Lt. Governor Suggests —

State Aid For Ruidoso

Keynote speaker for the occasion was New Mexico Lieutenant Governor Robert Ferguson. Ferguson stressed the anticipated state budget surplus of some $120,000,000 and said that communities such as Ruidoso, Red River and others that depend so greatly on tourism need special consideration when such funds are distributed.

Ferguson pointed out that the state had experienced a growth of about 100,000 from 1970 through 1976, yet the state expects to grow by another 100,000 in just the next three years. He said this is not necessarily good or bad, but it is inevitable and we must plan for it.

Eventually, Ferguson said, we will see a day come when we can no longer count on our natural resources. He warned that the water resources of the state now will just about cover our present needs.

Others who spoke or responded to questions at the meeting were, County Commission Chairman John Sudderth, Ruidoso Mayor Lloyd Davis, State Senator John Conway, and State Representative John Bigbee.

Commissioner Sudderth spoke about the difficulty of getting some of the County roads put in the shape the County would like. Over all, though, he said that the County is in very good shape. He spoke with pride about the self-sufficient ambulance service which the County maintains.

Sudderth told an anecdote about his response to a question from a constituent about the possibility of moving the Lincoln County Courthouse from Carrizozo to Ruidoso. His response he said was, "Ruidoso doesn't really need the courthouse and you must remember that the bourthouse is Carrizozo's only industry."

In a more serious vein, Sudderth said that it would take a massive

Mayor Davis gave a detailed history of the early development of the history of the early development of the village of Ruidoso. He pointed out that the community has an appraised valuation of $32,636,635 which represents a major part of the $67,000,000 that the entire county is appraised for. Since the appraisal represents only one-third of value, he said this makes the village a valuable property.

State Senator John Conway, in response to a question from the audience concerning the prospect of some liquor reform in the next legislative session, said, "In a 30-day session, liquor reforms would have to come down in the Governor's message." He suggested that the Lieutenant Governor might know what the Governor plans "if, indeed, the Governor himself knows what he wants to do."

The purpose of the luncheon was to give county residents an opportunity to understand how county and village governments operate and how state government can be of assistance to communities.

The Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce, which is undergoing a reorganization program at present, was delighted with the turnout and indicated the intent to make such sessions a yearly event. The Chamber was not holding this meeting as a fund-raiser as no profit was expected on the $7-a-head meals.

Domenici's "People for Pete" headquarters announced the appointments of campaign officials here Saturday, with further county and city selections to be made later this year.

"We have had an outstanding response to our call for help in the 1978 campaign," Domenici said, "and have people of extremely high caliber in our county organizations.

"I believe we are well on our way toward our goal of 10,000 volunteers in our 32 counties by the beginning of the general election effort this fall."

County officials in the Domenici campaign will appoint a steering committee for the county to help conduct Domenici's 1978 re-election effort in their areas.

Already more than 4,000 persons have written "People for Pete" indicating that they will support the Senator actively in a volunteer and financial capacity in the upcoming campaign.

At County Commission Meeting -

Extraterritorial Group Named

The Lincoln County Commission met last Friday and considered a joint powers agreement to establish an extraterritorial commission to plan development of Ruidoso and the four townships surrounding it.

The proposal is in keeping with current state law for extraterritorial zoning for municipalities. Communities used to be able to control zoning in a three-mile area around them. The new law reuduces that authority to one mile. This law provides, though, that if the county and the community agree, the zone can be of any distance.

The proposal for an extraterritorial commission would have the effect only of enlarging the scope of the present commission. The commission as now composed consists of Tommy Perteet. Alton Whittaker, and Emmeline Beck serving for the County. For the village of Ruidoso Frank Saynor, Sidney Miller and John T. Winniford.

The new planning commission would review all growth activities and develop a master plan for the area.

The County Commission approved the establishment of the new body and renamed Perteet, Whittaker and Beck to continue serving for the County.

Final approval of the proposal will come when the village of Ruidoso approves the plan and appoints members to it.

It was suggested at the County Commission meeting that Capitan is planning to propose such an extraterritorial commission to serve the development needs of that part of the county.

In other business to come before the Commission, Mrs. Helen Craig, of the Sun Valley Subdivision, reported that a trailer has been set up in that subdivision for nearly a month. She says that this is in violation of the subdivision's building resitrictions.

County Manager, Les Olson, reported that he had inspected the site a week ago and found the trailer in question too close to a county road. This, he said, could be a hazard if county emergency vehicles had to use the road.

Sheriff Bill Elliott was instructed to take steps to make sure that the trailer was removed from the area.

The Commission entertained the first reading of Ordinance 77-6 which would prohibit construction of buildings or other structures within 40 feet of either side of the Gavilan Canyon Road right of way without written approval right of way without written approval.

This ordinance was opposed by representatives of Ruidoso Land Company. They are concerned that the restriction would make certain of their lots in the area less valuable.

Commission Chairman, John Sudderth, explained that the County is seeking this setback because increased traffic on the main street of Ruídoso going toward Highway 37. He said that the only relief from anticipated traffic congestion in this area seems to be through the Gavilan Canyon Road.

