Zozo sets cleanup

VOLUME 70, NUMBER 16 THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1976 P.O. DRAWER 453 CARRIZOZO, N.M. 88301

EASTER IS A PROMISE... of hope, of growth, of love. The Lincoln County News found three bunnies hiding under a bridal wreath bush that was just beginning to bloom. They each had a beautiful basket of eggs ready to hide and a pocket of love and greeting to spread around the county. Sometimes, disguised as children the bunnies are named D'rese Aguilar and Jason

Hein. In the center is Bunny Fenter who was borrowed from his burrow in the Fenter Variety

State approves all school budgets

Lincoln County schools were given "A" by the state financial officials following public hearing on their budgets last week.

Carrizozo, Capitan and Corona all passed with flying colors on the state education department's inspection of the schools' resources and plans for spending the money in the coming school year.

Dr. Al Clemmons who chaired the hearings on behalf of the state told the Carrizozo gathering that the teacher-pupil ratio of approximately 13 to 1 was excellent. He commended the board on its direction in spending money for education.

He said that the legislature had increased educational funding this year and asked the board about any building intentions for the future.

In Carrizozo, the board said that following completion of a new administration center, no construction was planned. Capitan has future building plans but was not ready for presentation. Corona has completed its building program and plans for maintenance only.

The Carrizozo total resources (revenue) are $797,584. Of that $45,026 is local revenue; $21,186 federal; $571,784 state funds; $69,021 from the previous year; $56,955 debt service funds; $11,755 federal Title I funds.

The money will be spent generally as follows: administration $36,735. The big bulk of this is on the $20,211 superintendents salary.

Instruction: $332,063. Of this $261,729 go to grades 1-12 teachers who got a 10 percent increase this year. Instructional support costs $66,479, a 41.7 percent hike over this year. The principal takes $27,121 for his salary.

The big increase though is $6000 to make the librarian full time and another $6000 to put the counselor to a full time job. In addition the school will spend about $5000 on hiring a diagnostician for special education purposes.

At the hearing Mrs. Barbara Ward questioned the proposed increase in special education. The 17 students in special education are to be increased to 53 next year. Joe Orsak explained the procedure for placing students in special education and said parental consent was required. Mrs. Ward said that she believed the program should be carefully watched.

Health services will take $1797. Pupil transportation uses $33,250, a 13 percent increase.

Plant operation is up 40 percent to $58,737 and maintenance is $18,743. Fixed charges such as social security and insurance take $73,102. Food services will get an additional $1200 to help with food costs. Their budget is $1450. Athletics and activities require $7,103 input. Drivers education this summer is a new program that will cost $1065. New equipment, building improvement and other capital outlay items get $45,907, considerably down from the $204,918 spent last year to build the new gym. $43,405 goes to pay debts and $11,755 is spent on Title I program. The budget spends $761,104, leaving $993.00 un-budgeted. Corona will have $429,911 in resources as compared to $392,455 last year. The teachers are getting a 10 percent raise to educate the 11 children in school and the 4 in kindergarten.

Aside from the salary increase the only major change this year is a one time $3000 to upgrade the library. The superintendent in Corona receives $15,890 salary and $385,524 will be spent in operations.

Capitan got the green light on its $543,469 budget. $81,733 comes from local funds and $371,934 from the state. The balance is from federal, debt service and a $41,625 balance.

The superintendent's salary of $19,040 takes the biggest part of the $33,488 administration total. The teachers got a 13 percent hike in the instruction budget of $208,026. The principals' salary of $16,000 comes under instructional support which totals $44,711. Capitan will spend $49,849 on buses and $39,086 to operate the plant. An additional $18,840 is budgeted for maintenance. The school spends $4,787 feeding the mid day lunch and has $10,500 down for capital outlay.

County gets '76 fete funds

Lincoln County will have $5000 to spend celebrating the Bicentennial of the American Revolution.

Saturday, the New Mexico Bicentennial Commission gave the big YES to the County's request for a $2500 to match the county appropriation.

The Lincoln County Bicentennial Committee headed by Robert Scribner had put in application for two projects: $5000 for "A People's Market Place" which will assist arts and craft shows over the county, advertise and promote the many festivities planned in each town, build a permanent float exhibiting crafts and history in the county and initiating a permanent place to show and sell arts and crafts in each county town.

The second project requested funding for landscaping the courthouse and building a fountain in the patio.

The state agreed to the Peoples market place but did not fund the courthouse project. Les Olson, county manager, said he was confident that his work would go head and that money would be found for courthouse beautification.

Olson, Commissioner Roman Nunez, Ralph Dunlap, Tom Ward and Mary Rich made the trip to Santa Fe to present the county project proposals.

With only $200,000 to spend the state had requests for grants of up to $60,000 and had a lot of work to do in dividing up the money.

"We are certainly delighted with our appropriation," said Ms. Rich, "and we appreciate the great courtesy with which our requests were heard."

Work will begin immediately on the project. All communities should send a complete description of any activities, schedules, photos and proposals to the Bicentennial Committee, Lincoln County Courthouse, County Managers Office, Carrizozo, New Mexico 88301.

Lincoln County's happy Bicentennial Delegation look at the latest copy of the NEWS on the steps of the capitol. From the left, they are Tom Ward, Ralph Dunlap, Mary Rich and Roman Nunez. Behind the camera this one time was Les Olson substituting for the editor.

The new Carrizozo Board of Trustees, spearheaded by Manny Hernandez, started out on town problems a running and a tearing.

Before the session was over, at the request of Hernandez and Robert Luna, the group went into "executive" session and Johnny Johnson emerged on notice to look for a new job.

Election rumors and town speculation had it during the campaigning that Johnson would no longer be town manager if Hernandez and Luna were elected. The candidates had told the NEWS that they were not planning to move for his removal but only to ask for more employee supervision.

Something must have happened on the way to the forum. While the NEWS was excluded from the session that discussed the matter, it is reported that Hernandez, Luna and Roy Harmon wanted to have the position abolished immediately and hire Emilio Beltran as town crew foreman instead.

Mayor Floyd Siegrist and Willie Silva argued that Johnson was needed to see the construction of the new Industrial Park to its conclusion. The Mayor said that the present manager was the only person with the time who was qualified to represent the city during construction of the park and the water and sewer additions.

The Board then decided to retain Johnson until August 31.

Indian Divide rest area is given go ahead

The South Central Mountain RC&D project held their regular meeting at the Carrizozo Recreation Center this Tuesday with chairman Lewis Merritt presiding.

Ken Towles, Highway Commissioner for District II, was the program speaker. He spoke of the progress on the various project measures. The Indian Divide Rest area was apparently worked out and will be built. District II is ready and willing to pave their part of Highway 14, and Highways 42 and 48 will be completed within twelve months. Highway 37 will have to let bids and will be delayed because of this.

Shorty Lee's grave rest area is being surveyed for a turnout and sign. The Trinity site sign (the first atomic bomb explosion forty miles west) might be included at the same area.

Senator Aubrey Dunn (Lincoln and Otero Counties) was also present. He pointed out that by plugging away and keeping after the projects you will finally get results. He also emphasized that the money situation is a serious problem due to the inflated cost of work done. Senator Dunn said "this was the way to get things done - everyone get together and hash it out".

Chairman Lewis Merritt appointed the nominating committee for the annual meeting to be held in June. These men include Bob Bell, Weed, Bud Bagley, Corona, and Bill Gallacher, Carrizozo. Elections of new officers will be held at that time.

Chairman Merritt also reported on the New Mexico Council of RC&D meeting in Albuquerque and the revision of the constitution and by-laws and the plan design.

Three project measures were accepted. The town of Carrizozo requested a plan for flood and drainage, the Capitan school for a recreation

CYO sunrise breakfast

The Carrizozo Christian Youth Organization will serve an Easter Sunrise Breakfast at the Methodist Church from 6:30 to 9:30 a.m. Easter. The menu is juice, sausage, bacon, pancakes, eggs, coffee, tea, all for only $1.50 a person.

Any profits will go to a summer trip for the youngsters to Six Flags in Dallas, Texas.

There will be no sunrise service this year at the Valley of the Fires State Park. Easter services, of course, will be held in all county churches.

It was full speed ahead for the new members of the Carrizozo Board of Trustees and Willie Silva

(The Publisher of the NEWS Paul Payton and the Editor of the NEWS Mary Rich question the wisdom and the legality of the closed session. They believe that so called executive sessions are strictly limited and should be used only to protect the reputation of employees; not to make it more convenient for governing bodies to discuss their differences.)

