Corona plans '76 fiesta

Arabian horses, bag pipers and the U. S. Cavalry will move down the main street of Corona as the Lincoln County town begins its two day Summer Festival celebrating the Bicentennial.

Mayor Ken Fuller, Judy Chavez and Joan Washburn have headed a group of citizens putting together July 31-August 1 weekend activities.

Corona was named an official Bicentennial town after completing a new park to commemorate the nation's two hundredth birthday; enthusiasm has been high this summer in the ranching community.

The parade will start at 10:30, Sat. July 31. Judy Chavez is still accepting parade entries & particularly wants additional musical groups. The Shriner Bagpipers of Albuquerque will be marching as will a mounted cavalry group from Ft. Bliss.

The Hindi ranch will bring its Arabian horses complete with native costumes. More parade information is available from Judy at 846-8102.

The arts, crafts and food booths will open that morning at 10 a.m. Persons desiring to participate should call Joan Washburn at 846-5611.

The Tularosa Lions Club is sponsoring a chicken fried steak dinner from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday and at 1:30 there will be a free 4-H rodeo. Everyone in Lincoln County is invited to participate and Ralph Dunlap at the county extension office is handling the details.

The Corona junior class will have a spaghetti dinner at 6 p.m. in the school lunch room. The final Saturday event will be a dance sponsored by the senior class with music by the Elton Travis Band.

Sunday, August 1, the arts and crafts fair will open at 10 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m. At 1 p.m. there will be a free Fiddlers contest with prize money to be awarded. George James at 846-7366 has charge of that event.

From 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. there will be an art show of Lincoln County artists. Art will be for sale at the Yucca Gift Shop. A reunion of the classes of 1956-66 will be in the recreation room. Pam Vickery and Jean Chavez are in charge of that. Festivities conclude with a double header Little League game (boys and girls) at the Corona Recreation Park.

Grand jury indicts two

The Lincoln County Grand Jury handed two indictments Monday. Fred Patrick Creley was indicted for escaping from the Sierra Banca Camp.

Creley was the subject of a county wide search and was captured by Deputy Ralph Romero at Cedar Creek where he was camping last Thursday. He is being held in the county jail pending arraignment, on July 29.

Stephen L. Wood, Capitan, was indicted for aggravated assault.

Careful thief hits Fenters

Fenter Variety Store in Carrizozo was the victim of a careful burglar, Friday night.

The following day Earl Fenter discovered the back door of his store had been broken in. The merchandise in the store had not been disturbed except for a few missing items. A watch, several billfolds and pocket knives are missing.

Fenter said the burglar evidently knew what he wanted and took only that. This was the second robbery of the store this year.

Teams fight SW wildfires

Wildfires burning in Arizona and New Mexico have destroyed thousands of acres of timber and brushlands that will take years to regenerate. But it could have been far worse. The Forest Service, Southwestern Region, and the State Foresters each spring lay plans for combating the wildfires that can be expected during the dry, windy months from March into July.

Trained manpower is the first line of defense, said Lynn Biddison, Director of Fire and Air Management for the Forest Service in Albuquerque. Fifteen Hot Shot crews, totaling 20 men each, are assigned to National Forests and Ranger Districts most likely to have trouble with fire. These crews are made up mostly of young people who are highly trained and conditioned for the rigors of fighting fire in rugged country. These crews, led by experienced Forest Service fire specialists, make initial attacks and almost invariably stop blazes before they exceed an acre.

Twenty helicopters with their special "helitack" fire crews can reach a fire in minutes. Even faster are the 25 smokejumpers based at Silver City. They parachute into five areas when they are small in the remote mountain areas.

It was a place of beauty and never before have the wonderful old trees at the Three Rivers ranch sheltered so much beauty as Sunday when the princesses and duchesses for the El Paso Sun Carnival gathered for a picnic. Allison Shepherd, the daughter of Harold and Tilly Shepherd of the Three Rivers Ranch, (left) made a lovely hostess. She is with Sun Carnival President Jim Phillips (center) and Delores McBride, Carrizozo's representative to the 1977 event.

County towns call meetings

Two Lincoln County towns will have special meetings next week. Carrizozo's board of trustees will meet Monday, July 26 at 7 p.m. to select a mayor to replace resigned Floyd Siegrist.

The town of Capitan will have a board meeting at 7:30 July 29 for final consideration of an ordinance enacting a 1/4 of one percent gross receipts tax.

A group of citizens are backing Bud Payne, a Lincoln County Commissioner, for the mayor's post. Jim Gibson who owns a shoe repair business and is a carpenter has put in his bid for the position.

Mayor pro tem Manny Hernandez said Tuesday that he had talked to a number of people and had looked for a qualified candidate but he was unable to find many people interested in the job.

