County Approves Final Budget

A proposed budget of $1,786,454 was approved by the Lincoln County Commissioners at their final budget hearing. Over $21,000 was added to the preliminary budget to allow for Capitol Improvement at the Ruidoso Hospital and the Carrizozo Health Center.

As yet, revenue sharing funds and money from payment in lieu of taxes is insecure, no action taken by Congress. Revenue Sharing will amount to $170,282, giving money to the county fair, Lincoln Historical fund equipment operating expense for the County Road Department, the Ruidoso Library and Zia Senior Citizens.

$3500 was cut from the original Ambulance fund after the deletion of the full-time coordinator's position. The Commissioners agreed to budget $3000 for professional services to serve as go-between for the county volunteer EMTs and the County Manager's office. Bud Payne who has acted as co-ordinator since the Emergency Medical Services began told the Commissioners he wanted to be out of it. Last month County Manager Billingsley had deleted the co-ordinator's position only to reinstate it at Commissioner Hightower's urging.

The General fund experienced a $200 increase in order to give a work-study assistant in the Extension office mileage and per diem. The assistant is concerned with mainly 4-H projects. $81,878 will go to the Ft. Stanton, Bonito, Hondo, Lincoln, and Nogal Fire Districts.

Carrizozo Health Center will receive $20,000 for operation and $3000 for improvements. Ruidoso will receive $50,000 to cover the installation of interior sprinklers, needed to keep accreditation and replacement of galvanized pipe. Sierra Blanca Airport Commission will get $500.

The County still declined spending $962 for dues in the New Mexico Association of County. Arthur Sandoval, representative of the Association urged the Commissioners reconsider dropping the membership. He told them of the lobby created by the association and the need for small counties to have such a voice in the state legislature. He refuted Commissioner Hall's statement that the Association does not do what it claims.

The Commissioners still felt the increased dues for Lincoln was opposed to the small amount charged Otero County were arrived at unfairly and they told Sandoval the county would sit out the year and see what the Association offers before they consider membership again.

