Influenza vaccine expected in August

Some time in August, vaccine is expected to be available in Lincoln County for immunization against swine influenza. Persons considered to suffer the most from influenza complications will have the first go at the vaccine. In the fall the immunization will be offered to the general public.

The following information on the program is from Dr. Jonathan M. Mann, director of the New Mexico Swine Influenza Program, and was released through Dr. Ravi Bhasker of the Carrizozo Health Center.

Influenza is often considered a benign illness, or perhaps just a "normal" feature of the winter season. This is a common misconception, since influenza is a potentially serious, even lethal, disease. Each year that an influenza epidemic appears in the United States, thousands of influenza-related deaths occur.

When the influenza virus undergoes a major change, as in 1957-58 when the Asian Flu struck this nation, the number of influenza-related deaths increased markedly, over 60,000 influenza deaths were reported during the 1957-58 influenza season.

In January, 1976, a radically different influenza virus, called the swine influenza virus, caused an outbreak of illness, including one death, on a military installation in New Jersey.

This virus, practically identical to the virus which caused the severe epidemic of influenza in 1918-19, had essentially disappeared from the human population in the late 1920's. This evidence of a potential return of this virus raised concerns about a possible epidemic of swine influenza in the human population during the upcoming influenza season (late fall, 1976 to Spring, 1977).

A nationwide immunization program was instituted on the recommendation of the United States Public Health Service, to protect Americans from a potential epidemic of Swine Flu. In New Mexico, the State Health Agency has developed a two-part plan to reach nearly all New Mexicans.

The first phase, scheduled to begin in mid-to-late August, is aimed at protecting those persons classified as "high risk" for influenza complications, including death. The second phase, from last September to mid-December, will provide vaccine to the remainder of the New Mexico population.

The concept of "high risk" from influenza results from studies of past epidemics, it was found that certain groups suffer the brunt of influenza-related complications and deaths. These persons include the following:

1. The elderly: persons 65 years of age and older are automatically included in the high risk group.
2. Heart disease: persons with heart diseases, of any type.
3. Chronic lung disease: persons with pulmonary diseases, including asthma, tuberculosis, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and cystic fibrosis are members of the high risk group.
4. Diabetics.
5. Kidney disease: persons with chronic renal disease.
6. Persons with other chronic diseases, including cancer.

Chronic lung diseases predispose to influenza-related complications, especially pneumonia. Persons with pulmonary diseases should be vaccinated annually against influenza. In a year when a potential epidemic of a major new strain of influenza virus may occur, it is strongly advised that members of this high risk group be immunized against influenza.

Persons with chronic lung disease and other high risk persons will be eligible to receive a vaccine containing protection against two strains of influenza virus: the A-Victoria (familiar from the 1975-76 influenza season) and the A-New Jersey (the technical name for the Swine Flu virus). Vaccine can be obtained through your private physician, or free of charge at county health office clinics and other community clinics. Vaccine for the high risk population will be available in mid-to late August.

Bull riders lead a hard life, especially when the bull decides he has had enough. Top money at the Smokey Bear Stampede went to Ernie Jaquez of Artec in this contest.

A special Bicentennial award went to the Lincoln County Bicentennial Float at the 4th of July parade in Capitan. Youngsters from over the county participated, representing the freedoms guaranteed by the constitution. In this picture are Lois McBride, LeAnn Straley (Miss Lincoln County) Cheryl Rickerson, Don Ward and Gary Joe Lovelace.

Zozo has water problem

The rains have helped but Carrizozo's prospects for green summer yards doesn't look good this week. Water pressure is extremely low at peak periods and residents of the town are being asked to water lawns and gardens in low use times of day, according to town clerk Christine Chavez.

With the resignation of the Mayor, Floyd Siegrist who has been transferred out of state, and the resignation of town manager Johnny Johnson, no one appears to be responsible to handling the water shortage.

Pony Express runs again

This year's Pony Express postmark should be a collectors item and now is the time to get your letter in that annual mail pouch.

The Pony Express race will be run over a historic route from White Oaks to Old Lincoln Town on August 6. The day will begin at 6:30 a.m. in White Oaks with a breakfast sponsored by the White Oaks Historical Association.

A big crowd is usually on hand in Lincoln to watch the mail carriers leap off their horses with a full mail pouch. That day continues with exhibits, good food, a fiddler's contest and finally the Billy the Kid Pageant. The festivities continue on August 8 with another performance of the play.

To get a letter postmarked with the pony express seal, address your letter and stamp it with a regular 13 cents stamp. Enclose the letter along with 25 cents in a separate envelope addressed to Pony Express, P.O. Box 217, Carrizozo, N.M. 88301. You must, of course, also stamp this letter with the enclosures. That 51 cents in postage may be one of the best bargains left in the country. But if you sent one to each of your relatives, be sure to tell them just what that envelope represents and how it got delivered to Someplace, USA in 1976.

Trustees of the town are expected to come up with some summer water use rules at the next meeting of that group Monday night. The trustees are also expected to replace Siegrist at that meeting.

Particularly hard hit by the water shortage is the south side of town which has had a water pressure problem for years.

The expansion of the water system which was approved by voters last year when the plant and the industrial park bonds were voted will not begin until late in the summer and will provide no relief this year.

Apparently nothing can be done at the present except to rely on water users for conservation methods.

Big water users in the town have already restricted their use. The town park watering has been reduced and the school, according to Jim Steinepreis, has responded to requests several times to stop football field watering when the town pressure dropped dangerously.

Steinepreis said that the school does have a problem with the field because it has recently been replanted and must have water to survive. He said the edges were not being watered and that if it becomes an emergency, the school will have to make a decision on what to do.

The swimming pool does not use much water, according to Miss Chavez. The pool is only filled when the season begins and the water is then recycled through a filtering plant.

The city recreation facilities including the golf course on the east side of town are on their own water system and have separate wells and pumps. They do not take water from the regular city system.

Residents are asked to water lawns and gardens before 7 a.m. and after 8 p.m. They are asked to repair leaky faucets and to be careful with running toilets and other heavy water users.

Miss Chavez said one resident complained that she was in the shower fully soaped when her water dribbled away to a few drops. If everyone will be careful, that shouldn't happen and the town will have enough water to go around for essentials at the least.

4-H safety is taught

A swimming program is under way this summer at the Carrizozo Municipal Pool.

It is a program for 4-H members taught by longtime 4-H leader Mrs. T. A. Spencer Jr. The Lincoln County 4-H Swimming Program emphasizes, in Mrs. Spencer's words, "better to be safe than sorry."

This is the seventh summer for the program. Nancy and Jackie Dross, swimming pool employees and former 4-H members, assist Mrs. Spencer. This summer, 33 members are enrolled in beginner, intermediate and advanced classes.

The 4-Hers are being taught how to save other lives as well as their own. This summer's classes are stressing preventative measures. Classes are conducted each Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Spencer stresses total first aid that's connected with swimming and camping. For example, the boys and girls are told, "Don't plunge into a nearby lake or stream on arising from your bed roll as shock can result from your body temperature being at its lowest."

Other valuable first aid information taught includes prompt attention for sunstroke, heat stroke, insect bites, snake bite, drowning, broken back and neck for diving and preventative measures for being out of doors in lightning storms.

"In God we trust"

Camp meeting recalls '76

By Dorothy Guck

The Nogal Mesa Camp Meeting has been in step with the aims of the 1976 Bicentennial celebrations for 35 years. July 14, the 36th gathering of Christians on Nogal Mesa will again rekindle the recognition of the precepts set forth by our forefathers when forming our nation.

Freedom of religion, the rights to life, liberty, and happiness are enjoyed to the fullest extent in this mountain encampment.

Here, for 4 days the honest goodness of our fellow man has an opportunity to shine through and give us that grand feeling that if all is not right with the world, we'll do our best to make it so. Once again we'll touch the hand of our neighbor and together count all the blessings so poignantly noticeable at Camp Meeting.

"In God We Trust" was the slogan of pioneers

Jury panel is approved

Lincoln County has filled its list for petit jury duty and for Magistrate Jury duty for another six months.

District Clerk Margo Lindsay said that the jurors will serve from July to January.

The jury panel was selected by a jury commission and those names selected were then drawn at random from a jury wheel.

Mrs. Lindsay said that Lincoln County was one of the few remaining to use this method. Most jury panels are selected by computers which saves considerable time and provides a perfect random sampling from the voters registration list.

Petit Jury members this term are:

- Tommie B. Allen, Mrs. Albert Booky, Frieda M. Brown, Barbara Joy Campbell, Pauline Chavez, Irene Chavez, Flora Baca Chavez, Irene Corley, Tom C. Delaney, Jr., Ronnie Eldridge, Roy D. Evans, Verna Evans, Nancy Faye Farus, Laura Alexina (Jones) Hawkins, Fransiska Heid, Mrs. Joe (Ida) Herrera, Vernelle Hightower, Judy Corene Jarvis.

Margie Urban, Lawren Ray Walker, Dollie M. Ward, James Craig Whipple, Edward L. Wimberly, DeeAnn Woolridge, Mary C. Woolridge, Ralph E. Womack and Annie Romero.

Magistrate jurors will be: Roy Walton Harmon, James B. Cantrell, Mrs. Ada (Jodie) Keyes, Diane R. Coulston, Pancho McKnight, Reuben Zamora, Jr.

P. T. Valliant, Alletha Fry Brooks, Brezel Sanchez, Dan Ware, Mrs. Harley (Alma Farnell), Alma Sherrill.

Marquerite J. Johnson, Sibyl E. Riddle, Delbert E. Posey, A.C. Hudson, Mrs. Victor Jaramillo and Lee P. Onsurd.

who settled our West and guides us today, and will for the next century. In the belief that the principles of the men who composed our Declaration of Independence are worthy to build a better future, we will rediscover the ideology of the past through the simple virtue of worshiping in the comradeship of Camp Meeting. We'll renew our vows to preserve the best and obtain the greatest of everything in the future. Pure mountain air - friendship - hospitality - words of inspiration - music - will make us aware of our pride in America and rebuild a stouter faith in our nation, so often tarnished today.

Opening services will be held Wednesday evening, July 14 and continue through Sunday evening, July 18. This year the preachers will be Rev. Boyce Evans of Lubbock, and Rev. Earnest Armstrong of Roswell. Paul Biggs will again be in charge of the music. One youth group from Central College United Presbyterian Church of Westerville, Ohio will be on hand to be aided by several local youths. The Carls from Alamogordo will again supervise twice daily services for young people in the youth tent. Ministers of all faiths are requested to offer assistance in counseling, be available for help, and if possible camp on the grounds.

Rick Steele is camp manger. Officers include Walt Wilson and Johnson Stearns of Carrizozo, and Opal and LaMoynes Peters of Capitan. They report that a new dishwashing building 24' x 24' of steel is being constructed. Two new fireplaces will be constructed in the old dishwashing area and kitchen facilities extended. A more powerful diesel light plant has been installed providing better illumination and the use of electrical appliances. A new PA system will have 2 speakers in the tabernacle and transmit services to several areas of the camp grounds for the convenience of the kitchen workers, and the elderly or disabled who cannot trek to the tabernacle.

For those attending for the first time, there is camping space available at no charge for those participating in the services. All young people must be sponsored or accompanied by adults. Dogs would be much happier left at home as they cannot roam free or disturb by barking. Bring your own campers, tents, or bedrolls. Meals are provided with expenses defrayed by donations of visitors at the registration booth.

The tabernacle and dining halls give roof shelter, but jackets and rainwear are essential for chill evenings and summer showers. The altitude is 7000 feet. A fenced play area with sponsors is provided for young children.

If camping is not possible, everyone is welcome to attend daily services. Meals are served chuckwagon style at 6:30 a.m., 12:30, and 6:30 p.m. Tabernacle services are held at 11 a.m., 3 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. Group prayer meetings are at 4:30 p.m. Choir volunteers are welcome and practice before each service. The general business meeting is 1:30 Sunday. Memorial services for those who have passed away during the last year will be held Saturday at 1:30. All those having names to submit for remembrance may leave them at the registration booth. A bonfire for fun and laughter is held after the last service each night.

The Memorial Service this year, under the direction of Mrs. Gill Peters and Mrs. Leslie Armstrong, is featuring the theme, "Bells for Liberty." The large bell at the Camp is transported to all 6 of the Camp Meetings in the Southwest - it formerly graced a Santa Fe Railroad locomotive and was donated by an engineer from Amarillo.

The grounds can be reached by the Lincoln National Forest road turning off US 390 about 5 miles west of Capitan and 15 miles east of Carrizozo; or by the road off State Road 37 by Nogal Lake. Further information may be obtained from Johnson Stearns, Citizens State Bank, Carrizozo, New Mexico, 88301.

ANYWAY YOU LOOK AT IT...

We have on our desk a couple of small volumes that tell how things were in the world of guns, hunting and fishing 60 years ago. One is a "Game Law Blue Book and Directory of Guides" published by the Winchester Repeating Arms Co. in 1914. Other volume is Winchester Catalogue No. 80, published on the 50th anniversary of the Arms Co. 1866-1916.

Game fish were controlled by an Act in Effect June 14, 1912. Small and large mouthed bass, speckled trout of whatsoever variety and species, also catfish, croppies, and ring perch season May 15 through October 15, must be taken with a hook and line attached to a rod or held in the hand.

The 1912 Act included: SPECIES PROTECTED ALWAYS. -Sec. 8. It shall be unlawful to kill any elk, mountain sheep, beaver, mountain goat or ptarmigan. Sec. 16. It shall be unlawful to kill any antelope, elk, pheasant, bob-white quail, wild pigeon, or prairie chicken for a period of five years after the passage of this act. Fees: Bird, resident $1, big game resident $1, big game and birds resident $1.50. All other persons $10.