The town is also slated to consider several other business matters at the meeting including the duties of the town foreman.

Capitan is leaving two other ordinances for consideration the regular August 2 meeting. The trustees at that time will hear residents opinions on a second attempt to annex part of the Mesa Verda subdivision.

The previous annexation methods were unconstitutional.

The Capitan trustees will also consider for final passage an ordinance giving minors under 18 years old a 10 p.m. curfew.

A number of New Mexico communities are enacting such ordinances following a report which said that a high percentage of crimes are committed by minors who are not under supervision in the late hours of the evening.

Hay cubes hearing set

An informal hearing to take testimony about the possibility of including field processed alfalfa hay cubes (mini bales or wafers) under the Commercial Feed Law will be held July 23 at 1 p.m. in the New Mexico Department of Agriculture Building on the campus of NMSU, Las Cruces.

At this time hay cubes are exempt from the law which requires registration of feed products and a guaranteed analysis. A fee is charged to cover inspection and analytical costs.

The New Mexico Department of Agriculture will conduct the hearing and take oral testimony. Written statements in support or in opposition and signed by the maker will be accepted if received prior to 5 p.m. on July 23. Statements may be sent to New Mexico Department of Agriculture, Box 3189, New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, New Mexico 88003.

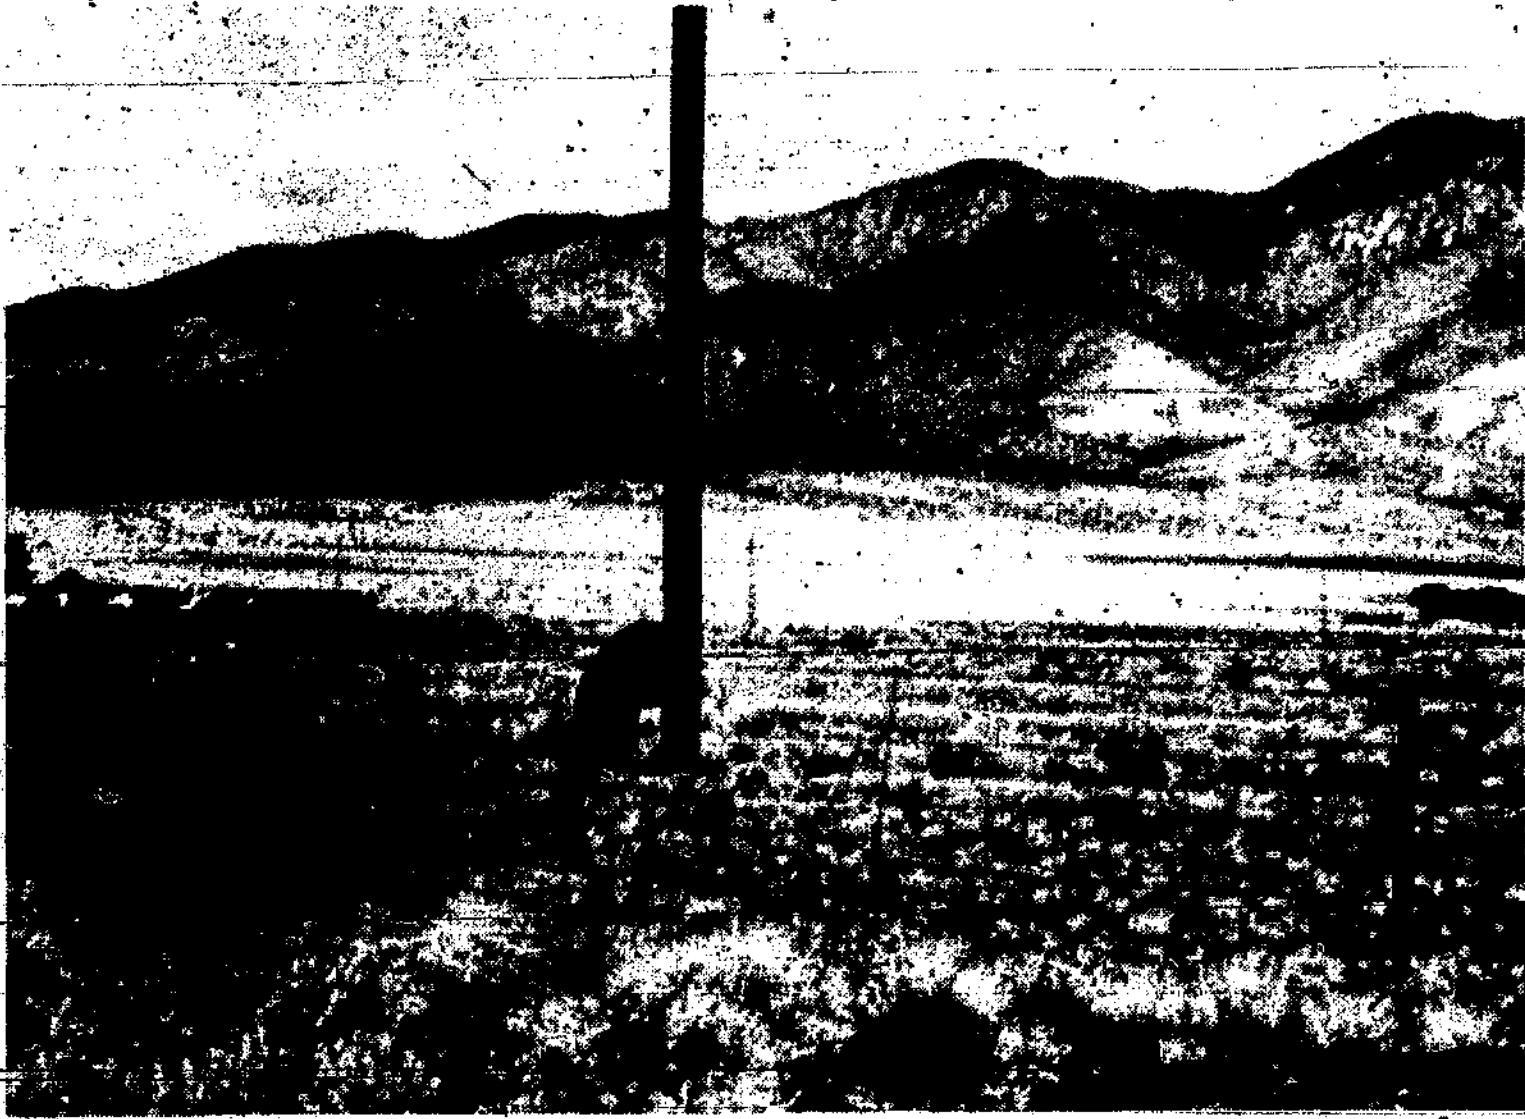

Swimming class offered

Nancy Dross will teach a two-week course of swimming for boys & girls 15 and under starting July 22. Classes will be held each day except Sunday and Monday at the Carrizozo pool.

Auto caravan is scheduled

The trip will begin at 10 a.m. at the Small Missile Range Road intersection with U. S. Highway 70. The Small Missile Range Road intersection is 25 miles west of monument headquarters. Rangers and Military Police will brief the group on regulations that will apply during the trip. The caravan will proceed over paved roads through the missile range to Lake Lucero. About two hours will be spent at the lake to allow time for a one-mile conducted walk, for photography, sightseeing, and lunch. The caravan will return to Highway 70 by 2 p.m.