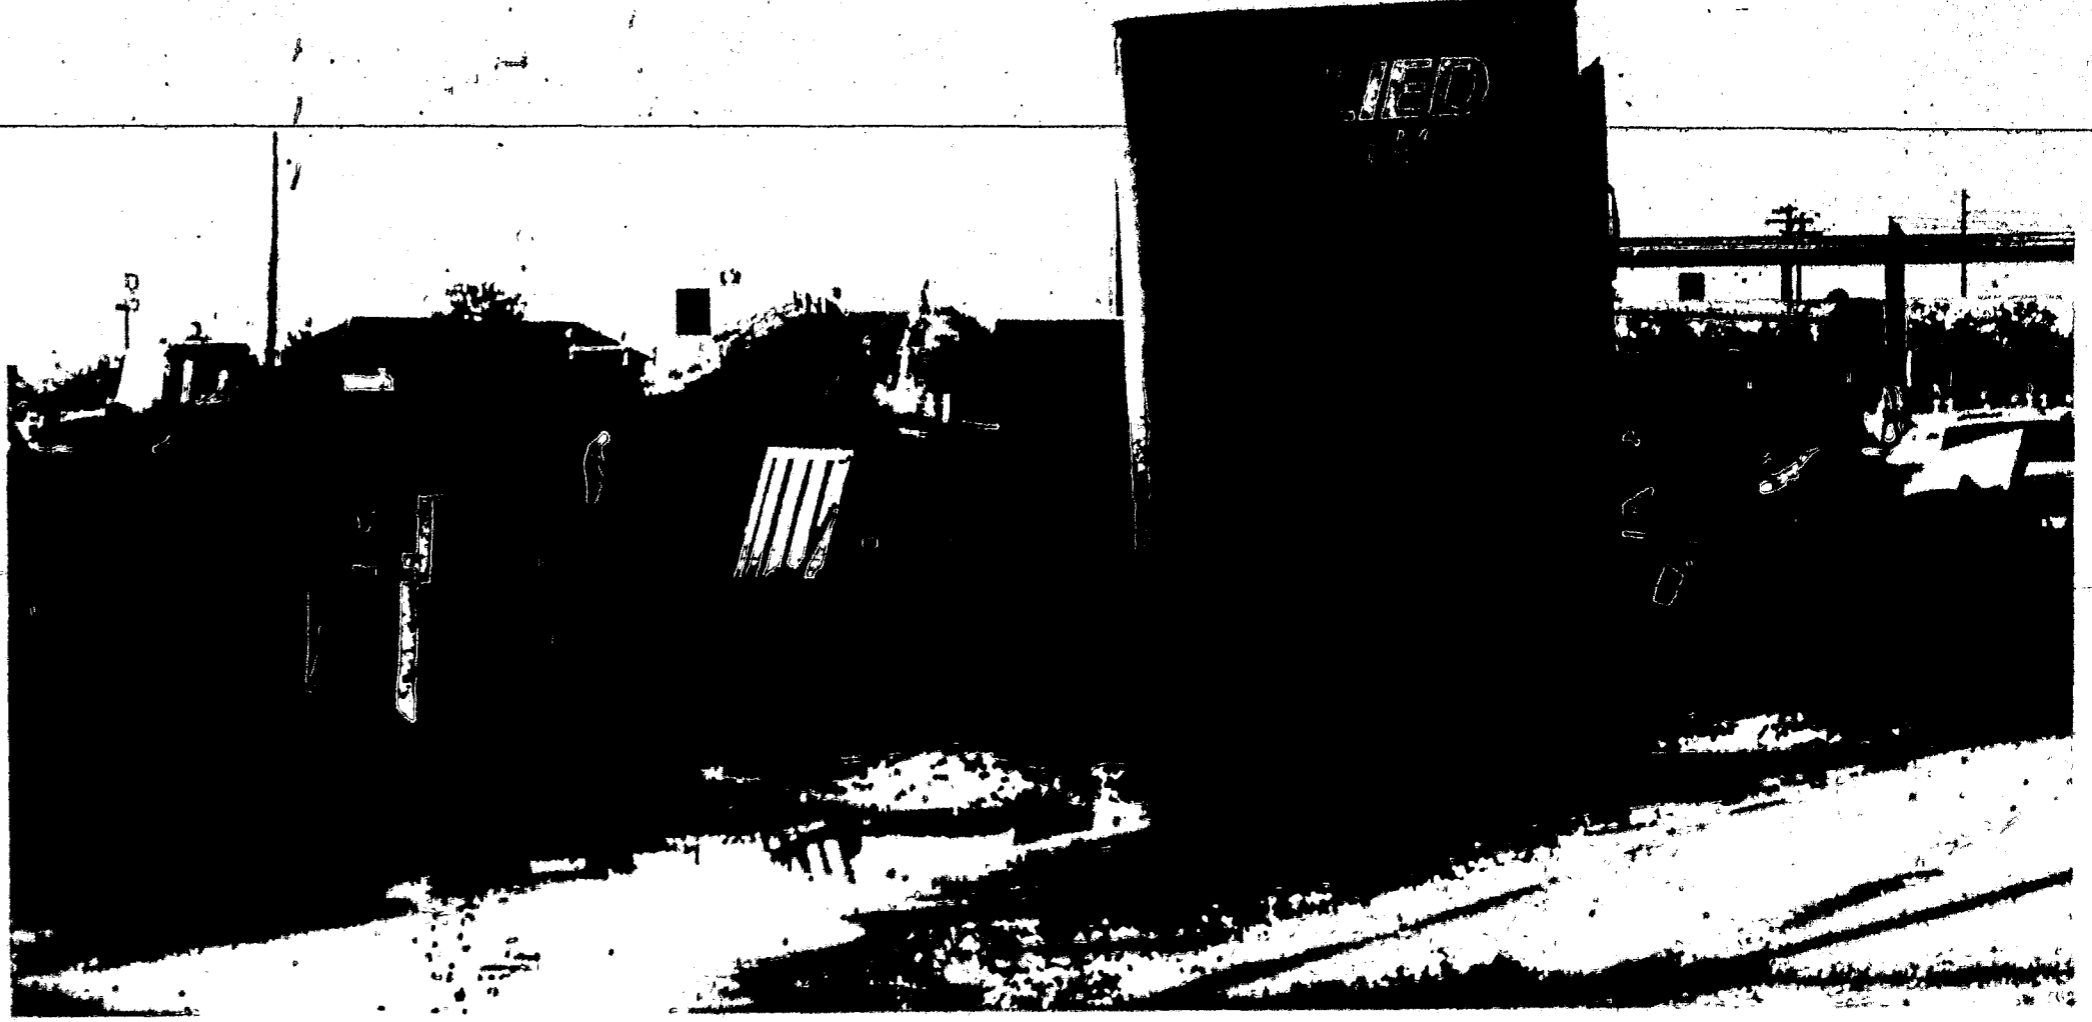

The Association bases dues on the total ad valorem and property tax up to six miles, motor vehicle tax and gas tax. Sandoval's reason Otero was less was because they do not charge the full six miles as does Lincoln County.

The Commissioners budgeted a $2000 requested from the town of Carrizozo to help purchase fencing for a proposed landfill. A joint agreement between the County and the town of Carrizozo was shown to the Commissioners. The agreement calls for county funds to purchase fence in exchange for county use of the Carrizozo Landfill. The landfill carries a strict regulation concerning the height of fence.

An ordinance on a resolution concerning anti-littering was approved. The ordinance came through state channels and puts into county law stipulations concerning littering. Presently litterers may be cited under state statute, the ordinance will give the county such a law.

Mid-America Piping Company, Tulsa, requested permission to put a second LPG pipeline within the same easements as the line presently there. The line crosses four county roads in the northeastern section. Permission was approved.

A line item transfer in the Fort Stanton Fire Department will provide funds from the department to update its 1968 pumper.

LAST WEEK THE fire alarm sounded at 5:45 a.m. when something inside of the Allied Van caught fire. A passer-by woke the driver up and called the fire department. All of the smoldering contents of the van had to be unloaded so that they could be put out. Members of the Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department responded to the fire and worked several hours making sure that the fire was completely out.

C'zozo School Board Hires FB Coach - Band Teacher

Two new teachers were hired last week's regular board of education meeting. Jerry Koller will be Carrizozo's 1980-81 history teacher and football coach. Koller has taught school at Alamogordo High School for 12 years. For 6 years he was assistant football coach. He has also assisted in varsity basketball. Since 1975 he was head varsity baseball coach. His team won several District championships and one State.

Koller will offer a South Western History course to Carrizozo students, a first for Carrizozo schools. Koller and his wife Billy Lou have three children. The Kollers are Baptist Church members.

Ms. Darlene Scott, a recent graduate of NMSU will be this coming school year's band teacher. While at NMSU she played the trumpet in concert and marching band. Ms. Scott spent this spring assisting Ed White, band director at Las Cruces High School. Originally of Indiana, Ms. Scott has exciting ideas for the band program in Carrizozo. She encourages former band members to come by the school after August 2 to get acquainted. Dr. Miller will announce a date for a band boosters meeting in the near future.

Teacher vacancies still to be filled include a P.E. teacher-boys basketball coach and a 4th grade teacher.

The Superintendent's report included a review of the 1979-80 school year. Among the highlights; complete written curriculum, community relations, improved high school student retention, school plant appearance, fiscal management certificate, cafeteria participation, new events (field trips, science fair), feed back from other schools on district athletic department, elementary building renovation, absentee cut-down, vehicle maintenance, extension of formal spelling and penmanship instruction through 8th grade.

The summer maintenance program includes work on the following; cafeteria (kitchen and dining room); sports field (playing surface, scoreboard, curbing, track surface); vo ag parking area; new gym-vo ag classroom & shop, locker rooms, classroom requests, elementary playground and band room.

