans share in common—our money.

DO YOU KNOW?

That gal that won second prize at a bridge party in Nogal?

The gal who is serving on the grand jury in Nogal?

That Bunty Richardson is sporting a very different hair do? Attractive too!

The husband who came home and found a strange hat hanging in his kitchen.

The family that rescued Fern from a bee hive last week.

A VERY GOOD RECIPE Lemon Fluff Pie

There are dozens of kinds of lemon pie, but I don't use the "TRADITIONAL" THAT ARE SERVED WITH MERINGUE. I suggest you use only fresh grated rind and lemon juice.

In a sauce pan mix together 4 egg yolks, 1/2 cup sugar (or 2-3 cup if you like it sweeter), 3 tablespoons of water, 3 tablespoons of fresh lemon juice, and 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thick and almost boiling. Immediately fold gently into a meringue you make by beating egg whites of above eggs (at room temperature) with 1/2 cup sugar (added before beating) and 1 teaspoon cream of tartar. Note: be sure beaters are clean and dry before beating egg whites. After carefully folding the two mixtures, pile into baked 9 inch pie shell and either chill and serve cold or bake 5 min. at 400 until delicately brown. Be sure and beat eggs at room temp. Try it. AROUND THE BOWL

Lincoln County News, June 10, 1976. Page 5

Gee! It is raining cats, dogs, raccoons hailstones and other things now—just in time to make the hills really beautiful. This rain may be a little hard on Vic Romero—who is plastering the Sunda Villa's wall—but after a year of looking at black paper—it won't matter much to wait a few more days. The grass is so long in the orchard—the campers will get lost in it.

I noticed that Marvin Peacock and family were up to day to work a little on their house. They expect to be up for 2 or 3 weeks soon.

Leora and Mert are busy driving back and forth to Alamo to help their son break in some new property.

Nogal is especially glad to welcome the new traveling minister Lee Huebert, who will have church at 11:00 every Sunday. Lets hope more people will be able to come at this time.

Miles and Burkstaller were having coffee early this morning. Miles is feeling much better. Just has a kreek! Or two in his back now and then.

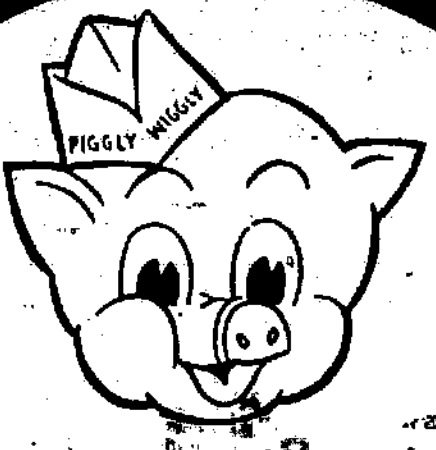

See you next week

Lincoln County News and Carrizozo Outlook June 8, 1956.

Mrs. J. P. Turner, meeting with the town board, asked the board to appoint a recreation committee to represent all areas in the Carrizozo school district. The Southern Pacific has agreed to loan and install a pump to put Bonito water into the reservoir south of town.

A tract survey of the proposed 30-acre subdivision in Carrizozo was made Saturday.

A nominating committee of the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce has proposed the names of Raymond Sherrill, Dr. A. N. Spencer, R. L. Boling, W. H. Nickles, Rev. C. E. Burch, Roy Shafer, Fred English, J. H. Fulmer, H.E. Kelt, J. E. Thornton, Lloyd Vigil, Robert Warden, C. E. Degner, John Harkey, A. T. Roberts, John Wright, E. F. Crockett and Vernon Petty.

Clint Sultemeier is anticipating a good crowd at the wool marketing demonstration June 23. Ranchers on the program are: Joe Skeen, Bud Walker, George W. Shanks, and Ed Downing.

Susan Ann Lowe Kemp told the Rambler's Around reporter: The Coalora coal camp was called North Capitan. The company built houses for the miners and ran a store and one saloon. No competition was allowed but several enterprising citizens put up saloons outside the company property. All there was in Capitan was S. T. Gray's store and postoffice. Sometimes the freight wagons would have trouble getting through and there would be a shortage of provisions such as flour and sugar for a few days. The whiskey always seemed to come through OK. School was held in Miss May Skeehan's dining room and in a tent at Coalora. Later school was held in Redman's hall. Around April 1902 the cornerstone was laid for Capitan's first schoolhouse.

A party of fishermen, C. A. Snow, Bill, Paul and Hank Brazel fished in the Penasco River last Thursday with fair results.

