M-Y T-I-M-E

by Michael Swickard

There are many ways that we Americans deal with the daily crises that we face these days. The first way is one of doing exactly nothing. The ol' hide your head in the sand and see if the problem goes away. This works for about .0003 percent of the problems that we face.

Next on the list of ways that we cope with the problems is the "blame someone, anyone else that is."

Now blaming someone else doesn't help the problem, but it sure does seem to make some people feel better.

As neither of these two ways really help anything, maybe we should start facing some realities.

The first is that we have only so many so called resources in this country, and we have potentially unlimited demand upon these limited resources.

Now with the gas shortage, we must realize that we can not keep using more gas each year as we have been doing for about 80 years. Someday we will simply run out, such as last month.

But we Americans are spoiled and undisciplined.

When it comes to decision making we must realize that we will not solve any problems until we really do discipline ourselves.

I am not against nuclear energy, solar development, geo-thermal exploration, or any of the other plans this country has, but the plans are only treating the symptoms not the disease.

The total disregard for reality is the disease that we Americans have, and the outcome is certain death as a nation.

I feel that the gas companies are more than likely making quite a killing with the gas shortage, but we allow it.

There are about 10 million cars in California. Most cars use 20 gallons a week. So there are 200 million gallons a week in California alone.

At a dollar a gallon that is 200 million dollars a week. Now if everyone was to cut his driving in half through car pooling and staying home, can you imagine how fast the price would go down?

But that would take discipline.

It is the demand by Americans for more and better for less that is the cause of our troubles. We elect those that will promise us more and better for less, even if that is not really feasible.

So you want to cut the gas shortage? Make everyone pay for their car before driving it. The streets would be deserted.

How about raising the driving age. That would save lives and resources.

Ah, but we have promised ourselves the good life, and these luxuries are part of the good life.

How about wearing more clothes in the winter instead of turning the temperature up? And sweating in the summer.

You see, there are two things that we must look out for. One is bankruptcy, the starvation of a country.

The other is ego-rupicy, which is a country starving needlessly because of their egos.

We have a "can-do" attitude toward everything. "Pour a little more money on it Fred, by God we can do it."

Regardless of the project it is the feeling that we can do it. We can keep everyone in the world alive by our humanitarianisms long enough for them to reproduce and make more potential starvation victims.

I am sorry to have to tell you, but we can't do it. We can't keep on living the way we have. We can't keep everyone from starving in the world. We will be lucky to keep ourselves from starving.

And if we realize that we are mortal men and not gods, and that we have a place on this earth, but we don't own it, then and only then, we may have a chance. MS

Capitan Town

Council Spends

$25,000 on Police

Capitan Town Council met briefly recently to decide where to spend $25,000 Revenue Sharing money.

After some questions by the council, it was approved to place the money into the village police department. Part of the money will be used to hire a dog catcher, it was decided, with the position under police personell.

The police department brings over $4000 a year into the village general fund. Most fines are routine speeding fines.

A budget review meeting will be held on June 20 at 7:30 p.m. Villagers are urged to attend.

Ft. Stanton Experiments

With New Grazing System

FORT STANTON - Reliable data on rotational grazing systems is urgently needed by Western cattlemen because of pending federal allotment plans.

Long-term studies underway at the Fort Stanton Experimental Range are producing this information. The Fort Stanton Experimental Range is the only experiment station in New Mexico where there is enough land to conduct studies which correspond to actual ranch situations in eastern and northern sectors of New Mexico. Implications of the studies would also apply to grazing questions in parts of Texas and Colorado.

Thus far, Fort Stanton data indicate that neither cattle nor pastures were adversely affected when cattle were allowed to graze in each of four small pastures at different times of the year, rather than year-around in a single large pasture area. When pastures were grazed, year around during two successive drought years, grazing had to be halted to avoid serious range damage.

Test data indicate the amount of vegetation is not reduced in rotational grazing systems. "Off" periods allowed grasses a chance to "rest" and thereby became more drought resistant.

Long-range studies are mandatory to determine effects of climate and grazing on rangelands. Weather, particularly precipitation, significantly affects grass cover, percentage of different plants in a pasture, plant density, pounds of plants produced and other factors.

Summer Classes Begin

The Lincoln County Community Center will be starting their summer classes this week. Home Repair with Duke Daniell was to start this Monday and exercise this Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Basic Guitar will start tonight, Thursday at 6:15 p.m. with Mike Swickard. For all interested potential guitarists, this lesson can be taken this week or next, but coming to the class is important so that the teacher can be sure that there is enough interest to hold a class.

Requirements of the Guitar class is that you have a guitar and come to the class. No fees will be charged in any way.

Capitan will receive $25,000 in Revenue sharing this year and at a short meeting, one which was published as a meeting for public opinion, it was decided to give all of the money to the Police.

Everyone knows Capitan needs a dog catcher, but that's not the whole $25,000. And there are some big question marks in some heads as to why so much for Police.

This public meeting was attended by two persons of the general public, myself and a councilman's wife. Now myself, I can hardly be the public, although I report what happens at these public meetings. But one voice is not ten or twenty and certainly not enough to make any changes.

A public meeting, a review of the village budget will be June 20. The public will have an opportunity to find out how much is going to be spent by police and maintenance etc. The meeting is important for it involves a year's worth of money, taxpayers money.

If the villagers of Capitan don't care enough to stop in to hear the budget, they have no right to complain. The council does exist as a forum for the people of the village and it is time the people take some responsibility in knowing what is happening.

A large public attendance keeps the council on its toes and shows them that the people do care.

Village of Capitan News

We did have several light showers of rain this last week. Friday night we did receive 1 1/2 inches. It is the best rain we have had in many years. The way it fell etc. None since but at this time Monday it is raining slow and gently. We do appreciate this moisture and the way it has come. It has been very cool. But lovely. We do owe our deep thanks and gratitude to God.

The old Lane store building is at this time being restored. All of the big windows in the front have been taken out and a new front installed. Looks good. Larry Maroon and Dave Merrill are doing the work. There is going to be a Cabinet Shop therein and it will open Monday June 11. The Grand opening will be held at the time of the Art Fair in the near future. Larry has lived at Nogal for several years. He did sell his home and will make his home in Capitan. Dave is from Maine. Welcome, young men, and we do wish success and happiness in our community. I am certain you will have them as you do have confidence in us.

The City has installed a new door at the City Hall. That is a great improvement. Looks nice.