Believe it or not - Winchester offered a Breech Loading Cannon for sale in its 1916 catalog, listed on Page 218. "This cannon will be found satisfactory for Fourth of July and other celebrations, and for saluting. Both the cannon and 10 gauge Winchester shells (paper or brass) can be procured of all dealers. This cannon consists of a 12-inch tapered, rolled-steel barrel, cylinder bored, mounted on a shapely cast iron carriage, price $10.00" The price of this antique in 1976 would be something like $1,000.00 or more.

Gun wads and primer caps were readily available in 1916. The big deal in shotgun shells in this catalog were "New Rival" loaded with black powder and "Nublack" which has two corrugations on the head instead of one. A number of other shotgun shells were available, also blanks so you could load your own.

The Winchester Repeating Rifle Model 1873. The catalog reads: The Model 1873 is, in several ways, the most remarkable arm ever produced. It was the first repeating rifle ever made to use center fire cartridges, and for years the only one on the market. No gun has met with the success or attained such a widespread reputation as it has. The Model 1873 were priced at $17.50 up to $20.00.

The latest model gun in this catalog is the Model 1910 self-loading rifle. Thanks, Kathleen and Marian for the loan of these books.

On July 4, 1899, James D. Richardson, a Representative from the State of Tennessee, finished the task of compiling all the official papers of the Presidents. Richardson comments, "Instead of finding it the labor of a year, as I supposed it would be when I undertook it, the work has occupied as closely for more than four years. Bunny Osorio brought in one volume of the set - makes us wonder where the other books might be.

Population of New Mexico in 1890 was 153,593, engaged mostly in mining and stock raising. This set of books includes discussion of land claims of Texas, land claims under Spanish and Mexican grants, orders regarding Indians.

The highpoints of the parade in Capitan - the Bicentennial Committee float, Capitan Band, the queen, and fiddler on Roswell Campus of Eastern float, in about that order. Shade along Capitan's main street was enjoyed by lots of people before, during and after the parade.

Swiped from Duffy - Explorer: "Does your tribe know anything about religion?" Native: "Well, we had a taste of it when the last missionary was here." Second Sudden Thought: Those "Lifetime guarantees" are a laugh. The only things anybody keeps that long these days is a tattoo. Bachelor: A guy with a wallet full of pictures of near Mrs. Snickershop-Of-The-Month: "I'm not really rich," the young man said to his girl friend. "And I don't have a convertible like Jack Brown. But I love you." "I love you too," the girl said. "But tell me more about Jack Brown." Science now claims they can cross a mink with a ferret-Big deal! What woman would want a fink coat?

Gathering seeds is Lincoln County industry

by Helen Bennett

Introduction

Since moving into the Lincoln County area last July and establishing the Mountain Valley Nursery, conifer seed and seedlings, many individuals have expressed a desire to know in more detail some of what the business encompasses.

We are presently engaged in conifer cone and seed processing of seed cones gathered in various National Forests. This seed is sold to anyone, including Christmas tree plantations, nurseries and much to over seas clientele.

Plans are under way for planting and growing conifer and other seedlings under contract as well as wholesale production.

The article below is an attempt to explain some of the present activity. All visitors are welcome to visit the seed house any time.

of approximately 6 percent. Each container is carefully labeled or tagged with the weight and seed source, and inventory records are carefully maintained.

Once seed is processed and packaged a sample of each lot is immediately forwarded to a reliable seed laboratory for testing. Normally, seed viability (germination) tests are the only requirement of purchasers. These test results when received are added to seed information cards kept with each seed lot, with duplicate office records to insure accuracy. This permits us to respond to requests from a clientele who often want seeds from a specific source and view germination rates as a prime determinate of price and quality of seed needed.

Any other dependable log reference is kept by "The New Mexico Crop Improvement Association" in Las Cruces, a newly initiated segment to this association, who have worked diligently to supply source identification tags and certificates of origin as well as inspection of source areas.

It is more, and more evident that seed buyers are fast becoming aware of the advantages of source identified conifer seed.

Problems and Pests

Since seed indigenous to the Southwest is not prone to dormancy, this is one problem with which we do not have to contend. However, conifer seed crops can be destroyed by insects, fungi, squirrels and inclement weather, all of which are unpredictable and can seriously disrupt collection schedules. Cone collection areas here have experienced infestations of chalcids (wasps), Spruce beetle and Yellow Pine beetle. Fungi seems to occur more readily during seed storage and germination. Storing at 0 degree F. has reduced fungus losses considerably.

Squirrels, although one of our finest and most energetic forester, sometimes and for no known reason, will cut bushels of immature seed cones, causing heavy losses of certain seed types.

Southwestern weather the past few years has been a real nemesis, due to late spring or early fall freezing of cones, along with drought and again, prolonged rainstorms during pollination, causing low quality seed. Low viability is picked up only through a germination test and is not usually evident while still in the field.

Arizona Cypress—an unusual specie

Arizona Cypress is not collected in the usual manner as other conifer cones but is accomplished by hand picking with the use of ladders and hooks. This requires much time and soon develops into hard work.

Care must be taken to gather only mature cones as there may be immature as well as mature cones on the same branch. One must be able to recognize the different stages. Green or immature cones may be distinguished by color, cutting a cone, or by the presence of a powdery, gray, white film, very like talc in feel and appearance. Rub this talc, it is slick and smooth, underneath the cone is green in color and is immature. Very small cones of course, are immature also. A mature cone should be about the size of a small walnut, depending upon the area in which gathered, rough and dull gray in color. Cut a mature cone and the seeds are brown to dark brown. Ivory colored seeds are not fully ripe. A Cypress tree may have all stages of cone development at one time, making it rather tricky to always gather fully ripened seed. The top three fourths of any conifer tree will produce the best quality seed.

Anyone gathering Cypress cones in the Southwest after the first of June needs no introduction to the vicious, cannibalistic, tiny black gnats or "no-see-ems" commonly called, which descend upon and chew like crazy anyone unfortunate enough to not have good body cover, especially ears, eyes and head.

Processing Cypress is similar to other conifers, but takes longer in the kiln, about 72 hours with heat 120 degrees to 125 degrees F. Once fully opened cones come from the kiln the seed can be run through the fanning mill and stored, after necessary hand cleaning.

Fringe benefits are many, varied

Fringe benefits of reconnoitering and gathering are many, depending upon what one is looking for. You are always in the mountains' most beautiful areas, among green trees and flowers, flowing streams and myriads of wild life. The chickaree squirrel, or cone cacher, is an interesting little rodent of itself. They are very territorial. I've noted an invader of another's territory watch the "home" squirrel go about the business of caching a cone, only to have the intruder dash in quickly as soon as other's "back was turned", dig up the cone, run over and cache it in another spot nearby, seemingly depicting that the cone belonged to whomever buried it last. The offended squirrel instantly released what could be none other than a string of epithets and descended upon the intruder with bristling intent. Then followed a game of "follow the leader" around and around in circles, the robber squirrel keeping just far enough ahead of the pursuer not to be caught. This play was reinacted at intervals all afternoon, leading one to think both were having the time of their lives.

While scouting for cone caches I started a small squirrel busy with a Douglas Fir cone. With a shout he dashed to the top of an isolated tree, his closest refuge and decided to negotiate a six foot void into another tree just barely catching hold of a branch tip. There he swung like a pendulum with his tail lashing back and forth for balance until he could pull himself to safety. Usually noisy when surprised in this manner he never uttered a sound, but he still held the Douglas Fir cone in his mouth.

On other occasions, we've driven the "Pug" all-terrain vehicle, within 10 feet of a bull elk the size of an elephant, seemingly. We have also disturbed bears while they search for grubs, ants and acorns, raising havoc with cone caches while so doing and watched them lumber off, grunting their displeasure.

There is always the beauty of a quiet sunrise and the promise in a gorgeous sunset of another day of peace and tranquility. If these experiences appeal to you, then conifer seed collecting in any area will be to your liking as will the profit produced.

Conifer seed collecting in the southwest

Conifer seed collecting is one of the really fun parts of nursery work and something few people even know exists. It is an all day picnic every day of the season and one also comes home with a valuable harvest of conifer seeds and cones. This is true because coniferous trees and tree seed cycles are a varied and interesting area of concentration, and because the forest environments in which seed crops are collected are especially refreshing and beautiful during the fall gathering season.

Crop Reconnaissance

In Arizona and New Mexico reconnaissance of the yearly crop is accomplished during July and August. The primary purpose is to determine the quantity and quality of harvestable seeds naturally produced.

It is best to identify seed source areas and map their location. Records providing information about specific cone areas are produced with the details of species, time of maturity and elevation. Field samples of new crop cones are gathered to test crop quality. For example, the number of viable seeds per bushel can be roughly determined by cutting a cone lengthwise and counting the good seeds (white) on one of the sliced surfaces. This indicates the ounces or pounds per bushel; thus if a cut Douglas Fir cone shows six to eight good seeds per half, it can be estimated that the crop will yield six to eight ounces per bushel of cones.

Parent stock should be selected for phenotypic characteristics such as good form, vigor and symmetry, thus insuring the chance that the progeny may inherit the "parent tree" characteristics. Since seed quality, rather than quantity, is of prime importance, we select dominant trees, i. e., crown length of least 65 percent of total height, crown width good, and form of top round or pointed, with a good to moderate showing of vigor. A tree with a flat top is over-mature and fast losing productivity and more than likely has poor quality seed. Since it is not practical to gather cones from individual trees in large quantities, we identify timber stands where good parent tree characteristics predominate.

Seed species available in Arizona and New Mexico are, Pinus ponderosa (Ponderosa Pine), Pseudotsuga menziesii (Douglas Fir), Abies lasiocarpa (Cork bark), Abies concolor (Conecolor Fir), Picea pungens glauca (Blue Spruce), and Pinus strobiformis (Southwest White Pine or Mexican Border Pine), and Arizona Cypress.

Cone Gathering

Gathering operations in the Southwest may start as early as September 15th in certain areas, depending on weather and other conditions conducive to seed maturity. Proper and careful collection affects financially the end product, for direct expenditures in collection labor alone, are very significant. Cones ripen first at lower elevations on south and west exposures, then at higher elevations on north and east exposures. We usually gather from squirrel caches or pick cones from trees felled for timber. Gathering cones from mature trees is seldom done except for research purposes because the size and height of trees makes climbing impractical and excessively costly.

If gathering from squirrel caches, select caches near a desirable stand of well formed and vigorous trees. A cache is a pile of "squirrel chawins" or dis-assembled cones, formed as the squirrel removes and eats the seed from the cone. They may be 20-30 feet in diameter and from a foot to two feet deep, but are usually smaller. Look for them beside old hollow logs, at the base of large snags or trees, or tucked in a moist gully. By using a three tined garden cultivator or break away, short handled shovel, one can systematically collect 4-20 bushels of cones from a cache, depending on its size. One-third of the cones or some cracked corn is left in the cache to sustain squirrel populations and to influence the squirrels to remain in good gathering areas.

Proper handling of cones after collection is very important in that the valuable, and now costly inventory of seed filled cones must be kept dry to prevent mildew, and transported to the seed processing center as quickly as possible. Cone filled burlap sacks should be stacked loosely to insure good ventilation during transit or while air drying. They are sometimes processed immediately upon arrival at the extractory or alternatively placed on open racks for drying.

A special built forced air kiln is used to accelerate the drying process with temperatures ranging between 110 degrees and 120 degrees F, where open cones are then removed from the kiln on a conveyor belt and run through a cone tumbler to extract all seeds. The extracted seeds are chaf are in turn run through a fanning mill for cleaning, then, depending on specie, through a dewinger which separates seed from attached wings and finally through the fanning mill a second or, if necessary, a third time to complete the cleaning process. Finished seeds are then weighed and placed in plastic lined bags for storing in paper barrels. A tag indicating seed source information which accompanies each seed lot through the processing cycle, is placed in each container. Seed should then be stored in a refrigerated locker at 0 degree F. and a humidity

Carrizozo Needed

Jack and Carrie

The people of Carrizozo wonder how they got by before Jack and Carrie Magee came to town and opened FAMILY PHARMACY. The lineup Monday morning [and almost every day] before Jack's prescription counter is proof of the need the town had for a drug store.

Jack and Carrie are real friendly people and have become an important part of the community in the short time they have been with us. We are real lucky to have such fine new neighbors.

And like with all good things, there have been extra benefits to the town. Other businessmen have noticed new faces coming into town from neighboring communities to get their prescriptions filled. It is natural that these people do their other shopping while they are in town.

Helping new businesses get started and old businesses to grow is a part of our business at Citizens State Bank.

Lincoln County celebrates 4th

Who would have guessed there could be so many ways to decorate bicycles for the 4th of July parade? There was even a red, white and blue unicycle carrying an Uncle Sam.

The Joiners, father and pretty daughters, brought their own version of Little Bo Peep to the 4th rodeo. Before the parade was over, the little lamb was in Daddy's arms but the girls made it just fine and won an award.

Pretty girls make a parade look like it should and the twirlers from Roswell certainly added a touch of glamour in Capitan.

Parade was big event

The whistles blew and the bells rang and Lincoln County had assembled quite a parade for its Bicentennial Celebration in Capitan.

The Roswell High School band journeyed over to Capitan to play some fine music and there were a lot of pretty girls and good looking horses.

The floats were the best the county had produced in a 4th celebration and the Lincoln County Bicentennial Committee's permanent float deserved its special Bicentennial award.

Here are the other award winners:

Best dressed cowboy: Marvin Smith, of Belen.

Best dressed cowgirl: Renee Armstrong.

Best bicycle entry: 1st place - Danielle Reska, tricycle. 2nd place - David Parker, unicycle. 3rd place - Cindy Romero & Micheal Torres.

Best Float Entry: 1st place - Smokey Bear Museum. 2nd place - U. S. Forest Service. 3rd place - Chuck Inn.

Most Original Entry: Duke Stallard - Sheplers Western Wear.

Best Mounted Group: 1st place C-C Riders, Clovis. 2nd place - Chavez Co. Sheriffs Posse. 3rd place - Lea Co. Sheriffs Posse.