A request by Hernandez for the town attorney, Bill Payne, to bring the ordinance pertaining to junk cars before the next meeting of the group was agreed to. It was the first step taken to go forward on the town clean up.

The Board voted May as clean up month. Town pickup of trash will be free as will the use of equipment including the loader. Persons wishing to take advantage of this service should notify town hall and make an appointment.

A second series of notices to owners of property that is dangerous, wrecked or a fire and health hazard will go in the mail this month. The Board told Payne to proceed with the second phase of the town renovation began several years back. Owners will be advised of the repair or removal of buildings that must be done to avoid condemnation.

Arl Cope of the Tularosa Cable TV company was granted a Carrizozo franchise by the trustees. Cope will be bringing in four Albuquerque stations, two El Paso stations, a Juarez station and a local weather station on his cable operation. He plans to begin construction after receiving the go ahead from the FCC.

Jean Crook appeared before the board to ask assistance in obtaining a street light near her home. She said her street was dark and dangerous at night. Under the town's contract with Otero Electric Coop the number of street lights is determined by the number of meter connections.

According to the town manager, there are actually more lights than required by the franchise with the electric company.

Mrs. Crook was told that if she and her neighbors would be responsible for a $4 per month bill, the company would provide the street light if there was an existing pole. When Mrs. Crook said that no pole was in her vicinity, Hernandez said he could provide a pole.

An ordinance reportedly required by the Environmental Protection Agency governing industrial waste disposal and treatment was presented at the request of Matotan, industrial park engineering contractors. The ordinance will be considered at the next meeting.

The last swimming pool bond of $3000 was paid by the board freeing the cigarette tax money for other recreational programs. The first revenue from that source will go to the mini-park that is underway on the south side of town near St. Rita's Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lueras told the board that the animal control ordinance should be better enforced. They said a horse, identified as belonging to Buddy Hill, was creating a health hazard and a nuisance in their neighborhood. The trustees told Payne to send a notice of complaint to Hill.

A discussion of a recent series of burglaries in the town centered around the need for 24 hour police protection. The Board was told that an additional patrolman was on duty now and Marshall Choncho Morales said he and his men were doing a lot of night walking. It was decided that the officers should be equipped with portable communications equipment and Roy Harmon was asked to investigate the cost of walkie talkies and to ask the sheriff's department if they would agree to monitor the setup.

Eddie O'Brien appeared to ask for town help in cleaning up his property, part of which is outside the town limits. He also asked for additional police protection. It was agreed to help in the cleanup but he was told that city services could not be supplied unless he asked and received annexation to the town.

Hernandez and Luna discussed the drainage problem on the south side of town. According to the trustees, rains often leave drives unusable. They proposed to have the city provide gravel where the drives were on town property and filler material was available. It was agreed that this work should be done.

A request for federal funds for a drainage and paving program in that part of town was recently turned down. Soil Conservation head Howard Abercrombie is taking the drainage part of the program before another possible funding agent.

Finally the board advised the town marshal that city police cars should only be used by members of his force for town business and that families of the force and other unauthorized persons should not be allowed to ride in the cars because of insurance provisions.

Although organization of the board was not completed, Manny Hernandez was elected mayor pro tem for the coming year.

Way of the West by Mary Rich

Children will believe anything—for a while. I asked our beautiful Veronica what she thought about the Easter Bunny when she was little. She couldn't remember—but we both wondered...

It is so much fun to dye the eggs. We always used glass custard cups and it seemed a miracle when the eggs came out of those dark hot liquids such beautiful blues and greens and pinks. The decals and magic marker designs were fun but I remember liking the clear soft colors the best.

So Saturday afternoon we would hard boil eggs—always trying a new promised-not-to-crack method. And then came the colors. After the eggs dried, they were put in a big bowl and left on the back of the kitchen cabinet.

Early Easter morning when the dew still sparkled on the grass and the sun tinted the eastern sky, we (the parents) would hide the eggs. When the children were very very little, the eggs were in sight and just out of the way of little feet. As they grew, it was a challenge to find really good hiding places. Our family rules demanded the hiding places—all be in the backyard, under flowers, in the grass, in a tree fork—but somewhere in the natural part of the backyard.

On the dining room table would be a bunny nest holding chocolate fruit-nut eggs, hollow chocolate bunnies and those marvelous baskets full of bright foil covered chocolate eggs, marshmallow chicks and jelly beans.

Christmas morning and Easter morning were the only two in the year when it was permitted to gobble candy before breakfast. Each of the five babes found a safe place for their goodies, the signal was given and it was out to the yard for the big hunt.

We would help the littliest try to find where the Easter Bunny had hidden the eggs. What I asked Veronica and what she didn't know either was why do the children believe that the Easter Bunny brings and hides the eggs when they have helped dye them the night before.

There must be some grownup children who can be persuaded to believe almost anything. I heard the late news the other night from Washington. The man said that there was discussion of sending military aid to mainland China. Seems there is some kind of internal disturbance going on and we are trying to decide if our guns are needed. I wonder which side we are going to arm—Mao or the others?

Probably the best way to answer that would be to find out who has the cola franchise for China. I really think that we should be given more time to get ready emotionally, for our little wars. They are still showing "know your enemy films" in the Dallas public schools and the enemy is those Chinese they are talking about sending aid (if guns can be so classified) to.

Meanwhile back at the purple egg factory...

I promised Bob Stearns to say so if I was wrong. He took exception to my figures concerning the school budget. At the budget hearing I asked the state officials if the grand total estimated resources figure was not the cost of education in Zoza.

I had used $809,738 and that figure was changed to $797,584 since part of the estimated cash balance from this year has been spent.

They agreed that was true, however they said that dividing $797,584 by 362 children and coming up with a per student cost of education did not give an accurate per child cost of education. Some children cost more than others cost to educate. Special education children, school bus kids, vocational students all take extra dollars. Some years the schools may build and other years pay back the cost of building.

So, it is not considered in good form to do the kind of long division that I did a couple of weeks ago. Thus, Bobby, according to the experts, all I can say is: The Carrizozo schools will have $797,584 to spend to educate approximately 362 children and you can use your own calculator to play with the budget.

Roman Nunez, Les Olson, Ralph Dunlap, Tom Ward and I took a trip to Santa Fe to put in a bid for some state money for Lincoln County Bicentennial celebrating.

The county car almost wouldn't start at 5 a.m. that Friday morning, but after a few threats from Ralph, it finally took off.

Later when it was time to come home, Ralph wasn't around and the car required the attention of a mechanic (you know how much that's going to cost) before agreeing to get on home.

It was a beautiful early drive north and the cloud studded sunrise kept us quiet for an hour. We wondered if the clouds were carrying any rain. Tom said they looked like those that Sam Ward used to describe as "empties going back after more sand."

When we passed through Corona Ralph told a little story about a population explosion that was in the making. I told that story (honestly) to the state committee and that is why we got some money—they thought we were going to need some help.

It seems that those good people in Corona were worried about losing too many people to the city. The kids were growing up and leaving home for good. The railroad gang was gone and it didn't take a bunk house anymore to house the hands on a ranch.

Something had to be done or Corona was just going to fade away. The city fathers had a great idea. They sent a letter to the Southern Pacific asking for an extra trestle to be built when the 4:30 a.m. came through town.

It was too late to go back to sleep and too early to get up, just like they figured.

We got to talking about history and the side effects of the American Revolution and later the Civil War. Some one mentioned the division of the church over the issue of slavery. Some (the south) said that God had established that institution and others (the north) said that it was the child of the devil.

One of our party repeated a Mark Twain tale about the Northern Baptist saying "There's no hell" and the Southern Baptist replying, "The hell there ain't."

Two men from El Paso and Alamogordo have acquired the Yucca & plan to restore it to its former place in Carrizozo social life. They have put in a new band stand, plan a restaurant in the next few weeks, complete remodeling and a paint job. How about that, neighbor? We were talking about the days when the Yucca was the best place in town, Peter our pressman, said, yes, when he was a boy he made top wages shining shoes in the Yucca. The clientele was of such a fine class that one night a man gave Peter $2 for shining his shoes. And, tells, Peter, it didn't even matter that he put black polish on the fancy brown shoes.

Wes and Margo Lindsay are putting in a Western clothing store where Dutch Cox used to have his company headquarters. Next door to that Hoot and Linda Gibson are completing the remodeling of the new Rancho Supply. And Jackie Bradley is planning to redo the Sunset Inn. That is going to be one fancy street soon.

