Cox Captured, Accidentally Shot

An unfortunate accident ended a very exhausting week for the sheriff's office last Friday. The second suspect in the slaying of Sheriff's Deputy Tom Bedford was shot in what was termed, "an unfortunate set of circumstances".

Robert Elton Cox, 40, is reported in good condition at Gerald Champion Memorial Hospital, Alamogordo, after surgery to remove a bullet in the hip that was fired by Sheriff's Deputy Donn Dose.

Dose, and Carrizozo police officer Guy Brown had gone to Corona Friday morning to investigate someone shooting paint cans near a ranch.

A tip had been received by Sheriff's office that Cox had left his name on some papers at the scene of the paint can shooting, in an abandoned building on the Joe Atkins ranch near Corona.

An Otero County Deputy Sheriff, Hollis Bynum, who had stopped at the Corona Trading Post spotted Cox first. Bynum said he was making a purchase in the grocery store when he saw a man who fit Cox' description.

He later stated that instead of confronting Cox in the grocery store, he left the store, got into his car, and drove a little way down the street and then waited.

When Cox came out of the store, Bynum said he watched him as he walked up the street past the old school yard.

Dose and Brown were advised by Bynum that the suspect had been seen and that he was in pursuit.

Dose and Brown stopped Cox without incident and loaded him in the car after searching him and taking a .22 caliber pistol and a hunting knife.

Cox offered no resistance and produced a birth certificate that confirmed him to be Robert Elton Cox. He was then transported back to the Lincoln County Jail.

The pistol and the knife were placed in Cox' stocking cap, which was then placed between the two officers on the front seat.

The officers arrived at the parking lot and proceeded to get out of the car.

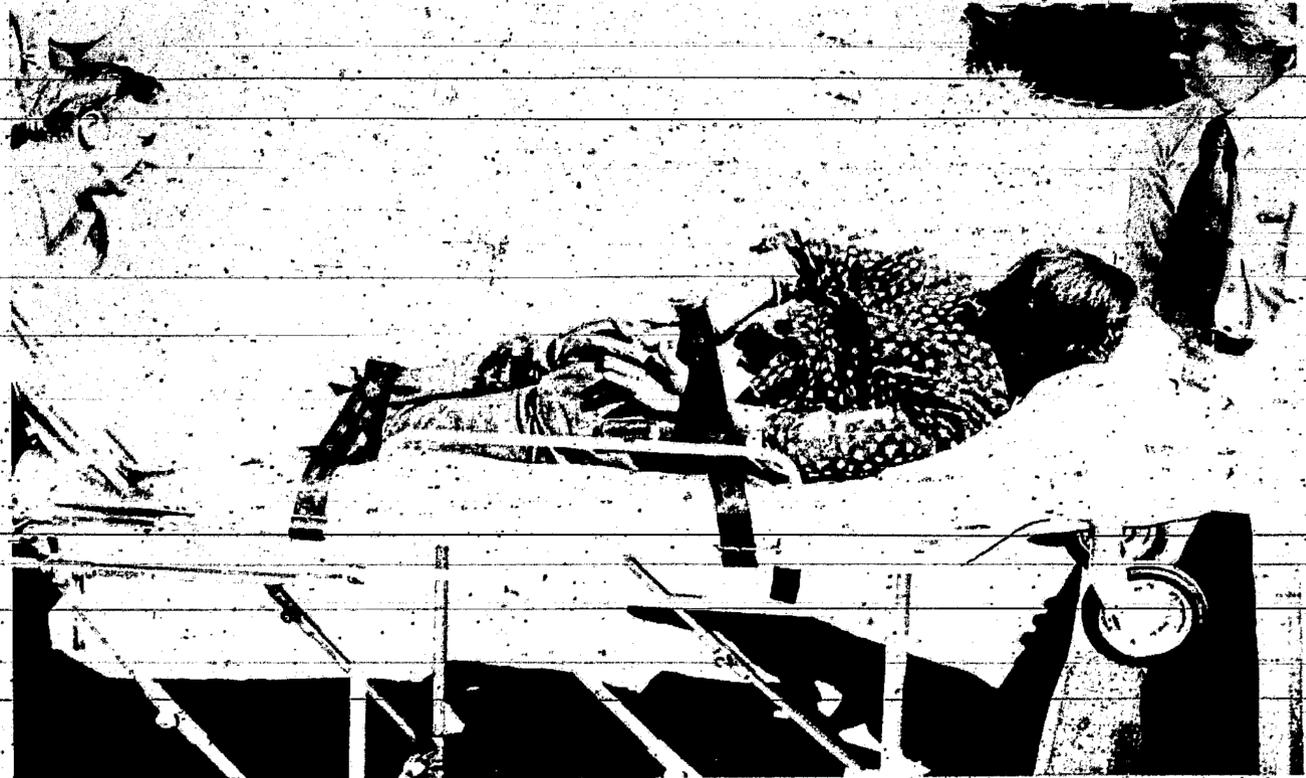

As Dose got out of the car, the stocking cap in the middle of the seat caught on something on Dose's belt, and was dragged to the edge of the seat. As Dose got up, the gun tumbled to the pavement, about 14 inches, struck the pavement and discharged striking Dose in the leg.

