Community Center Elects Officers; Adds New Classes

M-Y T-I-M-E

By Doris Cherry

by Michael Swickard

Permanent officers and a six-member board of directors were recently elected by the Lincoln County Community Education Center.

Elected were: Betty Martin, president; Rosalina Bell, vice-president; Bill Allred, secretary; Gwen Jones, treasurer. Board members are: Mrs. Jack Shaw, Ann Buffington, Gwyneth Jones, Lorraine Sanchez, Russell Bell and Mike Swickard.

Meetings for the organization will now be 7:00 p.m., Tuesdays, bimonthly, the first Tuesday for the board and the third Tuesday a 'council meeting', with open voting.

A report on the Capitan Cleanup established the dates decided upon by the Capitan Village Council, May 17, 18, 19 and May 24, 25, 26 will be the dates for the cleanup. The village will be divided into units, each having a captain and workers. Villagers are asked to comply with the cleanup and trash pickup by the village along the streets will be available at the end of each day during the cleanup. Junk cars and other trash on village lots will be required to be moved. Those interested in helping with the cleanup should contact Rosalina Bell, 354-2681.

Duke Daniels was selected chairman of the Dance committee. The group agreed to set May 26 as a tentative date for a street dance.

Several classes for summer were announced. These classes have been suggested and required public support in order to begin. Anyone interested in any of them should contact an officer, boardmember, or instructor.

Photography, to be presented by Mike Swickard will involve basic darkroom techniques and photo composition. The class is dependent upon a space to set up darkroom equipment. It can be taught in several different towns.

Table Tennis, by Mike Swickard will teach modern competition techniques, used for tournaments. It will be at the Carrizozo Recreation Center and the size of class dependent on the number of tables available.

Tennis, Dorothy Reamy, early mornings after school is out. You will need racket, balls and shoes. The course will include care and use of equipment and will meet the first part of June to schedule the summer. She may be reached at 345-2470.

Folk Guitar, Mike Swickard, ten sessions, ten weeks of chording and popular music. A guitar will be required.

Bible Study, Bobby Palm, a study of the Bible involving the use of concordance. The "no-doctrine" study will be investigation and discussions in the evening.

Square Dance, will have its second meeting tonight, 7:30 p.m. at the Fair Building in Capitan.

Basic Home Repair, Duke Daniels for six weeks will begin June 4, 7:00 p.m. at the Capitan school cafeteria. From tools to maintenance each student will be required to submit a class project.

Exercise, Jean Culbertson, Wednesdays, beginning June 6 at Fort Stanton. The exercises geared toward women, emphasizing problem spots, will also be open to men.

Gardening, Ed Jones, to meet on the third Wednesday of May to set up a schedule. The 8-hour course will be seed to crop, with some greenhouse construction and food preservation included.

Furniture Refinishing, L. T. Jeter, has set no date.

Spanish, Jane Allred, will continue to meet Mondays in the Capitan intermediate building.

The proposed classes are dependent upon public interest. The Lincoln County Community Education Center is only four months old and has already offered several classes. A proposal to hold Council meetings in different towns within the county will help attract a larger number of the county's population. The Center was formed as a means of sharing community-county talents and requires support for the community to continue.

All interested persons should contact one of the directors or teachers, or write the Lincoln County News, P.O. Drawer 459, Carrizozo, NM 88301.

Mondt to Speak

The Carrizozo High School Athletic Banquet for 1979, will be held on Monday, May 14 at 7:30 in the school cafeteria. All athletic awards and presentations will be made that night.

The speaker for the evening will be Bill Mondt, Head Football Coach at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque. Bill Mondt has been the football coach at UNM for 4 years.

All parents, students, athletes, faculty, and Carrizozo sports fans are invited and urged to attend. The banquet will include a roast beef dinner for $2.50.

The Wall-Progress?

When the Village of Capitan raised its hackles in 1974 about getting Smokey back home it had no idea that he would be sent up to "the walls."

To drive through the mountain village one wonders if that is what has happened.

As of May 9, 29 years after Smokey was found as a burned cub, Smokey Bear Historical State Park is almost complete. The visitor center that is. The park, which was scheduled to receive $200,000 for landscaping did not get the money.

Back to the walls. Smokey's Grave sits in a far corner of the park, reached by a trail, taking one over three bridges spanning a proposed artificial stream, past proposed plants of New Mexico plant zones and finally winding by the present Smokey Bear Museum. The museum also a gift shop, is owned and operated by the Village of Capitan.

