Golf to goldfish to water rates

Trustees' potpourri of problems

The fate of 300-400 goldfish hung in the balance, utility users living outside town limits faced rate increases, somebody wants to rent the entire Carrizozo Industrial Park and put 300 people to work on modular homes - and who's going to be responsible for digging sewer trenches?

That's a random sampling of activity at Monday night's town meeting of a newly-elected board of trustees

The town's attorney. superintendent and clerk were absent

Mayor Harold Garcia said the town's insurance policy covers garbage vehicles and employees anywhere they pick up. The information initiated discussion about trash pickup service to the growing number of people who are establishing residences on the outskirts of town. This in turn initiated discussion of water rates to out of town users who are charged one and half times the fee charged locals. The council agreed that out of town water fees. are "drastically low

We can provide water, sewer and garbage services to everybody from here to Socorro said Trustee Bobby Dan Crenshaw but he added that this hurts the citizenry who should come

The council moved to cease all tuture willty hook ups for out of town dwellers until a public hearing is held to determine rates. and policy. Rates may be hased on

A letter written by general contractor Richard Vega of Vega council to explore the towns policy on sewer tapping and up to the mainline being the sole responsibility of the land owner.

Vega requested that the town adopt a resolution stating that the digging in the alley (town property) be done by town employees. "If you have every Tom Dick and Harry digging for the main sewer line, they are going to break it and no one will want to assume responsibility," he said

The council expressed concern over the possible breakage of other lines - telephone, gas, water, TV cable - in the search by the land owner or private contractor to find the main sewer line. The council will discuss at the public hearing the possibility of having the town's employees expose the line and increasing the tapping fee to cover the costs of the additional labor

In other business, the town agreed to extend the sewer line to the end of Aspen Street and will waive the connect fee to a resident whose home is undergoing rehabilitation under the Small Cities Community Block Grant CDBG | project

The project's director, Hubert Quintana, was on hand to give the council an update on the rehabprogram being conducted only on the south side of town. The work on houses of owners receiving grants is almost finished. The program will begin work on houses whose owners will be given loans Quintana said a decision must be made to name a bank where loan monies will be deposited. These monies may be connect fee of $50, with the digging CDBG project, will commence as soon as bidding is completed.

The NM Department of Finance and Administration notified the town that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will continue to administer the CDBG program in fiscal year 1982. This time, only one local public hearing is needed to fulfill community citizen participation requirement. and there will not be a preapplication phase as in previous Crenshaw brought up the razed buildings located near the railroad tracks. He said it has been about five years since the town attorney had written letters to owners of such structures. informing them that their buildings present a health hazard to the public. This year's council. will follow up on the leveling of such buildings.

Crenshaw, who is in charge of airport works, said the airport committee composed of local individuals have done a "real good job" and he would contact each individually. He wants to 'revamp" the committee's procedures. He wants everything nandled through the town. Trustee-Jim Payne agreed

The State Department of Finance and Administration sent the town a copy of a revised loan agreement between the state and the town concerning the $40,000 borrowed for the golf course and adjoining recreational facilities. The letter informed the town that the state extended the first due date of payment to July 15, 1982 and had decreased the annual payment to $5,000 for a period of eight years.

Garcia said that in his estimation the town is doing well in maintaining the outdoor recreation area.

Willie Silva, on behalf of the Men's Golf Association, presented a proposal to the town concerning the golf course. The group plans to host several money-making projects for the benefit of the golf course. The group seeks control of the Pro Shop and the managing of all purchases and sales. The profits derived will be used to keep the golf course maintained and fertilized properly. Silva said. that the town does not have revenue to maintain the facility as in the past. He said it is essential. that the association and the town work together to keep the course from deteriorating pessimistic note that the former Arriba, Inc., which had the same members who now belong to the golf association, went broke and "dumped the golf course into the city's lap.'