Church of Christ Bible School opens Monday June 11 through Friday the 15th.

The old phone building is completely done and taken away and the lot cleared. That looks much better than the old burned building. Another improvement.

Fletcher Hall purchased the Reil property north of his residence. He is taking the building down.

The Grand Opening of the Smokey Bear Park will be held June 21.

The Post Office building roof is being re-done at this time. A roofing company with good equipment is doing a good job.

The Capitan Hardware little league Baseball won their game last Thursday in Carrizozo.

I have had several patrons ask me, "Why the little leaguers are not ever in the paper?" They said the pictures were taken.

The Volunteer Firemans' Ball held at the Fair Building last Saturday night was a big success with a large crowd attending.

Grady Lee Eldridge won the all around cowboy saddle at the N.M. Jr. Rodeo in Belen last weekend. We are so happy for him. He and his sister Shelly are excellent in their rodeo work.

Charlie Engelking resigned from the Sheriff's Department and is attending an Auctioneer School in Nevada for two weeks.

Bill MacVeigh attended the Physics workshop for 1 1/2 weeks at the Eastern New Mexico University Campus.

Bess Forrester, who formerly lived across from Mrs. Fry, on the old road to Ruidoso, had cataract surgery on May 21, and will have a second one in eight more weeks. I am sure she would enjoy hearing from her New Mexico friends. Her address is 1509 N. Main, Cassville, Mo. 65625. Do write and send cards of cheer. Mrs. Forrester my love and prayers are for the very best recovery. Chin up and smile, and you will win.

Mrs. Hutchinson is opening a gift shop 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Thursday thru Monday every week. Watch for the name "Georgia's" as next Friday it will be open for the first time. It is located west of Mrs. Pope's apt.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean, Sr. spent one week at Reserve with Janie and Joe Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ridgeway of the Capitan Hardware spent last weekend in Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. B.H. Widmayer were guests of C.W. Morgans last week. While here they all drove to Belen for the graduation of their niece Devin Warwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Warwick and grand daughter of Charles Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ricke and two children went to White Sands last Sunday and there were joined by her brother Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Shaw of Las Cruces for a wonderful happy day of recreation.

Mr. and Mrs. Books took Bobbie Rogers, Toni Brooks and Audrey Joiner to the Basketball Camp at Dora where they will spend one week.

Bud Payne of Carrizozo enjoyed dinner last Friday with his son Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Payne and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Trammell and four children of Humble City, N.M. spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Terry Strickland and family and they all attended the Firemans' Ball. Also Mr. and Mrs. Roy Simpson of the same place came and spent the day Saturday with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sanchez took a few days vacation by leaving last Friday morning and returning Tuesday. Barbara will be back at her duties at her Beauty Shop Wednesday June 6th.

Doris Pounds enjoyed one week vacation with her sister and family in Santa Rosa returning Wednesday.

Fermented Berries & Sweet Sap Are Martinis of the Animal World

Humans have long been known for their fondness of the fruit of the vine. But inebriation is not just of human foible, according to the current issue of International Wildlife magazine. Some animals also overindulge.

Take the case of hundreds of waxwings which, explains the National Wildlife Federation's bimonthly publication, fell victim to the intoxicating effects of fermented rowanberries in Sweden. While motorists were trying to cope with a stretch of icy roadway one winter day, some of the drunken birds began to weave back and forth along the shoulder, while others dive-bombed right into windshields. Many of the birds, rendered totally helpless, just sat in the middle of the road.

Ripe pyracantha berries have also been responsible for many a bird's drunkenness. "Robins in Florida sometimes get so tippy on ripe pyracantha berries that they bump into each other or fly into telephone wires and windows," reports International Wildlife. And in southern Nevada, hordes of migrating robins were seen staggering around after lingering too long at the pyracantha bush. A few days later, sobered up, they continued on their way south.

"Drunk" may not be the correct term for birds in this condition. Ornithologist Stanley Temple of the University of Wisconsin explains in International Wildlife that when a bird or mammal gets intoxicated, the cause is usually not alcohol but some other toxic substance. That poison, Temple speculates, may be a particular plant's way of discouraging wildlife from eating it.

Other naturalists point out that wild fruits can indeed ferment, producing in animals the kinds of reactions normally associated with human intoxication. The big difference between inebriated people and animals is that humans may set out deliberately to addle their senses, while animals are usually taken unawares.

Insects are also susceptible, says International Wildlife. This weakness is recognized by butterfly hunters who use a devilish concoction of squashed bananas and sugar to tranquilize their quarry. Some insects are attracted to the sweetness of tree sap. When the sap ferments, wasps and butterflies are suddenly unable to fly. Bees, too, have been observed veering wildly after partaking of overripe nectar.

In addition to man, the elephant is a mammal with a long tradition of inebriation. This is due to the elephant's habit of feeding on various fermented fruits and then engaging in noisy drunken brawls. In Kruger National Park in South Africa's Transvaal, they eat the pale yellow, plumsized fruits of the marula tree. These delicacies have a sweetish acid taste which seem to have a special appeal and are said to ferment in the elephant's stomachs.

Probably the only animal ever grateful for having one too many is the pink pigeon of the island of Mauritius in the Indian Ocean. This rare bird eats a plant that stupefies him—but also produces cyanide when exposed to water in the pigeon's system. The same plant contains another chemical which accumulates in the bird's body, making its flesh poisonous to people.

While other, tastier pigeons were consumed to extinction, the tipsy pink variety was identified as a species to be left alone. "Thus," says responsible for its survival as a species.

Warm weather and picnics go hand-in-hand. This summer why not surprise your potato salad lovers by borrowing flavors common to foreign cuisines? Creative potato salad cooks are in luck! According to United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) marketing specialists, potatoes are in heavy supply—a good time to take advantage of different varieties and reasonable prices.

Scandinavians would do this by combining potatoes with apples, beets and herring. The French like to dress simple sliced cooked potatoes in vinaigrette sauce, while in Spain anchovies and capers turn up with potatoes in salad. Sweet onions, snap beans, celery, peas, green or red peppers—there is hardly a limit to the possible flavorful combinations you can create!

Whatever the recipe, remember to keep prepared potato salad refrigerated or in an ice chest before serving to keep it fresh and free from spoilage due to bacterial build-up.

Inside the Capitol

By Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—A brisk review of topics which have occupied the state capital's attention this week.

