On July 19, Economic Development Specialist, Ms. Sharylee Clark from the State Department of Industrial Development visited with Chamber President Mary Rich and office staff to advise them of the availability of assistance from the Department of Development Office.

Ms. Clark informed the Chamber that it has an excellent chance of being funded to develop and print up a brochure for industrial promotion in our community. She brought sample brochures and manuals which will help the Carrizozo Chamber design a brochure promoting our particular advantages to industrialists in and out of the state.

Congratulations to the "Big Eight." The following businesses in Carrizozo are right on top of the action and by their immediate support in making their membership dues current for this year shows definite and positive faith in the future of our community. Mental health program

Federal money is now available for the establishment of a Community Mental Health Program in District VI which includes the five southeastern counties of the state, Lincoln, Otero, Chaves, Eddy and Lea.

A community Mental Health Program is defined as a service that promotes communication and interaction between those who have problems and those who feel they can help.

Local individuals are now forming a committee to explore the possibilities of establishing such a comprehensive program. A Planning Council, made up of people from District VI will decide what local services should be initiated or expanded, based on information supplied by the community. Joe Orsack is the Planning Task Force chairman for Lincoln County and Lori Needer is the staff interviewer for planning in Lincoln County. Lori is currently interviewing in the county and hopes to complete her work by July 29. After the interviews are completed, the planning staff will prepare reports to the Planning Council and then report back to the various agencies interviewed.

Range caterpillars are hatching in county

Range caterpillars are hatching in northeast Lincoln County and are expected to be found over 800,000 acres, Gerald Neilson with the New Mexico Department of Agriculture gave this report to the 40 landowners meeting at the Roadrunner South Ranch on July 18th.

The majority of the caterpillars have hatched in the last ten days & are about three quarters of an inch long. They have not started to do much damage, yet, but two caterpillars per square yard can eat as much as a cow. If a spray program is to be effective they need to be sprayed within three to four weeks.

After reviewing this information, the ranchers in the area decided to form county committees. The Lincoln County Committee is Bob Marley, Eddie Goodman, Raymond Chawin, Frank Sultemeier, Bob Byrd, Jr. and Don Bogie. Chaves & De Baca counties also have range caterpillar committees. These committee members will contact their neighbor to see if they want to go into a cooperative spray program & let the County Agent know by Monday July 25.

Anticipated cost of the program is $1.50 per acre with the rancher paying one-third of this cost on private and state land. Federal land inside the spray area will be sprayed with federal funds. The ranchers at the meeting decided that a complete block would need to be sprayed otherwise the cost of the spray program would be lost.

Still no rain at all. It is so very dry and hot. The Ranchers Camp Meeting will start Wednesday July 20 thru 24 therefore maybe rains will start. Our prayers are for that. Do meet your friends there. It's such a lovely relaxing experience.

Here is another good place to go and enjoy. Everyone is invited to attend open house at Chief Bernardos just west of Lincoln July 23 and 24. It is 9 1/2 mile marker, Lincoln, New Mexico. 1.5 miles west of Lincoln. A Santa Fe Artist, Eleanor Engstrom's oil paintings will be on exhibit. Engstrom took up painting again 6 years ago after 20 years of raising a family. She majored in fine arts at the University of New Mexico, where she took lessons under internationally known Randal Davey. Also during her educational years she had the pleasure of studying under Joseph Bakos, John Skolie and Alfred Marong. In the early 70's when Eleanor decided to take up painting again she took a class under Ted Klaus and Maruice Lorlaux to brush up on drawing and painting. She has shown her work at Santa Fe banks, mini art shows, shops in Santa Fe and a shop in Copperra Cove, Texas.

This should be a very interesting show and maybe you might find something you will like. Do go and enjoy it all.

A total of 21 states, Canada, Netherlands, France and England as well as 27 students from the YCC at Pie Town was represented in visitors at the Smokey Bear Museum this last week.

Progress goes on in Capitan. The Barrel was sold and moved, that corner was graded and it looks great. The Herbert Lee Traylor addition to the brick business building is finished and a walk is being prepared for cement. It is a good looking building.

The Frances Vigil home has been painted white with turquoise trim. Joe Gallegos house has been painted a pretty yellow with white trim. There are so many changes for the good and so many persons interested and that means we go forward.

To Raymond Burks, El Reno, Oklahoma - The Raymond Padilla address is 300 East Deming, Roswell, New Mexico 88201. They both are not in to good health at this time.

The Roswell Record had a picture of Junior Dean and his racing car on the front page last Sunday. The drag races were held at the old Roswell airport Sunday July 17. Good luck Junior.

The Capitan Methodist Church fellowship dinner and meeting was held last Sunday at their church with a large crowd as usual attending. Mr. and Mrs. Friday Sherrill, Margaret Lane and Alice Wright of Carrizozo attended.

An Army Convoy of 22 vehicles pass thru Capitan Saturday morning traveling toward Ruidoso. It always is of a great interest to see them.

Mr. and Mrs. M.B. Frances and family visited the Smokey Bear Museum Sunday. They were living in Capitan when Smokey was found.

Allie Taylor held a birthday party at her home July 10 honoring her two year old great grand daughter whose happy day it was. She is Carrie Robins daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Robins of Costa Mesa, California. Her grand parents Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Crandall of Roswell attended. I appreciated a visit from Louise Hummel of Lincoln last Wednesday. Thank you.

