County Commission Narrows To Five For Managers Job

The Lincoln County Commission narrowed the list of applicants for the job of County Manager to a final five names. The commission has decided to conduct interviews with Christopher Hagg, Rick Island III, John S. Kormanik, Santa Fe; David House, Labadieville, La.; Thomas M. Faughn, D'Land, Florida; and Spencer Bert Atkins from Alamogordo.

The county manager's job has been vacant for several weeks after the resignation of Les Olsen. Mr. Olsen took over the County Managers job for Eddy County at that time.

In the interim, each county commissioner has been the acting manager on a rotating basis for a week at a time.

In other commission business, the Lincoln Historical Commission appeared before the County Commission in regard to their amendment to their town ordinance number 17, which defines the boundaries of Lincoln.

The Joint Powers agreement with the Extra Territorial Commission ended with the body recommending that the existing subdivision ordinances were sufficient in the Ruidoso to Capitan area. The group disbanded after their recommendation.

Walt Wilson was appointed to the Planning and Zoning Commission to fill the unexpired term of John Allen Hightower.

Ursula Chavez, from the Hondo area was appointed to the Health Systems Agency, Sub area Council.

The Commission also voted that they would like to increase the Road Tax on Subdivisions, but decided to take no action until public hearing could be arranged.

Corona School System and their school busses received permission from the commissioners to use the County Frequency so that in bad weather the busses can be in contact with school officials if an emergency arises.

Citizens State Bank Provides Scholarship

Citizens State Bank of Carrizozo has agreed to provide a scholarship to the Roswell Campus of Eastern New Mexico University for a Lincoln County high school senior interested in one of the vocational courses offered on the Roswell Campus.

Seniors at high schools in Capitan,

Carrizozo and Corona are eligible to apply, according to Johnson Stearns, president of Citizens State Bank who authorized the scholarship. The scholarship is worth $206 per semester for two semesters or $412 per year. The Roswell Campus offers over a dozen vocational courses as well as two years of academics in most majors.

The Roswell Campus is one of the few two-year institutions in the Southwest to have dormitory and cafeteria facilities for students who must reside on campus.

Stearns said he is hopeful that students using the scholarship will obtain job skills and then return to the Carrizozo-Capitan-Corona area to work. The Citizens State Bank scholarship will be administered through the ENMU Roswell Foundation, a non-profit corporation dedicated to furthering the progress and image of ENMU-R. The foundation offers several scholarships each year on its own.

Students enrolled in vocational courses attend classes or are in labs 30 hours per week. Courses range from nine months to two years in length.

Counselors at Capitan-Carrizozo-Corona high schools have full information on the scholarship for interested students.

Plenty of Action at Jr. High Track Meet!

Carrizozo 5th and 6th Grade 880 Yard Relay runners Kaye Zumwalt and Liz Beltran make baton exchange during Lincoln County Junior High Relays held last Friday afternoon at Labbs Field.

M-Y T-I-M-E

by Michael Swickard

We can learn from nature, if we want. I was reading the other day of a biological experiment involving the common every-day frog. Most times the frog knows when to move to avoid danger, but as it would seem almost human like, the frog loses every time in one test of his ability to recognize danger and do something about it.

If a frog is placed in a pan of warm water, the frog most times will contentedly sit there. Now if you very gradually raise the temperature of the pan of water, the frog every time will remain seated. The frog will show no inclination to escape danger, boiling to death. He could easily hop his way to safety, but he is apparently thinking about something else. He will just sit there, contently peering over the edge of the pan while the steam curls around his nose.

Eventually the boiling frog will pay on to his reward, having fallen prey to a misfortune that he could easily have avoided.

If you set a frog in a boiling pan of water, zap, he jumps out of there quicker than you can say, "Jack Robinson".

Alas, though, if you turn the heat up very slowly, you can send his saddle home, because it will never occur to the frog to move.

Americans seem to fall victim to the same inadequacy. In a decline of a few years, we have seen the period and fall of almost every aspect of our lives. The moral fiber of our kids, the economic stability of our country, the military might of our nation, and many more areas.

These things have happened slowly so that the American public could be lured into staying in the pan of water.

Starting with the growth of our bureaucracy, note that while the U.S. population multiplied 60 times from 1789 to 1974, the size of the government bureaucracy in the same period of time multiplied a whopping 8,170 times. In just 50 years the federal budget has increased, a frog strangling, 15,895 percent. From 1952 to 1972 the public payroll grew from $35 billion to $150 billion.

Today one in every six Americans works for the government, and since 1960, 236 new Federal agencies have been created.

Mind you this is us turning up the fire on ourselves. The government spends $1.26 billion per day, $52 million per hour, $871,000 per minute, and $14,600 per second. Now comes the biggest hoax. The government tells us that we are 600 billion in debt and we shudder. When was the last time that the government and the elected have admitted that we are 3.4 TRILLION dollars in debt in our social security system.

We have elected the ones that say them magic words, "fred" until the fire is burning briskly.

Also we have accepted a slowly deteriorating "youth scene" without uttering a croak of protest.

