Carrizozo's New Dentist Named

MRNS - Carrizozo's new dentist will be Dr. Dale Goad. The announcement was made Monday by Mike Brown, St. Joseph's Hospital Assistant Administrator.

Dr. Goad received his dental training at the University of Houston where he graduated this year. He is a native of West Texas and met his wife, Sharon, at Abilene Christian College. Sharon is an elementary teacher and also a dental technician. The young couple like small towns and outdoor life. They said they are delighted to be coming to Carrizozo and expect to feel right at home with the people and the area.

The new dentist will have his office in the Carrizozo Health Center building when it is completed. There will be two patient rooms, the dentist's office and an X-ray room in the new section of the clinic.

He will join Dr. Craig Nelson, Carrizozo's new doctor, who is expected to arrive July 1 to take over clinic medical responsibilities. Nurse-practitioner Ursula Hansteen and Nurse Nancy Guck will continue with the clinic. Betty Howell is Business Manager and her secretary is Mary Hernandez.

The new doctor and dentist are members of the National Health Service Corps. Both men and their wives chose to come to Carrizozo and have indicated an interest in remaining here in private practice at the conclusion of their two year contract.

Mrs. Howell said that the center hoped to obtain part time services of an optician and a foot specialist next fall. "We plan to meet the needs of this part of Lincoln County as best we can," she said. "We are constantly looking for ways to improve our operation and still keep costs to the patients at a reasonable figure."

The acquisition of a Dentist in Carrizozo was made possible when the Northern areas of the county was declared as a dental manpower shortage area. Specifically so designated were Carrizozo, Capitan and Corona areas.

A reception to introduce the new dentist to the area is being planned and an Open House will be announced for the Center completion.

Commission OK's Name Change — Little Creek Estates Now Rancho Ruidoso Estates

The Lincoln County Commissioners met for a short 21 minutes meeting Monday with Sudderth and Stoneman present and Straley absent.

Items on the agenda included, appointing a representative from the County Commission to the Rural Conservation and Development meetings.

The Little Creek Estates in Ruidoso had their representative Bob Blum before the Commission to ask for a name change since the Little Creek Estates are confused sometimes with another development of a similar name. The name now is Rancho Ruidoso Estates.

The commission accepted a bid from Lenord Motor Co. of Albuquerque of $8249 for a Drag Roller.

The minutes of the last meeting and the Treasurer's report were not read because of Commissioner Straley's absence.

The next regular meeting is July 10, 1978, and as usual the public is invited to attend.

The Quiet Man Who Could Move A Mountain

I had known from the beginning that one day the Sabino Vidaurri story would fall into place. He was amust...an episode of Americana that should be kept in the archives of universities. Everyone in the United States came from somewhere else, except the Indians. And they did too. It is just a matter of when.

What a truly wonderful thing the written language is. In the 1945 "Historical Encyclopedia of New Mexico", there are two stories it is important here to recall. One, written by Dr. R. E. Blaney. It reads, "In the early Eighties of the past century, the cowmen of the states to the north and east were investigating the possibilities of New Mexico as to the water supply and grazing facilities for their fast increasing herds. At that time this part of the universe was known as the Carrizo Flats. In the early seventies, Tom Catron built a house within a stone's throw of a spring, about one half mile north of the present site of Carrizozo, which he named Carrizozo Spring. In the early years of this century, W. C. McDonald, our first Governor under Statehood, acquired possession of this Spring, by purchase, and several years later built a new dwelling three or four hundred yards to the West of the Spring, where he and his estimable wife lived, with the exception of nearly five years which they spent in Santa Fe, until called to their ever-lasting home. The above described property has been known for many years as the Bar W Ranch."

"In the eighties some business men of El Paso came to this vicinity looking for deposits of coal, after a thorough investigation they bought a coal mine near what is now Captain. Shortly thereafter they built a railroad to that point. The body of a freight car was placed at the side of the track here, which was called Carrizo Siding. Several years later coal in large quantities was found at Dawson in the North West part of the State. In order to tap these deposits and to satisfy the markets of El Paso, also to secure an unfailing supply of coal for their own use, the officials of the El Paso Southeastern Railroad began a survey of the country North of Carrizo Siding, to connect with the rail end of the Rock Island R. R. at Santa Rosa. Several surveys were made, one through White Oaks, and one where the Road was built. The altitude south of Corona was found to be four feet lower than the high point just North of White Oaks, therefore the choice. In June of 1901 the first train passed over the finished road bed."

"About this time W. C. McDonald prevailed on the officials of the Road to change the name of this place to Carrizozo. The freight car body was still being used as a telegraph office, and there were two or three residents and a few shacks about the town."

"Carrizozo began to grow in earnest in 1905 and 6. A new depot was built, and the Carrizozo Trading Co. put up a building across the street. The Exchange Bank building was put up and opened for business in 1907. That year saw an extensive growth in the town, as the railroad shops were moved here from Alamogordo. A few years later the county seat was transferred from Lincoln to Carrizozo, and a new Court House was built, in the interim, two churches and a school building were constructed."

"There is a little poem to end the story, I suppose Dr. Blaney wrote it: "Carrizozo where the hand clasp is a little stronger, Where friendship lasts a little longer, Where the night is a little colder, And the people never seem older."

On page 854 of this same book there is a picture of Sabino C. Vidaurri, then page 855 this story is told: "Sabino Cervantez Vidaurri, owner and operator of a general merchandise store at Carrizozo in Lincoln County, is one of the best known merchants of this vicinity and a highly popular citizen and civic leader. Mr. Vidaurri, who has been engaged in the mercantile business in Carrizozo for well over a quarter of a century, started in a small way with a limited stock of merchandise and by consistent, fair dealing and a steadfast effort to provide his customers with their merchandising needs at a reasonable price, has built up a large patronage among both Spanish and American residents of the area. The stock is well selected and highly diversified. Mr. Vidaurri and his family occupy elegant living quarters at the rear of the store building."

"Sabino Cervantez Vidaurri was born at Teocaltiche, Jalisco, Mexico, on the thirtieth of December, 1888, a son of Rito Vidaurri, former merchant tailor, and Mrs. Toribia (Cervantez) Vidaurri. Both parents are now deceased. Mr. Vidaurri obtained his education in the schools of the Southern Republic and began earning his living when he was only eleven years old. When he was seventeen years old he came to the United States and settled first at Alamogordo, New Mexico, where he was first employed as dish washer in a cafe. In a few months he was promoted to the position of pantry man and later served as second cook and chef until he had saved enough money to go in business for himself. Mr. Vidaurri came to Carrizozo and opened his general merchandise store in 1913."