Dose did not see the pistol because it was still in the stocking cap and so looked back at Cox. He has stated that he wasn't sure what happened and when his leg started to hurt, he assumed that Cox must still have a weapon. He stood and looked around for about five seconds, then moved to his right and fired three rapid shots through the door of the police car striking Cox once in the hip.

Both Cox and Dose were transported by ambulance to Gerald Champion Hospital in Alamogordo.

Dose was treated and released for two wounds in the left leg. The bullet entered the lower left leg and exited 18 inches above.

As of Thursday morning, no action has been taken by special investigator Jerry Foster on this shooting, nor has either the juvenile suspect or Cox been brought before charges by the District Attorney.

Fire Council Tours Park

Over 200 members of the Southwest Fire Council met in Capitan last week to tour Smokey Bear Historical Park and to hear a report on fire prevention by the State Forestry Office.

John Brink, Capitan District of the State Forestry office, told the group of prevention efforts within the District. The office works on hazard reduction on highway right of ways by trimming trees for field breaks. Public talks and technical assistance are also part of the office job.

The SWFC, has members from state forestry offices, the forest service and private citizens from New Mexico, Arizona, and Southern Colorado. The 200 delegates heard Snady Henson, supervisor of Smokey Bear Historical park give a brief outline of the park's history. From an idea for a town park in 1958, it grew into the Smokey Bear Museum, the log cabin that was constructed on land donated by Hollis Cummins out of logs donated by the Forest Service. In 1960, the volunteer project was completed and opened. In 1973 the idea for a bigger park materialized when the land was purchased for a village park.

It was about that time Smokey, the bear in the Washington Zoo, was getting old. Capitan citizens felt the bear should be brought home, and with the help of Harold Runnels, a resolution was passed in Washington to have Smokey sent home when he died.

That resolution got things moving, with a total of $300,000 being appropriated from various agencies to construct the park. Phase 1 was completed before Smokey died and in November 1976, Smokey was brought back for burial. Phase 2 was not begun until fall 1978, when Gerald Martin Construction, Albuquerque, began a solar-heated building designed by Krueger, Lake, Hutchinson and Brown, Architects from Albuquerque.

Sam Graft was Recreation commissioner and Bob Findling was project director.

Phase III of Smokey Bear Park has not been completed. The landscaping will depict plant life zones represented within a 50 mile radius of the park, but is waiting on money to be legislated for the project.

Ms. Henson told the delegates the park has been received favorably by town citizens.

She emphasized the main point of interest - the interpretive exhibit and the Smokey Bear film that can be viewed within the visitor's center.

The delegates toured the park then returned to the conference being held in Ruidoso.

Pistol is shown inside of stocking cap with three bullet holes in rear door.

'The Value of Life'

The nation that values life, will not tolerate the crime of murder. The nation that values life uses the death penalty to insure the value of life.

The nation that does not value life will allow murder to go unpunished. Alas, we are the second.

We allow our justice to be tempered by laws and rules that are harder on the lawmen than on the criminals.

It is my suggestion that if evidence shows that a criminal is insane, why that is normal. What I mean is that to commit a crime is an insane act. To murder, rape, or shoot someone is not what I would call a rational act, hence the person is insane. But one thing is missing.

"My uncle always says, "I pays for what I breaks".

This must sooner or later be done to the criminal justice system. People have to pay for what they do. Right now, that is not the case.

We have had two executions of criminals in the last ten years, how many murders have we had?

We have a problem in this country. Do you remember the kid in school that always had an excuse for whatever happened. He always came up with an excuse for whatever happened. He always came up with an excuse for why he couldn't do something. The more you found ways of taking care of his excuses, he found more excuses.

We Americans have allowed a minority of lawyers and humanitarians to change our basic lifestyle. We are no longer able to deal with criminals because these humanitarians and lawyers have come up with excuses for every sort of crime.

The two biggies of the excuses are, insanity and technicality.

Now to my way of thinking that if you commit a felony, you must be insane, most of us would not usually consider doing a crime.

So I believe criminals are insane to begin with.

And technicalities play a big role in convictions. Everyone in the courtroom knows that the party is guilty, but due to some technicality the guilty go free.

This is not in keeping with the "I pays for what I breaks" theory.

If a man is known guilty, but the method of catching him is wrong, that is no reason to let him go. You need to punish him for his action, and then punish the other party for breaking the law in the method of catching the wrong-doing.

If a man is sane enough to walk around free, he is sane enough to face the music for what he does.

And in keeping with the pays...theory, we need in this country a cruel and unusual punishment for some of our cruel and unusual crimes.

To a man that has spent most of his adult life in prison, going back for more time is not really a punishment. Being shot while the world watches made kind of a folk hero out of Gilmore. What you need is punishments that we all agree are cruel, such as buried in an ant-hill with no one watching.

Usually the farther away from the crime one is, the more the person tends toward humanitarianism. When you get beaten, shot, and robbed, violent crime takes on a new meaning.

Murder looks different when the victim was your friend. MS

Letter To The Editor

October 11, 1979

Dear Sir:
This is in response to the letter to the Editor appearing in the Thursday, September 22, 1979 edition of the Lincoln County News regarding the dog problem.

As you can see I'm from out of state. We've been getting the Lincoln County News for about two years because we're planning on moving in the area in the very near future.