Trustee Payne added a

Golfers Rick Coca and S.M. Ortiz were sitting with Silva during Monday's meeting "Our association is composed of well meaning, respected and honest citizens who wish to see Carrizozo able to keep and maintain our golf course," Silva's written proposal

Silva commended town employees Albert La Fave. Rosemary Gallegos and George Serna for a job well done at the golf course and added that every successful business requires experience and knowledge if it is to succeed. Silva said local businessman Ken Means has also volunteered his expertise in this

La Fave, deputy town clerk has been asked to serve as secretary-treasurer of the association because, "we feel that he will do a good job, not only for the association but also for the city and this should relieve any misconceptions about mishandling of any money handled by

Wilson is 'Student Ambassador'

LAS CRUCES - Rex Wilson of Carrizozo is one of 20 New Mexico State University students serving as 1981-82 Student Ambassadors.

The 1978 graduate of Carrizozo High School is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Wilson, Ancho Route, Carrizozo.

Wilson, a junior majoring in agricultural business, has served as a Student Ambassador for two years. He is also active in Alpha Gamma Rho and Alpha Zeta. Student Ambassadors fül a variety of roles both on and off campus. They represent the student viewpoint for the university as well as individual colleges. They host campus tours for group and individual visitors, and work with high school students interested in attending NMSU. Selection criteria include academic standing, participation in campus activities and ability to communicate.

the association. Our checks will require two signatures - one by the president and one by the treasurer."

After several attempts by the trustees to phrase a motion, the mayor and Silva decided to draw up a lease agreement for the association to approve or disapprove, but only when the association becomes incorporated and agrees to pay a one dollar a year rent fee.

Information was skimpy in the announcement that a man who builds modular homes wants to rent the entire industrial park. The enterprise would employ 300 workers. To the audience, the news sounded too good to be true.

Region VI Housing Authority of Roswell sent copies of a resolution that needs to be approved by the council in order to amend its preliminary loan with HUD for Carrizozo's low-rent public housing. The resolution is needed so it can receive HUD funds to purchase land sites. Local attorney Bill Payne said the resolution was merely a "consent for Region VI to proceed" with work on the ongoing project which began about two years ago.

The New Mexico Municipal League has asked Garcia to serve as a member of the League's Taxation and Revenue Commission. The commission is composed of elected and appointed municipal officials from all parts of the state. Their primary assignment is to consider municipal concerns, goals and problems pertaining to long-term revenues to support the changing service needs of widely dissimilar municipalities, including unequal revenue bases and shrinking federal support. Garcia accepted the invitation to serve.

The stack of letters read by the new mayor included congratulatory messages to Garcia on his election victory Civil engineers, the Department of Finance and Administration. the US Senate and others sent best wishes

The Committee for Sutin and Neal for the Court of Appeals wrote, "May you have a contented term in dedicated service to your community. Blessings on thee and thine.

Dates will be scheduled at the council's convenience to discuss in closed session police personnel (top of the list; hours of protection, and subjects apprehended in a vandalism incident at the golf

."Let 'em die!" "Sell 'em'" and "Move'em!" were the various opinions expressed by members of the council and audience regarding 300 to 400 goldfish who make their home in a lake located between the 6th and 7th hole at Carrizozo's golf course

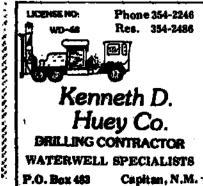

The "water hole" was originally dug out to serve as a hazard for golfers. The council felt that since the lake does not hold water, pumping should cease. The expenses involved do not justify supporting a goldfish pond.

Silva believes in "being a humanitarian" and worries about the future of the goldfish residing at the evaporating man-made lake.

A suggestion was made to evict the fish to the trout lake nearby. Reaction was mixed because goldfish do not make good neighbors.

Mayor Garcia wondered aloud what goldfish do.

"Just ask the Game and Fish Department about gold fish in trout waters," replied Trustee Jim Payne.

Quilting Bit

I have pieced a quilt top for Zachary which he calls his "Roadrunner Quilt." It was pieced with double-knit scraps and featured a large appliqued roadrunner. The bird is surrounded by patchwork squares which are used to play a game. Heads or talls determine the player's moves. One play represents the famous cartoon character, the Roadrunnier, the other player represents his equally famous co-star, Wile E.

