Commission Finds Tax Relief

The Lincoln County Commission, at its meeting on September 26, accepted bids on two Collins ambulances. The two fully-equipped, maxilong vans are priced at $17,995 each. The vehicles are manufactured by the Summers Ambulance and Coach company of Duncanville, Texas.

The acquisition of the ambulances by the County Commission is a part of an overall county plan to provide ambulance service to the entire county.

As a further aspect of this dedication by the county to providing full medical emergency services for citizens, the county is sponsoring the training of 20 Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT) in the Corona area. The EMT training program, which is coordinated by Bud Payne, is being conducted by Devil Bill Adams, until recently the First Aid Chairman for the Dona Ana County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Immediate plans for EMT training call for another 15 to 20 persons being trained in the Hondo area, and for some 40 more to be trained in the county next year. The EMT training program calls for 81-hours of intensive emergency medical instruction.

One of the two new ambulances will be stationed in Corona and the other in Hondo. This will bring the County's ambulances to seven with one in Corona, two in Carrizozo, one in Hondo, one in Capitan, and two operated by the city of Ruidoso. This total of seven ambulances operated by local governments may be a first in the state and will certainly make Lincoln County independent in the area of emergency medical needs.

In other county Commission action, the Commission discussed the impact expected from State bill 96 which requires that a ceiling of 10 percent be put on property evaluation increases. The Attorney General has directed that assessors must roll back tax increases to the 10 percent level for the current year. This regulation does not affect new construction or additions to old buildings, but does apply to all existing residences.

Lincoln County is requesting a two-and-a-half month delay in its billing to implement this requirement. The length of this requested delay is because the county is changing to computer billing. This means that tax billings in the county, which would normally be out on Oct. 1, will now be mailed until January.

The County Commission also took note of the requirements of a newly passed Federal law which provides for payment to counties by the Federal Government for untaxable Federal lands within the county. In the case of Lincoln County, the revenue from such untaxable lands will amount this year to $226,000.

The County Commission has elect to use $109,000 of this figure to reduce county bond debts. This debt reduction would normally have been made through a tax levy of 1.847 mills to each property owner. The practical effect of the input of this new source of funds is that property owners will not now have to pay approximately $18.47 on each $10,000 of evaluation.

In further Commission action, the County has taken advantage of the State Highway Department's surplus equipment sale and bought a pickup truck and a dump truck. The pickup is a 1974 Suburban Chevrolet, four speed, crew-cab. It would retail new for about $6,600 and the County is getting it for about $500. The dump truck is a 1969 model ten-yard vehicle which retails new for some $48,000. The County is getting it for $10,000 or less. The County presently used five-yard dump trucks and the new bigger variety will give the road crews a chance to see if the bigger truck can be more economical. The County has 1,700 miles of roads to maintain.

The Commission reappointed Bill Payne for a two year term as Chairman of the Old Lincoln planning board.

The Commission also named a member to the Region 6 Health Planning Council. This council is comprised of the five southeastern New Mexico counties and has 25 members. Each county has five members. The new member from Lincoln County is Roland Walsh, former Hospital Administrator of the Ruidoso-Hondo Hospital and currently working as a sales representative for a medical supply house.

The Commission appointed a new member also to the Region 6 Mental Health Planning Board. This board cover same 5 counties as Health Planning Council, but Lincoln County has only two representatives on it. The newly appointed member, if she accepts the position, is Annette Killebrew. She will join Joe Orsack on this Board. The duty of members of the Board is to review the mental health needs in the five-county area and make recommendations for corrective action.

Since the town of Lincoln is a state historical site, there is a state-level commission which deals with its administration. The County Commission has submitted two names for the position the County has in this Commission. The names are Lloyd Davis, current commission member and mayor of Ruidoso, and James Sanchez of Lincoln.

The Commission also heard testimony in the case of Rushing Manning. Manning, a former road department employee, claimed to have worked for some 28 days for the county about three years ago. He said that he had not been paid for this work. Corroborating testimony was presented and the Commission approved payment for Manning.

Cull Herds Now

Current high feed costs dictate culling beef cow herds before the winter feeding season begins. Information on each cow's performance helps with accurate culling to cut costs and improve profits.

Ideally, records on each cow should include her age, life-time production, conception data, calving dates and weaning weights of her calves. Without cow identification and individual performance records, culling is limited to a pregnancy examination and visual inspection.

The commercial beef cow herd owner has to decide how extensive a record-keeping system he wants. He should keep in mind that the more information he has, the more accurate his culling decision will be.