Best Miscellaneous Entry: Donna & Della Joiner - Lead sheep. Honorable Mention: Bob Saylor & Dorsey Moore, Alamogordo.

Best Antique car entry: Ray Mayers - Model T Ford Pick-up.

Most Organized Group: 1st - Roswell Band. 2nd - Fort Stanton Bicycle Riders.

Special Bicentennial Awards: 1st - Lincoln Co. Float. 2nd - (Betsy Ross) Reneta Trujillo & Yvonne Trujillo.

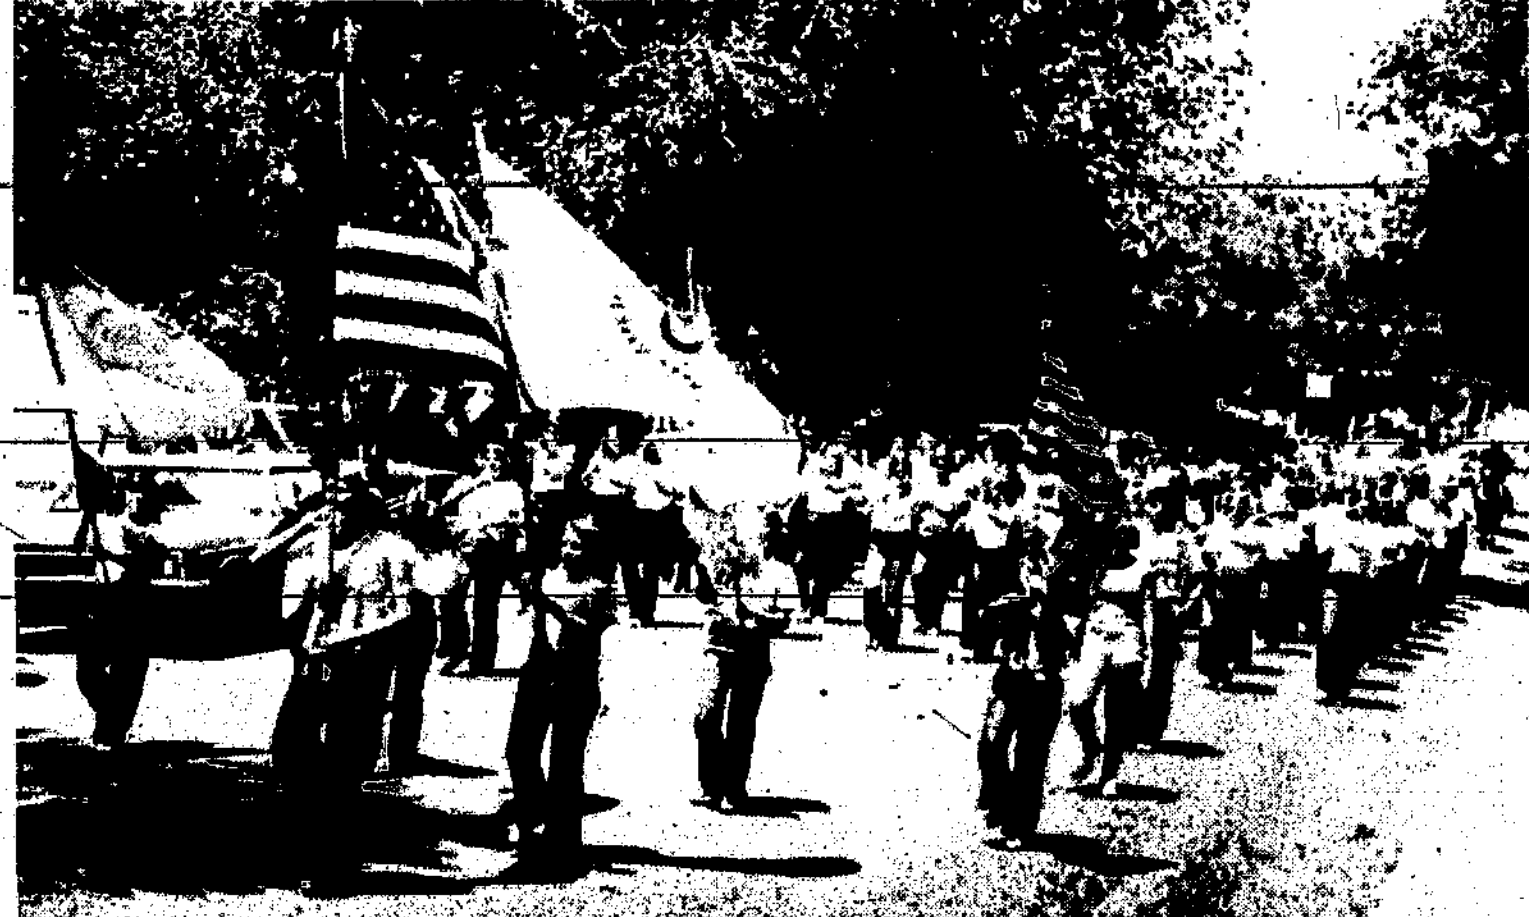

The Forest Service commeterated the First Ranger, Gilbert Pinchot, with a flat of greenery and a very distinguished 'actor'.

Lincoln County's Bicentennial Float was weeks in the making and a lot of people were responsible for it. Working hard at the county equipment barn are (from the left) Al Lane, Tom Loudan, Gerald Tully, Les Olson and Wynena Tully.

Tom Loudan and Les Olson forgot to bring a bottle of champagne to christen the county float. They were glad to see it really worked after all the hard hours of labor.

Flags that tell the story of the struggle for freedom in the early days of the nation were carried in the parade by members of the Roswell High School Band.

El Toro takes to the air but the cowboy keeps his seat. As every fan knows, the clown is more than a clown—he is often the lifeline in this event.

Bicentennial float praised

For three weeks members of the Lincoln County Bicentennial Committee, the county road crew and a few people who happened by worked every day and a lot of nights building a float to be used in the county's Bicentennial Celebrations.

Tom Loudan who has built many a live flower float for the Rose Parade was the inspiration and guiding hand behind the project.

The idea of the commission was to build a float that was of a permanent type construction and could be changed in decoration from time to time to suit the occasion or desires of the users.

A lot of construction, carpentry and welding went into the base. An old truck was painted red, white and blue. Finally the bright colored decorations went on.

School children from over the county were assigned parts representing the freedoms guaranteed by the constitution and sure enough they all showed up, dressed to fit their parts.

The debut of the float was the Smokey Bear Parade on July 4th in Capitan. A bell from Nancy Knight's ranch rang loud and clear and the float rolled out.

Later the float will be used in other county events and is available to any community that needs it.

Bob Scribner, chairman of the Bicentennial Commission has sent letter of appreciation to Father Joe Sys who loaned the robes for the freedom of religion character; to Nancy for the bell; to Tom Loudan for weeks of work; to the County Road Department for hours of contributed time; to Les Olson who put it together; to Al Lane who assisted and to the following young people who made it come alive Sunday: LeAnn Straley, Kathy Wilson, Maurita Lovelace, Sheril Rickerson, Lois McBride.

Lisa Ferguson, Gary Joe Lovelace, Don Ward, Margot Ward, Paul Morales, Tammy Works, Tammy Ortiz, Eric Olson, Kirk Olson, Annette Chavez, Debbie Vega, Sandra Morales, Brenda Lindsay, Jimmy Zamora, Richard Portillo, Frankie Baca and Billy Bob Shafer.

Bell ringer Eric Olson made good sounds to celebrate freedom. Waiting in line for a turn at the rop is little brother Kirk. The tail end of the parade and maybe the youngest participant looked a little bewildered.

Rodeo money sets record

Capitan's Smokey Bear Stampede Rodeo paid out a record $9360 in prize money for the three day 4th of July event at the Lincoln County Fair grounds.

Top money went to Mark Rowland who took home $980 and a first in calf roping. There were 210 entries and standing room only for the final events Sunday.

Smokey couldn't make it in person but he sent a representative from the museum to remind us not to burn our forests. The Smokey Bear State Park is now under construction in Capitan. The museum is open this summer.

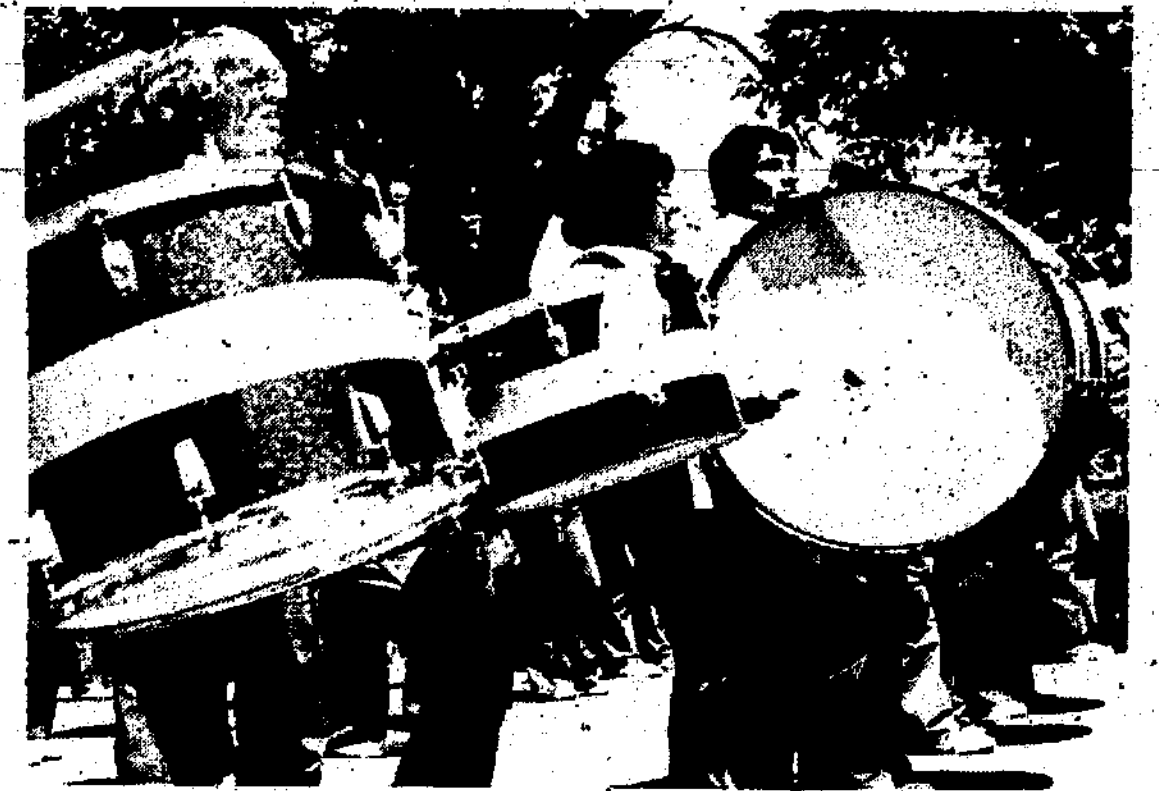

Picnics were a part of the 4th and distinguished guests at Pat Dunning's White Oaks gathering were Dr. Martin Jaenke of Alamogordo and Dr. and Mrs. Cyrus Gordon, now at NMU.