The County plan, he said, is to ask the state to accept Gavilan Canyon as a part of the state highway system. "Even if this plan meets with approval," Sudderth said, "it would be four or five years before anything would be done."

would be done."

County Manager, Les Olson, was instructed to visit the area and investigate the situation. It was agreed that the County Commission will hold a meeting at the Ruidoso library on Monday, Nov. 28, at 7 p.m. to get the views of area residents about this ordinance.

The County Commission had received a letter from George Shoemaker backgrounding the efforts of the Sierra Balanca Airport Development Commission.

This commission, which is composed of Richard Hall, chairman; Syndem Runningwater, co-chairman; Norm Wheeler, secretary; and George Shoemaker, Finance chairman; is seeeking control of some 1,700 acres of land for use as an airport.

At present the Mescelaro Apache Tribe claims ownership of this land as well as some 20,000 more in the Ft. Stanton area. They are apparently willing to release the 1,700 question for use as an airport. A question which arises is just how best to go about releasing all claims on the land.

In other business, there were three bids for culverts. The low bid of $3,051 by Armco Steel Company was $2,500 plus $100 for the fair queen, was authorized to be paid to the County Fair Board.

County Manager Olson reported that the court house roof needs repair. He said that the costs had been estimated between $1,700 and $3,500. The Commission authorized bids to be let or the work.

The County Clerk reported that the precinct 14 polling place has been in the Ruldoso Airport terminal building. This is no longer big enough. The only other place, she said, seems to be the High School. She has asked for permission to locate the polling place in the High School and has been refused.

This matter was discussed briefly by the Commissioners and it was agreed that, under state law, a school cannot refuse a properly filed request for use of its facilities as a polling place. The Clerk was instructed to have the proper forms served.

It was noted that the Otero County Council on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism has asked Lincoln County for a contribution offunds to help cover their operating expenses. The operational budget of the organization is $20,000 per year. It appears at this point that Otero County is not contributing to these costs. No action was taken.

'Grizzly Adams' Set Is Visited

Lieutenant Governor Bob Ferguson will visit the "Grizzly Adams" film location site near Ruidoso next week. Ferguson will tour the movie set Wednesday afternoon, November 16. during a one-day visit to Lincoln county.

The popular NBC television series moved their film crew to Ruídoso from Park City. Utah last month. They were attracted by the scenic mountain country and the promise of good weather until mid-December when production for the current television season will be completed.

"Grizzly Adams" star's Dan Haggerty/in the title role with co-stars Denver Pyle as Mad Jack and Don Shanks as the Indian. The real showstoppers though are the animals used in the program. They include three grizzly bears, several black bears, and a whole menageric of other wild creatures including coyotes, skunks, wolverines and squirels.

The Lieutenant Governor said he's pleased the "Grizzly Adams" producers chose New Mexico as a location. "The Sacramento mountains have as pretty a country as there is anywhere," Ferguson said. "This program can show some of New Mexico's beautiful scenery to the rest of the country. The film business is a good, non-polluting industry too.

lude Domenici said, "but you are going to lack throw the baby out with the bathwater if ther you don't recognize that the Imperial tes, Valley situation is unique.

"New Mexico State University

"New Mexico State University research show, for example, that adherence to the strict 160-acre limitation would make almost every farm in one of our districts unprofitable," Domenici told the Secretary.

"In light of this research, and other facts, I strongly recommend that the Administration endorse my one-year moratorium resolution so that we may move slowly in this delicate area."

In a time when everyone is convinced that the fossil fuel is fast running out as the major energy source for the planet, researchers are frantically striving

Nuclear energy, which was thought to be the ultimate hope only a generation ago, is not generally conceived to be of limited utility in the long run. What, then.

New Mexico may well have a couple of the answers, if ways can be found to make the energy extraction economical. They are, of course, wind and sun, There's no doubt we have both of these in abundance.

Dr. Kenneth Barnett of the Physical Science Laboratory at New Mexico State University has been working with the problem of getting energy from the wind. He feels that the greatest potential is to turn wind energy into electricity. Right now, though, wind driven generators are not economical for homes or businesses, except in isolated areas many miles from commercial electricity.

Wind generated electricity is now stored and used from storage batteries. These batteries are not particularly efficient and energy is lost. A promising alternative. Dr. Barnett says, is an electronic device which would permit the use of wind energy when the wind is up and commercial electricity when it is not.

The solar energy area is of course, the most exciting of the new prospects. According to Dr. Ahmad Shouman, Mechanical Engineer at New Mexico State University, this is the energy source which holds the greatest promise for New Mexico. Dr. Shouman had a research project funded some four years ago by the National Science Foundation to determine the feasibility of small electricity producing solar units for the home. The project, which was to have been conducted in Egypt, fell upon political hard times and Dr. Shouman was not able to finish his investigations.

He remains, nonetheless, convinced that it will be possible in the near future, at least in sun-drenched parts of the world such as New Mexico, for families and small businesses to have solar driven units that will not only heat and cool homes but also provide all the electrical needs. This, he says, would free up the electric companies to provide the power to industry and reduce need to generate large amounts of electricity for private use.