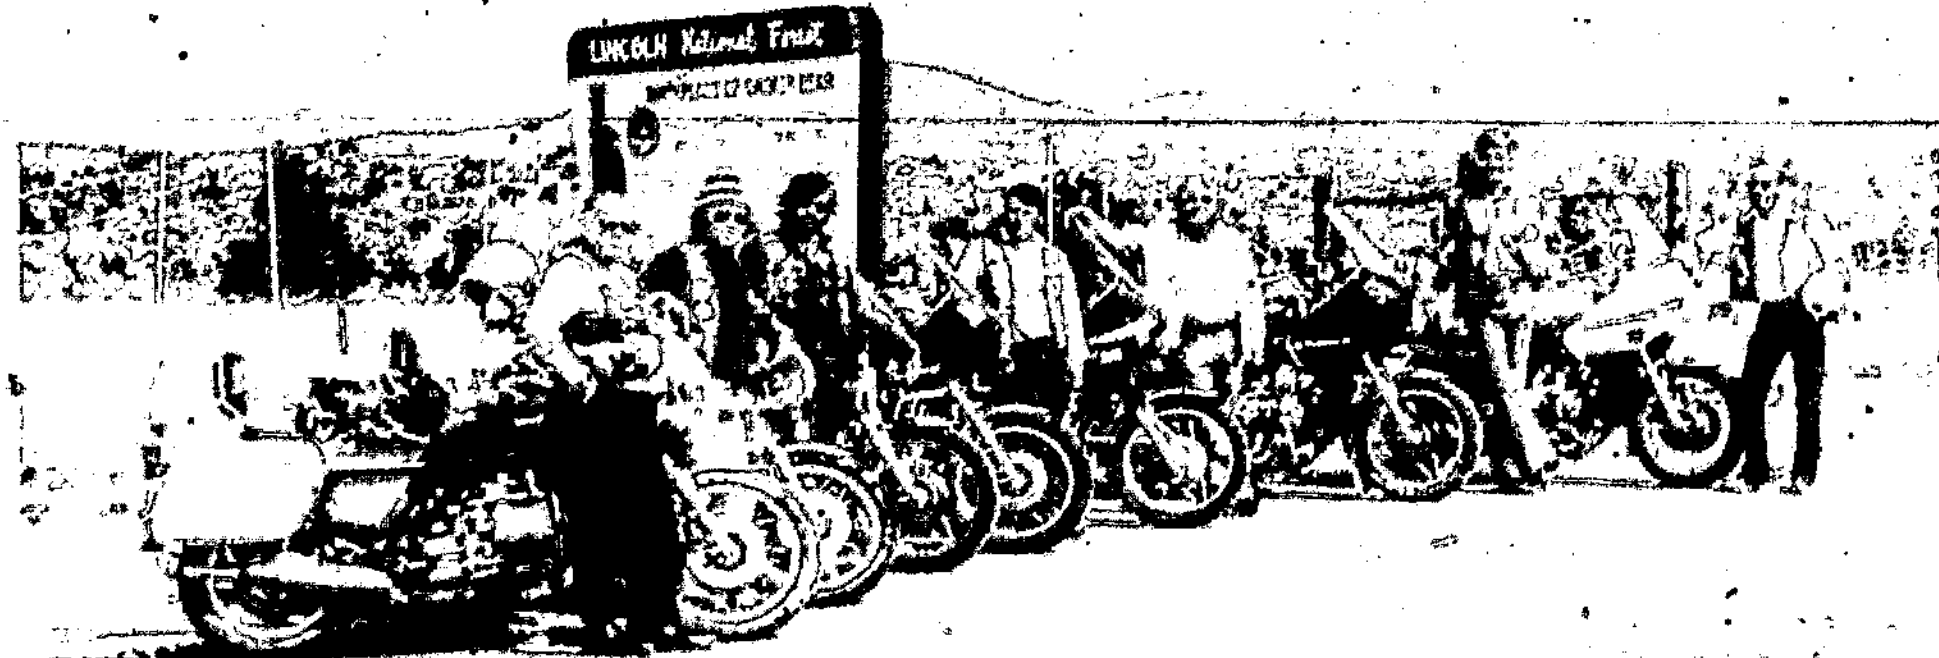

The age of the calf at weaning is the most important single trait affecting the differences in weaning weights within a specific herd. Older calves naturally weigh more than younger calves. Therefore, simply having birth dates of this year's calves is a big help in culling.

Calving dates also help detect cows with conception problems. Research shows cows that calve late one year will tend to calve late in following years.

More accurate culling based on performance requires the use of weaning weights along with calving dates. By adjusting weaning weights to a common age, usually 205 days, cows can be culled on the basis of their milking ability. Information on methods for making this adjustment are available from local county Extension agents.

Good performance records not only help in culling out marginal-producing cows, but also are valuable in selecting helpers for herd replacements.

Even without performance records, it will pay to have a veterinarian check cows for pregnancy and soundness, says Foster. Feed costs are too high to keep a cow without calf or one with a defect that likely will prevent her from weaning a satisfactory calf next year.

In Beautiful Fall Weather —

Cyclists Converge On Ruidoso

Motorcyclists and the beautiful fall weather of the Southwest mix this week in the traditional Lincoln County Aspencade.

The Sixth International Aspencade Motorcyclist Convention is to be held, as usual, in the village of Ruidoso.

The festivities started on Tuesday with a photo session in preparation for the printing of the Aspencade Yearbook. Then there were slow race trails followed by a hospitality hour in the tire kicking room and finally a mini-dinner tour.

On Wednesday there were more slow races and continuation of the picture session. Then there was an escorted tour of the Ski Run area by the New Mexico State Police. After lunch there was the Frank Logan program called "The Roving Motorcyclist." Finally there was the hospitality hour, and the mini-dinner tour.

Today the program again starts off with the hot dog for a buck, the slow race and the picture session for the late comers. Then there will be a state police escorted tour of the Cloudcroft area. There will be lunch and a program on "Emergency Roadside Repairs." This tour will then continue to the International Space Hall of Fame. At 7:00 p.m. the Convention Center opens for Trade Show and Bike Judging events. Jim Shirley of Rider Magazine, Joe Left of Cycle-Kamp, Inc., and Mike Filbert of Time-out Corp will then present a program on motorcycle trailers.

Tomorrow the program will open again in the parking lot of the Chaparral Motor Hotel with the dollar hot dogs, the pictures and the races.

Once everyone is assembled, the New Mexico State Police will conduct a tour through the Capitan area to the Ft. Stanton Hospital. There will be a mini-parade at that time for the students at the Ft. Stanton Hospital.

A Fiesta de Capitan, featuring the Hondo High School Fiesta dancers, will perform authentic Mexican dances for the group. Following the dancing, a Mexican buffet luncheon will be served.

At 4:00 p.m. on Friday a program "Touring Europe" with Al and Golden Henning will be presented. Following that the Ken Craven film on the Krauser Alpine Rally will be shown. There will also be slides of road tours in Europe.

Pilot Program Is Set To Help Juvenile Status Offenders

A new pilot program, the Volunteer Shelter Bed Program has been initiated in Lincoln County starting this weekend. The program is an attempt to offer an alternative to jail detention for juvenile offenders who would not be guilty of any crime if they were adults.

Susan Allen, Lincoln County Coordinator for the program is recruiting families who will be screened and licensed to fill the need of the so called status offenders or in the language of the program, children in need of supervision. (CHINS). "We will be trying to have about 15 beds in Ruidoso and 4 beds in Carrizozo, the usual need of each community as our statistics show," Ms. Allen said.

Ms. Allen explained the program is "strictly volunteer" although it is similar in requirements to those of foster homes.

Lincoln County is one of 18 communities participating in the Shelter Bed Program under a grant from the Governor's Office of Employment and Training Administration. The program is modeled after a similar program which has been underway in Tampa, Fla., since 1974. The Florida program, begun as the result of overcrowding in the detention centers, has proven a success in handling the status offenders: runaways, truants and incorrigibles who for one reason or another must be temporarily removed from their homes by juvenile authorities.

"The success or failure of this local program is dependent on the recruitment of volunteer families," Ms

Allen went on to say, "The juveniles will be given the chance to avoid the stigma and exposure to hardened delinquents that result from being placed in jail. This gives them an opportunity to learn there are adults who care enough to help them."

Ms. Allen said the maximum length of time the young person would be with a family ideally would be 10 days.

"We need volunteers to make this program work in our community," She said.

For further information on the program contact Susan Allen, at the Ruidoso Municipal Airport or phone 257-2694, or in Carrizozo contact 648-2941.

Fair Sets New Records

The 1977 New Mexico State Fair came to a finish last Sunday night after a busy 16-day run that saw all major standing records fall.