Auxiliary elects girl stater

Corona's American Legion Auxiliary Unit 35 met April 6 for a regular meeting, with 10 members present.

An announcement was made of the Spring District 3 conference at Moriarty, April 11.

A list of 5 girls names was read from which one girl was to be chosen as a delegate to Girls State Session held in June at Las Vegas.

Names were voted on & a delegate & an alternate were elected.

President Davenport asked the members to write letters to the National Aeronautic and Space Administration of Houston, to support the decision of the astronauts to read from the bible in their Space Crafts as they soar in space and orbit the moon.

Mrs. Madeline O'Hare (an atheist) is attempting to stop Bible reading & prayer on their space crafts.

I think a most appropriate time and place for Bible reading and praying.

The Legion and its Auxiliary are asking everyone to write letters to the Space Administration giving your permission to read their Bible in Space.

Enough letters from citizens to the National Aeronautic & Space Administration will defeat Mrs. O'Hare's actions.

28 paper back books, 1 gallon of pop bottle caps & can pull tabs.

9 tooth brushes, 7 tubes toothpaste & 5 styfoam trays were collected for the use of the patients in Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque.

Several citizens & the Auxiliary members enjoyed a Bingo game after close of business meeting, netting $16.10 from game.

Address for those wishing to write letters to NASA - National Aeronautic and Space Administration - Manned Space Craft Center Astronauts office, Houston, Texas 77058.

Dr. George Jones, interim vice president for Academic Affairs, will preside over the assembly while Reverend Glenn McCoy delivers the invocation. President Warren B. Armstrong will present a special address to the 138 award recipients.

Miller will receive a Superior Cadet Award.

Robert W. Miller honored at ENMU

Robert W. Miller Jr., of Carrizozo will be honored during Eastern New Mexico University's Academic Honors Assembly this Friday (April 9) at 1 p.m. in the Campus Union Ballroom.

Voters clinics set in county towns

Voting machine clinics sponsored by the Lincoln County Democratic women will be held over the county April 26-30.

The clinic schedule is as follows:

Hondo: April 26, School Supt. office 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
 Ruidoso: April 27, High School, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
 Capitán: April 28, Fair building. (The school students will vote on student council 9 a.m. to noon.) General Public from noon to 4 p.m.
 Corona: April 29, City Hall, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
 Carrizozo: April 30, City Hall, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In addition to the members of the organization, County Clerk Barbara Lovelace will assist in demonstration operation of the machines.

A brief survey showed that most voters, including some county officials, do not fully understand all operations including write-in votes.

All voters can benefit by the demonstration and new voters in particular should take advantage of these clinics. Only a few minutes of time is needed.

Homan Maes has his own bicentennial wagon on display on weekends. He is also, replacing the little picket fence by the front of their home. They are always working on and cleaning up their property; keeping everything in shape!

Mr. S. G. Green, husband of Mrs. Roman Maes' sister, Ofelia, is at this time very ill. We hope he is better by the time this is printed. They live in Roswell.

Helen Pfingsten hasn't improved greatly, in health. Some days she feels better but has to spend part of her time in Roswell.

A big lumber truck over-turned near Torres ranch, almost by Bill and Daine Shreengost's home. This seems to happen quite often. Those curves are wicked and I think a truck loaded with lumber is usually too heavy. But luckily the driver of this one survived with almost no injuries.

Reggie Wiseman of Santa Fe has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clark Pfingsten recently.

The Beck's have done wonders with their new home and shop across from Cummins Grocery in Capitán. It is lovely.

State Garden meet planned

The twenty-seventh annual convention of the New Mexico Garden Clubs, Inc., will be held at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, on April 22-23.

The convention theme, "Follow Historic Trails to a Garden Pow Wow," will lead registrants into one of the most beautiful areas of New Mexico.

Mrs. C. E. Neuhaus, convention chairman, and Mrs. S. E. Neff, program chairman, and the Clubs in District V have planned an outstanding program. Mrs. Vernon L. Conner, president of the national council of state garden clubs, inc., will attend the convention. Mrs. Conner will be honored at a luncheon on Friday, April 23. The theme of the luncheon is "Indian Trails" and hostesses are the Yucca and Pecos Garden Clubs of Roswell. She will, also, be honored at a tea with the theme "Historic Trails," hosted by the Ruidoso Garden Club.

They are Number 1 on the state. It is Carrizozo's FFA state champion wool judging team with Sammy Roper, Bernice Sambrano and Gary Joe Lovelace displaying the trophy they brought home.

BLM to study Stallion

During the past 18 months the Socorro District of the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) has been gathering resource, economic, social and environmental data and developing alternatives for future land use on 606,000 acres of national resource land (NRL) in the Stallion planning unit.

The Stallion unit is located partly in Socorro County (see attached map). It is bounded on the west by the Magdalena and San Mateo Mountains and on the east by the Las Cruces BLM district boundary. The area extends from just below the north-Sierra County line and White Sands Missile Range on the south to the Torrance County line and Sevilleta National Wildlife Refuge on the north.

Among the alternatives to be discussed will be proposals for solving land occupancy problems in the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District, intensifying rangeland management, providing watershed protection, enhancing or improving wildlife habitat, increasing recreation opportunities and providing for orderly mineral development on NRL within the Stallion Unit. Other topics, in addition to those mentioned, will be open for discussion by workshop participants. Information and public input received will be used to develop a final set of multiple-use recommendations for inclusion in the Stallion land-use plan. These recommendations will be presented at another public meeting in late May.

Information on the area and public input on future use and development of public land has been obtained by BLM through resource inventory, individual contacts, user group meeting and a general public meeting held in February, 1975, in Socorro.

BLM specialists have developed alternatives for future land use of each major resource found within the area. These alternatives are tentative and no decisions have been made at this time on the final land use plan. Many of the proposals are in conflict and will have to be changed or deleted from the final plan.

In order for the public to examine the alternatives, their impacts upon and conflicts with other uses, and to propose changes or new alternatives, a workshop session will be held at the Socorro Junior High Gymnasium on April 29, beginning at 7 p.m. This workshop will last approximately three hours.

The wool team consisting of Sammy Roper, Ricky Edwards, Gary Lovelace, and Bernice Sambrano placed first in the state contest. Sammy Roper was 3rd individual. This team was undefeated in New Mexico during 1976. They had also won the Hatch Invitational, the Hot Springs Invitational and the District VI contest held in Deming.

The horse team consisting of Phil Straley, Timmy Curtis, Lois McBride, and Robbie Hollis received the second place award only 5 points behind the winning team from Gadsden. Phil Straley was 4th high individual while Timmy Curtis and Lois McBride were 6th and 8th respectively. Carrizozo was 54 points ahead of the third place team from Floyd.

The meats team consisting of Ray Hernandez, Billy Shafer and Rex Wilson received the fifth place award. Rex Hernandez was 8th high individual in the contest. They were only 21 points behind the winning team from Las Cruces.

The dairy team consisting of Lisa Ferguson, Joy Simpson, Stanley Steinepreis, and Les Miller placed 7th. This was the highest placing that a dairy team from Carrizozo had placed at the state contest. They were only 34 points behind the winning team from Portales.

The poultry team consisting of Lois McBride, Nat Palomarez and Brenda Lindsay placed seventh.

The homesite evaluation team of Mike English, Pat Baroz, and Ricky Edwards placed sixth.

Other teams and their placings included Livestock 15th (Phil Straley, Billy Shafer, Lisa Ferguson, Rex Wilson), Ag Mechanics 32nd (Les Miller, Gary Lovelace, Gary Lindsay), Land 24th (Ricky Edwards, Pat Baroz, Mike English), and Landscape design 16th (Stanley Steinepreis, Brenda Lindsay, Joy Simpson, and Les Miller).