FUEL CRISIS? The Governor says not yet. Though the President gave him authority to impose some minor forms of gasoline rationing, he doesn't think we need it now and hopes we won't till maybe next summer. Cold-eyed observers think that hope's illusory, are not impressed by announcement that only stand-by plan state has on shelf is old odd-even system. Trouble with that is that it doesn't cut use; it just makes buying gasoline more inconvenient. Governor's summary of situation we face in this matter was typical Bruce King Special, which comes down on both sides of issues at once: "We just have to prepare for the worst and hope for the best."

UPPING REVENUE: The state stands to make lots of bucks from that decision by Oil Conservation Division to let El Paso Natural Gas do infill drilling in Basin Dakota pool in San Juan and Rio Arriba counties. Production in that single pool will rise to four times as much gas as we have been producing in the whole state of New Mexico in recent years. Reason the state stands to gain is that this will be "new gas," which sells for higher prices than "old gas" El Paso presently pumps from that pool. Higher sale prices, of course, mean higher revenues to the treasury.

GUIDELINE: Al Clemmons, director of public school finance, reports most schoolteachers being gentlemanly and lady-like about fact they will get only 7 per cent pay raise. Albuquerque teachers may not be so polite about it.

PLANNING: What do elected officials think about during odd-numbered years? What to run for during next even-numbered year's elections. Taking close look at governor's race, a full three and half year away, are David King (naturally), Toney Anaya (likewise), as well as Senator C.B. Trujillo and Rep. Ray Sanchez, on the Demo side; Senators John Erick and John Conway and Rep. Colin McMillan on the GOP ticket. Two others who are known to lust after the post are both in Congress—Harold Runnels and Manuel Lujan. The two probably wouldn't run in the same race; they are friends and might work it out to take turns at the job.

OUTLANDER: Remember a young lad named Bill Richardson, who came out here from Washington to become executive secretary of the Democratic party, just before Dan Croy, who hired him, was replaced by Larry Ingram? He has evidently been brooding a lot since he got his job shot out from under him. Now he wants to go for a big one: to replace Manuel Lujan as Congressman from the first of Old Coal Mines

WANTED: Pictures & History

The help of area residents in locating old pictures and stories concerning the history of the coal mines which used to be operated in Lincoln County would be very much appreciated. Mr. Howard B. Nickelson and Mr. Stephen J. Frost are in the process of writing a book on the history of coal mining in New Mexico, and such pictures and information are very much needed. These men know how important these records would be to their owners and are not asking to keep or even to borrow them; arrangements can be made for someone to come and copy them.

Mr. Nickelson and Mr. Karl Frost are currently working in Lincoln County on a project concerning reclamation of old coal mines. This project, under the supervision of the New Mexico Bureau of Mines & Mineral Resources at Socorro, is funded by the Office of Surface Mining. Mr. Nickelson, whose home is in Carlsbad, is a graduate in Geological Engineering from the Montana School of Mines, Butte, Montana, and is retired from the U.S. Geological Survey. Mr. Frost, from Seattle, holds a degree in Geology from the University of Washington in that city. Previously Mr. Frost worked for the Cities Service Minerals Corporation in Alaska. The men are examining old coal mines for hazards and making recommendations for correction.

While engaged in this field work, Mr. Nickelson is also conducting research for the book on the history of coal mining in New Mexico. Mr. Stephen J. Frost of Socorro, co-author, is a graduate of the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology and is employed as a geologist by the New Mexico Bureau of Mines & Mineral Resources.

If any Lincoln County residents have pictures or information which could be copied for the history, it is requested that they contact Mr. Stephen J. Frost at the above address in Socorro (zip 87801). Arrangements for copying will be made, and sources will be acknowledged in the publication.

Carrizozo Counseling Center Operates on a Family Philosophy

The Counseling Center located in the Zia School building here in Carrizozo operates on a family philosophy. Family problems account for the majority of therapy sessions. Even when a single client is being counseled, the counseling involves the family, present and past.

The fact that a family or individual is seeking help does not mean it is a sick family. All families have problems. Major changes in the lives of any of the family members may temporarily unbalance the family equilibrium. Such changes might include a move, divorce, the birth of a child, a new job for a family member, a death, etc. Any such changes could bring about problems severe enough to cause one or more family members to feel a need for outside help.

Corona Jr.-Sr. Banquet

The Junior class of Corona High gave the Jr.-Sr. Prom and Banquet May 5. The banquet began at 6:00 p.m. in the Recreation Room with Master of Ceremonies Jeanne Erramouspe welcoming guests. Troy Yancey made the introductions of the guests, then toasted the Seniors, wishing them good health and good fortune. On behalf of the Seniors, Patsy Chavez gave the response. Everyone enjoyed the meal prepared by the Junior Mothers.

Many types of behavior may be indicative of family problems, for example; bouts of depression, psychosomatic illnesses, suicidal tendencies, drug and alcohol problems, in children bedwetting and running away may be reactions to family problems.

There are problems which are individual and individual counseling is also done at the Counseling Center. However, family-oriented therapy is usually effective in a shorter period of time and stresses are generally alleviated more quickly.

Family involvement is especially important when a child is referred for counseling because children do not have the power to make changes in the family circumstances. In many cases, when it is a child who is experiencing problems marriage therapy for the parents is helpful.

Family therapy involves working with what is going on in the present rather than analysis of past events and influences.

The guest speaker, TONEY ANAYA, former Attorney General, spoke on young people being more aware and getting more involved in the things happening around them.

OVER THE SECOND CUP

When Cherri Goad told me that she and Dale were going on a trip to Mexico, I let her know Lincoln County residents would enjoy reading about Mexico. Here is an account of their South-of-the-Border trip. They were accompanied by Cherri's parents, Dr.

and Mrs. Ken Williams and son, Mark of Abilene, Texas.

Guaymas, Sonora, Mexico--Sonora's beautiful seaport on the Gulf of California is located upon a beautiful land-locked bay, backed by desert and mountains. This is the place where the mountains meet the ocean. The city offers to the visitor an unexcelled climate and wonderful fishing. The central plaza is lined with palm trees, the old churches, and the streets are bordered by Spanish-Moorish adobe houses which give a sense of restfulness and mind and body.

The city of Guaymas was first mentioned in history by Father Kino in 1680. The city was scene of heavy fighting in 1854 when Count Rousset de Boulbon heading some four hundred pirates, attempted to seize it for annexation to the United States. The attempt failed. Guaymas with more than 80,000 inhabitants turns to fishing for its principal means of livelihood. Tops on the list of this industry which has grown to gigantic proportion is the world famous "Guaymas Shrimp."