Robert Powell, where ever you are if this paper reaches you, let me hear from you. Your father, Leo Powell passed away May 8 and was laid to rest in the Capitan Cemetery May 13. Why can't we contact you? His friends were loyal thru it all. Leo always said you could be contacted thru the police in 15 minutes. But to no avail. They worked for five days and no contact. There were plenty Robert Powells but not the right one. His possessions are in storage for you. Let us hear soon. I do wish you success where ever you are but truly this should come first.

Jack Young returned from two weeks fishing vacation in Alvin, Texas last week with lots of good fish. He took his boat and had a great time. Every moment was enjoyed. As usual he gave senior citizens and many other friends fish. Deep sea trout and they were delicious, all of us appreciated those fish and I am going to say thank you from all of us. We are happy that you had such a good trip and hope you can have many more.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cox of Nogal received the sad news of the death of their 18 year old grandson of Sun Down, Texas. He was hit by a car and killed instantly. He was laid to rest at Plainview. My sympathy is extended to that bereaved family.

Info given for sunburns

Want to get a good, painful, blistering sunburn?

It's easy. Just stay out in the sun in your shorts or swim suit all day on the first truly hot, sunny day of the summer season. You'll get your burn.

Or, do you want to begin picking up a summer tan without burning?

That's easy, too. Just follow the simple rules of the American Medical Association: 15 to 20 minutes the first day; 20 to 25 minutes the second day; 25 to 30 minutes the third day; 30 to 35 minutes the fourth day. Thereafter base exposure time on the degree of redness and tenderness of your skin. The shorter exposures are for those with light skin; the longer times are for darker skin.

Remember this about tanning -- it can't be rushed. Trying to rush it will only result in a burn. The burned skin will peel, leaving you pale and pink again.

Of course, the AMA also points out that there is no health value in tanning. In fact, it contributes to early aging, and wrinkling of the skin, and to proliferation of skin cancer. But if you insist on a tan, start slow and build up gradually.

Consider the time of day for your suntanning. The sun's rays are most potent between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., standard time. You won't get much tan before 8 a.m. or after 4 p.m., standard time. Don't forget that you can burn on cloudy days, on the water, and at high altitudes.

Suntan lotion can be helpful in preventing a burn and promoting a tan. The lotions contain a chemical sun screen that absorbs some of the rays, while letting others through. They also contain a lubricant to keep the skin from drying out too quickly. Suntan lotions must be reapplied at least once every two hours, and whenever the film may have worn off or washed off.

If you burn -- ointments, wet compresses and soothing lotions will help the discomfort. A bland cold cream or a lightweight mineral oil may be applied to the skin. If the pain is excessive or if extensive blistering is present, consult your physician.

Phone tax fought by N.M. Senator

U.S. Senator Pete Domenici has joined an effort to repeal an unfair telephone tax that will cost New Mexicans an estimated $625,000 in the next five years.

Domenici said that the federal excise tax is presently 5 per cent of a users phone bill now and will be phased out entirely by 1982.

However, for the intervening five years, this tax is enacted in New Mexico as a "retailer tax", thus taxing not only a phone users basic charge for service, but also taxing the state excise tax as well, under a recent IRS ruling.

"This is an unfair tax-upon-a-tax that will cost New Mexicans hundreds of thousands of dollars in the next five years," Domenici explained.

Our bill would estimate this double taxation, which affects only 18 states in the nation, and will restore the original Congressional intent of the federal excise tax.

We never intended that our federal tax would increase in impact by being placed on the state excise tax. The bill I am pushing will restore basic justice," Domenici noted.

In the 18 affected states, it is estimated that consumers will pay about $45 million during the next five years in extra taxes that Congress never intended to levy, Domenici added.

Brides must change their name with S.S.

"Now that June brides are back from their honeymoon, they need to be reminded to change their name with social security," Dan Mathis, social security field representative, said today.

"No matter in which month she's married, a bride should give us her new name so we can keep her social security card and her earnings record accurate and up to date. Then earnings she had both before and after her marriage can be correctly credited to her record.

"Earnings women have in jobs covered by social security will determine the amount of their cash benefits -- not just when they retire -- but potential benefits in case of death, disability, and Medicare benefits in the future.

"To get her name changed on her record," Mathis explained, "a new bride can call or write any social security office. A new card will be issued showing the old number and new name."

Mathis may be contacted at the County Commissioner's Room in the Courthouse in Carrizozo on Tuesday, July 19, between the hours of 10-12.

Armstrong passes

Ruth K. Armstrong of Carrizozo recently passed her New Mexico Real Estate Salesmans Exam and is now selling real estate for Rominger and Associates in Carrizozo.

She was very fortunate in that she got her license prior to the June 17 deadline. Any person wanting to obtain a salesmans license after that date must attend a school, approved by the State Real Estate Commission, consisting of 60 class hours.

Ruth passed the exam the first time she took it.

"Operation Game Thief" nabs four men & $2,240

A long distance telephone call from southeastern New Mexico to Santa Fe usually costs only a handful of dimes and quarters for several minutes of conversation. However, last week, two such calls cost four men a total of $2,240.00 in court costs, fines and civil damages, and netted the anonymous callers $250.00 each.

The phone calls, made via the Department of Game and Fish "Operation Game Thief" toll free number, tipped conservation officers of illegal possession of deer meat.