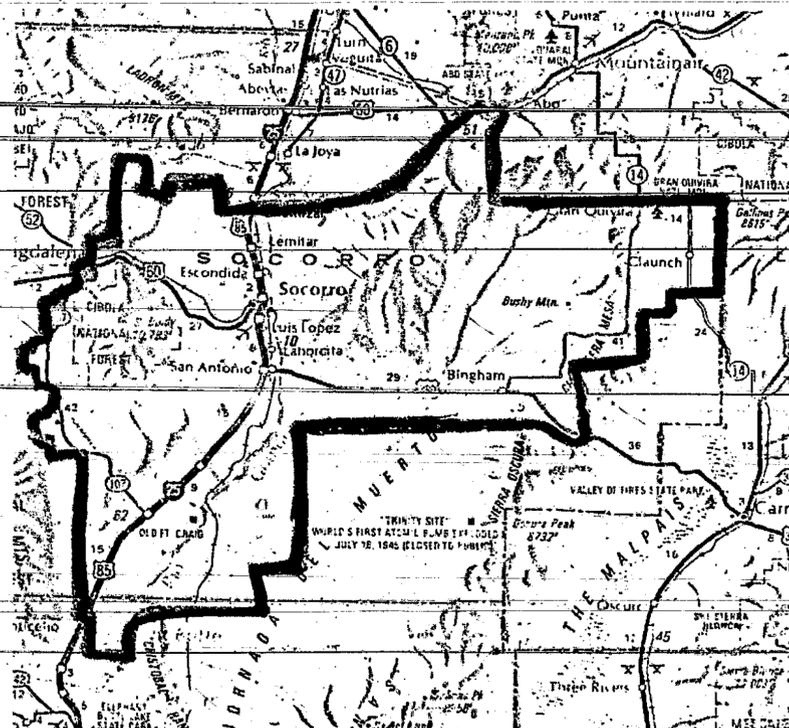

Twenty members from the Carrizozo FFA chapter attended the state contest, they have all worked hard and deserve a tremendous amount of credit. Even to be in the top ten or fifteen teams out of over seventy in New Mexico is an honor.

Carrizozo CYO has supper

The Carrizozo CYO attended the St. Rita Catholic Church on April 4. The Catholic women prepared refreshments for the group.

At 1 o'clock that afternoon we went to the Valley of Fires state park for a hamburger fry. We had our first official meeting, we discussed the sunrise service pancake breakfast it will be prepared at the Methodist church and will be served from 6:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Easter Sunday. The cost will be $1.00 for short stack & drink, 1.50 for the works which will consist of pancakes, juice, coffee, eggs or bacon & sausage. The CYO is trying to earn money for a trip to Six Flags over Texas.

New members Audrey Vega and Mona Payne; Guest Danny Sandoval. Everyone is welcome! by Brenda Lindsay Secretary treasure

The Stallion range will be reviewed by the BLM at a public meeting April 29. The area, outlined here, bounds Lincoln County on the east and covers 606,000 acres.

Vaccinate for sleeping sickness

Horse owners are encouraged to have their animals vaccinated for equine encephalitis as soon as possible. Horse sleeping sickness, otherwise known as encephalitis, is often a serious problem once the mosquito season arrives, according to William A. Ljungdahl, Extension livestock specialist, New Mexico State University.

Ljungdahl emphasized that horse owners in all sections of the country should see their veterinarians about vaccination to protect against Eastern, Western and Venezuelan encephalitis.

Eastern and Western equine encephalitis (EEE and WEE) affect many horses every summer. Reported encephalitis cases in 1976 were submitted to a USDA laboratory for diagnosis. Of the total, 674 were WEE and 55 were EEE. Preliminary reports reveal that some 396 additional suspect cases were submitted for confirmation to state diagnostic and public health laboratories. Of those, 105 were WEE and 40 were EEE.

FFA wool team is No. 1

The Carrizozo FFA chapter capped off what has been an outstanding judging year by finishing third in the overall sweepstakes standings at the New Mexico State FFA Judging contests held April 8, 9 and 10 at NMSU in Las Cruces. Competing against seventy-three schools in New Mexico, the Las Cruces chapter with 490.52 points finished first, Hot Springs, 488.53 points second, and Carrizozo 487.19 third. Sweepstakes is determined by the five highest teams from each school.

Little League players wanted

The call is out for baseball players and now is the time for Carrizozo's future stars to take the first step.

Anyone interested in participating in Little League Baseball this season should pick up an application from one of the four managers: Choncho Morales, Mac Luéras, Emilio Beltran or Gilbert Archuleta, or Zozo Coach Paul Henry who is organizing the league.

The applications must be completed and returned between April 19 and April 25 for inclusion in the Little League draft. The date of the draft has not been set.

Each player must have a birth certificate or a copy available at the time of the draft to verify age.

Age limits are 8 to 12 and participants cannot be 13 before August 1.

Coach Henry says that efforts are being made to organize county wide league programs in each of the five Lincoln County school districts.

Youth who are interested in playing and who have not already been selected as team members should tell their schools where information is available.

Coach Paul urges parents to encourage their children to participate and to offer their assistance in beginning local programs.

If no local leadership is available, Coach Paul may be reached for help at 648-2553, Carrizozo, evenings.

Community college public meeting set

All persons interested in the continued operation and expansion of the Carrizozo Community College are asked to attend an open meeting held in the Carrizozo School Library on April 28 at 3 p.m. A new slate of members to serve on the Continuing Education Committee is needed as well as public input regarding new courses, instructors and the status of the community college.

If you are interested, please come. If unable to come, let your opinions be known by contacting Ralph Dunlap of the County Extension office, Mrs. Emma Lawson of the Carrizozo Schools or Elinor Olson 1007 B Ave. in Carrizozo.

We Will Be Closed Easter Sunday

Capitan News

by Margaret Rench

I wish everyone a very happy Easter. May you carry the true spirit and meaning of Easter all year.

Really we awakened to a clear sky this Monday morning and by 10AM we had a delightful light shower of rain. A cold east wind came ahead of the clouds then it settled. We do appreciate every drop of moisture. May God continue to give our dry country with rain. Our prayers are constant. Our gratitude abundant for every little drop.

The Republican Women's Club held a dutch treat luncheon at the Frontier Cafe in Carrizozo, April 13, at 11:30 a.m. The lady who sends out the notices was away therefore they have tried to contact each member in Capitan by phone through many of you were not at home.

Do remember to help the 4-H boys and girls by purchasing raffle tickets on the large bag of groceries given away April 25. It is such a worthy cause. You can see them on display at the Capitan Builders supply and Janie Panquist there will sell you tickets. Just ask her.

Work has started on the Smokey Bear Park. The Moontree and Smokey Bear Park dedication will be May 15. Many dignitaries are invited. Be sure to attend. We are so happy to see this going forward.

The Smokey Bear Museum is enjoying many visitors of which I am delighted to report. Flyers who are on training mission in Roswell from Germany and France visited there and were so happy and said they had heard of this for so long and enjoyed it so much daily there are so many visitors. In the Roswell Record there was good publicity with the picture of the Curator Willie Hobbs. We do appreciate that. Also we do want everyone to know what our Smokey Bear Museum represents, fire prevention, our little Smokey Bear truly suffered in the forest fire and now is a true symbol for that fire prevention. A national one. Our little cabin which is the Museum now and was intended to be was all donated by sincere citizens who gave their labors and material. Much sacrifice by everyone and such joy doing it. It will stand for many years as it has been taken care of. Our park will be great.

The Athletic Banquet will be held on May 4 at 8 p.m. The speaker will be the Head Football Coach from Eastern New Mexico University.

Purchase a baseball cap with a "C" on it to promote Capitan Athletics caps. Caps available at the school.

Right now at 12 noon we just had a terrific hard rain shower with lots of small hail which left the ground covered. The sun came out but the clouds are many. Maybe this time it all means real moisture this was great.

Last Sunday the Capitan United Methodist Church enjoyed their District Supt. Rev. Witwam who brought them a beautiful message and served Communion. A large crowd attended their fellowship dinner at 12:45.

A nice crowd attended the United Methodist Women's Club at their Church last Friday. These ladies really do work and gain their goal.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Cummins was one couple in the group of 125 persons of the associated grocers who left El Paso Friday via plane to Acapulco, Mexico where they enjoyed one week of tours and fun together. Delicious food and great entertainment. It was a great vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Bill MacVeigh of Carrizozo and Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Jr. of Ruidoso also attended. They all returned Friday evening, late.

Hollis's family and employees did a great job taking care of their business during their absence. I am so happy for all of them. That was a great vacation.

Mrs. Herman (Toni) Otero left a week ago via plane to Alabama, where she is visiting their daughter, Esther (Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clark and family).

The Rusty Anchor Bar did some improving last week by building an addition to their store room. Our village is still looking up. Cleaning is still going on and each day shows so much improvement.

Loyd Engelking of Midway, Texas is his Easter Brake with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Engelking.

Mrs. Mayme Greisen went home to Los Alamos with her niece, Lena Mae, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hobbs and she underwent eye surgery last Thursday and came thru very good. I do wish her a good recovery.

Mrs. Howard Wright and their daughter Mrs. Terry Strickland and her daughters Rhonda Kay and Melinda, spent last weekend in Seminole, Texas visiting her mother Mrs. Elsie Kidd. She is in much better health at this time of which I was so pleased to learn.