Narcotic and alcohol usage by America's youth is an indescribable shame. The "Playboy" philosophy has been accepted as the banner of the now generation.

Many of our difficulties with the present generation of your people began in the tender years of their childhood. There is a critical period during the first four or five years of a child's life when they can be taught proper attitudes. These early concepts became rather permanent. If it is important to produce respectful, responsible young citizens, then we should set out to mold them accordingly. The point is obvious, heredity does not equip a child with proper attitudes; children will learn what they are taught.

Respectful and responsible children result from families where the proper combination of love and discipline is present. An absence of either is disastrous.

The central cause of the turmoil among the young must again be found in the tender years of their childhood. We demanded—neither respect nor responsible behavior from our children and it should not be surprising that some of our young citizens are now demonstrating the absence of these virtues.

And further, most employers will admit that the quality of most American workers is terrible. In Lincoln County we are lucky that the work ethic still in force for some, but at either cost, workers no longer feel compelled to give value for value received.

I was talking to the manager of a department store in Alamogordo the other day, and he mentioned that he had moved from Los Angeles a few months before. Out here he said at least some of the workers felt obligated to work for their wage.

Again our "give away" society has given the wrong impression to the workers of America. Nothing is for free, at least for long it isn't.

Come on sunrise, a new day is coming, a day of reckoning when we will not have the money for all of these give aways and they will end. It is as simple as that.

This country was founded under a principle known as "value for value". You do a day's work and you get a day's wages. Value for value was the way we operated businesses when we were trading potatoes for corn, or lumber for beef.

Gradually, much like the frog sitting in the pan, we have changed to "Give me-for nothing" society.

It is the same for our country as it is for the computer programming job. If you put garbage into the system, you will get garbage out. This country is only as good as the people that are in it.

If you want value from this country, you must give value, or someday, and sooner than you think, the temperature will rise until we very quietly expire. MS

Fountain of Living Church Holds Revival

A Great Miracle Crusade: Concentration of charismatic gifts in action. Hope for the World. Rev. Israel Leon will be giving a Revival April 30 to May 6 at the Fountain of Living Water Church in San Patricio. Services start at 7:30 p.m. each night entrance is free and everyone is welcomed to attend. The service will be translated in English.

Sixty years ago, a sick person who went to the hospital took a fifty-fifty chance that its ministrations would do more harm than good. Yet doctors were highly esteemed in public opinion. Today, when his brand of medicine is vastly improved, the medic's standing in the polls has plunged dramatically. An even lower standing afflicts the nation's press today, even though, it, too, is doing a far better job than yesteryear. In current polls, newspaper people are rated near the bottom of the occupational list, down among labor leaders, congressmen and used car salesmen. The doctor's fall off can probably be attributed to the unconscionable money grubbing and interminable golf playing and resort hopping of a visible segment of that profession. Unfortunately, no such sybaritic explanation accounts for the press's ill repute. It is in disfavor precisely because it is doing its job better than ever before, which is to say, it is digging for news more abrasively and pursuing frauds more relentlessly than ever before. Much is said of press errors. However, it is not the errors of investigation but the investigation itself, and the commotion and human carnage it causes that stimulates the current popular hostility. In the main, the press charges against Nixon and Agnew, Wayne Hayes and Bert Lance, the Watergate aides and the bribe-taking congressmen, have stood up. It is the diligence of the press in constantly looking for something wrong, not its carelessness, that is resented by large numbers. This means that large numbers object to the true mission of the press. It was not granted constitutional immunities and protection so it could go into the pap dispensing business of doing public relations work for celebrities but rather so it could hold their actions and poses up to a merciless light. In former periods, we have had a pap dispensing press and before we sink back into it by popular demand, let's take a look at what this entails.

It is often complained that celebrities — presidents for instance — are watched too closely, that the press has no respect for their privacy and that their most trivial quirks and personal ailments are callously blared out to the public. But it is the opposite press attitude — over-respect for a public person's privacy — that has caused the worst press derelictions.

In the autumn of 1944, there was enough circumstantial evidence of President Roosevelt's medical unfitness for a fourth term that the press should have battered through the White House defenses, printed all it knew of the President's decrepitude, and spearheaded a demand for honest information from outside experts. Perhaps the voters, given the facts, would have preferred a failing Roosevelt to a robust Dewey. But an over-polite press let them make the choice in the dark.

A similar failure of press intrusiveness occurred during President Eisenhower's two major illnesses late in his first term: the massive heart attack and the ileitis operation. A docile press cooperated with White House publicists in selling the false impression that Ike was really in charge of the major problems when in fact some reporters were bringing to their editors evidence that for a considerable period Ike was unaware of vital world events and unable to cope even minimally with his vast responsibilities, evidence that went mostly unpublished.

The press is in disfavor, too, for supposedly being too quick to create scandals, for blowing up petty events and intimidating the government into launching damaging probes of office holders. Having lived through the 1950s and 1960s, when it was necessary to build a bonfire under most of the press to get it moving on a real scandal, I contend that a fire-eating press is far better for the Republic than the reluctant dragon of yesterday.

I cite three instances involving the New York Times, not because it represents the worst in newspapers but the best, and its influential news policy, therefore, has great significance.

