

Large crowd expected at Willard Solar Plant

About 1,000 persons are expected to attend the demonstration and dedication of a state and federal government-sponsored, experimental solar-powered irrigation system on a farm near Willard, N.M., on Friday, July 8.

Those participating in the dedication will include Governor Jerry Apodaca of New Mexico, the New Mexico Congressional Delegation, and Donald A. Beattie, Acting Assistant Administrator for Solar, Geothermal and Advanced Energy Systems, Energy Research and Development Administration. Ceremonies at the solar irrigation site, located on the Torrance County Land and Livestock Company farm about one mile south of Willard, will begin at 11 a.m.

The program will be preceded by a solar irrigation workshop at the Albuquerque Convention Center on Thursday, July 7. Both events are co-sponsored by ERDA, U.S. Department of Agriculture, the State of New Mexico, New Mexico State University (NMSU) and ERDA's Sandia Laboratories.

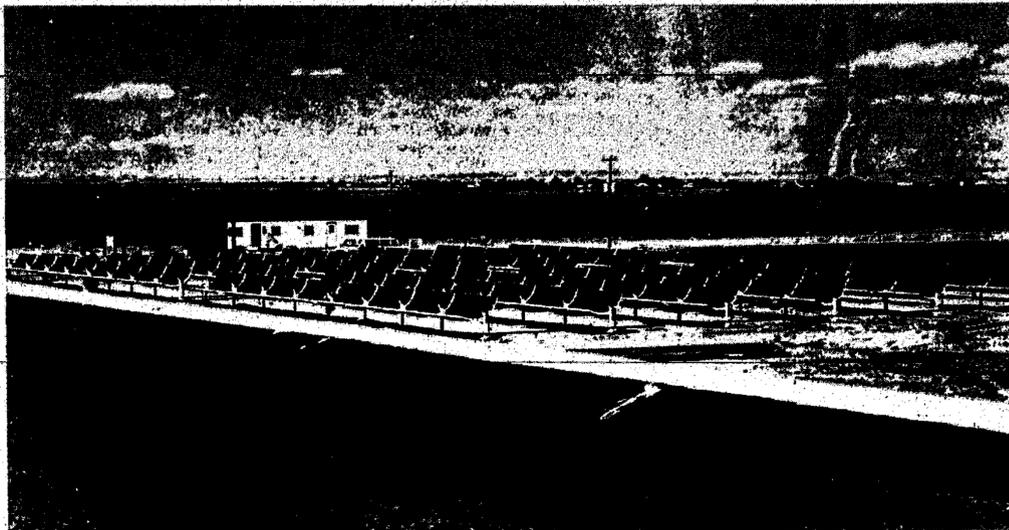

The new irrigation project is the first large-scale system to use solar energy to pump water from a well for irrigation purposes. The system consists of a field of solar collectors, an insulated thermal storage tank, a heat exchanger, a heat engine (turbine) to power the pump and a water storage pond.

The system's output of 700 gallons of water a minute from a 100-foot-deep well is expected to provide sufficient water for 100 acres, depending upon the type of irrigation and the crops grown. As part of the project, NMSU agricultural researchers are conducting experiments on the most efficient use of irrigation water.

Interested persons are invited to attend the demonstration and dedication at the Willard site and also the workshop in Albuquerque. There are no registration fees. Tickets for the July 7 banquet in Albuquerque and for the July 8 barbecue luncheon on the farm are $10 and $2 respectively.

Persons interested in attending the events should notify Lyle Wetherholt, conference chairman, by telephone (505-264-2130).

The solar-powered irrigation project at Willard, New Mexico, is the first large-scale system to use solar energy to pump water from a well for irrigation purposes. Operation of the system will be demonstrated as part of a two-day solar irrigation workshop and demonstration program on July 7-8.

P.O. DRAWER 459

CARRIZOZO, N.M. 88301

Little league stars named by coaches

Coaches and league officials from the Carrizozo Little League gathered last Monday evening and selected a league All Star team to represent the Carrizozo Little League this year.

The first game has not yet been scheduled for the All Stars, but it will be announced as soon as possible.

The final standings for the league this year saw J.G. Moore take first place with a whopping 16-1 record. Citizens State Bank came in second at 7-12, Carrizozo Fire Department and Ruidoso State Bank tied for third at 6-11.

The players who will represent the league in All Star Competition are as follows:

Ruidoso State Bank—John Vega, Alex Serna and David Deroshier.

Carrizozo Fire Department—Clarence Beltran, Frankie Silva and Buddy Hill.

Citizens State Bank—Joe Curtiss, Michael Lueras and another player to be named at a later date by Choncho Morales, Citizen State Bank team manager.