Bertah West formerly of Capitan now of Lubbock, passed away last Saturday afternoon. Her husband is her survivor. She is the aunt of Ellen Faye Hammons.

Mrs. Lewis (Bessie) Cummins will go via plane from Albuquerque Thursday 15 to spend Easter with her son Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cummins and family at Garden Grove, California and with her daughter, Geraldine, Mr. and Mrs. Don McClung, in San Jose, Calif. I wish her the happiest trip ever.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cox are very busy building on their new home in the subdivision. They are doing their own work and enjoying it together.

Tessie Batic will undergo a heart surgery in Albuquerque this week. I do wish her a good recovery. I just know it will be successful as Tessie has a good outlook.

Last Thursday, Pat Flatley and Lorene went to Ruidoso to visit Sybil Arnett, Dean Murphy and Grace Murphy and they all enjoyed dinner at the Whispering Pines.

Last Friday, Lorene Ferguson visited Myrtle Williams in Nogal.

Approximately 150 guests attended the open house Sunday at the Dick Becks in Capitan. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Beck's sister and family of El Paso, Mrs. Robert Kenney. Serving refreshments were Sally Abercrombie, Sandra Lacey, Diana Lucas and Becky Jones. Jimmy Lacey took care of the shop for the day. Guests registered for a choker, which was won by Becky Jones.

Apodaca is ENMU speaker

Jerry Apodaca, New Mexico's 22nd chief executive, will be the guest speaker for the spring commencement at Eastern New Mexico University, Friday, April 30.

Appearing before 685 graduating seniors, Governor Apodaca will speak on "The Challenges of 1976."

Governor Apodaca is one of "Time Magazine's" 200 American Leaders of Tomorrow and was elected as co-chairman of the Four Corners Regional Commission soon after his inauguration in January of 1975.

A veteran of eight years in the state legislature, Governor Apodaca entered the legislature in 1966. Re-elected twice, he was involved in legislative moves to equalize educational finance. He was the first non-lawyer to chair the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Women plan egg party

Members of the Carrizozo Woman's Club go to Ft. Stanton Thursday afternoon to have an Easter party for the residents there. Refreshments will be served by the hostess committee: Mrs. R. L. Sherrill, Miss Margaret Lane and Mrs. Joe West.

Mrs. Leslie Olson is program chairman for the event.

A short business meeting will be held at the club house at two o'clock after which members will leave for Ft. Stanton. Transportation will be provided for those who wish it.

Indian Divide, between Carrizozo and Capitan is one of the most beautiful in the country. A rest Cups-ful of Magic moments for Easter!

When my heart is aching about something one of the children did and my husband soothes and holds me just long enough for me to get control again.

When I weather a heated session with our pre-adolescent daughter, and remember the same scene between mother and me more than 20 years ago.

When Father helps so with a model and takes the patience to show him how instead of doing it himself.

When the toddler insists on carrying the baby's bottle to him, and resists the urge to take a nip.

When the boy takes the garbage without being asked.

When I open my eyes on a Saturday morning and find my children or my husband had brought me my coffee.

When my husband and I go to a dance and he still thinks I am the best looking one there.

When anyone in the family brings me dandelions.

When my husband and I share a few quiet moments at the close of the day.

That the hectic days make up the good ones and not all people know this. They think all the days should be perfect and if they were they would be more miserable than they know.

I box of Easter thoughts

Worry!

Is assuming a responsibility God never intended you to have.

Humility gives you the freedom to be creative under the protection of divinely appointed authority.

Light!

On Easter lets carry our light for someone who only has darkness in the spirit.

Health Questions

Are oranges, grapefruit, tangelos and hard to know which ones are. You might write the F.D.A. and complain? 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md. 20852. You may write here to ask about any food, you like.

Some of the egg substitutes on the market say they have all the value of real eggs. Are the preservatives and other chemicals harmful?

Ans-Yes, all preservatives are harmful to different degrees and in different amounts of time. Do you know?

That in Texas the greatest entertainment now are Armadilla races—something very exciting!

That Herman is getting Spring fever, please someone bring Herrnan a mate—He is so lonesome!

That the Pingsons celebrated their 38 wedding anniversary last week on April 2. Congratulations!

A dash of thought from Ruth Schenley—Thanks! Neighbors - They like to spread their pleasures, they share the things they bake; and bread upon the waters, of times returns as a cake.

Our recipe this week—

Uncooked Fruit Cake

14 large (or 16) marshmallows 2 c. nuts
2 teas. white karo syrup 1 lb vanilla wafers
1/2 c. butter one-third c. sugar
1/2 teas. salt 1 small bottle sweetened cherries & juice

Roll wafers until very fine, melt butter and marshmallows, combine all ingredients. Pound and knead well. Pack in mold lined with waxed paper. Decorate top with whole cherries and nuts and candied fruit.

Paula White

Dear Roby,

A loaf of bread, a jug of wine, and thou hast hot the weekly food budget.

T.T.

and picnic site is being built by the State and will be ready for summer visitors.

Dear Roby,
Two can live as cheap as one. (That's a proverb) Two must live as cheap as one that's Social Security!

P.S.
After a big night on the town, one man was heard to say, "A fool and his money are some party!"

Around the Bowl

I have a feeling everyone in the bowl is getting ready for Easter. Birds are singing Tulips blooming, panies showing their pretty faces. Let's hope the clouds are preparing for a little rain-fall. The mountains are crying for rain, as I drove through Capitan and Lincoln and down to Timmie. I felt sad that everything looks so dry, and also a little thirsty—so I took five min. for some water at the Dockery Gift shop and also to look around: As I stepped in the door I heard a little noise, that sounded like a lamb. As Ceil and her sister greeted me I heard it again—sure enough walking further into the room I almost stepped on a tiny lamb—so white and soft and woolly it hardly looked real. You will have to ask Ceil how it got there—but it's a charming idea for the shop!

Flash! Herman has sprung his cage with Spring Fever—David Brieger put him back in last week, but this time he is gone—Please if anyone sees him—You can catch him with angel food cake or call Sunda Tennis Villa—354-2389. The campers will be lost without him this summer. Be careful he will bite if you tease him but you can throw a blanket over him. Louis Carevo picked him up like a kitty-cat by the back of the neck. Please watch out for him, he knows his name "Herman!"

Bye now Roby

Not too many years back, before television, people in small towns managed to entertain themselves. In 1910 it looked like this stage play put on by Carrizozo attorney, grocer, druggist, railroad folks and house wives. From left standing, Prosper Sherry, Mrs. Stanley Squier,

'ROUND THE CAPITOL

SANTA FE—Senate Majority Leader C. B. Trujillo, D-Taos, says New Mexico should send an uncommitted, 18-vote delegation to the National Democratic Convention.

"This gives New Mexico some leeway," Sen. Trujillo says. He predicts Democrats will not nominate ex-Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter. He says Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey, an unannounced candidate, "is as good a bet as any of them." Trujillo says no Democratic candidate has a commanding lead for the presidential nomination.

U. S. Sen. Joseph M. Montoya and U. S. Rep. Harold Runnels, D-Lovington, favor an uncommitted New Mexico delegation to the convention July 12-16 in New York. The move is seen as a holding action for Humphrey.

Meanwhile, the New Mexico Carter organization expanded: David King, nephew of ex-Gov. Bruce King, is Carter's co-finance chairman for Congressional District 1. David named Leo Griego, LaMadera, as Rio Arriba County chairman; Mike Anaya, Moriarty, in Torrance County; Ed Bray, a rancher, in Union and Harding, and William Abeyta in Mora.

In State House races Republican Dwight Payton of Aztec was expected to file in San Juan District 3. Payton is a longtime newspaper publisher. The appointed incumbent is Rep. Polk Brown, D-Flora Vista, a farmer-rancher.

A storm damaged a marina at Elephant Butte Lake State Park near Truth or Consequences in late March. A State Park and Recreation Department diving team spent three days at the site. Damage was estimated at $4,000.

Bids may be invited in May for $88,000 in capital improvements at Caballo Lake State Park and $34,000 at Elephant Butte Park. The architect is Krueger, Blake, Pogue and Hutchinson of Albuquerque. The Elephant Butte improvements—a new water storage tank, border fountain repair, irrigation system extension, Caballo Lake Park improvements: replace a water system 30 to 40 years old, install a trailer dump station; repair water fountains. The 1975 Legislature voted the money.

