In White Oaks Incidents--

Lincoln County Jury Convicts 3, Acquits 1

STORY AND PICTURES
by POLLY CHAVEZ

Criminal cases involving incidents which occurred in White Oaks late last December and in early January of this year were tried by a Lincoln County magistrate jury. The trial resulted in the convictions of three individuals and the acquittal of another.

The following was the verdict of the three men and nine woman jury:

- Paul Wetzel, GUILTY of injury to animals.

- R.A. Crenshaw, GUILTY of hogs, swine or goats running at large.

- R.A. Crenshaw, GUILTY of battery on Larue Wetzel.

- Joe Armstrong, NOT GUILTY of battery on Larue Wetzel.

- Larue Wetzel, GUILTY of assault on R.A. Crenshaw.

- Larue Wetzel, GUILTY of assault on Joe Armstrong.

Charges of 'injury to animals' and 'Negligent use of a deadly weapon' were dismissed against Guy Brown and Bryan Wetzel. District Judge Robert M. Daughy II, sitting as magistrate in the case dismissed the charges on the pair earlier in the trial.

Deputy District Attorney Jay Rosenthal, on behalf of the State of New Mexico, told the jurors in his final argument that the State had presented available evidence and that not all the witnesses subpoenaed had testified in the "Complex, multi-count, multi-defendant" trial.

Evidence included many photographs of dead sheep and, or goats. More than 30 witnesses were sworn in Monday. Witnesses who testified included Marvin Miller, a Roswell polygraph expert; Dr. Amy Barton, a local semi-retired physician; James McSwane, Lincoln County Sheriff Deputy and Barry Herd, County Agricultural Agent.

Throughout the trial defendants and witnesses were questioned by lawyers on their opinion of what a goat and a sheep look like. With his sheep and wool production experience background, Herd described different species of sheep, some which are hard to tell apart from goats.

At times the court proceedings regarding the identity of the livestock became humorous. Rosenthal: "Are sheep smart?" Herd: "Depends who's herding them." Herd told El Paso attorney, Charles Deason that he didn't know of any goats which could eat tin cans, when Deason said tin cans were part of a goats diet.

Rosenthal also said in his closing arguments to the jury that the defendants had displayed conduct, "a little bit right, alot wrong" regarding the charges against them. He told the jurors that they are the "fact finders" who determine who is telling the truth in a trial which involves direct conflicts. Rosenthal gave tips on how key words help to determine truth.

"It takes two to fight, both sides are guilty as charged, both sides enjoyed being in the fight," Rosenthal told the jury before they were dismissed to the jury room to decide on their verdict.

He added that there was no question that Paul Wetzel did indeed kill the sheep. He said that Crenshaw admits his animals run at large.

Rosenthal's opinion was that the defendants were all guilty of "violating the laws of the State, guilty of violating the rights of one another.

Lawyers arguments for the defense followed at this time. Charles Deason of El Paso defended the three Wetzels and Guy Brown. Crenshaw and Armstrong were defended by the Payne, Mitchell and Quigley law firms of Carrizozo and Ruidoso.

Judge Doughty told the jurors that they are the sole judges in the evidence they heard during the trial and that they must not speculate or guess. He then read the following instructions:

The law governing this case is contained in these instructions and it is your duty to follow that law. You must consider these instructions as a whole. You must not pick out one instruction or parts of an instruction or instructions and disregard others.

The law presumes the defendant to be innocent unless and until you are satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt of his guilty.

The burden is always on the state to prove guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, it is not required that the state prove guilty beyond all possible doubt. The test is one of reasonable doubt. A reasonable doubt is doubt based upon reason and common sense - the kind of doubt that would make a reasonable person hesitate to act in the graver and more important affairs of life.

For you to find the Defendant, R.A. CRENSHAW, guilty of permitting hogs, swine or goats to run at large within the limits of any city, town or village, incorporated or unincorporated, or to trespass upon the cultivated fields and gardens of any person, you must find beyond a reasonable doubt as follows:

1. R.A. CRENSHAW was the owner of the animals involved;
2. The animals involved were either hogs, swine or goats;
3. R.A. CRENSHAW did allow said animals to run at large within a city, town or village, incorporated or unincorporated;
4. White Oaks, New Mexico, is a city, town or village;

5. or R.A. CRENSHAW did allow his goats to trespass upon the cultivated fields and gardens of Larue Wetzel;

6. This occurred in the State of New Mexico on or about the 28th day of December, 1980.

For you to find the defendant R.A. Crenshaw guilty of battery, as charged, the state must prove to your satisfaction beyond a reasonable doubt each of the following elements of the crime:

1. The Defendant hit or pushed Larue Wetzel.
2. The defendant acted in a rude, insolent or angry manner;
3. This happened in New Mexico on or about the 29th day of December, 1980.