Hidden away three miles from the city on huge, calm Bochibampo Bay, the Hotel Playa de Cortes has provided seclusion for presidents, governors, stars for more than 43 years. (This is where the Goad's and Williams' stayed. Mr. Valenzuela, who helped Cherri with the background on history, has been associated with this hotel for many years.)

The Playa de Cortes was built by the Southern Pacific de Mexico in 1936. Its low rambling colonial-style buildings are surrounded by courtyards and green lawns rolling down to the sandy beach.

While relaxing in the sun, the beauty of the vegetation surrounds you. You notice the citrus trees, oleanders, and bouganvilleas. Brazilian peppers, and other semitropical fruit trees and flowers grow profusely in the gardens.

The Sea of Cortes provides excellent waters for the adventure of snorkeling and skin diving in the clear water. The sea life is marvelous along with the array of colorful fish. The waters temperature is perfect. One day can be spent out at San Pedro Island exploring the bays and coves along with the life of the sea lions.

Guaymas is called the Fisherman's Paradise because it is an angler's heaven. Deep sea fishing is unsurpassed. One can charter a boat with all equipment and crew provided. "Joe" at the Marina next to the hotel, will make sure you catch enough fish. Joe knows the ocean. (Joe has been at the Marina since Cherri was a child, when she and her parents vacationed in Mexico.) Winter brings the yellowtail tuna, red snapper, and Pacific whitefish. Summer and fall is the time for marlin, sailfish, and bonita. If one wishes to bring fish home, Joe will prepare them for travel. Your daily catch can be prepared as you like it by the chef, too.

Dining on the hotel's gourmet cuisine is tantalizing. The meals are displayed beautifully, with such excellent taste. The service is fantastic, since they strive to grant your every desire. They somehow accomplish it. At this time there are two waiters per person. Also one waiter is assigned to your group throughout your stay. One can order birthday cakes specially made by the chef. They are breathtaking, surrounded by beautiful bouganvilleas flowers. Besides the very good service, the truly excellent meals, the beautiful view and the climate, the Hotel Playa de Cortes offers its guests various other facilities and activities.

When in the city a stop at the panderia (bakery) is most interesting. The oven is built into the wall of a patio and fired with live coals. All the unbaked products are placed on an eight foot board and pushed into the oven to cook. The finished products are beautiful and ever so tasty. There is quite an art to baking in this method.

The mercado (market) is an amazing shopping center. Each narrow walk-way is lined by several small booths selling everything from pharmaceutical, such as mystical herbs and rattlesnake skins to beautifully woven clothing to fruits and freshly-killed meats. Especially interesting for sale with tiny young parrots, the boldest of which clung to the top of the cage and squawked with all of his might.

The grocery store is very easy in which to maneuver. One can buy beautiful Guaymas shrimp, octopi, squid, turtles, and a variety of fish along with regular goods. We could not leave Mexico without purchasing "Te de Manzanilla (tea) and Mesmalada de Fresa (strawberry jam)" to bring home and breakfast a special flare.

If your interest is in the Navy or sea faring ships, a quick visit to Guaymas large port and docking area reveals large ships from all over the world.

'Talents'

A Shop for Lincoln County

"Talents is what my shop is about," says Pauline McGuirre, proprietor. "There is so much talent in Lincoln County, I wanted to provide a place for it," she added.

Mrs. McGuirre is well-known in Capitan for her Hitching Post, an adobe apartment complex built in the 1930's. The Hitching Post is home of Pauline's wide assortment of used items, clothing to sewing machines and now a room for Talents.

Pauline chuckles when she tells how she got the name of her shop.

"I was in England, having dinner in a quaint old inn when I saw the shop down the narrow street. 'Talents' was the only name, but when I went in I saw it was a show for local talent, arts and crafts and all sort. So when I got home and was enthused with such a shop here in my building I decided to borrow the name, Talents."

Already there are a number of crafts available in Talents. Quilts and crochet and a nice selection of craft kits are for sale. Mrs. McGuirre hopes for more.

"Anyone is welcome to put their crafts, here, I charge 25 percent commission," she added.

A trip through Pauline's front room is a junk-collector's paradise. She also sells used items on commission, old books, shoes, clothes and who knows what else. "I have a lot of tourists stop in," she said. "And I hope to keep things in my shop that tourists can afford."

When asked if she thought tourism would be hurt this summer she commented, "I think more people will stay longer when they do visit places. I'm not really worried," she added.

Talents is open 9-12 and 3-5 and is located inside the Hitching Post in Capitan. If you stop in, Pauline will tell you about her Talents, or maybe how she got the name.