"On the tenth of June, 1915, Mr. Vidaurri was married to Miss Apolonia Jauregui, a native of Gomez Palacio, Mexico, and a daughter of Francisco Jauregui and Mrs. Flavia (Vasquez) Jauregui. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Vidaurri are Cecelia, now married to Salvador Martinez Ortiz, engaged in United States government contract work at Carrizozo; Lucio Vidaurri, employee of an aeroplane factory in Los Angeles, California; Misses Maria and Theresa Vidaurri, students in the Carrizozo High School; Francisco Sabino Vidaurri, attending grade school here, and the baby, Carmen Toribia Vidaurri."

"Mr. Vidaurri is a naturalized American citizen, active in much of the civic life of Carrizozo and a member of the Business Men's Club. Religious affiliation is with the Catholic faith. Golf is his favorite recreation."

To step across the river at El Paso and into a 1032 page book is one giant step. Why did he take it? The wisdom of the man reminds me of Benito Juarez, of whom it is said, "His integrity and concern for the poor were almost legendary. During the Civil War the French installed Prince Maximilian as emperor. Juarez directed the war for freedom. In 1866, with the Civil War over, the United States virtually ordered the French out of Mexico. In 1867, Maximilian was captured by Juarez troops and on June 19, 1867 he was executed, much to the apprehension of many nations of the world. But Juarez, remembering the Monroe Doctrine, set one of his own...which has carried Mexico well these one hundred ten years."

Juarez died in 1872, only 16 years before Sabino Vidaurri was born. Juarez was a great national hero and there is no doubt the young Sabino was told about him many times in his early schooling.

It is important to review what thoughtful people left written down for us but is far more involving to talk with those who knew him best. Those who loved him and were loved by him: "I knew him, and I always felt humble when I was around him. Like Vernon Petty said, "He was a man who would look you in the eye and tell you the truth, whether that was what you were wanting to hear or not." There is no doubt in my mind I could choose a hundred men who knew him well and get a hundred statements all about like that."

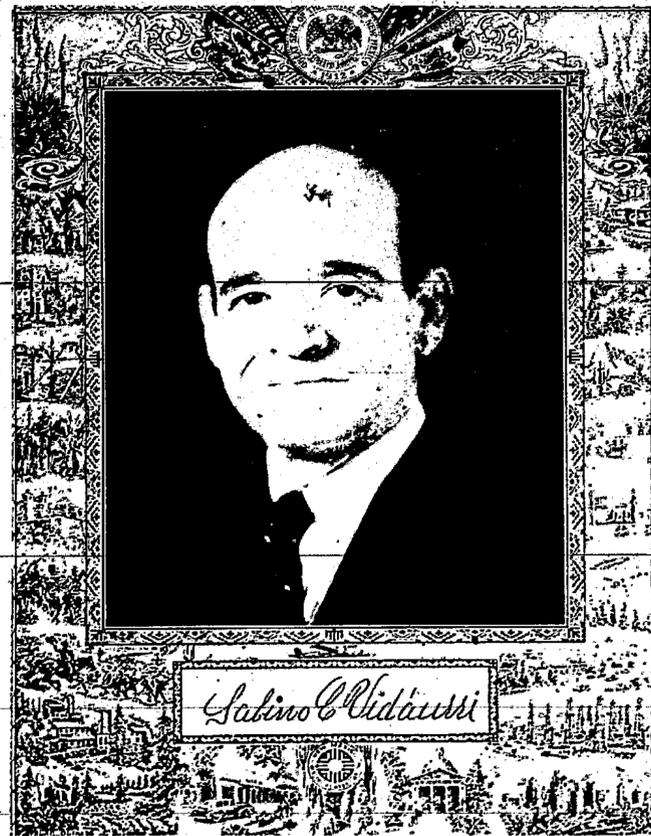

But to his family...Mike and I agreed as we drove away from her home that we had been in the presence of a great lady. She was born in 1899, and came to Alamogordo with her folks in 1905 and then on up to Carrizozo. As a young girl she saw Carrizozo grow from a small acorn into a tall tree, then watched it stall out, lose some branches and leaves, and settle down to the town we know. She remembers the old roundhouse having burned down, of a new one being built and a new crew coming up from Alamo to staff it. She remembers the whistle changing shifts, of seeing literally hundreds of men walking away from the railroad area on their way home. She estimates that at one time the railroad hired close to five hundred men, and Albert Roberts and Johnny Johnson agree that was probably close. Somewhere back there Carrizozo got up to some 3000 residents, section houses, the shacks, the tents. In 1910 her sister, Justa, married Louis Vidaurri. Louis had come up the track along about 1905, worked a year and sent money back to his younger brother Sabino to come up. It is a good story to listen to how Sabino found mountains of dishes to be washed, if he wished to eat. He came to Carrizozo for some six months but returned to Alamogordo where he worked hard and formulated plans. In 1910, at the small Catholic Church, on the block just south of Jack Harkey, Louis and Justa were married. Sabino came up to be best man. He was particularly impressed by a young lady, named Apolonia, and went back to Alamogordo to begin plans of moving to Carrizozo.

In 1913 Sabino came to Carrizozo and purchased the building the family still owns. It was purchased from Esequiel Vigil, had been a school house, a restaurant, a little store. As the store increased its stock and service Sabino began to pay more and more attention to the young lady he was so impressed with. Then on the tenth of June 1915 they were married. At first they stayed in two rooms at the home of Louis and Justa, then he began to add living quarters onto the store.

Mrs. Vidaurri smiles so beautifully as she tells of a long ago day when Sabino took her to visit the parents of Sally Ortiz. Sally was a long haired baby crawling around on the floor... Salvador...Sabino thought the name fit. A lot of love shines in her face as she remembers back to those days in 1914, 15, 16 and 17. Those were the years in which she changed from a girl, to a lady, to a mother.