An auto caravan to Lake Lucero, part of the area that is the source of the White Sands, is scheduled for July 25. The caravan will be limited to 30 cars and reservations are required. Interested persons should call monument headquarters - 437-1058.

A traveling bear crossed the flat country around Nogal turnoff on US380 east of Carrizozo. The bear had been brought from the Bonito area by the game department to rid campers of a nuisance, and deposited up above the O-Bar-O Ranch headquarters. The bear did not like that and was headed home when it became an attraction along the highway on the Dick Painter place.

Course good for golf tournament

Entries for the Carrizozo Billy the Kid Open Golf Tournament have been received from many New Mexico and Texas towns according to Ken Means, co-chairman of the July 23, 24, 25 event.

Carrie Magee, president of the Carrizozo Women's Golf Association, is co-chairman and told her group that the Friday ladies event was drawing a nice group of entries.

The Carrizozo Country Club is coordinating activities with the Carrizozo Golf Course's Henry Vega who says that the course is in good condition for the tournament.

The women's play will be a nine hole shot beginning at 10 a.m. Friday. Players are invited to register and have coffee and rolls beginning at 9 a.m.

The women players will be guests of the CWGA at a salad and punch bowl lunch at the Carrizozo Country Club following play.

Men are to register for the tournament and have qualifying rounds Friday afternoon; and Friday night the Carrizozo Country Club Action Committee will have the tournament participants as their guests at a cocktail party.

Men's play will be Saturday and Sunday with 36 holes medal play. There will be 10 man flights handicap and a scratch Championship flight. The field is limited to the first 90 players to register.

Means said that he expected a lot of beginners as well as some of the states best players to participate.

Saturday there will be a dance and a barbeque at the Country Club honoring the tournament participants.