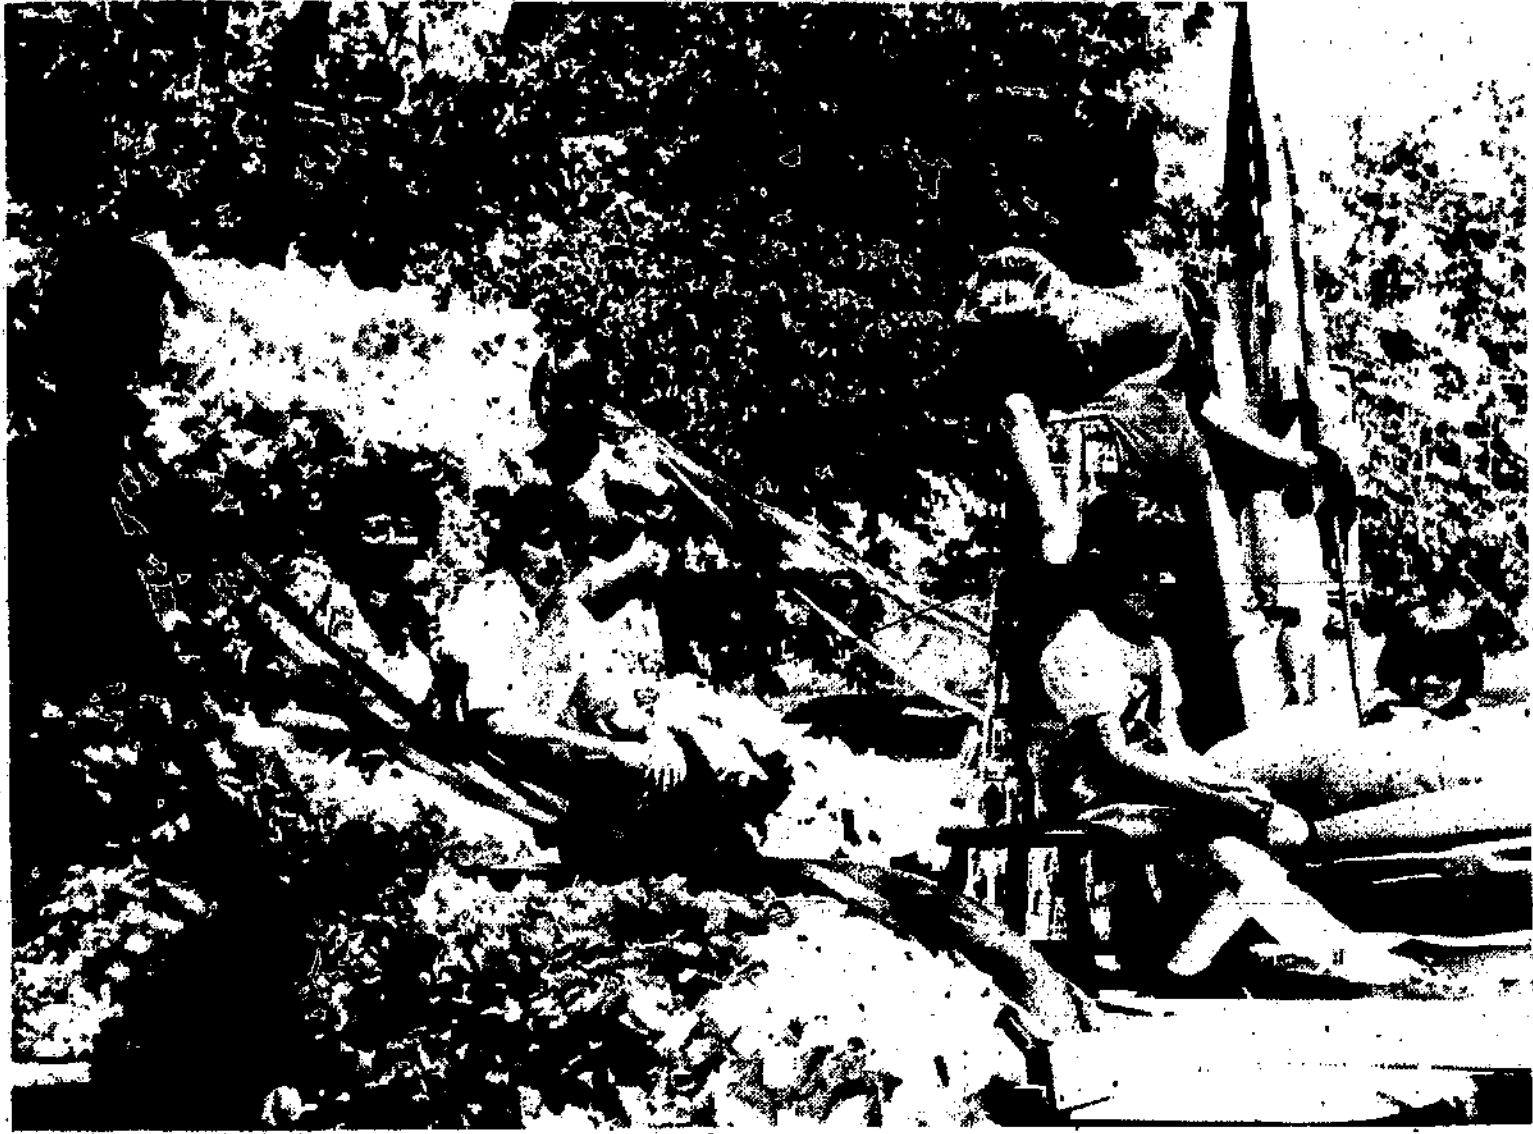

Bobby Dan Crenshaw, and Sid Goodloe sample some fine home grown barbecue. The early part of the day was beautiful at the Crenshaw old ranch headquarters. Later heavy rains made it even look better to Lincoln County ranchers—a good way to celebrate the 4th. (see Way West).

It may be called "Old Mans Breakaway" but there are not many young men who could beat Gerald Tully's roping skill. Once again he will be wearing the prize buckle from Capitan.

Big drums set the beat for the marchers on a beautiful 4th in Capitan. They are members of the Roswell High School Band.

A prize winning float by the Evan's who own the Chuck Inn was decorated in Bicentennial colors were a lot of fancy costumes and pretty girls.

Gid Allen (center) came out on top of the calf scramble and won the money at the rodeo Sunday.

Lincoln

Bells were ringing in Old Lincoln Town on July 4, 1976, in commemoration of the birth of our nation - our Bicentennial.

The two church bells in Lincoln were each rung two hundred times. The community church bell was rung by Kathy Lee and Albert Booky and Mary and Schar Ward. The San Juan Catholic Church bell was rung by Rafaelita Salazar Pryor, with the help of Rick Madden. This was of great significance to Mrs. Fryor as she is the grand-daughter of Maria Juana Baca, whose name "Maria Juana" is inscribed on the bell - and it was she who christened it when it arrived in Lincoln in the 1880's.

We are not looking forward to having Rick and Molly Madden move away from us as they plan. They will go to Albuquerque where Rick will be a medical student at the University and Molly will be employed at the library there. However we wish this lovely young couple the best in everything and every way.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wood of Lawton, Okla. visited the Wards last week. Mr. Wood is Mary Ward's brother.

They were greatly impressed with Lincoln Town and hope to come again sometime in the near future.

Mary Ward and Louise Ruhnels were visitors in Las Cruces, Radium Springs and Hatch last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Pfingsten and children spent the 4th of July holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Pfingsten.

Mrs. Helen Bennett and I went to Roswell Sunday. We visited Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Pfingsten and were happy to see them feeling better. Her sister Dorothy and Hester were there from their homes in Arkansas and we were pleased to see them too.

In the evening we enjoyed the Bicentennial celebration at the Wool Bowl.

We're going to be lonesome around here - My grandsons Richard (Ricky) and Kirk had to leave for West Point on Monday. Their parents took them to Albuquerque on Monday and they were to fly from there at 2:15 a.m. on Tuesday.

I had hoped to have more about Terry and Patsy Racher and their children's return from Guam where they were doing church work. I'm sure I can later. Patsy is the daughter of the Leo Joiners of Hondo and Terry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Racher who new lives in Carrizozo. We miss having Mr. & Mrs. Racher in Lincoln, too, by the way but we hope they enjoy their home in Carrizozo.

Cattle dealer is suspended

James T. Harmon, operator of Harman Cattle Co., Amarillo, Tex., has been suspended as a registered livestock dealer for violating bonding requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) said today.

Mr. Harmon purchases livestock throughout the Texas Panhandle, western Oklahoma, and eastern New Mexico.

Mr. Harmon consented to issuance of the order and waived oral hearing. He neither admitted nor denied the charges in an administrative complaint filed by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration.

Administrative Law Judge John A. Campbell suspended Mr. Harmon's registration until he complies fully with bonding requirements under the Packers and Stockyards (P&S) Act. He may not operate as a market agency or as a dealer during that time.

Mr. Harmon was also ordered to cease and desist from operating as a market agency or dealer without filing and maintaining a reasonable bond. The order - like a permanent injunction - was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act.

By Mary Rich

We used to think New Mexico, particularly this part of it, was rainy country. And for a time when Mark was a little boy, he believed he was some kind of a rain maker.

Our annual vacation, before we made the big move was a camping trip in the New Mexico forests and we usually came some time in July. We would hear talk about droughts, about high fire dangers, but every year, right after we pitched our tent, down would come the rain. Fire danger? We couldn't even get a fire started. I remember trying to cook a stew in the rain. The wood was wet and smokey. We finally concocted a semi-protected cooking fire and got the water warm enough to give an appearance of boiling. We put in the potatoes and carrots and onions planning to add the meat later. I guess we were camping at over 7000 feet. At any rate a couple of hours later the water was gone and the vegetables still hard. We ate a can of cold beans with butter and onion sandwiches. Ugh.

More hours passed and we decided to add the meat anyway. (Vegetables still hard) About the time the meat turned gray down came a barrage of hail stones. We opened a can of emergency corned beef (from Australia, I think) turned on the lantern and began a four day poker game. That was about ten years ago and I still owe Mark two million dollars.

W—W

Of course now I know about rain in New Mexico. It rains in July and probably on the 4th of July parades, rodeos, picnics and Indian Dances. It rains again on the campers at the Ranchers Camp Meeting. It rains on camp grounds, fishing lakes, tennis courts, baseball diamonds, golf courses and practically never on pastures.

W—W

According to Rachel West and Gertrude Risher, it rained on the Mescalero rodeo and dances Saturday but we got through the parade and rodeo in Capitan on the 4th without a shower.

Mark, Lucy and I were joining Pat Dunning, and many other friends including some distinguished guests for a barbeque at the old Crenshaw ranch headquarters on the outside of Patos Mountain east of White Oaks.

Along about dark after we were all so full of food and fellowship that movement was a problem, the old New Mexico sky started one of its summer struggles that sometimes brings about a little moisture.

Mark looked at me and laughed. "We haven't got our tent pitched yet but its going to let loose." We headed for the car yelling out goodbyes at the others who were moving into the old house. I don't know how much rain Mr. Manire recorded, but we had trouble seeing to drive. (It rains on July picnics and at 7,000 plus feet, potatoes and carrots are eaten raw.)

W—W

Distinguished and honored guests for the barbeque were Dr. Cyrus Gordon and Joan Gordon. He is an eminent archeologist and historian and is teaching this summer at NMU. Joan says that next year will be their last at New York University, and then they have another future to explore.

Exploration has been much of their life. Pat was with the couple on expeditions in Africa and the east. She says they are good people to be with when the banshees are howling and the banditos are shooting into your tents. Actually, I don't think Pat said banshees and banditos but something was howling and someone was shooting on one of their expeditions and the Gordons kept their cool.

W—W

Dr. Gordon asked questions about attitudes and perhaps future actions in our Southwest polyglot culture. I answered and tried to answer honestly. But later in the night, recalling the conversation and the man who studies eras of civilizations, I wondered if my quick answers had any meaning.

Newspaper people, reporters, are not historians except by accident. Our function is to observe and record day by day. Occasionally we make a comment or perhaps render an opinion on the future effect of that which we see.

And so later I thought that if Dr. Gordon has asked a "long haul" question, he had received a "quick trip" answer.

W—W

One June Dr. Gordon was discussing New Mexico with a friend of who specializes in Arabic cultures and languages. They talked about Albuquerque and his friend asked if he knew the origin of that name. Dr. Gordon replied that of course the city was named after the Duke of Albuquerque. His friend said yes but did he know that Albuquerque was not originally Spanish but Arabian, "albulkurk", and meant "father of the hernia?" And there goes another distinguished name into the common dust. Oh well, a rose by any other name...

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sudderth have announced the forthcoming marriage of their daughter Linda to Clark Collier, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Collier, Brownfield, Tx. The marriage will take place at 11 a.m. August 14 at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount in Ruidoso.

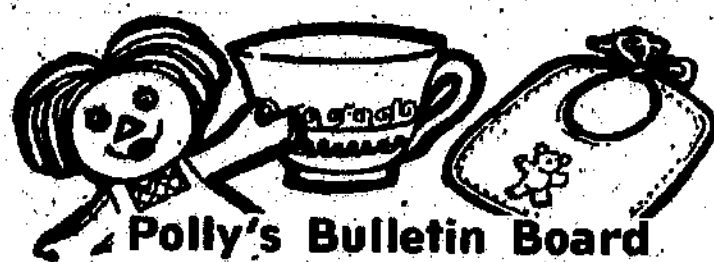

Hugh J. Winn of Colorado State University will be the instructor for a seminar on Beef Futures Markets and Economics of Beef Grading to be held July 14 at the co-op in Carrizozo. The seminar will begin at 1 p.m.

"Mr. Winn has a wide experience teaching people about Beef Futures Markets and is a nationally recognized authority on the Economics of Beef Grading. New Mexico State University Cooperative Extension Service made an extra effort to obtain Mr. Winn's services for this series of meetings," the County Agent went on to say, "and we hope our beef producers will turn out to hear him."

The meeting is open to the public and further information can be obtained from the County Extension office.

Children are filled with the desire for "something to do," when parents desire "to do nothing."

"Can I make a puppet?"

"I'm going to make a boat!"

"Would you teach me how to make a CB?"

"Aw, all you kids go watch T. V."

"But ma, although much of today's highly passive entertainment (television, movies, spectator sports) fills certain needs, it does not always answer the need to create."

"O.K. O.K. you win. One of the most important things to do before you begin a project is to much sure your hands are clean. A smudge from dirty fingers will ruin a new piece of paper or cloth before you even get started. It is also important to wear a smock to keep your clothes clean. Get together whatever you need before you start a project. If you are going to use pencils or crayons you will need a smooth, clean table."

When you paint, cover the table with newspapers. Water used for dipping your brushes should not be knocked over. After you have painted, carefully wash your brushes and tightly screw lids and caps on paint jars and tubes. Just like tooth paste tubes, they need to be capped after use. Don't leave the crayons in a place where the sun will melt them, that is if the baby didn't push them into the toaster. Put away all scraps of paper, cloth, wood, or other material you have been using. Remember, a penny saved, is a penny earned. After you have wiped up drops of paint and cleaned brushes, swept up sawdust and scraps of paper, be sure to wash your hands well so you won't smudge your finished project. Scuff off any paint or glue that has dropped on you or your clothing. Then hang up your smock so that it will be handy when you are ready to start again. O.K. Now what would you kids like to create for your first project?"

"Ma, we just remembered that this is the day the "G" rated movie is showing on T. V. We would rather watch Ronald Reagan ride off into the sunset than prepare a work area for crafts."

A BUCKET FULL OF SLEEP!

How to get up in the morning, scientists have been working on ways to make it easier for you to get up for years. Did you know, for instance, that you start waking up gradually about three hours after you've climbed into bed?

There are four stages of sleep. Stage 4 is a very deep sleep - when you go to bed you drop rapidly into stage 4. "Dead to the world." Then to stage three, a moderately deep sleep; then to stage two, a light sleep then to stage one, a simple drowsiness. Now for getting up—the slow starters—are evening people—they drag through the early hours slip into high gear late in the day, and are still going strong when their friends begin to turn out the lights. Morning people get off to a fast start, hit peak about noon and trail off later - about 5:30 - going to bed about 10:00. You can locate yourself with the help of a simple clinical thermometer. If you get up at 7:00 - take your temp. take it again at 10:00 then at Noon - then at 3:00 and at 5:00. See what it is. At 7:00 your temp. may be 97.3 - by noon it may be normal 98.6 and later it may go down again.