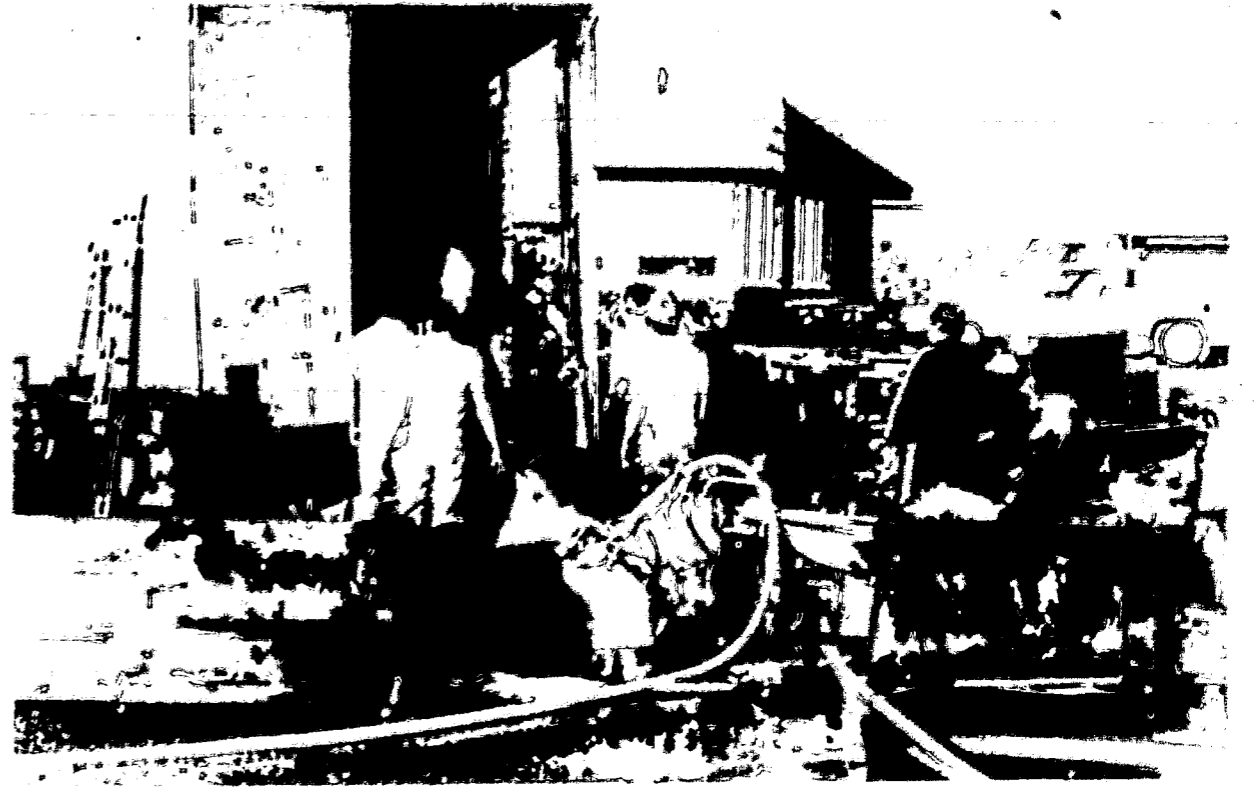

In other business the schoolboard:

-opened and accepted bids for track curbing (Gary Lovelace) and new convection ovens for the lunchroom kitchen (Fistures and Furniture of Albuquerque).

-approved the district's application for Title Reading and Math for 1980-81. The only significant change was offering this for grades 2-5 instead of 1-4.

-authorized Miller to handle financial affairs of the school district now that they have become their own board of finance.

-moved that the third Tuesday of each month be the new date for school board meetings. This will allow more preparation time for board meetings.

Corona 1980 'Senior Citizen of the Year'

Last month a Corona Senior Citizen of the Year was named at the Senior Citizen Awards banquet in Carrizozo on May 15. Minnie Davenport was the one selected. Minnie was in Carrizozo last week on business and stopped at the Zia where she was interviewed by the NEWS.

Minnie has been a widow since 1973. Her husband, was the subforeman in the pipe line department with the El Paso Natural Gas Company. He worked at the company's Lincoln Station near Corona, until his retirement in 1971. Prior to living in Corona they resided in Arizona. When the gas company transferred them to Corona they had to adjust to country living. They became involved in creative work. The couple shared a hobby of creating works of art from cactus, found in the area. Minnie said the cactus plant is nature's art. "You never know what you'll get out of it." They got coffee tables, lamps and planters.

The Davenports raised three children, Norma Jean (Warren), Charlene (Stroud), and Gordon Lynn Davenport. Minnie has seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. One of the reasons that Minnie looks younger than her age may be because she can communicate with people of all ages.

"I've never had a generation gap problem with my children and grandchildren."

From 1960 to 1962 Minnie worked for greyhound bus lines as ticket & teletype clerk in Arizona & Deming, "That's where I learned to love people. Different kinds of people. I get pleasure helping people." Minnie is the coordinator of Corona's senior citizens trips. The Zia bus, driven by John Jiron of Carrizozo takes them on bi-monthly trips.

Minnie was born on July 2, 1914 in Madisonville, Kentucky and like the song, Minnie was a coal miner's daughter. Her father raised tobacco on the side, adds Minnie as she puffs on a "More", a cigar-looking cigarette. Minnie has one sister and two brothers. Another brother, Burley Stinnett was killed in 1944 during WW II at the Battle of St. Lo, Normandy, France. Minnie was accompanied to Carrizozo last week by one of her brothers, Gene Stinnett of El Paso. Gene is a naval retiree and he may make his home in Corona. Minnie is active in American Legion Auxiliary work because her brothers were in the service.

Art, music and the Corona Senior Citizens Center ("Which I love very much.") keeps Minnie's time filled. Minnie says the center has many talented people. They create a variety of crafts, including quilting. Minnie can create artistic items out of things other people throw away. She described a doll she makes from 1 empty clorox.

I have heard talk recently of several efforts to house some of the Cuban refugees in Lincoln County. Sounds fine with me, as long as they play by the rules that my ancestors did, when they came from Ireland.

The rules quite simply are: No work, no pay. No free hand-outs. Sounds simple, but with all of the bleeding hearts in America, I see that the 114 thousand have already been lined up for welfare. The fat cats in Washington say, "Oh well, it is just another couple of million dollars."

There is no wonder that the people in the United States do not view the Cubans with open arms. We already have too many on Welfare, we do not need any others.

On the other hand, the people that come to the United States to work, and take jobs that no one else wants, I say, "Hurray for you".

The Irish came to America and where tolerated (note that I said tolerated, no one is completely welcomed) because they took jobs in the coal mines and building the railroads that on one else wanted.

It is our heritage that we allow people to come to America and share in our dream, the American Dream. But the "Dream" is not free. We must continually pay the price of freedom. We must do things that we do not want to do. We must work jobs, sometimes, that we do not care for. But we do, and that is what our country is all about.

There are many jobs in America that go unwanted. Take the Mesilla Valley. The task of onion picking is a hard and unpopular task. It's made more so by our welfare system that rewards inactivity. The onion farmers can not usually hire enough help. Yet our unemployment goes on; at least the money given goes on. You see, the people have a job. They are inactive. Their job is to be unproductive, to do no one but themselves any good, and be paid for it. I sincerely hope the Cubans that have come to our country do not think that they can do the same. They must be productive if they are to find a home.

And we, as a nation, must increase our productivity. Welfare does not increase productivity, it decreases it. People learn to be productive along about the time that they get hungry. We should put the Cubans to work, and not on the public dole. As a tax payer, I resent anyone coming to this country to get Welfare.

It reminds me of a lesson that a rancher near Corona taught me. He said to me one day, "Do you know how to kill a deer?"

I said, "Of course, you get a rifle..."

He stopped me right there and said, "No, without touching the deer, and without using any poisons."

I had to admit that I couldn't find any way to kill a deer without touching or poisoning it.

"Simple", said the rancher. "First you put out feed for the deer every day for a couple of years." He gazed at a far hill as he thought about America.

"Then after the deer becomes completely dependent upon you to feed it, you just cut him off." He continued, "By the time that the deer realizes that you are not going to feed it any more, it will be so weak that it can not flee from it's enemies, and it will have forgotten how to get it's own food."

We Americans are like the deer in the rancher's story, we do fine as long as someone puts the food on our table, but when that comes to an end, which it must, what will the takers do then?

And it must come to an end someday soon. More and more people are getting on the lunch wagon. Less and less are pulling the wagon. One day there won't be enough people to pull the wagon, and it will stop. Let's hope you are not riding when it stops. MS

Well, another town council meeting was held Monday night. The NEWS did not have a reporter at the meeting. We did not have any knowledge of a meeting. I asked one councilor if he knew about the meeting, and said that he did not.