Sunday's grounds attendance of 95,738 persons (which was a record for the day) brought the total 16-day tally to 971,620, some 46,347 persons ahead of the previous peak of 925,273, set at last year's fair.

Sunday's track attendance of 19,722 persons (also a record for the day) brought the 16-day racing crowd to 207,514 fans, some 7841 above the previous record of 199,673, which was set last year.

Sunday's pari-mutuel handle of $1,096,382 brought the 16-day handle to a grand record-breaking tally of $13,138,839, some $914,602 ahead of the previous record (set in 1976) or $12,224,237.

The figures are close to advance predictions by fair officials and should keep the New Mexico State Fair among the Top 10 expositions in the U.S.A.

The Tingley Coliseum attendance for 11 nights of shows totaled 121,500 persons, 300 ahead of last year's total of 121,200. The ten-night all-star rodeo attracted a crowd of 113,000 fans, 300 ahead of the 1976 rodeo. The Spanish Heritage Show on September 14, with Anacani in the spotlight and no rodeo competitions, pulled a crowd of 8500 persons, the same number as the 1976 Spanish show.

Outstanding weather — highlighted with beautiful skies and pleasant temperatures — prevailed for virtually all of the fair, except for cloudy skies and some rain on Thursday, September 22.

A smiling, overjoyed Manager, Finlay MacGillivray, was delighted with the final figures. "We can thank the weatherman and the people of New Mexico for making our 40th Anniversary show such a success. They like the fair and they make it a winner and that's what it's all about. We do appreciate their support, and they're keeping it The Biggest Show In New Mexico."

The fair saw two days in which the gate attendance peaked over the 100-thousand mark. Saturday, September 17, the gate hit 106,052 and on Sunday, the 18th, it was 115,006. The days are only the seventh and eighth days that the fair's daily attendance has reached over 100-thousand.

There were four million-dollar-plus days at the racetrack. Saturday, September 17, it hit $1,090,093, and Sunday, September 18 it was $1,103,034. On Saturday, September 24, it hit the new single one-day all-time record of $1,117,125 and Sunday, September 25, the handle was $1,096,382.

Virtually every one of the 16 days topped last year's single day figures.

Sheriff's Activity

Activities of the Sheriff's Department this week included the transportation of Mrs. Montaine Baird to Santa Fe to begin a one-to-five sentence.

The case involved the shooting of Mrs. Baird's husband. She was charged with the crime and through the plea bargaining process plead guilty to the charge of involuntary manslaughter.

She later petitioned the court to withdraw her plea. This petition was denied and she was taken to the penitentiary on Tuesday.

There was an automobile accident on Alto Hill in which a woman and two children were injured. The three were taken by Ruidoso ambulance to the Ruidoso Hospital.

There were also accidents at Gavilin Canyon and at Bonito. Neither of these accidents resulted in injuries.

Other law enforcement activities included only patrol and investigations. The county law enforcement agencies are, of course, watching the Aspencade in Ruidoso which is expected to attract some 3,000 motorcyclists, but no trouble is anticipated.

Editorial

The American press, in our proud judgment, stands head and shoulders above that of any other country, be it democracy or dictatorship.

The press has a special position in America. The Founding Fathers wisely wrote into our Constitution the First Amendment, with its strong and unwavering protection for freedom of speech and of the press.

Recently, reading the editorial columns of some of the major newspapers, we have been impressed once again by that ability to 'call the shots as we see them,' without fear or favor.

The issue we noted is the proposed Labor Law Reform Bill which President Carter has endorsed and which is now being considered by Congress.

The Chicago Tribune, in an editorial entitled "In Fairness to Labor," says "We support certain of these proposed changes because they strike us as fair." The Tribune likes the way the proposed bill would "expedite decisions with unduly restricting the ability of either side to respond."

Los Angeles Times, talking of both the labor law reform measure and the proposal to increase the minimum wage, writes that the two bills "deserve enactment."

The Chicago Daily News quotes Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall that "business also suffers from long delays" in the way the National Labor Relations Board handles its procedures, and like the Tribune it feels that the labor law reform bill is "fair."

The New York Times comes down hard against those corporate spokesmen who have pictured the reform measure as "an outrage," and finds it a worthy effort to eliminate endless litigation in labor-management relations.

We have always favored efficiency in government and we don't see as much of it as we would like. The Labor Reform Bill, in the eyes of an important segment of the American press, seems to deserve passage on that basis alone.

We must be careful, however, in our enthusiasm for a bill that promises more efficiency that we don't take in the bad for the sake of getting some good. These big city publications are overlooking, it seems to us, an aspect of this bill that may well be important to the smaller communities. This is the issue of forced-union membership. That's probably not much of an issue in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles; but in much of the country there are citizens who want to be able to work and to be able to decide whether or not to belong to a union as well.

The National Right to Work Committee, which addresses itself nationally to this issue, feels that the Labor Reform Bill, that the big city papers so enthusiastically support, contains provisions which, in their present form, can be used to impose compulsory unionism on additional workers. They would like to see Congress go on record against the compulsory unionism aspect of this bill.

We can see merit in both arguments. We need more efficiency in handling labor-management disputes. On the other hand, we don't feel that anyone should be forced into a union affiliation if he doesn't want it. What we need, it seems to us, is for Congress to revise this bill to make it fair to all and then to get it operative to effect those savings in time and energy that it is supposed to do.

A number of concerned legislators are supporting a recently proposed bill that could help save some 200,000 American jobs.

The bill, which is H.R. 1037 in the House and S. 61 in the Senate, is known as the cargo equity legislation. It would create 2,500 shipboard jobs and 2,100 shipyard jobs.

These jobs, in turn, would spur 15,000 additional jobs in marine-related and supply industries. Without cargo equity, 200,000 existing jobs would be lost.

Because major oil importers in this country build and operate ships under foreign flags, the U.S. merchant marine has eroded to the point where many jobs are threatened. Cargo equity could contribute to easing the nation's unemployment problem.

According to the experts on cargo equity legislation at the U.S. Maritime Committee, the additional maintenance and repair work on U.S. tankers created by the legislation would help create 15,000 jobs in excess of Administration projections.

Cargo equity legislation, by returning a portion of oil transportation costs to the U.S., will improve our trade deficit by nearly $75 million year. U.S. ships carrying oil return to the U.S. economy 71 cents of every dollar spent, foreign ships return almost nothing.

Many Americans concerned about the unemployment rate and about the balance of trade deficit, which approaches $3 billion a month, are writing to their Congressmen and Senators, urging passage of this legislation.

Even in land-locked New Mexico, where cargo equity legislation might seem at first blush not to concern us, the prospect of having the general unemployment picture improved is a welcome one.