Both these scientists see hope for the future of energy in this area without reliance upon fossil fuels.

Police departments across the nation are trying out a new control weapon. This one looks like something out of star Wars and, in fact, seems to be using "the force".

The device in question is a 5,000-volt billy club. Isn't that something to jolt you? Called the "Persuader," the club is advertised to deliver its voltage at a high frequency level which travels along the skin surface and does not enter the body. The vendors guarantee that it will not cause heart attacks, epileptic seizures, or even stop a pace-maker.

The Dona Ana County Sheriff's Department and the Las Cruces Police Department presently each have one of the devices for testing. Undersheriff Eddie DiMatteo says he is disposed toward the instrument, at least until it has

DiMattee, who tested the weepon on himself, says the shock is comparable to the one received by touching an uncovered spark plug while the engine is running. He feels that the "Persuader" might be very useful in control of violent prisoners

The first question which naturally comes to mind when a potent weapon such as this is suggested, is what about the possibility of police abuse of the devise. Of course, police departments are prepared to discover and reprimand abuses of any kind, but one always wonders.

Why is an electric shocker needed anyway? This question boils down to what is the most humane way to handle the unruly. Would being sapped with a heavy club be better? Water under high pressure might be the solution but in many cases that could be more than a trifle messy. When you stop to think about it, few police control measurers are really pleasant. That may be why they are

Lt. Cooney Sarracino of the Las Cruces Police Department has also used the stick on himself, to see just what kind of a jolt it gives, and feels that it is probably more humane than a blow from a regular billy club or even a spray of

An opposing view is held by Ron Axtell, Assistant Police Administrator of the Las Cruces Police Department. He feels that the weapons's harmlessness might cause officers to become dependent upon it, and possibly this might lead to

No one, at this time, can be sure of the manufacturer's safety claims. What if it is discovered later that the weapon does bring on heart attacks in certain instances? I might be a bit late to apologize to the next of kin. And then, of course, there are simply those who feel that it is not somehow right to use on humans something that was originally intended to control cattle.

Whatever the final disposition of the weapon is, there will be more testing and much controversy over its use. If it becomes fully accepted, it could one day be used on one of us. At that point we wonder if we all might not object to the new

Fishing Licenses Now Available

The Department of Game and Fish is accepting applications for commercial fishing licenses for the 1978 calendar year, according to Fisheries Division, Cheif R.L. Brashears.

"Commercial fishing permits for rough fish only, allow harvest & sale of valuable protein fish not sought after by sport anglers," Brashears said. "At the same time, removal of these rough fish tends to make more room for the sport fish. Any game fish taken in traps or trawls are returned to the water if alive. Otherwise, they are turned over to the department for disposition."

He said that applications will be accepted through Dec. 15. applications exceed the number of permits available a public drawing will be held about one week later.

The water, number of permits, and types of fish which can be taken are: Elephant Butte, five permits for carp, buffalo and carpsucker: Lower Charette, one, suckers and up to 1,000 pounds of yellow perch; Navajo, two. bullheads, carp; Heron and El Vado, one each, suckers and carp; Sumner, Ute and Conchos, one each for carp, carpsuckers and shad; Caballo, two, carp, carpsuckers, shad and buffalo. One permit each is available for the lower and middle Pecos River sections, where take may include, gar, carpsuckers, carp, shad and white suckérs.

There is no charge for the commercial fisheries permits.

Thaw Your Turkey

Since most turkeys in New Mexico are sold frozen, chances are you will soon be thawing a bird for your Thanksgiving dinner. This can present. a problem. Harmful bacteria which may be present on the turkey can grow rapidly if the bird is improperly prepared for the oven, says Mae Martha Johnson, Extension nutrition specialist at New Mexico State University.

Although several thawing methods can be used, remember that the surface of the bird must not become warm. The bird should thaw fairly uniformly and should stay cool until it goes into the Refrigerator thawing is the best method for thawing a turkey. Keep the frozen bird in its original warapper and place in on a tray. Keep the bird in the refrigerator while it slowly defrosts.

You need to allow 24 hours of thawing time in the refrigerator for each five pounds of turkey. When the bird is pliable, take the wrapper off and remove the giblets and neck. Cover the turkey with a damp towel and refrigerate it until roasting time. Although this method takes a little time, it is the safest, Mrs. Johnson says.

If you don't have enough refrigerator space, you must use another method which may not be as safe. Always be careful that the surface of the bird does not get warm.

You can thaw the turkey in cold water. Without opening the paastic bag, place the frozen bird in cold water for six to eight hours. Change the water frequently. Never use warm or hot water. -

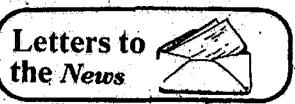

Timing is more important in this method because the bird must stay cold until it goes into the oven. Therefore, you must carefully plan the thawing and roasting time. When using this cold water metood, allow one-half hour thawing time for each pound of turkey. A second alternative refrigerator thawing, is the paper wrap method. Leave the turkey in its original plastic bag. Wrap it with newspaper and place it in a heavy brown paper bag. Seal the bag and place in a cool room. The newspaper and bag should insulate the turkey so that it will thaw uniformly. Again, timing is important. Allow approximately one hour thawing time for each pound of turkey. Do not allow excessive thawing time. Due to its potential hazards; this method should be your last choice, the specialist says.