The quilt top also includes the letters of Zac's name. The name extends the width of the quilt top. A panel on the quilt top is designed for learning the basic colors. I sewed together solid color strips of red, orange, yellow, green, blue, purple, brown and black. On the patchwork squares I embroidered the numbers 1 through 10 which can be used for learning to count as well as for playing the game for which the quilt was originally designed.

Polyester batting and a sheet backing will complete the quilt, which will be tacked in different areas. The finished quilt will serve as a game board and as a cover for TV viewing, napping or sleeping.

· Zachary's Roadrunner quilt will be displayed at the April 24 Quilt Show to be held in the old gym in Carrizozo. The event will be a great opportunity for quilting fans to meet and trade ideas. See you there! See NEWS ad for details on quilt show.

Hondo donates blood

The community of Hondo donated 18 pints of blood when the United Blood Services mobile unit was at the Hondo school recently. Co-sponsors were members of the La Junta Extension Homemakers

"The demand for blood is rapidly increasing as its tremendous therapeutic value is realized," stated Mrs. Phyllis Zumwalt, president of Lincoln County Extension Homemakers Council. "Safe blood of all types must be available around the clock to assure the good health of our community," she continued. "There is no such thing as synthetic blood. It is a natural resource which can only be produced by the human body and it is given freely by concerned volunteer donors.

"Because we realize that it is too late to donate when an emergency arises" (it takes six hours to process), "We will sponsor a return of the United Services Blood Blood Replacement Program at the Fellowship hall in Tinnie on July Hostessed assigned to the refreshment table were Lorena Radcliff. Louise Joiner, Hazel Arthurs, Leota Pfingsten and Kayla Mullis. Cookies and juice were donated by Rosalie Dunlap and Patsy Sanchez.

 BUT THE most heart-rending account of how Reaganomics has shattered the dreams and ruined a young man's life appeared in the March 31 issue of the Albuquerque Journal. "Victim of U.S. Cutbacks," the kicker headline ran. The story anguished over the plight of Donny Sanchez, 19, who lost his job as a warehouse aide in a program funded by the federal government, "Believing that his one-year federal job would not end until the end of June," the story ran, "Sanchez bought a car." (He bought a car in March when his job would end in June?) Sanchez held a second weekend job, but it ' won't support him and a car too. Imagine, a 19-year-old facing the loss of his wheels and the grim reality of having to walk or submit to the humiliation of public transportation! But I have faith in Mr. Sanchez's capacity to survive disaster. Even though he may endure the tortures of the damned, in the end he will find himself. God, grant him the serenity to accept a cruel fate. Make his feet fleet, his limbs atrong, and may his arches never fall. Notice should be taken that the reporter who produced his journalistic soap opera is Arturo Sandoval who, if he were working for the Lincoln County News, wouldn't be.

 I SUPPOSE everyone who comes to live in Carrizozo starts out by suggesting changes in the town to improve the quality of life. And, I suppose, these suggestions irritate the oldtimers, most of whom bear this cross with stoicism, firm in the knowledge that "this, too, shall pass" and the newcomer will start accepting things as they are, and shut up.

 LET'S NOT change the pattern. I have a suggestion. It must appear strange to many people that a town with the beautiful and. unusual name of Carrizozo should have streets designated by numerals and letters of the alphabet. Whoever named the town's streets may have been practical, but unimaginative. Few people would take much pride in having their stationery announced that John Finklepuss resides at 10th St. and 5th St., or that the local editor may be found during his more sober hours at 502 E Ave. And the main thoroughfare, Central, doesn't tell anybody anything or stand for anything in Carrizozo any more than it does in Albuquerque.