"Operation Game Thief", initiated June 1, was the public's answer to the Departments plea to get the public concerned with game and fish violations, after a research study showed poachers may be taking as many as 88,000 deer a year, illegally in New Mexico. The research project also showed the public to be apathetic toward game and fish violations as only one of forty-three persons observing big news violations during the study reported it to authorities.

Prior to the June initiation date, minimum rewards, a reward fund, a task force, and a toll free number were established.

Minimum rewards of $50.00 for small game and fish violations and $250.00 for big game violations were set to be paid from a reward fund financed entirely by public donations.

A task force, 16 members strong and representing the four quarters of the State, was formed to disburse the reward money and decide upon higher reward payments for more flagrant violations. Among the members are Phelps White, Roswell, Gene Echols, Clovis, Huck Hale, Alamogordo and Tom Thornton of Carlsbad.

A toll free number, 1-800-432-GAME, was added to the Department's Law Enforcement Division in Santa Fe. And, a code system was established to guarantee callers anonymity, yet identify them for reward payment arrangements.

The program got off to a slow start with a few calls coming in and some small game cases being made; but, July looks like the month that "Operation Game Thief" has established itself as a valid law enforcement technique.

The first big game case in the state was made in the Ruidoso area last Friday. Game and Fish Officers Tim Barraclough, Ruidoso and Joel Pafford of Carrizozo followed the caller's tips and found two Ruidoso men Garry C. Keith, 20, and Larry P. Duke, 21, with illegally possessed deer meat.

Magistrate J.R. Wheeler fined the two men $400 each, suspending $200 of each fine. The department assessed $100.00 in civil damages.

Only a few hours after the Ruidoso arrests, northeast area officers following a game thief phone call arrested two men in the Cimarron area for illegally killing and possessing an antelope. $400.00 fines were assessed each man and one was sentenced 30 days in jail. The other man had a six month jail sentence suspended, but paid an additional $150.00 fine on a marijuana charge.

The Game & Fish Department assessed civil damages of $300.00 against the two for the loss of the antelope.

Then on Wednesday, the toll free number was ringing again from southeastern New Mexico, this time involving the Alamogordo area.

Officers Barraclough and Pafford joined their Alamogordo District Supervisor Roy Owen in the investigation, again involving a deer. Two Alamogordo men Kenneth Tidwell, 65, and Ronald Mitchum, 35, were arrested and found guilty of illegally killing and possessing a deer. Both men were fined $400 on both counts, and therefore paid $810.00 each in fines and court costs. An additional $100.00 was assessed for civil damages.

Game & Fish violation fines are criminal penalties and go into the State School Fund; the civil assessments go into the Department's Game Protection Fund.

Presently, as law enforcement division officers await the ring of another concerned citizens call, officers are investigating information from numerous calls received over the toll free number line, 1-800-432-GAME.

If you know of a game law violation, report it. It can be most rewarding both to you and to the state's wildlife.

Driver's license review set

The Department of Motor Vehicles began a new driver's license review program on July 1 that will check non-payment of penalty assessment records and failure to appear in court records for each driver upon license renewal.

Persons whose record indicates that they have any outstanding traffic violations, or who have failed to appear in court, will not be issued a New Mexico driver's license until they have received a clearance from the proper authorities.

The new driver review program, which was passed by the New Mexico Legislature during its 1977 session, was adopted because of the loss of revenue experienced in many municipalities by persons failing to pay fines on traffic violations.

Individual driver license records, under the new legislation, will be checked as records permit for all previous traffic violations. Failure to appear in court records are kept by individual municipal-county courts and the Court Administrator in Santa Fe.

Persons who have outstanding traffic violations or failure to appear in court records are urged to clear up their records before attempting to get driver's license renewal.

LISA SPARKS has been chosen as Our Little Miss New Mexico for 1977. By gaining this title, she has a chance to travel to Niagara Falls, N.Y. August 7-13 and compete in the national contest. Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Sparks of Lovington, N.M. He is a graduate of Corona High School and is married to the former Patricia Strickland who is from Capitan. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Sparks who now reside near Bingham.

Around the Bowl

Robie Burke

A professor of Medicine at Albert Einstein College of Medicine suggested in the New York Times recently that people who don't want to continue to pay high prices for coffee should go to their drugstore and get a supply of caffeine citrate pills, one of which contains as much caffeine as a cup of coffee. Said he "Caffeine is the only commonly used stimulant that can be bought without a prescription and is classified as Generally Recognized as Safe by the Food & Drug Administration. We suggest that, if you are determined to get an ulcer and possibly a heart attack from drinking lots of coffee every day, you can probably manage to do yourself in a lot cheaper with a caffeine pill.

The Philadelphia Nutrition Council complained bitterly this winter about the sugary cereals served in the public schools breakfast program. Sugar Smacks, one of the cereals, being served, is 61.2 percent sugar. Said one of the members, "When you're up to 60.3 per cent, that's junk food. It just tastes like cheap candy." The private companies whose officials said they would begin to switch to less sugary cereals, but they doubted the children would eat them. This is a perfect example of addiction. Now that the cereal companies have sugar addicts, out of the kids, their reply to criticism is that you load all the kids food with sugar or they won't eat it! This is exactly the same thing as saying that an alcoholic will not drink plain water without booze in it, because he's addicted to alcohol. Some Solution!!!

A lovely extravaganza that doesn't cost much is a Bougainvillea plant. It grows well in the house, with good light, some direct sun and water every 4 or 5 days thoroughly. You will love it. It blooms beautifully!

DO YOU KNOW?

The new Lady Carpenter in Nogal? She hire's out pretty cheap.