For you to find the defendant Joe Armstrong guilty of battery as charged, the state must prove to your satisfaction beyond a reasonable doubt each of the following elements of the crime:

1. The defendant hit or pushed Larue Wetzel;
2. The defendant acted in a rude, insolent or angry manner.
3. This happened in New Mexico on or about the 29th day of December, 1980.

For you to find the defendant, Paul Wetzel guilty of the charge of injury to animals, the state must prove to your satisfaction beyond a reasonable doubt each of the following elements of the crime that

1. The defendant willfully and maliciously killed or injured animals
2. That said animals belonged to another.
3. That this happened on or about the 4th day of January, 1981

For you to find the defendant Larue Wetzel guilty of assault as charged, the state must prove to your satisfaction beyond a reasonable doubt each of the following elements of the crime:

1. The defendant tried (but failed) to hit R.A. Crenshaw with her fists or a rock.
2. The defendant intended to hit R.A. Crenshaw with her fists or a rock;
3. The defendant acted in a rude, insolent or angry manner;
4. This happened in New Mexico on or about the 29th day of December, 1980.

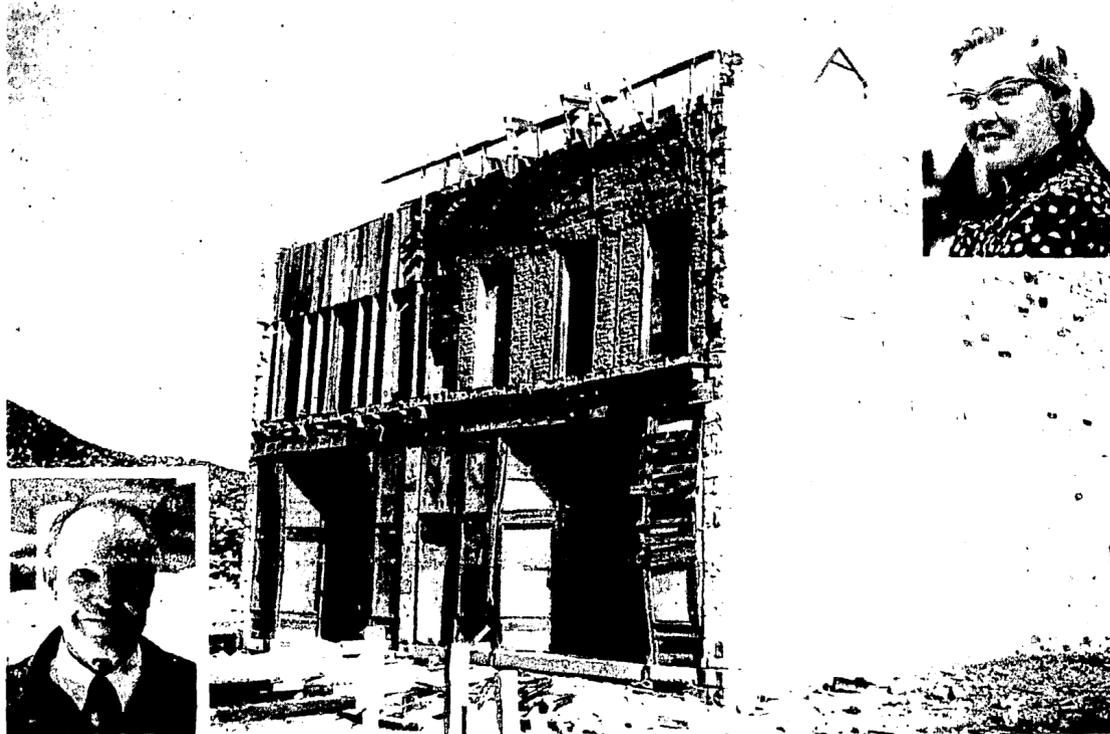

For you to find the defendant Larue Wetzel guilty of assault as charged, the state must prove to your satisfaction beyond a reasonable doubt each of the following elements of the crime:

1. The defendant tried (but failed) to hit Joe Armstrong with her fists or a rock;
2. The defendant intended to hit Joe Armstrong with her fists or a rock;
3. The defendant acted in a rude, insolent or angry manner;
4. This happened in New Mexico on or about the 29th day of December, 1980.

A person who is threatened with an attack need not retreat. In the exercise of his right of self-defense, he may stand his ground and defend himself.