Carrizozo

Registration set

A kindergarten pre-registration for school year 1979-80 will be held Thursday, May 10, from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m. at the High School Office. To be admitted to kindergarten in 1979, children must reach age five by 12:01 a.m. September 1, 1979.

Please bring child's birth certificate and immunization record.

The museum was closed Feb. 15 because of a decline in sales. The decline came as construction of the park wall crept in front of the museum, finally cutting off street access to the building. The only way in to is to park behind village hall and walk around the wall in the back.

If you drive a small car all that can be seen from the highway is a New Mexico sign reading Smokey Bear Museum. A roof top and a flag waving above a miniature plaster Smokey. The walls have heated a few tempers, but people still come in.

The old museum is a log cabin constructed in 1958-60. Built with volunteer labor and money from numerous service organizations, the museum received no state or federal money.

There are mixed feelings among Capitan Villagers. Some thing the visitor center is "too extravagant," for the small town.

But Willie Hobbs, curator of the present museum is just plain "MAD." As the walls began to rise around the museum and access was awkward, decreasing the number of sales, money which goes to the village general fund, Mrs. Hobbs began to say the walls would cut them off. "No one would listen, or else felt there was nothing that could be done," she said.

Now she is wondering if the style, an old fashioned construction of stairs over the wall, would be an answer to access. "It would take one day," she said, "but I'm not sure who to tell."

So far now, it's either over the walls or the long walk around if you want to see Smokey Bear Museum. It is open weekends 9-4.

Having not been asked to speak at the graduation exercises at any of the High Schools this year, this being the 28th year in a row, well, I am not distressed, but I still have my speech ready if needed.

So for all of you that otherwise would have missed my speech, here it is:

Ladies, Gentlemen, School Officials, and Students, most of all students, it is often we forget that this entire process is for you who sit here tonight.

It is a wonderful feeling to see all of these happy faces, starting with the parents, the teachers, and most of all the students.

Well, so much for patting you all on the back. You may as well enjoy it tonight, because it was a long time coming, and it may be a long time until you feel this good again.

It was eleven years ago that I sat where you are tonight, and the speaker at my graduation said something that I remember very well. He said, "You are the leaders of tomorrow, this is your world now, so go out and change it."

It sounds nice doesn't it. I thought so at the time, but the very next day, and I mean the very next day, as I was looking for a job, any job, I realized that no one except my Mother was impressed, with my diploma, and no one at all wanted me to change their world, their world.

After spending some time on the power end of a mop, I came to the conclusion that the graduation speaker was not talking about me.

Bids Read At

Special Meeting

Estimates from eight bidders were read at a special Capitan Village Council meeting.

The bids were for replacement pipes, valve boxes, adapters, reducing T's, corporation stops and copper adapters. The pipe will be 2 inch PVC.

Of the eight bidders the Council voted to accept the bid by Bob Ford for Technical Services, Capitan on the basis that his equipment meet specifications. Ford presented the lowest bid at $8465.52.

Replacement of the village water supply will be financed with a $20,000 loan from Farm Home Administration. The loan has been approved on the basis of EID approval of the replacement plans.

Lessons

Offered

The Carrizozo Golf Course will have the Golf Pro from the Inn Of The Mountain Gods at the course this Saturday at 9:00 a.m. For further details about helping your golf game, call 648-2260.

There were many things in fact that the graduation speaker did not say that could have done me much more good. So I will say some things that will help you.

First off, no one owes you anything just for you happening to be here in this world. And if you happen to get somewhere in this world, luck will have played a part in your success. Of course the harder you work, the more luck, you seem to have. But this is not a promise, it is just the way things usually happen.

And the only certainty I know is that things will change. If you are to survive in this world you must change with the changing times. Too often I hear people lament for the "good-old days." These people have not learned to recognize that everything changes. What we humans suffer the most from is the inability to accept this one fact: that we must change.

Oh, by the way, it is popular to throw your hands up and say that the world is getting worse and worse and worse and we as a country are on the verge of complete chaos. Don't you believe this for one moment.

We have a good world, relatively, to work with, but I didn't say an easy world. You must pay the price if you want that good life.

This world still is value for value. If you want something of value you must give something of value. You must constantly be aware that even though there are times that you seem to get something for nothing, this just isn't true. For example, the people living on government handouts have no way to earn an honest wage after they have gotten used to getting something "free", and so if this country wakes up to the fact that this country can't afford all of the social programs that we now have, these people that now have forgotten how to earn a wage will be in serious trouble.

The diploma that you are now about to receive is important, not because you are at the end of something, but because you are at the beginning.