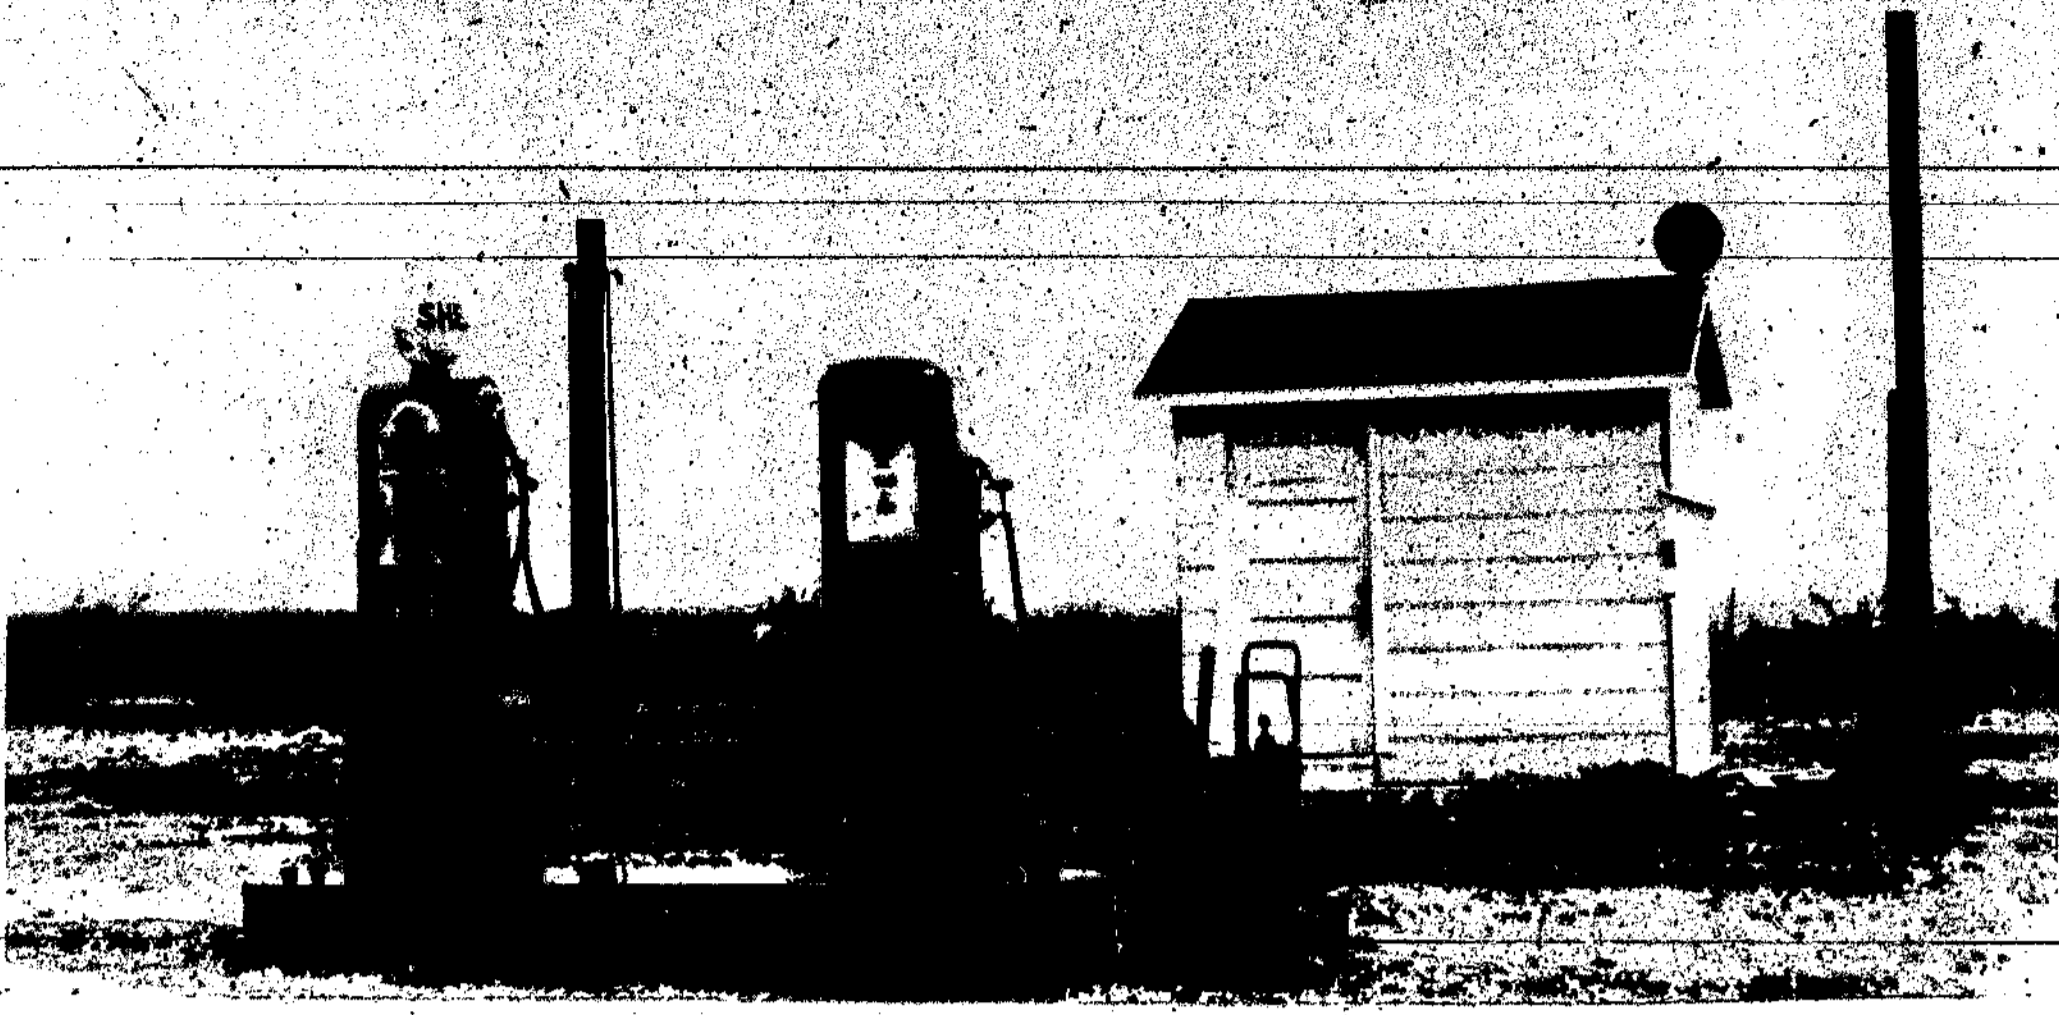

I'll bet that the meeting was posted correctly, but how many residents of Carrizozo go to town hall just to see the door, to see if any meetings are planned for that day.