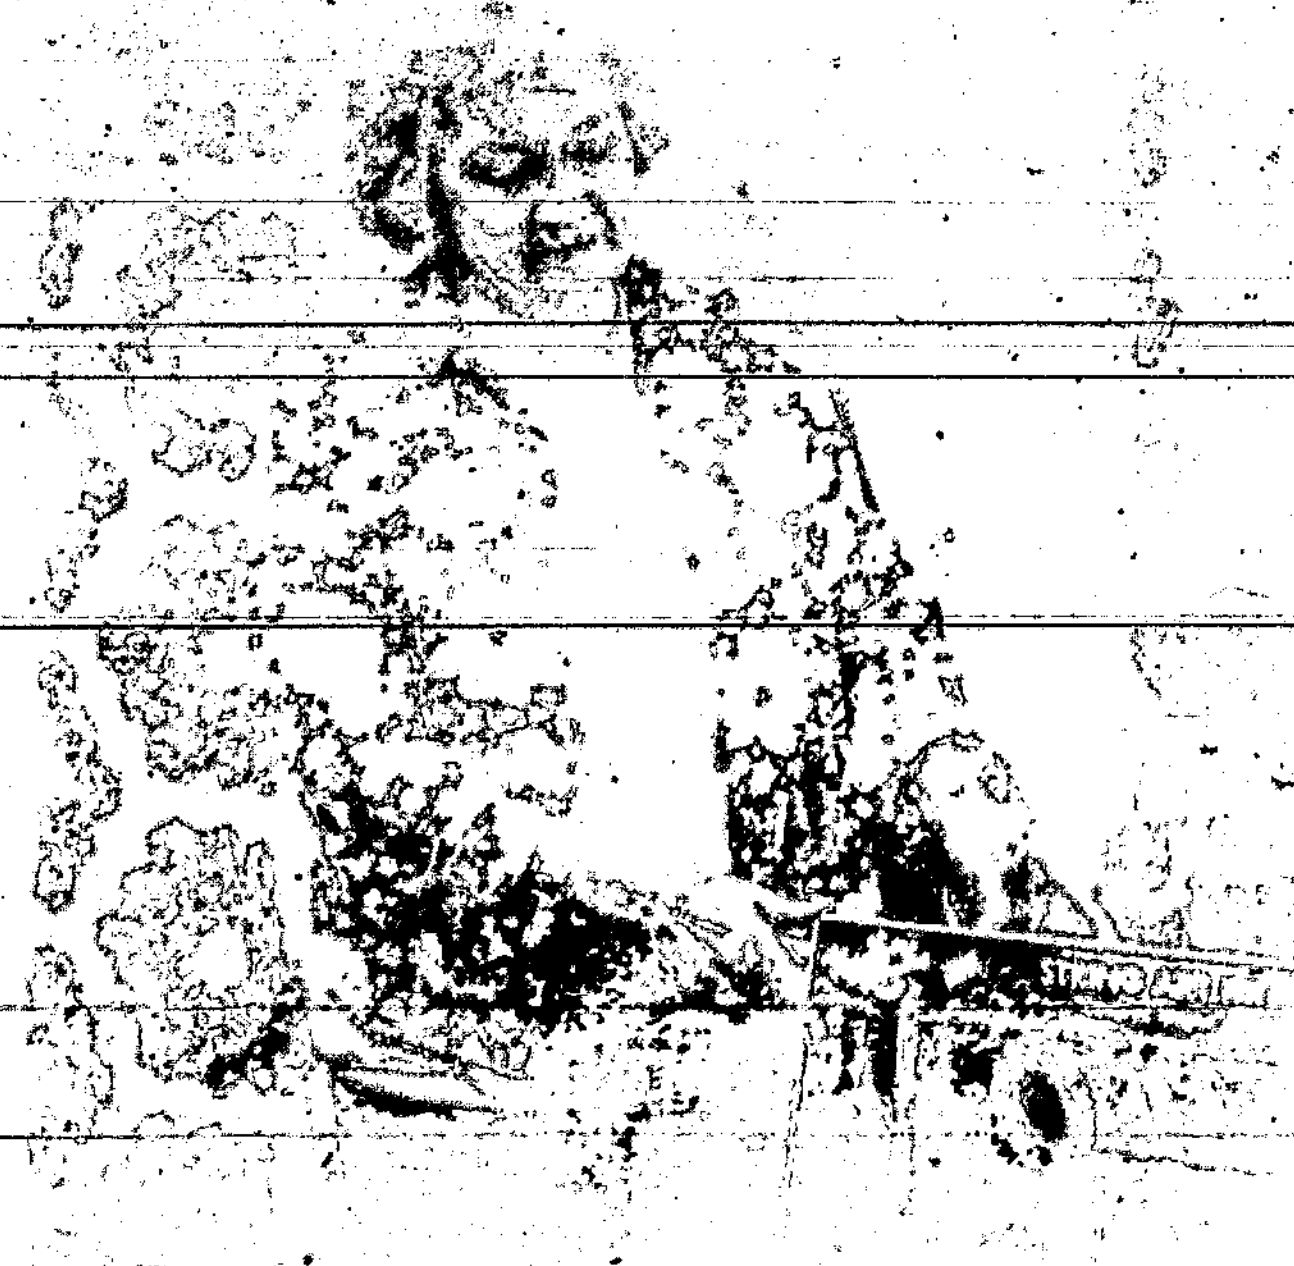

These special events will be held in the dunes picnic area at 8:45 p.m. on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, June 9, 10, and 11. Following the programs, the dunes area will be open until midnight.

Presenting a program called the "Birth and Death of Stars," McNamara will trace a star from its formative period through its nuclear burning lifetime and its final death. Covered in this unusual talk will be white dwarf stars, super-novas and black holes. McNamara has a PH.D. in astronomy from the University of California, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and the American Astronomical Society. An innovative scientist, McNamara teaches a new class at New Mexico State University called "Exotic Astronomy."

On Sunday, June 10, Dr. Karl Wuerschling of New Mexico State University-Alamogordo staff will give a slide talk called, "Man and Nature in the Tularosa Basin." Dr. Wuerschling is widely known in area historical circles. He holds a PH.D. in geography from the University of Michigan and is well qualified to discuss the origin of the unique phenomena of the white sands. Wuerschling is best known in the area for spearheading the movement which resulted in the opening of the Sacramento Mountains Historical Museum in Cloudcroft, New Mexico.

Rounding out this series of special programs will be Mark Wimberly, well known area archeologist on Monday, June 11. Wimberly is president of Human Systems Research of Tularosa, New Mexico and will present a slide talk on "Prehistoric Man in the Great White Sands." Little known facts of man's early occupation of the Tularosa Basin will be revealed. Wimberly has a B.A. degree from the University of New Mexico and has done several comprehensive studies in this area. Wimberly recently completed an archeological survey of the western and little known portion of White Sands National Monument.

"This promises to be a top notch slate of speakers, so come on out and learn little known facts WHILE YOU VIEW THE WHITE SANDS AT ITS BEST, BY THE FULL MOON," Harper concluded. When in the monument area, be sure and tune your car radio to 1610 AM for latest information.

A Moment in Time

By Mari Matrice

The first rays of the morning sun outlined the meadow lark on the fence post. It tilted its head and sang its first song of the day. The notes were picked up and carried on the wind. Are our words as melodious to others as the meadow lark's? Do others enjoy listening to us? Is the sound of our voice pleasing or is it harsh and unpleasant? Do our words cause thoughts and actions in others. Are those thoughts and actions that we cause positive or negative? As the meadow lark sings - so do we with each word we speak.

Washington Report

From Your Congressman
HAROLD RUNNELS

Supply and Demand Like Production and Inflation

The law of supply and demand is the oldest, and the simplest, law that our economy runs by. Striking a balance between the two is what policy makers are constantly striving for and used to achieve. But not any more.