Presently, we (my wife and I) live on 12 acres on the edge of a small college town just 12 miles from a large city. Dogs are a real problem. However, a number of landowners in this area (myself included) have had to take the position that any dog running unattended on our land will be shot. And this means shot dead. It really hasn't solved our problem but I hate to think of what it would be like if we had not started that action. Incidentally, a neighbor of mine accounted for 17 dogs during the winter of 1978-79.

Now I'm pretty sure there will be some "bleeding hearts" that will cry in great indignation upon reading this. But those same "bleeding hearts" should have seen the three large dogs in the barn worrying my horses last summer.

Sincerely
Woodrow A. Schlegel

Polly's Potpourri Around Town & Surrounding Areas

The Junior Extension-Club met at the New Horizons for their Oct. 11 program. Mary-Ellen Payne completed a knit T-shirt and then taught women all the sewing tricks a home economist has 'up her sleeve'. Hostesses were Carmen Hill and Georgia Ortiz.

Last week the club sent sandwiches to lawmen involved in the manhunt in Nogal. The New Horizons, Inc. provided coffee during the emergency at Nogal.

The busy club furnished napkins for the school potluck last week. Members are planning a bake sale in front of a grocery store the day before Halloween.

The Methodist Women are serving enchiladas the day of the homecoming game, starting at 4:00 p.m. Rosa Chavez is the chief for the event, which will be held at the church hall neighboring the high school.

Birthday people - Elizabeth MacVeigh, Bill Gallacher, Bill Hayes Oct. 18; Wayland Dobbs, Jr., Rachel Monreal Oct. 19; Carrie Magee Mary Shrum, Billy Payne Oct. 20; Curtis Zumwalt, Freddie LaFave, Sally Florian, Bessie Crumbly Oct. 23; Patsy Ann Dobbs Oct. 24. Scholastic potpourri: Education is what you get from reading the small print. Experience is what you get from not reading it. Happy Birthday!

Jacob and Pete Narvaez were in Albuquerque to attend the International Balloon Fiesta last weekend. The brothers traveled by bus and stayed with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Tiolfo Martinez.

Mona Payne and her brother Philip accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Leandro Vega, Jr. to the Aggie-Lobo recently at Las Cruces. Mona and Philip enjoyed participating in campus activities for the event. Mona attended a fraternity party with Lee Vega. While in Las Cruces the Payne students visited with Zozo graduates who attend NMSU, Laurie Voss, Lisa Ferguson, Gary Vega and others.

The CB Club wants to publically thank all volunteers, organizations and business people who contributed to the REACT emergency in Nogal Canyon. There were too many people and merchants involved to list and risk omitting anybody.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the wedding of Louise Montano and James Frederick on October 20, 1979 at 3:00 p.m. at Santa Rita Church. Following there will be a reception at the parish hall. Later that night there will be a dance at the Nike hall at 9:00 p.m.

Health Hints--

Why is the Spine so Important?

by M. A. Moreland

The spine is composed of twenty-four movable bones, called vertebrae. The marvelous spinal cord, second only to the brain in complexity and importance, is housed within the spinal column. This spinal cord is an intricate network of nerves connecting brain cells with body cells through transmission of nerve impulses and nerve energy. From between the vertebrae of the spine, thirty-one pairs of nerves extend from the spinal cord and branch out to the various parts of the body. These nerve trunks carry messages to and from the brain controlling motion, breathing, circulation, digestion, elimination, and glandular function—the very life-giving force and are therefore, vitally important in maintaining a normal, healthy state within the body. "Subluxations" of spinal vertebrae may directly impair these nerve structures causing breakdown in body function and resistance.

Further, misalignments of the vertebrae and postural distortion may cause the head or shoulders to tilt; change the appearance and form of the rib cage, placing stress upon the heart and lungs; and exert damaging stress upon abdominal and pelvic organs resulting in pain, organic dysfunction, and disease. HOW SUBLUXATIONS IN CHILDREN OCCUR

We know that subluxations (misalignments) of the vertebrae in a child's spine take place with much greater frequency than suspected. Even new-born babies are not immune as subluxations may occur during delivery when the baby's body is twisted. Seldom does an infant reach the age of two years without a fall from a chair, bed, or sofa onto his head and neck. As the child grows older and becomes more active, his spine is subjected to a greater degree of minor injury and stress resulting from rough playing, falls, toys, bicycles, and sports. The physical force suffered by the spine in these "little accidents" frequently cause subluxation, or displacement of the vertebrae.

NEXT WEEK: How Parents ignore children's spines.

If you have any questions you feel I can answer, please send them to Dr. M.A. Moreland, P.O. Box 661 Capitan, New Mexico 88316.

Tom Guck--

Sideline Coach of the Week

Last week's sideline coach column was omitted due to the fact that the coach was on the search in the mountains.

Last week's sideline coach of the week was Tom Guck. Tom is kinda shy, so we don't have a photo. But we do have some of his story.

The Tom Guck story is one that goes from the championship captain team, (he played on the same team as Wally Ferguson) clear to next week's Dallas Cowboy Football game.

Tom originated the "can't see the forest for the tree" theory of football. You see, they played on a football field in the forest, and the forest service wouldn't let them cut any of the trees, so they painted football players on the tree trunks. And only the home team knew which player was real and which was part of the forest. The post pattern took on a new meaning.