I Always get the feeling that someone has something to hide when there is not much notice about a meeting. Especially considering all of the interest in the town council that has surfaced lately.

I spent part of the day, yesterday, asking people in Carrizozo if they knew about this Monday night before it was held. I could not find one person that had any knowledge of the meeting before it happened. Several knew later that a meeting had been held, but were waiting until the NEWS came out to find out what happened.

Many people, though have expressed interest in a special election to settle the problems in the Mayor's post. As a non-elected Mayor, it would be nice if a special election could be held. Of course, we do need a resignation first, then the election. And again, if Mayor Hernandez can win the support of the people for the post of Mayor, I will support him in every way. If he does anything that I don't agree with, I will dismis it with the thought that he has the support of the people.

A great many people do not have confidence in Mayor Hernandez, and a special election will settle the issue. I hope in the near future that I can report the necessary resignations to call a special election. It is the democratic way of government, by the people, for the people. MS

THE MYTH OF NATIONAL LIMITS

There is a myth afoot that the United States cannot depend on domestic energy supplies for short term independence from foreign sources of crude oil. This myth, fostered by the Carter Administration and others ignorant of the capabilities of this great nation, goes on to state that we must think in terms of "limits;" limits on growth, limits on power, limits on freedom.

This myth is the most dangerous basis upon which we might formulate, and unfortunately, have formulated current national policies. This 'myth of national limits' is an invitation to national suicide.

The myth of national limits permeates the recent statement by CIA director Stansfield Turner before the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. For example:

"There is good reason to believe that the most prolific oil producing areas have already been located and drilled. Even with modern technology, the chance of finding new giant fields is diminishing."

This statement ignores the unexplored, potentially productive geologic basins of the world in general and of the United States in particular.

Vast new oil and gas discoveries have recently been made in the Sudan, Indonesia, in an already oil and gas-rich Mexico, in the Beaufort Sea near Alaska, north of the Arctic Circle and in the Over-thrust belt which parallels the length of the Rocky Mountains.

Vast potential oil and gas reservoirs have yet to be drilled in and near Alaska, off the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States, and throughout and near Africa, Central and South America, and other regions accessible to the free world.

New technologies not only are reducing the risk in drilling for new oil and gas in old and new fields, but also are rapidly expanding the amount of oil in the ground that can be recovered from existing fields.

CIA Director Turner also claimed that: "Production in the United States probably will continue to decline despite heavy drilling activity..."

This statement will be true only if federal land, tax and regulatory policies continue to discourage a rapid increase in exploration, development, production and marketing of domestic oil and gas.

The release of favorable federal lands for oil and gas leasing, the creation of tax incentives for the plowback of revenues into new or enhanced production, and the elimination of unnecessary regulatory restrictions on drilling and pipeline construction, would, within five years, result in the identification of sufficient reserves to satisfy our immediate essential requirements and would have the effect of forcing world energy prices down to realistic levels.

The time is long over-due to abandon the 'myth of national limits' and replace it with the reality of our national productive potential.

Fishing Good at Bonito

The Smokey Bear Ranger District, at Ruidoso, reports that Bonito Lake is full and receiving heavy fishing pressure. All of the campgrounds are open and receiving heavy use on weekends, with the exception of Oak Grove, which is closed due to road construction. Oak Grove will re-open when the construction is completed.

On the Guadalupe Ranger District, at Carlsbad, Sittling Bull Falls Picnic Area is receiving heavy use. There is road work on Forest Road 276, to Sittling Bull Falls, and on State Highway 137, near Forest Road 276. Motorists are urged to use caution. Trails are open and in good condition. Fuelwood areas are receiving light use.

Cavers are being encouraged to try to give at least five days notice when requesting tours. There has been heavy demand for caving tour reservations, and many weekends are booked in advance for the summer. Guadalupe District office hours are 7:45-11:25 a.m. and 12:30-4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Temperatures are ranging into the 90's. The Carlsbad Art Affair will be this weekend, and artists will be displaying their work at the Beach.

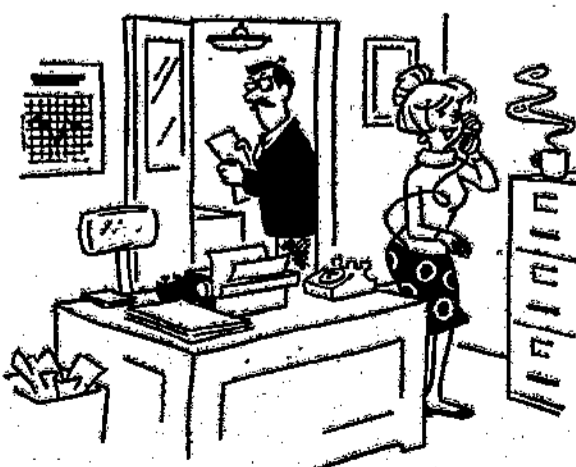

The Mayhill Ranger District reminded that snakes will be out until cold weather, and campers should remain alert. Daytime temperatures are reaching the high 80's. James Canyon Campground, is receiving heavy use. Roads are dry, and the fuelwood areas are receiving moderate use. Mayhill District office hours are 8-12 a.m. and 1-5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

STEADY AS YOU GROW

"In our part of New Mexico, right in the middle of ranching country, we live among reminders of our pioneering past. At Citizens State Bank of Vaughn, Carrizozo & Estancia, we're holding on to old fashioned friendliness while we're steadily meeting the challenge of the 80's with innovations in banking," says Johnson Stearns, president of Citizens State Bank.

"The watchword at Citizens State Bank is 'steady as you grow.' Look to us for new people and new ideas." Ready when you need it, it's ready to go just like the sun in the morning...A BSI bank is steady as you grow.

Carrizozo resident, Prospero Barcala age 83, is this month's Ruidoso Care Center Resident of the Month. Since 1931 he had lived in Carrizozo. He worked on ranches herding sheep and cattle all his life.

Prospero has three daughters, Josefita of Carrizozo; Cora of California and Clara of Georgia. His two sons, Chon and George live in California and El Paso. Prospero has many grandchildren.

He was born in 1898 and has rarely been sick in his lifetime. His hobbies are bingo and dominoes. He enjoys living at the Center in Ruidoso.

Albuquerque visitor in Carrizozo last weekend were Anna Sota and her daughter, Malena, and Faye Korte and her son Jacob. They stayed at the Crossroad Motel and visited with the Danny Narvaez and Nat Chavez families.

More musical talents will again be featured at Carrizozo's Methodist church, Saturday, June 21, local people will be treated to the music making of the instrumental group of the Ruidoso Assembly of God Church.

The special service starts at 7:30 p.m. Invite a friend or neighbor to join you for the enjoyment of good old time singing and music.