Now the demand far outweighs the supply so we are left with inflation. This was underscored recently when the Joint Economic Committee of the Congress issued their first unanimous report in 20 years. This group of 10 Senators and 10 Congressmen from both political parties said the best ways to fight inflation are to produce more goods and services and to promote savings and investment. In other words, increase the supply to bring it back into balance with demand.

During most of the post war period our economy posted overall gains in productivity averaging more than 3% a year. Since the late 1960's that average has been cut in half and it slumped even more in the 1970's. Last year productivity increased only 0.8%. The forecasts for growth of 1.7% in 1980 and 2.0% in 1982 and 1983 offer little room for hope.

In contrast, the rates of growth in Japanese and European productivity have been moving up sharply. If these trends continue, several nations will surpass us in productivity within a few years.

There are several reasons why our productivity has dropped. Government regulations and red tape is a major one. Our capital investments in plants and equipment has been inadequate, especially considering the rapid increase in the number of people working. Expenditures for research and development have declined and technological advances in the work place have slowed. The average age of workers has dropped and younger employees tend to be less efficient than older, more experienced employees. Finally, it appears that attitudes toward work have changed.

This inefficiency in production means a higher cost of turning out more goods and services and it's passed on to consumers. Besides our inflation at home, our products are not competitive on the world market, so our balance of payments suffers and our currency is weakened. Most important is the link between productivity and inflation.

There are actions that can be taken to increase productivity. Capital investments can, and should, be stimulated by tax credits or cuts in taxes. Regulations should be reduced or eliminated where possible. Tax incentives can spur research and development. Inexperienced workers can be helped by special programs of on-the-job training and joint labor-management committees can correct some of the man's problems.

Let me emphasize that improving productivity does not mean just working harder. It means working "smarter," with more efficiency, better training, better equipment, and more cooperation between workers and their management. Our goals should be rewarding the productive and discouraging those who are simply idle.

I believe that the battle to increase productivity must be fought by the private sector where 90% of all goods and services are produced. The responsibility of government is to remove the obstacles on the battlefield to create a healthy climate for business in which production can become more efficient and can increase. It's a goal I strive for constantly.

If we can increase our productivity and restore balance in the supply and demand of our economy I believe we will be well on the road to bringing inflation under control.

Christian Science Church Celebrates 100th Year

Christian Scientists marked the centennial year of their denomination June 4 acknowledging increased public interest in Christian healing. Harvey W. Wood, Chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, speaking to an overflow audience of members of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, said "growing interest in Christian healing by people of many different faiths" reflected "a reaching out to learn more of man's relationship to God, and the spiritual basis of true health and wholeness."

"These encouraging signs of awakening are clear indication," said Mr. Wood, "of an awareness that quality of life hinges more on improvement of thought than on accumulation of things."

The Church of Christ, Scientist was founded in 1879 in Boston by religious leader Mary Baker Eddy who, in 1866, discovered Christian Science.

Citing the "Self-indulgence, selfishness, and the hedonism of present-day living" Mr. Wood said it would take "the prayer of spiritual understanding" to help mankind "find deliverance from the cruelty, debasement and limitations of materialistic thinking."

"In the course of the 100 years since the founding of our Church," said Mr. Wood, "we've learned there are no easy shortcuts to spiritual growth. It does not come about with the roar of a rocket engine, the dazzling light and 'beat' of the disco, or the soft or hard 'sell' of a TV commercial."

"Spiritual progress," said Mr. Wood, "requires quiet inner-listening and obedience to the 'still small voice' and willingness to put off the stridency and harshness of human ways and means."

Members were told of a slight increase in the number of members seeking accreditation as full-time Christian Science practitioners and of new interest in Church membership in Africa and Latin America. The Church was reported free of indebtedness and well-supported by membership contributions.

Mrs. Ada Reynolds Jandron, a Christian Science practitioner from Boston, was named President of The Mother Church for 1979-80.

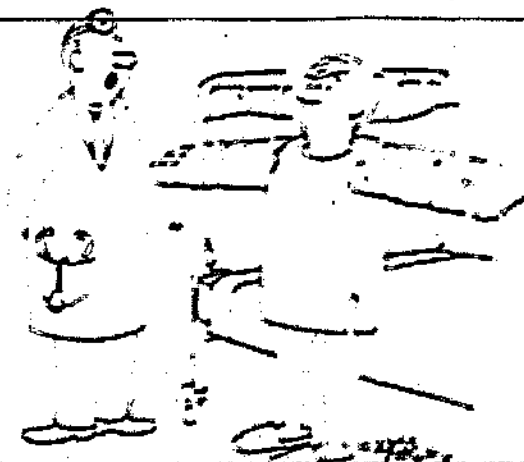

"God-The Only Cause & Creator"

The subject of the lesson-sermon to be read at the Christian Science Church on Sunday June 10 is: "God the Only Cause and Creator." Included in the lesson-sermon is the passage from Ecclesiastes: "I know that whatsoever God doeth, it shall be forever; nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before him. That which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past."

Explaining this passage in the Christian Science Textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, Mary Baker Eddy writes: "Immortal spiritual man alone represents the truth of Creation. When mortal man blinds his thoughts of existence with the spiritual and works only as God works, he will no longer grope in the dark and cling to earth because he has not tested heaven."

Wed. evening meetings are held at 8:00 p.m. where testimonies of Christian Science healing are given. All are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

The Christian Science Library is open on call. Here authorized Christian Science literature may be read, borrowed or purchased.

Business News Features

C of C OF THE U.S. / Washington

If you like how your mail is delivered, how your taxes and prices keep going up and how federal policy saves us from an energy crisis, you will leap for joy over the latest Washington takeover scheme.

It's far more likely, however, that - like most Americans - you would oppose further regulation of business activity affecting consumers, workers and taxpayers.

Proposed by a powerful group of pro-labor members in Congress, the federal takeover plan would federalize the present state system of workers' compensation programs, which provide employer-paid benefits to help offset income lost due to injury on the job.

States have been successfully running these systems for more than 60 years, sparing both employers and their employees the expense and aggravation of lawsuits that otherwise might arise in injury cases.

Under a Senate bill (S. 420) the present system would be supplanted by a federal program establishing minimum federal standards and benefit levels for all states to follow.

Why substitute federal control now? What new infinite wisdom is there that the federal government could do a better job?

None. As a matter of fact, the state systems operating under 50 different state laws - each tailored to a state's needs and economy - are constantly being improved. True, in 1972, a national commission found a number of shortcomings.