Since poultry is a perfect breeding ground for bacteria, it is very important that you follow precautions for food safety from the time you buy the holiday turkey until the last crumb is gone. This way you'll have a Thanksgiving for which you can be truly thankful.

Where Did The Service Go?

Did you ever wonder just how the custom of tipping got started in the first place? It all began hundreds of years ago when an English tavern keeper placed a small box near the door of his establishment. On the little box the crafty businessman had scrawled T.I.P.S. Customers who asked what the letters meant were told that they signified, "To Insure Prompt Service."

To make sure that the little means of adding to his already ample profits would be respected by one and all, the proprieter of this tavern was careful to take immediate care of all who dropped a coin into the box as they entered his door. Those who ignored the box were similarly ignored by the landlord. Soon everyone found it prudent to visit the T.I.P.S: box. Other tavern keepers naturally heard about the new scheme and it was not long before T.I.P.S. containers were to be found everywhere.

There is no need to remind anyone in this country that the matter of tipping was taken up with gusto here and that it is a deeply entrenched tradition today. It is a tradition, however, that makes the average practitioner just a bit uneasy if not downright irritated. The primary reason for this is that there seems to be no hard-and-fast rules to clearly indicate just what is expected by way of a tip. The average citizen knows that tipping is expected, and he is grudginly willing to go along, but he doesn't want to tip too much, thereby throwing away his money. and he doesn't want to tip too little, and receive a stony glare from recipient of

As a consequence of this, most of the American public would like to see the whole practice of tipping abandoned, but there seems to be little likelihood of this in the forseeable future. The practice has never really set well with mankind. Countries have officially prohibited the practice; five or six states in America have tried to ban the custom; countless places of business posted "No Tipping" signs; and individuals have launched various crusades in protest. The result is that tipping is bigger today than at any time in hisotry.

It seems that the matter of tipping in one area in which the Russians are not anxious to claim leadership. The Russian government has carried on a persistent war against the practice since the early 1920's. The Russian magazine Literature and Life once pointed out that "Restaurant employees must be made to realize that they forfeit their human dignity by accepting tips, which are an insulf to those who give and those who take." Despite this cultural note, it would appear that the average Russian Employee is less concerned with his "dignity" than with the capitalistic custom of "give and take". The head of the Moscow restaurant trust was recently asked if there was one waiter in Moscow who would turn down a tip. Shaking his head sadly, the Russian official replied, "Not

I readily admit that the practice of tipping is a matter of necessity today, there still seems to be vestiges of the age old myth that tipping is voluntary clinging to modern thinking, on the subject. The pressure to tip is so strongly felt by the customer in today's business arena that only the most blythe, steel-willed. or thick-skinned could hold out. The word was long ago shorned from the original T.I.P.S. to the simple "tip" we use today. It is interessting to note that the letter that was dropped stood for "service".

Persons whowork at jobs which call for tipping under current customs are ary raises. The reason is quite basic -- tips mean more money and it's difficult for anyone to determine exactly just how much money is taken in through tips. The Bureau of Internal Revenue is hard at work each year trying to trace down tip income which has gone unreported. In 1956, Hans Paul, headwaiter at the Waldorf-Astoria, was sent to prison for evading income tax payments on $67,000 in tips. Time Magazine has estimated that some 800,000 restaurant employees get about 1 billion dollars annually in tips. Tips, Time says, represent about three-fourths of most waiters' incomes. This clearly takes the matter of tips out of the nuisance class and puts it squarely in the "big business" column.

Psychologists tell us that tipping gives the tipper a sense of power and co mfort. The feeling which accompanies the act is part boast and part guilt. Whether or not it is a particularly comfortable feeling depends upon the personality of the tipper.

Since the matter of tipping is anonymous in nature, it is difficult for the tipper to know if the tip he leaves is the proper amount. To combat this type of ignorance, authorities on the matter have compiled a list of acceptable tips. They grays follows: Waiter, 15 to 20 per cent of the check; Cab Driver, 25 cents; Redcap, 25 cents; Pullman Porter, one dollar per night; Doorman, 25 cents; Bellhop, 50 cents to one dollar; Hatcheck Girl, 25 cents; Bartender, 10 to 15 cents of the check; Usher at 'Ball Game, 25 cents; Barber, 25 to 50 cents; Chambermaid, one dollar per night; Shoeshine Boy, 10 cents; Furniture Mover, two dollars; and Washroom Attendent, 25 cents. Of course, this represents only a partiallist of the legion of outstretched palms, but it should give the uninitiated. some guide-posts to work out an acceptable plan for tipping.

Throughout history, many persons have raised their voices against the custom of tipping. These protests have been registered to no avail. It seems clear at this point that tipping is with us for some time to come. I for one, however, somewhat resent being saddled with three-fourths of the salary of each waiter who serves me and would like to see a movement to return tipping to the status of a small gratuity for service well rendered.