In 1918 Sabino was called for induction, but armistice came first and he did not go to the service. Many times he was asked to run for a city office but the service he rendered at his store was just too important to him. Then he never aspired to being acclaimed as a great man, he just wanted to be a good man. Legend are the stories of people who needed a stake, needed food, credit, extended credit. Many people paid just once a year and some couldn't pay that often. It is with pride that Mrs. Vidaurri tells of the Sisters sending some child over for shoes or clothing and Sabino would worry about maybe collecting later on. It meant a lot to me when she told about a young man now

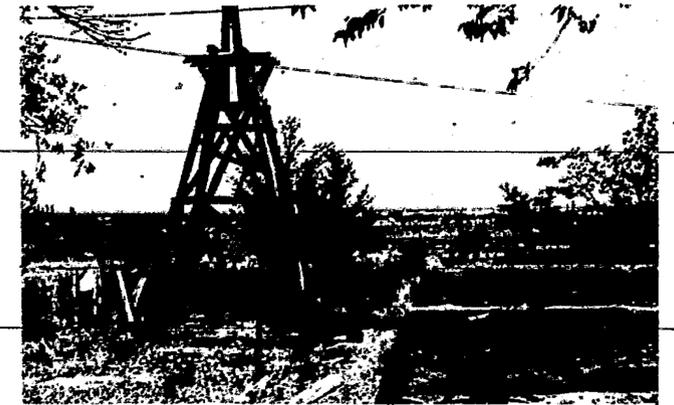

A pioneer who came up from the South.

One of Carrizozo's finest landmarks

And The Lovely Lady Who Told Him So

well known, being in the store one day with his feet pretty well out on the ground, but admitting he didn't have any money. Sabino fit him out and he promised as soon as he could find some work he would pay for them. Those were days when a good man was like good weather and a good rain, you just had to have some or Carrizozo would have gone the way of Pumpkin Center or

Donkey Flats. He sold anything from wedding dresses to coffins...if you needed it he could get it. There is a very personal element along right about here. Sabino bought a small place south of town. Her parents lived out there, built a house there. A lot of things were grown there to help make the store fit the needs of its customers. He built a couple of greens out there and knocked a golf ball around. On Sunday afternoons many town people went out there to sit under the big trees, look back at the town about a mile away. I live there now and it pleases me when now and then some people come out to see where they used to run and play when they were kids.

Sabino was one of the powers in the building of the country club, of helping to get the packet of land together which now gives the country club so much room to grow with. He helped with building the convent, with building the school, with building the church. He left no doubt in anyone's mind he believed in the institution of the Catholic Church. He helped in getting the land set aside for the Cemetary south of town, where one didn't have to purchase a plot.

Mrs. Vidaurri told about 1940, their 25th anniversary, about a big party out at the country club. Her parents went out to California and even she and Sabino thought at times about moving. I remembered back to the summers of '64 and '65, of Paul Baca pitching and Gaby Chavez catching, back when I had them and Willie, Matt, Mave, Michael, Marcos and others. I hated to see Paul go back to California and not attend Carrizozo High School.

Bunny Osorio and I have been friends for years. His Mother and Mrs. Vidaurri were sisters. Crescencia. Her first son, Alfredo was born in Mexico, came here a baby in arms. Then here Ernesto was born, as was Florintino, (Tino). Then the Father, Sabas Lopez seems to have been killed and left Crescencia with her three small children. Then up the path from southern Mexico, to work a year and go back home...there came a man, 35 years old named Osorio. He liked it here, fell in love with Crescencia, married and worked for the railroad for 30 years. On the day Bunny was born the Almanac said a good name for that day, January 21, 1920, a good name was Fructoso. One time, in the early fifties, Bunny and

Sabino and Apolonia make the California scene in about 1928

Elfree Jones took their Dads on a long trip back through Mexico. Crescencia is in the hospital at Fort Bayard.

Vernon likes to tell about the old days when the Southern Pacific Hotel and eating Place was new and elite. The old beanery that is. There was a big cafeteria or cafe area, then there was a dining room. He says Sabino was often sought for company and counsel.

The Lincoln County News, June 25, 1964 ran a picture of Mr. Vidaurri using his new dial phone. The story noted he had held service in Carrizozo longer than anyone else. He had had number 47 since 1917 and was active in the ceremonies converting Carrizozo to dial operation.

The News, June 24, 1965 ran a picture of their 50th wedding anniversary reception at the country club.

Mr. Vidaurri lived here 63 years. He passed away July 25, 1976. Pall bearers were Tino Lopez, Fructoso Osorio, Joe Ventura, Fred English, J. P. Aguilar, Pablo Ortiz, Albert Roberts, and Johnson Stearns.

Don't Hold Your Breath: Some news stories broke last week that the Attorney General's Office might break some news right away concerning top-dogs in the drug pusher business in New Mexico—but, the major story might be several weeks away!

Our sources say AG Toney Anaya's office is expected to break several stories naming the "little fish" in the drug swamp, but any revelations about the guys at the top of the ladder won't materialize until mid-summer at the earliest.

Background: The first hirings were made about March 15th to staff a "strike force" team to zero-in on heavy drug pushers in the Land of Enchantment.

The prosecuting team members will come from the Attorney General's Office and investigating members from the State Police and local and Federal law enforcement agencies.

One of the targets in this probe will be the finance guys who put up the dough for the big drug operations...and...yes...it's true...about five well-known big names could be involved.

From the Mail-Bag: Better late than never! More than one week after primary election day, the mailman delivered campaign material touting the gubernatorial abilities of Bob Grant, one of the GOP candidates for the Governor nomination!

One of our colleagues got materials from Lt. Governor hopeful Otis Echols' camp two days after the election.

And...have you ever noticed that the mail bumbles inevitably happens to the guys who lose? But, think what might have happened if the price of stamps hadn't gone up two more cents?

Demo Update: As this reporter predicted, Demo gubernatorial nominee Bruce King tempered his stand on Right-to-Work, indicating the issue should be put to a vote of the people in the form of a Constitutional Amendment.

King's record since serving in the Legislature in the late fifties indicates a personal opposition to traditional Right-to-Work laws that have been dropped in the Legislative hoppers.

Our buddies say Big Bruce was not exactly overwhelmed with the support he got from organized labor in his primary race against Demo Bob Ferguson—and that's one reason King would like to see the Right-to-Work issue de-emphasized for the general election campaign.

Cash Concern: The New Mexico Municipal League is really concerned about a new state rule that requires non-salaried public officers to be paid thirty-two dollars per meeting attended. Traditionally, the non-salaried positions line zoning commissioners or library board member have been volunteer slots.

Municipal League director Bill Fulginiti says the law mandates the payment of thirty-two bucks even if the meeting last only several minutes.

A league survey indicates the law could cost financially-tight cities of New Mexico a million dollars.

Fulginiti is seeking relief from State Finance and Administration Cabinet Secretary Maxine Gerhart. Mrs. Gerhart has the authority to reduce the thirty-two dollar rate. Fulginiti would like the payment figure reduced to zero dollars...or at least...a pro-rated salary schedule.