J.G. Moore Agency—Jon Aguilar, Steven Fajne, Leroy Silva, Gilbert Zamora and H.R. Miller.

The selections were made by team manager who are as follows: Choncho Morales, Citizens State Bank; Nick Serna, Ruidoso State Bank; Buddy Hill, Carrizozo Fire Department; and Peter Aguilar, J.G. Moore Agency. Aguilar will coach the All Star team this year.

It was also noted that three players will be selected at a later date to serve as alternates to the team in case any of the original members have to be replaced due to sickness, injury or any other reason.

Team practice for the All Stars is slated to begin today (Thursday) at 6 p.m. Players are asked to bring their gloves & not to wear boots to practice.

At the league meeting, it was also noted that the team was selected under tournament and rules set by the Little League Baseball Inc. tournament committee in Williamsport, Pa.

It was stated that a clear understanding of these guidelines must be adhered to by all leagues participating in district, regional and national Little League competition.

All tournament Little League play is governed under a different authority and jurisdiction from that normally observed during the playing season. It is in fact, a whole new ball game. Once the tournament season starts, authority is vested solely in the Tournament committee in Williamsport. There will be no waivers nor observance of local rules or other variations granted unless granted explicitly from the main office.

Selection of the tournament team was made under the following rules: All members of the tournament team must be 12 years league age. (May not be 13 years before Aug. 1, 1977). It is recommended that players who are graduating from Little League be given preference.

No member of the team may be younger than 11 years of age.

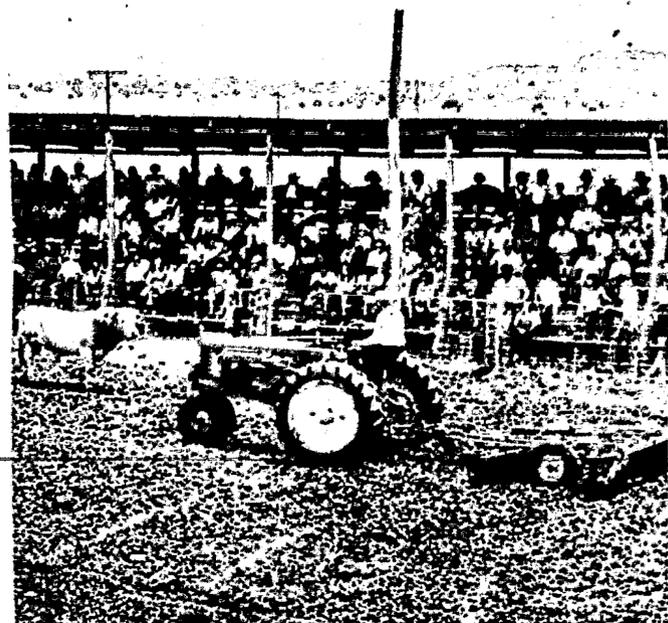

Only fourteen (14) players shall be selected.

A schedule of Carrizozo Little League tournament competition will be published as soon as it becomes available.

Road closed

Gavilan Canyon road will be closed from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. except to residents of the area until July 25.

The road has been closed during weekdays for paving by the State Highway Department. Residents of the area will be allowed to enter and exit the area as necessary.

AH, TORRO... A new event was added to final day of rodeo action at the Smokey Bear Stampede last weekend in Capitan. The "bull and tractor" competition was first seen when this large Brahma escaped from his holding pen and decided to take on the tractor driver in the rodeo arena.

County budget raised

The Lincoln County Commissioners met in a special end of the fiscal year session last Thursday and increased the county budget by some $59,000.

According to Les Olson, county manager, the general fund was used by $48,000 and the road fund received an $11,000 increase for the 1977-78 year.

Olson noted that repairs to the county courthouse and for road department equipment accounted for a substantial percentage of the increase.

Meeting in regular session last Monday, the commissioners approved a salary increase for the county manager to $15,000 annually. Olson was out of town during the Monday meeting.

Sheriff captures

two suspects

Two individuals have been apprehended by the Lincoln County Sheriff's department and have been charged with the robbery of Ralph Dunlap's home near Lincoln in Salazar Canyon along with numerous other robberies throughout the state.

Red Meador, chief criminal investigator for the sheriff's department, said yes Tuesday, that James Couch is already in the Lincoln County Jail and that Roy Hensley has been picked up in San Angelo, Texas will be extradited to Lincoln County in the near future. Both individuals have already admitted to the numerous crimes.

Dunlap's home was broken into on March 8 of this year and a television

In other business, the commissioners heard a report from Katie Rotan, New Mexico State University librarian from Lea County, who spoke on the mobile library services.