It seems that every time those fellows in Congress do something nice for the people the wallets in Lincoln County and elsewhere get a little bit thinner.

For instance, every time they pass a new income tax law that is supposed to give us a tax relief, the lawyers and the accountants get rich trying to figure out what the congressmen were talking about in the first place -- and the rest of us wind up paying more.

Now the Congress is on the verge of doing us another favor by saving energy for us, they say. From what we hear, it's liable to double the electricity bill -- which has doubled a few times in this area already, if you've been watching -- as well as create enough additional confusion that the layers and accountants will still be the only ones to profit.

We think that everybody's agreed that there is an energy crisis and that all the American people have to do whatever they can to save what natural resources we have left.

President Carter campaigned on this issue and has presented a detailed energy package to the Congress. That package is now in deep trouble in the Senate, but of course, no legislation is going to please everyone.

What appears to be happening here, though, is that various congressmen have backed their favorite ideas -- bills they haven't been able to get passed for the past 10 years -- and in the rush for summer adjournment the whole business got passed by the House of Representatives.

People we've been talking to have told us that parts of the proposed law sets us a new federal bureaucracy -- taking regulatory functions away from the cities and states -- and would add $60 billion in electricity costs between now and 1990; and that they won't even save energy!

The Senate is now considering similar legislation -- so we still have a chance. We think that all consumers and voters ought to be asking our senators whether the energy program will indeed save energy.

We ought to ask them if all the new regulations will even work. Then we ought to ask them whether or not they have figured out how much the non-energy saving parts and the non-working parts are going to cost the consumers.

We think we deserve some answers on this. What do you think?

What Cogitation Indicates

ROBERT E. CATES

What do you do when you feel you need some relaxation and entertainment? If you are relatively normal, you probably play golf, watch television, or go to a ball game. If, on the other hand, you are a bit abnormal, you may take perverse pleasure in devising complex and devilish practical jokes -- to bemuse and embarrass your friends, members of your family, or the world at large.

Should you be of the more abnormal or fiendish bent, but do not have a ready supply of joke suggestions, let me recall a few pranks which have been perpetrated in the past by a variety of "jokers".

A joke that has been popular with the younger set for some years goes like this: A group plans to be up late so they pick some stranger's name out of the telephone book. Then they call him and ask if Joe Green is there. The victim of course responds that he doesn't know a Joe Green and that the caller has the wrong number. The caller apologizes and hangs up. The victim is given ten or fifteen minutes to get back to bed and get comfortable when another of the group calls with the same question.

This routine continues until the person being called just at the point of an attack of apoplexy. Then the last member of the group calls and asks for the man by his right name. The victim, relieved that someone is at last calling for him, will respond, "Yes, speaking".

At this point the caller says, "I hate to bother you at this time of night but this is Joe Green. Have there been any calls for me?"

An interesting vintage joke was devised by Theodore Hook, a British author, while taking a stroll with his friend Sam Beasley in 1809. As they walked past Berner street, Beasley remarked that the street seemed to be the most peaceful in London.

"I'll wager a guinea," responded Hook instantly, "that within a fortnight I can make this the most talked about street in England." The bet was taken and Hook made a mental note of No. 54 which, it later turned out, was occupied by a sedate widow named Tottingham.

A few days later a wagonload of coal drew up to Mrs. Tottingham's house. This was followed by all manner of vehicles including a moving van, a hearse, and several mourning coaches.

Later in the day No. 54 was visited by two of London's most prominent physicians, a dentist, and a midwife. There followed a steady stream of tradespeople making deliveries to the address. Six men arrived and began to unload a pipe organ, wigmakers, coachmakers, carpet-manufacturers, clockmakers, and curiosity dealers drew up before the house bearing samples of their wares. Then came a flood of cooks, maids, coachmen, footmen, butlers, and gardeners seeking employment.

By this time Berner street was a scene of abject chaos. Vehicles were backed up for blocks and tradespeople, discovering that they had been bilked, began jostling and shouting at each other in their frustration. Wagons full of produce were overturned and more than a few tempers were completely lost.

The madness continued all day and well into the night. Meanwhile poor Mrs. Tottingham was brought to the brink of nervous exhaustion by the inexplicable confusion.

Hook had accomplished the feat, of course, by writing hundreds of letters in Mrs. Tottingham's name asking for the various services which the innocent tradespeople were trying to supply. He left the city the next day on an extended vacation which lasted, incidentally, until some of the rancor had abated and it was safe for him to return.

An American variation of this joke is much less complicated. A few days after Christmas the "joker" places an ad in the classified section of a newspaper saying something to the effect of, "Good prices paid for old Christmas trees." He lists the address and phone number of the victim and sits back to await results.

The most quoted example of the fact that practical jokes can be dangerous is the story of the two young men who went hunting in the country.

The young men, Jim and Frank, stopped at the farmhouse and Jim went to ask the farmer for permission to hunt on his property.

"Sure, young man," agrees the farmer, "and, say, while you're out hunting I'd like for you to do me a favor." Jim is willing and the farmer says, "I've got an old sick horse in the back pasture. Been meaning to put him out of his misery but I just can't bring myself to do it. I'd appreciate it if you'd shoot him for me."

Jim agrees but doesn't mention the mission to Frank. He simply says that the farmer doesn't mind them hunting on his property.

When they reach the pasture, Jim spots the ageing animal and, thinking that he will have a little fun with Frank, begins to stagger around crazily. "I think I'll kill that horse, he snarles, raising his rifle to his shoulder and firing. Frank stares in amazement as the horse drops over dead.

Jim then turns to Frank, "I'll weave drunkenly, "Now I think I'll kill you," he says. Without hesitation the now thoroughly frightened Frank raised his rifle and shot Jim through the heart.

If there is any moral here, it could well be to indulge only in practical jokes that do not cause any harm to anyone and, above all, never attempt to play a practical joke on anyone who has a gun in his hand.

Books & Things

By Harold Servis

The Waxen Image (Titan Publishing Co., $7.95), by Rudy S. Apodaca, who is a promising new novelist emerging on the scene in New Mexico.

This first book is a suspense story in the little village of Esperanza, New Mexico, with all the trappings to make it a gripping story. There is witchcraft in Africa which sets the scene in the middle 1920's, then skipping to the present, the author proceeds to tell an exciting story filled with gloomy houses, spells for calling on demons, a mysterious funeral, strange experimentation in a small home laboratory and finally, a conclusion that is cleverly contrived but very logical in its construction.