 THINK ABOUT changing names of the streets. Change them to names that are historically or geographically identified with this area. How about some of the following as street names: Jackass Flats, Roadrunner, Valley of Fires, Malpais Spring, Barranquito, White Oaks, Billy the Kid Court (the play on words helps), Skull Canyon, Smokey Bear, Gran Quivira, Alkali Flat, Yucca Elata, Ancho, Cedar Hill, Sacar del Gallo, Geronimo!, Blazer's Mill and Jimson Weed. You can add dozens of others, all being significant to this area, all holding a special meaning for residents and tourists

 IF HOT Springs, NM, can get away with changing its name to Truth or Consequences, Carrizozo should have no problem renaming its streets. A simple town ordinance should do the trick. New signs, made from pieces of weathered wood with the new street name burned into them, could be placed on existing standards. It would delight visitors and make the local printer rich because just about everybody would want letterheads imprinted with a glamorous address.

• HAVE AN irrepressible desire to get driven out of your gourd? Pick up a book on contemporary poetry as I did recently. I should have known better. What passes as poetry these days is marvelous. Nobody knows what it says and nobody knows what it means. The hallmark of an "acceptable" contemporary poem (?) is one that makes no sense, has no rhyme or rhythm, no logic, tells no story, has no moral, and in which the poet's reason for bothering with it is obscure. Take the one that stretched me out: "I went out upon a mountaintop to bare my soul to the Universe - and heard an anguished cry - from out the Great Nothingness -

"McDonald's" -- and a thousand canvon walls echoed the cry 200 millionfold - and I sat upon the earth - and wept." He needn't have wept. I wept enough for us all at this near-depletion of the reservoir of illiteracy. I will give $100 in cash to any person who can tell me: (1) Where is the poetry? (2) Where is the meaning? (3) What does it say? (4) What deep inner feelings were the poet trying to express? This offer expires May 1, 1982.

Once when he was asked where he wanted to go, he put his hose to the keyboard and spelled out car. And the dog isn't listed among the 10 most intelligent animals!

Free speech can be a pain in the neck

Free speech, A US Supreme Court Justice once ruled, does not give one the right to "shout fire in a crowded theater."

Free speech, an old Texas courtsanctioned custom says, can have grave consequences for those who use it ill-advisedly. For example, for many years if one man called another a-son-of-a-bitch; he-was-deemed-tohave struck the first blow, and the courts upheld the maligned gentleman for beating up on his abuser, even to killing him if necessary.

There seems to be no restrictions on free speech these days, a tribute society pays to its militant activists.

Take the case of Henry and Nancy Kissinger. Enroute to heart surgery, Kissinger and his wife were verbally assaulted in a New Jersey airport by one of those pests who infest aliports to harass and harangue travelers on whatever "cause" they espouse at the moment. This particular one, Arlene Kaplan, 29, was panhandling for the leftwing Fusion Energy Foundation.

Kaplan approached the Kissingers and accused him of prolonging the Vietnam War. The Kissingers ignored her and continued down the walkway. You don't shake an activist. Kaplan pursued, this time questioning Kissinger about "sexual preferences." The Kissingers walked on.

Kaplen hung on and loudly and angrily charged Kissinger with more specific sexual indiscretions. That dld lt. Nancy K. brought one from the floor_that_landed_somewhere_on Kaplan's neck.

Kaplan's group found a New Jersey judge willing to press "disorderly conduct" charges against Mrs. Kissinger. The judge issued a bench warrant for Mrs. Kissinger's arrest, and forced her to retain a lawyer to defend her against an agressor.

It isn't the burns, the hoods, the activists and the terrosists. They could be dealt with. The problem is the courts, and with judges like that New Jersey one.

We need to return to the time when people could exercise all the free speech they want - provided they are prepared to accept the consequences without running to some soft-headed judge for relief.

Bishop Spong's Easter hallucination theory

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

According to the bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Newark, NJ. the Resurrection of Jesus Christ was really nothing more than St. Peter's nostalgia, which led him to hallucinate during the second

In a book entitled "The Easter Moment," which is published by the official Episcopal Church publishing house, Seabury Press, the Rt. Rev. John Spong writes that Peter presided over "the first meal they (the Apostles) had shared together since Thursday."