During her report, she requested $7,000 from five counties including Lincoln, Lea, Eddy, Otero and Chaves. The money, if approved, would be used to keep the mobile library service in operation. The Commissioners thanked her for her report and said they would consider the request. It was noted that the money could come from in lieu funds, but no final commitment was made.

Finally, Ted Hull, a new member of the Lincoln County Sheriff's department was commissioned to his post by the county commissioners.

The next regular meeting of the Lincoln County Commissioners will be held on July 25 at 10 a.m. The meeting will be held in the county courthouse in Carrizozo and the public is welcome to attend.

Bugs in the garden can cause problems

Gardens are being planted by many people this year. Unfortunately, gardens are popular with insects, too. In the lush growth of the garden, insect pests multiply rapidly.

Because many garden plants are very delicate and susceptible to injury, gardeners need to keep a constant check on their plants. A good grower must check his plants regularly for the presence of insect pests. Many insects may be troublesome. However, the most common species are mites, Harlequin bugs, aphids, whiteflies and potato blister beetles.

Mites (red Spiders) are quite small but often very abundant. A magnifying glass will help you to see them. Mite feeding causes spotting and russetting of the foliage. Small amounts of silken webbing on the underside of the leaves often indicate the presence of mites.

To control mite infestations use Kelthane or Orthene sprays, used according to label directions. Two treatments five to seven days apart are usually needed.

Aphids are small soft bodied insects about the size of a pinhead. They may be green, pink, yellow or black. They cluster on the underside of leaves, tender shoots and flower buds. Aphids suck sap out of the plant, causing the leaves to curl and discolor. They may eventually kill the host. Foliage with aphids may become spotted with sticky honeydew in which a black sooty mold often grows. This gives the plant an unsightly appearance. Aphids can be controlled with Malathion or Orihene.

Whiteflies are tiny, white, four-winged insects that cluster on the underside of the leaves. They fly up in clouds when a plant is disturbed. While the nymphal stages are on the underside of the leaves, they are small and difficult to detect without magnification.

Like aphids whiteflies suck plant sap and secrete honeydew. They are difficult to control because they are resistant to many insecticides commonly used by the homeowner. Severely infested plants should be sprayed three to five times at three-day intervals with Orihene or Sevin.

Harlequin bugs are a calico colored bug about a 1/2 inch long. They often invade the garden and cause severe damage to the plants. They can be controlled with Sevin or Malathion.

Potato Blister beetles are generally grey with a few white dots on them. If they are crushed on the gardener's skin they often cause a blister. They are about a half to three fourths inch long and can be controlled with Diazanone, Malathion or Sevin.

SPLASHBUCKLER

Late in 1973, an oil embargo hit this country and sent the price of gasoline and oil soaring.

At that same time, such words and phrases hit the scene as OPEC, cartel and a whole string of others that have become household terms throughout the country.

Anyway, even now, some four years later, much of the finance and distribution of crude oil from the OPEC nations is not understood by the public in general.

The following is the text of an article written by Dr. James Kirby, extension economist for New Mexico State University, that explains, very clearly, how the situation works.

His article is written in very simple language, and rather than me re-writing it, the following is the complete text of his work:

Have you ever wondered how OPEC (Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) can manage to get $12.40 for a 25 cent barrel of oil? The secret of this feat is in the strength of the organized cartel.

In the past a cartel was generally thought of as a number of companies getting together behind closed doors to agree to increase the price of their product. These companies controlled most of the production so they could successfully control the prices.

Instead of business firms, OPEC is five oil producing nations. OPEC started in 1960 with five oil producing countries namely Saudi Arabia, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait and Venezuela. Today the cartel has grown to 13 members and now control most of the oil export trade.

This kind of price setting is illegal in the United States and many other countries or nations but an organization of several countries is above the laws of any single country. However no single nation, no matter how powerful, has been able to influence these nations to lower oil prices.

While some of the OPEC nations own or have taken over ownership of oil production in their country, much of the oil production is owned by individuals and companies just as it is in the United States. The question immediately comes to mind as to whether individuals and companies are getting to pocket this large amount of money their oil brings.

The answer is no. The individuals and companies who own oil production in OPEC countries receive enough to cover production costs plus a profit. Of the $11.51 to $12.40 per barrel which the United States pays for imported oil, $11 per barrel goes to the exporting country's treasury as the amount of tax on the oil produced within its borders.

Before OPEC set prices in 1973, the governments of oil producing countries negotiated with oil producers about royalties and income tax rates but left pricing of oil to the companies. It is now clear that these countries wanted a higher posted price to get a bigger income. But companies were operating in an open market where a larger than a "profitable return to investment" would not compete in price with other oil producing countries.