You are tomorrow's workers. I am sorry to say you are not tomorrow's leaders. You will need a few years until that may come to pass.

Boys and girls, you are now ladies and gentlemen and your adult life has just begun. If you remember anything from this speech, I would like you to remember the words:

"If you need a helping hand, the hand at the end of your arm is the very best one you can have." MIS

Capitan Concert

Capitan Band presented a "Pops" concert to a capacity crowd in the Capitan Gymnasium. The Chorus, organized this year, also presented a program of contemporary songs. The band, chorus and audience joined together for America's Beautiful. The band and chorus consists of elementary, junior-high and high school students. Director Gerald Heade conducts the groups.

Change comes One at a time- Roger Hubert Remodels and Restores by Polly Chavez

"Say, I used to live in that house!" This is what many local people exclaim when they pass the little house on the corner of Central and Second. This house had been blocked out by Carrizozo passers-by because in the last years it was just one of many existing 'eyesores' within the community.

The little house now sports a renovated front. The once drab tin roof is now a red tile color. Window frames, woodwork and the rest of the outside will soon be finished. The porch posts have a charming look with touches of color. Bright boardwalks in front and back yard add a quaint look to the total appearance of this little turn of the century house.

If this little house could talk to us, it would tell us many interesting stories of this part of Lincoln County and days gone by. This house has come a long way -- from Coalora in 1904 -- pulled by a team of horses. (Before the addition of back-rooms.)

The house would tell us the story of Gray (now Capitan) and its railroad history. The railroad hauled coal to Carrizozo from the Capitan area. The story would reveal that about 1899 to the north and west of Gray was the busy coal mining town of Coalora, where residents first lived in tents before buildings were constructed. This little house was located in Coalora.

With growing industrialization, especially after 1850, coal was increasingly used in the U.S. The growth of railroads gave the coal industry one of its largest customers. What gold was to White Oaks, the railroad to Carrizozo, coal and the railroad was to Capitan and surrounding areas.

If this house, now in Carrizozo could talk, it would tell us that the railroad cars traveled day and night hauling coal from several mines in and around Coalora. It would tell us that coal mining was short-lived in the Gray (Capitan) area and the railroad was abandoned.

Had the coal fields in Coalora proved profitable, the little house on Central Avenue, may not have made the long, slow journey through Nogal in 1904 to its present Carrizozo location.

The person who is giving this house back its original features is owner Roger Hubert, a sculptor, who lives in the village of Nogal. As an artist he is trying to capture the original characteristics of a neglected house which has great architectural appeal. It is clear that conservation and the environment is an important part of Hubert's life.

There are eight kinds of conservation: soil, water, forest, wildlife, mineral and conservation of grazing, recreation and human resources. Different resources depend on one another.

Human resources include everything that people make. Manufactured articles should be protected and carefully used. This prevents the waste of the human energy, skill and knowledge that went into making them. It also reduces the drain on natural resources. It costs much more money and effort to replace abandoned buildings with new ones.

done with the Democratic Party, The Womens Auxiliary, The Rebekahs, the Baptist Church and on and on. One of the remarks I have enjoyed most is how she says about young people, "I have helped raise about a dozen." I just wish the grandmother who went back to Missouri could have seen a "This is your life of Rachel", she would have been justly proud.

Rachel helped with a lot of elections. Her calm but authoritative manner and quiet courtesy always added a little to the atmosphere. Then too, she enjoyed seeing every single person who came to cast a vote. It was around the elections that I spent some enjoyable time with her.

One story she told me several years ago started me going back again and again. The kids had watched a cabbage grow and grow. They planned all sorts of celebrations for the day when they would cook it. The big day came. The pot to cook it in had a little hole through which a rag was twisted tight and pulled. Just before the big meal a man from out across the rocks came by. Of course their hospitable mother asked him to stay for lunch. Much to their disappointment he accepted. They knew the routine, stay back and don't act hungry until after the company is fed. The fellow ate and ate. And bragged and bragged. At long last he seemed to have a mouthfull he couldn't chew nor swallow and didn't know what to do with. The mother had taken a wide sweep with the big spoon and dislodged the plug. When the children realized this they had to run for their lives 'cause they were gonna' laugh if it killed every cat on the place.

While I was there the phone rang. It was someone having trouble handling a death and a funeral. Rachel was a rock to lean on and as I listened, I was once again reminded of one more thing Rachel has been depended upon for. I have never heard anyone say more wise and consoling things than she did in that conversation.

Her house is a showcase. There are many little things here and there.