This book should herald a new author into New Mexico's distinguished group of writers. It is hoped that more novels will be forthcoming from this well-known New Mexican attorney, breaking away from the stereotyped stories that clog the presses, to stories that will continue to entertain the reader for years to come with unique characters and unusual locations.

This is a book that will delight the reader, particularly if intrigued by the macabre -- and likes to try and figure out "who dunnit"! The clues are there, but the reader must be an observant one, too, so be sure and read The Waxen Image and be glad you did!

Living It Up or, They Still Love Me in Altoona! (G. P. Putnam's Sons, $8.95), by George Burns, is the humorous as well as poignant story of one of America's most beloved entertainers.

George Burns, at over 80 years of age, is busier today than he has ever been. Winner of the Academy Award for best supporting actor in The Sunshine Boys, is now touring the world -- performing, singing and telling stories that radiate the distinctive George Burns genius.

Living It Up is George Burns' broad and richly felt reflection on life. It is written with the inimitable Burns style and wit, rich and anecdotes and recollections of this show business career and personal life. His brand of droll humor comes through on every page as effectively as it does on the stage. He even speaks of his current amatory pursuits, saying, "I don't want you to get the impression that this book is only about young girls. Oh, they're bound to crop up here and there -- about every page or so -- but they're not the important part of the book." Peppered with avuncular advice on everything from finding the right cigar to how to stay young by staying happy. This is the perfect book for laughter, for inspiration, and for pleasurable reading.

AROUND TOWN & SURROUNDING AREAS

On September 24 Lincoln County Historical Society members met at 'Fort Meigs', home of John Meigs in San Patricio.

The business meeting consisted of:
(1) Protection of the old log school house at Jicarilla. Mr. Roy Harmon, Carrizozo has kindly agreed to accept the responsibility.

(2) Approving of publications of Lincoln County Old-Timers Stories. NMSU at Las Cruces may consider devoting a whole issue of their publication 'Rio Grande History' or a monograph issue, sometime next year in commemoration of the Lincoln County War Centennial.

(3) Replacement of the sign missing from the Tunstall marker.
(4) Proposed collection tape-recorded interviews. The Society needs interviewers, interviewees and interpreters for those who speak only one language.

The program at "Fort Meigs" patterned after the June 4 gathering at Hattie Phillips home in Lincoln, was attended by a large crowd of members and guests. A "bring-your-own-covered-dish" supper meeting was enjoyed by all in the patio of the lovely Hondo Valley home.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Holmgren were their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holmgren from Gallup.

What makes hundreds of area people leave the comforts of home (bathrooms, running water, and refrigerators) to head for the hills and crawl under trees, where they risk getting bit by rattlesnakes and ants, rashed by poison ivy, pricked by thistle and smeared with gummy sap? Enough of guessing games. The answer is a teeny, tiny nut, the pinon nut. That's gold in them thar hills, for sure.

Our family went pinon picking this past weekend with the following: Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Fresquez, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Pino Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Pino from Tularosa; Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Griego, Capitan and various children of all ages.

I knew that the road runner is our state bird, and the state flower is the yucca, but I just found out we have a state tree, pinon, or nut pine. Pinon is the name of four varieties of small, scrubby pine trees (a few may reach a height of 40 feet) that grow in the semi-arid regions of the southwestern United States.

A special birthday wish to Jennifer Jiron who will be five years old Friday, September 30. Jennifer is the daughter of Carrie and Eddie Jiron and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Jiron.

FALLACIES and FACTS

FALLACY: The United States merchant fleet is useful to businessmen but has no effect on the rest of the country.

FACT: In times of national emergency, the U.S. merchant fleet has transported 95 percent of our total military supplies. Yet, the U.S. merchant-manning ranks 10th in the world, four places behind Russia.

FALLACY: Most of the oil imported into the United States is brought in on our own ships.

FACT: Less than three percent of our oil imports is transported in U.S. flag tankers—assuring the availability of less than a third of the tanker tonnage to meet defense requirements. If cargo equity as proposed in H. R. 1037 and S. 61 becomes law, 9.5% of our oil imports would be transported in U.S. flag tankers, enough to meet tanker requirements for our defense.

FALLACY: No one is doing anything about this situation which many have called a threat to our national security.

FACT: The Secretary of the Navy urged the increase of the percentage of petroleum imports carried by U.S. flag tankers and, according to the U.S. Maritime Committee, many Americans are writing their legislators urging passage of the cargo equity legislation.

Hourigan Learns Ropes

Carrizozo's Jerry Hourigan went to Columbus, Ohio for the fourth annual National Beef Cook-off. Hourigan found that, while the cook-off is supposed to be for amateur cooks, his competitors, all but 1 of whom were women, had much experience in national cooking competitions. The winner and runner-up in this contest, for example, had some 80 cooking competition wins between them.

In the face of this competition, Hourigan, who says he had a great time at the event, reportedly felt like a rank amateur. Not deterred by his first brush with the cooking "big time", Hourigan plans to enter other national cooking competitions and learn the ropes in this very demanding occupation.

Dorothee Polson, food editor for the Arizona Republic, who covered the Cook-off, reported that Hourigan's recipe was exciting. She said that his Canyon Crown was made of two inexpensive beef rib racks shaped and tied into a crown. This she found great, but she thought the recipe was too long and complicated. Probably she was correct, with relations to a national cooking competition, but if one considers that the recipe was not just a dish but a whole meal, its length is more understandable.

Polson also reported that Hourigan had packed the ribs, he was to cook in his carry-on luggage. When he got to the X-ray station at the airport, he was asked by the guard what the protruding bones were. He responded, "My wife's bones." There was some delay in boarding.

Thank You and Thank You again to all those folks that made it possible for my participation in the "National Beef Cook-Off" sponsored by the New Mexico Cowbelles and in particular "Linda Gibson". Her efforts at getting the get-a-way money was outstanding we did not win place or show, we were not out cooked, out classed but we were out judged. Here is our recipe, the winner's and the runner-up's. Thanks Again Jerry Hourigan

THE CANYON CROWN (A Special Beef Roast) Prepared for the Cowbelles by Jerry Hourigan GOOD STUFF YOU'LL NEED, SO GET STARTED NOW

- Two Beef Rib Racks (Short Plate) cut six to eight inches high, seven to eight ribs in length.
- Two pounds of Beef, Shank, Flank, Brisket or Round cut in ¼ inch cubes, remove most of the mussel fiber.
- One pound fresh mushrooms.
- Four bunches Green Onions, Appr. one pound, diced, tops too
- One Nice Neighbor Lady
- Two Large Garlic Cloves, chopped fine
- Two ounces Pimento, chopped fine
- Two large Green Peppers, Cut in thin slices
- One Quart Red Port Wine, chill for one hour.
- One quart Sweet Milk
- One pound BEEF bacon, Chill for one hour
- Two cans Cream of Mushroom Soup
- One Can Pepper Pot soup
- One can Beef Bouillon, Consume
- One Can 12 oz. Cream Style Corn
- Six ounces chopped Green Chili (jalapeno preferred)
- Four large Eggs, chilled
- Prepared Seasoning, Salt, Pepper, Paprika, Bouillon Crystals coarse, Accent, Marjoram, thyme, Rosemary, Savory, sage, Oregano, sweet basil, Worcestershire sauce, Tabasco, Olive oil.