That the little store in Nogal is getting a clean up job?

The man in Nogal who runs free service for ladies at the gas pump?

That the red house on the hill is getting a new kitchen?

A Pinch of Humor

One wife to another: "Reincarnation? Dear me, no. My husband doesn't even believe in life after dinner."

A letter from a nine-year-old camper: "Dear Mom and Pop: Camp is O.K. The food is wonderful and they don't make you eat it. Love Allen."

Health Questions?

Which is more effective—and nutritionally sound when dieting, counting calories or counting carbohydrate units?

If you decide to count calories and eat a 1000 calorie a day diet, you might decide to eat nothing but 1000 calories of chocolate bars. This would certainly be the worst thing you could do. It is extremely difficult to design a 1000 calorie diet or even a 1500 calorie diet that is healthful, if you include any of the defined carbohydrate foods.

desserts, of any kind or processed cereals or bread. Counting only carbohydrate grams, you invariably get the most nutritious foods in your diet, the high protein foods, for these contain the most vitamins and minerals, as well as the most protein.

Around the Bowl, there is plenty of action, some had some good.

The Means house is coming along very well, and Bill Payton is having a well dug. I saw the Richardson boys and they are getting a little golf in this week. Damon Burkstaller is home helping with the last session of camp, and Douglas B. left for Denver this week. The Burkstaller's grandson Burton Smith is attending camp this session, and his sister Summer Smith attend the first session.

Sam and Loraine Cox lost their grandson this week, who had just graduated for high school this spring. He was a spectator at a drag race, and there was an accident. Nogal would like to dedicate these words to the family:

For Kenny Houx, Almighty God, we entrust all who are dear to us to thy never failing care and love, for this life and the life to come; knowing that thou art doing for Kenny better things than we can desire or pray for; through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

Finding white patches on roses

Have you found white or gray powdery patches on your roses or euonymus? If so, you are only one of many New Mexico gardeners who will be fighting powdery mildew this summer, says Emroy Shannon, Extension plant pathologist at New Mexico State University.

The fungus appears as white to gray moldy or powdery patches on leaves, stems and buds. The mildew spots may enlarge until they cover the whole leaf. Many leaves will curl and become distorted.

The disease is encouraged by warm days and cool nights. Poor air circulation and overcrowding of plants also contribute to the spread of the disease, Shannon says.

The fungus produces large quantities of spores which are spread by the wind. Unlike most fungi, moisture is not necessary for the germination of these spores.

With the exception of food-absorbing structures of the fungus which penetrates the epidermal cells, the powdery mildew fungus grows entirely on the surface of the plant. This means it is vulnerable to fungicides. You can keep this persistent fungus disease at a minimum using mildew fungicides early in the season.

Spray or dust your plants at the first sign of the disease. Repeat treatments at 10 to 14 day intervals as long as the disease threatens to spread.

Not just any fungicide will control mildew, Shannon says. Make sure that the label specifies that it will control powdery mildew. While most gardeners feel that dusts are easier to apply, sprays are generally much more effective.

Mildew fungicides include Actidione PM, Benlate, Systemic Fungicide with benomyl, Sulfur and Parnon. Always check the label thoroughly before using.

The effectiveness of sprays can be increased adding a wetting agent to the spray solution. Liquid household detergents are satisfactory. Just add one teaspoonful per gallon of spray mixture. Wetting agents help the spray material spread out and stick on glossy, hard-to-wet leaves.

INSIDE THE OUTDOORS

By Gary Dollahan
New Mexico Department of Game and Fish

The deadline for applying for the upcoming 1977 antelope season is rapidly approaching. Properly completed application on Form G must be in a Game & Fish Department office by 5:00 p.m. July 27th.

The pronghorn antelope, object of recent controversy among landowners, wildlife managers, and sportsmen, is a valuable asset to New Mexico's plains both aesthetically and economically.

Herd of grazing antelope can often be seen by early morning and evening travelers along the southeastern New Mexico highways.

The pronghorn's ability to run at high speeds and its exceptional eye sight makes it a trophy animal among American sport hunters.

In the 1976 antelope season, 1,239 public antelope permits were distributed by public drawing. Of these, 23 or 1.9 percent went to nonresidents. An additional 1,636 landowner permits were also issued. Five hundred and sixty eight, or 35.8 percent of these permits went to nonresidents.

Again this year, there will be both public and landowner licenses available.

Persons applying for a public permit must obtain from a Game and Fish office or a license vendor a Form G and a "Big Game and Turkey Hunting in New Mexico" proclamation.

First, read the section in the Proclamation titled "Antelope." Then look at the proclamation state map and find the area you wish to hunt in. Find which pink boundary, called a management unit, your desired area falls within. The unit will be identified with a pink circled number.

Now, go back to the "Antelope" section and find which hunt code applies to the area you prefer. It will be A-2, A-3, or A-4. Note the different hunt dates of the three.

You can now fill out your Form G. Two applicants may apply per form.

Under the "Fees" section, enter $1.00 per applicant on line number 1. On line number 2, enter the cost of the license plus vendor-fee. That is $15.50 for residents, and $101.00 for nonresidents. Add the total cost, the application fee and license fee for each applicant, and then submit the total amount enclosed.

Under "Step 1," check the box for antelope, either regular or bow-only hunt. Under "Area and Hunt Desired," enter the hunt code, A-1 through A-4, that you determined from the proclamation. If you have a specific ranch preference, enter it on the line designated as such.