The first is oft-cited case that the Times had foreknowledge of President Kennedy's half-cocked Bay of Pigs operation but, out of deference to the government, kept it quiet — a service Kennedy later lamented.

In 1957-58, Drew Pearson and I published many stories about widespread favor-taking and case-fixing in the federal regulatory commissions. This trail, in the end, led to Eisenhower's White House chief of staff, Sherman Adams, and forced his ouster. This scandal almost died out two or three times because the general press would not take it up. There was an attitude at large in the press, typified by the Times, that before a paper accused an official there should be an official accusation, or at least an accusation by an official. Unfortunately, government agencies had a complementary policy: don't accuse anyone unless forced to do so by press disclosure. Finally, we published excerpts from a memorandum prepared by the chief counsel of a House subcommittee proposing an investigation of general types of misconduct by unnamed persons. This memorandum was kind of thin beer since we had already been naming the offenders and specifying their acts. But the existence of an official concern legitimized this story for the Times, which published the memo in a front-page account that set off an avalanche of press coverage and official reaction. Almost a decade later, our expose of Senator Tom Dodd was dying on the vine because other news outfits wouldn't pick it up. Two fine Times reporters submitted several excellent stories on Dodd but they were pigeonholed by editors because there had not been any official accusation against Dodd. "We report news, we do not create news," they said. Fortunately, the Times scrapped this policy when it wrongly believed the Washington Post was about to jump in on the Dodd story. With the press finally in full pursuit of this inordinately documented scandal, the Senate censured Dodd and adopted its first code of ethics in two centuries. When the best of newspapers are displaying such investigative caution one dreads to recall what the mediocre were doing. Do we really want to go back to the days of an inoffensive press that was reluctant to roil the public or affront the powerful by breaking the unpleasant news about sick presidents, corrupt commissioners and bribe-taking congressmen?

The youngest model, at the Woman's Club style show, Lincoln County Home Spin, Callie Gnatkowski, is planning to wear the 'Little Bo Peep' dress she modeled to the Capitan Lead Class this fall while leading her shaggy sheep, 'Lipton'. The 4th grade class has been working with description adjectives. This story by Lisa Howard, paints a word picture in the readers' mind: "The Palomino"

Over the crackling of the flames, I heard a horse's screams. I was out on the plains of New Mexico. I was looking for a palomino stallion. I put out the fire and went after him. I chased him for a long time and then roped him. His spirit left him, and the fire left him. I took the rope off and with a kick he ran. I watched till the silver tip of his tail went out of sight.

OVER THE SECOND CUP

Boxing gloves held the lighted candles and the theme music of 'Rocky' was played at the Four Winds dinner in honor of boxing coach, Nat Chavez. Life size drawings of boxers and a floral center piece with boxing figures in its midst, were all part of the effects planned by Rita Narvaez on behalf of the boxers' parents for the event. Dr. Dale Goad, who was there with his wife, Cheri, gave the blessing. Jesse Castaneda, of Santa Fe, executive director of the Presidents Council of Physical Fitness and guest speaker was accompanied by his wife Marie, who is the sister of runner Frank Shorter of Olympic marathon fame.

Joe DeVetis, Carrizozo teacher and Art Gallery instructor was the person behind the brush who did Gift Gallery sign work on the Faden building. Roy Dow and Catherine Cornett still refuse to reveal what 'type lice' is in connection with early day printing techniques. Won't someone with printing experience in the '40 drop me a note to tell readers why they only smile when asked?

Thinkin' In Lincoln by Mary Ellen Payne Extension Home Economist

Are you concerned about the National Wilderness System? Do you want to know more about the roadless areas proposed for New Mexico? You will have an opportunity to learn more and ask questions on these topics on May 10th. On this date the Range Task Force at Santa Fe, New Mexico State University will be in the County Commissioner's Room at 2:00 p.m. to discuss the issues.

During an initial inventory, the Bureau of Land Management identified 329 roadless areas in the state with a total of nearly 6 million acres. Out of this total, they chose 75 roadless areas totaling 1.8 million acres as warranting intensive inventory for wilderness characteristics.

On March 12, the BLM opened a 90-day comment period on their proposals. During this period, they are requesting the public to assess the accuracy of the wilderness characteristics inventory and comment on whether they agree with the BLM's wilderness recommendations.

The Lincoln County program, the 10th of May, will be structured in the format of a panel discussion. Each team member will present a ten-minute presentation which discusses the impacts of wilderness on range management, livestock grazing, wildlife management, recreation, mineral and energy development and "off road vehicle" use. Both pro and anti-wilderness views will be presented. In addition, if you have any specific questions, the Task Force will try to address them also.

After a question and answer period, you will be presented with a "Roadless Area Field Examination Checklist" to assist you in evaluating individual areas for wilderness potential.

Appreciation Buffet Honors Community Choir (Hosannas)

The rigorous schedule of rehearsals and performances completed by the HOSANNAS, was recognized with an appreciation buffet given recently by members of Trinity United Methodist Church in Carrizozo.