Preparation

Using butcher twine, tie Rib Racks end to end to form a crown, grease Rib Crown with butter and season liberally with spices, not much salt.

Cut six strips of Beef Bacon in one inch pieces, place "Crown" in shallow baking pan, Drop cut Bacon inside Crown, bake in pre-heated 350 degree oven for fifteen minutes, remove, tilt pan and reserve drippings and Bacon bits.

Remove wine from icebox, pour 4 oz. in small glass call nice neighbor lady and tell her what your doing, sit for a few minutes, finish wine, feels good - right!

Using dripping and bacon bits, sautee beef chunks with spices, two tablespoons course beef bouillon, dash Tabasco, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon olive oil, three to five minutes, add one cup of chopped onions, one green pepper cut in strips, one oz. pimento, two cups chopped fresh mushrooms, sautee for an additional five minutes, add one cup of red wine, set off fire cover, have another glass of wine.

In a two quart sauce pan, over a low fire combine 2 cans mushroom soup, ½ can beef bouillon, ½ can pepper-pot soup, blend well with wooden spoon. Add remaining onions, green pepper, pimento and chopped mushrooms, simmer for five minutes, add reserve drippings & bacon bits, drain all liquid from sauteed beef chunks and add to sauce, continue to blend, add one cup red wine, blend bring to a near boil, set off fire, cover.

Call nice neighbor lady and invite her to come over and have another glass of wine. Using cool Beef bacon strips cut in two pieces, dress Crown Rib tips holding place with a butcher twine weave, fill crown with Sauteed beef and sauce, about three meat to one sauce. Cover top of filled roast with mushroom caps, paint with butter and sprinkle with cracked black pepper and paprika.

Drain all moisture from roasting pan and add to sauce. Pour jalapeno corn bread mix into roasting pan at base of Crown. Bake in 375 degree oven until corn bread is golden brown, about thirty five minutes.

Prepare cornbread mix according to package directions, except reduce liquid by ½ and stir in corn, green chilies, sugar, if desired and 1 tablespoon pimento. Pour cornbread batter into roasting pan at base of roast. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees for about 20 minutes or until cornbread is golden brown.

Place buttermilk biscuits in oven so they will be done at the same time as the cornbread. Cook remaining soup mixture over low heat. Cut cornbread in squares; place squares and biscuits on warm large platter. Spoon beef mixture over cornbread and biscuits. Top with remaining sauce. Cut between ribs and serve on the platter. Ten servings.

A few notes about this meal, use very little salt as the Accent, coarse beef bouillon, & Consume all have a salt base, fresh mushrooms at present are cheaper than canned ones, Marjoram, Thyme, Rosemary, Savory, Sage, Oregano, & Sweet Basil can be found combined as "Italian Seasoning", the Rib Tips dressed with, green-black olives, cherries or apple slices, squered on toothpicks after baking, buttermilk biscuits may be served with the corn bread to add another texture & taste. Serve with lots of napkins, cause the ribs are gonna end up in your fingers, although we use beef cut from the lower part of the steer, so called lesser grade, higher grades could be used, at present we estimate the "Crown" will serve a dozen for about ninety cents a person, nice neighbor not included.

Finish off wine and invite nice neighbor lady to dinner next Sunday nite at Chez McDonald for a Big Mac.

Game Birds Provide Taste Treat

Game birds provide double pleasure—the sport of hunting and a new variety and flavor of table meat.

To enjoy the distinctive flavor of game birds, you need to give them proper care in the field. Following correct cooking methods also enhances the bird's flavor. Too often, game birds develop an off-flavor from improper handling.

As soon as possible after the kill, remove the bird's entrails and crop (crop). Allow air to circulate in the body cavity. Cool the bird as quickly and thoroughly as possible. Keep the meat cold until it is cooked.

Prompt cleaning of the body cavity and cooking will help prevent growth of dangerous bacteria and retain the natural meat flavor.

A HANDFUL OF YOUTH
Has your marriage lost its magic? Let's spark it back to life! You can make your spouse feel years younger and bring back the vitality of your earlier years by way you talk to each other; and a little praise.

1. Praise each other generously. Praise for the food that is cooked and for the services your spouse renders you.
2. Avoid negative comments, direct compliments, such as you look great today! or You've never looked better.
3. Talk together like friends - listen to each other.
4. Be encouraging about exercise classes, and if the spouse wants to take up a physical activity, don't say, "You're old for that."
5. Try doing the things you use to do together, but still give each other some breathing space - let him do his thing but try to be interested in it, the same with the wife let her do her thing but be interested in each others accomplishments.
6. Surprise your spouse with a gift.
7. Send little love notes, have coffee together, be thoughtful and unselfish. This will help. Remember the person your living with is the most important person in your life, make them feel that way.

Robie's Box - Send those jokes, ideas, thoughts and recipes in to Robie, Lincoln County News.

A pinch of wisdom: When there is no malice in your heart there can be none in your home. (Will Rogers)

My personal hobbies are reading, listening to music and silence.

The best inheritance a parent can give to his children is a few minutes of his time each day.

A pinch of hints: Ruffled napkin holders can be made by cutting 3 inch wide elasticized fuffed smocking into 5 inch lengths, seam the cut ends. Then you can put a name tag on them.

A Dash of Humor: It's safe generalization that a woman shows her age before breakfast; a man shows his after dinner.

Now there's an energy plan where everyone in a community uses one enormous solar unit. It's called Sunny and Share.

4. The Doctor who doesn't like to be mentioned in the paper?
Here is a recipe that was in Robie's column a year ago. I made it and it is worth putting in again.

B.R.

Lemon Dessert

3 eggs
3 lemons
½ cup cold water
2 cups sugar
1 envelope gelatine
1 quart heavy cream

Cook eggs, sugar, and lemons until they thicken - in a double boiler; (or stir constantly), then add gelatine and water, set aside to cool, later fold in whipping cream chopped nuts on top.

AROUND THE BOWL

Presto - Chango. The McDaniel trailer is across from the Post Office, where the Sharpe trailer used to be. Katie and Carl have been moving for days, but they seem very excited about their new home and have some plans to build on perhaps.