The George and Sara Hughes Family Baby Rachel in Mothers Lap.

Each item represents a special occasion or memory. Someone else might have thought it cluttered. But to me it was beautiful. The first part of the beauty was I knew I was welcome. The far greater beauty was it fits Rachel. If there is one thing she is it is unpretentious. And like I told someone the other day when they asked me what one thing I would say makes her such a good story. I answered, "For eighty years she ain't been whupped, shot at, nor run off." In this country that makes her a winner.

Rachel personifies the sturdy pioneer who wrested a home from this desperate land and has steadfastly refused to give it back. When Joe died people asked her where she would live: "Here. I don't know where else I could go."

In talking with Mike I always said the Rachel West story was a must. She is a wise woman. She is a good woman. She is a humble woman. I am sorry I have but touched upon the story. But the really great part is where each of you see Rachel and remember back to the other things far too numerous to mention. And... some of things maybe we're not supposed to mention. Maybe some one will say to me, "Did she tell you about the time...?" Or, "Ask her about..."

Thank you Rachel. Mainly for the time you have spent with me.

Each time I talk with Rachel I promise myself I'll do it more often.

Change comes One at a time- Roger Hubert Remodels and Restores

Hubert believes Carrizozo has potential to grow... cleaning and painting, the town could be an attraction for business, renters and homeowners.

back yard by auto then a half hour later they move the car again... There's nothing to do. Nothing happens.

People pollute in other ways. For example, people ruin natural beauty by scattering junk and litter.

Hubert, who moved from Florida to Nogal 2 years ago says people ask as he works on his Carrizozo house.

Conservation resources help make and keep our homes, our county and our country better places in which to live.

Hubert says Carrizozo is at an ideal crossroads. He beams, "We're in Lincoln County, magnificent weather, water and the potential to grow."

Doors, knobs, window panes, rugs, bed posts, chairs and board walks are some of the good, used things Hubert has found at the town dump for his Carrizozo house.

Hubert would like to see a conservation-ecology project started in Carrizozo such as the one St. Petersburg, Florida initiated.

Fish and game laws attempt to keep fisherman and hunters from killing too many animals.

Environmental pollution is a term that refers to all the ways which man pollutes his surroundings.

The U.S. is often called a nation on wheels. The widespread use of the automobile makes it the country's chief source of air pollution.

In Florida, one of the world's most beautiful resort areas with hundreds of miles of sandy beaches, Hubert "lived in an old beach house, just like an artist."

Later Hubert purchased a pueblo-style house in Nogal from Mr. and Mrs. Carl McDaniel.

Hubert was raised in Kansas, the beginning of the historic Santa Fe Trail, (William Becknell, established the route in 1821) and Hubert now lives in New Mexico, the end of the Santa Fe Trail which opened a new trade route to this state many years ago.

Hubert was given a map by his father, Leo that shows Bonito City and Parsons, before Carrizozo existed.

Roger Hubert majored in sculpture at the University of Kansas and University of Florence, Italy. From travels and freelancing, his work shows a country influence by his approach to the human body, (vital, spontaneous, open honest).

Hubert, who also works in oil painting, has held one-man sculpture shows all over the country.

The interview revealed that among other things, Hubert is eccentric about 2 things: lin-roots and cement.

Hubert says to watch the little house on Central and 2nd as he progresses on the restoring.

Hubert says individuals can do much to promote conservation, but they have to work together.

Last year worker productivity increased a dismal 4 percent.

What did the federal government do about it?

What a ripoff! We pay and pay and still one out of every $5 we earn goes for direct federal taxation.

Carrizozo Grizzly Girl Tracksters Capture District Meet Title

The Carrizozo H.S. Grizzly Track Team traveled to the Dist. Track Meet and compete in the Dist. Track Meet and ran away with the team title scoring 81 points.

The relay team of Terri English, Shelly Fortillo, Lisa Crenshaw and Lisa Ferguson teamed up to take first place in both the 880 relay and the 890 medley-relay.

The 440 yd. run, with a time of 54.4. In the field events, Cynthia Morales won the shot with a heave of 31 feet 8 inches.

Results were as follows: 100 yd. dash, Terri English 12.1, second place.

"Lost Wax" Process Of Bronze Sculpture

By Dorris Cherry

From wax to bronze, each step in the creation of a bronze sculpture involves many man hours.

Pat Flannery works in his adobe shop and home on Nogal Mesa.

As yet, Flannery does the lost wax process for other artists.

He then builds a rubber mold onto the original. Plaster backed, he builds one side at a time, so the mold will easily release.