The HOSANNAS, composed of volunteer singers from Baptist, B'Hal, Catholic, United Presbyterian and United Methodist Churches, began weekly 2-hour rehearsals for the Easter folk musical "He's Alive" by John F. Wilson, well before Easter, increasing rehearsals to twice weekly between its five performances in April.

"There were highlights at every performance" said the conductor of The HOSANNAS, David J. Lynch, pastor of the Capitan-Carrizozo United Methodist Churches. "If I were to choose two they would be: The thrill of presenting selections from the musical to the capacity audience of all denominations gathered in its sanctuary at the invitation of Santa Rita Catholic Church on Easter evening for a special service of music-dedicating its organ, and the variety of comments from members of each community where we performed, expressing deep-seated pleasure over the denominational representation within the choir itself - a sentiment sincerely shared by the members of The HOSANNAS."

The buffet was preceded by words of welcome and appreciation from The president of the United Methodist Women, Mrs. Maggie Bohks, who smiled and prefaced her remarks by saying "As Bob Hope would say, The HOSANNAS is Carrizozo's answer to the Mormon Tabernacle Choir." She was followed by her husband, Mr. Bob Bohks, Lay Leader of the congregation, who commended the group for its contribution to the life and culture of the town and surrounding communities. He also read a letter of warm appreciation addressed to the HOSANNAS by the Reverend Fr. David Bergs, pastor of the Santa Rita Parish. "This is something that will be talked about for a long time" said Mr. Bohks.

The members of The HOSANNAS deeply appreciated the Church's expression of support and good-will, and thoroughly enjoyed a most tasty buffet, beautifully served in an attractively decorated fellowship hall.

Washington Report From Your Congressman HAROLD RUNNELS 96-2

Military Medicine Is Ailing Abolishing the draft in 1972 may have helped to heal the wounds opened in our country by the Vietnam war, but it has left our military medical system ailing desperately. We do not have enough doctors in the armed services because the draft is no longer compelling them to join. The shortage of military doctors is so bad that Army Secretary Clifford Alexander has warned that there might not be enough of them to give adequate care to the wounded if war should break out. Sophisticated conventional weapons are certain to cause high casualty rates and it is possible that our soldiers would be exposed to chemical, biological, or even nuclear weapons in the next war, yet our supply of doctors is worsening. Last year the Army was 22% short of the number of physicians they figure they needed on active duty. They had only 4,140 - a shortfall of 1,133. The shortage is nearly as bad in the other branches of the military. The shortage in the reserves is particularly acute and in a war two-thirds of the medical support would come from reserve forces. The Department of Defense expects to have 10,552 military doctors on active duty by the end of this fiscal year, but that will still leave the services short about 10% of the authorized strength. Even under the most optimistic projections from the Pentagon, the military services would not have all the physicians they need until 1984. And that assumes that Congress will pass some requested incentive programs. The doctors who were drafted, or volunteered for duty in exchange for advanced specialty education, are now coming to the end of their commitment so the shortage of physicians is being compounded. They are unhappy with the transient military life; shortage of support staff, and equipment in some locations; being compelled to work outside their specialty; the demands on their free time, and, most importantly, the lack of parity with civilian doctors' incomes. Beginning military doctors make about $1,350-$1,650 a month. The money increases with length of service and promotions are fairly rapid. A colonel-specialist with 26 years of service can make as much as $43,300 a year, but most civilian physicians make much more in less time. Last year the Army Surgeon General reported that the current median annual income for medical doctors throughout the country is $72,303 per doctor. There are three special military physician incentive pay programs, but they haven't been able to approach parity with civilian physician incomes. The maximum available provides up to $17,000 a year extra but it hasn't been enough to retain the number of physicians needed. Several new incentive pay programs are currently pending in Congress to attract and keep doctors in the service. Congress is also going to be asked to upgrade the Health Professions Scholarship Program to make it competitive with non-military health profession scholarship and loan programs. In addition, the Uniformed Services University of Health Sciences will graduate its first class of 12 doctors in 1980 and provide 40 graduates a year after that. Civilian doctors are being contracted in some locations, para-professionals are assuming an increased role, and CHAMPUS (Civilian Health and Medical Program for Uniformed Services that resembles Medicaid) are helping to alleviate the problem now. But these programs alone won't be enough. It is plain that if we are to achieve and maintain the required number of military physicians for the 9.2 million people who depend on them, we must successfully resolve the questions of pay comparability, scholarships and advanced training.

Sense. . . . & Nonsense

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Look for a heated confrontation in the Senate when the SALT II treaty comes up for debate later this year.

There are a number of problems with this treaty, "verification" being the dominant one.

Without adequate methods for the U.S. to verify that the Soviets are living up to the letter of the treaty, the document is meaningless.

But the USSR doesn't cotton to us checking to ensure that they are abiding by the limitations as the treaty stipulates, and as we will certainly have to.

Presently, unless that sticking point and some others are resolved, I lean against the SALT II treaty.

The Soviets have never given us or any other country reason to take their word at face value. This issue is simply too critical for us to play nice guy and finish dead last.