In addition to the other elements of the crimes charged, the state must prove to your satisfaction beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant acted intentionally when he com-

First Annual 'Fiesta Day' April 3rd

April 3 will be the date for the first annual Carrizozo Schools "Fiesta Day". School will be dismissed at 1 pm that day so that students will have several hours to visit and participate in the variety of booths, rides, displays, dances, and plays scheduled for the afternoon event. The Fiesta will run from 1 pm to 7 pm with the play "Strangers in the Night" being shown in the Old Gym as the final event of the day.

The purpose of the Fiesta is to create interest in and to develop local awareness of the different cultural backgrounds of Lincoln county residents. Local clubs, churches, and civic organizations are encouraged to develop booths, displays, or some type of activity for the event which will take place in front of the high school building.

A fee of $5 will be charged for each booth. Remaining proceeds may be kept by the participating club or organization. For additional details, please contact Victor Cisneros, Joyce Persall, Viola Fenter, or Bob Hemphill. The entire community is invited to come and participate in this exciting event.

"Fiesta Day" is co-sponsored by the PTA and the local school district. Most of the PTA meeting last week was spent discussing and planning the event. PTA will hold a special meeting on March 28 to "touch bases" one last time before the big event.

In other business the PTA discussed setting up a scholarship or award fund. The organization would like to contribute to a boy and girl student who has shown the most improvement.

Principal Steve Stuart informed the PTA that the Senior Class voted to donate the money left in their fund after the class trip to the Robert Portio fund. Portio is a fellow classmate who is undergoing medical treatment.

PTA members earned $675.00 by helping to organize picture taking last Monday.

We are looking for an attendance of 1,200 members and their families."

Charles E. Plingsten of Nogal donated a Sewing machine to New Horizons. Mr. Plingsten repairs sewing machines and heard that New Horizons was in need of a machine to finish craft items. Mr. Plingsten not only donated a fine machine but offered to service the machine free of charge. The sewing machine will also be used to teach clients how to sew and repair their own clothing.

The lack of moisture, warm temperatures, and spring winds beginning to blow is now creating high fire danger across all of the Lincoln National Forest except the high country.

The mild winter that local residents enjoyed this year has caused problems now apparent including very little to no water runoff and a fire danger situation similar to 1974, the last real bad year in the southwest.

The Forest Service now has five crews stationed at Ruidoso and Capitán 7 days a week and should have almost all people hured by April 1st. On the Smokey Bear Ranger District this includes a helicopter, 3 fire trucks, and approximately 50 trained firefighters.

Tom Guck, fire prevention officer, this week urged all residents and forest visitors to take every precaution to prevent fire. Pine needles and debris should be cleaned away from all buildings and no burning done during windy weather, he said, "and residents are being urged to be especially careful about smoking, dumping ashes from fireplaces, using charcoal in barbecues, and cooking over campfires."

Persons discovering a fire on forest land should immediately call 257-4095, the Smokey Bear Ranger District. There is also a 24 hour swering service in Alamogordo, 1-437-2286.

Miss Wendy Tate of Capitán the daughter of Jerry and Janet Tate is a contestant in the Cinderella Pageant being held at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, in the Mesalero room from 3 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., March 21.

Wendy's entry fee is sponsored by the Rusty Anchor of Capitán. Other sponsors are: Mike and Dianne of Capitán Chevron; Matt and Oliver of Capitán Hardware; Cummin Corp; B&L Pizza; Smokey Bear Restaurant; Dean's Saw Shop; Boyds Feed Store; Olan's Quick Stop of Capitán; Wayne Whitlock of Whitlock & Lyle Realty and Georgia Nelson of Ruidoso.

Visitors from all parts of the country go to New Orleans for its famous Mardi Gras. Ralph and Angie Garcia of Carrizozo were there recently where they saw the merrymaking first hand. They departed from Carrizozo to New Orleans on Feb 26 and returned March 6.

Mardi Gras parades feature grand parades of beautiful floats and marching bands, followed by several fancy dress balls. The Mardi Gras celebration goes back to an ancient Roman custom of merrymaking before a period of fasting. People in masks and gay costumes take part in the parades.

The Garcias came back to Carrizozo with souvenirs tossed from the parade floats. The beads and 'doubloons' (coins) are inscribed with parade names and year. The Zozo people were only four blocks away from the place where band members suffered gunshot wounds in a freak accident, which made national news.

While in New Orleans the Garcias visited with Angie's uncle and aunt, Navy man Jose Gallegos, his wife Barbara and their son and daughter. The Garcias did what all tourists do when in New Orleans - toured the French Quarters, Bourbon Street, Jackson Square and St. Charles Cathedral, one of the oldest in the nation.