Boxing fans are reminded that his coming Sunday, June 22 at 1 p.m., the Carrizozo Boxing Team is presenting boxing matches. The event will include out-of-town boxers. Someone will be winning the Grizzly belt buckle if his or her name is drawn. Proceeds of the raffle will pay for the trophies to be awarded that evening.

Next week Zozo boxer, Leroy Silva packs his bags for a trip to California. About 60 N.M. boxers competed for the championships at the June 6-7 Junior Golden Glove Tournament at Albuquerque's Civic Center. As a result of the tournament, senior winners and a couple of selected other boxers are going to Los Angeles to compete against a West Coast team. This will be the start of the National Junior Golden Gloves Tournament to be held each year from now on. Meals, rooms and transportation will be provided.

There was a last name error in last week's potpourri: It was Danny Narvaez not Sandoval, that went on that motorcycle trip to Colorado.

Minnie Davenport

"I want to put everything I can into each day. I don't want to miss a thing," says Minnie of her busy schedule.

As a child, she recalls the pump organ in her aunt's front porch. "The peculiar sound stayed with me." She searched El Paso and Albuquerque and finally found an old pump organ of her own. And now the happy sounds of music come from her home.

"We give our service as well as receive help," says Robin Pfeiffer of the "very active group" - Corona's senior citizens. Robin is chairman of the Corona Senior Citizens Committee. "Corona has gone forth with such a good growth," say Robin of the seniors. "We work, we play and we are really enjoying this center." They average 15 seniors for work day and 25 seniors once a month on Monday evening when they have potluck and fun night.

Corona can boast that they were the first in Lincoln County to try to organize a meeting place for its senior citizens, although Ruidoso and Carrizozo established permanent centers first. On September 26, 1970 thirty-four Corona citizens 55 years and over attended a forum where they filled out questionnaires. Mrs. Mulkey, Bernice Esquivel, Pauline McCloud, Mrs. Ramon Tecolote, Alton Talley and Mrs. Sparks were appointed to the "Committee on Aging." Progress was slow.

Four years later, Mayor Ken Fuller appointed a new committee of three: Emiliano Lucas, Gertrud Allen and Robin Pfeiffer, chairman. Eight members were present at their first meeting.

The senior met at Corona's Rec Room located at the school. The Council appointed new members to replace those who resigned. Additional members were also appointed. The Corona Senior Citizens organization got off the ground! Today's committee members are Minnie Davenport, Vera Wherry, Ola Wade with Robin Pfeiffer chairman.

For a while the Corona seniors joined forces with the Ruidoso Senior Citizens Center. Ruidoso's center director went to Corona once a month to give a program & vice versa.

Corona's Senior Citizens Center is now a satellite of the Zia Senior Citizens Center, whose director is Sister Jan Geha. The Corona seniors meet at a special room built on to the town's bowling alley facilities. The grand opening was held in March of this year. The Corona committee meet at least once a month at a council with the Zia committee members in Carrizozo. Corona Senior Citizens Center hours are Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 1:00 to 4:00 p.m.

Danny says that the scenery is beautiful in that part of the country.

The 1980 Carrizozo alumni reunion is just around the corner. Have you made arrangements to attend the 3-day activities?

I missed last Monday's town council meeting, June 16. Apparently the meeting was for conducting the unfinished business of the week before when three councilmen decided that they had enough of town government and walked out.

I was unaware of Monday's meeting and had made other plans. Roy Harmon, who was one of the walk-outs, was back in his seat at Monday's meeting. The seats of Joe Orsak and Michael Moreland remained vacant.

Bulletin

Carrizozo Head Football coach, Jerry Koller announced today that football players are urged to participate in the weight training program this summer.

Weight training classes will be held twice a week, Tuesdays and Thursday nights, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

While attendance is not required to play football, Coach Koller commented that the weight training is a very good way for young men to prepare for the coming football season. The season will begin August 12th.

FOOD STAMPS— MORE THAN THE POOR ARE AFFECTED

President Carter has just sent his 1981 budget to Congress and it calls for a record spending level of $615.8 billion! That is an increase of nearly $52 billion in just the last year and falls short of expected revenues by $15.8 billion. In fact, the last time the federal budget was balanced was 1969. (Spending then was $184.5 billion, receipts $187.7 billion.)

Why can't we control government spending and balance the budget? Let me explain by giving you an example.

In 1964 the federal government began the food stamps program to combat malnutrition among the poor. It cost $31 million to serve 350,000 people. (Six million others were receiving federal commodities, a practice established during the Great Depression to feed the poor and hungry while disposing of farm surpluses.)

This year the food stamps program is budgeted at $6.2 billion and both the Agriculture Department and the Congressional Budget Office think it will actually take about $8.7 billion to continue providing all benefits. Next year the program costs are expected to top $10 billion, making it the most expensive federal welfare program.

Rising food prices and a recent influx in the number of people who receive stamps are adding about $1.5 billion to the cost of the program every year. If expenditures do hit $10 billion in the coming year, they will have increased 82% in just the last three years!

Benefits are not exorbitant, averaging $32.50 per person per month, about 36 cents per person per meal. And by and large, they are getting to the people who need them. Below are the characteristics of the households receiving food stamps in 1978, the latest available data analysis (figures rounded):

Income:	85%	had gross income under $5,000 a year
	52%	under $3,600 a year
	4%	over $9,000 a year (4 or more in family)
	5%	over $12,000 a year (7 or more in family)
Age:	21%	of household heads were over age 60
	14%	aged 4-60
	44%	aged 26-45
	19%	aged 25 or under
Race:	49%	were white
	29%	black
	9%	Hispanic
	.9%	American Indian
	11.5%	other or unknown
Region:	32%	lived in mid-Atlantic region
	20%	in Southeast
	13%	in Midwest
	12%	in West
	11%	in Southwest
	5%	in New England
	4%	in Mountain Plains region
Assets:	60%	had no liquid assets
	71%	did not own a home
	64%	did not own a car

These people bought about 3.9% of the total sales of food through retail stores. Last year they spent $3 billion more on food than they would have without food stamps. USDA says the farmer's share of the increased spending was $1 billion. The additional demand resulted in purchases of $481 million for meats, $167 million for dairy products, $82 million for fruits and vegetables, $46 million for eggs, $43 million for cereal and bakery products and $89 million for other farm produced goods.

Many people are touched by the financial impact of the food stamps program. Economists say food distributors—including processors, packers, wholesalers and retailers—would lose $210 million for every $1 billion reduction in food stamp spending. Farmers would lose $140 million, so food expenditures in general would drop by $350 million for a $1 billion reduction in food stamps, even though some of the users would substitute some of their own money for the stamps that were cut. That adds up to a lot of people with a stake in maintaining the program at its present levels.

And that doesn't count the 19,700,000 people who were receiving benefits in November 1979, a number that is expected to increase to 20 million this year and 21.3 million next year, assuming the expected increase in unemployment occurs. (A 1% increase in unemployment results in about 750,000 more people collecting food stamps.) Tragically, despite the huge numbers of people receiving food stamps and the enormous costs, a recent study estimated that 7 million Americans still do not get enough food to eat.