Since then according to a survey by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, nearly 1,500 amendments have been added to the state laws, upgrading benefits and making other improvements to overcome the 1972 complaints.

Could the federal government do a better job? The fact is, that it has not. Under a law enacted in 1916, the federal government operates the compensation system covering federal employees, which in 1980 will pay out an estimated $1 billion in benefits.

In 1976 a House investigating committee found that the federal program was managed so poorly that it lacked "the data necessary to accurately determine the effects of changes in the law or to refute charges of widespread abuse."

In other words, it was in no position to control or properly administer the handling of millions of dollars. Under these circumstances it comes as no surprise that benefits have grown dramatically. From 1970 through fiscal 1977, these benefits jumped by more than 315 percent - from $131 million to $545 million.

Matters are little better today. Judging from a recent General Accounting Office (GAO) study made for Congress, the Department of Labor, which handles the program, has failed ever since 1974 to devise and put in effect a vitally needed computerized system of handling the benefit funds.

Here is what a GAO official recently said in Congressional testimony when he reviewed the GAO study's findings: "Five years have passed since ESA (the Employment Standards Administration, a part of the labor department) began to develop its computer system, and over $6 million has been spent by ESA in attempting to develop the system. However, very little progress has been made. As of March 1979, despite three separate attempts to develop the system, only 2 of 28 processing steps have been computerized and only one of six management requirements have been partially satisfied."

The department's efforts, the GAO official added, have been "plagued with problems and have suffered from a lack of management control and coordination."

"Even now there appears to be considerable doubt and confusion as to the future action this development effort will take," the official stated.

Do we want to entrust our state programs to the U.S. Department of Labor? U.S. Senator Orrin Hatch (R-Utah) has predicted that enactment of S. 420 or similar legislation "will quickly lead to a total breakdown of our state system of workers' compensation."

It is "small wonder," says the Chamber in its newsletter, Congressional Action, that "at least one state governor has vowed to dismantle his state workers' compensation system if federalization ever does become a reality."

WHO IS WATCHING THE HEN HOUSE?

Dr. Jack Carlson, chief economist of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, reminds taxpayers that government policies not only create inflation but also make government major beneficiary of inflation. While federal income and Social Security taxes were rising 11.2 percent, from March 1978, to March 1979, average pay for production workers rose only 8.4 percent. Federal taxes rose 33 percent faster than the average weekly earnings of these workers, he said.

1st Annual Beautification Day

The Carrizozo Women's Club 1st Annual Beautification project will kick-off with a caravan June 15 at 7:00 p.m. and end with a bonfire after the June 16 bar-b-que picnic.

The caravan which will start at the Rec Center will include firetrucks, police cars and a convertible full of cheerleaders. The Little League teams will join the rally.

Beautification Day activities will begin at 8:00 a.m., Saturday, June 16 with a siren blast from the fire station. The clean-up effort will continue all day until the picnic, scheduled for 6:00 p.m. at the Rec Center.

The Rec Center will also serve as the main information, supply, coordination headquarters and babysitting location for parents participating in the day-long activities. Participants are urged to wear long sleeves, shirts, long pants, boots or proper shoes, gloves and hat or caps.

The town has been divided into seven areas, with an area coordinator assigned to oversee the activities in their location. See town map to determine your location or get a map at a business place. Some pick-up trucks and their owners available for hauling trash that day include: Bob Stearns, Sterling Spencer, Ken Jones, Bobby Dan Crenshaw, Roy Hayhurst and Bob Means.

Area Coordinators and their center locations for information and depositing trash are: Area No. 1

Donna Nelson, Area No. 2 Sue Stearns (Rec Center), Area No. 3 Mary Ellen Payne (Courthouse annex, Extension Office), Area No. 4 Manny Hernandez or Marvin Rowan (REA or Lyric), Area No. 5 Lucie Vega, Area No. 6 Earl and Viola Fenter (St. Rita Catholic school), Area No. 7 Choncho Morales (his home).

As an area is policed, people will be shifted to needed areas. Six year olds must be accompanied by parents. Those who wish to work on alleys and streets, may bring along their equipment (weed-eaters, pruning tools, handsaws, etc.) Call 649-2235 or 649-2398 if you have a removal request or want a work assignment, that requires tools.

Karen Lafferty

Concerts to Feature Lafferty

The first of our free concerts this summer, sponsored by Maranatha Mountain Ministries of Ruidoso, will begin on June 23 at 7 p.m. in the Ruidoso High School Gym. Featured that evening will be two guitarists-songwriters, Karen Lafferty and Bob Bennett.

Lafferty, born and reared in Alamogordo, is a recording artist with the California-based music company, Maranatha! Music. Recently returning from a European tour which included England, Holland and Germany, this concert in Ruidoso will mark her first upon arrival in the states.

Her easy listening music and gentle manner has been one factor in retaining her seven year career in contemporary Christian music.

This fall will mark Bennett's first solo album with Maranatha! Music. His intricate guitar work and strong voice has been featured on four other albums released by the same recording company.

The public is heartily welcomed to hear Karen Lafferty and Bob Bennett share their testimony and love for Jesus Christ in song, June 23 at 7 p.m. in the Ruidoso High School Gym.

Town Council Needs More Time

To Consider Lease

A proposed lease was presented to the Town of Carrizozo Board of Trustees June 11, by Town Attorney Bill Payne for Alpha Mineral Processing Corporation in connection with the Industrial Park.

The Trustees felt that more time was needed to finalize this business proposal. Mayor English wants Alpha Minerals contacted as to when they plan to begin work, so a special Town meeting could be held accordingly.

Trustee Orsak requested that such a meeting be publicized with the local news media, so that residents will know exactly what Alpha Mineral proposes. English said if there was time the meeting would be published.

Orsak voiced strong opinion that this business required a regular schedule meeting and not a special meeting. A contract figure of "$1.00 per year on 50 years" was among the many items on the proposed Industrial Park lease that Orsak questioned.

Discussion of swimming pool and hired staff was on the agenda. Following Environmental inspection the pool is scheduled to open for business June 16. A team of two Brenda Lindsay and Tammy Trout will split pool duty responsibility which includes management and life guarding. Mona Payne and Philip Payne will be the fill-in employees.

The handling of pool chemicals was discussed. Town Superintendent Emilio Beltran has been in charge of chlorination.