Royal and Helen Waren had a visit from their nephew this last week, hope he will bring his family next time, and stay in Nogal longer.

Fern Sawyer is busy in Albuquerque, riding in the rodeo and leading parades. She is a colorful, vibrant person and was shown on T.V. last week.

Molly is not feeling too well and is residing at the home of her son, a few cards might cheer her up, if you care to write her. She is Nogal's 101 year old resident and we wish her quick recovery.

Lincoln Town

By Hattie Phillips

Clark and Janet Taylor are the proud parents of a baby boy born Sunday. They live in Salmon, Idaho now.

Scott Martin of El Paso visited at his parents home in Lincoln Monday and took his wife and daughter back home. They had been visiting here for a week.

On a recent weekend Leo and Louise Joiner accompanied Ewing and Willie Rose to Albuquerque where they visited Mr. Rose's sister who is very ill. Helen Rose Servis who taught in the Hondo Elementary Schools in the 1930's suffered a complete kidney failure almost three years ago and is on a dialysis machine several times each week. While taking her regular treatment she suddenly became critically ill. At this time she is much improved.

The Rose family was well known in this area and will be remembered by many.

The Joiners spent the night with Mrs. Joiner's cousin, Mary Elizabeth Cook and family. Mary Elizabeth will be remembered by many in the Captain area as Mary Elizabeth Hall, youngest daughter of the late Fletcher and Eunice Hall who had a Drug Store in Captain.

Helen Bennett is now in Queen's Creek, Arizona. She has been reconing for cones in the Springerville and Sedona area.

Fort Stanton

— by Dolly Lawson

With the coming of fall school settles into a routine. Our students are learning to attend classes for six and one-half hours daily. Due to the fact that the classrooms have not been completed the students are still outdoors a great deal. We enjoy walks down to the creek and around the Fort. The train is running and everyone enjoys train rides around the campus to look at the leaves and flowers. The dallas were beautiful this year. They were larger than average and with so many different colors in the flower beds everyone enjoyed them. The students did pick the first blossoms but soon learned that they stayed beautiful for longer periods of time if they were left on the plant. Eddie Romero's pre-vocational group worked all summer on various flower beds at the Administration building and around Socorro cottage. The sun flower seeds produced huge seed heads which are now drying. The cannas have multiplied and now fill the beds. The rock fence will be enjoyed for years and as the iris multiply and fill the bed they do will produce masses of colors for several years.

The Fort is still getting a face lift. The houses are now being repainted. Tommy Aldaz and his crews have worked many extra hours this summer keeping the grounds mowed, trees trimmed, water system cleaned and reworked, remodeling some of the maintenance buildings, and now repainting. The houses are being painted an adobe brown with a darker brown trim. They do look nicer than being white. The white houses seemed to glare and stand out. They now blend into the surrounding area.

After a week of going back and forth to Roswell checking on Mike, he was released and sent home. He had difficulty and could not go back to school. Another round of x-rays showed that he was not healing correctly and will require surgery. He will be in the hospital for another week. Perhaps this will take care of the problem and he can return to school.

Special education has been in the news lately. Time Magazine has been having articles on the mandated laws which go into effect Sept. 1, 1978. States and school districts have had several years to prepare for the influx of profound, severe, multiple handicapped students into the school systems. Many states are planning to place the students in regular classrooms as the law indicates. Normalization is the key word. Students do learn from their peers and as the essay in Time stated the children do not detract from the program for the normal children. The law is written to provide services to children from ages 5 to around 21. Some states are providing services for younger children - pre-school programs to prepare the child and the family for school. One main problem is

All County Teams Win

All four county teams won this week leaving the sports scene bright. Ruidoso correspondent Jerry Garcia gave this account of the Ruidoso vs Tatum game.

In what was supposed to be a hard fought battle, Ruidoso took the opening kick off and kept the game going their way. Led by No. 12 Josh Ensor, who gained 160 yards and scored on runs of 15 and 4 yards. Brad Maddox kicked a field goal of 25 yards and added 2 extra points. Tatum will be seen in the area Friday night against Capitan and is led by No. 12 Brent Miley. Tatum should have been closer, but Ruidoso capitalized on the Tatum errors. John Cabot No. 27, intercepted a pass on the 3 yard line and No. 23 Joe Almager recovered a fumble in the end zone for a touchback. This all resulted in the final score of Ruidoso 25 and Tatum 0. The outstanding players for Ruidoso on offense were: Josh Ensor and Borde Williams, and the outstanding players on defense were: Steve Cox, Mark Williams, and Sterling Rehmt.

Ruidoso's homecoming is Friday in a game with the Hagerman Bobcats.

In other Ruidoso football, the Mid High Braves pulled an upset over the Roswell Mesa Mid High team. Ruidoso came to play with upset on their mind and that they did upsetting tough Roswell Mesa 14 to 6. Alberto Fierro, the tough little player from Ruidoso who has scored 50 points in two games led the offense as he scored both touchdowns. The extra points were made on a pass from Scotty Neal to Don Nunley.

As the half ended, it was Braves 14, Coyotes 0. The third quarter turned into a tough defensive battle as neither team was able to capitalize on the others' mistakes or put together a scoring drive. As the game came to an end, Mesa came back with Quarterback Donald Dolnes scoring on a sneak up the middle, but the point after conversion failed. Coach Tom Culbertson commented, "They were a tough team and they threw a lot of blocks and everybody played tough."

The offense was led by Scotty Neal, Don Nunley, and Alberto Fierro. The defense was led by Mark Mobley and Billy Baldonado.

Capitan found that Vaughn weren't pushovers last Friday, but came away the winners. The final score was Capitan 12 and Vaughn 0. Both teams had more defense than offense. Coach Cisco praised the defense saying, "I was real proud of our defense, but we've got to get our offensive mistakes and turn-overs cut down to a minimum."

Tigers had 176 yards of total offense while Vaughn only had 61 yards, and a minus yardage in the second half. Richardson had 96 yards rushing, Stewart had 39 yards rushing and Adam Aldez had 20 yards and a TD.

In looking at this Friday's game, Coach Cisco said, "I look for a lot tougher game from Tatum."

In Corona Saturday, Corona had an easy time blanking Reserve 20 to 0. In the first quarter Troy Yancey threw a TD pass to Scott Williams that covered 89 yards, with the kick failing. The same combination of Yancey to Williams used in the second quarter and the kick by Scott Nalda was good making the score 13 to 0. The final score was Yancey to Cully Nalda, with Scott kicking the extra point.