This was taken from the Digest—thought it would be fun to see if you are a morning person or an evening person.

- Here are 4 ways to help yourself get up:
1. Discover your schedule and stick to it closely - (measure your Temp.)
 2. Take some quick energy-like a glass of juice-sit on the table by your bed the night before.
 3. Stretch - and move around in bed.
 4. Organize your morning the night before - think about what you are going to do the next morning.

SAY!

Did you have fun in Durango last week - O. K. pile everything in the car and take off for Ruidoso - to the Arts and Crafts show then on to Alamogordo, (called the Rocket City) because of the nearby testing and research center at Holloman Air Force Base & the nearby testing and research center at Holloman Air Force Base and the White Sands Missile Range. Then on to El Paso, the American border city. Did you ever go on the devout walk a winding foot path with 14 stations of the cross to the top of Mt. Cristo Rey - and naturally to Juarez.

ROBY'S BOX!

Dear Roby

The weary father was talking to his wife about their four year old son: "Talk, talk, talk, Thank heavens, in a few years he'll be a teenager and we won't be able to communicate."

Dear Roby

I can't get over how well you and your wife get along. Don't you ever have any differences of opinion?

"Oh yes, very often."

"And yet you get over them so quickly?"
"Well, that's the secret, I never tell her about them."

A BIT OF WISDOM!

What a father says to his children is not heard by the world; but it will be heard by posterity. If at first you don't succeed, you are running about average.

One nice thing about an egotists, they don't talk about other people.

DO YOU KNOW?

1. The cow boy who has started a garden and it is doing well?
2. The outstanding Carrizozo women who had a birthday last week?
3. The exciting new home just out of Carrizozo?
4. That charming lady is back home in Carrizozo - and everyone missed her - especially - a news-paper owner?
5. That Mrs. Callaway did an outstanding job at Sunda again?

Our recipe this week is a lb cake - that is very rich and good - I baked it last week and it would have been out of this world - but I over cooked it just a bit - When you make it watch out!

9 egg whites (1 1/4 cups)

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour

- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups sugar
- 9 egg yolks
- 2 cups butter (softened)
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 2 cups Confectioners' sugar

1. In large bowl of electric mixer, let egg whites warm to room temp - about 1 hour.
2. Preheat oven to 350 F. Grease and lightly flour 10 inch tube pan. Fift flour with baking powder and salt; set aside.
3. With electric mixer at high speed, beat egg whites until foamy, gradually beat in 1 cup sugar, 1/4 cup at a time, beating after each addition. Continue beating until soft peaks form.
4. In another bowl beat yolks with remaining 1 cup sugar, butter, and vanilla, for 5 min. at low speed beat in flour mixture -
5. Then gradually beat in egg white mix just until blended, scraping bowl and helping to blend with rubber scraper.
6. Turn into prepared pan. Bake 65 min., then let cool in pan on wire rack. Then turn right side up on cake plate and put confectioners sugar and cherries on top.

AROUND THE BOWL:

Nogal had a lovely shower - bath last night - things look nice and clean - and strong - the gardens grew 1/4 of an inch - it seems. A clear 4th of July - for every one - there were a lot of cars at the Wooten house - and I just found out yesterday that Miles & Myrtle just had a visit from their son Bud - he lives in San Francisco and doesn't get to come often. Douglas Burkstaller swished into Sunda at 12:00 the other night from Denver. Damon Burkstaller is visiting his sister in Plainview Texas.

The post office was filled yesterday with interesting folk - like Mr. Dillard, who is looking well - Bill Payton and Ma were visiting with Mrs. Fisher, who is visiting her son Arther Fisher - our guest writer. Ralph had a gleam in his eye as he bought his family buy to play a little tennis and check out Sunda. Dana - 15, Gina - 13, Beth - 16 came to see grandpa Forsythe - Jack and Sara Forsy parents took a tour and we visited in the craft room - looking at china painting and etc. It is always nice to have visitors at Sunda. I do hope they will be back soon - Ralph's grandsons didn't get to come this trip - but we send them a hello!

Hope you each had a Happy 4th of July!

Horse sale at Ruidoso Downs Friday

The fourth annual Select Summer Sale of Thoroughbreds and Quarter Horses gets underway Friday (July 9) in the All-American Sales Arena at Ruidoso Downs.

The two-session vendue extends into Saturday, starting at 7:30 p.m. each day. A total of 171 head have been catalogued, and that represents quite a hike over last year when 137 horses were sold.

The Summer Sale is open to horses of all ages, with the exception of quarter horse yearlings. According to Sale Manager Richard Thompson, this year's stock represents the best quality in the history of the Summer Sale. "We're especially strong in the area of horses-in-training and thoroughbred mares," Thompson points out.

A highpoint of the '76 edition is a 36-head partial disbursement by Gordon B. Howell of Sunland Park, N.M. The group includes both quarter horses and thoroughbreds.

The Howell contingent offers Princess Sandell, a quarter horse mare by Joe Queen. Also figuring to get the attention of the buyers is Request Bold. The latter is by Plead Away, the dam of the well-known Ruidoso stakes winner, Requested Honor. Plead Away also produced the stakes-winning Danville Miss.

Jockey Jerry Nicodemus entered Fairly Irish, a mare who could possibly emerge as the sale topper. Fairly Irish is the dam of the thoroughbred Barlaris. A winner of $36,836 in his career, Barlaris is now gaining stature as a quarter horse sire. Fairly Irish's value figures to be enhanced considerably by the fact he's in foal to the 1970 All-American Futurity winner, Rocket Wrangler.

Sam Stevens of La Mesa, Texas, consigned Foxy H.K., a two-year-old filly who recently won a four-furlong Ruidoso spin by six lengths. Stevens also entered another potential sale topper, Countless Blade. The filly, who is yet to make her first start, is by the highly-respected sire, Blade, out of the stakes-producing dam, Countless Cook.

Stuart H. Struck of Scottsdale, Ariz., consigned five two-year-olds in training which represent such sires as Winonly and Rambling Rose.

Sam Stiefel of Chino, Calif., entered eight thoroughbred mares, including the stakes-winner, Scattered Could. She's made $25,875. Stiefel also consigned Miss Lisa Lou, a takes-placed Winner of Three races.

Solid Ellen—the dam of Flashing Shadow—was consigned by Dr. E. Lloyd Delley of Hondo, Texas. Flashing Shadow is already a two-time winner at the meeting.

Rancho Jonata of Buellton, Calif., consigned a six-head group of well-bred yearlings. Last year, Rancho Johata sent Monville to the Summer Sale, and the colt brought the top price of $21,000, made the finale of Sunlands Park's $238,000 Riley Allison Thoroughbred Futurity. Tom Caldwell, the most well-known race-horse auctioneer in the nation, will be back at the gavel for the Summer Sale. He'll be assisted one again by Bill Tackett.

Caldwell also serves as the auctioneer for the upcoming All-American Quarter Horse Yearling Sale at Ruidoso Downs. That's the largest and most prestigious quarter horse sale in the world. He's also the director of auctions at Keeneland, Ky., and handles all four sales there—including the Summer Sale, which is the largest horse sale in the world. The last edition grossed over $17 million, averaging about $54,000 per head.

In addition, Caldwell is also the man at the gavel for the world's two largest standard bred sales—the Harrisburg sale in Pennsylvania and the Tattersalls Sale in Lexington, Ky.

During the past 20 years, Caldwell has auctioned racehorses which brought over $600 million.

VOLUME 70, NUMBER 29 THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1976 P.O. DRAWER 459 CARRIZOZO, N.M. 88301

Mayor's job up for grabs

Carrizozo is still without a mayor. Several businesses may go without their money. The city water system is going to have to do without the addition of water from the McBride Well. The new garbage system may be without a truck. All in all, it looked like the town had a lot of problems to solve after the Monday night meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Roy Harman who declined. Manny Hernandez, mayor pro tem, asked if either Bob Luna or Silva would be interested in moving up to the top spot. Neither was. Hernandez said that a number of people had submitted their names as candidates for the position and suggested that action be postponed until a later meeting. But the trustees decided to hear the candidates first.

Jim Gibson said that he could get along with everyone and believed he could pull the town together. He suggested working committees of citizens and greater idea input from residents. Bob Conner withdrew his name from consideration. Eddie O'Brien said he would like to be a councilman but would go along with Gibson for Mayor.

County airport site open

The Sierra Blanca Airport Development Committee appears to feel that a Lincoln County Airport site on Ft. Stanton BLM controlled property would be the best choice despite an unfavorable report of the New Mexico Multiple Use Advisory Board of the Bureau of Land Management last week.

Arthur Zimmerman, state BLM director is expected to confirm the boards recommendation to the federal BLM with reports to the Secretary of Interior.

Under state law the town cannot make a purchase of over $500 without taking bids unless the purchase is an emergency and is so declared in advance by the board of trustees.

The BLM group announced that "Use for such purpose would be incompatible with and too disruptive of other present and planned uses for beneficial to the national public interest."

Early phases of the master plan being made by Herkenhoff-Parsons recommended a site at Fort Stanton and an alternate site nearby on private land.

Police department refusal was caused by more than legal limits.

Three day golfing set

Lincoln County continues to celebrate the summer of '76 with a full calendar of events. This week Capitan will have its Art and Crafts Fair July 16, 17 and 18 and a town full of displays are expected.

The feasibility study on the airport has not been completed and the airport group had not requested any action on the part of the BLM.

At the last meeting, Chief Choncho Morales asked the town to purchase uniforms for his five man force. The CETA employees have low wages and cannot afford additional expenses, according to Morales.

Next weekend July 23, 24 and 25 the Carrizozo Golf Course will host a three day affair. The Carrizozo Women's Golf Association is sponsoring a nine-hole shot-gun tournament for the ladies on Friday.

Volume IV, entitled Financial Plans, of the Airport Master Plan was presented by Earl Cook of Herkenhoff-Parsons, Albuquerque and Los Angeles Committee members were advised by Cook that the three-phase development plan would cost an approximate $30 million.

Morales said that the men needed uniforms as identification and thought they could be purchased at a low cost from Gambles in Carrizozo.

Play begins at 9:30 a.m. The women will have a salad and punch lunch at the Carrizozo Country Club. The beginning of a two day tourney for men will be Friday afternoon when the men will qualify for the Saturday-Sunday play.

First phase of the plan, in response to actual, not projected, air traffic in the Ruidoso area, is the "most critical area of the entire project," according to Cook and carries a price tag of $12.5 million over a two year period. Figures are based on 1975 costs.

Gambles did not have the uniforms in stock and ordered them, or offered to order them. The police decided not to wait and went to Alamogordo to get their new clothes.

Friday night the club will invite players to be guests at a happy hour.

The second phase, including widening and lengthening runways, expanding parking area and terminal building along with NAV-AD additions will cost an estimated $7.2 million.

The police bought pants, shirts, caps, jackets, belts, holsters, boots—$1340 worth in all. The men say they called the town and asked the mayor what they could buy and he authorized the full purchase.

Saturday night the country club will entertain players with a barbecue and dance and final play will be Sunday.

Phase Three, projected up to 1995, calls for $10.3 million.

Former Mayor Siegrist told the News that the trustees voted to purchase uniforms and he considered all of this part of the uniforms. He said he did not inquire into cost and did not realize it would exceed the $500 legal limit. Siegrist said the minutes would reflect uniforms were authorized.

Capitan show is this week

The Capitans Arts & Crafts Fair will be held July 16, 17 and 18, 1976 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. each day, in downtown area.

"Phases will probably be realized in subphases, depending on demand," Cook said. After hearing reports on protected operational costs, revenues and cash flow analysis, Heckman said, "Debt retirement is not a capacity of this airport or of most other airports. As a public facility, it can pay its own operating costs, but the capitalization costs must be paid with public monies."

Choncho says that he told the men not to buy boots and holsters but they went over his head. City secretary Christine Chavez said that she advised the store in Alamogordo that the town would not pay for the boots before the purchase was made. She also said that according to the minutes the trustees authorized only the purchase of shirts and pants. She said that the mayor could not have checked the minutes since they were not typed until this week.

There will be a variety of crafts and art work done by local artists on display. Some of which are: paintings, hand woven rugs, pottery, jewelry, handmade dolls, Ojos, macrame, ceramics, handmade musical instruments and much much more.

Financial resources are four-fold: airport revenue, local funds, state and regional monies and federal revenues. It was stressed that sources of funding, at this point, are strictly potential.

The trustees told the city clerk to pay for the shirts and pants only.

Also as one of the main attractions, Mr. Forrest Gaston will be exhibiting his collection of Indian Artifacts which is considered the most extensive home collection in the U.S. This collection dates from 20,000 B.C. to 600 A.D. containing items such as beads, fish hooks, thunderbirds, spear heads, tomahawks, arrowheads, nose rings, stone axes, indian tools and much more. He will give lectures at 3:00 p.m. each day.

"Ultimately, the public will make the final decision on whether or not it wants and needs an airport and if it will support the cost of building one," Heckman said.

The trustees also declined to pay a $1519.96 bill to Gambles in Carrizozo for CB radios purchased by the fire department and once again the newly resigned mayor was under fire.

Camp meeting is underway

If Lincoln County shopping towns seem rather empty this weekend. It is because all the ranchers, their families, friends, and relatives, and even some strangers, are at Camp Meeting. Services started the evening of Wednesday, with Rev. Boyce Evans and Rev. Ernest Armstrong preaching at alternate services, you won't want to miss hearing both these gentlemen. They bring a non-denominational Christian message, augmented by some of the best singing of our old favorite hymns. Everyone sings.

Firemen top Little league

League action saw four teams competing for the top spot in league action last week. Fire Dept., 1975 League champs once again won the championship by defeating Bank and J. G. Moore Agency and went on to two years undefeated with a 14-0 record. J. G. Moore stood in second place, Merchants third and Bank fourth. Games are still being played with league teams and out of town teams.