Under Step 2, complete the information as requested. All blanks will be completed except hunting license number. Each applicant must sign in person.

Final Step is to enclose the proper amount, preferably check or money order, and the Form G, and get them to a New Mexico Game & Fish Office before 5:00 p.m., July 27.

If your application is now drawn, your license fees will be refunded by way of a state check. The $1.00 fee per applicant is non-refundable.

If you are after a private land antelope license read the section titled "Private Land Antelope and Barbary Sheep Licenses" that is next to the "Antelope" section in the Proclamation. Obtain a Form H and properly complete it specifying ranch name, and hunt code, and the personal information section. Submit the form, along with the proper license fee only to the Santa Fe office.

Written permission is not required for the purchase of the private land license, which will be issued on a first come, first serve basis. However, the license will not be valid unless accompanied by written permission of the landowner or leasee of the ranch for which it was issued.

Licenses will not be transferred, or exchanged and no refund made. There is no deadline for purchase of private land licenses.

You may not hold both a public and private land owners license. So, if you have applied for public, wait for the result before you arrange for a private license.

Those persons holding an antelope license, either public or private in 1976, may not apply for or hold an antelope license in 1977.

Youngsters under 16 years of age must have successfully completed an approved hunter safety course before shooting or hunting with a firearm.

Where does it come from?

The News, July 21, 1977, Page 8

State clean-up costly

"Where does it all come from?" must be the question in the minds of some 500 state highway department employees cleaning up the state's highways this summer. Each work day, the men and women hired for the special summer litter control program, collect almost countless trash bags full of unrightly junk thrown on and adjacent to our highways. Truckloads of weeds and other debris are also cleared away daily by the special crews.

In many areas of the state their work has produced a marked improvement in the appearance of the highway right-of-way. In other places, new trash has replaced the old in just a matter of days.

The state highway department has been spending about $650,000 annually in its regular litter control program. The additional effort this summer was made possible by a special allocation of $1,000,000 in federal Employment Stimulation Program funds. The last session of the legislature made the allocation and department officials saw the opportunity to launch this massive statewide litter control effort.

The federal guidelines for fund use stressed the recruitment of unemployed minority persons, women and handicapped persons able to do hard physical labor. Newspapers, radio and television stations throughout the state assisted the department in announcing the 500 job openings. The result was a flood of applicants at the five highway department district offices and field offices of the employment security commission.

The new workers, hired as temporary employees, are classified as utility workers and are paid $2.88 per hour. They are assigned to regular department maintenance patrols located all over the state. They work as special litter control crews on the section of highway assigned to their patrol. In addition to picking up trash, crew members do spot mowing, clean box culverts and other drainage structures. They also work on fence, sign, guardrail and landscape maintenance. One of the regular patrol members supervises the work of each special crew.

Some of the new people, finding that the job did in fact entail hard physical labor, quit after a few days. They were quickly replaced from a long list of standby applicants. The work is hard, dirty and sometimes discouraging but patrol foremen have, for the most part, been very pleased with the efforts and results of the special crews. As one patrol foreman, Henry Evans of Eagle Nest, pointed out in a memo to District 4 Highway Engineer Ernest Apodaca, "They have proven capable and are an asset to our patrol."

While the special crews are at work during the summer, the department is working to implement a legislative mandate to involve local governments, community groups and private citizens in a continuing statewide litter control program. House Bill 297, directed the department to establish an office of litter control. This office will broaden the department's litter control efforts to include all segments of the state's population. The bill earmarked $360,000 of the department's budget for this purpose.

An expected 150 to 200 descendants of John Clayton Ward and Namantha Vashli Kennedy will be gathering at the historic school house in White Oaks on Saturday, July 30.

All the living children of this couple will be present: Mrs. Edna Littleton and Roley Ward of Carrizozo, Mrs. Eva Leslie, Mrs. Mary Walker and Mrs. Betty Walker of Roswell. The families of Sam Ward, Barney Ward, Jack Ward, Tom Ward I, and LeRoy Ward will all be represented.

Included in the reunion will be a meeting in which there will be family introductions, a drawing for a friendship quilt, "Ward's Awards", showing of genealogical charts, and presentations to the White Oaks Historical Association.

Young members of the family (Margot Ward, Kathleen Ward, Denise and Elise Ward) will be in charge of the reception desk. Name tags identifying each person according to his branch of the family were designed by 13-year-old Elise Ward.

The Ward family came west from Georgia at the close of the Civil War. John Clayton Ward's family moved to White Oaks after his death in 1911 in Rodeo, New Mexico. Namantha Vashli Ward died in Roswell in 1955.

1976). I hereby extend the following deadlines found in the Property Tax Code with respect to the 1977 tax year only:

1. The deadline for the Property Tax Department to prepare and send to the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration an amended compilation of net taxable values, the deadline being found in subsection B. of Section 72-29-32 NMSA 1963 (Supp. 1975) is hereby extended from August 1, 1977 to August 22, 1977. This extension is made to permit the Department to include additional information regarding final valuations resulting from completed protests and information on pending protests.