SOPOLLY'S PACE OF POTPOURRI

The Southeastern Regional Library out of Lovington was scheduled to come this past Tuesday, Nov. 15, Katy Ratan, director says that the last time they were here they were very busy. Suring the past 12 years and 11 months Southeastern Regional Bookmobile Library has been serving the rural residents in a five county region. During this time miles of travel have doubled. Areas receiving Bookmobile library service have doubled. Many areas are now receiving bi-weekly library service. Inter-library loan services for the blind and handicapped, and film showings are all available. Check with Katy for more information next time they are in town. The Bookmobile library is a free full service library for rural citizens.

On Nov. 4 our son, 10 year old Gabriel, was rushed to Bernallillo County Medical Center in Albuquerque for a bronchoscopy, which was performed on Nov. 5. Our family is very grateful for the concern showed to us by Carrizozo residents in the expereience we went trough. Gabriel had a piece of pinon shells in his lungs, after their removal complications set in which required around the clock intensive care and insertion of a tube in his chest to aid in removal of air that escaped from his lung that perforated. He was connected to many tubes, one of which carried antibiotics. He was under an oxygen tent, later a mask was needed.

Garbriel is now back at school. His follow-up appointment in Alamogordo on Nov. 14 revealed through X-ray that he is well. He is very anxious to resume his boxing training. He ha a scar on his. chest to remind him of a tiny little nut that caused all the commotion. And a reminder to us too of the loving help we received from area people.

Gabriel almost choked on the shell on Oct. 30, immediately he was taken for medical treatment here. It was assumed no shell remained. The rest of the week he had a wheezing sound and cough. Again medical attention was sought. Was it a cold or something else? The answer came 6 days later with X: rays_in Alamogordo and a brochoscopy in Albuquerque.

Many people are condering what a bronchoscopy is. It is performed with a bronchoscope, an instrument which is used to examine the interior of the bornchial tubes of the lungs. It is passed through the wind pipe into the large bronchial tubes. The bronchoscope is a hollow tube with electric lights and mirrors arranged so that the lining of the raachea and bronchi can be seen. It has special attachments such as forceps and scapels. Docotrs use thest attachments to reomove small tumors, foreign bodies, accumulations of pus, and pieces of tissue from the lungs. The bronchoscope can detect and observe areas which cannot be seen by X-rays. The bronchoscope is used to remove foreign objects such as pins, tacks, hairpens, bones and pinon shells which have entered the lungs.

Prayers of Carrizozo and area people were greatly appreciated. God bless everyone.

Friday Sherrill, at time of this writing is at Gerald Champion Memorial Hospital in Alamogordo. From all, prayers of a speddy recovery

From Ruidoso, visiting the Lane sisters and their husbands were relatives; Alf Lane and son Jeromy and Joe Lane and 2 little sons.

I received this past week a very interesting letter from Mrs. Edwin G. Majesic of San Antonio, Texas, former resident and Lincoln County reader. On a recent 'Potpourri' I mentioned the extinct Alligator Pool in El Paso, here Mrs. Majesic adds some comments of which I am most grateful:

Dear Mrs. Chavez:

:Wish I could tell you accurately (when the alligator pool was installed at the Plaza in El Paso, but it's fair to say it dates back a ltt further than the 50s. I have a snapshot of, my husband as a little toddler standing at that pool and it had to have been taken about 1914. I was born in Carrizozo in 1913 and, when Mr. Ziegler failed to have my shoe size, Mother would take me on the train to The White House in El Paso. Highlights of my trip would always be the chance to see the alligators - 1915 to 1919 - and I recall many occasions in the 20s, 30s, and 40s of visiting the pool. I always imagined it was the same old lazy fellow watching me and it was a real sad day to find them gone. The Manager of the hotel said one of them had been pulled over the enclosure by a student at The School of Mines and the top of the cage had ripped open his soft underneath - the poor animal was then placed on the Dean's desk and this was all supposed to be funny. I always hoped it wasn't true.

Best article in the paper all last year was a double-page spread about Mr. Frank English and the houses he built. He's a fabulous personand a builder of fine, solid homes. His fine son, Don, was my classmate along with Ruth Brickly, the Rolland girls, Ancil Swearengen and Otto Prehm. Those were great days and the issue of November 3rd was washout because it daailed to carry reprint of happening 10 to 60 years ago - the reason I and others buscrribe. Most of the paper, of course, is about the new-comers and we like your writing. Thanks.

> Yours truly. Kittiebell (Garven) Majesic recent trip to Europe. After spending 17 days in 8 European Counteies, Aileen now shares some interesting comments and memories of her experiences during the trip.

She went PanAm with food and drink galore all during the flight, A giorious sunrise over the ocean before landing was a view to remember

The Craayan Tour of which she was a part, met them at Rome Airport by their $75,000,00 coach. They traveled in theis coach from Rome to Florence, Venice, Innsbruck, Austria, Lucerne, Switzerland, Baden Baden and CologneGermany, Vaduz, Leichtenstein, Amsterdam, Hölland.

From Amsterdam they flew to Paris then from Paris to London and on to New York. Aileens's tour of Europe was a great experience but she was one happy person when she came home to the land, town, state and county of her

In Rome she saw the Pantheon, Roman Forums, Catacombs, Basilica of St. Peter (There she saw Michaelangelo's "Pieta", now under heavy glass since it was vandalized.)