Several displays were in this area, at the Capitan arts and crafts fair. Emmaline Beck macrame hanging off to right, Methodist ladies

Paul Gallegos is certified

At the national convention of the Beta Phi Epsilon fraternity (drug and alcoholism counselors) held in Gallup last month, Paul L. Gallegos was the first person to be certified by the New Mexico Chapter.

Dignitaries at the meeting included President of the New Mexico Chapter of Beta Phi Epsilon Kent Dutton; Chaplain John T. Harber, the founder of the alcohol and drug counselors training program at Ft. Lyon, Colo., and fraternity members from other states.

Mr. Gallegos received the first certificate presented through the newly formed New Mexico chapter.

Half of '76 is about over before I decided to introduce the 'Cookie Experience'. This is a non-profit group of cookie bakers that have been meeting once a month since early '76 for the purpose of swapping a variety of cookies. When I first suggested the idea at a women's meeting I asked, "How many of you ladies would like to form an organization where there is no need for baby sitters, dressing up, dues, refreshment committee, president, secretary, treasurer, etc.?"

That was the beginning of the 'Cookie Experience'. We consider ourselves connoisseurs in search of the best cookie recipes.

If you would like more information, ask me next time you see me or ask around. Your neighbor might already be a member.

Your race, politics, education, finances, or religion—beliefs—should not hold you back. Qualifications for belonging are: being fairly sanitary (not necessarily sterile) and labeling your cookies on a card with your phone number (no recipe). For example: Polly's sherry wafers, Laura's date pin wheel, Lavenia's pineapple drops.

If you or the family do not care for some of the cookies you brought home from the swap you give them to your mom-in-law or Aunt Nellie. Never ask for recipes at the swap (to avoid hurt feelings). I don't think my phone will ring for recipe requests of Polly's Goof Balls, (original name: Date crispies, but I goofed in preparation of dough).

Some of the cookies that the members of our 'Cookie Experience' have taste tested and filed away are: Sour Cream, Cocoa Pecan Sandies, Coconut chews, chocolate chip, cream cheese, carrot, ginger, cream, brownies, bars and many more!

Come November we should have a collection of old favorites, unusual and even foreign country cookies recipes that will come in handy for our Christmas giving and holiday entertaining.

You can tell a cookie swap member or potential member by two ways: you will see them at social functions picking out the home baked cookies from the store bought cookies and they interrupt small talk to analyze the ingredients in a cookie.

Once they get used to home baked cookies they have ruined their taste buds for store bought cookies with their lecithin, sorbitan, monostearate, polysorbate 60, whey solids, artificial coloring and flavoring.

OES chapter to meet

I had a little fallout last week from my appraisal of the odds on matrimonial bliss. One wife told me that her method for selecting a husband left nothing to chance.

I was visiting Saturday morning on another news matter and we were having a cup of coffee. She said that it was a matter of careful selection. She had, prior to serious courtship, interviews with his mother, old school friends, preacher, teachers and former girl friends. His record looked pretty clean and there were some definite positive factors.

She went through a year long courtship and decided that they had the makings of a marriage and so made the ties that bind.

About this time her husband walked through the room and she said gently, 'Honey, will you turn off the sprinkler for me when you empty the garbage?'

I told her, noting the overflowing can, that her reminder sure beat yelling something like, 'You forgot the garbage again, you bum.'

'I didn't expect him to come fully trained she said. "I just needed to know the raw material was there."

It is true that most women consider the selection of a husband the most important step in their life. Most men, it seems to me, put the selection of a career ahead of the selection of a lifetime mate. But not so long ago, a very smart man I know who has a tendency to observe people, said that he had decided the success and happiness of a man in large degree depended on the kind of woman he married more than the kind of work he elected.

Red Burnett came by the Sun Princess picnic at Three Rivers Sunday to talk to his fellow Tularosa Lions Club members. They had prepared the barbecue for the gathering of Southwest beauties who will represent their communities at the Sun Carnival next January 1 in El Paso.

Red, that gentleman, horseman and raconteur of renown in Otero, Lincoln and other counties, was resplendent in a cream colored suit and go-to-meeting hat. The other Lions had spent the night cooking and were showing signs of their efforts.

Len Dunning, cook for the day and previous night, muttered something about doing the same old thing over and over again. The Lions do the barbecuing for about everything that happens of note in Otero County.

That reminded Red of a story about a friend of his who was asked where he got his new barrel. "It's not a new barrel," he replied. "Looks like a new barrel," his questioner allowed. "Got new hoops, new staves, new bottom, looks new to me." "It's not new, though," the friend insisted. "Those are just new fixings around the same old hole."

Carrizozo ought to have the title of "National Law and Order Town". We decided the other day that we probably have more lawmen per capita than any other city in the nation: maybe in the world.