A rancher, Sen. Bill Lee, D-Lovington, told a natural resources conference at Albuquerque: "New Mexico is being defrauded by the East and West Coasts that have much political power. With their power they are, in effect, setting the price of natural gas in New Mexico. If federal controls were removed from natural gas prices, New Mexico state revenue would be doubled."

Sen. Odie Echols, D-Clovis, told the conference New Mexico must not make the mistake with uranium and coal that it did with oil and gas by shipping it outside New Mexico for processing. Rep. John J. Mershom, D-Lincoln-Otero, said: "We need to see that the state and its people are benefited in an increase of jobs and per capita income from future energy development." New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau sponsored the conference. Sen. Echols predicted a Curry County water supply crisis within 20 years. Curry is in a basin that is not rechargeable and the water table is being lowered.

National Democratic Committeewoman Dessie Sawyer of Tatum said she will seek reelection for a four-year term. She has been in the party post 24 years. Mrs. Zora Hesse of Albuquerque opposes Mrs. Sawyer. The New Mexico national convention delegation, a national committeeman and national committeewoman will be elected at a state convention in Albuquerque May 15.

Rep. John Bigbee, R-Lincoln-DeBacac-Torrance-Guadalupe, said the Legislative School Study Committee staff should look at the quality of education because of dropping test scores of New Mexico students. A rancher, Bigbee is on the LSSC. Rep. Bigbee said: "The college entrance tests are the only thing we've got to go by and the results show students are making lower grades now."

Sen. Matt Chacon, D-Espanola, a re-election candidate, said: "I'm running with Emilio this time. We're together." Emilio Naranjo is Rio Arriba County Democratic chairman. A few days before Tuesday's candidate filing Sen. Chacon, a lawyer, said he would not field a slate against Naranjo's slate. In 1972 Chacon edged Naranjo's candidate, then Sen. Horace DeVargas, D-Espanola, in the party primary.

Nurseries Inc., Arvada, Colo., submitted the apparent low bid of $78,978 on a revegetation project in San Juan County on US-550 from Fruitland east to the US-550-NM170 junction. Constructors Inc., Carlsbad, offered the apparent low bid of $138,850 for overlay on NM-90 in Grant County for a length of 18.2 miles from the Grant-Hidalgo County line north.

Southern Union Gas Co. told Lt. Gov. Bob Ferguson's natural gas task force that natural gas service, curtailed in March for the Clayton power plant, was restored. The State Corporation Commission denied Des Moines-Folsom Telephone Cooperative a certificate to operate its phone lines. But the cooperative may continue to operate under SCC rules.

Rep. Clifton Moreland, D-Quay-Union, says: "Water supply is a critical problem in Quay County and statewide. The Conchas Lake level is down and cannot be pumped for irrigated farming."

An oil company jobber, Moreland is unopposed for a fifth House term. He said: "I am much disturbed at the Democratic Party platform convention endorsement of decriminalization of possession of less than one ounce of marijuana."

Book review

Lamy at Santa Fe

by Paul Payton

Novelist & former New Mexican Paul Horgan was awarded the University of Notre Dame's Laetare Medal for 1976. The award, first presented in 1883, goes to an outstanding American Catholic. Horgan, now emeritus professor of English and writer-in-residence at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., is the author of more than 40 works, including "Lamy of Santa Fe, his 40th, which was published last year.

New Mexicans of all religious faiths will find Horgan's 40th, "Lamy of Santa Fe" an interesting history of New Mexico in the territory's earliest days as part of the United States.

From page 443 through page 500 are lists of manuscripts and archival materials that were consulted as source for this book. Included in this long list are Vatican archives, Paris (France) archives, Notre Dame archives, and one person, Fr. Jose S. Garcia, at age 99 had a personal recollection of the archbishop.

One small regret is over our ability to pronounce French words. Spanish we do fair with, some help with French would be a nice additive to this book.

Lamy arrived in Santa Fe on Sunday, August 9, 1851, at age 37. The local clergy refused to recognize him as their bishop. They looked instead to Bishop Zubiria at Durango in Mexico for administration of the Church in New Mexico. Some of the differences between Lamy, the local clergy and the Bishop at Durango lasted most of Lamy's lifetime.

The Gadsden Purchase was made final on December 30, 1853 and the final act relating to the 1846 war with Mexico was done. This purchase added the country around Las Cruces and southern Arizona to the United States. This large piece of country was variously known as Condado de Donana, Mesilla and Donana. Both Durango and Santa Fe claimed this area and a settlement was many years in the future.

Readers can witness the development of formal education in New Mexico under the guidance of Bishop Lamy. Hospitals were installed under his leadership. Lamy endorsed the growth of Santa Fe as well as growth of New Mexico, Colorado and Arizona.

He accomplished the development of a huge diocese by riding thousands of miles on horseback, or afoot. The intellectual brilliance of Lamy does not shine out as the factor that helped Lamy succeed. It is more the physical endurance and moral character, and strength of a person, devoted to God, that helped form the country we now enjoy as New Mexico.

The summer after the archbishop's death, his garden yielded 1500 quarts of strawberries, 40 gallons of cherries, 1000 of currants, 200 of raspberries; while 5000 shrubs, vines and young trees which were ready for transplanting from the garden were auctioned off charity in the plaza of Santa Fe.

Juan, Vicario Apostolico de Nuevo Mexico, made his mark on three states of the southwest. One Lamy Starts on the long trek from Cincinnati, to New Orleans, Galveston, San Antonio, El Paso and on up the Rio Grande to Santa Fe, this reader wanted to continue so as to find out what would happen next — pretty good for a book of history.

Bombing range dangers cited

In late 1975, many scenario improvements were made on the Red Rio and Oscura bombing and gunnery ranges, which are used by the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing.

The big improvement was making the range targets more realistic to the pilots.

From the air, the targets have the same appearance as the one's in enemy territories, thus aiding our pilots immensely in training to be able to identify and destroy enemy targets in time of war.

This improvement, however, does not eliminate the extreme hazard to unauthorized persons getting into the area.

The ranges serve an extremely important need for the defense capabilities of our tactical fighter forces. But, as in any case, a situation that satisfies the needs of some, may prove a hazard to others — in this case, hikers, bikers and dune-buggy enthusiasts.

There's nothing like out-door fun and adventure during the warm spring and summer weather — breaking away from the routine and venturing into the wilds. There is no possibility of an unauthorized person inadvertently entering the range area on one of the range roadways. They are fenced in, with guarded check-points 24 hours a day.

If, however, your off-the-road course leads into these fenced-in areas, don't take a dare and proceed by any means. There's plenty of safe area elsewhere, where fun and adventure awaits you. In the range area, there's a good chance you'll find yourself in the middle of an "air war." A practice war, of course, but nonetheless extremely hazardous to your health.

The minister asked for anyone who knew a truly perfect person to stand up. After a long pause, a meek looking fellow in the back arose. "Do you really know a perfect person?" the minister queried.

"Yes, sir, I do," answered the little man.

"Won't you please tell the congregation who this rare perfect person is?" pursued the minister.

"Yes, sir. It was my wife's first husband."

The boss returned in a good humor from lunch and called the whole staff in to listen to a couple of jokes he'd picked up. Everybody but one girl laughed uproariously.

"What's the matter?" grumbled the boss.

"Haven't you got any sense of humor?"

"I don't have to laugh," said the girl. "I'm leaving Friday anyhow."

Senate Majority leader C. B. Trujillo, D-Taos, says organized labor reportedly "has designated me as the No. 1 target." But Trujillo, an insurance agent seeking re-election, said: "This is not the feeling in my area but it is of the New Mexico AFL-CIO." Candidate endorsements will be voted by the AFL-CIO's committee on Political Education (COPE) April 25 in Santa Fe. Sen. Trujillo says the legislature should look at teacher retirement benefits.

The 1976 legislature killed a bill to peg teacher retirement adjustments to the Consumer Price Index and voted a $600,000 3 percent cost-of-living boost for retired teachers for one year only. Ranchos de Taos Democrat Tito P. Martinez opposes Sen. Trujillo in the primary.

Bids will be opened in Santa Fe today (April 15) on four cottages and furnishings at Los Lunas Hospital and Training School. The 1975 Legislature voted $1,098 million for the cottages plus $50,000 for furnishings.

The State Park and Recreation Commission authorized an agreement with the Air Force for two more sites for rescue and helicopter training at Elephant Butte Lake State Park near Truth or C.

Rep. Murray Ryan, R-Sierra-Grant, says "Municipal financing is one subject the legislature has shown total unwillingness to face. We need calm consideration of election law changes." Ryan, unopposed for a fifth House term, says chances for a constitutional amendment for a governor appointed State Education Board to clear voters Nov. 2 hinge on a strong campaign in favor of the change.