By 1973 OPEC got enough member countries and enough of the total oil production to enforce their demanded price. In short, without the oil from OPEC the oil importing countries, now dependent on these imports, cannot operate their energy-gobbling economies without them. The United States' alternative is to cut consumption to the level of its production. This alternative has proven to be very unpopular. So, the United States like other oil importing countries, pays an unrealistically high price for its large oil appetite.

"The cost of developing and producing OPEC's oil fields is about 25 cents per barrel, including a 20 per cent rate of return on investment," according to K.D. Osborne of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas. "This 25 cents, the price exacted by nature, is what OPEC oil would bring in a competitive market. OPEC takes $11.00 by excise tax or $11.51 by direct sale, thus exacting a yearly revenue of some $110 billion."

The arithmetic of the tax gets rather complex. Figure first the oil-producing country's income tax (85 per cent) on the $12.40 OPEC price for Arabian light crude. The formula allows deductions for production costs (currently 25 cents), and the royalty rate. All this comes to $8.22. Now add the 20 percent royalty rate on $12.40. This increases the $8.22 to $10.70. To this amount OPEC countries add 30 cents for "minor payments and discounts." The total tax is $11 per barrel of crude oil.

For a cartel to operate successfully over a long period of time, its members must work together in their decisions. Additionally, and most importantly, the OPEC cartel must be able to enforce established prices and quotas upon its members. Of course taking billions of dollars in revenue is not a hardship that any of the OPEC nations have found difficult to take.

Eight other oil producing nations have now joined the OPEC Cartel. They are: Qatar, Indonesia, Libya, Abu Dhabi, Algeria, Nigeria, Ecuador and Gabon. Of all the 13 nations in OPEC, Saudi Arabia is the largest oil producer with 26 per cent of OPEC production. The tiny country, Kuwait, is the second largest producer with 17 per cent, followed by Iran with 16 per cent.

Ancho UPW holds meeting

The regular meeting of the Ancho UPW was held at the home of Susan Hightower, preceded by a covered dish luncheon.

President Beth Hightower opened the meeting with a special welcome to June Scholes, wife of our new pastor.

Ruth Wilson gave the devotional reading Saturday Morning Down Town from Guideposts and closed with prayer.

Knollen McDaniel lead the study on the 5th and 6th Chapters of the study book "How to solve conflicts," with group discussions.

Minutes were approved as read. Treasurers report was given.

Susan Hightower gave a detailed report on her attendance of the National Meeting of Task Force on Women held recently in Detroit.

A thank you to all the members was given by President Beth and also by Mrs. Scholes for all the work done.

Meeting was closed with prayer by Linda Caldwell for names of Missionaries read in Circle of Fellowship.

Social Security shows film

"A new film about the supplemental security income (SSI) program is featured in programs the Roswell social security office can arrange for civic groups, schools, clubs, and organizations," Dan Mathis, social security field representative, said today.

The 20-minute color film, produced by the Social Security Administration, is called "SSI Can Make the Difference." Through personal experiences, it shows how the SSI program makes monthly payments to over 4.3 million people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 or over or blind or disabled.

People can get information about showing "SSI Can Make the Difference," to their group or organization by calling 622-7780 in Roswell or 885-3083 in Carlsbad, or write to Box 1378, Roswell, N.M. 88201.

Zozo FFA elects officers

The Carrizozo FFA had their 1977 election of officers. The president for the next year will be Billy Bob Shafer; vice president is Timmy Curtiss; secretary is Lee Vega; reporter is Lisa Ferguson; treasurer is Mich Colwell; and sentinel is Rex Wilson.

The horse judging team consisting of Tim Curtiss, Maurita Lovelace, Phil Straley, and Billy Bob Shafer will travel to Albuquerque in July for the National FFA Horse Judging Contest. They won 1st place in the State Contest.

The FFA plans many money making and fun activities for the coming year and are looking forward to doing their best in all their coming events.

"Enduring Truth"

It is considered important by some for folks to "join a church." Yet, where is the Bible example and authority for such action and custom? Every person who believes in the inspired Word of God needs to become a part of a church. Yet, one does not obtain membership just as if he was joining some civic group. The term "join" is not used anywhere in GOD'S Word in discussing church membership. In studying the Divine record in Acts 2 regarding the beginning of the church, we find that "the Lord ADDED to the church daily such as should be saved." ACTS 2:47

By Gary Dollahan
New Mexico Department of Game and Fish

Well, it must be antelope survey time once again. I just heard our area game manager kick his trash can over and utter unmentionable phrases at survey maps piled up on his desk. It seems that each year at this time he is prone to do this periodically. Then he settles back into his naturally placid self and continues on with his work.