Once the waxes are poured they must be cleaned, all the seams must be smoothed out as well as any imperfections for the bronze will show this.

Next comes the step that labels the "lost-wax method".

The molten metal is poured into the casting the bronze is done when the metal has melted at 2100 degrees.

reheated shells and left to cool. Within an hour the ceramic shell begins to crack from the cooling.

"After a piece is cast, Flannery said, half the work is done".

The surface of the bronze is cleaned and corrected if there are any errors, although Flannery states he has had a low percentage of errors.

Once the surface is corrected another cleaning is done by sand-blasting before the patina.

Flannery learned his skill from artist Tom Knapp of Glencoe.

The high cost of bronze sculpture comes from all the man hours involved in each tedious process.

"The work's not boring, there are so many different jobs", he said.

Discus, Gary Vega, 2nd place 119 feet 8 inches.

Long Jump, Bruce English, 2nd place 19 feet.

Equipped with pneumatic and electrical tools he removes the bronze sprues and puts these aside for remelting and recasting.

While still hot, a buff is applied to stop corroding then is buffed and finished. The piece is then ready for the artist and whatever mount the artist chooses.

Flannery stated, "I needed a worker and that's how it began", Flannery stated.

Sense. & Nonsense ——— U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Look for a heated confrontation in the Senate when the SALT II treaty comes up for debate later this year.

There are a number of problems with this treaty, "verification" being the dominant one.

Without adequate methods for the U.S. to verify that the Soviets are living up to the letter of the treaty, the document is meaningless.

But the USSR doesn't cotton to us checking to ensure that they are abiding by the limitations as the treaty stipulates, and as we will certainly have to.

Presently, unless that sticking point and some others are resolved, I learn against the SALT II treaty.

The Soviets have never given us or any other country reason to take their word at face value.

The annual growth of the American worker's productivity from 1948 to 1955 was 3.1 percent.

Last year worker productivity increased a dismal 4 percent.

What did the federal government do about it?

It abolished the federal agency that monitors failing output.

What we don't know won't hurt us, right?

YOUR TURN -- Frustration, anger, and underlying fear.

That's the prevailing mood in America today and the mail I receive certainly reflects that mood.

As taxes, prices, inflation, and government spending continue upward, the boiling point of Americans responds in kind.

The following excerpts from New Mexicans' letters clarifies that point very well, and very depressingly.

"Besides the monumental tax we had already paid, because we both work and don't freeload, we had to send the IRS nearly $1,000 of it.

This year we have about $500 left and now we have to send the IRS another $400, which leaves us no savings."

"Last evening I finally mailed off my state and federal income tax returns. I am still so angry at the total disregard of our elected officials for the middle income worker that I just don't know what to think."

"What a ripoff! We pay and pay and still one out of every $5 we earn goes for direct federal taxation."

"Inflation and taxes continue to erode our savings. We are paying too high price for our thrift, which is no longer a virtue but fast becoming a milestone around our necks."

"I give up trying to be a good citizen. I can't trust or believe what the government says."

"It's a pretty sorry state of affairs when the country has to pay for the whole world, then turn around and cut veterans' health benefits."

I am acutely aware of your mood, and I think we're going to see some positive steps this Congressional session to respond to that mood.

But then, I'm a born optimist.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Hightower attended last week the 60th wedding anniversary in Silver City of Mr. and Mrs. Eric M. Lynch. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Greer and family were also there. Mary Greer (the Lynchs' granddaughter) decorated a beautiful cake for the event.

A recent visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snow was former resident Mrs. Austin Alberts of Aztec. Austin Roberts was county agent before Ralph Dunlap. He was transferred from Lincoln County to San Juan County.

Many former residents were among the out-of-towners at the May 5 wedding of George Verdugo and Cindy Beltran. Visiting families in town for the wedding mass and dance included: Jake and Christine Sanchez, Steven and Kathy Archuleta, Ray and Priscilla Romo (Roswell); Rosa Martinez, David and Stella Ortiz, David and Liz Verdugo, Charles Montoya, Mr. and Mrs.

Edward O'Brian (Albuquerque), Dolores Hernandez, Diane and Sandra Malone, Mr. and Mrs. Victoriano Romero, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Serna, Yolanda Ortiz, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Martinez, Virginia Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sedillo (Alamogordo); Fernando and Lorenza Trujillo, Robert and Bertha Griego (Capitan); Bill and Jody Sereno (California); Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Mirabel, Salvador Mirabel, Rosa Herrera (El Paso); Románita Chavez (Corona);

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sevedra (Sorroco); George and Esther Demick (England); Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Ortiz, Mr. and Mrs. George Sanchez (Las Cruces); Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yourbach (Tularosa); Pat Agullar (Ruidoso).