City Attorney Payne told the trustees that it was illegal to purchase the radios without taking bids. Fire Chief Wes Lindsay said that he had been given permission to make the purchase by Mayor Siegrist. He said that the firemen were paying the balance. He said the mayor, early in the year, had told him it would be permissible to make the purchases without bids if the purchases were spread over several months. This was done, Lindsay said, and he presumed the bills were paid some time ago. Lindsay said he had talked to both Siegrist and former manager Johnny Johnson and has understood that the fire department had the permission of the trustees.

The coffee pot is hot and ready from 6 a.m. 'til bonfire time. Barbequed beef and chuckwagon staples taste extra delicious in the fresh mountain air with the camaraderie of the friendly people eating with you. Ranchers always depend on Camp Meeting to bring the rains. They are never disappointed. Don't miss the opportunity to give your prayers for all the blessings we enjoy in America today. 1976 is the year the Nogal Mesa Camp meeting is celebrating the Bicentennial with the gathering of old and new friends to camp, eat, pray, sing, and thank the Almighty for the rain, the grass, the trees, and your own personal blessings. Meals are at 7:30, 12:30, and 6:30. Services are at 11:00, 3:00 and 7:30. The campground is located 5 miles west of Capitan or 15 miles east of Carrizozo off Highway 380.

An All-Star team has been selected and will be playing teams of Alamogordo July 23, at 7:30 p.m. Come and cheer these fine kids on to possible other playoffs.

Attorney Payne told the trustees that spreading the purchase would not solve the necessity for bids where the original intent had been to make the total purchase.

Players chosen were: John Vega, Alex Serna, Larry Beltran, Billy Lucero, Frank Silva, Andy Gallegos, Darin Gibson, Clarence Beltran, Billy Lamay, Johnny Morales, Franklin Montoya, John Aguilar, Leroy Silva, Mike Alariz (Corona). Coach for the all Star team is Emilio Beltran with Gilbert Archuleta and Mac Luera as assistants. Coach Beltran would like to thank and congratulate all Fire Dept players for playing fine baseball and giving their best and regrets he could not get all the players he would have wanted for the all star team.

Recreation Committee Chairman Ray Wells said that he was not aware that bids were required. He said the big purchase was made to save money. In the past fertilizer had been purchased in smaller amounts and at a greater cost.

Search on for escapee

State police and Lincoln County's sheriff's officers were searching for an escaped inmate from Sierra Blanca detention camp this week. Patrick Creley, the inmate, had been on a work program and failed to return to the camp from his employment in Carrizozo. He escaped in an automobile which was found abandoned near Bonito Lake. Roadblocks were set up Sunday and Monday in the area but officers failed to apprehend Creley. A report was received of a hitchhiker being picked up and taken to Socorro but there were no developments from that and early Wednesday the dispatcher in the Lincoln County Sheriff's office said he did not know if Creley had been recaptured.

He said that the department had not asked for bids for fertilizer in the past few years. Just how the companies involved will recover their money appeared uncertain. Payne said it might be necessary for them to sue the town for their bills.

What do you do in Lincoln County on a hot summer afternoon? If you are Tammy Works you take a flying leap off the diving board at the Carrizozo Pool.

If you are three young Cantrells named Elaina, Lisa and Bryan and you have done your chores, your mother lets you go swimming.

If you are John Vega, Alex Serna, Gaby Patrick and Dolores Samora and Ann Beltran (standing) you meet your friends at the edge of the Carrizozo pool and spend the rest of the afternoon having a lot of summer time fun.

School board hires three

Two former Carrizozo school teachers will be rejoining the teaching staff when school opens on August 24. The Board voted to hire Veda Lou Stephenson as girls coach and mid school science teacher. Winimeril Wilmore was employed as third grade teacher. She taught in the Carrizozo Schools from 1972 to 1974. 24 year old Judy Lee Coffman will be added to the mid school staff as a language arts teacher. She taught at Moriarty last year, is a graduate of EMNU and has two years experience. Mrs. Stephenson is a graduate of Texas Western University and taught in Carrizozo 1961-63. Since her teaching position with the school she has been active in civic organizations and has taught music. Miss Wilmore is a graduate of ENMU and has six years previous experience including the two years in Carrizozo. Superintendent Jim Steinepreis told the board that there was a cash balance of $86,286.43 when the fiscal year closed July 1. He said that was about $3000 over the estimated cash balance included in the 1976-77 budget. Attorney Archie Witham appeared to request the schools if possible to give a quit claim deed to ten lots in White Oaks Buck Horn Addition to Fred English. Witham said he had been involved in clearing title to a section of land in White Oaks for English for a considerable time. Last year some exchanges were made with the school but in the case, Witham said, the title problems were caused by what appears to be a mistake in early records.

The board took the matter under advisement. Bids were opened and the policy for the school storage building was awarded to J. G. Moore Agency, the only bidder. A 15 passenger Dodge Van bid from Southwest Dodge in Roswell came in a low for $6900 and was accepted. A contract for maintenance of the schools typewriters and adding machines required further investigation as did the purchase of additional backboards for the gym. Under consideration are four practice boards which will cost about $5800. The board did decide to purchase a second tiered score board for the gym for $1510. A contract for the Bingham bus route was given to Sharon Heffer. Steinepreis said that the new administration storage building should be completed this month and that the next board meeting would be in the new building.  On July 10 at 5:10 in 1945 Lincoln County residents saw an earthly light which was followed by a shock wave and for the first time a strange mushroom shaped cloud appeared. It was the beginning of a new era for the earth. Now 31 years later, a marker, two buildings, a concrete shell of a bunker remain on the White Sands Missile range at Trinity Site west of Carrizozo to mark the birth of the atomic bomb. Mankind is still deciding what history will say about that event. *****

This week I will put all 'Kidding' aside. This is serious week. Here are some tips for the cold days ahead. Now in the heat of summer, think 'quilt, snow, cozy comfort.'

Now is the time to take inventory of your 'kivvers.' (covers, quilts, coverlets.) Come the first cool days you will be prepared.

Anyone who enjoys stitching can appreciate the gratification women through the ages have felt in piecing fabric to make quilts.

I haunt the book mobile and libraries in neighboring towns for books on quilting, piecing and patching. I pester and annoy anyone who mentions 'quilt,' until they give me names, addresses, and locations of their grannies and great aunts.

This doesn't imply that only the elderly are interested in the craft of quilting. The pleasure of making and owning quilts is fascinating to woman of all ages. Even men: It would give me great pleasure for one of my sons to create a quilt some day.

Even in families where there is no economic necessity for using up old rags to make something warm for the bed is the trend.

Yes, this is the time to see that you are prepared for the winter ahead. Repair torn comfortors and quilts. Make baby a cute quilt, make junior a coverlet to watch T.V., make grand dad a lap robe.

Motherhood, apple pie, the american flag and quilting is here to stay.

How are you fixed on 'kivvers?'

Bernice Nickels has surgery

A former resident of Carrizozo, Bernice Nickels of T or C, fell and broke her hip June 25. Surgery was performed June 28 at Las Cruces and she was discharged from hospital July 7. Now she lives at Opal Spiller guest home, 1545 Mariposa, Las Cruces.

Her two daughters, Marjorie Picture of Torrance Calif., and Dorothy Cook of San Diego, Calif., were in Carrizozo last week and talked with the News publisher about times when they lived here. Marjorie was born at Lincoln, went through all 12 grades in Carrizozo, with her mother as teacher in the 2nd grade. Mrs. Picture left Lincoln County in 1937.

Bill Nickels was born in Carrizozo, in red brick house that used to be the electric power office when electricity came down from White Oaks. This building is across street from bank, down a few feet.

Marjorie and Dorothy were remembering the Nickels house, the adobe off to left on road to airport. "Dad" was salesman in charge of the drygoods department for the Carrizozo Trading Co., building still standing on Railroad Ave. The Nickels were married in 1913 and moved to Carrizozo from Ft. Sumner.

We were discussing disappointments one recent star filled evening and I said that most disappointments were based upon unresearched expectations, foolish hopes and wishful thinking.

Perhaps it was fitting in Victorian England for a maiden to pine away because of a disappointment in love but it is rather difficult to go into a decline in any comfort in these parts. It takes a lot of work to scratch a living out of this country where water is scarce and any tampering with the top soil soon gets you down to hard rock.

When is there time to decline? More important to the general well being of the average Lincoln County dweller is continual splendor of the country.

Sunday evening Paul Payton told us to look at Carrizozo Mountain. It was glowing purple in the sunset. Several nights ago we went to the Malpais to shoot off some Bicentennial fireworks. Nature out did us with a show of lightning and thunder and rolling clouds.

Our sun sets, sun rises and blue and white July skies make it hard to be miserable for any length of time.

W-W

Let's consider a few types of disappointments. You hear about a parent being disappointed in a child. It seems to me that the most a person has any business expecting is that their son or daughter will not come to an untimely end in the electric chair, gas chamber or hanging tree. The only reason for that great expectation is most states have abolished the death penalty.

It is perfectly proper to hope that your offspring would grow up to do what he wants to do. It is getting pretty chancy when you hope for happiness for that youngster and it is down right foolish when you plot a career, successful marriage or a fortune for your posterity. Actually the more planning you do, the more pushing you fail to do, the more likely it is that you will cause a negative reaction. It is known as the perversity of progeny or commonly expressed as, "Nobody's going to tell me what to do."

W-W

Then there is the ever present disappointment in love and marriage. Disappointment in love is just marvelous up to about 18 years. Falling in and out of love is a part of growing up, going to school and proper courtship.

I remember losing a boyfriend in about the sixth grade because I believed my mother when she warned that nice boys don't like girls who let them have kisses.

Maybe there weren't any nice boys in Stephenville, Texas. I sure was hard-pressed there for a while for a boyfriend after announcing at a wienie roast that henceforth I would not play post office, nor would any other nice girls.

Mama, you were wrong that time. By the seventh grade I had learned. One of my girl friends, said she was going to call me Sea Biscuit if I didn't quit running to the "window" when I got an "Airmail".

But back to love and disappointment thereof. We tend to see a beloved through eyes clouded by our imagination. During romantic courtship we often attribute qualities to our beloveds that we wish them to have. We take on unnatural characteristics we think desirable to the other.

If the courtship routine doesn't work out and he or she wanders off to find another (and another and another) it shouldn't be a cause for great disappointment in a mature person. Count your blessings because--

The odds on a marriage working and lasting are not really all that good. The odds on a marriage lasting and being happy are terrible.

There are a lot of reasons for this and everyone who has been married knows them. Nobody expects birds to keep their courtship plumage or dance all year, year after year, but somehow we have hopes of that with our marriages it will be different and the bloom of love will stay forever.

A realistic appraisal of the situation by both parties would better the odds of an enduring union. I guess that is pretty unlikely when that old black magic is at work.

It still is a little silly to tell your lawyer, "I'm real disappointed in my wife (husband)."

The hardest kind of misfortune to accept and the easiest to predict is a business failure, a ruined career a misspent life.

It is fairly easy to discover, in this day and time, whether one has certain aptitudes and abilities. If you don't have the coordination to thread a needle, it is fairly foolish to expect to succeed as a brain surgeon. You can only bury so many mistakes before they take away your seapel.

Sometimes it takes a bit of convincing for certain confident types. Even though my vision is short, I trip over the only piece of furniture in a room, and my reflexes are a second or two behind normal. I still think I could have been a champion tennis player if I had really worked at it.

Thorough research will avoid most business pitfalls. There are tests that will indicate whether a business will probably succeed or fail.

There are even tests now that can help determine if a person will be reasonably happy in a field of endeavor. Certainly it would be better to be a happy cowpoke than an unhappy bank president.

There are a certain number of exceptions to all the tests and rules. I know two highly successful trial lawyers who were both terrified to speak in public when they were students. And there have been people who have overcome tremendous handicaps to achieve their goals.

BUT no one would have been surprised or disappointed if they had not succeeded.

If a person fails to take advantage of the available methods of determining his chances of success and goes into something with the odds 99 to 1 against, then it is pretty foolish of him to say he is disappointed when the banker calls his note.

W-W

There are a number of things that make people wonder about you if you act disappointed. Some of those failures that should not cause disappointment are:

1. When you don't fill an inside straight.
2. If you don't come home from Vegas rich.
3. If your horse places fourth.
4. If you lose an election when you have one or more opponents.
5. If you don't hit water on your first hole anywhere in Lincoln County.
6. If you do hit water on the Carrizozo golf course the first time.

Now according to your disposition, it might be permissible to be a little disappointed (not upset) if you lose when the odds are even.

But do you really believe the odds are even when you drop a piece of buttered bread?

Do you really believe the odds stay even when you have flipped a coin 100 times and come up with heads 100 times? Do you really believe it is still 50-50 that heads will come up on that 101 flip?

Last week in Way West we wrote about Pat Dunning's Fourth of July picnic. In answer to our mention of "Banditos and Banthees" Pat has written a poem:

Where East met West on the other side of the World
High in the Himalayas
Near a place called Bamayan
We camped in tents of camel hides in far Afghanistan.
Where gentle farmers tend their fields
And Nomads camel-pack
Where wolves still howl while Jackals yowl
And Mountain men attack

One night asleep upon our cots
The sentry dogs gave cry -
"Banditoe" (Mongol - cossack men)
On horse galloped by

The Wild West came back to life.
As guards and bandits fired
I don't know who shot what at which,
Or if a few expired -

But me, I hit the Asian sod
With Roebuck stove protection
(A pleasure to be saved by Sears so far from store connection).

At last things quieted down a bit
As hoof-beats softly faded.
The wolves returned a gentle sound
Compared to us, the raided.

Our gallant leader counted heads,
Appraised the situation,
Suggested that we hit the sack -
So who needs civilization!?

TIRES WHITE'S AUTO STORE

Frank and Josie Montoya moved to Carrizozo about four years ago. Frank had managed a White's store in Tularosa and was ready for his own business. He and Josie decided to remodel a building that had its beginnings long years ago as a livery stable.