Want Ads: The Department of Finance is looking for an Administrator to head up the Unemployment Compensation section of the Risk Management Division. The post pays between $1300 and $1800 a month!

St. Vincent Follow-up: The St. Vincent Hospital in downtown Santa Fe remains vacant. And the state appears no closer to buying it than it was when the new hospital complex was opened. Now the American Cancer Society in Santa Fe is taking an interest in the building. Santa Fe cancer fighters suggest that the facility might be a good place to house radiation treatment devices for the northern part of New Mexico.

John Strand of the Santa Fe cancer unit is asking powerful Senate Finance Committee chairman Aubrey Dunn to conduct a study of the idea while checking into the possibility of transferring some cancer treatment equipment from Albuquerque to Santa Fe.

Dunn was appointed by Governor Apodaca to serve as the state's personal negotiator in a possible state buy of the old hospital.

Tough Enough-By Tough Biggs

Smith, Smyth, Smythe, Funderschmidt, Smithwick, McSmith, Hop Sing and Chavez . . . !!

As the story comes to me, everyone originally bore the name of Smith. It all started, of course, with Adam and Eve Smith who, I understand were operating a small cider press in an orchard set aside specifically for them.

Some snake in the grass talked them into chopping down a cherry tree or something of the sort for which they were promptly banished lock, stock and snake, and as an added penalty were forced to change the spelling of their name to Smyth. They wandered around the country for a few years mostly raising Cain and another son named Abel.

Cain and Abel Smyth got into some sort of messy altercation leaving Cain as the only survivor. He was punished of course, and also required to spell his name Smythe.

As time went by and the world became more densely populated there were, naturally, others who broke the law. Always as part of their punishment a minor change in surname was added to indicate they were no longer true Smiths. Names such as Smitt, Smutt, Smithers, etc. began appearing on the rolls.

Additionally, some of the clan developed wanderlust.

Heinrich, who had a harsh guttural voice, moved northward taking with him the family name, but when pronounced in his peculiar tones, it came out Schmidt.

The twin curly-haired boys, Solomon and Levy, moved to the Midwest, retaining the old name with an added syllable. Both Solomon Goldsmith and Levy Smithberg later amassed fortunes in real estate.

Still another young man with peculiar eyes, and who had apparently been over dosed with atabrine, moved to the Far East and established the Hop Sing dynasty. Hop Sing, I am informed, means Smith in Chinese.

Another young guitar player went south to bask in the Mediterranean sun and became the founder of the Spanish branch of the Smiths. He took the name of Chavez which my informants tell me is Spanish for Smith.

While the migration was transpiring, there was still trouble back home. When the courts began to run out of derivatives from the name Smith, they started making name changes proportionate to the crime. Names like Jones, Brown, White, etc. began to appear and, of course, for majorenses, the names got pretty far out. I hesitate to consider the magnitude of an offense which would cause one to be given a name like Hakanson or Andrtlewicz.

Several Smiths have done very well for themselves. One in particular achieved quite a degree of fame just standing around under a spreading Chestnut tree and pounding on an anvil. He must have had a great press agent.

Another gave the entire fortune he made raising scallions and chives to an agricultural museum which still bears his name: Smith's Onion Institute.

That's the story as it came to me. I do not vouch for its authenticity, but do offer the following names. Without their help, advice and inspiration, this article would never have been possible: Jack Smith, Richard Smith, Paul von Funderschmidt and Polocarpi Anselmo Chavez. Smile a little. It's contagious.

Smith, Fred Smyth, Tom Smythe, Josephine Smith Watkins, Lord Devon Smithwick, Sandy MacSmith, Terrance Patrick O'Smith, Chew Hop Sing, Jacob

The Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity is a great story and maybe it illustrates why some New Mexico breeders are a little upset.

At present a New Mexico bred and- or foal was either a horse bred by a New Mexico based stallion out of a mare based in New Mexico or a horse born of a mare based in New Mexico who had been taken to a stud outside the state but who had been brought back within 120 days to New Mexico where the foal was dropped. The offspring of the first union was known as a New Mexico bred. The offspring of the second union was known as a New Mexico foal.

Both "Bred" and "Foal" shared equal rights under New Mexico law. They could race against each other and the winner got the 10 percent of the purse which the track adds to the purse for New Mexico bred and or foal winner.

Sire, dam, and foal all had to be registered with the New Mexico Horse Breeders Assoc.

Anyway "Doc" Joe Miller one of the owners of the Ho Jo Farm in Anthony, New Mexico so we were told, went to Kentucky and bought a mare named Midimini by Hasty Road. She was bred to Master Hand, a Kentucky stud, one of the best sons of Bold Ruler who had won some $300,000. The mare Mid was brought back to New Mexico. The foal was dropped in New Mexico named Pocket Coin and registered as a N.M. foal with the N.M. Horse Breeder's Assoc.

The matter might have stopped right there had not the Riggs father and son, of Fort Stockton, Texas, got interested in horse racing. The elder Riggs the father is a rousing 84 and the son a dynamic 60.

Both like to race in New Mexico. They like to run New Mexico "Bred" or "Foal" horses. "The added 10 percent makes the purse bigger."

These two know a good horse when they see one and are not afraid to pay for it.

Pocket Coin winner Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity. A smiling Charles

Mueller up. Mueller has ridden Pocket Coin in all six outs. 5 wins 1 second.

They bought "Pocket Coin" from the Ho Jo Farm and gave him to Mike Welch to train. He was entered, among other races in the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity at Ruidoso Downs, N.M. where he will be running the rest of the summer.

Again everything could have stopped right there except for Pocket Coin. He seems to want to out run all opposition and has the ability to do it. He has out run all New Mexico breeds that have been run against him and nor does it seem that his winning has been or will be confined to New Mexico breeds.

Pocket Coin, launched his racing career at Sunland Park in late February and bounded home a five-length winner. The colt raced as a 7-5 choice in the maiden venture.

Next time out, he was bet down to 3-5 at five furlongs, and powered his way to 7 1/2-length win. Since that spin was also a trial race for the $251,000 Allison Futurity, Pocket Coin earned a starting berth in the grand finale.

With those two impressive wins to his credit, Pocket Coin got away as the Allison favorite, and went storming into an early lead. He looked like a winner at the top of the stretch, but as he neared the wire, he was unable to hold off the fast-charging Johnny Mito and lost by a neck.

In the Kindergarten trials, he made his first outing since the Allison defeat. He led all the way, winning by nearly five lengths.