And who is a year older this week? Colleen Salazar, Bobby Wheeler, Herbert Totten Mar 19; J.C. Richmond, Ramona Ortiz, Minnie Herrera, Ralph Baroz, Jr., Dorothy Simmons, Jason Florian Mar 20; Mabel Zamora, James Guevara, Ruth Armstrong Mar 21; Barbie Means, Karen Baroz, Jiggs Sidwell Mar 22; Jackie Vigil, Fred LaMay Mar 23; Angie Garcia, Diane Najjar, Sandy Baca Mar 24; Weidon McKinley, Chris Vallejos Mar 25. "To know how to grow old is the master work of wisdom, and one of the most difficult chapters in the great art of living." Happy Birthday!

Zachary, who has come out of hibernation, and his Mom recently met and visited with Woody and Phyllis Schlegel. Phyllis is back home following a trip to West Virginia to see relatives.

The Schlegels offered Zach and Mom coffee, orange juice, cookies and coffee cake, which is called Italian Coffee Cake. At my request Phyllis agreed to share the recipe. For this high altitude area, Phyllis has experimented with the recipe changes in parentheses.

Ingredients; 2 1/2 cups all purpose flour; 3/4 cup granulated sugar (minus 1 tbsp); 1 cup brown sugar (minus 2 tbsp); 1/2 tsp salt; 1/4 cup oil; 1/4 tsp cinnamon; 1 egg; 1 tsp baking powder (reduce to 3/4 tsp); 1 tsp nutmeg; 1 tsp baking soda (reduce to 3/4 tsp); 1 cup buttermilk (plus 3 tbsp).

Mix together flour, sugars, salt and oil. Blend well. Save 1/4 cup of this mixture and add 1/4 tsp cinnamon to part saved. Add to remaining mixture the egg, baking powder and nutmeg. (Vary spices to taste, for a change.)

Add soda to buttermilk and add to mixture. Mix thoroughly and pour in greased 9X13 inch pan. Sprinkle mixture to which cinnamon was added on top of batter. Bake about 35 minutes at 350 degrees.

Former residents Bud and Barbara Arendt and son Cody of Sonora, Texas were area visitors recently. The Robert Curtis and Walt Wilson families were among those that the Arendts visited.

Local boxers Gabriel and Michael Chaves and their boxing coach dad, Nat Chaves, were in Roswell last Saturday to attend the State Golden Gloves tournament. Former Zozo resident Henry Niederstadt was a Golden Gloves competitor the previous evening.

Santa Rita parishioners Elias Otero and Miquel Montano planted four fruit trees on the parish grounds. The pair enjoyed planting the cherry, peach, plum and apple trees. The event was especially meaningful because the day happened to be Arbor Day.

Green thumb enthusiasts in the parish are looking forward to 'plot luck' in their garden again this year.

Last Thursday, Lori Gibson age 5, and Zachary age 3 got a close up look of one dog, one horse, four mules and a covered wagon. While passers-by questioned and photographed the horse rider and wagon driver, the two youngsters studied the cloth-covered home. Col. John J. Benish and traveling companion, Manny McGuire eat, cook, and wash their clothes and books from the confines of their air-conditioned 'trailer'. Pursuing a dream of 50 years, the Colonel, age 63, traveled by covered wagon and mule from Wisconsin and the Rocky Mountains to his goal, Death Valley.

The Colonel, recounted experiences the two men have encountered on their trips around the western part of the U.S. They left Wisconsin in June, 1980. They are on their return journey. The pair stopped for Sunday services at Corona's Presbyterian Church.

Except for the air-filled modern day vehicle tires on the covered wagon, Lori and Zach reckon that you couldn't come any closer to true old West traditions.

Last week, March 10 when you were on your way home from work around 5 pm, you thought you saw a big, green man. You figured you had a tough day at work and just imagined you saw the big, green man in a tattered shirt driving past you.

Your tired eyeballs were right. The person you saw behind the wheel of the VW Rabbit was just Danny Narvaez delivering birthday party guests back home. Danny and his wife Rita were host and hostess for a party they gave their sons Pete and Jacob.

The Narvaez brothers who celebrated birthdays that week, Mar 10 and 14 enjoyed a supper party and surprises with neighborhood friends and school mates.

Dr. and Mrs. Dale Goad attended the National Conference on Rural Primary care concerning Rural Health Care in the 80's. The meeting was held in Denver, Colorado. Various members of the Health Professions and Departments who are located in New Mexico met with Senator Harrison Schmitt regarding medical and dental needs of rural New Mexico.

LOCAL RESIDENTS Lori Gibson and Zachary Chavez experience a bit of the old west. Lori takes over the reins on a mule-drawn wagon which passed through town last week. Zachary Chavez and horse rider lead the way to a local gas station where two Wisconsin men made a "pit-stop" during their journey to Death Valley and back to their state.