Allocating government money is never easy and over the years I've had to vote against some programs for New Mexico, but I believe in a balanced budget. Everyone is for a reduction in government spending, until it affects them, but sacrifices are going to have to be made.

Capitan Village News

by Margaret Rench

Speaking of summer heat. We have it. Imagine, this area being 96 degrees and sometimes more. It is and has been. With the water shortage, that makes it much worse. We all have to conserve on water until they get the situation cleared up. That will not be long. They are working hard to win and they will. Be patient. Work with kindness and understanding.

The Smokey Bear Museum enjoyed 14 visitors from Pinecliff Village on Monday and five more on Sunday. They appreciated Dorothy bringing them over a gentleman from Iran visited Sunday. A group of 14 Scout Troop from Ganado, Texas. There were many other visitors. They are so busy daily of which it is a joy to report.

The Capitan Little League are busy trying to make more finances. They are selling chances on a barbecue grill. The drawing will be July 4th. You can buy chances at our Branch Bank in Capitan and the children are selling. Do help them. They need the assistance.

The Capitan Senior Citizens meet with the Carrizozo chapter for a picnic up Nogal Canyon June 27th. Captain will meet the Fair-Grounds at 9:30 a.m. Bring your picnic lunch. There will be a van from Carrizozo and other cars if needed to pick you up. Alice Traylor and Joan Pumpfrey hosted a Bridal shower honoring Rhonda Barber at her home last week.

Our City employee Larry Caywood served a finger from his left hand when it caught the cogs of a machine. The Dr. placed it back and said it will grow back. Ben Davis a man who is a resident in the Traylor Apartment went to Carrizozo last week to receive his fiancée and was being sent to Greenland on business. They found his suit cases in a Park in Albuquerque. Landscaping in front of the new school building is coming along nicely. To date there are two Aspens, shrubs and evergreens. They are hauling more soil and soon more will be added. A rock was thrown thru a window pane at the City Hall this last weekend. Also a window was broken at the Rusty Anchor. Seems to me there are better things to do than destroy property. If the guilty ones had to pay for the window panes and installing, perhaps that would make them realize what they are doing. There are so many good things to do. Why not try to make people happy. Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. Mr. and Mrs. Steve Poeling of Ruidoso have moved to Capitan to make their home. They said they love it here. Mrs. Bill Clark and three children of Alabama arrived last week to spend three weeks with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Herman Otero during the absence of her husband who is in Korea. Pauline McGarry and Bessie Jones of Capitan joined a group for a two week tour in the Bahamas and had the most memorable and happy time ever and returned home last week. Happy Birthday to Bess Van Felt whose 97th birthday was June 10. Mr. and Mrs. Hervest Lee Traylor taken her out to dinner in Carrizozo and then took her to visit her old friend Mrs. Shook who will be 93 in Jan. and lives in the Betty Dare Nursing Home in Alamogordo. Helen Tompson of Detroit, Michigan arrived Tuesday via plane in Roswell and was met by her daughter Shirley Treadwell and family and came to Capitan to spend one week with her and family and her other daughter Elaine. Last Saturday afternoon the fire alarm called. The reason was that a place with five passengers from Las Vegas, Nevada, two of which were small children were taking off from the Hall airfield and for some reason hit an air pocket or something. They saw they were going to hit the bridge east of Capitan and before the neared the deep arroyo they jumped to safety. The plane hit the bridge and burst into flames. Only one person was injured and our Rescue Unit took him to the Ruidoso Hospital. They were relatives of Maxine Selby of Maxine's Coffee Shop.

Danny Cummins spent one week with his brother Kenny in Albuquerque. His brother David left Saturday afternoon to bring him home Sunday. Becky Ranfro of the Air Force in Georgia arrived in Albuquerque to come to Capitan to spend a week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ranfro. She came home with David and Danny. Happy Birthday to Lorene Ferguson, June 22nd. Pat Joiner was kicked by a calf as he was typing it at Glenos Saturday evening. It broke his right ankle. LeRoy McKnight is seriously ill in the Ruidoso Hospital after suffering an heart attack. I wish you a good recovery. Ida Benavides of Sacramento, CA is visiting her mother Mary Zamora in Alamogordo and they visited Capitan last Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Don Potter returned from over 900 mile trip. They visited their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Don White and family in Gallup. They made lots of side trips. Elephant Butte is rising constantly, now has more water than it has had for several years. The Ranger said it is raising 6 inches a day. They also visited the Quemada and Roberts lakes.

Barber-Burrows Wed in Home Ceremony

Miss Rhonda Kay Barber, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Barber of Capitan and Rocky Burrows of Ruidoso were married Saturday evening May 24 at the home of the bride.

Rev. Ken Cole read the ceremony before an arch banked with greenery and spring flowers. The traditional wedding march was played by Mrs. Roy LaMay, aunt of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a floor length gown of candlelight gauze with long lace raglan sleeves featuring a high open neckline and crushed lace cummerbund. Her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by lemon leaves and stephanotis. The brides head dress was also of stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a hairloom pearl necklace, gift from the groom give to him by his mother and worn by her at her wedding.

Miss Rebecca Barber, sister of the bride served as maid of honor. She wore a spring dress of white and mint green strip design and carried an-nosegay of saises, carnations and baby's breath. Mr. Lee Burrows of Corpus Christi, Texas brother of the groom was best man.

Mrs. Barber chose of her daughters wedding a summer gown of mint green. She wore a corsage of white orchids. Mrs. Burrows wore an ice blue dress of crepe with chiffon caftan sleeves and a square neckline. Her corsage was also of white orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Ruidoso. Guests were received by Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Burrows. Assisting with the reception were Miss Megan LaMay presiding at the punch bowl, Ms. Joan Pumpfrey serving the wedding cake, Ms. Bart

Owens sister of the groom, in charge of the Brides Book with Mrs. Will Mayer and Mrs. Ben England, Aunts of the Bride.

Guests toasted the Bride and Groom from a sparkling champagne fountain. Music was provided for the listening and dancing pleasure of the guests by Ray Reed and Tag Lambert.

After a brief honeymoon the bride and groom will make their home in Corpus Christi, Texas.

Ms. Burrows is a graduate of Capitan High School and attended New Mexico State University. Mr. Burrows is a graduate of Ruidoso High School and is employed by Otis Engineering.

Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Burrows

Camping - Smoking - Cooking Restrictions Placed on Lincoln National Forest

ALAMOGORDO, NM - Restrictions placed on smoking and on camp & cooking fires though out the Lincoln National Forest are still in effect, although the Forest received light showers last week. More rain is badly needed.

A Cloudcroft Ranger District spokesman said an increased number of visitors & campers to the District has resulted in a new summertime office schedule. The Cloudcroft District office is now open 7 days a week, from 8-12 a.m. and from 1-5 p.m.