To date he has five outs, four wins, one-second and has won $73,911.

Do the Riggs feel it is unfair to other New Mexico Breeders whose horses are the product of local studs to be out running them with a colt by a Kentucky stud.

To try to prove that a New Mexico Bred foal can out run Pocket Coin, the Riggs went after this objective themselves.

A horse called "Me Francis" had done very well for them. This horse was 100 percent New Mexico bred by any definition. He's sire was Scout Leader, his dam, Me Challenge. Both reside permanently at Ho Jo Farm in Anthony, N.M. Me Francis had a full brother Earnest Scout. So the Riggs bought him and gave him to Mike Welch to train and entered him to run against Pocket Coin in the Rio Grande Kindergarten. First though he was altered. He had some foot trouble but he was ready at race time.

He didn't get the job done but he ran a good second. Says Mike, "Before he gets through that horse is going to make some folks around this race track pay some attention."

Why was one altered and not the other? Well we thought New Mexico breeding might be helped by the infusion of some Master Hand blood.

Fine but in the meantime where do the rest of us go?

Now a TRAINERS HELPER: Father: Joe Welch, former Internationally famous rodeo contestant and horse trainer of Ruidoso, N.M. My son asked me would I saddle Earnest Scout. I did.

Trainer: Son, Michael Welch. "It is great to have a horse like this to match owners like these. Mike saddled Pocket Coin."

One of the owners: The father: M. E. Riggs of Ft. Stockton, Texas. "I like to watch them inside on the new colored television. But this path to the winners circle is mighty pleasant to take. This week all three horses."

One of the owners: The son: M. E. Riggs of Ft. Stockton, Texas. "I like N.M. breeds. I like to run them in New Mexico."

The groom, Juan Martinez. "Always in the story are the horse, the owner, the trainer, never groom. I have brushed, fed, and cared for this horse for two years. He is a wonderful horse. Would you put me in the story?" Here you are Juan.

BY KAREN HALLORAN

THE FASTEST SEASONAL TIME FOR 440 YARDS was set by Magnum Lead in Sunday's sixth race. Owned by the Gentry Brothers of Lubbock, Texas, the gelding got off to a flying start in his Ruidoso debut and won by a half-length in a brisk 22.29 seconds.

APPRENTICE BARRY MACKABEN chalked up his first two victories on a recognized racetrack over the weekend. And both of his mounts were taking their first tour of the winner's circle as well. The first triumph came in Friday's fourth race when Mackaben guided Carle's Road a three-year-old gelding who got off as the 2-1 favorite in a maiden field, to a tremendous stretch rush which ended in a nose win. He then came back on Saturday aboard two-year-old Conic Lady in a similar 5/8-furlong test and captured another nose victory.

DAINTY BLUE BEAM turned in an impressive performance in Friday's 5 1/2-furlong tenth race when she got off at 36-1 odds and turned in the highest win payoff of the weekend. The five-year-old mare, guided by veteran jockey Richard Bickel, lay well back during the early going, then turned on the speed at the midway point of the allowance test to clear the wire with 1 3/4 lengths of daylight. Backers received $74.80.

JOCKEY DARREL BLEVINS was back in action over the weekend for the first time since a rough spill during the spring season at Sunland Park which laid him up with several fractured ribs. The popular rider didn't show any ill effects from the layoff, either. He chalked up a victory aboard Maybe So Lady in Friday's third race and another handling the reins of Plenty Tough Man in Saturday's first, both quarter horse events. He also notched two seconds and a third from ten trips to the post.

BARNSTORMER, the colt who finished fourth in the Sun Country Futurity at Sunland Park, took a 400-yard allowance trip on Friday and won easily. The two-year-old, trained by H. Don Farris, went immediately to the lead and held on for a neck margin at the wire as the odds-on favorite. The win payoff was $3.

JOCKEY FRANK NORTHCUTT suffered a strange turn of events in Thursday's fourth race. His mount, Keeper Of My Heart (5-1), a two-year-old filly making her first career start, broke on top and held an overpowering lead into the stretch turn of the 5/8-furlong test. But things went awry when the filly veered sharply into the inside rail. Northcutt was catapulted into the air and tumbled under the rail as Keeper Of My Heart went on to finish the race without him. Come And Get Me (No. 2) who ran second most of the way, took the victory. Northcutt was roughed up in the incident but walked away uninjured.

THE HIGH SHOW PAYOFF of the season turned up in Thursday's sixth race when Bay Signal (50-1) & Elder's Luck (47-1) came in second and third respectively. The show price on each was $16.80.

JOCKEY PEDRO BENITEZ HAD A ROUGH TRIP IN Thursday's eighth race. The apprentice was aboard Pairette (No. 3) in the six-furlong spin. As they rounded the stretch turn, Pairette clipped heels with another horse and stumbled throwing Benitez into the path of an oncoming horse. The rider was taken to Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital for X-rays, but apparently suffered only severe bruises and was released.

ANOTHER FAMILAR FACE was missing from the jockey roster over the weekend. Willie Lovell was bucked off a horse during morning workouts and took off all mounts, nursing a sore leg.

STANDING STAR changed hands at a hefty price on Saturday. The four-year-old gelding took a spin in a six-furlong claiming race and was bought by Carlo Jo Elkins for $10,000. He proved well worth the support too, as he won easily by a half-length for a $15.60 return.

Orby Neatherlin - 'Cook of the Month'

By Mary Ellen Payne
Extension Home Economist

I wish I could have been a schoolgirl in Quitaque, Texas during the early 60's. Because our Cook of the Month, Orby Neatherlin, was lunchroom manager and head cook at the Quitaque School. The meals she turned out were a real treat for youngsters and adults alike.

Orby is Mrs. Seaborn Neatherlin and she and her husband make their home in Ruidoso. Her life is an exciting blend of children, grandchildren, community service, hobby, traveling and home.

When you sit and visit with Orby you realize she has the traveling bug and has it bad! She was on her way to Los Angeles when I saw her last. The tour she was going on was sponsored through Security Bank to the King Tut Exhibit. There was a group of her friends from the Senior Citizens Center in Ruidoso who also went. Orby also went on the 1976 Bicentennial Tour from the Center that spent almost a month in the Eastern and Southern parts of the United States. Her traveling started when her daughter Glorianna Lane and husband Al lived in Idaho. She made more trips to Idaho than you can count on both hands. She has traveled New Mexico, too.