An iron ore crusher started to work this past week north of Capitan. The ore will be shipped to Louisiana to be used in the oil wells drilled in the ocean shelf.

Ancho - Orris Smith and Doug Denny were guests of Mrs. J. Kile and Jackie last Saturday.

The way in which the general cause of education has been advanced during the four and one-half years of democratic management of state affairs, are a matter of great pride to every loyal citizen of New Mexico. The Las Vegas Optic, the only republican daily in the state said: "As our splendid higher institutions of learning are conducted at present, no reason for graduates of high school to seek education outside of our own universities.

According to the Denver News, Watt Hoyle, a well known mining man, formerly of White Oaks, pulled off an unusual stunt when he became a benedict. The item, "Matthew Watson Hoyle and his bride, Mrs. Sarah Bell Dingley Hoyle, will spend their honeymoon - the first part of it anyway - in wheel chairs in a Boulder hospital, instead of their auto as was first planned. The auto is a wreck when Hoyle and his bride-to-be were thrown over a 12-foot embankment. Hoyle suffered a broken rib and she who is now Mr. Hoyle had her collar bone broken. The pair woke up in a Boulder hospital, undaunted they summoned a minister and 'mid the odors of ether and chloroform, sat in their wheel chairs and were married.

Capitan loses two teachers

Jack Mayfield of Capitan is an ex-Kansan who graduated from high school in Oklahoma, did university and graduate work in Colorado and spent 35 years teaching with 27 being in New Mexico, nine at Melrose and eighteen in Capitan.

Jack retired at the end of the 1975-76 school year so he would have full time for work in his flower garden and some at the race track.

He was selected as New Mexico football coach of the year in 1961. Twice during his years of experience he coached basketball on dirt courts. A tornado (must have been in Oklahoma) destroyed one school, a fire destroyed gym in other school. He lettered in football and baseball at Northwestern State in Oklahoma where he received his degree in 1940.

Jack held teaching certificates in administration, physical education, counseling, guidance, science and social studies.

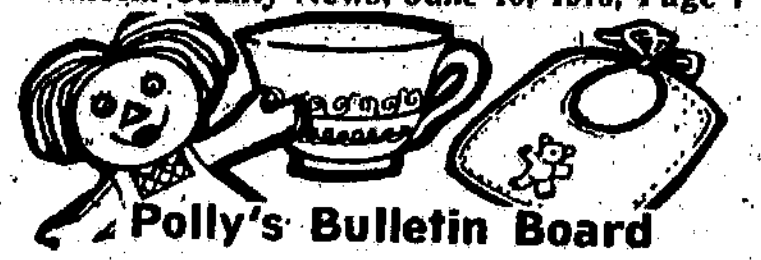

F. D. Hornbaker

F. D. Hornbaker retired from teaching at Capitan this year after 20 years in school work and a hitch in the Air Force, 1942-46. He was discharged as Captain with five battle stars from service in the Southwest Pacific.

He was born in Spring Crick, Mo. grew up at Artesia, N.M. and graduated from Artesia High in 1932. He received his B. A. degree from LaVerne College in California, did graduate work in meteorology and math at California Institute of Technology and the University of New Mexico.

Mr. Hornbaker's first teaching job was at Portales in 1937, at salary of $90 per month for ten months. He also taught at Jal, Albuquerque and Capitan.

Jack Mayfield of Capitan has spent a life-time in education and has retired this year. In this picture you see his last team, and probably the prettiest of his long career as coach and school administrator. Tiger girls' track team, front row left to right: Debbie Dalton, Sally Abercrombie, Darlene Herrera, Becky Renfro, Debbie Castillo, Tina Proctor and Renee Richardson. Back row: Coach Jack Mayfield, Lisa Lamb, Donna Cooper, Julia Coleman, Magan LaMay, Sue Abercrombie, Mary Gutierrez, Bernie Gomez.

School is over, ahead is a long, hot summer. You need to paint a huge shark on your bathroom wall, you'd love to get back to your quilting and patching, there's a doll with kinky yarn hair that's dying to be created; so what do you do with 2 grade school age children, 1 fearless four year old and 1 terrible two year old?

Answer: You see that they have toys, games and 'pastimes' that they make themselves (that gives you a head start on that shark, quilt or doll). From my bulletin board....

Sandpaper masterpieces - give the kids 9" x 12" sheets of fine sandpaper to draw or trace a picture. Color with crayons to give a sand-painting effect.