2. The deadline for County Valuation Protest Boards to decide protests which is found in subsection C of Section 72-31-27 NMSA 1963 (Supp. 1975) is hereby extended from "one hundred and twenty days of the date the protest is filed..." to three hundred days after the date the protest is filed. This is the second extension of this deadline, the first extension being found in General Order No. 30, dated April 6, 1977. The effect of this Order is that all protests to 1977 notices of valuation filed with county assessors pursuant to the provisions of Section 72-31-24 NMSA 1963 (Supp. 1975) are required to be decided by the County Valuation Protest Boards for the county within three hundred days after the date the particular protest is filed. This extension is made because of the number of protests filed in some counties, and the procedural requirements regarding these protests set forth by the Court of Appeals of the State of New Mexico in In The Matter of the Petition of the First National Bank, et al. v. Bernalillo County Valuation Protest Board, No. 2871.

Are you alergetic?

About half of us are allergic to something.

Pollen in the air can trigger hay fever, certain foods can start hives. Possible allergens are countless - house dust, animal fur, feathers, cosmetics, bleaches, medicines, foods, pollen. Some people are even allergic to heat, or to cold, or to sunlight. And there is the classic case of the woman who was allergic to her husband.

The American Medical Association points out that the most common result of allergy are four illnesses - hay fever, asthma, skin rashes, and digestive disturbances. Hay fever is an inflammation of the eyes and nasal passages. Asthma is a disease of the bronchial tubes of the lungs. Food allergies, a sensitivity to one or more foods, can affect the skin, the digestive tract or the respiratory system. Skin allergies cause itching, sometimes rash.

Reaction to an allergen varies with individuals. One person may be only slightly upset by eating an egg. Another could become violently ill from a small trace of egg in salad dressing. There still are many unknown factors about the reason someone suddenly becomes allergic to something.

Allergic diseases are not usually fatal, but they can cause untold discomfort and suffering. Although worry and stress might be a contributing factor, allergy is not an imaginary illness. It is very real to the sufferer.

Sometimes the allergen is known and can be avoided. Sometimes many tests by a physician are required to arrive at the true cause. Medical care is necessary for relief of discomfort and for protection against future attacks.

Your doctor often can prescribe medications that will relieve the discomfort. And sometimes he can provide treatments that will desensitize you, so that the allergen no longer causes illness.

Mrs. Louise Joiner was taken to the Ruidoso Hospital at 6 a.m. on July 11 very ill.

It was at first, thought it was a heart attack and many tests were taken which proved that there was no heart damage. It was found that a hiatal hernia had caused a great deal of inflammation & after treatment and rest she was able to come home on Friday, July 15 and is on a strict diet.

A T.V. Cable system is put in (underground) in Lincoln. This is quite, and under-taking and I'm sure the town people will appreciate having it.

Last Monday casting for the Pageant (Billy the Kid) took place at Bill Ward's place.

Twenty members of the Roswell Forecraft Guild spent the day at the La Placita recently. The day was spent spinning, weaving, talking and gathering dye plants and got rained on which I'm sure didn't bother them too much.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunlap have been her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.C. McKinley of Portales and Rosalie's niece, Lori Wolfson of Quebec, Montreal. Also D. Laurence Chauk, DVM of San Francisco, CA.

Mrs. Rufina Maes recently spent some time at the home of her daughter Susie Kossoge. Susie is in very poor health. We hope she recovers to be able to come to Lincoln to live in her lovely new home here.

Ricky Phillips is in Panama for jungle training at present. He says its interesting.

Barge traffic hurting New Mexico businessman

It costs New Mexicans about $10 million a year in direct and indirect costs because a small group of barge owners continue to receive the most outrageous subsidy in the transportation industry.

For the nation as a whole, direct costs of subsidizing barge traffic approach $1 billion, according to Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, and indirect costs may double that amount.

That's why I believe my bill, S. 790, which will end the 100 per cent taxpayers' subsidy of the big barge industry, must be passed this year.

Until we pass this bill, New Mexicans will continue to contribute about $5 million directly in tax dollars so that the big steel, big oil, and big grain companies that own the barge fleet can use the waterways free of charge.

And, until we pass this bill, those New Mexicans who use planes, trains and trucks to transport goods will continue to pay higher rates because of the 100 percent subsidy for the barge lines.

Here's the way it works in one case: If you are a New Mexico farmer and send by rail, let's say, a load of corn from Endes, N.M., to Houston for eventual export, it costs you about 1.7 cents per ton-mile. But, if you are farmer in Minnesota and ship the same corn from Albert Lea, Minn., to New Orleans, it costs you only 1.3 cents per ton-mile. New Mexico farmers pay 33 percent more!

Why? It's simple, really. The railroads must charge less on the line down the Mississippi because of unfair, tax-supported competition from the barge lines.

They make up what they lose on that trip down the Mississippi by charging the farmers in New Mexico and other land-locked states more.

This kind of "indirect" cost occurs throughout the nation as we allow the barge lines to remain the only 100 percent subsidized transportation industry in the nation.

Sometimes Ya Kinda Wonder

Why is it? A man wakes up in the morning after sleeping on an advertised bed, in advertised pajamas. He will bathe in an advertised tub, wash with advertised soap, shave with an advertised razor, creams and lotions, put on advertised clothes and glance at his advertised watch.

He will ride to work in an advertised car, sit at an advertised desk and write with an advertised pen. Yet, this man hesitates to advertise, saying that advertising does not pay. Finally, when his unadvertised business goes under, he will advertise it for sale.