When Peter reenacted the Lord's Supper, be became so affected that he "saw life in a new way, with all its depth and wonder, its transcedence and ecstacy - and that opened his eyes. With these newly opened eyes. Peter saw Jesus resurrected alive."

This may well impress some readers as new and exciting. But in North Carolina, the Rev. Carroll Simcox, PhD, the retired editor of the (Episcopal) Living Church magazine, has a long memory. Dr. Simcox, who now belongs to the Anglican Catholic Ghurch,-recalls-that-40-years-agohe read an eight-word summary of what it took Spong 240 pages to enunciate:

"The memory of Jesus quickened into a presence."

The Spong version of the Resurrection is that it took place because Peter so desperately wanted it to happen. And so, poor Peter freaked out, with the result that the central doctrine of the New Testament is nothing more than a lingering memory. On the basis of this theory, Christians, instead of saying "Happy Easter!" would be more honest if they greeted each other on Easter morning with a glad exclamation of "Happy Hallucination!"

Bishop Spong's latest theological effort appears in the left-wing Christian Century magazine. He has written an article which make presumption the command of Jesus: "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel ... Make disciples of ever

For according to Bishop

'Missionaries fanned out across the world determined to tame the pagan savages, whether they wanted to be sayed or not. (The Rev. David Livingston, MD who fought both disease and the slave trade, as well as Father Damien of Molokai, would have been less presumptuous if they had stayed home?)

"How can we talk about Christ in a pluralistic society in which 'the truth' is not believed to be in the possession of any person of tradition?" (The New Testament reports that Jesus did - and so did Paul, in Athens which was no less pluralistic and cynical than Newark, New Jersey.)

"To be honest in our day is to embrace relativity as a virtue." ("Go ye into all the world and preach that one religion is as good as another?")

Bishop Spong further con-

"The Bible, the creeds and the sacred traditions are only pointers to God, which must be transcended, explored in the light of each new day."

Yet immediately following this Spong Theory of Relativity is a very strong Spong demand for specifics:

"The Church's prophetic word must be heard in the public sector. searing in judgement against those actions, both individual and systemic, which continue patterns of oppression based on strength, or race, or sex, or tradition," (... Unless that tradition happens to be theological, in which case the Spong Searing and Specific Sociology must give way to "relativity" - Translation: wishy washy.)

A tongue-in-cheek version of how West was won

By ERNEST V. JOINER A frequent contributor to the Lincoln County News

Once upon a time in New York City I came into bubbling conviviality with a newspaper editor from Connecticut. After indeterminate rounds of drinks at some men's bar on Madison Avenue, we retired to the diggings of my then literary agent.

It was an inspiring rap session that followed.

Somewhere along the way we decided to collaborate on a book which would focus the truth upon the manner in which the West was won. Our theory (and it must have sounded good at the time) was that it wasn't the Colt .45 or the US Cavalry, sodbusters or rangemen that subdued the Indians and built.

the West. It was booze. Barrels and barrels of booze. It came West lashed to prairie schooners. A wagon master may have ordered the furniture thrown from fleeing wagons, and sometimes the wives and kids-but booze rode out the Indian raids.

In 1878 the bark Providencia departed Havana carrying 20,000 coconuts, 100 cases of wine and 52 thirsty sailors. The crew got to the wine, got plastered, lost control of the ship and ran it aground off the Florida coast. They swam ashore with the coconuts. They planted the coconuts, shacked up with the Indians, and presto! Palm Beach.

My drinking brother Hap who now lives in Lovington was a sergeant in the army during World War II, somewhere in France. The only word I had from him during his four-year effort to abolish war and make the world safe for democracy was this postcard warning which he commanded me to communicate to the civilian population:

"Keep the booze coming. Never mind the ammunition. We can kick these German tanks apart with our bare feet!"

And there are still people in this country who mount periodic campaigns to keep beer out of military PXes!

A low-ranking general told me once that he had no use for troops who didn't get drunk-if they did it at the proper time. He said he could take a bunch of harddrinking men and clobber an army 10 times the size. My brother Stan told me how navymen drew upon their ingenuity and resources to make booze in the most unusual places and under the most trying conditions.