But back to Dallas. It was Tom Guck that came up with the famous Smokey Bear play in football. When the wind was right, the center would light the playing field, and the half back (wearing smoke jumping gear) would follow the flames to the end zone.

Incidentally, this play only usually worked once.

And of course this led to another Guck play, the slurry drop play. When the other team caught on fire and started to get moving, a forrest service plane would drop slurry on their huddle.

And Tom Landry, ever vigilant for new plays just this week found out about this and so if you watch this week's Cowboy game you will see the Landry variation of the Tom-Guck play. I haven't seen the play yet, but Tom told me it was very devastating.

Carrizozo Grizzly School News

The NEWS, October 18, 1979 - Page 3

Jaylen Vega was announced homecoming queen at Monday's All-Town Pep Rally. Marc McKinley was her escort at the Spider Park event. Superintendent Miller encourages the community to cheer for their team this coming Friday at the homecoming parade and game. Half-time activities will include coronation of Queen Jaylen and recognition of two community members and one student for their contributions of support to their school.

Two Carrizozo math teachers, Ms. Carolyn Ward and Mr. Robert Hemphill, returned from the recent Regional Conference for Math Teachers in Albuquerque eager to put to use the new math teaching techniques they learned during the 3-day event.

"Excellent!" - was the word Ms. Ward used to describe the calculator presentation. She was impressed enough at a calculator workshop she chose to attend, to convince her that calculators can have a place in the classroom. When interviewed earlier this year as a new teacher, she stated that calculators were her pet peeve. The conference helped form her opinion in this area.

Those attending the calculator workshops were taught how to show their students the proper way to use a calculator. They saw a demonstration of entertaining puzzles, algebra problems and "heavy equations."

Ms. Ward was accompanied to the Oct. 4-5-6 conference by her mother, Mrs. Victor M. Ward, a math teacher at Chapparel Junior in Alamogordo. The conference was held at the Albuquerque Hilton.

"Great conference!" said Hemphill when asked for his opinion of the Regional conference for math teachers. He came back inspired with new ideas. Classroom changes Hemphill made on his return were based on the excellent topics delivered by three of many fine guest speakers at the conference. They were Prentiss Bradley of El Paso, "How to individualize your math class"; Robert Gilbert, University of Houston, "Home assignment that everyone can live with"; Nancy Angle, University of Colorado, "Avoiding math avoidance."

Hemphill was especially interested in workshops to help him reach the "math anxious student." He said that research has shown that when there is a choice of taking math or avoiding math, that math anxious students will avoid math. He added that the student that chooses to avoid math are the ones that suffer most in real life math situations.

"Students who are afraid of math need to be helped in a different way than students who desire the math knowledge," Hemphill said.

Survival math skills for everyday life is what a math anxious student should learn, the workshops stressed. Teachers learned different approaches to help students make math more available and make learning easier.

The following is written by FHA-HERO reporter Debbie Gallacher: BIONIC LEADERSHIP CAMP - HUGE SUCCESS

Brigitte Sandoval, Shirley Simmons, Elaina Cantrell, and Mrs. Lawson arrived in Glorieta, New Mexico late Saturday evening and got settled into their rooms. Mrs. Lawson and Shirley, National Delegate and Executive Council member had to attend an executive council meeting while Brigitte and Elaina surveyed the beautiful surrounding grounds of the Camp. The next day they all had to be up-and-ready for breakfast at 7:30 sharp. After that they drove to Church in the nearby town of Glorieta. Sunday afternoon mostly involved registration and a reception in one of the main Halls of one of the buildings. During this extra time Elaina and Brigitte said they found many things they could do to occupy their time. Such things as ping-pong, television, and eating-eating-eating. The opening session began that night at 7:00. They had a very long two days, but hadn't even really begun.

On Monday the real action was kicked-off with the workshops called sweatshops which were held all morning and most of the afternoon. Carrizozo FHA's workshop was held by Shirley Simmons. Shirley told me it was terrific success with about 150 people attending. The workshop was conducted four times. Also on Monday as part of the recreational activities Elaina was involved in a skit called "Sinking". On Monday night a picnic and carnival was held for recreation. Each District also had their own booth. Carrizozo FHA-District J had a tic-tac-toe Booth in which they made $20.00. This money is used to pay national convention expenses. This day was thought to have proved to be the best. Tuesday District Planning Meeting were held. District J planned their meeting for Nov. 7. After this a general session was held. Sack lunches were distributed for participants to eat as they were home-ward bound.

A Carrizozo mid-high teacher, Mr. Robert Hemphill spends his week days teaching what he enjoys-math. Some of his students are sons and daughters of his former classmates in Carrizozo. Hemphill, a former Zozo resident and class of '59 graduate was known as "Eddie Bob". He is the son of Catherine Cornett. He and his family had been living in the area a year and a half prior to his teaching position with Carrizozo schools.

Following graduation in Carrizozo, Hemphill was in the Air Force and National Air Guard for 11 years in the electronics area. After his service in the Air Force he attended California State University at Fresno where he obtained his teaching degree. Before moving to Carrizozo, Hemphill was manager of La-Mar Electronics, sales and services of automotive diagnostic equipment. Prior to this he taught mathematics and electronics at Fresno Technical College, a junior college.

Small town life, the Hemphills believe is the better way to raise a family, and moving to Carrizozo from California was a decision that they are glad they made. Hemphill is semi-active in ranching. He and his wife, Judy have three school age children - Robert, 18; Cathy, 17; and John, 14, all active in various school activities.