The annual growth of the American worker's productivity from 1948 to 1955 was 3.1 percent. It dropped to a 2.3 percent from 1955 to 1965 and it plummeted to only 1 percent from 1973 to 1977.

Last year worker productivity increased a dismal 1 percent.

What did the federal government do about it?

It abolished the federal agency that monitors falling output.

What we don't know won't hurt us, right?

YOUR TURN - Frustration, anger and underlying fear.

That's the prevailing mood in America today and the mail I receive certainly reflects that mood.

As taxes, prices, inflation, and government spending continue upward, the boiling point of Americans responds in kind.

The following excerpts from New Mexicans' letters clarifies that point very well, and very depressingly:

"Besides the monumental tax we had already paid, because we both work and don't freeload, we had to send the IRS nearly $1,000 of it. This year we have about $500 left and now we have to send the IRS another $400, which leaves us no savings."

"Last evening I finally mailed off my state and federal income tax returns. I am still so angry at the total disregard of our elected officials for the middle income worker that I just don't know what to think."

"What a ripoff! We pay and pay and pay and still one out of every $5 we earn goes for direct federal taxation."

"Inflation and taxes continue to erode our savings. We are paying too high a price for our thrift, which is no longer a virtue but fast becoming a millstone around our necks."

"I give up trying to be a good citizen. I can't trust or believe what the government says."

"It's a pretty sorry state of affairs when the country has to pay for the whole world, then turn around and cut veterans' health benefits."

I am acutely aware of your mood, and I think we're going to see some positive steps this Congressional session to respond to that mood. But then, I'm a born optimist.

Game & Fish News

by Ron Porter

Wildlife law enforcement alone is not the entire answer to wildlife preservation, but more and more it is becoming more important as human populations increase and wildlife habitats decrease. Most sportsmen agree that there is a need for laws and regulations that are wisely conceived for an adequately trained body of professional people to administer these laws, and for strengthened support of the courts. Public opinion plays an important part in any enforcement program, for unless wildlife legislation and control grow out of the demands of an amused populace, a large proportion of our wildlife resources may be sacrificed to the interests of special groups or of misguided individuals.

Most New Mexico sportsmen remember a recent research study conducted by the game department that showed we in New Mexico may lose up to 34,000 deer a year to out-of-season killing. The estimated value of wild animals lost is in the millions of dollars, all due to poaching. Poaching is not directed only to deer. All wildlife feels the effect from poaching. The term "poaching" applies to all types of deliberate, illegal killing and collecting of wildlife and takes game and fish directly from legal sportsmen's bag and rare wildlife from the sight of all of us.

Recently, in the state of Michigan, a poaching ring was broken that involved fifty-four professional poachers. These fifty-four organized poachers operated openly in seven Michigan counties. The poachers were experts, being able to kill fifty rabbits (rabbits are protected in Michigan) in three hours, fifty pheasants in a morning's time. Investigators working the case saw the illegal killing, selling, buying or marketing of more than 300 deer, 1,700 squirrels, 4,400 duck, and over 11,000 rabbits. Most all these species of wildlife ended up on the illegal market where a deer brought $150.00 and rabbits were sold for $5.50 apiece. It was a profitable trade, and the profits of the poaching ring is estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

Proof that the general populace living in the area where the illegal killing was being done not only allowed it to happen but approval of it was shown one night when the poaching ring killed seven deer in a two mile radius of built-up rural neighborhood in Jackson County, Michigan. One deer was actually killed less than 80 yards from an occupied house where lights were burning brightly, yet not one word of the poaching violations ever reached a Michigan wildlife enforcement officer. Public apathy makes it easier for poachers to apply their skills and steal the wildlife that belongs to you and your children.

The lessons of the poaching ring broken in Michigan apply to all states where wildlife is concerned. There is an urgent need for strict laws relating to wildlife, and there is a definite need for better public support for conservation departments who work diligently to safeguard fish and wildlife.

If you are a law-abiding sportsman, no matter where you live, it is very likely that poachers are stealing your deer, elk, antelope, pheasants, ducks, trout, bass, and other species of wildlife from you. The poacher is a crook and you are the victim.

Operation Game Thief works, as some wildlife poachers can already testify; but it needs the support of everyone who cares for wildlife. Become involved in the protection of New Mexico's wildlife and report all wildlife law violators by calling the toll-free number 1-800-432-4263.

INFLATION FIGHTING ideas

"Let's Get Fresh!"

From the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs: "In season, fresh and raw fruits and vegetables usually cost less than canned or frozen varieties. Depending on the time of year and your personal preference, it is a good idea to compare shop between different forms of the same food."

Taking advantage of seasonal buys in produce is a good inflation fighting idea. When such items as corn, onions, squash, tomatoes, potatoes, melons, peaches, plums and all the other favorites come to market in large quantities, the price naturally goes down. That's when Inflation Fighters make their moves. By featuring these plentiful fruits and vegetables often in their family's menus throughout the year, they save substantially!

Village of Capitan News — by Margaret Rench

The Smokey Bear Museum opened last Saturday and Sunday. Visitors had quite a time getting in, but they did come. About 100 visitors from Japan, Oregon, Michigan, Texas, California, New Mexico and Canada. We do hope they will continue to make the effort to visit us.