Cardboard-horse - cut hole on bottom of box, just large enough for a child to step in and pull box up to his (her) to step in and pull box up to his (her) waist. (Box bottom now becomes box top). Fasten head, made from box flaps, to front. Use bit-of-cord-through-the-mouth-for-a-bridle-and-railed-rope-for-a-tail.

Bowling game - cut ten wooden cubes and paint them black. On each cube paint one white bowling pin. To play roll all ten cubes from a cup; if any white pins appear, face up, roll these for spare shot, make small score sheet and score as in regular bowling.

The only problem with these type of toys, games and pastimes is that one is likely to keep interrupting the kids fun to suggest better ideas on creating and improving them that your whole day is shot!

Grazing management emphasized

For sometime, the USDA soil Conservation Service has been convinced that individually planned, scientifically designed livestock grazing management systems, when applied and coordinated with ranch livestock husbandry practices, can result in improved range condition as well as improved livestock production and economic ranch return.

Domestic livestock grazing, which has been largely responsible for range deterioration can achieve rapid range improvement when it is conducted in a manner in harmony with nature and the natural resources, rather than working against nature.

Rangelands originally developed their characteristic forage plant cover in conjunction with natural grazing by wild grazing animals. This indicates that grazing is a natural and essential component of rangeland environments. The differences between the effects of natural wild animal grazing and today's domestic livestock operations on vegetation are due to kinds and numbers of animals, confinement of animals by fence, season of grazing, frequency of grazing, length of grazing periods, suppression of natural fires, and interruptions of natural predator-prey relationships and nutrient cycling. These are the factors that planned grazing systems deal with and attempt to bring into harmony with nature, the climate, plants and soils on an individual ranch. Obviously, range plants will be harvested differently when grazed continuously by 100 Hereford cows confined in a five-section pasture, than when grazed intermittently by 2,000 bison, antelope and elk with thousands of sections to roam freely.

Convincing ranchers of the merits of planned grazing systems requires more than talk. The SCS in Southeastern New Mexico has set out to assemble the facts and let results do the talking.

SCS Area 3 consists of Chavez, Lea, Eddy, Lincoln, Torrance and Otero counties. Area Range Conservationist, Noel Marsh, is working through Natural Resource Conservation Districts and SCS District Conservationists to identify and select demonstration ranches and ranches representative of each kind of country characteristic of southeastern New Mexico. The different "kinds of country" include the High Plains on the east, the Central Plains on both sides of the Pecos River, the Southern Desert in the lower Pecos Valley and Tularosa Basin, the Limestone Hills country, the Capitan, Gallinas, Sacramento and Gradalpe Mountains and the Mountain foothills country, each with their own peculiar range management problems, but each adaptable to grazing management systems.