October 14-20 is National Education Office Personnel Week and Dr. Miller along with other school districts salute and publicly thank their office personnel for the work they have done over the years. In Carrizozo schools there is Mrs. Helen Lock, Mrs. Eugenia Vega and Mrs. Nena Vega.

The Booster Club football player and cheerleader pot-luck which was to be held tonight at 8:00 p.m. was cancelled. A new date will be set.

Jim Cope, guidance director at Carrizozo Municipal School, has announced that juniors will be able to join over one million other students around the world in taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMSQT) this fall. The test, co-sponsored by the College Board and National Merit Scholarship Corporation, is an important step in making college plans.

Scheduled for Oct. 23, at Carrizozo High School, the PSAT-NMSQT measures verbal and mathematical aptitude - two abilities important in doing college work - and gives students a chance to find out what the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) is like.

By taking the PSAT-NMSQT, students can enter the competition for scholarships administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and ask to participate in the College Board's Student Search Service, which gives students an opportunity to hear from colleges that they might not otherwise know about.

With their score reports, students receive a copy of ABOUT YOUR PSAT-NMSQT SCORES, a booklet that contains valuable how-to information about estimating SAT scores, finding out where to get and how to use detailed information about colleges and financial aid, and planning for financing a college education.

In addition, students can use the College Board's "The College Handbook, 1979-80" to compare their scores with those of enrolled students at more than 2,400 colleges and universities.

The local Vocational Advisory Committee met last week. Walt Wilson, vice president presided in the absence of Mary Ellen Payne, president. Vocational teachers Mrs. Lawson, Mr. Ken Jones and Mrs. Lucia Vega gave brief talks in their departments.

The group appointed a nominating committee which consists of Mrs. Larue Wetzel, Mr. Robert Hemphill, Mr. Scott Shafer and Miss Brigitte Sandoval. They are to contact prospective members. At a meeting next month, a constitution change will be suggested that of changing meetings to four times a year instead of monthly. Election of officers will also be held at this coming meeting. Superintendent Miller who was present requested the involvement of the committee in the school fix-up the vo-ag yard.

Scott Sheppard was the other student on hand at the meeting with the vocational group who helped the school in an advisory capacity.

The National Honor Society held their first meeting this year last Tuesday. Mrs. Sally Florian and Mrs. Joe DeTevis are the sponsors. This column will carry a story on how the organization first formed and its function.

The new personnel pot-luck last Tuesday was held amid the work of art students. The work included the Penny Arts judged at the recent Women's Club Convention.

CLIP AND SAVE: Oct. 22 - green chili beef stew, cheese wedge, flour tortilla, margarine, green beans, petite banana. Oct. 23-chicken salad sandwich, sliced tomatoes - lettuce leaf, pork and beans, apple crisp. Oct. 24 - tacos, chili sauce, shredded lettuce, diced tomatoes-grated cheese, refried beans, peach cobbler. Oct. 25 and 26 no school. Milk with all meals.

School Board Reviews Plans

At the annual meeting of the Canadian River Soil and Water Conservation District Annual meeting held in Tucumcari, New Mexico this evening, a Capitan graduate was awarded the News Media Conservation Award.

Roberta Spragg Clark, an announcer and farm editor for radio station KTNM - AM and FM in Tucumcari was awarded this award for her excellent work in the field of reporting and promoting conservation activities, not only for the Canadian River Soil and Water Conservation District but in all aspects of Conservation and Farm news. Besides her announcing duties, Mrs. Clark also presents a travel program of New Mexico each Friday on the radio. She speaks before local groups on Conservation and New Mexico, and Women in the News Media.

Mrs. Clark is married to Wayne Clark, who is the District Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service at Tucumcari, who began his SCS career as a Range Conservationist at Capitan in 1964-65. They are the parents of three sons, Tim, Terry and Troy.

Mrs. Clark is also active in church programs and is President elect of the Tucumcari Chapter of Business and Professional Women.

Each day has grown colder to date. Just wind enough to be pleasant. Some days have been warm but the nights show us this time of year. Sunday a terrific wind came up and gave us just a light sprinkle with lightning and thunder. Just enough to make it very chilly and passed on as if nothing happened.

The Smokey Bear Museum had a group of 150 persons from the south west fine coordinating officers. Last Wednesday afternoon. They did enjoy the museum and they enjoyed having them.

Last Thursday the Bent Mesalero school children 58 in number enjoyed their visit there. They were well behaved and polite children and it was a pleasure to have them.

The Smokey Bear Recreation State Park did enjoy having 150 state and federal foresters last Wednesday and Thursday and the 2nd grade Mesalero children. Monday a group from Ft. Stanton, Wednesday 17th, the Greylite Tour and the first graders from Mesalero. Oct. 22 thru 25th they will hold Hunters Safety Classes.

Thursday, Oct. 11, two juveniles from Hobbs broke into the restroom window of the Allens Western Wear and took nearly $500 clothing and escaped. They were apprehended in Ruidoso. They were 16 and 18 years old. How sad for them. If only youngsters could understand and go forward without these kind of instances happening to them.