Fort Stanton

by Dolly Lawson

Another week - July is almost over. Summer has been fun and it is rapidly coming to an end. Summer swimming, picnics, bar-b-ques, campouts, hikes, and trips, will soon turn into full academic days. Fall is almost as much fun as summer. Our teachers will have trips to various farms to watch-help pick fruit & other vegetables. The entire fort will be involved in the Aspencade. We will serve an enchilada plate to the tour. Five thousands people are expected as reported by B.D. Crenshaw. Over 100 people have already paid and made their reservations. The dietary staff will be assisted by volunteers. It should be a long tiring day but alot of fun. We enjoy meeting new people and telling them about Fort Stanton. Special education teachers are always ready to tell others about the needs of children and the importance of establishing special classes. Mark Delgado announced the new reorganizational flow chart for the Fort last Friday. The new chart has five division chiefs. Team management will be initiated. The Fort has 174 positions and several departments. Under the new organization plan the positions will be grouped under five departments. It should help achieve maximum utilization of the positions we have. We have had good cooperation between departments but now the flow will be more smoothly.

Last week we worked on writing expansion programs for the next fiscal year. We currently have 178 students and only nine teaching positions. A new program was written for six additional teaching positions. We have 28 school age children and need two additional teachers and three aides to meet the state and federal mandate guidelines. Our residents are capable of learning vocational skills. With the new approaches to teaching the mentally retarded can not be taught simple tasks. We feel that of the 178 residents at Fort Stanton only the twenty-two senior residents, who have entered retirement, and less than twenty others can not benefit from structured classes and pre-vocational classes. Our students here are much higher and more capable of learning work related tasks than with any other group I have worked with in the past. Unfortunately Fort Stanton has never had the teaching staff needed for the residents. A total of 21 teachers is needed for a complete academic-vocational, physical motor-

Erma Romero, Marie Ybarra, and Bertha Griego also work in Sierra II. Celdina Luna who is still out on sick leave, also works with the older girls. Socorro Cottage had a field trip to the Space Museum on Thursday. Jake Chavez, and Ward Lockard look a group of 10 to visit the museum. The boys were very excited about seeing the museum. They were especially interested in the model space capsules and the beauty of the building. They were able to discuss the movie showing the landing on the moon. This week Sierra I and II have a bar-b-que. The dietary department is providing steaks and the staff will cook them on the outdoor grill.

On Thursday the 31st we will have the ice cream social. All staff and students will have a party - we are planning to have sack races, three-legged races and other fun games for both the staff, children, and visitors. We could not find enough ice cream freezers for over 300 people so we will cheat a little. We will make several freezers of ice cream so that the children will have the opportunity to turn the crank, put ice and salt in the container and taste until frozen to the just right stage. Then Tommy Aldaz will furnish the rest. We will have several different flavors and will make sundaes. Everyone who is on a diet will have at least one fling at a rich sundae. The races should help work off the calories.

So often during the last several months I have been late in mailing my article due to meeting, writing projects, work load, and planning activities.

David Pacheco and Frank Gallegos are always willing to hand carry it in. I appreciate the people who work here and help. For the last 12 years I have worked in a variety of special education programs and enjoyed all of them. We have been here for seven months and feel that this is home. The staff responds to any suggestion to help the students. We have the full cooperation from the other departments. The teachers volunteer to help after hours and on weekends. Even our summer aides are totally involved in the program. Parents who have come to our I.D.T. meetings have been helpful and are interested in their children. I have requested donations for flower seed and items for the carnival and the response from the community, Ruidoso, Carrizozo, and even from Roswell was unbelievable. Many people are interested in the Fort and in the programs we are providing. So often in rural areas it is difficult to do as many things as we are doing out here. Of course there have been bad moments and some people have voiced their opinion of the mentally retarded but the majority of people have been very kind. Lincoln County is a good place to live. For the future we hope to get more people from the county involved in our activities. The Fort is the largest employer in the County and we feel that we have an obligation to inform the general population that working out here is not so bad after all. The mentally retarded are people who have special needs. Seldom are they difficult but like any one else they have good days and bad days. The most difficult students we have are those with emotional problems. So often a normal child with emotional problems will be placed in an institution. These are the students who elope and we call out for help. Our true mentally retarded children seldom elope. They may wander away but they normally do not run away just for attention. When a mentally retarded child wanders away we have a serious problem. Usually we find the child near by. Only once did a child wander past the housing area and the Griego children brought the child back. Several years ago another child disappeared and was found in the basement of a building unable to find his way out. More recently we have had problems with emotionally disturbed children. The three chronic run aways have caused many man hours of searching. Usually the staff volunteers to help search & the highway patrol come out to help. We can always count on the local patrolmen and the sheriff's department. We hope that in the future we will not have to call them as often. But it is still good to know that we can count on so many people to help us when we need them. Until next time.

Cactus rustling big industry

A new breed of outlaw has emerged in the desert, and he brings with him a new form of rustling - cactus rustling.

Whether taking "just one", or enough to supply a nursery for a month, the cactus outlaw is contributing to the disappearance of plants which are part and parcel of the singular, fragile beauty of the desert. And let no one fool you - at present rates of "capture", the New Mexican landscape will be noticeably altered, and its ability to recover impaired.

Southwestern New Mexico, south-central Texas, and the Mexican states of Chihuahua and Coahuila compose a type of desert known as the Chihuahuan. The lowland portion of this desert is typified by such exotic looking plants as the giant dagger, cane cholla and blind prickly pear. The thorns and spines we see today, the tremendous ability of many desert plants to store water, the strange shapes they often assume are all adaptations to an environment where precious few inches of precipitation fall.