Corona News

The high temperature for last week was registered on the 15th at 52 degrees. The low of 23 was also on the 15th and again on the 9th.

The Corona Youth Group will hold a luncheon meeting at the Presbyterian Church following the morning service, Sunday, March 22nd. The girls are planning the meal within a budget and the boys will form the cleanup crew. Note: The positions will be reversed next month when the boys will plan, budget and cook. Rosemary Zink RN-FNP will be the speaker on careers in the health field and she will also show slides and tell of some of her experiences in Central and South America with the USS Hope. Roe Ann Alford, Sabra Sultemeier and Carey Crist will lead the discussion.

Anne Foster had a visit last week from her sister, Mrs. Lawrence Hefner of Socorro. Two of the Foster girls were home during spring breaks from the colleges. Phoebe from UNM and Janetta from ENMU.

Five month old Tracey Kent spent a few days last week with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. John Tracey. His parents, three brothers and a friend came over to pick him up and to spend the weekend.

Col. John B. Benish and Manny McGuire of Highland, Wisconsin stopped in Corona to attend church services Sunday morning. Pursuing a dream of fifty years the Colonel is travelling by covered wagon and four mules from his home to Death Valley. They are now on the return trip and expect to arrive in June after fifteen months.

Anita Romero and Gilbert Lucero, students at NMHU, spent the weekend with Gilbert's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chavez. Gilbert is the son of the former Novalina Chavez, a graduate of Corona High School.

The Virgil Owen family was here from Farmington to spend Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Owen.

Crown Cowbells--

Crown Cowbells met Thursday, March 8th at the ranch home of Eve Latham. Her Mother Myra Richards was a guest. President Lee Sultemeier reminded members of the State Convention in Albuquerque beginning April 5th. Kay Sultemeier, acting secretary, read thank you letters from Boys Ranch, New Horizons and Betty Ann Bell. Members turned in soup labels for the Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation. HB 160 was discussed and

Winners of the Corona Beef Poster Fair will be announced on Ag Day. The date for the Cowbelle annual dance is July 18th with music by the Sagebrush Revue. Juanita Sultemeier, Father's Day Chairman, is planning the recognition of Crown's Man of the Year at the June Meeting. Betty Ann Bell, co-ordinator for the March 17th District One workshop, went over final plans. Duties have been assigned, and members are looking forward to an informative meeting with a large attendance. The school cafeteria will serve the roast beef lunch.

The April 2nd meeting will be a covered dish supper for families at 6 pm in the school recreation room. Dr. Pyle, Albuquerque veterinarian, will speak on diseases new and old. The May meeting will be at the home of Eleanor Smith with Eve Sanchez co-hostess.

After a delicious roast beef lunch and a tour through the old and new addition to the Latham home members went to work on the unusual quilt designed and made by Linda Ponder. The blocks show a Longhorn steer and local brands make the patterns for quilting. Watch for it at the Lincoln County Fair. The quilt will be raffled August 22nd during the Fair.

Senior Citizens --

The Zia Senior Citizens of Corona welcomed Carmen Ehlers from Moriarity on March 8th, when she gave us our first Tri Chem demonstration. Present at this meeting were Joe Sanchez, Clara Porter, Bibiana Lucero, Rumalda Alirez, Lena Mae McKibben, Joyce Winchester, Mota Vick, Ollie D. Wade, and Lola Sanchez. We are looking forward to seeing Miss Ehlers again next month.

Prior to the Tri Chem demonstration the senior citizens held a pot luck luncheon at the center. There were 8 in attendance. Rumalda Alirez won the door prize, a nine inch figurine of a horse.

We are also very happy to welcome Betty Sanchez to the center. She will be helping the senior citizens with in-home care, home visits and other activities. Betty is a resident of Corona, and is glad to help out the senior citizens in any way possible.

We would also like to send our best wishes to three of our senior citizens who have not been able to be with us for quite a while. Pallie Dishman is reported in good condition in Belen, Molly Alirez is also recovering in Las Cruces, and Katie Merritt is here in Corona and doing better. We all hope to see you back at the center soon.

Minnie Davenport, our chairperson, is enjoying a two weeks

Improper Methods Used in BLM Survey

New fuel has been added to a call by the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau for suspension of all grazing decisions now being drawn by the Bureau of Land Management and this state.

BLM has announced that mistakes were made in a 1978-79 range survey in Southern New Mexico because improper methods were used to conduct the study. As a result of this survey some ranchers faced grazing cutbacks of more than 90 percent. The effect of that on the ranching industry and many local economies is obvious.