Troy Yancey completed 8 passes for 212 yards and 3 touchdowns. Cully Nalda caught 3 passes for 56 yards, Scott Williams caught 2 passes for 115 yards, and Scott Nalda caught 3 passes for 41 yards. Scott also led in rushing with 98 yards for 12 carries. The Cardinals had 378 yards of total offense.

Girls Volleyball

Capitan's girls volleyball team played two matches this last week, one with Hondo High School, and one with Corona High School. In the Hondo match last Thursday, Capitan won the B team competition by scores of 15 to 4 and 15 to 2. In the Varsity match the scores were 15 to 2 and 15 to 3. Megan LaMay was noted by Coach MacVeigh as having done an excellent job all around and Donna Cooper did very well with her spikes. In the match at Corona Saturday morning, the B team Cardinals won very convincingly 15 to 0, 15 to 2.

In the A team match, Corona came on strong while Capitan was flat. Cindy Cline was injured on a dive out of

The Carrizozo Grizzlies hit the road for the first time this season and came back home with an exciting 16-8 victory over the tough Cloudercroft Bears.

Defense again set the tone for the Grizzly-Bear encounter last Friday night. With 5:41 showing on the clock in the first stanza and the host Bears showing some offensive spark, the Grizzly defense came through. Defensive back Ray Hernandez picked off an errant Bear pass at his own 40-yard line and tight-rope it down the sidelines for a 60 yard touchdown. Tommy Vega kicks for PAT for a 7-0 Zozo lead.

Rest of 1st and 2nd quarters remain scoreless, with the Grizzly defense choking off a Cloudercroft threat at the Zozo five-yard line as the first half came to an end. During the series of downs the Carrizozo team suffered a blow as middle-linebacker Billy Bob Shafer sustained a shoulder injury and did not play for the remainder of the game.

With the Grizzly defense obviously missing Shafer, the Bears managed to cross the Zozo goal line with 3:47 of the third quarter and added a two-point PAT giving Cloudercroft and 8-7 lead. The points scored by the Bears were the first given up by the Carrizozo defense in four games, after fourteen quarters of play this season.

Carrizozo came back with a drive of its own with John Chavez switching from center to fullback doing some good running. But the Zozo drive stalled at the Bear sixteen and a 33-yard field goal try just missed, with Bears taking over at their own twenty, as the 3rd quarter came to an end, with the score still 8-7 Cloudercroft.

After losing 5-yards on three plays Cloudercroft attempts punt on 4th down. Michael English (81), now playing middle linebacker, breaks through and blocks punt attempt and brother Bruce English (60) recovers ball in end-zone for 2-point safety. Grizzlies now lead 9-7.

During remainder of 4th quarter both teams exchange punts as neither team can mount a sustained drive. Arthur Vega took over punting chores for the injured Shafer during second half, and came through with some outstanding pressure kicks.

With last quarter coming to an end, a Vega punt puts Cloudercroft at its own ten yard line. The Bears attempt four straight passes and manage only 5 yards to the 15. The Grizzlies take over at that point with 0:49 showing on the clock.

With the ball at the Bear twenty, tailback Bobby Vallejos scoots around right end for a 6-pointer with four seconds showing on the clock. Tommy Vega adds extra point as final gun goes off. Final score 16-8.

Carrizozo now 2-0-2 stays undefeated, one of only ten undefeated teams in the state. The Grizzlies now travel to Melrose to take on the Buffaloes Friday night.

Capitan Riding Club Awards

The Capitan Junior Riding Club held its annual awards dinner Saturday evening at the Smokey Bear Park.

Participants and parents from Capitan, Hondo, Carrizozo, Corona and Roswell participated in the campfire and covered dish supper.

The Riding Club has a "play day" one Sunday afternoon a month from May through August or September. Everyone is welcome to bring their horses and their kids and participate in these events.

These outings feature regular rodeo and timed events including barrel racing, pole bending, stake racing, flag racing, goat tying and, for the little ones, goat hair pull. This year a boot scramble was added for fun. In past years horses showing and riding ability have been popular features. Ribbons are given to six places for each event. A point system is used and the high point boys and girls are recognized on awards night.

This year the winners in the eight and under category were: All around cowgirl, Shannon Byrd; first runner-up, Marcia Hefker; second runner-up, Candy Byrd. All around Cowboy, Kerry Clements; first runner-up, Jeffrey Willingham; second runner-up, Lee Payne; and third runner-up, Guy Payne.

In the second age group the all around cowgirl was, Shelly Eldridge; the first runner-up was, Melody Kay Hefker; the second runner-up was, Rebecca Barber; and the third runner-up was, Yvonne Montes. The all around cowboy in this age group was, Andy Willingham; the first runner-up was,

Grady Lee Eldridge; and the second runner-up was Chris Clements.

In the third age group the all around cowgirl was, Sandra Lacy; while the first runner-up was, Leola Montes. The all around cowboy in this oldest age group was, Deke LaMay. The first runner-up in this group was Ronnie Montes.

Trophies were presented to the second and third runner-ups. Hand-tooled breast collars were given to the first runner-ups and the all around cowboys and cowgirls received large trophy buckles with their pictures on them.

Special recognition was given to Janice Eldridge for making the Riding Club possible and to Mr. and Mrs. Lykins of Roswell for their assistance with the program.

Another week has gone by and there was not a winner, so this week someone or several people will get 75 dollars for the correct score on the Capitan vs Tatum game this Friday the 30th. The guessing on last weeks' game, the 16 to 8 romp over Cloudercroft, in Cloudercroft was pretty far off. The cricket has a new method of predicting this week, and will try it out on the scores. The new method involves picking the winners as the cricket thinks they will win, deciding what scores the cricket thinks, and then reversing the score 180 degrees, since the cricket has been 100 percent wrong all month. It has been explained to the cricket that one more bad week, and he will be taken off of the predicting end, and put on the list of has-beens in the predicting world (a list nobody likes to be on).

Anyway, several guesses were at least close. Gene Chavez being the closest with his guess of 16 to 12. Mrs. E. Baca again had the score half right with 8 for Cloudercroft, but only guessed 12 for Carrizozo. One of the oddest guesses was turned in by a Jimmy Snyder (it says "the Greek" but I have my doubts) who thought the outcome would be 5 to 4 in favor of Carrizozo. Actually the hand writing looked a whole lot like a pool shark in Carrizozo known as Carrizozo whiskers for short. Now for the predicting: First Carrizozo. The cricket does not want to be burnt by Carrizozo again, and has to go with them over Melrose. Corona should have an easy time with Texico, and Capitan looked good against Vaughn, and should continue against Tatum, (the game to predict) by the score of 22 to 12.