They also report that all of the camp and picnic grounds are open. Silver, Saddle, and Apache campgrounds are receiving moderate use on weekdays, and heavy use on weekends. Pines, Deerhead, and Sleepy Grass campgrounds, and the Karr Canyon Picnic Area, are receiving light use on weekdays and moderate use on weekends.

Motorists have been asked to be careful of State Highway crews doing maintenance work on U.S. Highway 82, between Cloudcroft and Mayhill. Other roads are in normal condition. Trail conditions are good. Temperatures are averaging in the upper 40's at night and in the 70's in the daytime. One fuelwood area is open at present.

There is a new bridge by Bonita Lou's store. It sure helps when you to cross the stream.

Louise and Bill Paayton were up visiting from Alamogordo.

Tommy Gall Zumwalt was up visiting. He stayed with the Cox's and they all went fishing upon the Bonito.

Ralph Forsythe's niece Dana Leigh Forsythe and friend Roberta Bohan from Greensboro, North Carolina are here visiting.

Roberta and Herman Burtstaller planted grass around their yard and it was on fire again. The volunteer Fire Dept. put it out soon after it started.

The Nogal Presbyterian Church Youth Group met Sunday to discuss this year's church projects. Those present were Melody, Marcia, and Sharon Hecker. Mary Jane, Matt, Lisa, Wally and Anne Ferguson. Amy and Hankie Means, Shelia Zumwalt, Steven and Johnny Stearns.

Lee and Amanda Greer are enjoying their new waiting pool. It sure is nice to have when the days reach at least 94 degrees.

Mrs. Agers would appreciate your thoughts and prayers for her husband who is in critical condition after having a heart attack.

Lincoln County Ranch Tour (Part 1)

by POLLY CHAVEZ

"Mother always wanted me to know what was beyond those mailboxes on the highway," said a fascinated Ranch Tour participant from New York to her fellow Ranch Tour bus rider.

The woman made the comment on the porch of the Hightower ranch home. The Hightower place was one of the three ranches toured by approximately 200 persons on June 14. The enthusiastic crowd was eager to learn about local ranching industry.

The Canyon Cowbelles, Corona Crown Cowbelles and the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce conducted registration at the Valley of Fires state park on HWY 389. They gave out name tags and 'goodie bags.' The Carrizozo FFA had coffee and donuts available for the early bird ranch tourists. They were loaded on seven buses. Besides the driver, each bus had a cowbelle hostess and a local businessman or rancher as host.

The only sour note of the event was that a 60 feet diameter tent which had been erected the previous night was stolen. The tent was to provide extra shade for registration and the bar-be-que dinner at the end of the day. The blue and green army surplus tent is very expensive & was jointly owned by the County Extension Service and the Lincoln County Historical Society.

County police investigated the incident, believed to be 4:00 a.m., June 14 work of pranksters. Police found vehicle tire tracks, footprints of 2 to 4 subjects and four cans of Bud. Larceny over $100.00, a fourth degree felony will provide 18 months of room and board at the State Pen for the person or persons caught with the 300 to 400 pound tent and hoist (block and tackle).

Chamber of Commerce president Scott Shafer says he hopes the tent will turn up somewhere so that it may be returned to the organizations from which the Ranch Tour directors borrowed it from.

The Gnatkowski, Hightower, and Curtis ranches were the featured places on the Carrizozo Ranch Tour. The buses after leaving HWY 54, traveled over narrow dirt roads crossed cattle guards and stopped for gates to be opened before arriving at the first ranch on the tour - the Gnatkowski ranch, Ancho.

Ranch headquarters were homesteaded in the 1890's by the Fambrough family. In the early 1930's it was purchased by Will Ed Harris and then by Jim and Callie Hall who moved here in 1934. The ranch is currently operated by the Hall's son-in-law and daughter, A.W. "Gnat" and Janice Gnatkowski and their sons.

Jim Hall fenced the ranch and brought in sheep in the late 30's. Since that time cattle and sheep have been raised together on the ranch. In 1971 wool prices were at a low level so this and a neighboring family worked with a spinning and weaving guild in Albuquerque to establish the "Sheep to Shawl" wool promotion exhibit at the New Mexico State Fair.

As a result of the interest in the weaving, small flocks of Karakul and Lincoln sheep are now run on the ranch along with the range sheep which are primarily a Tambouillet Columbia cross.

When the tour groups arrived at the Gnatkowski barn, individual and news media cameras clicked away as sheep were sheared, vaccinated for sore mouth, castrated, tails removed and hormone growth implanted. Cameras recorded wool carding, spinning, and weaving demonstration by Beadie Jones, Linda Ponder, Captain, and Kay Tracey, Corona.

Larry Killgo of Roswell who is with the Fish & Wildlife Service gave a talk on sheep predators. He said that they include Eagles, Bobcats, and Mountain Lions, but 90 percent of the problem is coyotes.

Killgo said that the coyote is very smart, and is extremely hard to catch. He displayed trapping tools. He said they first attempt to get coyotes on the ground with snares and if that doesn't work they hunt by air in helicopters.

On the Ranch Tour was Roswell resident, Mike Patone and his five grandchildren, Jennie, Frankie, Michael and Frankie. They were enjoying the sheep ranch activity.

Patone said that he moved to Roswell in January from Connecticut for health reasons. His son and his family came to visit in March and they too moved to Roswell, from North Carolina. Patone said he took advantage of the tour to get acquainted with area ranches.

The huge Gnatkowski bar had five stalls which held the following sheep: Lincoln, ewe and ram lamb; Suffolk, ewe and Karakul cross lamb;

Karakul yearling; Angora nanny and kid and Columbia, ewe and ram lamb. A diagramed chart showed wholesale and retail lamb cuts.

Bales of hay were available for resting benches. The March of Dimes sold snack lunches. Corona FFA's had cold drinks for sale.

Door prizes were given out by the Crown Cowbelles.

HEALTH HINTS: by Dr. M. A. Moreland "Straightened Up!"

Are you satisfied with your posture? Maybe your shoulders are a little too rounded, one shoulder high, the other low, it may be that one leg becomes shorter than the other because of a tilted pelvis, too much curves in the lower spine, etc. If your posture is bad, your friends advise you to straighten up - they mean well. You do try, but how successful are you? While you are thinking about it you can improve your posture, but what happens when you are not thinking of it? Usually you are the same old set.

The spine is the backbone of posture and the position of the spine is controlled by muscles. Proper muscle tension is necessary to have good posture. This interference is caused by partial displacement of a segment of the spine. When this condition is corrected, the body resumes its natural position. Children as well as adults should be examined regularly for postural defects, the same as they are checked for defects of eyes. Normal health is a normal condition, permitted only by a normal spine.

If you have any questions I can answer, send them to Dr. M.A. Moreland, Box 849 - Carrizozo, N. M.