When we think about good cooks, we think about years of experience. Orby has tried her hand at many different food related jobs. She not only cooked in the Quitaque School, but cooked in a nursing home for 26 patients plus the staff in Tulia, Texas. Before the lunchroom job she owned a Drive-In Restaurant, worked in another restaurant and a bakery. It was working in the Bakery where she learned how to glaze pies to make them look pretty and professional. This recipe for Apple Pie includes the directions for glazing.

APPLE PIE

- 2 cups sliced fresh apples
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch

Place sliced apples in raw crust. Combine cinnamon, sugar and cornstarch - sprinkle over apples. Dot well with butter and place on top crust. Beat one egg well, brush on top crust and bake in 350 degree oven for 45 minutes or until golden brown.

Mr. & Mrs. Neatherlin have lived many places and Mr. Neatherline has had some interesting jobs. He was in Puerto Rico when the Second World War broke out. He was a construction worker. It was with much concern that he caught a ship back to the States while the Germans were regularly sinking ships that sailed the same area. For 23 years he owned an Auto Parts Store and was a mechanic. Tired of being inside on the job, he secured a job as greenskeeper at the Tulia golf course and later became a Park Ranger. His love for his outdoor job prompted Orby to make a hearty soup from her own recipe. She calls it "Hikers Hastener." She called it that because you get in a hurry to eat it!

HIKER'S HASTENER

- 2 medium potatoes
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 pint water
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 large onion
- 1/4 teaspoon celery salt
- 1 can tomatoes, mashed
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon allspice

Cook all vegetables until tender and soft. Put through a ricer add seasonings and reheat.

The Neatherlin's brought up three lovely daughters. Cloris Martin lives in Sherman, Texas and is an Interior Decorator. Glo (Glorianna) Lane lives in Ruidoso and she and husband Al are former owners of the Ruidoso News. Aleta Speery lives in Clute, Texas and is completing her education to be a Registered Nurse. With three daughters the Neatherlin's welcomed the five grandsons they have so they could get a taste of what-impish-boys can be like. There are seven grandchildren all totaled. The girls are the oldest (26) and the youngest (6) grandchildren. Orby will have the 6 year old grand-daughter this summer and she'll surely have to make her some "Peach Ice Cream."

PEACH ICE CREAM

- 2 - 14 ounce cans Eagle Brand Milk
- 2 milk cans of water
- dash of salt
- 6 eggs, beaten
- 2 pints half and half cream
- 4 cups crushed peaches (fresh, frozen or canned)
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 4 teaspoons vanilla

Cook Eagle Brand and water with salt in double boiler for 5 minutes. Beat and add slowly to beaten eggs. Cook 5 minutes more. Cool and chill well. Stir in other ingredients and freeze. Makes 5 quarts. Use a gallon and a half freezer.

Orby was a good lunch room manager because she kept up her education by going to the Texas Lunch Room Managers Shortcourse taught at Texas Tech in Lubbock for 2 weeks every summer. She loved that 2 weeks of school, the eating in the Cafeteria and living in the Corridor. She still reads the school menus in the paper and keeps a file of her favorite quantity recipes. She practically wrote the section on quantity foods by herself, for the soon to be published "Lincoln County Extension Homemakers Cookbook." Her lunches were so good and so popular that the Lions Club in Quitaque talked her into feeding them Dinner one night a week in the cafeteria. She used many of the U.S.D.A. Commodity Foods for school lunches and the school bought a whole beef and had it cut to her specifications. She always published the menu in the paper on the Friday before the new week and posted it Monday at school. One recipe she has scaled down the number is servings for us that she fixed at the nursing home and school is "Liver Lyonnaise." She says she prefers to use chicken liver and she told me, "You know everyone needs liver once in a while." She insists the flavor of the liver is quite different in this dish.

LIVER LYONNAISE

- 1 pound chicken or pork liver (beef if desired)
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons fat
- 3 1/2 cups cubed potatoes, uncooked
- 1 cup thinly sliced onions
- 1 - 10% ounce cream of celery soup
- 1/2 cup milk

Cut liver into 1 1/2 inch pieces. Blend flour and half of salt and pepper. Roll liver in flour mix and brown lightly in the 3 tablespoons fat. Remove from pan. Saute onion and potatoes in the same heavy pan until slightly tender and lightly brown. Layer liver and onion potatoes in baking dish. Combine milk, salt, pepper and soup. Pour over and bake 350 degrees for 10-12 minutes covered.

Being an active community person Orby needs to "tote" several times a month. One of the best is "Peanut Peath Bread."

PEANUT PEACH BREAD

- 2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon soda

- One third cup sugar
- 1/4 cup peanut butter
- 1 egg
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- Two-thirds cup chopped dried peaches (apricots or prunes can also be used)

Combine dry ingredients, cut in peanut butter. Beat egg and milk, soak peaches in mixture, for 5 minutes. Add flour mixture. Pour in greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes or well browned.

Orby's community activities include membership on the Mayor's Committee on Aging, the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Extension Club, Lincoln County Extension Homemakers Council, the Democratic Women's Club and she volunteers several days a week at the Adult Recreation Center (formerly Senior Citizens Center). She has friends from all over Texas who now live in Ruidoso. Her latest hobby is water colors that she took up after having lessons with Dorothy Knapp. She loves orange and red colors in large areas and does beautiful trees. Orby sews, makes dolls, loves to read, work in ceramics, crochets and knits. She does it all beautifully, too.

Since I can't be that kid in Quitaque, Texas I'll have to settle for her excellent recipes and the couple times a year I get in on a delicious dish she brings to a covered dish luncheon.

Practically all the more popular states of the union will send delegates to the Houston convention for Al Smith. The two notable exceptions are Missouri and Texas. The former is for Reed, the latter for anyone to defeat Al Smith. Henry Hoffman had a birthday and Hotel Garrard prepared a big feed for the occasion and about 15 guests responded to the invitation to break bread with Henry on his natal day. However, Henry was called out on the line, and couldn't be present at the feed, which though disappointing to guests, did not prevent them from "digging in" heartily on the heavily laden table. Anyhow it was a gastronomic treat and the hope was expressed that when the annual event again rolls around that all will meet around the same board, and with Henry present. Mrs. M.U. Finley left Tuesday for Clovis to greet her newest granddaughter, born to Mr. & Mrs. Harry Lyman, April 30th. The wee tot has been named Barbara Jane.