Howard and Marge Nickelson of Carlsbad spent several days in Capitan gathering information about coal mines. He is a Geologist Engineer and is writing a book on coal mining in New Mexico. Marge is a former school teacher. They are a lovely couple and I did enjoy talking to them.

They will spend the entire summer traveling over the state to the 500 coal sights. I wish the utmost success. That is great history and some day be active again.

Doris Pounds, Worthy Matron, and Jack Shaw, Worthy Patron of Commit Chapter No. 29; Frances Shaw, Secretary and Myrtle Pope, Treasurer all of Capitan attended the official visit of the Worthy Grand Matron and Worthy Grand Patron at the Masonic Hall in Carrizozo Wednesday April 26, 1979. There was dinner at the Four Winds in Carrizozo at 5 p.m. as persons attended. I know it was a lovely meeting and I do miss not being able to attend but my prayers are with them all of the time.

The Bookmobile comes once a month. It parks at the Smokey Bear Motel. If you are interested, be aware of this fact. They were here Thursday April 19th. Look in the Post Office on the Bulletin Board for the Schedule. Usually arrives at 11:45 a.m. Sometimes stays 1 1/2 hours. They have made their route loyally and honestly from Hobbs, N.M. thru our area and spend one week doing so each time. This is a great opportunity for our reading. Do call on them.

The Capitan High School Band will hold their concert at the Gym May 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Maxine Wright our Post Master and Pauline Britton of Ft. Stanton Post Office attended the New Mexico Chapter of NAPM Post Masters Convention in Hobbs, N.M. Wednesday April 25 thru Sunday 29, 1979.

National President Joyce Turney of California, Postal Inspector in Charge, Mr. Michaelson of Los Angeles California; Paul Fisher with the Pay Roll System of San Bruno California attended and there were several other good speakers.

The majority of New Mexico Post Masters attended.

As Maxine and Pauline returned home they came into a cloud burst in Roswell and out 8 to 10 miles west of Roswell there had been heavy hail over the entire country with great piles in spots.

That is great moisture. Should help the range land.

The Billy the Kid Track Club participated in the AOC Classic in Albuquerque Sunday April 29. The parents went and enjoyed watching their daughters perform.

The High School Girls and their coach, Richard House went to Dexter Saturday April 28th. They did not do so well as they were to tired (the prom was held the night before).

The intermediate grades 5 thru 8 participated in the track meet in Carrizozo Friday. They did extremely well.

Mary Shanks, June Qualls and Lorene Caywood attended the Womens Club Convention in Silver City, N.M. last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Ethel Pepper arrived home last Friday April 27 from the Meir Nursing Home where she had been for several months. Frances Shaw brought her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean, Jr. and family spent last Sunday in El Paso. They enjoyed that day.

The benefit dance given last Saturday night at the Fair Building for Jennifer Keating was attended by a large crowd. The Rocky Mountain Wranglers donated their music. The Womens Clubs were the sponsors.

Bobby LaMay and Sherrie Rogers were married Saturday April 28, at 1 p.m. in Philadelphia Canyon. It was a beautiful wedding in a beautiful setting and the most beautiful day. Clear warm and the sun shining bright. The reception was held there. Many relatives and friends attended. I do wish this young couple many years of happiness together.

Mrs. C.E. Smith came from Roswell Friday to visit with her grandson Joel Brady, his brother, Devon and their mother Sharron. She really enjoyed seeing Joel off to the Junior, Senior Prom Friday night in his new suit.

Mr. Bobby Wright of Mesa, Arizona visited with Roy and Sharon Horton Friday and returned home Saturday with their son, Robert, who had spent a week with the Hortons. They enjoyed having Robert stay with them.

Mrs. Lee Anderson is OK she does not sew as much as before as she can not sit so long but she does some sewing. She is a very happy lady as she has one grandson who is a preacher and three that are studying to be missionaries. Her sweet and great influence has reaped great rewards.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Payne and three children visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bud Payne in Carrizozo and his sister Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Lightfoot and children of Roswell. They all enjoyed dinner together.

Jay and Dorothy Johnston of El Paso spent several days in their home here. We are always so happy to have them with us. We are waiting for the day when they return permanently. Dorothy is in much better health.

Mary Aldiz has had to be off from her work at Ft. Stanton due to her health. She has crocheted many beautiful baby sets. If you need something nice contact her.

Dan Gomez entered the Ruidoso Hospital Monday April 9 very ill and was at this time still there. I do wish him the best recovery.

Jake Greigo who has been there for the last several months has not improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Fug Eckland have moved into their new home in the subdivision.

Jack Mayfield recently enjoyed a trip to Tucson, Arizona where he did enjoy watching his daughter Myrum in the bowling tournament. He spent six days with her and his two grand daughters. Her husband John Whitaker is in Germany in the service. He recently was home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwane Richardson became the happy and proud parents of a son born Sunday April 29, 1979 at the Ruidoso Hospital weighing 8 lbs. 13 oz. name pending.

Predicted Seventy Percent Shutdown

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Seventy percent of the nation's oil production could be shutdown as a result of new regulations proposed by the Environmental Protection Agency, U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., predicted here today.