According to the census, Zozo has about 1200 people — men, women and children. We have a town police force of 6 men. There are two state police officers living here. Sheriff Vega lives in Carrizozo and there are always a couple of deputies around the courthouse; make it an average of one and a half, or to be fair, cut it to one just in case there is a riot in Corona someday.

That makes about one officer for every 120 people. Using the national average of five people to a family, Carrizozo has an officer for each 24 families. Sounds like we are expecting another Lincoln County War.

It is hard to understand how that burglar who broke into Fenters Variety Store Saturday didn't stumble over an officer of the law.

I heard somewhere that an officer for every 1000 population was considered pretty good. But Scotland Yard, that ancient citadel of law enforcement charged with protecting London and the surrounding area, at one time had only 1 officer for every 10,000 residents and the bobbies do not carry guns (nor do they usually get shot at).

There is one city of Mexico with a low crime rate that has more gardeners than policemen. How about that for flower power?

We are not criticizing our policemen, but maybe we should take a look at the cost of such a police force in one town in the U.S. These men get paid a salary—as low as it is. It takes gas and car-up-keep to have them mounted, and the town recently uniformed the officers.

Four of these officers (it was five until last week) are not paid by the town. When questioned as to the need for such a force, the common answer is: why not? They are free.

Free? How in the Sam Hill does anyone think they are being paid? Instead of town tax dollars as Marshall Choncho is paid; instead of county tax dollars as Sheriff Vega and deputies are paid; instead of state tax dollars as Officers Max and Dale are paid; the Carrizozo police are paid with federal tax dollars under a CETA program.

This may be an unpopular observation but a lot of us who fuss and fume about welfare, federal handouts, irresponsible federal spending and high federal taxes are the first in line when it comes to anything the feds give out to the county or the town. My friends, it is our tax dollars that are being spent on those programs.

Now it seems fair to apply for and accept funds for all the federally sponsored programs that we need. Certainly I, for one, favor revenue sharing where our locally elected folks decided which dollar to spend where.

I don't know how we could get by in our generally dollar poor area without some of the federal funds coming back. We need help in Lincoln County towns on sanitary plants, water works and a lot of street building. And we are getting help.

This week we visited with representatives from both of our Senators' offices and both commented on the fact that New Mexico gets back almost two dollars for every one tax dollar it pays.

What you and I and the city father ought to ask about each dollar spent local, state or federal is: do we really need it? Is it need or greed?

Alfred Locke who suffered a stroke and had been in the Ruidoso Hospital for quite a while is improving and we hope he will make a complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Arturo Pacheco are now living in Philadelphia and are very happy there. Arturo is at the St. Mary's Training for School for R.N.'s and is also studying anesthesia. He had completed his degree in psychology and biology and is already an R.N.

The hospital is located in a white ghetto where there is an unbelievable degree of poverty which makes Arthur feel for them, but he is thoroughly enjoying his studies.

Arturo is very busy as his lovely wife keeps his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pacheco up to date on what and how they are doing with her wonderful letters.

Next week I will write about the exciting and interesting things she has done and seen.

Bicentennial activities she has done including getting to see Queen Elizabeth II and was able to get in a spot to take a picture, in spite of heavy protection by guards.

Next week I will tell her version of the arrival of the Wagon Train. It is very interesting and tells so much I haven't seen in the newspapers. I think you will all enjoy it.

Pageant practice to night will be a wet one if they are able to have it as Lincoln had a terrific rain this afternoon. It literally came down in sheets, with water everywhere. If I get up there I'll have some more to tell about that too.

My cousins, Gertrude and Wileie Copeland of Dallas are here for a visit also my daughter Mrs. Sam Welsh and her two grandsons Tommy and Troy Humble. I have been enjoying having them.

The lady who wrote the article in "The Ringing of the Bell" did not know any of the Salazar family and her intent was only to let other people know that these people who did the job are citizens of Old Lincoln Town and only wanted to make it known that the people who live here now love Old Lincoln and want them also to know are doing what they can to show that they love their county as well, and are proud that Mrs. Rafaelita Pryor has lived here almost her entire life.

The Ranchers Camp Meeting has come and gone. The sermons were good and the food delicious. Wednesday night they served 600 and Sunday 1760. It grew from the start. There were many who came for service who did not eat. Maude Kingston and I accompanied Doris Pounds and we each did enjoy it. There was no rain this year while they were in session.

A group of 26 young people of the Central College Presbyterian Church of Westerville, Ohio, visited the Smokey Bear Museum last Wednesday. This group were the dish washers at the Nogal Ranchers Camp meeting. A very fine group of youngsters.