A Bowl of Activities

from Nogal - by Robie Burk

Here is a fun quiz for the young adults or teenagers. Do young men drop you? In those first dates, do you:

- 1) Become serious too soon? (1) Take expensive evenings for granted? (2) Act very forward or "sexy"? (3) Talk about other men you have dated? (4) Show jealousy or possessiveness? (5) Discuss your family critically or unfavorably? (6) Play a reserved or indifferent role? (7) Insist on having your own way? (8) Seem moody, self-centered or suspicious? (9) Reflect a "highbrow" or intellectual air? (10) Brag about your career and activities? (11) Monopolize the conversation? (12) Appear either fanatical or cynical about religion? (13) Encourage other men while with him?

Any "yes" answer reveals a situation you should correct. Among the first seven, even one wrong reply may be serious enough to account for your trouble.

Why do young men drop young girls? According to research findings, women drop men mainly because of the male's character defects, his disregard of the girl's feelings or desires, "two timing" and also decided differences in age and background. (by Ph.D. Pennsylvania State College, Dpt.)

This was published in the Ladies Home Journal in 1954, well it could apply today.

Straight talk from a teenager! "Dear Jan: When a boy tells you he loves you and you feel the same way you can't think he was just giving you a line. But that's what happened to me. How do you know for sure when a boy says he loves you?"

First, you should think about how he acts. Does his actions match his words? If he dates you and wants to meet your folks and lights up everytime he sees you - he is in love!

More teenage talk next week.

Director of the Highway Patrol: There are two types of pedestrians today - the quick and the dead."

A Dash of Wisdom!

It takes a mature person to be really young.

Although a man may have the key to success, he still has to locate the keyhole.

People with an ax to grind often fly off the handle.

Many a live wife would be dead without connections.

When was the last time your chimney was clean?

The soot and creosote that accumulates in your chimney hangs there like a time bomb waiting for that chance spark to ignite it.

The chimney fire spews burning balls of fire out the chimney onto your roof and yard.

A small crack in your chimney due to settling or thermal shock is all a chimney fire needs to enter your home.

In a Fire Marshall's survey of 8 Northern states, 1 out of every 20 fires were the direct result of chimney fires.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I wanted to add some information to the article you had last week.

Today an estimated six million persons in the United States are affected by mental retardation. This is directly felt by some twenty million American family members. Of these, 75 percent are trainable to some extent according to their individual handicap, 20 percent are trainable for immediate community placement, and 5 percent are untrainable. The truth is, a large percentage of these people are educable and can achieve adequate social-economic adjustment in the community with proper education and training. One basic difference between a retarded person and a non-retarded person is the rate of learning. The retarded person learns at a different rate depending upon the degree of retardation. A growing interest in improving the education and treatment of the mentally retarded is now indicated by the fact that the total health, education, and welfare expenditures for mental retardation has risen tremendously in the past twenty years. Continual research by the National Institute of Mental Health and state and county governments has made possible improved lives for many of our citizens.

Here in Lincoln County, Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School is constantly striving for the betterment of our retarded citizens. Fort Stanton provides training programs for mild, moderate and severely retarded people ranging in age from 12 to 60. Specialized programs for the retarded person include self care and hygiene, academic training, vocational training, physical education and recreational education. A logical sequence of progress within these programs is established for the students. First, basic self care and hygiene is taught. This is incorporated in the academic program and cottage daily life. Once a student has proven competency through careful testing and evaluation in this first phase of training, he/she may enter the various vocational training programs offered at Fort Stanton. These programs include farming; ranching, building trades, ceramics, as well as on-the-job work situations. Students in on-the-job work situations learn in the following areas: plumbing, carpentry, agriculture and ranch skills, custodian and maintenance skills, and infirmary duties. These on-the-job work experiences will help them gain confidence and skill in a vocational area which will be of great value to the student in his/her growth towards self independence. When the student has successfully mastered self care and hygiene, vocational skills, and social behavior, he or she will qualify for placement in Fort Stanton's transitional home; a training program designed to further educate students toward self reliance, group living, positive social behavior and community placement. After successful adjustment to the transitional home, the student may qualify for community placement.

In the beginning of July, the Zia Therapy Center, working with qualified students from Fort Stanton, will open a new community center in Carrizozo's former hospital building. This new program will consist of vocational programs, recreational programs, a sheltered workshop, group home living, full and part time job placement and eventual community placement.

Some students at Fort Stanton are prepared for job placement now; others will need further training in the sheltered workshop. A sheltered workshop is a work-orientated rehabilitation facility with a controlled working environment and individual goals which utilize work experience and related services for assisting the handicapped person to progress toward normal living and productive educational status (Sheltered Workshops - A Handbook 1966, Page 1). The sheltered workshop in the new Carrizozo center will analyze the skill requirements of a specific job and work individually with the students to train them to fulfill job assignments as well as to help the students with their work attitudes and community adjustment. The students will commute from Fort Stanton to Carrizozo daily. The new Carrizozo center will also establish a group home. Fort Stanton students will live together under the supervision of a group home supervisor and the new center.

A new trend is being established in the United States to prepare handicapped people toward community placement. Here in New Mexico, under a new state program called "Mainstream", retarded citizens are being returned from state hospitals and training schools to communities where it is possible for them to function in school, home, and job placement. Similar programs have been established across our country. The Villa Solano Project, started approximately one year ago at the Tabosa School in Roswell, places handicapped people in several group homes in the Roswell and Hagerman area. Some of these people attend public school programs in Hagerman and Roswell, & some commute daily to the Tabosa school. The consensus is that the project has been an outstanding success. The people involved in the Program have shown a greater feeling of self-worth and productivity.

It will take time, cooperative understanding, and communication among all those involved and interested in the new Carrizozo Community Center for success to be achieved. I am looking forward to meeting all people in Carrizozo and the surrounding areas to discuss our new Center. In the next few weeks, I will be meeting with our community's business people and the general public to establish proper job placement for the qualified students at Fort Stanton. Any ideas you have, or help you may give regarding this new Center would be greatly appreciated. This is a community program and we need your support so we all can learn and grow together in this community effort to help those less fortunate than us, and to give those people the chance they deserve in their courageous struggle to overcome their handicap.

It is no secret in this household that I am a quilt fanatic. I think "quilt and patchwork" all the time. When the children "get older" I will make an honest-to-goodness, authentic looking quilt. One of my cartoons appeared in the June issue of a quilters magazine, Quilter's Newsletter Magazine, the magazine for quilt lovers.