Sen. Ray Leger, D-San Miguel-DeBacac-Guadalupe, says an interim legislative local government committee should be revived to tackle tough city and county financing and other local government problems. A public schools superintendent, Sen. Leger, 51, said the interim Health and Aging Committee should look at a proposal for $250,000 for hospital emergency room care in areas of high concentration of indigent population. Leger is on the committee.

In the general election Leger will face ex-Sen. Juniq Lopez, R-Las Vegas. Lopez favors re-financing of the Montezuma-Veterans Home with a $5 million state severance tax bond issue. Lopez says the 95 New Mexico cities should receive 2 percent of the 4 percent state gross receipts tax and the one-fourth percent city gross receipts taxes authorized by the legislators in 1975 and 1976 should be repealed. Lopez, an auto parts business co-owner, favors education on drugs, sex and crime in public schools. Leger narrowly edged Lopez in a 1972 race.

Sen. John Morrow, D-San Miguel-Colfax-Union-Harding, says: "Southern Union Gas Co. has been lax in a lot of areas. Clayton spent $800,000 on new gas-operated generators for the town's electrical system not anticipating a gas shortage. SUG cut off supplies March 16. The plant shifted to diesel fuel which doubled the cost of gas for consumers for about two weeks." After talks with state energy officials and legislators natural gas was restored to the Clayton generators after two weeks.

Rep. Clifton Moreland, D-Quay-Union, says: "Water supply is a critical problem in Quay County and statewide. The Conchas Lake level is down and cannot be pumped for irrigated farming."

An oil company jobber, Moreland is unopposed for a fifth House term. He said: "I am much disturbed at the Democratic Party platform convention endorsement of decriminalization of possession of less than one ounce of marijuana."

Letters to the editor

Mary,
 Nancy thought you might like to read this letter she is sending out to all the people who have contributed to the L.C.M.H. Trust Fund.
 -s- Mary Hernandez

I had hoped by now to not only say "God Bless You" and thank you for your generous contribution to the Lincoln County Municipal Hospital Trust Fund but also tell you that St. Joseph's Hospital had signed the proposed lease agreement and we were therefore once again traveling a hopeful road to impatient care here at the Carrizozo hospital.

Unfortunately, I cannot say this. Because of your obvious concern, I feel an explanation is due each of you who have financially contributed to this effort. The present fly in the ointment is as follows. We, of the Hospital Board, are still awaiting the audit report from the County auditor, which of course the Administrators of St. Joseph's must have in order to present a complete package to their Board of Trustees. Said auditor, hired by the County of Lincoln, continues to drag his feet and it seems I, as Board Chairman and acting Administrator of the Hospital, lack the power to force the issue. Believe me, I have tried all avenues open to me. At this writing I am hopeful this final and very pertinent information will be forthcoming so as to coincide with a scheduled meeting of the St. Joseph Hospital Board on April 23.

Once again, I wish to assure you, that your monies will not be spent unless St. Joseph's signs the lease. If we fail in this endeavor, all money will be returned as I strongly feel we would be totally foolish and unwise to try to open as a functioning hospital without the direction, management and financial impact of a so called "Mother Hospital".

Please bear with us in this seemingly endless limbo, continue to think positive and we will win this battle yet.

Again I say thank you for the sacrifices you each have made supporting this investment in the immediate future of health care needs of this "medical trade" area.

Sincerely,
 Nancy R. Knight
 Acting Administrator

A bevy of beauties are these Junior high cheer leaders: Laura Stewart, Patsy Chavez, Arreita Armstrong, Rene Nalda and Jackie Merritt.

Each player wrote a personal message to go in the book of memories. Mr. and Mrs. Don Surratt were at the head table along with the coaches, Superintendent Ken Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Capps.

There is a school

It was a star studded night in Corona as the school recognized its athletes and coaches for a year of achievement.

Banquet committee members Nancy Nalda, Corrine Mullins, Sue Garfield, Judy Chavez, Helen Nalda, Byron Yancy and Don Surratt did it up right.

The tables were beautifully decorated and Corrine Mullins' ham dinner was excellent. Don Surratt served as master of ceremonies and Superintendent Ken Anderson welcomed the guests and students.

Speaker Jim Boggio, Channel 7 sports reporter, was a little late but arrived in time to answer sports questions for the students. Rev. Warren Capps said the benediction.

For the seniors, the happiest and saddest moment probably was when all the cheerleaders came to the stage to lead:

"Down in the central part of New Mexico There is a school that has the pep and go Their colors red & white are winning themes Corona High School is their name, oh, is their name And if we win this game or if we lose, Corona High School we will always choose. So let us cheer once more for CHS. CHS: For Corona High.

Coaches John Warfield and Mike Graham were proud of their girls and boys Saturday night—and so were we all.

Janet Davidson was among the hungry guests fed by the parents of Corona. It took a lot of hands to fill the crowd which filled the gym to almost overflow.

White Oaks area beauty attracts new settlers

Population doubling

White Oaks's population has doubled in the past two years, according to Bud Crenshaw, rancher, unpaid tour guide and honorary mayor of what remains of a town that was once the largest in Lincoln County.

Of course it didn't take much in the way of people to double the population of what the historical maps call a 'ghost town' located just north of Carrizozo.

Orene Crenshaw, whose home is in the middle of town, protests at the 'ghost town' designation. She says that the village is the home of living people, not ghosts.

Her front door is under attack day and night, particularly on weekends, during the tourist season. Visitors seem to believe that the Crenshaw house is the place to stop for information about the town, about its history and for directions to the mines.

If the hour is reasonable and she has the time, Orene obliges. If Bud is around, chances are good for a guided tour.

Teena & Elliot Topper are a young couple thinking about settling in New Mexico and perhaps the White Oaks area. They have much in common with the new residents of that non-ghost town—talent, education and a desire to build an outdoor self-sufficient life.

Bud took the Toppers to visit some of the new residents, look at the country and remember how it was once and may be again.

Bud Crenshaw shows Elliot & Teena Topper an arroyo and a field of cactus and rocks.

was an arroyo and a field of cactus and rocks. Elliott and Tina are teachers and musicians from New York State.

Joel Gutsche built his home on open land for maximum sun exposure. The Toppers and Bud looked at his dome which will someday be his studio. Other domes are planned for a home, a greenhouse, a garage. Joel is an artist, a musician and earns his living as a storm damage adjuster for insurance companies.

Almost hidden from view is the new adobe home of Frank and Karen DeBerge located just past White Oaks. It was designed to blend into the country side and natural wood, adobe and colorful Mexican tile give the house an alive feeling.

Time to spray for powdery mildew fungus

Did you have mildew problems in your apple trees especially on Jonathan & Rome Beauty? Dormant sprays can help control this disease. The powdery mildew fungus appears as a white to gray moldy or powdery patches on leaves, stems and buds. The fungus is most commonly seen on Euonymus, Photinia, roses, apples and grapes, but you may find on other plants as well. Dormant spray formulations containing Benlate, lime sulphur or polysulfide are most widely used. These compounds are available from nurseries and agricultural supply stores. Some products even contain dormant oils which are effective in controlling various insects.

The best time to spray, is when the buds begin to swell to green tip. For more information on this, get the "Apple and Pear Pest Control Guide" from the County Extension Office.

Research at the Fort Stanton Experiment Station show that crossbreeding can increase the income of Beef Cattle producers. Hereford and Angus Breeds were used to start in the crossbreeding program. The Hereford Angus Cow commonly called a black baldy, had an increase of four percent in calves weaned and five percent increase in weaning weight. The increase in calving percent was especially better in drought conditions. The crossbred cow produced better than either the Hereford or Angus cows. The crossbred cows had improved fertility and livability.

I have always contended that the pounds of beef sold are what pays the banker and this is one way to increase the pounds sold. The nine percent increase in pounds of calf weaned means that you can sell 36 pounds of calf per cow in the breeding herd.

The improvement in calf crop percentage can be attributed to improved livability of the crossbred calves. Then the improvement in calf crop percentage and increased weaning weight are combined, this gives about a nine percent increase in pounds of calf weaned compared to straightbred calves. This implies that nine percent more beef is marketed by producing crossbred calves, or that nine percent fewer cows are needed to produce the same amount of beef.

While crossbreeding has something to offer the commercial cow-calf producer, it is not a cure-all replacement for poor management or indiscriminate mixing of breeds. Maximum benefits from crossbreeding require the mating of superior breeding stock. The quality of the breeding stock may determine the success or failure of a crossbreeding program. An increase in production through crossbreeding, without a significant increase in cost, has a great potential to reduce unit costs of calf production.