I am certain it was a relief to all of the people in our areas when Robert Elton Cox was apprehended. I feel for the police officer's wife and two children, who became alone by that sad shooting which was so un-called for. I do extend by sincere sympathy to them. We loved them here.

Tigerettes Win Over Dexter

The Tigerettes pounced on an unsuspecting Dexter Demon squad Saturday night and came out on top of the varsity volleyball match by scores of 10-15, 15-10, and 15-10.

The Tigerettes were down in the well during the first game by a 14-1 score when Coach MacVeigh called time out to talk to his girls. It must of worked as the team came back with nine points, but couldn't hold off the Demons serves.

The Capitan momentum carried over into the second and third games as sophomore Jana Parker sparked her team to their 15-10, 15-10 scores to take the match. Parker was replacing injured started Beth Long who is out with a back strain.

The Tigerettes junior high and J.V. teams were defeated by the junior Demons in the preliminary matches.

Saturday the Tigerettes face the "Wild-kittens" in Tularosa for three matches beginning at 6:00 p.m. The following Tuesday, October 23, is the girls' final regular season match. They will be trying for a win against Class AAA Ruidoso who beat the Capitan team early in the season. Game time Tuesday is 5:00 p.m.

Controversy plagued the October meeting of the Capitan School Board as they reviewed schematic plans for the proposed high school complex, a report from Shackelford construction and a lack of money.

Jerry Lake, architect from the firm Krueger, Lake, Hutchinson and Brown, Albuquerque, presented the board with the second set of schematic plans on the proposed high school. The Board had disapproved of plans presented last month and ordered Lake to modify to their specifications. Lake reviewed the plans, pointing out the area considered Phase I. This phase will be constructed with the Capitol Outlay money given to the school in August.

Phase I one will cover 16,416 sq. feet consisting of five general purpose classrooms, two science rooms, science preparation and storage, art class room, Administration area, Commons area, circulation and lockers, toilets and janitor.

Lake also reviewed Phase II of the schematics. This phase is dependent upon money appropriated in this year's legislature and will not be available until July 1980.

Some disagreement over the Phase II plans delayed the approval of the plans. Lake reminded the Board he needed approval of Phase I and II in order to begin the design development drawings. The Board settled upon the plans with alterations and approved them for the next step.

The Board questioned Lake on the length of time until bids could be taken on Phase I. Lake told them it would be three months at the earliest. The board was not pleased with this but informed Lake to proceed as quickly as possible.

Albert Shackelford, construction supervisor for the elementary, reported the progress on the building. Concrete piers have been poured for the roof supports and grade work has begun.

Board president Pat Huey questioned the dollars spent for the amount of concrete work done. He felt Shackelford is working behind schedule. Albert Shackelford told the board that grade beams would be poured the following Monday.

Board member Ralph Barber was concerned about the method used in pouring concrete. "I think more care should be taken," he said.

Schackelford is not sub-contracting cement work and is batching it himself. Personal conflicts between Pat Huey and Shackelford arose. Lake intervened and stated he would have Charles Baccus, a structural engineer on hand for Monday's concrete pouring to supervise and conduct a slump test. Shackelford concluded his report saying the grade beams and floors should be completed in one month if the weather held out.

Superintendent Richard Clifton told the board that inflation was eating up the budget. "He assured the board that money in the budget would be available but any emergency would create a problem. "Maintenance line item is what we're hurting in," Clifton said.

On that note both Huey and Barber brought up that the construction crew was using the school bathrooms, bringing in the construction dirt with them. They stated a need to inform the company that they should provide their own toilets. Barber also stated he had seen the company use school water when they had told the board that a water meter for their use had been installed.

"All this reflects upon the budget," Huey stated. Clifton then told the board about a budget transfer for teacher's aides. The aides were recommended by the state office for grade 1-3 to ease the over-load on the teachers.

The cost of the sports programs was also discussed. It was reported gate money from football carries all the other sports; the best gate $600 this year, while the recent volleyball tournament lost $150.

The reasons for this were discussed, with some board members saying the other sports did not bring in the crowds that football does. Although volleyball is not such an attraction, the board agreed it should not be cut out. Instead it was felt that junior varsity and junior high basketball and perhaps football should be cut back.

It was agreed that a cutback in meals provided on out-of-town sport trips would help ease the financial sports burden. It was estimated $30 was spent to feed a team on the road. Board member Richard Phillips suggested the players take their own lunch on these trips.

A controversy over the bus contract failed to resolve the problem of paying benefits to a contract bus driver. Benefits are paid through the school, but the board is reluctant to settle. The item was tabled until the state department made a decision on this, and advises the board.

A lack of money and a place to have it resulted in a cancellation of the Halloween Carnival, an event annually held on Halloween night.

Approved: meetings starting at 7:00 p.m., Richard Phillips, member of a special committee of the New Mexico School Board Association, to vote as he sees fit on certain resolutions.

A request for new football bleachers was thrown out due to lack of money and a request that the county be asked to improve school bus routes met a stalemate.

A formal request was made to the County Commissioners this year in regard to this problem. No action was taken by the county and it was considered at the board meeting that it would result in nothing if the request was again made.

REACT Helps in Search

Betty Dean, Canyon Cowbelle president, along with Sue Stearns, Carrizozo Club president and many other women volunteers were busy at the Lincoln County REACT trailer last week. Stationed in Nogal Canyon during the search in connection with the murder of a Lincoln County Sheriff's deputy, the small shelter was a source of comfort to the hundreds of lawmen and other concerned individuals who joined forces in the manhunt.