The State's largest agricultural organization has long held that these surveys were flawed because of the small amount of time spent gathering data and the inexperienced personnel used to collect the information.

The Farm and Livestock Bureau recently asked Interior Secretary James Watt for a moratorium on all New Mexico grazing decisions by BLM, and to allow public comment on revision of the entire Range Code.

The BLM errors were made in an area called the "Rio Grande Planning Unit" which includes Dona Ana, Luna, Sierra, and Otero counties.

Students . . . Not Parents, Make Career Choices

A high school graduate doesn't have to take on a four-year college degree program to benefit from career training at a modern university. There are educational short cuts designed to meet the needs of almost all students.

Teenagers with particular abilities, or special interests, might be better off in a university's one- or two-year career training program.

The high school graduate who begins with a one- or two-year specialized program doesn't restrict future educational choices. Many students complete one of the career programs, and then add to that educational experience with a traditional four-year university degree, Yale.

Many parents feel the four-year college or university degree is the best, or only, choice for their son or daughter. For many young people, this broad based foundation is essential for further professional training.

The student who is undecided on a career can use the first year or two of the traditional four-year program to explore their interests further, while they get a more general education through basic course work.

Those students who are sure of their career choice probably need the full four years to complete a particular degree program.

However, there are young people headed for the college campus every fall who have never considered the alternate programs offered by modern state universities. These programs provide excellent career training for students who are less inclined toward an intermediate or long-range academic program.

The flexibility of one- and two-year programs is especially valuable to students who need to gain confidence in their ability before committing time and money to a longer academic program.

There was a time when parents and high school counselors used to tell high school students, with a tone of resignation, "not every boy and girl is college material. There is some truth in this advice, but today's universities offer short-range career training programs that leave plenty of flexibility for continued academic growth.

It often turns out that the student who was bright, but bored, and got bad grades in high school does well when challenged in college. Some students who accepted their high school grades as realistic indicators of their potential college performance, enter an alternative one- or two-year program and find the added challenge results in higher grades.

These students often stay with the short-range career program for the flexibility it offers, and then use it as a stepping stone to the four-year bachelors degree program.

Alternative programs available on most New Mexico college and university campuses, and some community colleges, include the basics of the four-year curriculum, plus vocational training.

Some of the vocational programs are secretarial administration, almost all the building trades, retail sales, marketing, radiologic technology, nursing, medical laboratory technology, dietary technology, agricultural machinery and equipment, and applied engineering.

Two-year programs in engineering technology involve one of several options - civil, electrical and electronic, and mechanical.

Whatever the choice, the graduating high school student is a child making the transition to adult, and should feel the decision about continuing education is one that belongs to him or her.

Parents can provide information and guidance about the alternatives such a decision involves, but the parents' objective should be to help the child consider their goals and abilities and the probable consequences of a decision.

The young person growing into an adult wants to start making decisions on their own, and the career and education choices are a good place to start. It's their life. Parents' past investment in their children, and any vicarious ambitions, should be subordinated when young people come to choosing career training.

It's a time that can be painful for parents, but going to college because Mom or Dad wants it that way isn't the best reason, or even a sufficient reason. Career training is only one of the challenges each person has to meet as they grow up.

It's Roble's Party-LIne!!!

LISTEN IN! Hot off the Wire:

Hi Mabel! How are you? I have had a busy week, but Listen to this!!!

ABOUT THE COFFEE SCARE!!!

There is a word in Webster's dictionary, "Temperance", which reads like this: "1. Habitual moderation in the indulgence of the appetites and passions. 2. Self-control". After reading many statistics, and hearing several TV programs on the evils of coffee, I came to the same conclusion as Mr. Webster.

However the little brown coffee berry is causing quite a stir in Science circles. Several studies show that even decaffeinated coffee could be dangerous in large amounts. Then, of course there is that little additive called Caffeine, and in the World Book Encyclopedia, it states that it is an alkaloid whose presence in coffee or any other drink gives it stimulating properties. Caffeine can cause nervous disorders and other problems. The Food and Drug Administration cautioned expectant mothers to avoid coffee or any caffeine drinks. Caffeine is an odorless and slightly bitter solid which crystallizes in slender, silklke needles which are soluble in water and alcohol. When taken in moderate quantities it is valuable for physicians in cases of exhaustion and other remedies.

It is obvious that in the future there will be more studies concerning coffee and caffeine. In the meantime the FDA is raising the warning flag. NOW, MABEL, for a little Fun! Laughter! Food!

and Fashion!

Woman grumbling to husband:

"How can the government continually spend more than they get?"

Husband: "That's because they've got confidence in us."