Former Carrizozo folks visit the ol' home town now and then, stopping at relatives and friends homes. They keep in touch by reading the Lincoln County News and attending the annual school reunion. Rachel West, Roy Dow and Barbara Jeanne Branum (La Luz) remind former Carrizozo school students that the reunion is coming up the last part of June. This is a time many people recall the good ol' days. Local members of former classes will be contacted and coordinates for the June reunion will be announced soon. Former students (not necessarily graduates) are encouraged to participate in the school reunion activities. Roy and Barbara Jeanne shared a laugh recently over school 'daze' and looking at old annuals and 'Grizzly Tale' newspapers.

Birthday greetings to Charlene Brown, Josie Montoya, Peggy Najar, Victor Cisneros May 11; Joy Dawn Gallacher May 12; Mary Rich May 13; Vernelle Hightower, Isidro Peralta, Duff May, Roy Harmon, Rito Samora Jr. May 15; Mary Lu Nickels May 16.

Sue Stearns, Woman's Club president and Mary Spencer attended the GFWC 67th annual convention in Silver City last week. Bobby and Mary were awarded for recruiting the largest number of new members.

The 43rd annual convention of the N.M. Chapter, National Association of Postmasters of the U.S. was held April 25, 26, 27, and 28 at the Holiday Inn in Hobbs. Lincoln County was well represented, those attending were Maxine Wright, Captain; Pauline Britton, Ft. Stanton; Edwood Gradine, Ruidoso; Marie Burns, Alto; Shirlene Roberts, Ruidoso Downs. Retirees from Lincoln County attending were: Dorothy Parnell (Ruidoso), Louise Babers (San Patricio), Aileen Lindamood (Alto) - now living in Carrizozo. 81 registered for the well-planned and informative convention, 65 were N.M. postmasters - the rest were guests including wives and husbands. Aileen drove to Ruidoso Downs Wednesday 25th and went to the convention with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parnell.

George Sanchez, Las Cruces and wife Jessie spent this past weekend at their ranch home in Nogal Canyon. Las Cruces friends joined them there, Larry and Rita Arrey and son Eddie. Larry is the lead singer for "Bronze" which provided the music for the Verdugo-Beltran wedding dance last Saturday. Accompanying the Arreys to Zozo and Nogal were Larry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lupe Arrey and son Jerry of Arrey, N.M. (Arrey is south of Caballo Dam and is named after Larry's grandparents.)

Larry and Rita took in some fishing Sunday. George and Jessie attended the Saturday auction sale they saw listed in the NEWS classified section. Found some pretty good bargains.

Bud and Dorothy Payne will host a community party May 12 at their place for Ursula Hansteen who has served our town for almost two years as nurse-practitioner. Ursula is moving to New York. The covered-dish-bring-your-own-bottle gathering starts at 5 p.m.

Frank Baca Jr. was in Vaughn last weekend to attend the May 4 prom with his girl, Josephine Sanchez.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vega and daughter Carla from Tome were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ortiz.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gabel were Tony's brother and family of McClean, Texas - Mr. and Mrs. Clay Gabel and sons Cody and Lee.

AND IN THIS CORNER - The High School student band came in first at the Carrizozo Woman's Club talent show last Thursday evening. Crista Bell Hill, second with two piano selections. Johnna Gibson, third with a pantomime of Dolly Parton. Lucy Lueras, Shelley Portillo, Polly Chavez, Cheri Goad and Douglas Jarrad were judges for the 12 talent presentations.

The following mid-school students earned their place on the 5th grade honor roll - means all A's: 5th grade - Kenneth Crenshaw, Julie Vega, Valerie Verdugo. 6th - Roddie Aguilar, Michael Curtis, Gray Gallacher, Amy Means, Steven Stearns, Bennie Zamora. 7th - Christetta Chavez, Mary Jane Ferguson, Roxanne Gabel, Geneva Maxwell, Judi Ortiz, Joey Paul, Stephanie Saucedo, Donna Steppard, Debbie Kohrs. 8th - Jon Aguilar, Kevin Wilmore.

Happy birthday to Nikko Chavez, Gary Means, May 11; Donna Lueras, May 15.

Here is one more cinquain from the fourth grade class; by Jamie Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Patterson:

A bug
A bug is black
A bug is red and white
A bug is orange and purple
OH SCREAM!!!