The weather was unusually warm) so the side walk cafes in Rome and Paris were throughly enjoyed. In Venice. Ailene loved the ride in the gondola to the hotel. She visited the Morono glass Factory.

From Venice to Innsbruck, Austria, Aileen is convinced, the beautiful mountain scenery in New Mexico is just as beautiful. She saw the Olympic Jump at Cortina. They drove over Bremmer Pass where Hitler and Mussoline signed their pact.

They toured through the Black

Forest to Tricherg, Germany, the cockoo clock center of the world. In Colgne, Germany they had a delightful ride down the River Rhine.

In Amsterdam, Holland they saw Rembrandt and Van Gogh original paintings. In the Louvre Museum they saw 'Mona Lisa' and Venus de Milo'. They saw the Catherdral of Norte Dame. To view the Catherdar

To view these and other famous Art Aileen considers it her good furtune and an experrience not given to everyone,

They dined at the Eiffel Tower. Saw Paris at night. These and many other sights Alleen enjoyed on her tour. Other interesting points she remembers of her trip were:

1. It was easy to exchange money at each border or airport.

2. Food and hotel were first rate and very expensive. 3. Gifts shops everywhere and American tourists really shop! 4. European women do not wear pant suits. They are baeaufiful dressed and very attractive. They wear boots and mid-calf length skirts. 5. The Autobalm compares with our freeways, If you think American drivers are something you should see

The apple orchards of the future are likely to be different from the ones we now have. The future apple trees may be boxy or angular shaped. There are two reasons for this new shape: first the new shapes permit more sunlight to get to all portions of the tree. Also the square or "Y"-shaped trees in a hedgerow would make it easier to use newly designed equipment that is more efficient.

Researchers are working with growers and manufacturers to design equipment that will mechanically prune, spray and harvest the fruit. The apple tree is most efficient when it is less than 10 feet high and not over 6 feet wide. Also there must be at least 4 feet between trees.

In designing new equipment, these dimensions must be considered. The all-purpose machine could be a large inverted U-shaped frame straddling a row of the boxy trees when it sprayed, pruned or harvested the fruit.

The harvesting could be done by workers on a portion of the machine and picking only fruit within his reach. Or it could be harvested by a series of shaking and catching devices. The apples would be gently deposited in large bins for transportation to the picking shed.

When used in pruning it could cut off the limbs that are too long and shred them for mulch. To put on insecticides. nozzles could be put on the frame. This could make the sprayer more efficient and at the same time have less drift of the spray material.

One researcher estimates that the apple trees must produce 678 bushels per acre to make money with the wind innovations. I think also a minimum of about 30 acres would be needed before it should be considered.

This may not happen exactly as outlined but I expect some new innovation to be developed for the commercial orchard of tomorrow. Already we have smaller trees planted closer together.

USDA Plans —

Higher Gas Bill, More Stamps

In the face of predictions for another cold winter, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) plans to ensure lower food stamp purchase prices this winter for households experiencing substantial increases in utility bills.

"We're trying to make sure the food stamp program works the way it is supposed to," Assistant Secretary Foreman said. "Last winter, some lowincome families were forced to choose between paying high utility hills and buying their food stamps. Some of these households were unaware that if they took their utility bills to the food stamp office, they would be entitled to a reduction in the cost of their stamps. In other cases, administrative procedures prevented prompt adjustment in food stamp purchase prices."

To remedy this problem, Foreman said USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) would shortly issue a notice instructing states to make procedural changes aimed at enduring adjustments in purchase prices forhouseholds bringing in increased utility bills this winter. This includes households currently certified on the Dasis of a "standard utility allowance."

The forthcoming directive will instruct states to send a notice to all food stamp households, decribing the new procedures and informing them of their right to bring increased utility bills to the food stamp office and receive an adjustment in their purchase price.

Under food stamp regulations now in effect, the amounts households must pay for their food stamps are based on their income after deductions. The principal deduction is for high shelter and utility costs. Last winter, however, when many households' utility bills rose sharply, some did not receive a corresponding increase in their shelter deduction and decrease in their purchase price.

FNS is now examining all "standard utility allowances" used by states. States are permitted to use a standard table to estimate a household's utility costs, provided they give households the option to use actual utility bills in calculating the shelter deduction.

"We want to be certain that all states using a standard utility allowance are in compliance with our requirements," Ms. Foreman said. USDA requires states to review utility standards annually to make sure they reflect current costs, she pointed out.

Many low-income organizations and several states had asked USDA to ease the likely hardships of the coming winter by implementing by Jan. 1 a provision of the new Food Stamp Act that eliminates the requirement that food stamp households must pay for their stamps. Under legislation recently signed by President Carter, households will no longer pay out one amount in cash and get back a larger amount in stamps. Instead, they will simply receive the "bonus" amount in stamps. The difference between what they would have paid and their full allotment of stamps.

"We are sympathetic to the concerns of these groups." Foreman stated, "but it would not be legal for us to eliminate the purchase requirement on Jan. 1. There is no way we can follow that course of action and remain within the law."