It was a happy case of a town and a family coming together. The business has grown, the Montoya children have grown and the future looks good for the Montoyas and for Carrizozo.

Frank and Josie have added an electronic department, a furniture department and, this summer, completed an addition to the building that is the home of the town's laundromat.

It takes a lot of work, patience and belief in your town to build a business. At Citizens State Bank we like to help families and businesses grow as our town grows.

County fund has surplus

The Lincoln County treasurer Veta Allen told the county commission that the fiscal year ended July 1 with a $97,000 surplus higher than expected.

Commissioner John Sudderth commended Mrs. Allen on her handling of the investment of the county funds and said that she had been responsible for a substantial part of the surplus. He said that Mrs. Allen had about $500,000 invested in certificates of deposit bearing 6.5 percent interest.

In an unusually short meeting, the board discussed the law enforcement problems in the Corona area. Corona does not have a town policeman and depends on a sheriff's deputy.

In the past the town has paid a part of the salary of the deputy but has, this week, voted to discontinue that payment to the county. Mayor Ken Fuller was reported to have said that the Corona trustees did not think they should pay for a deputy when other towns in the county were not required to make a contribution.

The commission agreed with Corona and said that the county would provide as much law enforcement in the north part of the county as was possible.

Revenue from the Farm and Range fund for wild animal control is not sufficient to maintain the $25,000 budget and Commissioner Sudderth told the commission that the budget should be adjusted to meet the $20,000 income. A meeting with representatives of the Fish and Wild Life Department will be requested.

Bids for the solar collector were opened and appeared to be within the budgeted figure of $10,000. Because of the technical nature of the bids, they were referred to the state communications department for study.

A mistake in bid opening on the tort claims insurance will cause the insurance to be offered for rebid, the commission said.

In other action, the commission approved a request by Hutch Cavin of the Tinnie Mercantile Company to abandon an unused right of way on the Coe Ranch property owned by the company.

The county also accepted a dedication of a county road right of way on property owned by J. J. DiPaolo in the Capitan area. DiPaolo said the road needed surveying and was used by a number of property owners.

The county approved a request from Sun Valley for an 18 mill levy for a sanitation district. Road foreman Guy Henley reported that safety schools were being held weekly for road department employees. Brake failure on a truck which resulted in damage to the truck which was pulling a loaded lowboy was discussed.

Elsie Faeke who manages the Carrizozo office of the Employment Security Commission asked for county approval for the hiring of two out of county CETA program men. The men are Carrizozo policemen. She said she had been unable to fill the positions with Lincoln County residents.

She said people that were eligible for the federally funded positions were unwilling to serve as policemen. The commission expressed surprise that the positions could not be filled locally and gave the necessary authorization.

ANYWAY YOU LOOK AT IT... by Paul

Payton got in on short part of discussion (argument) about who was a Mexican and who was an American. We sided in with Skippy, whose daddy was here long before any Paytons and a lot of others, he's as much an American, or more, than a lot of people wearing Anglo names.

Got to apologize for some bookkeeping antics on part of the News over long period of time. We think we're honest, or try to be, but the screwups make it hard. We're about to get on top of the situation.

In view of the water restrictions in Carrizozo (which should not be necessary at all) we have a suggestion that might work better than advice in last week's newspaper. What you should do is bath one part each day or night. Like the right arm, then the left leg the next day, then the posterior area which might take more water and you should skip the next day. Look to the News for advice on all your personal problems.

Newspaper report from Ford County, Kansas is that harvest is nearing completion (July 8) and yields have been phenomenal. This could be the biggest yield per acre ever produced in this area. In fact, this would probably have been a record harvest if many acres had not been lost due to blow-out.

We read in John Getz Farwell, Texas newspaper that processed cattle manure is for sale in that area. That's after John has printed it once in his leading publication of Farmer County.

Some travelers through town, the Francis Fitzpatrick family of McLean, Va., had real nice words about Carrizozo people helping in time of trouble. They got here July 2, headed for Oregon. Their tent blew away, then their car blew up which made for problems. Rick left them a car, Weyland lent use of garage, and everybody in this town was real nice -- was what Fitzpatrick said.

States Rights took a bad blow from recent supreme court decision which held that Congress had right to regulate wild animals (horses, burros) on federally owned land. The ruling stated that when the federal government acquires land for public use, it also obtains the needed water rights to preserve the land, despite state licensing of water rights. Ranchers of the west have only one hope now, and that is to get help from Congress... a tough job.

Reclassification of enrollment for high school athletic districts took place this month which changed nothing for Carrizozo, Corona, Capitan and Hondo. Class A 200 or less; Class AA 200 to 600, Class AAA 600 to 1600 and over 1600 will be Class AAAA. Beginning in September 1976, girls athletics will be assigned to the same district as boys athletics.

Something to ponder -- We, the willing led by the unknowing are doing the impossible for the ungrateful. We have done so much for so long with so little we are qualified now to do anything with nothing.

Brother Dwight, writing about growth problems in Aztec, recalled an old saying. "Don't shoot the piano player, he's doing the best he can." Not sure that holds true in Carrizozo. If those town council piano players don't do some street repair soon -- they ought to be shot.

While making an investigation of cost of grocery ad in our paper and one in Aztec, we found that merchants in both Lincoln and Torrance Counties are enjoying a genuine bargain in their purchases of advertising space, actually more than we want to admit.

Carrizozo may well enjoy (?) another population explosion in next year or sooner. It used to be the 4-o'clock freight that was blamed for waking people up before daylight - now barking dogs are doing the same... waking people up long before they are ready to get up.

The New Mexico Highway Commission has approved a road improvement project involving State Road 37 in Lincoln County. The project involves the application of an asphalt-rubber seal coat and a 1 1/2 inch plant mix overlay to State Road 37 from its junction with US 70 north to the Angus Bridge. The commission approved the project at its meeting held today in Portales a department spokesman said.
 The project cost estimate is $304,540.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you and your entire staff for the fair treatment given us during the past Democratic Primary Campaign. We will also appreciate your running this letter in the "letters to the editor" section of your paper as a means of thanking the more than 48 percent of Lincoln County's Democratic voters who gave so freely of their time, effort, money, as well as their votes.

Even though we did not win the U.S. Senate Primary Race, I feel we scored a knock-out victory for the little guy, the housewife, the students, the small businessman, the laborer, the farmer and the rancher, and the over all down the street voter who is mostly responsible for the fact that we just celebrated our country's 200th birthday of freedom.

With more than 54 percent of the votes cast statewide in the June 1st primary in our corner, we proved that the little guy who tells it like it is can still run up against a powerful incumbent politician and have a good chance of winning.

In order that we maintain our cherished freedoms and preserve the greatest country the world has ever known as a democracy and as a republic we hope everyone to actively

Lincoln County News, July 15, 1976, Page 6 participate in every election henceforth, and ask every un-registered person to get registered and support the candidates of your choice in the November election.

God Bless You All. We thank you from the bottom of our hearts. We will be back in 1978.

- Rich Sims

Dear Editor:

After reading an article on the Lincoln County News of July 15 page 6 - about the bell on the San Juan Church in Lincoln, I came to the point, and thought the article needed a letter correction as it sounds as if Rafaelita S. Pryor is the only survivor of Mrs. Juanita C. Baca. I am sending a list of her other surviving grand children, in case some one cares to know.

Jose Baca, El Paso. Boney Baca, Albuquerque. Bernardo B. Salazar, Garden City, Kansas. Juanita Sanchez Carrizozo, Enclita S. Darsey Silver City. Frances S. Vigil, Capitan. Juanita Basford, Alamogordo. Josephine Brady, Roswell, and Rafaelita as mentioned before. Thank You.

Mayors job

It was explained that the pressure in the southside is low because of higher elevation and a lack of gravity pressure build up. Instead of the well, the engineers propose to put an eight inch leap line on 17th to 14th and to replace all two inch lines with four and six inch lines in the residential areas.

Many of the small water lines are encrusted with calcium and some are perforated. Matolan believes that the new lines will solve the pressure problem for the present.

Questioned about pressure problems in the north sections, they said this would not cause any increase in other than the south parts.

The engineer recommended that the eight inch line to the industrial park be reduced to a six inch line to save money. They said six inches would be adequate to supply the park. Bill Gomez, NMSU extension service representative, said that the eight inch line was called for in the master plan prepared by the town by Ken Larsen, but noted that other parts of Larsen's plans had been changed. It was decided to change the line to an alternative to be decided after the bids were received and costs were known.

The plans were approved with those changes and will be presented to EDA for approval.

The board put John Knadji on the payroll using funds that had been going to recently resigned officer John Works. Knadji had been on the federally funded CETA payroll as a trainee but had been declared ineligible for that program.

Morales, in requesting that Knadji be retained, said that he had moved to the town, planned to stay and was well liked. Questioned as to the necessity of the expenditure with four other officers on the CETA payroll, Choncho said that the CETA program might expire in September and that the other officers might not want to stay in Carrizozo after their training period.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Young were given a six month contract which provided free rent in the city-owned house at the airport in return for their services in maintaining the air port and the premises.

Emilio Beltran was given the title of working foreman and Carlos Gallegos assistant foreman of the town. Both men will attend school to get further certification in water and sewer plant operation.

The trustees will meet with the men to discuss job specifications in a special session.

Roy Harman commended city employee Juan Jiron for his work in restoring the pump at the city tank. Harman said the storms on the evening of July 4 had knocked out the pumps and reduced the storage tank to a dangerous low. Jiron worked day and night and by this week had the water level up to normal.

The new town garbage system is causing problems. The truck has mechanical problems and there is some difficulty in getting it serviced. Complaints were received also about the containers not being emptied frequently enough in the hot weather. It was suggested that in heavy areas the truck make additional pick ups.

Silva said that the scattered trash problem had been reduced by the new system and other commented on the improved appearance of alleys.

The city clerk was told to call the company that supplied the system and ask for immediate service on the truck.

Mayor pro tem Hernandez said that anyone who wanted to be mayor, or any citizen having a suggestion for that office should talk to one of the trustees before the next meeting.

More 4th at Capitan

The queen of the Lincoln County Fair, Terri Webb will also reign next year. Terri, her horse and her flag set a fine pace in Capitan Sunday.

Fletcher Hall, parade marshal kept everything moving along.

Lincoln County youngsters line up for the calf scramble; the NEWS photographer decided this might be the most dangerous event and jumped over the fence as the clown blew the whistle.

A fine end to a wonderful parade.