The following piano students presented some beautiful pieces at their Spring Recital May 2: Amy Means, Victoria Cisneros, Jamie Castillo, Tony Ray Gabel, Marcia Helker, Junior Hill, Ruthie Persall, Marina Baca, Lisa Cantrell, Steven Stearns, Melody Helker, Melinda McKinley, Elaine Cantrell, Stephanie Saucedo, Mary Jane Ferguson, Roxanne Gabel, Bridgitte Sandoval, Crista Bell Hill, Liza Ferguson, Debbie Gallacher. The recital under the direction of Jane Shafer and Ann Ferguson included "Wedding Song" by four of the students.

OVER THE SECOND CUP - The White Oaks Cemetery Association and every one who has loved ones buried in the Cedarvale Cemetery are grateful to John Allen Hightower for using his personal equipment to gravel the driveway through the cemetery as well as the area in front of it. When it was mentioned to him that this was needed he said, "We don't need any help. I will personally take care of it!"

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Daniels of Roswell stopped by my home Saturday on their way back home. Daniels, a representative of U.S. Senator Pete Domenici was in town to meet with citizens at the REA to assist them with any problems or concerns. Daniels is Southern Field Director - at his Roswell location. Others in the state are Las Cruces, Albuquerque, Santa Fe, The Roswell office covers seven counties: Lincoln, Chaves, Eddy, DeBaca, Curry Roosevelt and Lea. Daniels, says this office would like peoples' views on legislature, IRS, inflation, energy and anything that has to do with the federal government. Daniels may be reached in person or by mail at Room 140, Federal Building, Roswell. Or call 623-6170. Daniels encourages citizens to express their opinions - to approve or disapprove.

Carrizozo Junior Extention Club Hosts Senior Members At Dinner

The Carrizozo Junior Extention Club members were hostesses for a May 2 dinner at the Medallion Room. Special guests were the Carrizozo Extention Club members.

Fifteen guest members were present to enjoy the splendid Mexican style food prepared by the sister club. Earlena Tubbs was the winner of the potted plant door prize. Other Senior Extention members present were Edith Lenard, Catherine Eaker, Elva Wilson, Edna Littleton, Dollie Ward, Annie Withers, Velda Watson, Madella McDaniel, Dorothy Curtright, Irene Hayes, Rachael West, Dorothy Simmons, Ruth Wilson and Catherine Cornette. Ruth DeTevis was a guest also and potential member. Ethel Roberts, Senior Extention president was unable to attend.

The honored club members have been active for twelve years. Prior to this, women in Carrizozo and the rural areas met in each others homes off and on, but it was in 1967 that they began meeting on a regular schedule, with Clara Snow as its first president. As the group did not have a county home agent, they presented their own programs, along with supporting local charities and promoting the Lincoln County Fair.

Clara Snow, other charter members and neighboring fellow extention women around the County worked together teaching each other skills.

For a brief time, in the late 50's and early 60's, Lincoln County shared a home agent with Otero County. A county home agent is a women who advise members of rural communities on homemaking and family matters. She gives instruction in nutrition and in the preparation and preservation of foods. She teaches both adults and young people how to manage a home cloth eht family and care for children. She also gives advise on family relationships and helps local leaders develop and carry out community improvements projects.

With the growing number of rural women interested in homemaking skills in the 1960's there was the need for a full time agent in Lincoln County. The late Nina Nelson, a loved and inspiring club member who lived in the Hondo Valley, Tallie Dishman of Corona, Ethel Harris of Ruidoso and Clara Snow were instrumental in presenting to the County Commission the request of a home agent in the Lincoln County. Federal, state and county authorities cooperate in employing a home agent, as they do in the case of a county agricultural.

In 1969 Lincoln County women had their hopes realized. A young woman and fellow club member, Mary Ellen Payne, was offered the position of county home extention agent because of her qualifications and she started work in July of that year. Four-H clubs are a part of cooperative extention work. They help young people prepare for careers develop into good citizens and leaders. State and county 4-H club specialists advise the clubs, and volunteer adult leaders assist them at local level. (The 4-H program grew out of a widespread need in rural America in the early 1900's.)

The Extention club program Pennies for International promote understanding among the rural areas of the world. On a state level the clubs sponsor college scholarships to former 4-H members who are enrolled in home economics or agriculture. The clubs support the 4-H leader award to help promote 4-H clubs in New Mexico.