Up in the Aleutian Island, he said, a whole regiment stayed souped up on homemade busthend long enough to chase the Japs out of the area. Officers finally discovered the source of their courage. SeaBees had cleverly adapted the messhall cookstoves to a still, run the copper cooling colls from the stoves through snowbanks outside, thus making the whole operation undetectable. They used potato peelings; canned John Allen Hightower -- Ancho fruit, and such trash as fuel for Route, Carrizozo, NM 88301. Phone this impromptu still:

The stuff was so terrible the SeaBees and army buddles killed or ran off all the Japs on Attu and Kiska, a feat erroneously attributed to sobor, dedicated fighting men who charged into battle for God and country. Truth of the matter was, getting themselves killed was preferable to enduring their hangovers!

Well, this was to be part of the text for our book on How Whiskey Won the West. By 7 a.m. we had all sobered up, and to this day I can't even recall the name of my wise, astute collaborator. But he was a fine man. He made more sense flat on his back than most people standing up at a chamber of commerce meeting.

My personal drinking habits are surprisingly temperate. I often surround myself at home with Jack Daniels. Wild Turkey, Drambuie, vodka and other names of distinction, But mostly, I just sit around and admire this treasury of painkiller. I'm like a squirrel holing up nuts against the day when the long-heralded bomb drops or the recession arrives or Christianity triumphs. I am fortified. God bless my foresight.

Paradoxically, I can't abide a drunk. He embarresses me. I am ill at ease in one's presence. Actually, I'm the only drinker I ever knew who made any sense. The drunk who wins my affection is the one who gets soused in another man's house.

However, any man who works his tail bone off to make a living in our corporate society, who puts up with the moral preachments of society and conforms to all the social mandates, yet doesn't get rip-roaring drunk now and then to relieve the tension, ain't even humani

Just what way he does believe in God may have been made clear in another exciting bit of information. For Sars declared himself in favor of both adultery and fornication.

Ranchers Sid Goodloe and Robert W. Lietzman claim access roads to the area, which run through their property, are private roads, not public. Both maintain their right to close the roads to prevent vandalism and littering on their ranches.

During a break in the county commissioners meeting last Tuesday, where both Goodloe and Lietzman made their cases, Goodioe produced a 10-year-old clipping from the Lincoln County News stating that Magistrate Judge Bill Payne had ruled "that this road (Goodloe's) is not a public road."

What was not reported was that Payne, who attended the commissioners meeting, told them that he had never ruled in the matter.

According to Payne, Goodloe's case had indeed come up in Magistrate Court, but he said he threw the case out for lack of jurisdiction.

The Smokey Bear Museum and State Park had 45 visitors from the Bible Baptist Church of Wichita Falls, TX, Friday. They had been to T or C and were enroute home, People who were traveling for Easter and the Spring break kept the park and museum very busy last weekend. Visitors from Holland, Germany and many states, some as far away as New York were represented.

The District Forest Ranger from the Gila National Forest, Silver City, Mr. S.G. Palm, and his family were visitors there Saturday. This was their first visit and they really did enjoy it.

The waterfall in the NM State Park started April 13. They planted water lillies, cattail and other water plants, which is a great sight. Other plants are being planted in the park, and the ones that are growing are doing very

On April 18 the Capitan Choir ill be performing "Isasiah" at the Capitan Methodist Church at 1 p,m, "Isasiah" is a piece of music that was put together by Mr. Churchill Cooke, music director, Capitan High School, in 1975. It was first performed in Santa Fe in 1975 and was dedicated to the New Mexico Special Olympics.

The lyrics from "Isasiah" are from the Scriptures of the Old Testament concerning Christ's first coming to earth. The public is invited to attend.

The Capitan Clinic opened Monday, April 12. Hours are 9 to 5 Monday-Friday. It is located across from the city ball south in the brick building.

There will be general medical practice. People may have routine checkups, and will be treated for all illnesses.