USDA's general counsel ruled on Oct. 26 that it would be illegal to eliminate the purchase requirement without also implementing at the same time the provisions of the new law that lower the food stamp net income limits and revamp the system of income deductions used in the food stamp program. The general counsel stated that under Section 8 (a) of the new act, the purchase requirement can be eliminated only when the new income and deduction provisions are eliminated. There is no authority in the new act for elimination of the purchase requirement separate from these other provisions, the general counsel noted.

The department plans to implement the new eligibility and deduction provisions next summer, and the purchase requirement will be eliminated at that time.

These provisions could not be implemented earlier because USDA must issue proposed regulations and then consider comments from the public, before final regulations can be prescribed. And after final regulations are issued, states will need time to retrain caseworkers, re-program computers and make other necessary preparations before these new provisions can be put into effect at the 🧓 locai level.

For Needle Blight

. Are you losing the needles from your pine or spruce tree? If so, it could be needle blight or normal needle loss.

Needle blight may only affect or cause the needle tips to lose their color or entire branches may die. In any case usually all the leaves both old and new are affected.

Needle bearing evergreens normally drop some old needles in the fall. The old leaves are on the inside of the tree - the new needles are to the end of the limb or twig. Drought or adverse weather conditions can cause needle loss - winds, coupled with low humidity, can cause rapid transpiration Lack of soil moisture. during these periods causes the cells at the needle base to dry. Then the needle either drops or becomes blighted and susceptible to invasion by weak parasitic fungi.

Although many fungi cause needle blight, the most common types in New Mexico are weak parasites or simply saprophytes living on drying tissues. Fungicide sprays and dusts have not been effective in controlling needle blights in this area. Homeowners with valuable trees that have needle blight may wish to try a fungicide as a last ditch effort to prevent additional needle drop. Fungicides recommended in other areas for needle blight control include bordeaux mixture, maneb, thiram, Fore and Phaltan.

The only satisfactory control of needle blights is to provide the best possible growing conditions for trees. Maintain a uniform water supply to the tree throughout the entire year.

FHA Projects

FHA (Future Homemkers of America) is a national organization. This is Hondo's first year with 27 active and exciting members.

The club began the year with a school carnival, sponsoring a food both to earn extra money. The group made a trip to Alamogordo for a district meeting, Pat Montes was chosen as district Vice-President. Moneymaking projects on the agenda include candy sales, raffles, super walk, bake sales, pancake supper, and much more. School and community projects are also in the making. The club is also involved with all aspects of FHA and glad to be a part of the organization.

Chili Contest Set

A chili recipe contest has been announced by Golden West Publishers. cookbook specialists. Chili cooks from all parts of the nation are invited to submit their favorite original chili recipes for inclusion in the Chili Lovers Cook Book to be published in 1978.

Good, hearty, old-fashioned and new-fashioned recipes for chili and chili variations are wanted.

Contestants may submit one or more recipes on the Official Entry Blank or a plain sheet of paper. Entries will be judged on uniqueness of recipe and on elarity and accuracy of directions.

Recipes will be selected at the discretion of the editors. Contestants retain the right to use their own recipes in other contests. Winners whose recipes are selected will receive a free copy of the Chili Lovers Cook Book on publication.

Original recipes should be mailed to Golden West Publishers, 4113 North Longview, Phoenix, AZ 85014, no later than Jan. 31, 1978. Free official entry blanks will be mailed on request.

The primary focus of the E.S.A.A. program is to establish reading and bicultural achievement programs for minority students in isolated areas. These students visited an Indian weaver, a museum, and had a cultural exchange with a group of Fiesta Dancers of Roswell,

As is known, Hondo High School is the home of the original Fiesta Dancers, and this group travels within the state and nationwide each year.

At the school, a student advisory committee was selected to serve for this year consisting of the following members: Chairman, Robert Mullis. Danny Sanchez, Andrew Herrera Ricky Montano, Novelda Gutierrez and Pat Montes. The Parent Advisory Committee met on Nov. 9, for the primary purpose of electing new officers and establishing goal prioritys for the 1977. 1978 school year. Mrs. Lynda Sanchez was elected President, Mrs. Rosalie Patterson, Vice-President, Mrs. Fideli Montoya, Secretary and members at large include Mrs. Pat Watkins and Mrs. Juanita Salas.

Corona goes for number one

The Corona Cardinals behind the play of Scott Nalda, romped to a 25-0 semi-final play-off victory over defending Class "A" Champion Carrizozo, at the Cardinal field, last Saturday afternoon.

With their victory over Carrizozo the Cardinals earned the right to face Hagerman in the Class "A" Championship game this coming Saturday at Hagerman 2:30 p.m.

After a scoreless first-half, in which the only scoring threat was made by the Grizzlies, Corona finally broke the scoreless deadlock which Nalda busting loose on a 51 yard run, with 5:33 showing in the third quarter. PAT, by the same Nalda was good; Corona 7-0.

The Grizzlies made their only scoring threat of the game when safety Bobby Ventura intercepted a Cardinal *pass at the Corona 29 yard-line. Carrizozo managed to get to the Corona 14 before the Cardinal defense stiffened. On 4th and 10 the Grizzlies tried a field-goal which failed.