To understand why a person would react in such a manner we must go back to the year 1966. It was during this year that a surveying procedure was set up on all major antelope herds in the state. This procedure insures that all units will be flown on a rotational basis. A schedule of flights for a three year period was set up and this rotation has continued up to this time.

The rotation system along with setting up the proper flight units, arranging for district personnel as observers, filling out the necessary forms and checking his farmers almanac for the most favorable weather conditions all add to the mental strain on our game manager.

The actual flying of the surveys is one of the most important phases of our antelope management program in New Mexico. It is from the information collected on our flights that we determine if a population is to be hunted, if it should be an either-sex or buck only hunt and the number of licenses that should be allotted per management unit.

To obtain the necessary information for these decisions, we actually fly two different types of surveys. The first must take place each year between the first of May and the 15th of June. These are our population surveys and as mentioned before, are flown on a rotational basis. The flight unit on a population survey is divided into north and south strips and all antelope along the strips counted. From these counts we can determine an approximate population size and the ratio of males to females.

Population surveys provide us with information on how the antelope population maintains itself through the winter but they lack the necessary component for information on population increases for the year. To obtain this component our second type of survey is utilized. The fawn crop or fawn survival surveys begin on the tenth of July each year.

As the name implies this survey is a count of fawns within each unit. The later starting date than our population surveys is necessary to insure that the fawns will be mature enough to be traveling with the adult animals. It is also late enough in the year that the majority of the fawns will survive to become adults. As on the population surveys, all antelope seen are counted and a buck; doe; fawn ratio is obtained.

Once all the information has been gathered another stress period begins for our game managers. He must now sort the information out by management units, compare it with last year's dates and distribute the combined results to our district personnel. After they have had a chance to review the information he must meet with each one and decide which units may be hunted and which should be rejected for the year.

The next meeting will be in Roswell July 25. At that time both agencies will present existing data supporting the proposal and determine if more information is needed. An explanation of existing legislation and fence modification programs in other states will also be on the agenda, and the BLM will discuss their overall planning for long-range use... of the public lands in the area.

After 3 weeks —

Zamora found

The body of Emilio Zamora, 67, of Ft. Stanton was found last week after he was reported missing some three weeks ago.

Lincoln County Sheriff's reported that Zamora's body was discovered by Margie Wilson of Capitan some two and a half miles east of U.S. 380. Apparently Zamora had been dead some 16 to 18 days.

A preliminary coroner's report listed exposure as the probable cause of death. Zamora was born in Lincoln and had been a resident of the county all his life.

Area youths compete in Jr. Olympics

Four Lincoln County youths traveled to Albuquerque last weekend to compete in the state Junior Olympics track and field meet.

Representing our area were Lisa and Kenneth Crenshaw of Carrizozo along with Robert and David Parker of Capitan.

Lisa received a first place in the shotput for girls in her class and also captured sixth place in the 100 yard dash.

Kenneth took third place in the 100-yard dash and fifth place in the shot put competition. Robert Parker took second place in the hurdles and also a fifth place in the long jump.

Individuals placing third or higher in the competition are eligible to compete in the regional Junior Olympic track meet which will be held in El Paso on July 27.

Group agrees to antelope study

At an all day meeting in Roswell last week, public land ranchers, the U.S. Bureau of Land Management and the New Mexico Game & Fish Department all agreed that more facts were needed before beginning a controversial fence modification program to benefit antelope herds.

The proposal to modify selected net wire fences on public land to permit easier passage of antelope was announced by the BLM in December 1976. The announcement followed nearly four years of study by BLM. The BLM says that some fences should be raised or lowered or changed from net wire to barbed wire so that antelope can move freely over the area west of Roswell. The Game & Fish Department agrees in principle to the proposal.

Area ranchers, concerned that the proposed fence changes will affect the economics of their livestock operations and increase predation, are seeking a thorough study of the problem before any fences are changed.

At yesterday's meeting Arthur W. Zimmerman, State Director of BLM agreed that baseline data is needed in some areas. Zimmerman also said that no fences would be modified until a satisfactory study was agreed upon. William Huey, Director of the New Mexico Game & Fish Department agreed that some more work was needed. Both agencies will prepare a detailed analysis of existing data before the next meeting of this group.

H.W. "Bud" Eppers, President of the Southwestern New Mexico Grazing Association, which represents the ranchers involved in the proposal, commented that he felt that this meeting had helped to overcome a communication gap which has existed between the agencies and the ranchers.

The group also agreed that all future meetings would be open to the press, that minutes would be kept and that membership in the group would be limited to persons designated by each

By Margaret Rench

What happiness and joy we had when the rain began June 30 through July 4, we have had over two inches of good rain. At this moment July 5 it is raining lightly. Oh, but we do appreciate this good moisture. It was so very, very, dry and hot before this started.