Mary Ellen Payne coordinates activities and offers demonstration programs through N.M.S.U. and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Today there are 6 active clubs in Lincoln County totaling over 200 members including the Junior Extention Club whose members hosted the May 2 dinner in honor of the Senior Extention Club. Junior Extention Club president is Liz Sambrano. Hostesses present at the dinner were: Georgia Ortiz, Vickie Means, Carey Jiron, Mary Najjar, Sharon Lueras, Charlotte Archuleta, Carmen Hill, Lindy Archuleta, and Oralia Najjar.

A nineteen year old boy has just stood trial for the fatal stabbing of his father. "He doesn't stand a chance," mutters the guard, as he shuffles 12 people into the bleak jury room. It looks like an open and shut case, till one of the jurors begins opening the eyes of the others to the fact. The crux of the decision lies in the phrase, "Reasonable Doubt." But it soon becomes apparent that most of the jurors have not bothered to doubt. Temps get short, arguments get heated, and the jurors become "twelve angry jurors."

Such was the plot behind the play presented last Tuesday night by the Junior class at Capitan High School. The play was set in the new gym which is having to be used for plays, movies and banquets after the stage was burned in the fire last November. Lack of the stage setting did not hamper the effectiveness of the cast as they carried out the drama.

Under the direction of Mr. Rick Higginbotham, cast members were: Sally Abercrombie as the judge, Art Helms as the guard, Ronnie Montes as the clerk, the formen was Kevin Reese and his jurors were Marie Lobb, Becky Osuna, Beth Long, James Muse, Mark Eamello, Mike Sullivan, Nathan Stone, Mary Allred, Laurie Stone, Jackie Deweber and Jennifer McCarroll. The climax came as the jurors found the boy innocent.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Linley, 1535 S. Almendra, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to Stan Steinepreis.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Steinepreis of Carrizozo, New Mexico.

No definite plans have been made concerning the wedding.

Miss Linley is a graduate of Las Cruces High School and is currently attending New Mexico State University as a co-op student.

Her fiancé is currently employed as Assistant Manager at Wagon Works Inc. and plans to return to New Mexico State University to continue his education in engineering.

News Around Corona

Myron Wayne Yancey is our latest subscriber. We hope the Lincoln County News reaches the USS Chicago regularly.

The Holleymans were in Santa Fe for a roping Saturday, and Lon left Sunday for his last week as a freshman at NMSU.

The 1979 State Convention of Beta Sigma Phi was held last weekend with Roswell and Artesia and hostess chapter Headquarters location was the Sally Port Inn. The theme of the 3 day meeting was Ballooning around 'the World with Beta Sigma Phi, an interpretation of the International theme of "Seek New Horizons". June and Charlyne Tyree, Eva Mae Holleyman and Geraldine Perkins attended the breakfast Sunday morning. The menu and table decorations of customized dolls were German. Because of high wind these ladies were unable to take a ride in the balloon, a feature of the convention. Instead they went to the fair grounds to visit the 98 booths of the Jaycee Arts and Crafts Fair. They were glad to see among those "Caywood-Capitan" and "Hutchinson-Corona".

Congratulations and good luck to the eleven trackclads who will go to the State Track Meet this weekend.

Tom C. Livingston returned Thursday from Durant, OK, where he visited his family and attended to business.

Corona is planning a cleanup drive next week. The hours are 9 to 6 on Saturday with about three hours Sunday afternoon. Please bring your gloves and rakes and enthusiasm. Phone 3766 or 1633 for trash pick up or information. There will be a weiner roast Saturday at 6 p.m. at the Lee-Mulkey home for all interested workers. Remember the dates, May 19 and 20.

Mrs. Jack Hecker was here from Carrizozo Monday to see her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V.C. Waldon.

Guests of the Bells last week included Mack's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bell, Tucumcari; and his aunt, Mrs. Mary Nail, Rochester, N.Y.

'Always and Forever', Theme for 1979 Prom

Following the theme of "Always and Forever" the Junior class honored Capitan's seniors with their Prom Friday night. The steak and lobster supper was graciously prepared and served by the Silver Dollar Restaurant at Tinnie and was enjoyed by over 90 juniors, seniors, faculty members and their dates.

The dance followed on the veranda with music by Michael Jay from Roswell. A warm welcome address was given by Junior Class President Sally Abercrombie followed by the coronation ceremony of the Queen and King.

Crowned as royalty were seniors Shone Bachelor and Nathan Stone. Shone was presented a beautiful bouquet of red roses and Nathan a boutonniere by Mrs. Emma Gene Hall junior class sponsor. The juniors did a great job in giving this special final celebration for the Seniors of '79.