Domenici in a letter to EPA Administrator Douglas M. Costle pointed out that regulations under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act would adversely affect small producers of oil, who make up more than 12 percent of the nation's production.

The regulations deal with drilling muds and production brines, waste materials generated in the drilling process. Under the EPA regulations these wastes would have to be stored until such time as it is determined if the wastes are injurious to health or pose any hazard.

In his letter to Costle, Domenici noted that EPA had not been able to show any degree of danger at all. The Senator cited the Agency's own admission of ignorance:

"The agency has very little information on the composition, characteristics, and the degree of hazard posed by these wastes, nor does the Agency yet have data on the effectiveness of current or potential waste management technologies or the technical or economic practicability of imposing the Subpart D standards on facilities managing such waste."

"The economic effect would be devastating," Domenici said. "It would be the equivalent of two irons or suddenly blowing up the Alaska pipeline. Stripper wells, those small wells individually producing a few barrels of oil, but collectively producing 70 percent of our domestic oil, would not be able to afford the estimated $300,000 per well cost for monitoring, fencing, testing, reporting, inspection and disposal of the waste."

The New Mexico Senator noted that in addition to the cost factor, the proposed regulations would generate an avalanche of reports. More than 193,000 the first year, and nearly a million annual reports after the first decade.

"I believe that these regulations in question fall any conceivable test of rationality," Domenici concluded.

"Everlasting Punishment"

Subject of Christian Science Service
 The subject of the Lesson-Sermon for the May 8th service is, "Everlasting Punishment." From the Bible, according to Luke, it is related that the Master, Jesus Christ, told his disciples, "For there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; neither hid that shall not be known." From the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health, by Mary Baker Eddy, is a correlative statement, based on this instruction which reads, "Though error hides behind a lie and excuses guilt, error cannot forever be concealed. Truth, through her eternal laws unveils error. Truth causes sin to betray itself, and set upon error the mark of the beast. Even the disposition to excuse guilt, or excuse it, is punished."
 Spiritual explanation is given in the Lesson-Sermon, of the parable of the prodigal son which Christ Jesus used in his teachings. In line with this, a tenet of Christian Science is: "WE acknowledge God's forgiveness of sin in the destruction of sin, and the spiritual understanding that casts out evil as unreal. But the belief in sin is punished so long as the sin lasts."

 The public is invited to attend the Sunday morning and the Wednesday evening services. At the Wednesday service, testimonies of all kinds of healings are given, which were derived by the application of the commandments (instructions) given by Christ Jesus, and as explained in Christian Science. At the same address, 407 W. 12th Street, Carrizozo, NM, there is a Christian Science Library which is open to the public, or call. Here, you will find a quiet place to study or pray. You may also borrow or buy the Bible, Science and Health, and other Christian Science literature in different languages.

Nat Chavez Honored at Fete

The Carrizozo Boxing Team and their parents honored Nat Chavez, boxing coach with a dinner at the Four Winds, April 24. On hand for the occasion was guest speaker, Jesse Castaneda, executive director of the Governor's Physical Fitness Council in Santa Fe. Castaneda said to the team: "The effect of this man's work with you is going to translate into something very beneficial to each of you. In whatever happens in your life, you're going to remember what you have done here, today. You may become an engineer, a doctor, a professional boxer, you never know, but what he has started here is going to be remembered as long as you live".

Chavez was presented by Castaneda with a participation award from his Santa Fe office. A medal of dedication, on behalf of former Gov. Apodaca presented to outstanding individuals in a community, was placed on Chavez by Castaneda.

The many Lincoln County News clippings displayed at the Four Winds event told the story of boxing in Carrizozo in the last 8 years. Chavez, who has been with the boxing team since 1971, and is not school sponsored, is presently training his team for the May 4-5 Junior Olympics to be held at Fox Corn Center in Roswell. On April 13-14 the team returned from the Loving, N.M. Silver Glove Tournament with four trophy winners; Leroy and Frankie Silva, Gabriel Chavez and Pete Narvaez.

Castaneda, physical educator, writer, poet and athlete, presented Chavez and his family with an autographed copy of his book, "TRIUMPH IN MY HEART". Castaneda, the Mexican "Rocky" of today, was born in Chihuahua, Mexico. Every time he sets out to walk, exercise or try what seems impossible to most of us, he usually completes his task successfully with great energy, courage and determination.

Castaneda's personal achievements, honors and triumphs are many, some include: the distinction of being the smallest to ever play football for U.N.M.; received the Sportsmanship Soccer League Award in 1964; completed in Lobo track and field; was AAU N.M. Race Walking Champ.

Announcing...

Piggly Wiggly's Proposition 1:
Our proposal to knock down rising food prices.

The prices of some foods are too high, and they'll stay high as long as consumers are willing to pay them. The only way to fight high prices is to switch from overpriced foods to alternate foods that offer the same nutrition at lower cost.