The crowds from July 1 thru the 3 were immense and very orderly. The rodeo was excellent. The stock was all new and better than ever. This was one of the best put together rodeos. Everyone turly did enjoy their time with us. The fourth was very quiet as everyone had left. So many old friends meet here.

The parade Sunday morning was successful. The barbecue was delicious. Thanks to everyone for helping to make it a success.

The Rancher's Camp meeting on Nogal Mesa will be held July 20-24. Remember the date.

Maxine Wright our Post Mistress returned to her duties at the Post Office Monday morning after being off 10 days on dental surgery in Roswell.

Eltha Merrell has returned home after visiting her son Col. Eugene Merrell and wife Colleen in AFB Kincheloe, Michigan. This base will close September 1. She took a trip through the locks of Lake Superior and also visited points in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilario Trujillo and Ida accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nunez their daughter and daughter-in-law to Palmdale, California where they visited their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Clemente Candelario and family Mr. and Mrs. Steve Johnson and Anthony and had such a grand time returned home several days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilario Trujillo recently purchased the trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Griego and moved it near their home on fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Griego moved into his father Jake Griego's house on west third street.

Lloyd Engelking and cousin Mike Farris of Midway, Texas spent all of the fourth of July holiday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engelking. They left Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Starks and three daughters of Lancaster, California passed thru Capitan last Saturday and stopped to visit me for a short time. Mrs. Starks is the former Judy Lobb. She tried to find some of her friends. They left home June 12. Toured Colorado, Oklahoma, Arizona, Texas and New Mexico. They were in their motor home and drove on to Ruidoso for a visit and were going to be back at their home July 3. It was great seeing them.

Emelita Jenkins, and her family from Roswell, Sam Jenkins and family and Bobby of Clovis and their sister Mr. and Mrs. Goodrum and son of Picacho. All were so happy to meet their friends here. Emelita is employed by the Roswell Fire Department as secretary. It was good to see Mr. and Mrs. Sid Goodloe of Roswell.

Raymond and Lahoma Burkes of El Reno, Oklahoma are spending their vacation at South Fork where they come every summer. Raymond was reared in Capitan and attended school here. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. S.A. Burkes. He is a railroad conductor. He loves this country and never meets a stranger. I enjoyed having them and hope they do come again.

Junior and Grace Leslie brought his father Ben Leslie to Capitan last Saturday July 2 and they took a room at Smokey Bear Motel for one week so he could be here and meet his friends then they journeyed on to Roswell to spend the holidays. They will return for him next Saturday. Ben was 85 years of age last January. He went via plane from El Paso and spent six weeks in Sun Valley, California visiting Gwendolyn, Jerry and Sherman and their families. He now has two great-grandchildren. He

The News, July 7, 1977 - Page 8 had a grand time and then came to Tucson and visited Beula and Jimmy Kent. Then home not long before Fathers Day. That day all of the children joined him and he had a great day. They took him out for dinner.

Ben is having a good time visiting friends, and we all enjoy him.

Annie Petree of Portales, visited friends here during the holidays. Emelio Zamora of Carrizozo was missing three weeks. Last Saturday morning Marjorie Wilson was riding the range and checking the calves in the pastures near Ft. Stanton and came upon Emelio's body north of Highway 380 in the pasture. His daughter Lisa, Mrs. Victor Ramirez and family live at Ft. Stanton.

Fort Stanton

by Dolly Lawson

Our Fourth of July float for the Smokey Bear Round-up Parade was completed. The theme is "Round-up for Community Placement". The float is decorated to show a corral, branding activities, and will have bales of hay for the students to sit on. Jane Erwin designed the float with assistance from Abbey Baldwin, Bill Morris, Arron Price, and our student aides. Recreation classes for three days have been devoted to decorating the float.

The children did the work and enjoyed it tremendously. The adults supervise and help correct mistakes but the float was basically the work of the students here at the Fort. Eddy Cottage had a field trip to Alamogordo on Thursday. Coming back the bus had fuel pump problems. They had to stop three times before finally making home. Wayne Holbrook and Al Sanchez, Client Service Agents, have been assigned to work the boys from