ANYWAY YOU LOOK AT IT... by Paul

A thought that is not new - whenever practical, power lines, pipelines, roads, railroads crossing federal lands should use 'common corridors'. This is good thinking on state or private lands as well. A bad clutter of power lines blurs the view of beautiful mountains on the south side of Carrizozo - a corridor, like along highway or railroad, is something to be desired in our immediate area.

John McCollaum, former school principal at Carrizozo and Estancia, will be at Jemez Springs the next school year. Hiring a principal at Estancia got to be a racial issue, one employed to replace John was not qualified and the school is looking for qualified person.

Fred Chavez Park in Carrizozo will receive $2,542 federal money and $1,250 state money due to recent allocation of U. S. Bureau of Outdoor and State Recreational Priorities Committee. Smokey Bear Historical State Park received $50,850 federal money.

We used to enjoy conversation with Scott Bledsoe when he would come to Carrizozo to tend to mining interests in the White Oaks - Jicarilla area. Scott was in radio business in Lubbock for many years, and one time he brought some recording equipment to Payton house. Elfred Jones, Buster Smoot, Bartley McDonough, Arnold Boyce, Jack Turner and Payton were playing some and talking a lot - some beautiful sounds on that tape and voices of guys no longer around. Scott gave the tape to Payton. Now Scott has died, a goof friend we'll miss.

Some words for church people in small towns from meeting of Methodist bishops at Lincoln, Nebr. Bishop Alsie Carleton of Albuquerque delivered the address to the 8-state conference. The words - The strength and success of the local church is related directly to the effectiveness of the pastor and his ability to preach.

There are such things as fast foods, like throwing a wiener on a bun, dash it with mustard and stick it in the customers hand, maybe with a Pepsi - you are getting a fast newspaper this week, without the mustard. Course we hope for better things.

Worst Joak Dept.: A man asked a lawyer friend some questions during an informal, non-business lunch. The next day he received a bill for the lawyer's services. When the two next met, the man remarked, "It's a nice day. And remember, I'm telling you, not asking."

Dr. Richard Robbins of UNM recently visited Russia. His report is interesting. Here are two-three paragraphs: What strikes me is the built-in resistance of Russians to change. Russians like to have a job, but they don't like to work hard at it. Americans, on the other hand, see the payoff from change. In America, we live with the theory that the customer is always right. The absence of that idea really penetrates Russian society and there is a level of surliness, arrogance and bad service that is difficult for Americans to understand. A sense of strength and growing confidence among the Russian people was - the major impression of Robbins.

We had a very wierd salad at our house one day this week. It was time to clean out the refrigerator and Eleanor simply threw all the bits of goodies in the same dish and that was Paul's lunch. Wasn't bad - even while wondering what made that bite taste like fish, or radish, peas, etc.

A bowl of activities

From Nogal

by Roby Burke

A pinch of Smiles—

The postage stamp has become very commercial — business like and cold. Circulars, pamphlets, business notes, estate information, bills, bills!

While sorting, piles of trash and worthless mail, and eagerly looking for tiny notes of personal value that will bring a smile, each day—how nice it would be to receive a cheery note. Sometimes written message can reinforce love, friendship, and joy. A thanks, in handwriting is a bit of happiness. Everyone loves to get letters. Postage power is a personal note.

It will help your life to use "Postal Power" "What do I do that is interesting to anyone else?" They ask. This is their mistake. They don't have to talk about themselves. Thinking of the other person is what counts. A note for the sick, for the bereaved, for the young, for the baby, appreciation notes. A few moments takes out of a busy day for a note will give power.

How about another trip? You can take a trip to Ruidoso to see the second Annual Mescalero Indian Dance on July 16, 17 and 18. Then you could drive to Tularosa back to Carrizozo, then to Socorro on up spend a night, then go through Old Town, which is enchanting, and if you don't get lost browsing in the shops, & if you have a little more time, drive to Bandelier and spend a night in the Ancient Indian Cliff Dwellings. It is very interesting and especially beautiful place.

ROBYS BOX!

Dear Roby, To great talkers will not travel far together.

R.D.

Dear Roby,

To love is to admire with the heart to admire to love with the mind.

Dear Roby,

The time to relax is when you don't have time for it.

C.R.

Dear Roby,

What sunshine is to flowers, or smiles are to humanity?

Dear Roby,

If you can't go on a vacation — here is something for the children to do. Make bread dough, the recipe is: 1 cup of flour, 1/2 cup table salt, 6 tablespoons water.

Place flour and salt in a mixing bowl and mix thoroughly. Add water slowly mixing continually with hands on a pastry blender. Dough will seem stiff and crumbly at first but do not add more water. Knead thoroughly until dough is pliable. If it seems to stiff for kneading, work in a little more water a few drops at a time, and knead well after each addition. Then place in plastic bag, take out only as much as needed for each part of sculpture & keep rest of dough in bag. It crusts quickly when exposed to air. The dough can be made into small background, such as a board or card board covered with felt, velvet or burlap. Make flowers or other shapes to glue to earring caps or pin backs, anything you might create.