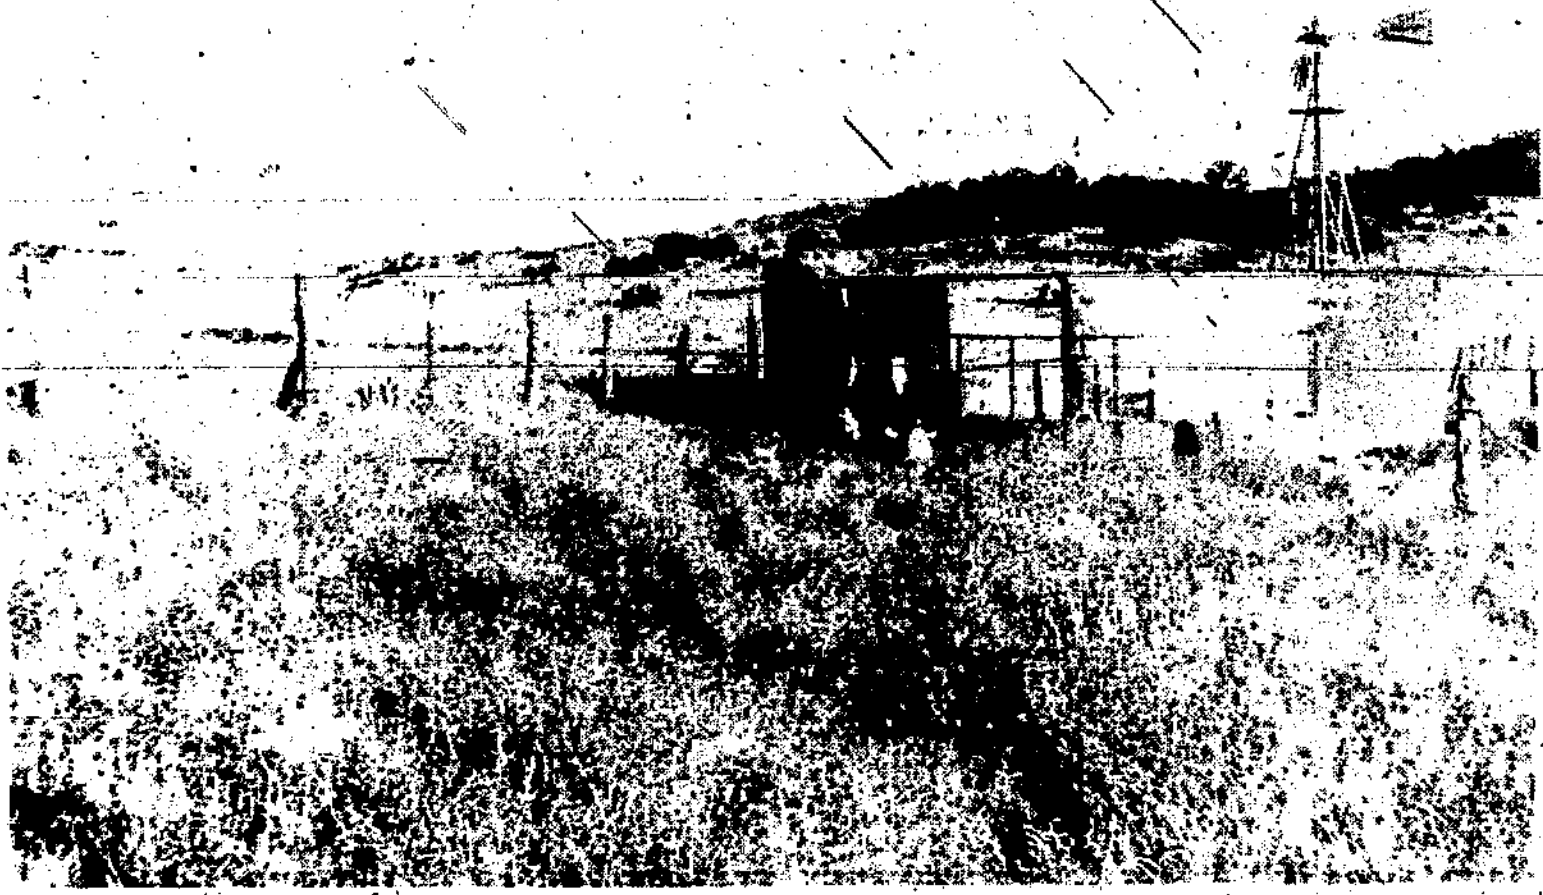

SCS will work with these demonstration ranchers to scientifically design & tailor a planned grazing system for the individual ranch operation to meet the needs of the forage plants, as well as the grazing animals. The planned grazing systems will be implemented within the next year or two. Most have already been planned and a few have already started their system.

Records will be kept on range condition and production prior to the start of the grazing system, as well as during the life of the system. Records will also be kept on economic cost and return per animal unit, percent calf and lamb crops, weaning weights of calves and lambs, fleece weights of sheep, death loss, gains on steer and heifer yearlings, and amounts and distribution of precipitation by years before and after implementation of the grazing management systems.

The demonstration ranchers will then be able to tell their own story, discussing any advantages and disadvantages of their systems. Ranch tours will be held on demonstration ranches after several years in their system, to inform neighboring ranchers in the same kinds of country with similar operations, what can be done. And, they will have the records and facts to back up the results.

Range improvement under properly designed grazing systems will be readily apparent and able to speak for itself as it has over the past several years. However, little information has been documented in southeastern New Mexico to date on animal performance and economic returns from improved grazing systems. Livestock production improvement cannot accelerate ahead of range improvement. Marsh states, since primary production is accomplished by plants and secondary production is from animals.

Interested ranchers may obtain additional information on grazing management from local SCS offices in Capitan and Carrizozo or from the Roswell Area Office.

Sacrifice areas near water developments are not necessary if grasses are allowed to rest from grazing during growing season. The Soil Conservation Service is working with area ranchers on planned grazing demonstrations. This contented cow picture was made on the LaMoyné Peters Ranch.

Training included experience in all sale capacities. Offered by the NMSU Department of Agricultural and Extension Education through the Division of Continuing Education, the short course will be repeated next summer.

Gnatkowski is auctioneer

Mel Gnatkowski of Carrizozo is among 29 students from a dozen New Mexico locations who participated in New Mexico State University's first Auctioneering School, May 24-June 4. Four of the aspiring auctioneers are women.

Professional training for auctioneers is available from several auction schools in the nation.