I first got bit by the quilting bee several years ago when a friend, Mrs. Dan McKinley, introduced me to the art of Patchwork and Quilting. Other creative women who I have asked to show me their work are Evelyn Seay, Mrs. E. Bello, Mary V. Chavez, Arsenia Narvaez, Susan Harkey Wells, Ardelcia Herrera, Mrs. Elias Otero, Clara Snow, Ramona Ortiz, Mrs. Paul Otero, Ann Withers and former residents Ann Wright and Linda Calloway. Just last week Nancy Miller showed me the quilt she has on a hoop frame that she is quilting for her son. The top was pieced by his grandmother.

Don't be surprised if one day I show at your doorstep and say, "I heard you are quilting. May I please see?"

Want to get rid, in a most delicious way, of that jar of leftover molasses? Here is a recipe for Ginger Creams that female or male readers may want to try out. Mix one-third cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup molasses, 1 egg and 1/2 cup water. Blend in 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1/2 teaspoon each of salt, soda, nutmeg, cloves & cinnamon. Chill. Drop by teaspoons 2 inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool. Frost with vanilla butter frosting.

Frosting: Blend one-sixth cup soft margarine & 1 1/2 cups confectioners sugar. Stir in three-fourths teaspoon vanilla & 1 tablespoon milk, beat.

This recipe is by Margaret Ware, former resident now living in Las Cruces.

Their menu will include pizza, naturally, submarine sandwiches and a really special "JimMc" sandwich. They will also serve draft dark and light beer only, wine ordered by the bottle and soft drinks. It was in the process of being sold and would have been closed Tuesday. We are sorry to lose that business.

'Digest' Uses Hatchet On Cattlemen

New Mexico Cattleman calls readers digest article a hatchet job ... A March READERS DIGEST magazine article which pictures ranchers as villains who have turned the Western public rangelands into vast "deserts" by illegal overgrazing was termed "slanderous" and "inflammatory" by Phil Harvey, Carrizozo, President of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Assn.

Ranchers are accused in the article of using political pressure to force the federal Bureau of Land Management to give up "even trying to police the law" restricting grazing on public lands. "This will come as news to ranchers using the public lands who daily are burdened with more and more government restrictions on their operations," Harvey said.

He expressed concern that the magazine article "may lead people to believe that the only way to improve the range is to eliminate livestock grazing". He pointed out, however, that even the Interior Range Condition Report of January, 1975 which he said "greatly exaggerates" the amount of range in substandard condition, "forceably asserts that livestock removal is not the solution for correcting undesirable range conditions. That report states: 'Independent research and BLM demonstration allotments show conclusively that ranges improve faster when livestock use is managed and controlled by a grazing system, developed to achieve multiple-use objectives, than without livestock use.'"

Writer James Nathan Miller alleges in the READERS DIGEST article that overgrazing "is the most widespread cause of environmental damage in America." and that there are vast "bare, gullied, cactus-and-sagebrush deserts stretching from Wyoming to Oregon to the Mexican border" created by livestock grazing. Harvey said this was "ridiculous" and if the author "had interviewed some knowledgeable range scientists or Interior specialists, he might have gained a little better understanding and perspective of range problems."

He added that Interior Assoc. Dir. George Turcott testified in Congress recently that deterioration on most of the public range had been halted and that the 15 to 20 percent still deteriorating was due mostly to excess herds of protected wild horses and burros.

Harvey said that the DIGEST article "distorts past history and ignores recent history" regarding laws governing public range uses. "Contrary to the DIGEST writer, it was the western livestock industry which helped draft and supported enactment of the Taylor Grazing Act. Most ranchers realized that such a law was in their own best interests."

The DIGEST article describes Sec. of the Interior Cecil Andrus as a man who, according to the article, "is trying to wrest control of the Interior Dept. from the outside interests that long run it by remote control." Miller claims that the BLM is controlled by miners and ranchers.

"Livestock ranchers today are suffering from a precarious financial situation," Harvey said. "If we control Congress and BLM as this article asserts, then we certainly have done a poor job of protecting our interests."

He also pointed out that "the only consistent source of on-the-ground range improvement funds have been the grazing fees paid by ranchers and the substantial investments made by the ranchers out of their own pockets. He quoted an October, 1977, federal report which states that range improvements made by ranchers "that enhance other resource uses may provide more indirect benefits to the other uses than direct benefits to livestock grazing without any sharing in the relative cost."

Harvey stated that "the livestock industry is interested in improving the range and is doing something about it."

The Cattle Growers' Chief suggested that the READERS DIGEST article "is a disservice to the Secretary of Interior, the nation's livestock industry and concerned environmentalists. Such an intemperate and inflammatory hatchet-job does not encourage the kind of responsibility and mutual understanding that all interested parties must have if we are to equitably resolve some of the difficult problems and conflicts involving the public lands."

John The Baptist Gives Us Musical Scale

La Fiesta de San Juan Bautista, Patron Saint of the century-old church in Lincoln, this year falls of itself on a convenient Saturday. Many of you still feel strong attachment to the church where you were baptized, confirmed, married...

St. John the Baptist was held up as a Patron, or "pattern" to be imitated by many generations, Spanish, Mexican, Anglo or whatever. "For he will be a great man in the Lord's sight...He will bring back many...to the Lord their God". Lk. 1.

Musicians: You can thank St. John for the musical scales we've used for so many centuries. The Latin hymn sung on the vigil of his Feast starts: UT queant laxis REsonare fibris, Mira gestorum FAmulae tuorum etc.

Long ago DO was substituted for UT which is rather unmusical. Each syllable underlined starts a 1/2 tone or full tone higher, giving us the scale that has set "Western" music apart from say, Oriental.

The Liturgy, in English and Spanish, will be celebrated in Lincoln Church Sat. 24 June at 4 p.m.

Old Lincoln by Hattie Phillips

Penny McKnight and his son Mark of Aztec spent a week with their parents and grandparents, respectively, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy McKnight recently. They all had a wonderful time and Leroy and Amelia wanted to keep their grandson for the summer.

Penny's wife was attending a reading workshop that week and was unable to be with them so they missed her a lot and their daughter Robin was at a cheerleaders clinic in Durango, Colo. and missed the visit too.

Leroy and Amelia are having a hard time with the coyotes killing their lambs, but on the bright side they have had some good rains and are hoping for more.

Our local girls had a good time at their basketball clinic and worked very hard. They learned many new techniques and they plan to have a real good team next year. However, they did well this year.

Betty Martin entertained with a lovely dinner party at her home last Sunday evening. The food was delicious and everyone had a marvelous time.

We are all praying and hoping for a quick recovery for Mary Lucero who is seriously ill at the Mayo Clinic. Her husband and children are with her there.