During the June 11 meeting, a proclamation was read by Town Attorney Bill Payne and signed by Mayor English:

PROCLAMATION
WHEREAS, The Town of Carrizozo, Lincoln County, New Mexico, is a good place to live, and WHEREAS, The people of Carrizozo have much to be proud of, and

WHEREAS, no municipality of similar size in the Southwest can equal Carrizozo in what it has to offer its citizens, and

WHEREAS, The people of Carrizozo, in a spirit of cooperation and being concerned with the appearance of the town, have indicated their desire to improve and make Carrizozo a better place to live and work, and

WHEREAS, a vast majority of the people in Carrizozo desire to evidence their pride in the community of Carrizozo by uniting in an all out effort in cleaning up and doing things to make their town more beautiful on Saturday, June 16, 1979,

NOW, THEREFORE, be it known that the Town of Carrizozo does hereby proclaim Saturday, June 16, 1979, as BEAUTIFICATION DAY and urges all residents to take part therein and, further to make the month of June an annual clean up month and the third Saturday of June an annual beautification day for the Town of Carrizozo.

DATED: June 11, 1979.
JESSE ENGLISH,
MAYOR

Trustee Orsak, Beautification Drive Chairman, reviewed drive work for the June 16 event, a project initially formed by the Carrizozo Women's Club, and co-sponsored by other organizations and churches.

The Police Department received their new $5,733.00 Ford LTD early this week.

An increase in gross receipt tax was an item of importance that came under new business. Residents should be aware that as July 1, 1979 gross receipt tax for the municipality of Carrizozo goes up to 4 1/2 percent from 3%.

A "Thank-You" letter was read from Jan Geha, Zia Senior Citizens Center, for the town paint donated for the Center and to inform the Board of the Seniors' interest in beautification and that they would be of help when needed.

Hoot Gibson Named --

'Father of the Year'

The Canyon Cowbells have selected Omer L. Gibson, better known as HOOT, to receive the annual award and gift, as "The Father of the Year". The selection is made for the father that has given his time and sometimes his money, not only to the Cowbells, but for the service to his community and his fellow-man.

Hoot was raised in House, N.M., and graduated from High School there in 1961, and received his B.S. Degree from Eastern N.M. University in Portales in 1967. A few months later he entered the Marine Corps and received his gold Wings in two years. In 1970 he went to Viet-Nam for a year and was awarded the "Navy Commemoration Medal". Upon his return to the United States he was an instructor of Naval Flight Jet Training in Meridian, Miss. for two years.

Hoot married Linda Stearns of Carrizozo in 1967 and they have two daughters, Jonna Sue, eight; and Lori, three.

He is active in civic and service organizations of the community. At present, he is a member of the Lions Club, on the Board of Directors of the Country Club, a Bank Counselor of the Citizens State Bank, and Emergency Medical Technician, and a member of the Presbyterian Church of Nogal.

Hoot and Linda own the ZOZO Cable T.V. and have Entertainment Vending Machines here and the surrounding towns. They are two busy people, with their business and family, but still find time to do more than their share, for any service or community Project.

THANKS HOOT, from all the Cowbells, and have a Happy Fathers Day.

Commissioners Approve 1980 Budget

The Lincoln County Commissioners approved the final 1980 budget draft of $954,503, general fund and $713,000 road budget after handling other county business.

Several items on the budget were questioned with last minute changes made, most items were approved.

Cuts were made for vehicles for the property assessment department and to the amount to the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission.

Questions were raised on salary promotions and cost of living raises. Budgeted is a 5 percent raise for promotions in addition to the 5 percent annual cost of living raise. The commission approved the proposed promotions to begin the first day of the month after the promotion is approved by the commission. Cost of living will be July 1.

Another personnel question involved budgeting $1400 to certify sheriff's deputies.

$6000 for a new county managers car was approved, money to come from Revenue Sharing.

There were questions about money in the Ambulance fund regarding a communication device. Money from Revenue sharing to purchase two trucks for the road department was also questioned, but finally approved.

Fire-Funds found Lincoln and Bonita over-budgeted but will be allowed for.

A special request by Mary Ellen Payne, county home economist, was made for $1500 to help defray the Carrizozo pool operation costs. The amount was approved and included in the Recreation Fund.

The budget was finally approved and will now be sent to Santa Fe for State approval.

Bud Payne was appointed to the Road Review Board to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Pat Gnatkowski.

Action on approval of an amendment to Ordinance No. 17 of the Lincoln Town Historical District was tabled until the attorney could be present. The amendment concerns restrictions on trailers and new businesses within zone B of the Lincoln area.

Audit contract was approved with Kniff and Co., Albuquerque for 1979-80.

Approved: CETA summer program, purchase of a validating machine, April-May payroll and warrant register, treasurers report. $3000 was approved to be spent for a line purification system for EDP center. The system will eliminate power surges within the court house complex.

Inspection of the Nogal Fire House was set for that day and contract for remodeling and funding of the Zia Development Center was tabled.

A letter concerning appointment of a county chairperson for the International Year of the Child was turned over to the Extension Office.

Vacation of a road, and request for a cattle guard was also discussed and requests for bids on pick-up trucks, fuel contract and rock for the Bonito Road were also read.

Six years teaching and assistant Football coaching duties at Gallup McKinley School District and Duncan, Arizona School District are among Eskins' experience. He and his wife have two children.

Two letters of resignation for the 79-80 school year were read from Basil Lawson, high school mathematics, and Willa Stone, high school science. All certified teachers have signed their contracts except one. Employment of custodians and other staff was also approved for 79-80.

Classroom use approval was given to Alpha Mineral to conduct training for interested people, in particular youth, in the line of mining and construction with emphasis on first aid and safety. Jim Jones, secretary for Alpha Mineral and Max Watson, contractor were present to explain to the board that in addition to Salary increase given employees ranged from 0 per cent to 15 per cent.

The District has plans to spend a considerable amount of money to improve buildings and grounds, use additional money for curriculum work in all grade levels and work on energy conservation to hold down utility costs.

Since I ran the pool three different years, I feel qualified to state that the pool looks the best that I have ever seen and there should be no problem with the opening.

Emilio Beltran and his crew deserve a lot of credit for all of the work that they have done to get the pool going.

M-Y-T-I-M-E

by Michael Swickard

To the many in Carrizozo that have asked, "When will the pool open?" it seems that if several stall details can be worked out, the pool should be open Saturday at 1:00 p.m. The water is going into the pool today and all that remains is the inspection by the Environmentalist Brown Edwards.