Making it the hard way are these three participants in the Smokey Bear Stampede

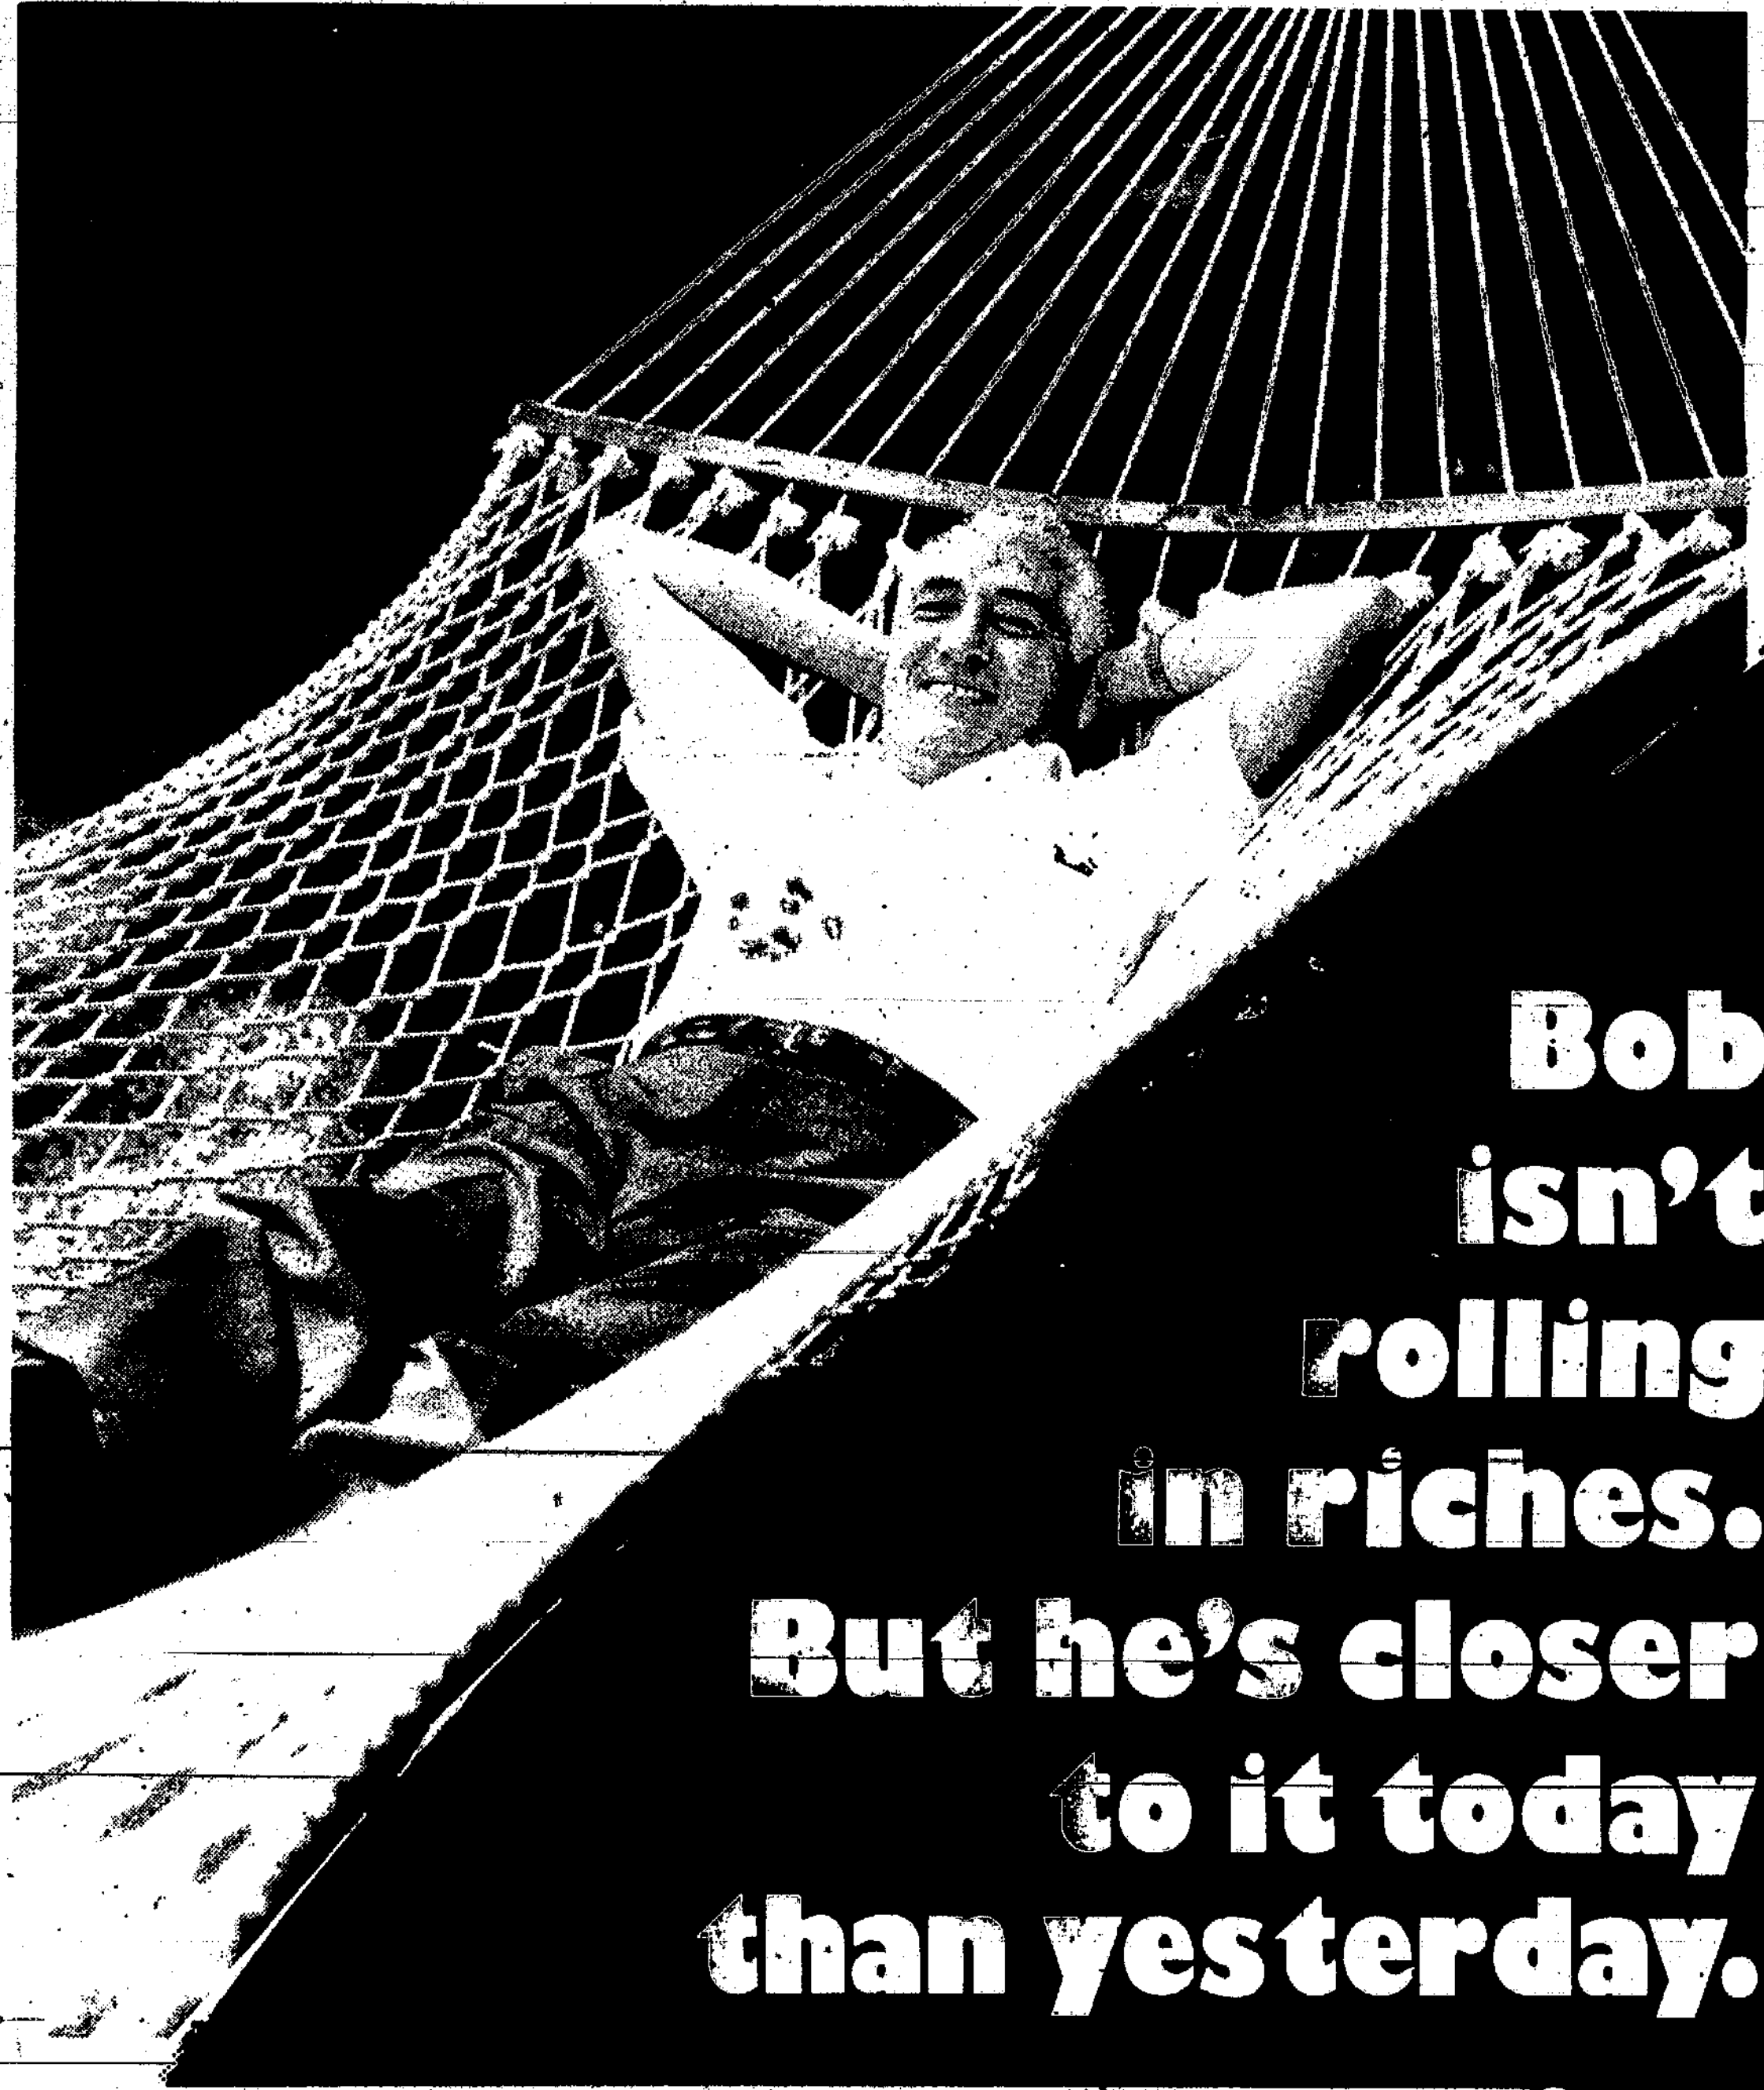

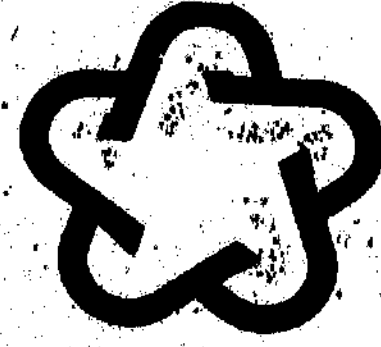

Rodeo. Of the trio, the bull looks the most perplexed.

The Fort STANTON Fire Department had their engine bright and shining at the 4th parade in Capitan. The firemen proved that some things do last.

Former editor of the News, Al Stubbs brought an exhibit from ENMU for the parade. We never did discover who was locked in the 'classroom'.

ROUND THE CAPITOL

Democratic National Convention, delegates were set to battle over Match Act repeal and 50 percent representation for women in Madison Square Garden.

National Democratic Committeeman Rudy Ortiz of Albuquerque said: "There will be an effort to get a 50 percent women delegate quota system. We can't have that but we don't want to make the women angry." Repeal of the Hatch Act, named for the late Carl Hatch of New Mexico, was in a minority report of the platform committee.

Right to Life Committees fought the abortion plank in the platform. The platform draft said: "It is undesirable to attempt to amend the U. S. Constitution to overturn the Supreme Court decision." Albuquerquean Mary Burke, New Mexico's member on the platform committee, said: "I don't know that I like to see a plank on abortion at all. I've never felt a doctor or woman should be prosecuted for abortion."

New Mexico delegation chairman Ben Alexander of Hobbs said: "There is room for a meaningful place on the Carter bandwagon for all New Mexico Democrats, including supporters of other Democratic presidential candidates." Alexander is Carter's New Mexico campaign chairman.

Among New Mexico delegation members were Rio Arriba County Democratic Chairman Emilio Naranjo, Espanola; State Rep. Jerry Sandoz, Farmington; Andy Vigil of Rancho de Taos; Gloria White, Clovis; Lucy Keys Brubaker, Belen, and Caren Kershner, Los Alamos. The delegation was topheavy for ex-Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter. The pre-convention county was 13 or 14 for Carter and four or five for Arizona Rep. Morris Udall.

Mrs. Deslee Sawyer of Tatum was set to complete 24 years as New Mexico national committeewoman. She attended the convention with her daughter, Fern Sawyer of Nogal. Lincoln County Mrs. Zora Hesse, Albuquerque, succeeded Mrs. Sawyer at the end of the convention. Gov. Jerry Apodaca was among five co-chairpersons of the convention.

The New Mexico delegation was the strongest for Carter in Carter's weakest area, the Rocky Mountain States and West. Ortiz said: "What we need to do is to leave that convention with everybody in accord and a platform that everybody can be comfortable with." U. S. Sen. Joseph Montoya, Santa Fe, hosted a cocktail party Sunday night for the New Mexico delegation. Montoya was delegation honorary chairman. State Police Capt. Charles Anaya said his officers were being evicted from office space in the Rio Arriba County courthouse at Tierra Amarilla and an angry Sheriff Emilio Naranjo was behind the move. Capt. Anaya said State Police were asked to vacate the courthouse office in a letter from Rio Arriba County Commission Chairman Archie Medina "due to the future expansion of the Sheriff's Department at Tierra Amarilla."

Gov. Apodaca named Dr. Carl E. Zimmerman of Espanola to the State Board of Optometry. Sen. Montoya introduced a bill to place range caterpillars in the same "dangerous" category as chinch bugs to try to get more aid to combat caterpillars destroying New Mexico grasslands. Montoya said the prime purpose was control of "emergency outbreaks."

A new club liquor license was issued by the state liquor agency to Espanola Valley Fraternal Order of Eagles No. 3695, Espanola. The liquor agency approved these transfers: Caballo, Sierra County, from Pinkney C. McNutt, doing business as Caballo Tavern, to Jim McNutt, dispenser's permit; Abiquiu, from Fred J. and Lola G. Valdez, doing business as Los Caminos Package Store, to Lola G. Valdez, dispenser's. Also, Aztec, from "44 Lounge" Inc., doing business as Bill's Place, 416 N. Main, to Carroll H. Hopper and Marylee Hopper, doing business as Hopper's Lounge and Package; Red River, Taos County, from Sandra M. Twitty and John A. Manchester Jr., doing business as Lazy H Guest Ranch, to Archie Kenneth Weatherford and Sandra M. Twitty; Ruidoso, from Piraco Inc., doing business as Hollywood Inn, to Hollywood Inn Inc., Captain, from Dalton W. and Nell R. Rosa, doing business as Branding Iron Saloon, to Lawrence Inc., doing business as Capitan Outpost; Belen, from Manuel A. Chavez, doing business as Hi-Lonesome Club, 630 N. Main, to Safeway Store No. 939, 102 Caldwell; Bill R. Ward and Dessie Sawyer, doing business as Bank Exchange Saloon, moved at Lincoln from George Curry Building to Old Brew's Place, east end of Lincoln.

Gov. Apodaca reappointed Taos banker Arthur L. Ortiz to the State Personnel Board and Reuben E. Nieves of Clovis to the Corrections Commission.

The State Water Quality Improvement Commission set a meeting Tuesday (July 13) to weigh failure of the federal Environmental Protection Agency to approve a recent change in boundary between two auctions of the Rio Grande Basin. The change, voted earlier by the board, moved the boundary between two sections on the Red River a mile upstream. The effect allows Molybdenum Corporation of America to discharge effluent from its tailings pond into Section 14, the "wild river" part of Red River and the Rio Grande; instead of Section 15 in which irrigation is a "beneficial" use.