"The REACT trailer who where cold, hungry men stopped to pause for a rest, a kind word, warm food and drink", and volunteer Linda Gibson added "a place where they could get a rib-sticking meal", donated by the generosity of many Lincoln County residents and business people.

The REACT trailer was provided and originally stocked for such an emergency by a CB organization based in Ruidoso. Rosemary McGarby, of Ruidoso and president of REACT was impressed with help of area women who promptly appeared when REACT supplies ran low. "The added enthusiasm and extra spirit that these ladies provided along with hot food was fantastic!" Ms. McGarby expressed.

The CB team which sponsors REACT can't say enough of these women volunteers and are planning to publicly thank them.

REACT stands for Radio-Emergency Assistance-Citizen-Team and was a year old in August. Although the trailer was not complete when the recent emergency occurred, REACT came to the assistance of their fellowmen and were supported by area people. REACT plans to tell people all about their county-wide help and how they originated.

Chino... a Lifetime Friend

The average American born today is expected to live more than 70 years. During that lifetime, a person will rely on vast amounts of a variety of goods, such as 56 million gallons of water, five and a half tons of meat, five and a half tons of wheat, nine tons of milk and cream, and 1,750 pounds of copper.

Yes, copper... the valuable, versatile, long-lasting red metal produced by Kennecott's Chino Mines Division in southwestern New Mexico... is a key ingredient in the pattern of a lifetime.

Just as you have since 1910, you can count on Chino... a Lifetime Friend.

Grizzly Homecoming

Grizzlies Return Home for Homecoming Against Del City

Hagerman's Bobcats wasted no time at all in pinning the season's fifth loss on Carrizozo last Friday. The Cats put up 42 points on the scoreboard in the first half then added one more over the final two periods to down the Grizzlies 48-0.

"Hagerman took advantage of our secondary," said head coach Don Eskins. "They have a fine ball club and when our kids settled down to play well against them, they hit us with some deep passes." The Grizzlies return home for only the second time this season on Friday night as they play host to Del City, Texas. The Friday night kickoff will serve as this year's Grizzly homecoming.

"It was a long night for all of us at Hagerman," said Eskins, "playing the state's second ranked club though taught us a bunch."

On Saturday the Grizzly Freshman played host to Estancia. The two clubs played to a 0-0 tie. "I'm really proud of my JV's," commented head J.V. coach Jerry Peckinpaugh. "These kids always put out 110 percent and they're fun to be around."

The Grizzlies, 0-5 on the year, have three more games left on their schedule. Following Friday night's non-conference finale the Bears open district play with Reserve and Capitan.

Heading up the half-time activities will be the Grizzly Marching Band, directed by Mr. Hogeboom.

Robert Williams of Lincoln Station reports high temperatures of 79 degrees on the 8th, 19th and 12th and a low of 37 on the 9th and 12th with a trace of moisture Sunday night.

H.L. Ozbun has been released from an El Paso hospital following surgery and is recuperating in Deming.

Guests at the Dishman home last week were Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell Floyd of Lelia Lake, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mace of Texico.

Doc and Dale Belden, Chandler, Arizona, stopped by for a brief visit with friends here Thursday. They had been spending the summer with their daughter and family in Kelso, WA and were returning from Olwa. Doc was anxious to get home but promised to return for a week next year.

Mollie Alirez was taken by ambulance to an Albuquerque hospital after collapsing during a senior outing in Fourth of July Canyon. Her condition has been diagnosed as a bleeding ulcer and she is expected to be released to return home Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alirez went home to Olton, Texas Sunday after being called to their mother's bedside.

Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Pfeiffer and Dell Roberts spent Sunday with the Stan Kimballs in Albuquerque.

Mrs. H.M. Green has been ill and Friday her son came to take her to the doctor. There had been no word from them Monday.

Rev. Bill Scholes returned to his home in Carrizozo Thursday and is now taking daily walks.

Mr. and Mrs. V.C. Waldon drove to Mountainair Sunday to stay for two or three days with the Miles Waldons. Mrs. Waldon went on to Albuquerque Monday to see her doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tully, Glencoe, stopped by Sunday afternoon for a few hours with Mr. and Mrs. Dimmitt Bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitch Tyree made a business trip to Alamogordo Saturday.

Xi Beta Epsilon of Beta Sigma Phi postponed the regular Monday evening meeting because of an illness and met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. W.T. Tyree Jr. with president Kathy Williams in charge of the ritual and business sessions. It was decided to continue the sale of pecans and a new shipment will be here in time for holiday cooking. It is planned to invite high school girls from time to time when programs may be of special interest. Mrs. John D. Holleyman presented the program on Speech (Private) from the Outline The Art of Living.

She asked each member to answer roll call by naming someone (not necessarily a celebrity) and tell why that person's speech is good in terms of content and form. Mrs. Holleyman stated that people in nearly every country echo the plaintive question, expressed by Henry Higgins in My Fair Lady, "Why can't the English teach their children how to speak?"

Clear, effective and beautiful speech is a necessary skill to the art of living. To illustrate her meaning she used tapes "In the Shadow of the Glen-Spoken Arts" and a speech made to a meeting of classroom teachers at the University of California at Berkeley, and a record "Inauguration of John Fitzgerald Kennedy" narrated by Ed Brown.