Those successfully completing the 10 days of intensive training were recommended for membership in the National Auctioneering Association.

Coordinator and principal instructor was Charles Dickerson, Fairacres, N.M., a graduate of the Missouri Auction School. NMSU coordinator is Dr. Floyd J. Lark. A 15-member instructional staff of specialists in auction-related fields was assembled from a four-state area. Half of them are prominent professional auctioneers.

Class members participated in alternate lecture and drill periods, staged several live sales and visited area auctions. Subject material covered the full range of auction ethics, organization, staging, bookkeeping and legal requirements. All types of auction sales were covered.

Staged by the NMSU Department of Agricultural and Extension Education, the course was offered through the Division of Continuing Education. The Auctioneering School will be offered again in summer of 1977.

We have had over two inches of rain this last week and it is still raining. With thunder lightning and some hail. How grateful we are for this beautiful moisture. None of it was wasted. It was slow and easy and how all grass, vegetation and shrubs love it as well as people. It is getting warmer. Surely everything will begin to grow fast. This good moisture is just great and we must always be grateful and thank God constantly. It is the grandest item that could happen to our country and to us. Remember to be grateful.

Smokey Bear Museum had visitors from 17 states this last week, as well as British Columbia and Germany. This makes 36 states and 18 foreign countries. May 31, 400 visited. Egypt and Belgium included. That is a grand record. One of which we are so very proud. June 6, 204 were visitors.

We have had a very nice group brought by Overland Educational Expedition from Enid, Oklahoma. These people take eight young people and teach them how to camp and forest fire prevention, etc. They were a very nice group and well behaved. Polite and interested in Smokey Bear. They promised to return when our park is complete. We do hope they will.

The men from Germany were so thrilled to see a hummingbird feeder. They had never seen one, only in books.

The south wall is finished and the rock work is still going on.

The building across from the bank is getting more remodeling. New windows and repairing after the fair some time again. Again it is coming to life.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Baker are building a new home on west Second street.

Mr. Lane's pigeons travel over town hunting food. It looks so good to have them. I love to have them my way.

The Capitan Woman's Club would like to thank all donors who helped make the new fence around the Capitan Cemetery a reality. The chain link fence is being put up by volunteer labor.

It is hoped that an attractive wrought iron arch will be up in the future.

Money was raised through from local organizations and individuals.

All of us are so grateful and proud of this accomplishment.

Some person went to the Capitan Cemetery May 30th. Cleaned and decorated graves. They returned with more people the 31st. to find vases broken, flowers torn up and on one grave many flowers piled up. Now this I do not understand. How anyone could be so heartless as to disturb the dead. Whoever did it, think twice and give better conduct. Do not do unto others that which you would not want others to do unto you.

The state foresters very large and long trailer home has arrived and is parked at the site where the other home was torn down. A mighty home for their personnel to live.

Another very large trailer home has been moved to a lot on west second street. The Ford addition is progressing very nicely too.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Strickland, Rhonda and Melinda and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Wright spent one week fishing and vacationing at El Vada Lake and visiting parts of southern Colorado and returned last Tuesday.

Waddy Hobbs of Albuquerque was seriously injured in a car wreck last week. He will have to spend a long time in the hospital there.

Guests of Eltha Merrell this past weekend were Leila Baker and Ruth Moore of Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson spent Tuesday thru Saturday in El Paso visiting Mr. and Mrs. Weyman Hartley, Bill Ferguson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Evans. They returned via Las Cruces and visited Mr. and Mrs. Brazel Hartley and family.

Clara Snow and her grandson Charles Snow of Carrizozo visited Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson at their ranch home Thursday morning.

Eltha Merrell entertained some of her lady friends with a Canasta party last Friday at her home.

Mr. Ray Clark near Menard, Texas is foreman on a ranch. He and his wife Shirley will be in Capitan July 4th. I am so happy that he takes our News and reads it. We do enjoy that.

Mrs. Jay (Dorothy) Johnston has been in bed for over one week ill with pneumonia. Her husband, our Mayor, returned from the funeral of her brother, Mr. Alexander in Oklahoma and she was so ill and was so all time there. I wish you a good recovery, Dorothy, we do miss you and want you to get well fast.

Orris Smith is still in the Ruidoso Hospital. He was admitted there June 2. I wish you a good recovery Orris.

Mr. and Mrs. John Flower and sons Richard and Randy of Las Cruces spent last weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Miller made a business trip to Alamogordo last Monday.

A Capitan tiger went to Jana Parker and Harry Palmquist for being top salesman at the 4-H raffle.