Movies get keeping more explicit; these days a "family film" is likely to show you how to start one.

Yes this is true! Dr. Doolittle Shipp from California says that a good way to keep your dog is to tattoo his name and number in his ear. It doesn't hurt them and keeps them safe.

HERE IS SOMETHING FOR THE BATH:

Scented Bubble Bath
 soap flakes 1 1/2 cups water, hot 2 cups
 glycerin 1/4 cup
 oil of sandalwood 1/4 tsp alcohol 2 tbsps
 oil of strawberry 1/2 tsp

Dissolve the oils in the alcohol and add the glycerin.

Dissolve the soap in the water and combine with the alcohol mixture.

Use about 2 tbsps for each bath.

Have you ever tried rolling up your hair with the white of an egg that has been well beaten? It's worth a try. It dries fast and curls better.

FOR THE FAMILY!

This is a wonderful time to go hiking, or on a picnic, because it isn't grass mowing time yet. It's kinda in between Spring and Winter. Arrow head hunting is fun. Let the children decide on the food and make it for you. It is an easy way to start learning to get the feel of the kitchen. Every child should be comfortable cooking simple things as he or she grows up little by little. Get your children involved in your everyday chores so that they are easy for them to do, then teach them things you know day by day - this makes them happy and dependable.

FOR A FEW MORE CALORIES!

Myrtle Pope gave me her recipe for:

CHESS PIE
 1 cup light bra sugar
 1/2 cup gran. sugar
 2 eggs
 1 tbsps flour
 1 tsp vanilla
 2 tbsps milk
 1 stick melted butter
 1 cup chopped nuts

Mix brown sugar, granulated sugar, and flour; then beat in eggs, milk, vanilla, butter and stir in nuts. Pour into uncooked pie shell. Cook 45 min at 350 degrees.

CRUST

Mix 1 1/2 cups flour and 1/2 cup butter with knives until crumbly then add 5 tbsps water slowly and mix.

WHEN YOU GO SHOPPING MABEL:

If you need a really great pan to cook in, nonstick, fast, easy to keep clean; try shopping for the Corning Ware Range Toppers. I have three of them and they are super to cook with: It's a new item that Corning Ware is putting out, available in any big store.

GEE MABEL

Just a few more things before I hang up.

DID YOU KNOW?

That Hazel English is looking great since her illness and is working full speed again?

Tillie Daugh's is taking it easy but getting better?

DID YOU KNOW...

There is a lot of activity going on at Bill Payton's?

Bob and Sue Stearns are building a new room?

The young couple with two boys who had a house warming this week?

That Katie and Carl McDaniel are building again?

MABEL HERE IS SAD NEWS:

Barbara Sharpe walked over this afternoon and told me that May Sharpe died walking in the Church in Hacton Colorado. May was a friend of all Nogal, and I would like to dedicate these words to her.

A friend is your field which you sow with love and reap with thanksgiving, and he is your board and your fireside. For you come to him with your hunger, and you seek him for peace. For friendship will fill your need, not your emptiness. For the dew of little things the heart finds its morning and is refreshed.

Nogal sends their love to the Sharpe family.

Don't forget to send a stamped envelope to our answering service in care of Roble, Lincoln County News.

Nat'l Endowment Awarded Zozo H.S. Sr.

The National Endowment for the Humanities has announced that Carrizozo High School Senior Don Ward is the recipient of a $2,325 grant for the purpose of writing a historical account of family life in the Lincoln County mining town of White Oaks.

National Endowment Chairman Joseph D. Duffey, of Washington D.C., notified Don by letter that his application, submitted last Fall with others from around the United States, had been funded for historical work to begin in May 1981.

Don, the son of Tom and Barbara Ward of Carrizozo, was a 1980 runner-up in the Calvin Horn Historical Essay Contest - an annual historical contest held throughout New Mexico under the sponsorship of publisher Calvin Horn. The National Endowment competition, also an annual event, examines applications from public school students, college students, and others conducting research projects in the humanities. It was from this broad competition that Don's application was selected.

The Board of Education joins with others in the community in commending Don for this excellent achievement - a Carrizozo High School first.

Lincoln National Forest News

ALAMOGORDO, NM - Fresh snows over most of the Lincoln National Forest last week put hki slopes back in business and eased some of the concerns forest fire suppression personnel were having because of an impending early fire season.

The new snow, and showers, at lower elevations, has brought the forest moisture levels almost up to normal, a spokesman said. In addition to lessening the current fire danger, the moisture assures a good season for reforestation.