Marion B.

Dear Roby,

He who's always blowing a fuse is usually in the dark.

Dear Roby,

A man went to a clinic to have his eyes tested. He opened the first door he saw and said to a nurse who was fixing her hair at a mirror: "I need my eyes tested." "You do indeed," she said. "This is the ladies room."

DO YOU KNOW?

1. On July 31 Ruidoso Episcopal Church Christmas in July Bazaar, will be in full swing. GO SEE THE GOODIES!

2. Also about Corona's summer festival, go over to the county wide 4-H rodeo, at 1:30.

3. The lady in Nogal who just returned from New York City.

That the Wootens sold their home?

That fireworks weren't too important this year?

That Camp meeting started July 14 to 18.

That a very important person didn't get to be at the Pony Express ride.

Our recipe this week is a Cherry Mess

2 cans tart pie cherries

1/2 cup sugar

1 box white cake mix

1 stick of pure butter

1/2 cup brown sugar

1 Cup chopped pecans

Put cherries in greased oblong pan, and sprinkle 1/2 cup sugar over cherries. Pour cake mix over cherries and pat even (dry). Sprinkle 1/2 cup brown sugar over mix and sprinkle cup of pecans over top. Bake uncovered in 350 oven for 50 min. then cover lightly and bake for 30 min.

Around the Bowl

The fishers had a nice time with May Sharpes. Artist friend, Naomi, who stayed awhile in Nogal.

Nogal would like to "congratulate," a Cosper who was elected on the board of Governors, of the Country Club.

A flash this week— showed a 7 lb. baby girl, Jackie Lee, born to Ronnie and Melody Porter, grandparents non other than the Means.

The Greens had a great 4th with a visit from Frank Greer and his wife.

It is still cool in Nogal in the evenings and the flowers are getting beautiful, do come up on a family drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams have an exceptional young visitor, Charles Snow, who is a day student at the Sunda Tennis Villa. He is from St. David Ariz. and is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Snow of Carrizozo. Nogal is glad to have him and hopes he will come again soon, after he finishes his tennis course.

We were sorry to hear that Eddie Davis's trailer was broken into the other night, and after a police investigation, are awaiting further information.

Please write Roby Burke, Lincoln County News.

A BIG PINCH OF EXCITEMENT

An evening with the Mescalero Apache tribe. In this bicentennial year everyone should spend an evening at the Pow wow in Mescalero. It is an exceptional experience. While sitting in the grandstand watching the whole arena come to life with ancient dance techniques, chants, and the music of their tradition, from all over the USA, the Indian people take you back in time, centuries. The costumes, are so colorful they are electrifying! While looking out over the crowd, it was hard for them to keep from joining in with the rhythms of the music, many of the young and old were dancing in the grandstands.

This particular Pow wow was an All American Championship Indian dance. Each group had a number and was judged by a committee at each performance. All contestants participated in a parade to begin the performance, and they were judged by ability, costume, poise, enthusiasm and timing with the drum.

A CUP OF TRAVEL!

Vacation time again. Bet your tired, and need a change! Why, not spend a week in Santa Fe. You can browse through the shops, day by day. Relax by walking a tiny street with beautiful galleries all the way. You might like to walk along Burro Alley where the woodcutters once led their burros loaded with pinon and juniper. Or see the Cathedral of St. Francis and Our Lady of Light Chapel with its miraculous staircase built without nails, and many more interesting places to eat, and enjoy.

Sands Spacemen training

A training program for astronaut-pilots assigned to the space shuttle program will be conducted at White Sands Missile Range starting in August, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials announced.

A spokesman for the NASA Johnson Space Center in Houston said the simulated shuttle-raff descents and landing approaches will be practiced at the Northrup Strip, a wide and relatively flat area in the middle of the range. The training program will continue through the life of the space shuttle program.

A specially modified Grumman Gulfstream-II jet aircraft will be used in the training program. Designated the Shuttle Training Aircraft, or STA, the aircraft has been modified to match the drag and lift characteristics of the shuttlecraft.

The space shuttlecraft is a reusable launch vehicle, resembling a high-speed aircraft, that will have expendable propellant tanks and solid rocket boosters. After performing a normal space mission it will re-enter the earth's atmosphere and coast to its landing site like a large glider.

"Since the shuttlecraft does not have normal aircraft engines," said Charles Haines, project manager for shuttle training aircraft with Johnson Space Center, "the pilots will have to be proficient in controlling the orbiter during descent. Their final approach will have to be made at just the right speed, altitude and sink rate."