Eddy Cottage. Christine Wood is the other Client Service Agent working with the Eddy Cottage group. Other new employees who are working as attendants are Michael Arraneo, Carrie Billie, Dorothy Hein. Employees who have transferred over include Eddie Jones, Rudy Garcia, and Rudi Chavez. Bill Morris is the QMBP and Vic Rameriz is his assistant. Elizabeth Pittman is the afternoon lead worker. Allergo Trujillo, Mona Griego, Norman Ham, Steve Moro, and Charlene Whitner are the other attendants who have been in Eddy Cottage for longer periods of time. Dr. B.D. Hume is another new employee. He has joined the medical staff at the Infirmary. Dr. Hume is from Houston, Texas and is now living in Nogal. Dr. Service is our staff physician. He resides in Capitan and has worked at Fort Stanton for several years. Our nursing staff is headed by Connie Hines, JoAnn Bryum and Mrs. Price are our other registered nurses. We have LPNs and attendants working in the infirmary to assist in services to all of our residents. There will be a Communication Workshop offered by Eastern sometime during July. A definite date has not been set to date. The course will have both graduate-undergraduate college credit offered. The basic subject material will be on special education. The weather has been so hot the staff has decided to have an old fashion ice cream social on July 21. Ice cream will be made and served from 1:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m. for all students and staff of Fort Stanton. We need to borrow ice cream freezers to make enough for our 170 students and 173 staff members. Not all children are here during the summer and several of our staff members will be on leave but that still leaves a lot of people to make ice cream for. Volunteers from the staff will mix the ice cream and students will do the turning. I think it will be a lot of fun and hope that everyone else will join in the fun. Hildago and Socorro Cottage are going on an overnight camp out this weekend. Corky McEuen, Arron Price, and Ward Lockhart are going as chaperones. We will have weekly campouts at established camps during the month of July. Our girls will be going on all day hikes at Bonita Lake. We plan to take several short trips for outdoor classroom projects rather than longer trips. There was a major hail storm at the Fort on Friday. The storm lasted

The News, July 7, 1977 - Page 9 almost an hour. All streets were flooded and the ground was covered by hail. Some of the hail was very large. It was the worst rain-hail storm I have seen in a long time. We have several summer aides working at Fort Stanton this summer. Many are junior and seniors in high school. Several are assigned to the education department. I have nothing but praise for the work they are doing. So many adults have difficulty adjusting to working with the mentally retarded and many adults simply cannot tolerate being near a child with drooling problems. Our young people have come to work and are eager to help the children. They work on

Job openings

The greatest number of job openings in a specific occupation, 1700 a year, is expected for secretaries. Other occupations with large numbers of job openings projected include salesworkers, waiters and waitresses, bookkeepers, nurses and nurse aides, truck drivers, automobile mechanics and welders. On the other hand, over two dozen occupations ranging from baggage porters to urban planners show little or no job expansion.

Detailed information for these and more than 150 other job titles is in the occupational section of the report, including the long term employment outlook for each job at the national, state and local levels. The report also contains a list of colleges, technical vocational schools and trade unions in the state which provide the specialized training necessary in many fields. A section which matches an individual's interests and capabilities with specific jobs concludes the study.

language development, recreation, basic self help skills, and personal grooming. So often teenagers have been unkind to the mr but not our group. Lilly Montes, Debbie Dalton, and Billy Herrera are all assigned to Eddy Cottage. They have done an outstanding job helping in the summer program.

Our mr students are able to relate to them sometimes more easily because of the nearness in age. Working in Sierra are Darlene Herrera, and Nelvda Sanchez. Arron Price and Steve Romero are in Recreation. All of these aides deserve a high commendation for their efforts. They join in all activities -- hikes, swimming, moon walk, train ride, cookouts and never complain. The only complaint I've had this summer was from Lilly. I started to reassign her to another group and I was voted down. She and the people working with her group have so many plans and are enjoying seeing the boys learn that she just could not leave them. I appreciate this type of dedication from young people. Today we hear so many bad things about teenagers that seeing a group like we have makes us feel better. These young people are serious about their work. They do not take long breaks and hide out. They are at work early, ask questions on how to help the mr students, donate their time for hikes and campouts, come back for the weekly dances, assist on field trips, and even volunteer to help at the parade. These students are mature for their ages and we all appreciate having them work with us this summer. I hope that they will help other young people to understand that our mentally retarded residents are not bad to work with and that you soon come to feel that they are not so different. As Lilly said, "I love my group of little kids and I want to stay with them all summer." We hope that many of the summer aides return after they graduate and go to work for us. Several are going to college and possibly will become special education teachers. I cannot praise the group working in education enough. I feel that they are a major reason the summer program is so successful.

From the day of the Declaration of Independence the people of North America were no longer the fragment of a distant empire. They were a nation, asserting as of right, & maintaining by war, its own existence. A nation was born in a day, said John Quincy Adams -- commemorating the birth of their nation.