We are launching Piggly Wiggly's Proposition 1 against high prices by offering more of the affordable alternatives and featuring them frequently at special low prices. For example, while beef prices are high, we'll feature such protein-providers as poultry and seafood. Later we'll be suggesting other affordable alternatives: tea instead of coffee, store brands instead of national brands, and so forth.

Of course, Piggly Wiggly will continue to offer a wide selection of foods, including the finest, at competitive prices. The choice is yours, always, at Piggly Wiggly.

Principal and interest being payable at the Office of the Lincoln County Treasurer, Carrizozo, New Mexico

The Bonds were authorized at an election held within the District on February 6, 1979, for the purpose of erecting, furnishing, remodeling and making additions to school buildings and purchasing and improving school grounds.

Said bonds will constitute the general obligation bonds of the District, payable from general ad valorem taxes which shall be levied without limitation as to the rate or amount.

It is permissible to bid different or split rates of interest; provided, however, that (1) bid shall specify more than one interest rate for each Maturity; (2) Said interest shall be evidenced by only one set of coupons; (3) Said coupon rates shall be only in multiples of one-eighth of one per cent (1/8%) or one-twentieth of one per cent (1/20%) percent; (4) The maximum coupon rate shall be eight (8) percent per cent.

Bidders are requested to submit a bid specifying (a) the lowest rate of interest and premium, if any, above par at which such bidder will purchase said bonds; or (b) the lowest rate at which the bidder will purchase said bonds at par. Proposals should be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked on the outside "PROPOSALS FOR PURCHASE OF GENERAL OBLIGATION SCHOOL BONDS, CAPITAN MUNICIPAL SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 28", and addressed to Mr. Richard Phillips, Secretary of the Board of Education, Capitan Municipal School District No. 28, Quinn & Co., Inc., 301 Central Ave. N.W., Albuquerque New Mexico.

Said bonds will be awarded to the highest and best bidder considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any, and subject to the right of the Board of Education to reject any and all bids and readvertise. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid, if any, from the total amount of interest which the District would be required to pay from the date of the bonds to the respective maturity dates at the coupon rate or rates specified in the proposal, and said bonds will be awarded on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the District. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The bonds will not be sold for less than par and accrued interest, nor shall any discount or commission be allowed or paid on the sale of such bonds. The District reserves the privilege of waiving any irregularity or informality in any bid.

Any bids shall be sealed, and except the bid of the State of New Mexico, if one is received, shall be accompanied by a deposit of two per cent (2 per cent) of the principal amount of the bonds, either in cash or by cashier's or treasurer's check or by certified check drawn on, or by cashier's or treasurer's check of, or by certified check drawn on, a solvent commercial bank or trust company in the United States, which deposit shall be returned if the bid is not accepted. If the successful bidder shall fail or neglect to complete the purchase of said bonds within sixty (60) days following the acceptance of the bid, or within ten (10) days after the bonds are offered for delivery, whichever is later, the amount of the deposit shall be forfeited to the District, and in that event the Board of Education may accept the bid of the one making the next best bid, or if all bids are rejected, the Board of Education shall readvertise said bonds for sale in the same manner as herein provided for the original advertisement. If there be two or more equal bids and such bids are the best bids received and for not less than par and accrued interest, the Board of Education shall determine which bid shall be accepted. Provided, that said bonds or any part thereof may be sold to the State of New Mexico at private sale and without advertisement.

The Board of Education will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than twenty-four (24) hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of the bids. Delivery of the bonds will be made to the successful bidder at a bank or trust company in Albuquerque, New Mexico, or elsewhere at the purchaser's request and expense, within sixty (60) days, the successful bidder shall have the right to purchase said bonds during the succeeding thirty days upon the same terms, or at the request of the successful bidder during the said succeeding thirty days, the good faith deposit will be returned and both the District and said successful bidder will be relieved of any further obligation. Bids must be made upon the Official Bid Form. Copies of said Official Bid Form and other information may be obtained from the District's Financial Advisor, Quinn & Co., Inc., P.O. Box 528, Albuquerque, New Mexico, 87103, or from Mr. Richard Clifton, Superintendent of Schools, P.O. Box 278, Capitan, New Mexico.

A certified copy of a Transcript of Proceedings Relating to the issuance of General Obligation Bonds of Capitan Municipal School District No. 28, Lincoln County, New Mexico, and attached approval of same by the office of the Attorney General of New Mexico will be supplied.

Bidders must have the applicable CUSIP numbers printed on the filing panel on the back of the bonds, at the bidder's expense; provided, however, that an incorrect CUSIP number printed on any bond or the absence of any CUSIP number on any bond, shall not constitute cause to refuse delivery of any bond.

The successful bidder shall make final payment for said bonds with Federal Reserve Funds or other funds acceptable to the issuer for immediate and unconditional credit to the account of the issuer. The legality of the bonds will be additionally approved by Messrs. Kegel and McCullough, P.A., attorneys at law, Santa Fe, New Mexico, whose unqualified approving opinion, together with the printed bonds and a complete transcript of the legal proceedings, including a certificate stating that no litigation affecting the validity of the bonds is pending, will be furnished the purchaser without charge. The Legal Opinion will be printed on the bonds, at the expense of the purchaser, if requested, in his bid.