These "energy management" techniques will be learned in the training program at White Sands, Haines added.

The Gulfstream STA's modifications include in-flight thrust reversers on its jet engines and large vertical stabilizers under the wings to aid in controlling side forces. The shuttlecraft's flight instruments have been installed on the pilot's side of the cockpit, while the conventional instruments and controls have been retained on the instructor's side for use during the training flights.

In charge of planning for the program is Al Manson, one of Johnson Space Center's shuttle instructor pilots. He described a typical training flight approach as starting at an altitude of 40,000 feet, with the STA's drag devices set up to match the shuttlecraft's handling characteristics.

"The student pilot then will control the STA down to an altitude of about 30 feet above the ground," Manson said. "This is about the same eye-height as that of the pilot in an actual shuttle orbiter as touchdown."

"The STA will not be landed, however, instead it will be flown around and will be taken back up to 40,000 feet, where the descent will be repeated."

At Northrup Strip, engineers of the NASA White Sands Test Facility have graded and marked a runway 20,000 feet long and 300 feet wide. Easily visible from earth orbit, the strip is in an ancient dry lake bed just northwest of the White Sands National Monument.

According to Al Paczynski, the White Sands Test Facility engineer in charge of coordinating the runway program with the Army at White Sands Missile Range, the area selected because "the terrain is ideal."

Simply by smoothing it with a road grader, Paczynski added, the strip could easily be extended to 35,000 feet, or seven miles long.

Normally, the NASA officials said, two sets of training flights will be conducted each week. The astronaut-pilots and instructors plan to land the Grumman STA at Holloman Air Force Base for servicing between missions and to be bilitated there when required to remain overnight in the White Sands area.

Support for the training program also will be provided by the Army-operated National Range at White Sands, which will furnish range control, restricted air space, range communications support and range scheduling functions.

Antelope license deadlines July 30

Application deadlines for antelope and bighorn sheep licenses is July 30, the Department of Game and Fish reminds sportsmen.

Applications can be made in person at any Game and Fish Department office or by mail to the department's Santa Fe headquarters.

Applications, to be made on Form E, available from license vendors and Game and Fish Department officers, must be accompanied by a $1.00, non-refundable application fee, plus the proper license and vendor fees. If an applicant's name is drawn, his license and vendor fees will be returned.

This year's game regulations will allow up to 4,500 total antelope licenses.

The number of Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep permits has been increased by the State Game Commission to 20 resident and four nonresident licenses. Desert bighorn licenses are limited to five resident and one nonresident license. A prospective bighorn sheep hunter can apply for either a desert or a Rocky Mountain bighorn license, but not for both.

Sacramento Peak tours held

The Sacramento Peak Observatory, home of the world's largest vacuum telescope, is having a summer guided tour program.

Tours are conducted every Saturday at 2 p.m. under the auspices of the National Science Foundation.

In addition to the guided tour program, visitors may take self-guided tours everyday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The huge telescope is used to observe the sun and to study disturbances such as solar flares. It played an important part in protecting space-men and space instruments from damage caused by solar disturbances.

Sacramento Peak Observatory may be reached by turning south on State Highway 24 at Cloudcroft. After approximately two miles, turn right onto the paved Sacramento Peak road and follow the signs for 16 miles to Sunspot. For further information call 479-6511, Ext. 2311.

A lot of people depend on Jackie

Some of the people who have a part in the good food from Jackie's Frontier Cafe are Elizabeth Chase, Edith Stoneman, Charlotte Chase, Julia Painter, Sharon Lueras, (front) Sally Zamora, Sambrano, Cotton West, Golda Ward, Sandra Jackie Bradley and Terry Smith.

Friends make the best kind of customers and Jackie finds the time in her from can to can't schedule to enjoy them. Unc Cosper and Ed Jones members of the morning coffee club at the Frontier.

JACKIE BRADLEY has a lot of people depending on her for breakfast, lunch and dinner — and coffee with rolls in between. Not so long ago this hard working lady put her years of restaurant experience to work for herself and the rest of us.

She opened the door at FRONTIER CAFE and started cooking. Fine food in an attractive atmosphere served by really nice people was all it took to make Carrizozo diners happy.

About the same time Jackie bought a motel, did a lot of repairs and named it SUNSET INN. There are many travelers who are happy to get a good night's rest at Jackie's place.

As we said, a lot of people depend on Jackie — for a place to stay, for a place to eat, and for a place to work.

AT CITIZENS STATE BANK we like to have people like Jackie depend on us for their banking needs.

Come in and see us at Citizens State Bank... we'll help you with your banking needs.