Apple clinic on April 30

A recently-developed bloom-delay technique for apple trees will be explained to commercial growers and interested home gardeners during a field day scheduled for April 30 near Los Lunas. The field day, between 10 a.m. and 12 noon, will be conducted at the Middle Rio Grande Branch Agricultural Experiment Station of New Mexico State University.

The bloom-delay technique involves the use of overhead sprinkler systems to cool (air condition) the apple trees, thus protecting early blooms from a late frost.

The basic principle of bloom-delay will be explained during the field day by M. Douglas Bryant, NMSU Extension horticulturist, while Ron F. Hooks, superintendent of the branch experiment station, will direct a tour of a research orchard to explain what has been done and point out results. All commercial growers, residential producers and any other interested persons are invited to attend.

The bloom-delay technique makes use of the same principles involved with use of the evaporative-cooler air conditioner, according to George Dickerson, crop specialist for the NMSU Department of Agricultural Services. In the demonstration at the Middle Rio Grande branch station, apple trees are being cooled off by spraying them with an overhead water-sprinkler system. The system being used at the station is on loan from a commercial firm which specializes in cooling buildings using the same principles.

"Everyone has had the chilling experience of climbing out of a swimming pool on a blustery day," Dickerson noted. The same chilling effect is achieved when apple trees are periodically sprayed with water," he said.

"The answer to the question 'Why would anyone in his right mind want to cool off an apple tree in late winter?' lies in frost protection," according to Dickerson. He said that after the apple tree has gone through enough cold weather to meet its dormancy requirements, the buds begin to progress toward their ultimate goal in life - bloom. And, the milder the spring, the sooner the blooms occur.

"The problem with an early bloom is that the tender blossoms are often hit with a late frost," Dickerson explained. "By keeping the buds wet after winter rest has been completed, the cooling action retards the maturation of the buds and blooms can be delayed as much as two weeks or more."

"Work at the Middle Rio Grande branch station has centered around trying to cut down the amount of water used," Dickerson said. Dickerson, Hooks and Ed Wright, representing the commercial company which is loaning the sprinkler equipment, have been experimenting with different nozzles and their position in the tree to determine the best combination of elements to provide good coverage with minimum water-use.

"This Spring has been the first year that we have worked on this project," Dickerson said, "and we've had our problems. A computer prediction of when tree rest was completed was about two weeks off. As a result, we didn't begin sprinkling until after the silvertip stage of bud development. Other problems have arisen with wind and water coverage," Dickerson said. "However, we are getting bloom delay, and we are learning a great deal."

ANYWAY YOU LOOK AT IT... by Paul

We brought back a real neat plastic bag from Grants full of Chamber of Commerce type goodies, like pens, pads, brochures, and a little sack containing black rock and tag attached states -- Lava flow area south of Grants-Milan along Highway 53, dated 700-900 A.D. holds many secrets of the past... tales of hidden gold, still unopened, Indian massacre, unlocated train robbery loot, lost explorers.

We could give away a million bags of Malpais or black rock here, probably could sell a 1000 a season. Made a real nice trinket for tourists.

Reason for being in Grants over the weekend was to attend meeting of publishers of weekly newspapers. Discouraging news about increased mail costs. Daily newspapers rely on carrier boys, weekly newspaper subscribers are spread out too much, really all over Lincoln County, and we've got to use the mail service.

Journalism schools got a bashing from weekly people. These schools do not turn out grads with any interest in small towns -- they all head for metro daily papers, that includes Eastern, UNM and NMSU. Strange enough Northern Arizona University will supply journalism people for weekly newspapers.

The Albuquerque people at this meeting said lots of bad words about level of scholarship of University of New Mexico grads -- it is low, low, low, so said the Duke City residents.

Sen. Aubrey Dunn of Alamogordo was on panel. Sen. Dunn said the legislative finance committee estimated that 500 to 600 new employees went to work each year -- on the federal payroll in New Mexico, so many the state could not keep track of them.

Stayed at Holiday Inn at Grants. Eleanor liked all the food, price a buck or two more than we expected -- which probably comes from fact we've been staying home so much.

If you plan trip west on US66 from the Lincoln County area, we suggest Highway 6 from Los Lunas for 33 miles which bypasses Albuquerque and takes you through some clean, open and beautiful country. Saves a lot of miles.

Grants is growing and may be hit by a real boom if the 70 miles of new railroad ($55 million cost) to coal field ever gets environmental clearance. Grants publisher Marian Barber said that some of the housing going up there now would blow away before mortgage is paid.

The three Grant brothers, Angus, John and Lewis, all from Ontario, Canada, and all contractors were awarded contract to build railroad right-of-way from Isleta to Needles. Their first big camp was located about where Grants is now and was known as Grant's Camp. They employed 4000 men, mostly Irish, and used 2000 mules, who understood the Gaelic language better than any other. Uranium was discovered in 1950 by Paddy Martinez, a Navajo Indian, near Haystack Mountain about 10 miles west of Grants. Almost half the uranium oxide (yellowcake) produced in the United States comes from the Grants-Milan area.

We always enjoy being with old friends, John Geitz of Farwell, Bob Klipsch of Socorro, Carter Waide of Belen, Bob Trapp of Espanola, Wendell Faught and Harold Cousland of Deming, Ken Green of Ruidoso, Al White of Ft. Sumner, Jack Walz of Lordsburg, Ed and Tom Lewis of Los Lunas, Dwight Payton, of Aztec, Neil Baird of T or C. A. B. Collado of Albuquerque, Russ Brown of Cortez, Keith Green of Taos, their lovely wives and a host of other people not in the weekly newspaper publishing business.

On way home we were trying to determine why we liked Lincoln County area the best. Maybe because it is home, maybe.

Ed Wright, left, water-systems engineer for an Albuquerque firm, and Ron Hooks, superintendent of the NMSU Middle Rio Grande Branch Agricultural Experiment Station, inspect an "air-conditioned" tree at the station. The tree has been sprayed with water from an overhead sprinkler system on loan from Wright's firm in an effort to delay bloom opening and hopefully prevent bloom damage from a late-spring frost.

The Rambler Around column contained interview with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Zumwalt - "The Mayberry Mystery of Bonito City," a small, red, undated booklet published by A. L. Burke of Carrizozo. It was through the efforts of that worthy gentleman (Rev. Skinner, father of Mrs. Zumwalt) and his good wife, that no peace officers had to be called from Lincoln, then the county seat, to settle feuds and disturbances.

A certain Martin Nelson, 24, went berserk one night in Bonito City and killed four members of the Mayberry family, local hotel operators, a Cincinnati doctor, a bartender who tried to take away the gun and a grocery man. A Charlie Berry in turn shot Nelson on the mountainside the next morning, after residents had shuddered through the night behind locked doors. The Rev. Skinner conducted funeral services for eight persons the next day.

Mrs. Mary Phillips, postmaster at Lincoln and chairman of the County Post Office committee, called a meeting to work out plans to compile information on history of each county postoffice.

J. W. Clark, superintendent of Capitan Schools, resigned. The Clarks have purchased 18-unit motel in Roswell.

Three resignations were accepted by Carrizozo Town board of trustees. They were Councilman A. P. Sifton Jr., who has moved to Nogal; city marshal Severo Gallegos; and town clerk Ruth S. Rickerson who desires to retire. A. T. Roberts was appointed to the council, no action on appointments for other two positions.

Once more the smiling W. J. Bryan countenance of Doc Randles is seen on our streets. And here and now the writer takes occasion to most emphatically deny the report that Doc was seen examining the mouth of the canon down below town for indications of Riggs disease.

Mrs. S. E. Barber, former "Cattle Queen of the Southwest," was here Tuesday looking after her numerous places and crown lands in these parts and principalities, which have begun to take on a day-before-yesterday appearance.

Rev. J. M. Gardner, of Carrizozo Baptist church, slipped up here with a hundred or more stereopticon slides and screen and showed them to a fair audience at the Congregational church Thursday evening. The pictures were photographs of the people of our foreign wards in all manner of gay costumes and some without any costumes worth mentioning except a hecktie or two around their middles and ankles. The "figgers" were introduced with a sort of religious monologue, and a few frills in the way of an impromptu temperance talk was given at the last.

Carrizozo local and Personal - Miss Trixie Harris came up Sunday from her Three Rivers home and was the guest of Carrizozo friends until Tuesday.