Nancy Guck, physician assistant, will be there full time. She will have continuous phone contact with her preceptors, Lance W. Kirkgaard, MD, Dr. Beechie, Dr. Echols and Dr. Whitwam.

She will take emergency calls on weekends - Clinic phone 354-2518; home phone 354-2741. They would prefer appointments. Nancy is the wife of Tom Guck who was reared and educated in Capitan High School. He is fire prevention officer with the Forest Service. They have two children, Leslie, who is an 8th grader, and Clay, a 5th grader.

Dorine Dye is office and medical assistant. She is one of our EMT. A prescription pharmacy will open in June in Capitan. Details later.

This is great news. We have needed all this for a long time.

The clinic is properly furnished. Another of our dreams that came true.

Me have one of the Finest anywhere? We always have ten or more different types of salads & relishes, ice cold & ready for your enjoyment.

Capitan does well

at Dexter Relays

Capitan High School track teams did well at the Dexter relays last week.

Competing in a field of 15 teams, the Tigers finished third. The Tigerettes, with a small squad, has some great individual performances.

The highlight of the meet was the 100- and 200-meter dashes for girls as defending state champion Robin Bradley of Melrose and runnerup Toni Brooks of Capitan met for the first time this year.

Brooks won both races this time in outstanding time.

The girls' relay team of Anita Armstrong, Becky Huey, Tracy Herd and Toni Brooks broke the meet record in the 800 meter

The girls regults were: 100meter, Toni Brooks, 1st, 12,2; 200meter, Toni Brooks, 1st 26.0; 800meter relay, Capitan, 1st, 1.54; 800 meter run, Patti Huey, 5th.

Boys results: javelin, Tim Proctor, 5th, 136' 8''; 400-meter relay, Capitan, 2nd 47.2; high hurdles, Robert Parker, 3rd, 18,9; 100-meter, Jon Wolfe, 5th, 11.8; discus, Tim Proctor, 5th, 112; broad jump, Jon Wolfe, 4th, 18' 2½"; 800-meter relay, Capitan; 4th, 1,39; high jump, R. A 'new baby' for Bonito firemen

Bonito Volunteer Fire Dept. takes delivery of its new fourwheel drive pumper-tanker Saturday, it was announced at the April 6 meeting.

Dedication ceremonies begin at 1 p.m. at the parking lot of the Alto Post Office, and a training session follows immediately at Alto Lake. Although no formal program is planned, county commissioners have been invited and the public is welcome, said Howard Puckett, chief.

"Through the generous donations of the people of Bonito Fire Dist. we were able to purchase a new truck and donate it to the fire district," he said.

"I am pleased that we were able to purchase this muchneeded piece of equipment without the expenditure of public funds," said Lester Lanelli. member of the board of directors. "Our ability to make a considerable cash outlay enabled us to realize a substantial saving in its purchase."

The new truck is a Class A four-wheel drive pumper-tanker with a 750-gallon capacity. It is the first one of its kind in this area, according to Puckett.

In other business, members discussed recent improvements to the building, including new lights in the bays, a new compressor, new storage rooms and the completion of a concrete apron. The concrete work was also accomplished with donated money. Under consideration is a planning session with Ruidoso Fire Dept. Chief Spooner to discuss a mutual aid pact and boundary definitions.

Upcoming social activities include a spring dinner and summer family picnic. Rose Peebles is chairman.

Next meeting is Tuesday, May 4. Otero County Electric Coop will present correct procedures for dealing with electrical power

I have always heard that a well-adjusted boy has raised a dog during his growing up. Now, psychologists say that the two most difficult concepts for a child to grasp are selflessness and responsibility. Pets provide both, and prepare children for the transition to adulthood by having responsibility for their pets.

There are also pet programs for the emotionally disturbed children, and for those in alcoholic rehabilitation centers. Alcoholics who enter such centers are each given a puppy to care for. Instead of a Seeing Eye Dog, these puppies are called Feeling Heart

FLOWERING PLANTS These plants have a continuous bloom. The Lantana is the one I have. It can be placed in an east, west or south window. It blooms every two weeks during winter and summer. The tropical bleeding heart is a vine with clusters of snow-white and bloodred flowers. It blooms for a month or so. You will love it.