There is an odd beauty in this desert life, and it is because people wish to bring these desert beauties into their homes and yards that desert life causes a threat more severe than any the environment can impose.

Ironically, many of the plants are sent back east to states where they cannot survive. But for people living within the Chihuahuan desert, a desert-landscaped yard fits in with both the surrounding environment and a common sense approach to southwestern living where water itself is a luxury.

Roy Jackson of the Las Cruces office of the Bureau of Land Management, noted that the problem is not so much the taking of desert vegetation as it is the uncontrolled aspect of the problem that concerns BLM.

"The desert simply cannot withstand the pressure," Jackson said, "unless removal is done in light of numbers that can safely be harvested. This will leave enough so that the beauty of the desert is preserved as well as its ability to rejuvenate itself. This requires both knowledge and foresight."

For these reasons, Jackson wished to emphasize that the Bureau issues low-cost permits for the removal from public land of most species of desert vegetation. Without such a permit, however, a person caught removing vegetation from federal lands is subject to a fine of $1000.00 and/or 12 months in jail.

"BLM would much rather issue a permit than make an arrest", Jackson said. "Present procedures are somewhat cumbersome, but we're hopeful that within a year BLM will simply be able to indicate areas where a person may go to collect a particular plant."

Currently, it takes BLM from two weeks to a month to process an application. The person applying must indicate the type plant he wishes and the area from which he wishes to obtain it. BLM must then check this area to insure that it can tolerate such removal and write a report on its findings. If approved, the person is then issued a permit.

Jackson noted that BLM does have an area where it can send people for soap tree yucca. In addition, common varieties of plants such as creosote and mesquite can be easily obtained as well.

There are two exceptions BLM wishes to enforce. The Organ Mountain area is closed to the removal of any vegetation because of the heavy amount of rustling that has already occurred. Removal of barrel cactus near Las Cruces is prohibited for the same reasons.

"We're hoping people will be patient," Jackson said, "and understand the reasons that the removal must be done with foresight and foreknowledge."

SSI to investigate many people

"People getting Supplemental Security Income payments (SSI) shouldn't feel they're being singled out for investigation when they are contacted during the year by social security representatives," Dan Mathis, social security field representative, pointed out today.

The SSI program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over, or blind, or disabled. The law requires that eligibility for SSI and the amount of the monthly payments be redetermined periodically for everyone getting payments. "It is a routine procedure," Mathis explained.

"The Social Security Administration gets in touch with people to get information about income, living arrangements, and other factors that might affect their eligibility. This may be done by a questionnaire in the mail, or by personal interview in the home, social security office, or other offices used on a periodic basis by social security representatives. Or, in some instances, it may be done by telephone.

"Social security representatives are glad to identify themselves. They never ask you to give them money to have something done, and they want to be as helpful as possible to the people receiving SSI benefits," Mathis emphasized.

MIKE CISCO, Captain's new football coach, is already getting acquainted with members of the Fighting Tigers and is looking forward to a successful season. He is replacing Billy Hensen who was both the football coach and the high school principal.

How to control weeds - Surrounded by Weeds?

Cultivation can control weeds in the vegetable garden. However, cultivation should be shallow to prevent root damage and wasting of soil moisture, advises Ricardo Gomez, Extension horticulturist at New Mexico State University.

You should time the cultivation so weeds will not be large and well-established. Cultivating mature weeds with large root systems can do extensive damage to the crop.

Cultivation can benefit your garden in other ways, Gomez says. Some soils tend to pack and crust. When this happens, small plants cannot push through the crust. A crusted soil usually means plant roots will not get enough oxygen and may become stunted and die. A crusted soil can also prevent water from soaking into the soil rapidly. This can cause a drought-like condition. Proper cultivation keeps the soil in good condition for best plant growth.

Do not overlook the advantages of a good mulch to control weeds, conserve moisture, prevent crusting & replace cultivation, Gomez suggests. Plastic, sawdust and leaves are often used as mulches.

Newspaper is also a good mulch material, Gomez says. Use several thicknesses which are properly anchored. You can often dispose of the newspapers when the crop is harvested by just tilling them into the soil.

Studies have shown some almost unbelievable increases in yield where mulches have been used, especially on cantaloupes, squashes, cucumbers, tomatoes and eggplants, Gomez says. Quality is improved, too.

"Enduring Truth"

It was early Sunday July the 4th about 7 a.m. The family began to get up for the day of activities. There was horse races, sporting events, fireworks, picnics, fair booths, a very busy July 4th.

Dan was up and put on his favorite boots that were silver tipped and he just last night saddled up and polished them. He spent all day yesterday cleaning and polishing his new pickup. He was getting ready for the horse races today, his favorite past time.

Mom was so busy in the kitchen she didn't have time to fix breakfast. She was getting her cakes, pies, and preserves ready for the fair.

Hubbs was running all thru the house looking for a shoe string, because he had just broken the one on his new track shoes that he bought just yesterday. He was the star runner and jumper for today's events.

Jr. was just six years old and wasn't quite awake. No one seemed to have time for him. He was trying to get his belt on so he could ride the bus to bible class and worship this morning. He was going by himself. No one else wanted to go.

That very day at 8 a.m. the Earth trembled the house shook, the doors busted open the track turned over, the pies, cakes, and preserves crashed to the floor in one big mess. All in the house were killed, even Jr.

In the Spirit world dad said to everyone here? Mom cried as she tried to get her breath "Jr. is not here, and it is so hot!"