With Carrizozo driving after the Cardinal T.D. at the Corona 21-yard line, a Corona defender deflects an attempted pass and (72) Myron Yancey intercepts and rambles 79 yards for another Cardinal score PAT again good by (44) Nalda, :33 left in 3rd quarter, Two plays after Carrizozo receives ensueing kick-off, and first play of 4th quarter, Scott Nalda steps in front of another Grizzly pass and returns it 44 yards for the third Cardinal TD. Speedy K. Gibbs (20) runs PAT in after fumbled placement for two points. Corona now 22-0.

Corona defense keeps putting pressure on and blocks .Grizzly punt attempt. No (33) Salinas breaking though. Corona recovers at Carrizozo 25-yard line,

After three plays gain but one yard, Scott Nalda comes in on 4th-down and boots 41-yard field goal bringing score to 25-0 Cardinals.

The Cardinals preserved their shutout when (20) Gibbs intercepted yet another Grizzly pass with 1:22 left in game. Cardinals managed to kill rest of time as gun goes off.

Outstanding player had to be Nalda, scoring two touchdowns, kicking for two PAT's and one field-goal, giving him 17 points for the game.

Grizzlies end season at 6-2-2. Corona now stands at 6-4 going into the Championship game:

Break 19 for the greatest crew any truck line ever hoped to run! Hello! Turtles, Girdles and Yo-yo, the TG&Y gang! Big Daddy and Little Mama, a fantastic couple! Catskinner and Giggles, who live with patience. Lug Nut, who is a special friend of Jabber Jaws. Lubbock Renegade, who thought I was a compatriot of his, which made us good friends. Buckeroo, Lone Ranger and Little Dummy bring up the line of these formidable charactors. Mother Nature has known all of them and their families for over six years now. Flatlander, Jabber Jaws and I have had this privelege for two years. It is very exciting to hear them break, coming around Fox Cave or down off Apache Summit. Sometimes wee can entice some of then to stop in the evening to take a coffee break, which comes in handy on those long hauls. These Truckers have lost their anonimity for some of us and have things necessary to live comfortable away from the larger cities. Besides their being great guys, they are also "good buddies" to those introuble on our highways. Thank you all! A hearty welcome for the Lincoln County News staff to Crazy Lady, the

.... Homebrew, on the Brewmaster base, has a new directional antenna. It sends or receives "this way and that way," We can't hardly hear him now over towards Capitan and Lincoln.

....Belated good wishes for recovery go to the Hounddog, who had been out of comission for five days with strep throat. Bless his heart, we hope this has now affected his sexy voice.

.... Mother Nature, Big Daddy and Lug Nut overheard this little story one night last week, while having coffee at her base: Two truckers, obviously new on the road through Mescalero, were running pretty close together coming down Apatehe Summit. The Frontdoor runner was looking for smokies around every curve and then would signal over CB for his partner to come on up. This constant chatter of "I don't see a smokey, come on!" was suddenly interupted by a voice saying: "You guys must be blind! I have been driving between you two for several miles!' Where-a- pon the trucker answered. Who is that?"Goodnaturedly the Deacon, our Deputy Sheriff of Lincoln County for the Ruidoso area, came back tothem saying! this is the Deacon, I am out here to help you, not to hassle! you, have a safe trip!" Talking about surprises in the middle of the night!

.... The Ruidoso CB'ers club members have been asked by their club president to suggest a particular Mon, night for their routine eating meeting. This Mondya night will also abe used to celebrate that Month's birthdays among club members. All serious business and voting matters will also be taken care of on that night, ... Carrizozo Hardware finally got those CB handles in. My friend bought himself one, "the Goodtimes Guitarman". Fits him like a "T".

Motor Mouse and the Tall Grease Monkey from Fort Worth, Texas, came all that way to our beaqutiful mountains for the first itme last week for deerhunting. They had intentions of going back home with a deer apiece. Well, with a little help from Mr. Weight Lifter of Capitan they did capture their trophies. This action took place in the mountains near Lincoln. T'N'T and the Weight lifter will be watching for Motor Mouse and the Tall Grease Monkey next year at this time."

....Baby Rattler hasn't long to wait. now for his little brother or sister. Grandpa Grump and Lady Grump are also quite proud of this fact.

....We saw the Old Crow in Carrizozo at the 4 Winds, where he and other Lions held a meeting. He sure looked good and we hope his health hangs in there with him. The Old Crow usually mans his base Cro's Nest when the rest of us are at the CB'ers meeting.

....Doc Holliday, take care with T'nT's back! Good night Saint and take care of Princess, White Knight!

Practice is held in the weight room of the public school. Parents may observe training.

Training consists of jumping rope, punching the bag, sparring and some weight lifting. New equipment will soon be coming, including a boxing ring, purchased with the generous donation of Mrs. A. N. Spencer.

In the future if enough interest is shown, boxing bouts will be held here in town by inviting neighboring teams to compete. In February the Golden Glove tournaments will be held in Roswell. Carrizozo may have boys trained to participate. •