This will save you a lot of work. Plant perennial flowers and plants. They come up every year and do not have to be planted all the time. Try begonias, lilac bushes, roses, strawberries and all kinds of bulbs; wisteria trees, Shasta daisies and chrysanthemums.

VALLEY of Fires Lioness Club members were in White Oaks this week to tidy up the space for the forthcoming May Day Spectacular, a May 1-2 extravaganza that will feature gold panning, horseback riding, arts and crafts, and much more. The old building is known as the Brown Store, used for meetings and social events in the once-flourishing town. Pictured: Reba Furness, Verna Rodman, Beulah Moore and Ruth Hawk.

WHAT'S Easter without an egg hunt? News photographer Polly Chavez caught up with this group at Santa Rita Church's egg hunt. Krystal Serna, right, won the price for uncovering the greatest number of eggs. Other successful hunters are Julia Payne and Cory Collins.

Senate committee affirms

Prepared by the Judiciary Committee's Subcommittee on the Constitution, chaired by US Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah), the report states: "The conclusion is thus inescapable that the history, concept and wording of the Second Amendment . . . indicates that what is protected is an individual right of a private citizen to own and carry firearms in a peaceful manner.''

From English common law to the British Declaration of Rights

American Bill of Rights a century later, the historical evidence overwhelmingly supports the individual rather than collective interpretation given the Second Amendment.

The report notes that when the term "militia" first came into use around 1588, it was understood as deisgnating the entire body of arms-owning citizens. The Second Amendment, the report states, could not have been intended to protect modern National Guard units since these were never meant by Congress to be the constitutional militia.

"That the National Guard is not the militia referred to in the Second Amendment is even clearer today," the report finds. "The modern National Guard was specifically intended to avoid unqualified endorsement to reform of the Gun Control Act of 1968. Reform legislation has been introduced by US Sen. James McClure and US Rep. Harold laws is necessary to protect the most vital rights of American citizens." Such reform "would enhance vital protection of constitutional and civil liberties of those Americans who choose to exercise their Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms," the report notes. In his preface to the report, Sen. Hatch emphasizes that the evidence is indisputable. "What the Subcommittee on the Constitution uncovered was clear," he said, "and long-lost proof that the Second Amendment to our Constitution was intended as an individual right of the American citizen to keep and carry arms in a peaceful manner, for the protection of himself, his family, and his freedoms."

Arts, craft fair at Roswell

Kevin Wolff, Capitan, has been accepted in the Roswell Jaycee Arts and Crafts Fair of the Southwest.

As in years past the fair will be held at the Eastern New Mexico State Fairgrounds, Roswell. The fair runs May 1-2, beginning at 10 a.m. each day.

More than 100 exhibitors will participate, with entries from seven states. The theme of the fair is "Pioneer Days," and exhibitors are encouraged to dress in pioneer costumes. In addition, Jaycee members add to the spirit of things dressed in cavalry uniforms, circa 1890, that are authentic replics of those worn at Ft. Stanton, NM. A unique feature of the fair is that cadets from NMMI (New Mexico Military Institute) assist with parking cars for the fair on horseback.

Retired school employees to meet April 22

Q. Although I don't need to borrow any money right now, I know I may need to borrow in the future. What's the best way for me to prepare myself for getting a first loan?

A. If you haven't borrowed money before one of the best things to do is open a savings account and make deposits on a regular basis in set ammounts. This accomplishes two things. First, it creates a second-to-none collateral, your savings. Secondly, a savings account, built over a period of time, will demonstrate to your banker you have the financial ability and willpower necessary to set aside a certain amount of money on a regular basis. Since you would have to set aside money on a regular basis to pay back a loan, savings history will usually be helpful in your efforts to obtain that first loan. You've already demonstrated your ability to make regular "payments." This is the same procedure as repaying a loan and you will have taken the first step in establishing a sound financial history.