It is the anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776. Strange as it may seem, the fourth of July is not a national legal holiday, for no legislation declaring it to be such has ever been enacted by Congress. However, the day is celebrated throughout the Union, and in all the states but Kansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, and South Carolina it has been designated a legal holiday by statute.

By the many guests in Nogal the 4th was celebrated and the weather was cool, we even had a bit of rain.

A Pinch of Health
A startling new discovery shows how arteries can cleanse themselves without surgery. Just as your skin can cast out thorns, your arteries can cast out lumps when you stop building them up with the wrong foods. People say things like: "I learned how to eat, and avoided major surgery. No pain no scars! Saved thousands. Cholesterol, blood pressure, and tri glycerides are reduced to normal. Ear noises and dizziness are gone, and my memory is better. You can read all about it in an exciting booklet by the original discoverer. It tells which familiar foods to eat. Stale food vs. Fresh Food by Robert S. Ford.

A couple of facts about July. July, the month of Julius, is the seventh month of the year, according to the modern calendar. The earliest Roman calendar made it the fifth month, and gave it the name of Quintilis, which means fifth but it had the honor to be the birth month of the Great Julius Caesar, and when his calendar reform went into effect, it was rechristened for him. Previous to Caesar's time, it had but thirty days, but in pride he added an extra day, to give it the same length as the longest months.

A bit of Sewing!
Scarves can be made with leftover knitting worsted and sew them together to make a scarf.

Our recipe this week - Pecan Cookies - this is an easy one.
1 cup brown sugar and 1/2 lb. butter creamed well. Add one egg yolk, cream again. Add 2 cups sifted flour no vanilla. Make into balls size of hickory nut, press pecan half in center, bake 12 minutes at 325.

FUDGE SQUARES
2oz. chocolate, 4 tbsps. milk, 4 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 cup flour, 1 cup nuts chopped.

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs one at a time, beat after each addition. Add milk and flour alternately, add chocolate, nuts and vanilla. Spread in cookie pan and bake 25 minutes at 375. Ice with following.

Discharge program

As of June 6 nearly 40,000 inquiries had been received under the special discharge review program announced April 5. Of these inquiries, about 24,500 (61 percent) were found eligible for review under the special program.

Of the eligible cases, approximately 16,200 had received undesirable discharges; 8,000 had received general discharges, and 300 had received clemency discharges. Case reviews began in early May, and by June 3 of this year 6,541 administrative discharges had been upgraded to honorable or general. About 84 percent (5,489) of these had been undesirable discharges.

During the Vietnam era (Aug. 4, 1964 through Mar. 28, 1973), some 173,000 undesirable discharges were issued. It is estimated that 17,500 of these have since been upgraded. This estimate includes the 5,489 mentioned earlier as well as those upgraded through established discharge review procedures prior to announcement of the special program. Recipients of upgraded discharges are eligible to apply for veterans benefits.

The special discharge review program also contains provisions applicable to Vietnam era deserters who are still at large. As of June 6, there had been 539 deserter inquiries, of which 445 were determined to be eligible to participate in the program. Those eligible, 239 had actually returned to military control, been separated, and applied to have their discharges reviewed for possible upgrading.

The special discharge review program is still underway and interested individuals are encouraged to telephone the Joint Liaison office in St. Louis, Mo., to determine eligibility and make application for review and upgrade of a general or undesirable discharge.

Veterans who received a general or undesirable discharge during the Vietnam era should call toll-free 800-325-4040 for all locations in the U.S.

Special discharge review program will continue through Oct. 4, 1977. Special discharge review boards established by the military departments will remain in session until all cases have been reviewed.

DO YOU NEED A WANT AD

S.S. payments

Social security disability payments generally cannot start immediately after people become disabled as the law requires a 5-month waiting period, according to Dan Mathis, social security field representative.

A disabled person should file his application as soon as possible after becoming disabled. During the 5-month waiting period examiners get the medical records from doctors, hospitals, and other institutions that treated the disabled person. Any charge for these records is paid for by the applicant. Later, additional medical information may be necessary, and the disabled individual may be asked to undergo additional tests and examinations. If so, the Government pays for those.

"Medical decisions on whether or not people are disabled under social security law are made by doctors and other disability experts in the Disability Determination Unit in Albuquerque. They evaluate the medical condition and consider the vocational factors of age, education, training, and work experience," Mathis explained.

Work requirements are also checked during the waiting period. Most workers need 6 1/2 years of work under social security, with 5 years of it in the 10 years before they became disabled. For workers disabled before age 31, the requirement scales down to as little as 1 1/2 years, depending on age.

The free booklet, "If You Become Disabled" is available from any social security office.

Mathis may be contacted at the County Commissioner's Room in the Courthouse in Carrizozo on Tuesday, July 19, between the hours of 10-12.