Downhill skiers at Sierra Blanca, in the Smokey Bear Ranger District at Ruidoso, reported 30 inches of new snow. Skiing is excellent, but if you are planning to visit the area, call 257-9001 before you leave home, for the most current conditions. Fuelwood area on District are open, but may be muddy, and the White Mountain Wilderness has from three to five feet of snow at the higher elevations. Roads are generally muddy. There is not enough snow for snowmobiling, cross-country skiing, sledding or tubing.

At Cloudercroft, Ski Cloudercroft is open. For more information, call 682-2597 before you leave home. Cross-country skiing is good in Saddle and Apache Campgrounds, and snowmobiling is good over most of the District. The Silver Snowplay Area is open. Fuelwood areas are closed. Silver Campground is open for winter camping. No fees are being charged and no water has been furnished. The Rim Trail is still closed from a mile south of Alamo Peak to Atkinson Field, and will probably remain closed for two months. Highways are in good condition, but secondary roads are snowpacked. The road to Bailey Canyon is closed.

Fuelwood areas are open, but secondary roads are wet & muddy, in the Guadalupe Ranger District near Carlsbad. There is still some intermittent road construction work on Forest Road 67 (the Rim Road), and motorists should use caution.

And, at Mayhill, fuelwood areas are closed; there is still some fishing in the Penasco River and Bear Canyon Lake.

At this time of year, it is always a good idea to call the range district in the area of the forest you plan to visit, to check on current weather and driving conditions before you leave home. Their telephone numbers are: Smokey Bear at Ruidoso, 257-4095; Cloudercroft 682-2551; Guadalupe at Carlsbad, 885-4181; and Mayhill, 687-3411.

Artists in School

Programs

Funded

School districts are reminded that April 15th is the deadline for them to apply to take part in the 1981-82 Artists-in-Schools program funded by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Next year will be the 12th school year that this popular NEA program has brought artists and craftsmen - painters, sculptors, photographers, poets, musicians, filmmakers, actors, dancers, architects, weavers, jewelry-makers, potters - into the classrooms to work with students and teachers.

This year 15 New Mexico school districts have NEA grants for the resident artist programs, which require a 50 percent cash match from the participating district.

The Artist-in-Schools is not viewed as a member of the teaching staff, but rather as a practicing artist working on his or her art in a school setting, in a studio provided by the school in which students, teachers, and persons from the community may watch him at work, ask questions, and learn first hand about the creative experience. In addition, the artist holds teacher in-service and community workshops, and takes part in appropriate cooperative projects with local and state arts organizations.

Requests for information and application materials should be sent to Richard L. Cook, Artists-in-Schools Coordinator, New Mexico Arts Division, 113 Lincoln Ave., Santa Fe 87501. The Arts Division's telephone number is 827-2061.

LAWN and GARDEN TIPS

DORMANT SPRAY PREVENTS INSECT OUTBREAKS LATER

Spraying before the leaves appear can make your trees healthier all summer.

Now, in early spring, is the best time to prevent future pest outbreaks with a dormant spray program.

A dormant spray is used on a tree or shrub while it is leafless and dormant - live but not actively growing. A dormant spray is so effective because it kills overwintering insects and diseases before they have a chance to multiply and infest new growth.

In general, dormant sprays are most effective against scale insects, mites, mealy bugs, many types of insect eggs and hibernating caterpillars.

Dormant sprays are usually composed of oil, lime-sulfur or a combination of the two. The lime-sulfur spray has fungicidal action which can be used against rose canker, black spot, mildew, scab, and other fungus diseases. Some dormant sprays are a combination insecticide-fungicide that will control both insects and plant disease.

Always read label directions carefully and follow them exactly.

Dormant sprays should be applied before buds swell and when the possibility for heavy freeze damage has passed. In most locations, this means that spraying should be done in early spring.

Spray only when the temperature is above 40 (F), and when a freeze is not expected within the next 24 hours. Apply on a calm, sunny day so the plants have a chance to dry before night.

The National Sprayer and Duster Association suggests when you spray that you cover the plant thoroughly without overspraying. Spray all plant parts - twigs, branches, and trunk - just to the point of run-off.

For best results, NSDA specialists also recommend that you use proper spray equipment. A slide-type sprayer is ideal for dormant spraying.

This type of sprayer can reach high into trees and can also be adjusted to spray low-growing plants and shrubs. A compressed air sprayer with a tank capacity from one to four gallons, is also good for the application of dormant sprays to shrubs.

For larger jobs - such as an orchard - a power sprayer provides the greatest ease and versatility.

When you finish your early spring spraying, always clean your sprayer, keeping it ready for the next job.

A little planning coupled with a dormant spray program now will bring you rewards in the warmer months ahead as you enjoy pest-free trees and shrubs.