The hostess served lime drink, assorted sandwiches, olives, pickles, her special candied pecans, tea and coffee. The next meeting is Oct. 15 at the home of Mrs. Jack Donohue.

The George James family were in Las Cruces for the first weekend in October and attended the Southern New Mexico State Fair where the boys competed in fiddling contest. In their age groups Olan was second, Darrell first and John fifth.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kidd of Albuquerque are the parents of a 6 lb. 15 oz. son, Nicholas Michael, born Oct. 5th. Nicholas is the third grandson for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lueras who went over to see him Sunday. Congratulations Gloria and Mike.

Carol Thornton, Eunice, spent the weekend with the Mitch Tyrees.

SANTA FE—What you thought about that visit of President Carter to New Mexico seems to depend very much on whether or not you have seen another president visiting here.

Those who have never before had the opportunity to be in the same room with a president seem to have been very much impressed by it all. Those of us who are very old and have seen presidents in the flesh all the way back to Lyndon Johnson (and maybe beyond) found it a little disappointing.

For one thing, the crowd out to give the official greeting was a little small. We can see Dick Nixon drawing 15,000 people (pre-Watergate revelations), and we are not impressed by what the papers called 6000 but some of us thought considerably less.

As for those private meetings in the Four Seasons that night, we weren't privileged to be there, of course. But at least one person who was found them less than heavy. Five governors reported on a variety of topics, including our own Bruce King, who talked on WIPP. Our man on the inside was not impressed with the President's grasp of what his plans would do to states like New Mexico.

Next morning's breakfast at the Sheraton Old Town was probably more successful; it made no pretense to be anything but what it was—an early "relect Jimmy Carter" rally. Don't look for any changes in the President's energy policies as a result of this visit to New Mexico. He won't change his views just because of one stop here.

APPOINTMENT: If, as he suggested he might, the President names a Westerner to the Energy Mobilization Board, which will have unprecedented powers to suspend federal, state and local laws to develop energy source, whom will he name?

Governor Bruce King is all for ex-Governor Calvin Rampton of Utah, who, besides having been a governor, is also an attorney who deals intimately with energy matters. "Just the kind of man we need," the Governor says.

When reminded that we have a New Mexican who fits that description—man named Jack Campbell, who served in the Roundhouse a few terms before he came along—Bruce King grins a sort of sickly grin and says, "Oh, yeah. He'd be good too."

King doesn't like Campbell, any more than he likes Jerry Apodaca. You and I will wait a long time before the Governor recommends his predecessor for anything.

BOTTOMS UP! That was a neat speech Jeff Bingaman, our Attorney General, gave to the retail liquor dealers in Roswell—except he gave it to the wrong folks.

He called on them to help get legislation passed which would devalue the liquor licenses they own. They are not likely to do that, anymore than you would push for laws which would cut the value of your home to $50.

And it's not just the owners of these high valuable pieces of paper who will fight to keep them worth lots of money. There are also the bankers, who hold lots of these licenses as collateral on loans. They're not likely to go along to make licenses non-transferrable, which is what Bingaman wants. If you can't transfer the darn things, you couldn't foreclose on one, and it stands to reason that bankers only love things, they can foreclose on.

Old Lincoln Town News

We all enjoyed the Historical Society meeting at the Old Court House in Lincoln last Saturday evening although attendance was down considerably from other meetings.

Slides and Narration showing other State Museums as they were and are being reconstructed and a talk by Mr. Euring of the State Museum in Albuquerque were enjoyed. Sorry some of you missed it I thoroughly enjoyed it.

Richard Phillips brought a friend of his from West Point and Ranger Training school at Ft. Benning home with him from El Paso where they are now taking Air Defense Training.

His friend lives about thirty miles from West Point along the Hudson River although he says it very beautiful there, he was enchanted with this country.

Julie Penfield Reidy broke her foot at her home in Albuquerque so her sister, Ruth Penfield went to help out for a week. Julie and her husband, have a store similar to the husband one Penfields have in Lincoln.

Julia is much better now and we hope she has no complications.

Kirk Phillips will be coming to the Air Force game in Colorado; which is good news. He will come with the other West Point Cadets.

Leota Pfingsten hosted her sorority at her lovely home near Lincoln last Saturday. The more than forty ladies who came loved her home and they all had lots of fun, as well as a business meeting.

Sense & Nonsense

U.S. Senator Pete Domenici

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici joined with a majority of other Senators Wednesday evening in voting down a pay increase. "It is simply inappropriate for us to take a pay raise at a time when we should be setting an example for the rest of the nation," said Domenici after the vote.

Domenici, however, was critical of the handling of the entire pay raise issue. "There are some up here, who simply don't want to face this issue head-on; they feel it has to be camouflaged or phrased confusingly. I don't care whether Senators support the pay raise or oppose it, but they should be honest enough with the American public and vote clearly," the New Mexico Senator added.

"Certainly I feel inflation as much as most Americans, and with eight children in the house, three in college, a raise would be nice. But I don't think we can justify a raise now, and certainly we can never justify one if we go about it in some sneaky behind the bush sort of way," Domenici added.

Wednesday's vote (81-15) now means that the issue of a pay raise will have to be resolved by a House-Senate conference committee.
